CREATIVE GIVING

FOSTERS EXCELLENCE AND VARIETY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

A record of the private gifts, grants and bequests to the University

April 1967 — March 1968

THE UNIVERSITY THANKS ITS FRIENDS FOR THEIR SUPPORT

The University owes much of its stature to private gifts. Research studies by the academic staff and graduate assistants are made possible, in large measure, by such grants. Special teaching projects are supported or assisted by bequests. Many scholarships, prizes and bursaries have been provided by individual benefactors, alumni, firms, foundations and associations. Some of the major buildings on the campus, as well as a wide variety of other projects, serve as lasting testimony to the work of those who helped build U.B.C.

The basic support of the University is provided by student fees and by grants from the Province of British Columbia and the Government of Canada. The excellence of the education it offers, however, depends to a great extent on added support received from friends. These private benefactors, during the past year, donatd $6,522,608.

With twelve faculties, seven schools and four institutes, the needs of the University are many and varied. Support is welcome in every area of teaching, research and student aid. However, as the needs and priorities of the University change we welcome early opportunities to discuss with donors the form their support might take. No gift is too small — and none too large — to be of value.
