A Canadian Mint.

Mr. James F. Hogan, member for West Tipperary in the British House of Commons, and one of the most active members of the Colonial party, has brought up the question of the establishment of a mint in Canada. He recently asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer "whether in view of the present and potential capabilities of the Dominion of Canada as a gold producer, any steps in contemplation for the establishment of a branch mint in Canada had been taken." Sir Michael Hick-Beach replied that no application for the establishment of a Canadian mint had been made, so that Her Majesty's government had not considered the matter.

Mr. Lowles, M. P., has also referred to the same matter and on the occasion of Mr. Ogilvie's lecture before the London Chamber of Commerce said that it was a shame that the mines should have to take their gold to San Francisco to get it coined into "eagles" instead of British sovereigns and half-sovereigns.

The Position Aptly Stated.

There is no question that the interests of Vancouver are bound up with those of the Opposition party and consequently with the latter's success at the polls. Vancouver's commercial future depends very largely on the development of the whole of British Columbia. There is no part so remote but what its expansion implies some addition to the business and trade of this city. The policy of the present government has in many cases tended to check that expansion, not to aid it. Take the case of its efforts to prevent the opening up of the rich Boundary Creek district by the construction of the Kettle River Railway. No demand was made on the Provincial Treasury for aid to that enterprise; its construction would have involved the expenditure of about $2,000,000 in the province. With its completion this year an immense stimulus would have been given to the development of the great mineral resources of that district and the direct and indirect benefit to Vancouver would have been very important. But the narrow sectional policy of the government intervened. Boundary Creek district suffered and Vancouver also. This is but one instance of the evil results of a policy directly contrary to that advocated by the opposition and, therefore, with the latter are Vancouver's interests bound up.—"News-Advertiser."

Gladstone's Funeral.

In Westminster Abbey, in the northern transept, where England's greatest dead rest, the body of the late William Ewart Gladstone was entombed on Saturday May 28, with ceremony, by the Nation he served, and in the Church he had loved. His grave is beside that of his life-long adversary, Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, whose marble effigy looks down upon it, decked with the regalia which Gladstone refused. Two future kings of Great Britain walked beside the great commoner's coffin; all the nobility and learning of the state surrounded it, though the wishes of the deceased had been for simplicity. This official funeral the first since that of Lord Palmerston, was rendered imposing by the spectacle of the magnificent building in which it was solemnised. The coffin rested on an elevated bier before the altar, its plainness hidden beneath a pall of white and gold, embroidered with the text, "Requiescat in Pace." Six candles burned beside it; on either side stood the supporters of the pall; the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York at the head of the coffin, and ranging behind them the Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Kimberley, Liberal Leader of the House of Lords; Mr. A. J. Balfour, Government Leader in the House of Commons; Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Liberal Leader in the House of Commons; the Duke of Rutland, Lord Rosebery and Mr. Gladstone's two old-time friends, Baron Rendel and Mr. George Armistead. Within the chancel stood the Dean of Westminster and behind him were gathered the Cathedral clergy, the Archbishop of Canterbury, and a scarlet and white-surpliced choir, filling the chancel. The mourners who sat in stalls nearest the bier, were Mrs. Gladstone, her sons, Herbert and Stephen, and other members of the family, with little Dorothy Drew, Mr. Gladstone's favorite grandchild. The Princess of Wales and the Duchess of York occupied the Dean's pew opposite. In tiers of temporary seats in the north and south transepts assembled members of the House of Lords and House of Commons; the mayors of the principal cities; delegates from liberal organizations; representatives of other civic and political organizations, while the long nave was crowded with thousands of men and women, among them being most of the celebrities in all branches of English life. Every gallery, balcony and niche high up among the rafters held a cluster of deeply interested spectators. Twenty-five hundred persons assembled in the Abbey, all clothed in deepest black, save a few officials whose regalia gleamed brilliantly from this sombre background. Thousands thronged the square outside, in order to witness the passage of the funeral possession from Westminster Hall. A double line of 500 policemen kept open a passage for the funeral cortege.

The chief officials assembled in Westminster Hall at 10 o'clock. The Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Mandell Creighton, D. D., read a brief prayer there. At 10:50 o'clock a procession was formed and slowly passed through the uncovered crowds along the pathway, a distance of 300 yards, to the western entrance of the Abbey, between two ranks of Eton volunteers in buff uniforms. The procession moved in the following order: Four heralds in court dress, bearing arms; the Speaker, Right Hon. William Court Guiley; clerks and officers of the House of Commons, in robes and wigs, carrying the Mace in their midst; 400 members of the House of Commons, marching four abreast, wearing frock coats and high hats with the solitary and conspicuous exception of Mr. John Burns, the Labor Leader, who wore the usual Derby hat and short coat; four heralds escorting half a dozen Privy Councillors, not members of parliament, more heralds ushering in the officers of the House of Lords, attired like the members of the House of Commons, with the exception of the Bishops, who were robed. Then came a group of members of Mr. Gladstone's last ministry, followed by representatives of the various royal families and foreign ambassadors, including Colonel John Hay, United States ambassador. After them came the Duke of Cambridge, and the Duke of Connaught, escorted by equeries and the Earl of Pembroke, representing the Queen. Then came the funeral car, plainly draped in black, drawn by two horses, preceded by the Earl Marshal of the Kingdom, the Duke of Norfolk, with the supporters of the pall, walking beside the car. After the car walked Mr. Stephen Gladstone, chief mourner, and the nearest relatives and friends. The only sound that broke the silence while the cortege passed was a broken voice, which shouted: "God give ye rest, old man!"

In the meanwhile, the tolling Abbey bell notified the waiting assemblage within the edifice that the procession was approaching. The dismal strains of the quartette of trombones playing Beethoven's "Funeral Hymn," in a recess high above the heads of the congregation, swept through all the recesses of the Abbey. When these finally died away, the great organ took up Schubert's "Funeral March," with a clash of cymbals in orchestral accompaniment. A choir of 100 male singers awaited the coffin at the entrance to the Abbey, and preceded it along the nave, chanting, "I am the Resurrection and the Life." When the coffin was laid on the bier, Purcell's "Funeral Chant," "Lord, Thou Hast Been our Refuge," was sung. The Dean and the whole vast assemblage then sang "Rock of Ages," and again, while the coffin was being borne along the aisle, to the grave, sang Mr. Gladstone's favorite hymn, "Praise to the Holiest in the Height."

Mrs. Gladstone, supported on the arms of her sons, Herbert and Stephen, and other members of the family, were grouped about the grave. The Dean read the appointed sentence committing the body to the earth, and the Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced the benediction. Mrs. Gladstone stood bravely, with great composure, throughout the service. Her face was lifted upward, her lips moving. She was also kept standing during only official feature of the service, the proclamation by the Garter of the style of the deceased, as the official programme had it. The Garter enumerated the various offices which Mr. Gladstone held in his life-time, beginning with: "Sometime Privy Councillor," and ending with "Envoy Extraordinary to the Ionian Islands." The organ then played "The Dead March in Saul." Finally the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and the other pall-bearers shook hands with Mrs. Gladstone, and the mourners filed past the grave, taking a last view of the coffin, when they were escorted down the nave to the entrance, the people slowly departing.

Memorial services in honor of Mr. Gladstone were held the same day all over England.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

J. KIRKUP, of Rossland, has been appointed collector of votes for the Rossland riding of West Kootenay, and H. St. Q. Cayley of Grand Forks has been appointed distributing collector for the east riding of Yale. It is to be hoped that Mr. Cayley will at the earliest possible moment enter upon his duties, so that every elector entitled to vote will have an opportunity of registering, a process not by any means agreeable to the people of this district under the circumstances attending the necessity for the same.

QUITE recently our contemporary the "Vernon News," was very emphatic in condemning the government re-distribution bill, in fact so positive was its tone that those who noted it, felt certain that a journal expressing such views could not consistently support the government whose actions called forth such opinions. Evidently, however, the News does not believe in being consistent, for in a recent issue it endeavors to show that the Turner government is worthy of the confidence of the electors of the east riding of Yale, and that they would do well to support the candidate who has so generously offered himself as a sacrifice in the government's cause. That the electors will thoroughly appreciate the attitude of the News there can be little doubt, and that the outcome of the forthcoming election contest in that riding will be entirely satisfactory to the provincial Opposition, goes without saying.

EVERY indication points to the fact that at once construction will commence on that portion of the Columbia and Western railway which lies between Robson and Midway. The contract for the work has been let to the well known contractors McKenzie & Mann, Foley Brothers and Peter Larson, who have pooled their interests and taken the contract as one firm. The realization that the district will enjoy railway communication before the end of the present year, is extremely agreeable to the residents of this district and particularly so to those who for years have labored hard to develop its resources, and now for the first time can entertain the conviction that only a short time will elapse before they will in a measure be able to reap the fruits of their labors. That the people of the district favored railway competition, and hope some day to enjoy it, need not and will not detract from the pleasure with which they will welcome the extension of the Crow's Nest Pass railway west, and the more readily will this be understood if the fact is realized that throughout the fight over the Corbin charter, not the slightest indication was given that the people of the district were adverse to the extention of the Crows Nest Pass railway.

DURING the past week meetings were held at different points throughout the Kettle River and Boundary Creek districts at which were present supporters of the provincial Opposition. These meetings were called so that delegates could be elected to a convention which was held at Carson on Saturday evening last. At the convention were representatives from Cascade City, Grand Forks, Carson, Greenwood, and Midway, and the business before the convention was the consideration of the line of policy to be pursued in all matters affecting the welfare of the Opposition party in this district. As a result of the convention, delegates will proceed to Rossland at once, and will there take part in the Opposition convention to be held on the evening of the 8th inst. Having every confidence in their representatives those who procured their election have not thought it advisable to in any way tie their hands, therefore, if supporters of the Opposition party in Rossland desire the selection of a delegate who is a resident of their town, and the same is in anyway acceptible to the delegetes sent from Kettle river and Boundary Creek, a solid support will be given to ensure his nomination. Whatever the outcome of the Rossland convention and whosoever may ultimately be selected to be the Opposition standard bearer in the coming contest, one thing is certain and that is the Kettle River and Boundary Creek district will stand solid for the Opposition, and so much so, that they will hold the balance of the voting power of the riding and can if they so see fit elect or defeat any candidate, and could and would if given an opportunity, snow under the most prominent man in the Government party, even to the Hon. J. H. Turner, to whom above all others the people of the district cherish the warmest feelings of antipathy.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

Ottawa, May 27th, 1898.

Not in the memory of the present generation has any event so profoundly stirred the civilized world as that which on Thursday of last week closed the earthly career of William Ewart Gladstone. Without regard to race or language, creed or color, millions have lifted up their voices in sincerest grief at his death while the most eloquent, the most learned, the most prominent of their great men have vied with one another in offering tribute to the memory of the grandest personality of the age, if not of all ages. Within the limits of a paragraph no attempt can be made to expatiate upon a theme with which the most practiced and concise writers have filled columns, but two or three references which have fallen from representative men in various walks of life may be quoted as particularly appropos. Ambassador Hay, for example touched a chord of quick response in every heart when he wrote to the bereaved family "I beg to reverently congratulate you and the English race everywhere upon the glorious completion of a life filled with splendid achievements, and consecrated to the noblest purposes."

Our own Premier in his eulogy in parliament which was worthy alike of the Speaker and his subject summed up the wonderful character of the dead in one sentence when he declared that "The one trait which was prominent in his nature, which marked the man more distinctively than any other, was his intense humanity, his paramount sense of right and intolerance of injustice, wrong and oppression wherever to be found or in whatever shape they might show themselves. Injustice, wrong, oppression, acted upon him as it were mechanically, aroused every fibre of his being, and from that moment to the repairing of the injustice, the undoing of the wrong and the destruction of the oppression he gave his mind, his heart, his soul, his whole life with an energy, intensity and vigor paralleled in no man unless it be the first Napoleon.

Improvement Continues.— The remarkable change of sentiment in the United States towards the motherland, which has been the most conspicious and possibly the most important and potential outcome of the Hispano-American war to date, was very much in evidence on the Queen's birthday, and while many profess to be sceptical of the profession of affection and regard now being so loudly indulged in, it surely becomes the Canadian people to accept the manifestations in all good faith for those of us who know our neighbors best and have had most to do with them in the past, are fully alive to the fact that the great heart of the nation has always been right, but unfortunately too much attention and indulgence has been given those loud mouthed blabberskites, the disgrunted politicians and professioeal agitators who have been allowed to speak for and too readily accepted as the representative of the nation. But the most rabid anti-Americanist must soften when a paper like the Detroit Free Press editorially utters such sentiment as these. "The honoring of Victoria's birthday will be something more than a feast, which custom decrees and royalty sanctions. It will be the honest, sincere tribute, of countless hearts that recall the sweet and gracious influence of a blameless life and delight to do honor and reverence to Victoria, the just and exhaulted Queen and Empress. America adds its voice to jolification and expressions of appreciation and good feelings which this day is destined to call forth. In olden times it was the habit of the devout and thoughtful to regard long life as a sign of heaven's favor. Certainly the Queen who sits upon England's throne has merited the boon of length of days which has been conferred upon her. And may the end of so beneficent a sovereignity, so uplifting in influence be not yet."

The special significance of this agreeable change to Canada, is the fact that it offers a grand opportunity for a settlement of many matters of state which to the countries will gladly see arranged and it is fortunate that the present government is, and always has been, in fullest sympathy with every effort for the improvement of international relations in this regard.

Note.—A civil servant has admitted before the Public Accounts committee that attaches of the service not unfrequently travel upon passes furnished by the railway companies and then charge up the milage to the country. This has led to severe criticism in some quarters and the critics are in some instances, strange to say, guilty of the same fault for the member of parliament who pays his own way on the railways and uses no special privilges is a rara avis. Too few of our legislators have been able to see the evils of the pass bonus hitherto. Perhaps the matter will present itself in a clearer light now.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT.

On June 15th the Spring Court of Assize will be held at Vernon.

C.A. R. Lambly S, M., came over from Osoyoos on official business on Friday last and returns tomorrow.

The date set for the next exhibition of the Kelowna Agricultural and Trades Association falls on the 20th and 21st of Sept.

The news that the railway construction contract has been awarded has already favorably affected the passenger traffic to Boundary Creek. Sixteen passengers came over the mountain road to Bounday Creek by yesterday's stage.

Upper Grand Forks is enjoying the incipient stage of a building boom, as many buildings are in course of construction, the principal of which is a large three story building, which will contain about 30 rooms, and is intended for a first class hotel.

Mr. F. Keffer, M. E., manager of the British Columbia Copper Company, Ltd., purposes going to Marcus shortly to endeavor to hasten the hauling in to Boundary Creek of the plant for the Mother Lode mine, the transportation of which has been delayed by the recent floods having damaged roads and bridges en route.

Mr. James Schubert, Superintendent of Roads, came into the district during the past week and immediately put men to work at different points on the road between Camp McKinney and Cascade City. The road badly needed repairs, as the recent heavy rains had great effect upon it in different places.

Mr. A. Fisher, of the Boundary Creek Milling and Lumber company., who has been at Spokane to obtain a boiler and engine for the saw mill he intends placing on Eholt creek near the Midway company's Eholt meadow property, has returned to Greenwood. He intends commencing work up the creek at once.

F. C. Gamble, provincial consulting engineer, paid Midway a visit on Wednesday last, and while here took the dimentions of the Recorder's office. Mr. Gamble is making arrangements for the construction of a similar building at Fairview, also a jail at that point, for which the government made an appropriation recently.

A correspondent with a lively imagination, writing to the Spokane "Spokesman-Review" makes the editor of this paper, who recently visited Cascade City, make a specific statement re the condition of this portion of the district in consequence of the high water of the past week. In part only is the correspondent correct.

Word has been received by Mr. Rickards the C. P. R. representative for Boundary Creek, that from this date the C. P. R. steamship Aberdeen will make daily trips to Penticton, with the exception of Sundays. This is a very significant move on the part of the company, and a move too which will be much appreciated by the travelling public.

The many friends of Mrs. C. A. R. Lambly, of Osoyoos, will be sorry to hear that during her visit to Midway, she has suffered a rather severe although not serious illness, being confined to bed for several days. It is a pleasure to state, however, that the patient is recovering rapidly, and may in a day or two be well enough to return home.

Telephone poles are now being distributed along the route between Cascade City and Grand Forks, and at the present rate of progress the latter place will soon be reached by the contractor having the work in hand. The work of stringing the wire is being proceeded with between Cascade City and Bossburg, and between these two points a short time will suffice for the completion of the line.

Those competent to judge estimate that there are some 200 men now engaged in prospecting and mining in the neighborhood of Christina lake. Some fine samples of ore from time to time are being shown by parties who have visited some of the claims upon which work has been and is being done. Prospectors up to the present have confined their attention almost exclusively to the east side of the lake, but many are of the opinion that the hills on the west side will repay inspection.

Rock creek always was an erratic stream, and to add to its reputation it last week spurned its usual channel to a great extent, and poured a volume of water over the east end of the bridge, and through china-town, thereby giving some of the habitations on its bank a good cleansing. It also washed out a dam on the placer claim worked by Mr. James Lynch, and carried away two or three hundred feet of fluming belonging to the company owning the hydraulic claim at the mouth of the creek.

D. D. Ferguson, of Cascade City, has the contract for the erection of a large store building at Cascade City, for the British Columbia Mercantile and Mining syndicate, a subsidary company recently organized in London, England. Besides entering into the mercantile trade the company will pay attention to mining propositions, Messrs F. Asprey and T. F. Carden representing the company in this respect, while Mr. P. Rochursen takes charge of the mercantile department. The same company has already built an assay office, and contemplates the erection of a fine residence.

On Sunday and Monday last Grand Forks again experienced the uncomfortable effects of a flood, as a goodly portion of the town was under water. A few thousand dollars, however, spent in raising the banks of Kettle river might prevent the recurrence of the same state of affairs. As the city has now a good progressive council no doubt the proposition of making the town habitable will be taken into consideration. To many who witnessed last week's flood the thought suggested itself that the money recently spent in the introduction of an electric light and water works plant, could have been more profitably invested.

An animated discussion, extending over a whole day's sitting, took place before the Stevens county commissioners last week, the subject being the route of the road from the S. F. & N. railway over the mountains to Republic. There are four rival routes and the supporters of each contended strongly for their respective routes. The decision of the commissioners is not yet known here. Midway is interested in this question, since the opening up of a good road from Republic across the mountains to the S. F. & N. railway would give a much shorter route than that at present travelled to reach the railway.

On Monday last the Kettle river reached the high water mark of 1894, and consequently much energy had to be displayed by residents at different points to preserve the bridges over the streams. At Carson and Grand Forks, crews of men watched the structures carefully and worked night and day removing drift wood, employing dynamite and other agencies. The Carson bridge stood the pressure beautifully, showing not the slightest signs of the strain put upon it. The bridge over the main river at Grand Forks, to make it safe for the future should have the super-structure raised at least two feet. This could be done at anytime, and it would pay the government to have it attended to.

Mr. W. D. Glaze returned last evening from Colville, where he had been to request the Stevens county commissioners to take over the reservation road from Curlew to Toroda creek and to Midway. He was very corteously received by the commissioners, who promised that they would favorably consider his application before their session rose. They obtained from him a lot of information respecting the country lying between Midway and Curlew, and then intimated that they then saw no reason why the road should not be taken over, but as they would not pass upon the matter probably until Saturday evening, Mr. Glaze, finding that he could do no more good by remaining longer, returned home. He expects to hear shortly that the road has been taken over. A similar application for taking over the road from Nelson, Wash. southwards has also been made to the commissioners.

BORN.

McNICOL.—In Midway, on Saturday, June 4th, to the wife of Mr. J. McNicol a son.

A Demand for Copper.

Never before in the history of the world has there been such a demand for copper as at the present time, and this state of affairs is no doubt brought about by the increased demand for the red metal in consequence of the extensive use now made of it in the construction of electric plants, the armament of modern war-ships, etc. That America should feel the effect of this increased demand is only natural, for the reason that the production of this metal is in somewhat a disturbed state in Spanish possessions, a country from which much of the world's supply is drawn. That the demand is not transitory none need doubt, and this being the case, those holding copper properties in this Boundary Creek district, which is so soon to be opened up by railway communication, have much cause for self congratulation, the more so, because as so far shewn the deposits of this metal are of great richness, and likely for many years to come to constitute a great source of supply, and one which will have to be taken into account by those interested in this valuable and now much sought after metal.

COM ANY'S PROPERTIES.

The Company's mining properties now consist of fourteen claims, viz,. the D. A., G. A. R.. Big Ledge, O E, S. H. B., Fred D., S. F., J. A. C., P. H., C. S. & H., E. C. B, Prospective, Spokane and Granite Falls.

OFFICERS OF COMPANY:

D. A. HOLBROOK - - - - - - MANAGER
E. JACOBS - - - - SECRETARY-TREASURER

BANKERS:

BANK OF MONTREAL - - VERNON, B. C.

DESCRIPTION.

On the "D. A" is a vein about 20 inches wide, with a pay-streak of 4 to 12 inches; from this 8,653 lbs. of ore was shipped to the smelter, giving $103.15 gold per ton, silver 74 7-10 ozs., and 2 per cent. lead. A tunnel is being driven on this vein from which ore is being taken. On the same property is a larger vein (quartz) carrying galena and pyrites.

The "G. A. R." has a 30-foot shaft sunk on a 2-foot vein, heavily mineralized with an intimate mixture of iron and copper pyrites, galena, blende and silverglance. The finest pieces of wire silver found on Boundary Creek were taken from this shaft. Average assays from different places across the vein gave $8.00 gold, 50 ozs. silver; also $8.00 gold and 150 ozs. silver and one, the latest return—$15.05 gold and 196 4-5 ozs. silver per ton.

On the "Big Ledge" is a 10-foot quartz vein, mineralized with iron pyrites. This vein has been opened up by cross-cuts on the surface for 500 feet. A narrower vein has been opened up, being one foot wide, carrying considerable copper pyrites, and runs into the main ledge as a spur, on which a tunnel of 40 feet has been driven. Average assays gave $33 gold and 1 1-10 ozs. silver, and $49.35 gold 17½ ozs. silver, 2 per cent. copper

The "S. F." lies between the G. A. R and D. A., in the direction of the strike on the G. A. R. vein. This location has been made on a vein of pyrrhotite.

The "O. B." has two distinct veins one 25 feet wide which, from its strike and general character would seem to be the same vein as that on the Big Ledge, although sufficient has not been done to make this conclusive. The second vein has at present a width of nearly three feet. Assays have shown values in gold from $4.00 to $170.53, while a conservative sampling by Mr. S. S. Fowler, M. E. gave $20.00 in gold.

On the "S. H. B." are two converging veins of copper and iron pyrites, on which work is now being done. An average assay gave, gold $1.50, silver 16¾ ozs., copper 11.96 per cent., or $40.44 for all values.

The "Fred D." was located in December, 1895, more as ground for a basis for mining operations for the other claims than for its present value, although there is little doubt that the large vein on the O. B. runs through it. There is a small vein of galena on this claim.

The "J. A. C." has a large iron-capping running through it from the Anaconda, at a depth of a few feet. The ore carries a considerable percentage of of copper and $10 in gold.

The remaining six claims are all good prospects, but as yet very little development work has been done on them.

This company is registered under the Companies Act, 1890, and amending acts, in the office of the Registrar in Victoria, B. C., for 1,500,000 shares at $1.00, non- assessable, of which a portion of the Treasury stock is now offered at 10 cents a share on application to the company.
