We have great pleasure in publishing the Annual Report of the Anyox General Hospital, which makes interesting reading for everyone in the district. The Report is as follows:

Mining Industry of Alice Arm Promises To Expand

To what extent the mining industry of Alice Arm will expand this year is a question being asked both by residents and those outside who are interested in the camp. To our readers we say that the present year promises to be a good one. It is known that at least one new company will enter the field, and unless present plans miscarry there will be several others, while others will considerably enlarge their operations.

As stated above, the future is full of promise, and the mining industry of the district may expand much more than even the most optimistic expect. It is, however, too early at present to go into details regarding new projects, but things are being done, the successful issue of which will spell prosperity.

The Alice Arm district contains too much ore developed both on the surface and underground, for mining to decline. It has been conceded by responsible men that it is one of the most highly mineralized districts of the province. Such being the case, its progress is assured, gradual at first perhaps, but as soon as the tide sets this way in earnest, it will assume flood proportions in a short time.

Brilliant sunshine weather has prevailed during the week, accompanied by frosty nights.

Stirring Sermon Given On Earl Haig By Rev. Clarke

In spite of the inclement weather and the bad state of the roads, a large congregation attended the Memorial Service for the late Earl Haig, recently held in the United Church. The local branch of the Canadian Legion, under whose auspices the Service was held, attended in a body. Members of the I. O. D. E. also attended.

The service was conducted by Comrade T. J. Kirkwood, President of the Legion. Comrade D. R. Learoyd, Past-President and an indefatigable worker in the ex-soldier organizations, was on the platform and read the 23rd. psalm. In memory of Earl Haig and fallen comrades the congregation stood in silence while the "Dead March" was played by Mr. Dresser.

Comrade Rev. C. D. Clarke took as his text: "For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away," and spoke of the swift passing of life. Life is a great river running through the ages; we joined it in the rivulet of our generation and are carried along by all the benefits of past achievements. This was illustrated by the flag and the bible, behind which men and women gave their best of soul, mind and body that life might be enriched. In view of what we receive when coming into life, we are indebted to life and our duty is to give. "Life is not a goblet to be drained, but a measure to be filled."

The one great test of all life is usefulness, and that is the test to which God puts human beings, as illustrated by parables of Jesus. Those whom he condemned were the people who did nothing'

As greatness is measured by usefulness, Earl Haig was a great man. In the greatest crisis in the Empire's history, Earl Haig was the one subject of the King with the talents who proved most useful in his office of Commander-in-Chief That office required not only talents of military leadership, but also character. Earl Haig had both. What has endeared Earl Haig to the world, apart from his military leadership, was the attitude to old comrades and particularly to the common soldier. His ideal for days of peace was usefulness, and in organizing and as Grand President of the British Empire Service League he rendered a unique service to ex-soldiers and to the Empire,

From statements made by him at different times, we learn that Earl Haig, while a great soldier leader, was not imbued with military idealism. When Marshall Foch was given supreme command of the allied troops in France, Earl Haig gave his cordial consent thus exhibiting that extreme fine

Agitation is still being carried on in certain quarters of the United States to place Canada on the quoto list. If this is done it means that only 20,000 Canadians will be allowed to cross the border for permanent residence each year. In the year ending June 30th. last. 81,000 people left this country for the U. S. A. If Washington decides to place Canada on the quota list, she will undoubtedly bestow on us the greatest favor possible, for it would mean the keeping home of a large portion of our best manhood. There are, at the present time more opportunities in Canada than the United States. The latter's resources have reached the peak of their development and some are on the decline, especially lumbering and papermaking. Also the United States have settled their agricultural lands, and no such large tracts of virgin land as can be found in Canada is available for settlement. In mining, Canada is rapidly forging ahead, and the statement has been made by responsible men that in fifteen years our mineral production will equal our southern neighbors. In paper making we have far outstripped them and the same will unquestionably happen in the mining industry. The coming years are Canada's. During that time there will be ample opportunities for every Canadian within his own borders. We have a vast territory richly endowed with resources and capable of supporting an enormous population. If the United States wishes to place us on the quota list with European and Asiactic countries, why, let them go unterruptedly ahead.

Little self-denials, little honesties, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent victories over favorite temptation—these are the silent threads of gold which, when woven together, gleam out so brightly in the pattern of life that God approves.

Under the contract, trains must be running between Sheman, near the Pas, and the Flin Flon mines, by December 1928. The construction of the road involves an estimated expenditure of $4,000,000.

trait—the grace to allow another to assume leadership and still continue to serve.

Addressing an assembly of Scottish ministers, Earl Haig issued a challenge to the churches in these words: "It is the business of the churches to make my business impossible."

The Gospel of Christ is the world's only hope, the sole promise of world peace."

It can never be said that Earl Haig was an "ex-service" man. His service did not cease when peace was signed, but carried on to the grave. In advocating the British Empire Service League it was with the idea that ex-soldiers might in the best way continue their service to the Empire in the days of peace.

The service closed with the sounding of the "Last Post" by Comrade J. Thomson and the singing of the National Anthem.

Absentee Vote Abolished

Abolition of the absentee ballot has been announced by the government. In his budget speech, Premier MacLean stated that he believed the principle of the ballot to be sound, but there had been opposition expressed to it from various sources and he intended to have the provincial election machinery as clean as it could be kept. The government, he explained, does not intend to sail under false colors; hence the decision.

The substantial progress of the Mining industry of this Province is strikingly exhibited in the following figures, which show the value of production for successive five-year periods: For all years to 1895, inclusive $94,547,241; for five years, 1896-1900, $57,607,967; for five years, 1901-1905, $96,507,968; for five years-1906-1910, $125,534,474; for five years, 1911-1915, $142,072,603; for five years, 1916-1920, $189,922,725; for five years, 1921-1925, $214,726,650; for 1926, $67,188,842.

Lode mining has only been in progress for about 25 years, and only about one-half of the Province has been even prospected; 200,000 square miles of unexplored mineral bearing land are open for prospecting.

The Mining Laws of this Province are more liberal and the fees lower than those of any other Province in the Dominion, or any Colony in the British Empire.

Mineral locations are granted to discoverers for nominal fees.

Absolute Titles are obtained by developing such properties, security of which is guaranteed by Crown Grants.

Practically all British Columbia Mineral Properties upon which development work has been done are described in some one of the Annual Reports of the Minister of Mines. Those considering mining investments should refer to such reports. They are available without charge on application to the Department of Mines, Victoria, B. C. Reports covering each of the six mineral Survey Districts are published separately, and are available on application. Reports of the Geological Survey of Canada, Winch Building, Vancouver, are recommended as valuable sources of information.

Costs, though not completed, indicated from daily reports, will not exceed $20 a linear foot, including a complete "writeoff" for equipment with no credit for salvage.

[illegible]d Gathering in the Canadian Rockies

1. Regimental Piper 2. Scots in Canada—painting of Sir George Simpson on ceremonial inspection of Hudson Bay Co's posts in 1828 by canoe. 3. David Thompson, one of the artists.

One of the first subjects concerning Canadian events of late that the Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin touched on after his arrival in Canada recently was the Canadian Folk song and Handicraft Festival held at the Chateau Frontenac last May. Premier Baldwin observed that such a Festival was invaluable in preserving and reviving the old-time customs, songs and handicrafts, indigenous to Canadian life and particularly the province of Quebec. On the heels of this musical success comes the announcement that a Scottish Gathering and Song Festival is about to take place at Banff, September 3 to 5. Scottish communities are looking forward with keen interest to the coming festival to which the Prince of Wales has given his patronage.

Scots in Canada played a memorable part in the development of the country, their names having prominence in many historic engineering, fur trading and exploration enterprises—such men as Fraser, Mackenzie, Thompson and many others in the past generations who have penetrated the mountains of the west. Here in these same mountains, unrivalled in the world for beauty, the Scottish Gathering and Festival will be held. Activities will centre around the Banff Springs Hotel that stands on the side of Sulphur mountain commanding a "million dollar" view of the Bow Valley.

The historic character of the Scot has been carried down from generation to generation in his music. The lyrics and ballads that are sung with never-tiring enthusiasm will be heard to advantage at the coming festival.

The singers themselves will be good Scots of no mean artistry. J. Campbell McInnes is a Highlander, now settled in Toronto, who is a recognized master in the interpretation of the old ballad. His rendering of "The Twa Sisters of Binorie" is one of the great things in the history of song. Jeanne Dusseau, although her name is French by marriage, won her first success on the concert stage under her maiden name of Ruth Thom and hails originally from North-east Scotland. Davidson Thomson first saw the light in Perth and now directs the famous Grace Church Choir in Winnipeg, triumphant shield-winner at many Western Festivals. He himself has shone as a star at many Festivals in the United States as well as Canada. Ruth Matheson is a young contralto of Winnipeg who is winning recognition far outside her native city for her interpretation of Scottish songs. She comes of the stock of the Kildonan settlers. Norman Cameron is a Hebridean who sings the Gaelic with a Gaelic tenor—none sweeter. And with him are Hebridean folk-singers who sing with indescribable charm the exquisite songs of those Western Islands. The Canadian Pacific Calgary Male Voice Choir will give choral renderings of well-known Scotch songs.

With the dances—the Highland Fling — the Seann Truibhas — the Sword Dance — the Reel — and with Marches goes of course the music of the bagpipes, not forgetting the piobreachd, otherwise spelt as pibroch, of which not so many are masters. It is to the Highland Regiments that we owe the chief credit of keeping alive this stirring music, the sound of which stirs the blood as no other music can. By courtesy of the Canadian Minister of Militia each of the seventeen Highland Regiments in Canada will have the opportunity of being represented by its best regimental piper in an endeavor to secure a beautiful trophy offered by E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, through whose interest and generosity the organization of this Highland Gathering at Banff has been made possible.

Scottish games and contests of all kinds will be a feature of the three-day Gathering.

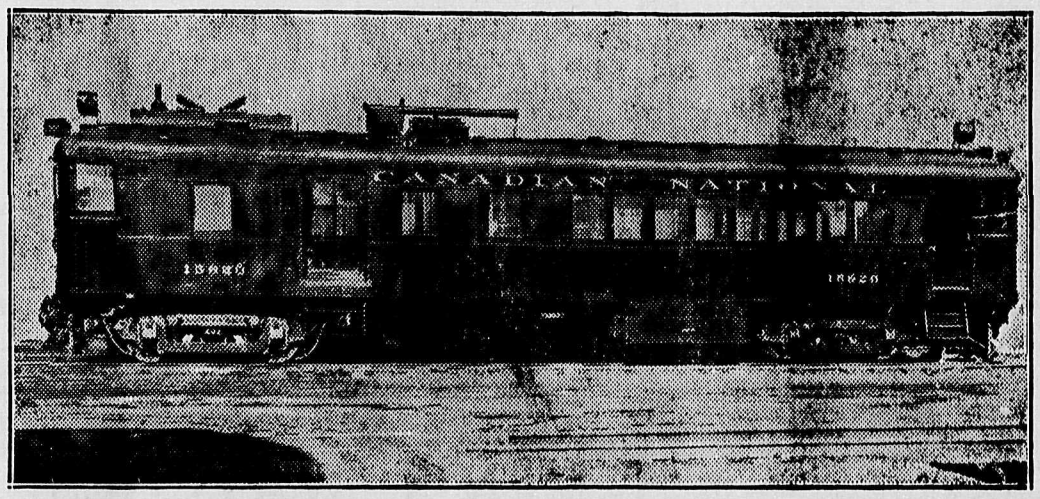
NEW OIL-ELECTRIC CAR ON CANADIAN NATIONAL



ARRIVAL in Western Canada of the new Canadian National Railways oil-electric car on an endurance run from Montreal to Vancouver under its own power, and its subsequent return to Edmonton where it was placed in service on the Edmonton-Vermilion run, replacing a mixed train service, has created much interest among railway men and the travelling public generally. The new car, shown above, carries approximately 60 passengers, in addition to baggage and express, and made a record run to Vancouver. Other cars of similar type, and also of an articulated type, carrying 120 passengers, have been placed in service in Eastern Canada, where they are giving excellent service at reduced operating cost. More cars are now being built and others are to be sent to the west for branch-line service. The car operates on electricity, generated by a fuel oil engine of airplane type, and the working out of this method of traction by Canadian National engineers gives promise of great reduction in fuel and operating costs. Each of these cars is capable of handling a trailer when necessary.
