Between the Great Divide and Field, going West, the track enters the first tunnel, (3,255 feet long) under Cathedral Mountain, and after turning almost a circle and passing under itself emerges 48 feet lower. The track then turns easterly and crossing the river enters the second tunnel (2,922 feet long) under Mount Ogden. Performing a similar evolution, it emerges 45 feet lower and continues westward to Field.

CONNAUGHT TUNNEL

About 11 miles west of Rogers (mileage 2444.5) we enter the Connaught Tunnel (5 miles long) under Mount Macdonald, piercing the summit of the Selkirks and emerge at Glacier (mileage 2462.2)

Europe is Always in Season

It is carnival-loving, fete-observing every day in the year.

Now is the time to go because devalued currencies in nearly all countries cut the cost for visitors by almost one third.

Old castles and churches, historic scenes which from childhood have always been "faraway and long ago", will become your immediate experience.

Then, too, there are intangible gifts, such as making new friends, enlarging your experience, and unforgettable pleasures that accompany you from the hour you depart till you return.

You have often said, "I'll go to Europe someday." Now, "someday has come. Book your passage and go this year."
