DEEP MOURNING.

The Whole South Mourns the Death of Jefferson Davis, the Confederate Chief.

A Frenchman Goes to Yale to Learn Methods for Improving His Countrymen's Physique.

Argument in the Cronin Murder Trial will Probably be Finished To-Morrow.

THE SOUTH MOURNING.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—The remains of Jefferson Davis, lying in state at the city hall, were visited by immense crowds this morning. The city is rapidly filling up with visitors who have come to witness the funeral to-morrow. The military companies and representatives of many southern societies are beginning to arrive in large numbers.

WHERE IS THEIR CHARITY?

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The blind chaplain of the house made a formal prayer for Jefferson Davis this morning, and it has been severely commented upon.

A NEW LINE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. , 10.—Spreckels Bros. have inaugurated a dispatch line of clipper ships between San Diego and New York.

THEY REQUIRE IT.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 10.—Monsieur Pierre De Coubertin a messenger from the French government, has been at Yale college during the last week for the purpose of studying and observing Yale's method of athletics. His object is to furnish the universities with instructions concerning athletics, in order to improve the physique of the young men of France.

NEW APPOINTMENT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—It is said that G. P. Keeny, of California, widely known in military circles, is to be appointed chief of the revenue marine division of the treasury department.

WILL STAY AT HONOLULU.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—The United States steamer Alert arrived from Honolulu this morning. Admiral Kimberley, who, it was expected, would be a passenger on her, has decided in view of the recent disturbances to remain at Honolulu for a while.

NEARING THE END.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The crowd at the Cronin trial increases as the great case nears the end. Lawyer Forrest resumed his speech this morning on behalf of defendants. Lawyer Wills will follow for the state, when the case goes to the jury.

BLEW OUT THE GAS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Annie Kearns, an Irish immigrant, just arrived, blew out the gas in her room on retiring last night. She was found unconscious this morning and narrowly escaped death.

COMPANIES CONSOLIDATE.

ALBANY, N.Y., Dec. 10.—The Consolidated Car Heating Co. has absorbed the Automatic Coupler Co., of Detroit, and has acquired the ownership of the Peerless coupler and other valuable appliances.

HUMAN TIGERS.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Fred Behtell, of Scotia, attempted to intercept four burglars whom he discovered in his store early this morning, and was shot in the neck, probably fatally, by the burglars. One man was subsequently captured at West Albany, after being shot by an officer.

"A POLICEMAN'S LIFE IS NOT, ETC."

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Early this morning Officers Morgan and Davis were fatally wounded by two burglars, whom they attempted to arrest, in a store on Wabash avenue. Both the desperados escaped.

BIG FIRE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—McKisson & Robbins' drug house in this city was destroyed by fire at midnight. The loss on stock is $300,000, and on the building $100,000.

FROM ARIZONA.

PRESCOT, ARIZ., Dec. 10.—During the storm last night a dam and ditch of the Elta Mining Company was washed away and the foundation of the mill badly damaged. Loss $80,000. Considerable stock has been drowned.

MORE NONSENSE.

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—Great indignation has been raised on this side of the line over the action of the Dominion government in discharging the Canadian who acted as Chinese interpreter at Victoria, and for employing a genuine Chinaman to fill his position. The Chinese are elated over the latter's employment, as they attach a great deal of significance to the leniency with which they have been treated by the Dominion authorities latterly. They are looking forward to the abolition of all restriction on Chinese immigration at an early day.

CITY COUNCIL.

The council met Monday night at 8 o'clock for the transaction of business. Present—Aldermen Reid, Curtis, McPhaden, Cunningham and Keary.

His worship Mayor Townsend in the chair.

COMMUNICATIONS

From Jos. Wintemute, asking that a road be built to a new workshop costing six or seven thousand dollars which he is building above Clarkson street, and asking that Clarkson street near the bridge be put in good repair; and detailing several of the improvements he had made on the streets at his own expense. Received.

Ald. Curtis said that although Mr. Wintemute had done this work without instructions from the council, they ought to help him. It would be a benefit all round if Clarkson street was finished.

Ald. Cunningham corroborated Ald. Curtis' remarks and said Mr. Wintemute had spent both time and money on the streets. It was to the best interests of the city to assist such industries as furniture factories, and they ought by all means to be encouraged.

Ald. McPhaden said that although he admitted the excellence of Mr. Wintemute's claim to assistance from the council, he would like to know where the money was to come from.

Ald. Jaques very humorously pointed out the excessive hardship it would be to allow the next council to start off with too big a surplus. The surplus of the United States' treasury was going to kill that country and we did not want the next council swamped in any such manner. Some of the $902 surplus in the city treasury ought to be spent in complying with Mr. Wintemute's reasonable request.

Ald. McPhaden enquired if there was such a surplus as Ald. Jaques had stated.

Ald. Curtis said there was not nor was there likely to be. In the earlier part of the year he had tried to check heavy expenditures although with little success, but in spite of all that he was in favor of granting the request of Mr. Wintemute.

Moved by Ald. Cunningham, seconded by Ald. Curtis, that the board of works be instructed to proceed with the opening of Clarkson street in conformity with the petition of Jos. Wintemute. Carried.

On motion the board of works was instructed to finish the work on Armstrong street.

From Mrs. S. V. Hoff, Aldergrove, stating that her son had been working on the Westminster Southern Railway, but had not received a cent of pay, and asking the council to intefere in his behalf.

On motion the clerk was instructed to reply that the council had nothing whatever to do with the matter.

From H. C. Chamberlain, asking street lines of block 10, lot 9, subdivision 19 and 20.

On motion the engineer was instructed to give the necessary lines.

From Jas. H. White, asking street lines opposite lot 29, block 22, as it is the intention of the missionary society of the Methodist church to build a mission church thereon. Received and request granted.

From A. Harrison Thomas, M. D., thanking the mayor for bringing his former communication before the council. Received and clerk instructed to reply to the effect that he had better meet the new council.

From W. J. French, stating that his fence had been removed during street improvements and never replaced, and holding council responsible if any damage is done to his property. Received and filed.

From Davie & Bodwell, of Victoria, stating that they had been instructed by Thos. Gorrie to inform the council that, to save further trouble about the flags, he would accept $75 in satisfaction of his claim, without prejudice to his right to sue for the whole amount claimed, and that they had received instruction to take proceedings for the whole amount if this offer is not accepted. Ald. Jaques said if they didn't like to take the $40 offered by the mayor, let them sue. Received and filed.

REPORTS.

The boards of works and health, fire and light, water and sewerage, police and finance committees reported recommending payment of various accounts. All reports adopted.

The finance committee reported:

1. That the matter of renewal of water lot leases of Jas. Wise and C. Millard and the application of D. McGillivray be left for the new council to arrange.

2. That Walter J. Walker be appointed auditor and that the finance committee be empowered to arrange salary for same.

3. That the city should co-operate with Vancouver and other cities of the province in memorialising the provincial government to so amend sec. 3 of chap. III. of the consolidated statutes of the province as to exclude from its provisions the several cities of the province, relating to personal property and income taxes, and that the clerk be and is hereby instructed to foward said memorial.

4. That advertisements for tenders for railway debentures be put in both local papers and the Colonist for a week, also in the Monetary Times, Toronto, and Journal of Commerce, Montreal, four issues. Adopted.

Ald. Reid suggested that it would be a good move to advertise in some of the great English papers, as from that country most of the money for American railroads came.

Ald. Curtis informed the council that all the English money syndicates had agents in this country, and upon the advice of the agents as to the reliability of the enterprise they would advance or not advance the money. Ald. Curtis also stated that no good monetary negotiations could be arranged with English capital except through Canadian agents.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The street naming and numbering by-law was hailed with audible smiles, but Ald. McPhaden had it ready this time and brought it forth, and the list of names was read by the clerk. Some of the names were deemed of the jaw breaking order, but the majority of them were thought very suitable.

On motion the city engineer was instructed to place them on the map.

ACCOUNTS.

H. T. Read & Co., $19; Mathers & Milligan, $33.28; T. J. Trapp & Co, $159.25; Brunette Sawmill Co., $575 92; Thos. Ovens, $136.96; R. C. P. M. Co., Oct. acct., $1948.66; R. C. P. M. Co., Nov. acct., $858.36; Dr. McGuigan, $20; Gas. Co., $199.40; BRITISH COLUMBIAN, $95.50; H. Elliott, $8.50; Z. S. Hall, $2.75; Mr. Johnson, $12; Dickinson & Binnie, $8.50; land registry office, $22.25; Gas Consumers Benefit Co., $15.50; H. Elliott, $12.25; Arthur Hill, $750; E. A. Wilmot, $852.42.

Ald. Curtis stated that the residents of upper Clement street were desirous of having that thoroughfare put at once into passable condition.

On motion the board of works was instructed to move a gang of men from lower to upper Clement street as soon as possible. St. Andrew street, from Pelham street to the North Arm road, will also be set in repair.

While they were at it the board of works was also instructed to look after the Sapperton road near the new hospital.

Ald. Cunningham gave notice of motion that at next meeting of council he would introduce a by-law to authorize this council to pay the mayor a reasonable amount for services faithfully rendered since his election to office.

Council then adjourned.

THE GREAT HERO

The Health of the Prince of Wales Still Declining and He Loses Heart.

A NICE PAIR.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Lord Torphicen has brought suit against his wife for divorce, charging her with adultery with a lieutenant of infantry and Lady Torphicen brings a counter action, also alleging adultery. The hearing is set for January 24th at Edinburgh.

REQUIRES ATTENTION.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Morning Journal in an editorial to-day, says that England as a holder of widely extended possessions on the American continent should not ignore America's naval activity.

STILL IMPROVING.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 10.—Emin Pasha is improving slowly and there is hope of his recovery.

THE MASSACRE CONFIRMED.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—A dispatch from Zanzibar says intelligence has been received there confirming the massacre of Dr. Peters and his party. His camp was surrounded by twelve hundred Somalis, and attacked at midnight. No one escaped, according to the story.

YATESS' CABLE.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The great depression of spirits from which the Prince of Wales is at present suffering did not escape the notice of his visitors last week. He talked constantly of his failing health, and although he battles bravely against increasing weakness it is impossible to conceal the fact that he is an entirely different man from what he was twelve months ago.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

There will be the usual memorial services at Frogmore mausoleum next Saturday, which is to be attended by the Queen, Prince and Princess of Wales, and family; Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh, Duchess of Albany, Princess Louise, Princess Beatrice and Princess Christian.

STILL SUFFERING.

The German empress has been unwell ever since her return to Berlin She has not yet recovered from the fatigues she underwent at Athens and Constantinople, and to which she was altogether unequal as she is in delicate health.

SUICIDING WHOLESALE.

There has lately been an extraordinary and alarming increase in the number of suicides among the officers of the German army. In one month 28 officers shot themselves.

POLITE PARNELL.

According to Manchester gossips, who presumably were informed by some of the Hawarden set who attended the conference in full force, Mr. Gladstone toward the end of the last session took the opportunity of informing Mr. Parnell that he and his family were yearning to have the pleasure and honor of securing him as what the Americans term a "House Guest" at Hawarden. Mr. Parnell did not, I understand, respond to the invitation of the statesman with the enthusiasm Gladstone is accustomed to expect on such occasions, but he did not absolutely refuse to visit Hawarden in the course of the autumn. A few weeks ago Mr. Gladstone, according to the Manchester story, wrote to remind Mr. Parnell of his engagement, and expressed the earnest hope that Hawarden would have the high honor of receiving him as a guest on a certain specified day, when there would be a party of congenial politicians to meet him. From that day, however, until Wednesday last, Mr. Gladstone, as the story goes, never received any answer whatever, from Mr. Parnell, who, unless political friends at Manchester have been romancing, has evidently treated his venerable friend with scant courtesy.

GENERAL BOULANGER.

Mr. Alexander Comstock, manager of Niblo's theatre and the academy of music, returned from Jersey last week with a preliminary contract signed by General Boulanger in his pocket. Some details which have transpired concerning this are in the main incorrect. The general has inserted a clause declaring the agreement null and void in case he is able to enter France as president of the French republic before the end of January, when he is to start for America accompanied by his private secretary and personal manager. Mr. Comstock agrees to pay the travelling expenses, hotel bills, etc., for the general and his suite, and give him $700 for each of thirty lectures he is to deliver in the principal cities of the United States. The general is to write his lectures, and promises to address his audiences in English. He will be introduced on each occasion by some leading French resident of the place.

GREAT UNDER MISFORTUNE.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Dom Pedro nearly fainted on arriving at his hotel, being overcome by excitement and the fatigues of the day. He soon rallied, however, and at no time has he been otherwise than cheerful and calm. He says he would return to Brazil only it unmistakably recalled by the people. He has announced that he will attend the sitting of the Portuguese Academy to hear Padre Candido deliver a eulogium upon the late King Luis. The meeting between Dom Pedro and the queen dowager was deeply affecting. She broke down and wept while talking of her late husband. King Carlos presided over a cabinet meeting on Friday, called to decide upon the manner in which Dom Pedro should be received.

SLAUGHTERED TO A MAN.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 9.—A copious watery discharge continues to issue from Emin's ears. Confirmation of the reported massacre of Dr. Peters and his party has been received. The camp was surrounded by 1,200 Somalis and attacked at midnight. No one escaped.

VICTORIA NEWS.

Special to the Columbian.

VICTORIA, Dec. 9.—The first snow for two years fell yesterday. It whitened the ground, but soon disappeared.

The steamer Queen of the Pacific arrived from San Francisco last evening, and left for the Sound.

The steamer Michigan, from Portland, arrived this morning for provincial ports.

The Methodists of this city will commence work immediately on a $60,000 church. It will be the handsomest in the province.

The S.S. Michigan Ashore on Enterprise Reef—Five Bluejackets Sentenced for Desertion—Glanders Among Horses in Victoria.

VICTORIA, Dec. 10.—The Louise on her arrival last night reported the str. Michigan ashore on Enterprise reef, near Plumper's Pass. She was en route from here to Nanaimo with a cargo of general merchandise. The tide was at half ebb, and ship resting easily. Assistance will probably be given her by the steamers Islander and Yosemite, which sailed this morning and it was expected she will float at high tide.

A court martial was held yesterday to try five seamen for desertion from H. M. S. Champion. All were sentenced to from eighteen months to two years imprisonment with hard labor.

Glanders has made its appearance among several horses in this city. The authorities are taking energetic measures to stamp the disease out.

Council met in the town hall on Monday, Dec. 2nd. Present, the reeve and Councillors Reid, Garratt, Stewart and Daniels. The council was called for the purpose of considering the following government communications: From W. S. Gore, surveyor-general, stating that as the construction of the North Arm bridges was about completed, the government had much pleasure in handing over the structure to the council of Richmond municipality; from W. S. Gore, surveyor-general, containing an extract of the report of Geo. Turner, to the effect that a caretaker should be appointed to look after the North Arm bridges, that steamboat captains should be warned not to approach too near the bridges until the swing is fully open and that a lead being made to the opening of the swing would tend to prevent steamers striking the spans. On motion, it was decided that the communications from W. S. Gore be received and laid on the table for one hour for the purpose of inspecting the bridges.

On resuming, it was decided, on motion, that the reeve and Coun. Stewart be appointed a committee to engage a board of engineers to inspect the bridges, both in respect of the general plan of the work in detail, and to have such board report to the council on or before Saturday, Dec. 7th, if possible.

Prospecting New Rookeries.

In the dusk of last evening the Japanese sealing schooner Adele, Capt. Hansen, which left Victoria in the latter part of September ostensibly bound for Yokohama, re-entered the harbor and anchored off Warren's wharf. When the Adele left port it was common talk on the streets and among sealing men that the real object of her trip was to raid the breeding islands of the Alaska Commercial Co. Accordingly her return caused a very considerable amount of excitement among those interested in the sealing industry. Capt. Hansen was inclined to be very uncommunicative, but it was ascertained that in prospecting new rookeries, which was one of the principle objects of the cruise, the schooner had been successful. After leaving Victoria the Adele skirted up the west coast, and made several of the important islands in the Behring's sea. She had fairly good sealing weather. Almost all the hunting was done in new locations, and she returned with plenty of skins in her hold to meet all the expenses of the prospecting trip. The exact number of the catch was not made public last night, but it is in the neighborhood of sixteen huudred.—Saturday's Colonist.

Deer Slaying.

In addition to the information referred to last week in the Sentinel as to the killing of deer for the hides, we are this week in receipt of a letter from a private source which fully confirms the statements made in that article. Our informant states that the slaughter is still going on and that "thousands of deer are being shot down for the paltry sum paid for the skin, and several tons are being forwarded for shipment." A resident in the Spallumcheen district states that the manager of the steamers plying between Enderby and Sicamous has refused to transport the skins waiting there for shipment. He referred to a party from Seattle who passed through the district recently for the "express purpose of arranging for deer skins, and that unprincipled traders are getting organized lodges of Indians to slay the deer wholesale." The same party says "this thing is going on all over the country, and that back of Clinton last winter two men killed 1200 deer, while there are men living in that district who make their living at it." The names of traders in the Spallumcheen and Okanagan districts who are trafficking in hides are given, but we are not at liberty to make them public at this writing. The government, however, should investigate the statements made, and we have no doubt all the information necessary will be forthcoming to prove the truth or falsity of them.—Sentinel.

Ed. Marston has been appointed agent of the Northwest government to superintend the shipment of 4 per cent. beer from Manitoba to the Territories. His headquarters will be in Winnipeg.

Hugh Browne is suing the Montreal Gazette for $5,000 damages for having printed a statement to the effect that there was a shortage in his cash while agent of the Glasgow & London Insurance Company at Toronto.

Daily British Columbian

Tuesday Evening, Dec. 10, 1889.

THE elections in this city yesterday passed off very quietly, as everyone anticipated, the aggregate vote polled, as shown by the mayoralty contest, being considerably less than half the number on the register. The reasons for this are numerous. As we stated yesterday, there was no very important issue before the electors, resulting in a natural lack of interest, and the weather was wretched as well as the state of the roads. The fact, too, that in wards one and four there was no contest for aldermen tended directly towards making the total vote for mayor smaller than if there had been more inducement for indifferent or supine electors to visit the polls. Last, but not least, probably, as a factor in the small vote for the mayoralty should be mentioned the fact that neither of the candidates conducted a personal canvass, nor were their agents or supporters encouraged to do so. In fact, by general consent, there was practically no electioneering done at the elections, except to a limited extent in the aldermanic contests in wards two and three. Under the circumstances, then, the vote for mayor was not so small as it seems, and, while Mr. Brown's majority is a fairly respectable one, Mr. Townsend's vote is one, when all the circumstances are considered, that shows him to stand well in the estimation of the ratepayers, after his year of service in the council, as alderman and mayor. There can be no doubt that, had Mr. Townsend chosen to seek re-election for the honors, without raising the question of salary, he would have been returned without opposition as a mark of approval of his services. Mr. Townsend's emphatic and definite stating of the salary issue in the first place was responsible for Mr. Brown's candidature, and to a certain extent for his election. We supported Mr. Brown, as our readers know, apart from the salary question, on the ground that, while Mr. Townsend had made a good mayor, we believed that Mr. Brown would make a better. We think so still, and, therefore, cannot but commend the choice of the ratepayers in the mayoralty matter.

The aldermanic contests in wards two and three did not go altogether as we anticipated, nor in every respect as we honestly conceived to be in the city's best interests. The ratepayers of the wards themselves, however, are the ones to be suited, and we bow with the utmost grace to their superior judgment. Notwithstanding, we must express our opinion that in the (to us) phenomenal defeat of Jno. Reid in ward two and of H. Elliott in ward three the city loses experienced and valuable advisers and counsel which we are afraid the new board as now constituted will stand in need of, more particularly in the board of works department. We shall not indulge in forebodings of evil, however, but accept the new council which the ratepayers have given us, for better, for worse, and congratulate every mother's son of them. It is unnecessary to say that we heartily agree with the ratepayers in their unmistakably expressed choice of Jas. Johnston as one of the aldermen in ward two and of B. W. Shiles in ward three. We have nothing to say against the return of D. McPhaden as the second alderman in ward two, except that we still believe Jno. Reid would have been a much better choice. With respect to the election of Marshall Sinclair as the second alderman in ward three, we would repeat, what we said before the election, that we do not believe he will do discredit to the office of alderman. We honestly believed, and still hold to the belief, that Mr. Elliott, having had many years' experience in civic matters, and particularly in connection with the department of the board of works, would have been a more valuable accession to the city council for the ensuing year than Mr. Sinclair. However, if the latter carries with him into the council the same energy and skill that he has exhibited as a canvasser, he will make a howling success as alderman. Mr. Sinclair is a comparatively young man. We congratulate him on his very evident faculty of get-there-ativeness, and during the ensuing municipal year THE COLUMBIAN will give him, as well as every member of the new civic parliament, a perfectly fair field, without favoring any. The municipal council for 1890, which was completed by yesterday's elections, will be found to be constituted as follows: Mayor, John C. Brown; aldermen, Messrs. Alfred Smither, Joseph Batchelor (ward one), Jas. Johnson, D. McPhaden (ward two), B. W. Shiles, Marshall Sinclair (ward three), D. Lyal and H. Hoy (ward four). It will be seen that the new council is composed of new men, with the exception of Messrs. Shiles and McPhaden, and, with the additional exception of Mr. Hoy, both mayor and aldermen are new in the sense of having never occupied positions at the council board in this city before. The new council will no enter upon their duties until January first. In the meantime the members will probably improve their time and "get onto the running" by devoutly marching in a body to the council chambers whenever they hear the civic bell toll for an assembly. In this way they will be able to catch and appropriate what is good in the old council and the more intelligently carry on its unfinished enterprises. The maiden deliberations of the new council will be watched with interest. There are some very good men in its make-up. There are others not so good. But we shall suspend our judgment and hold ourselves open to be convinced that the municipal council for 1890 is the best in every respect that the royal city has ever had.

It will be generally admitted that three good men have been elected for water commissioners in Messrs. J. C. Armstrong, W. A. Duncan, and Geo. Turner. The total number of votes polled on this ticket was also small as compared with the voting strength of the city, and for the same reasons that produced a similar result on the voting for mayor and aldermen. While on the subject of the water commissioners, it is only fair to Senator McInnes, who was put in nomination unsought by himself, as were the others, and who received a considerable vote as it was, to state that he lost many votes owing to the fact of his senatorship and the unavoidable impression that his Ottawa engagement would interfere with his duties as water commissioner. Mr. Major, it should be mentioned, withdrew from the nomination at the last moment, which left but five nominees to select from, instead of the original ten proposed by the council.

IT is characteristic of the morning paper, and a very fair illustration of its "style" all through, that it should retract election slanders, that it has stubbornly and wantonly reiterated for days, after the election is over and the purpose for which they were uttered has been either fulfilled or defeated. This is what our very absurd and erring cotemporary has done with respect to its intended slander against Mr. Jas. Johnson, who was yesterday returned at the head of the poll for ward two. The slander first appeared in the Truth (?) of Thursday morning. On Friday we gave it a contradiction that should have satisfied that paper, if it had the least disposition to be honest—or at least set it thinking and inquiring, if it wanted to be fair and repair an injustice before the election, obviously the proper time to make a retraction. But what does the "independent" Church street sheet do? Why, it mulishly reiterates its slander of Thursday on both Saturday and Sunday mornings. And on this (Tuesday) morning, when the election is over, and the false insinuation had done all the harm that it could (which, as the sequel has shown, was nil, owing to the source from which it emanated, except upon the head of its originator), the journalistic terror to the "early worm" in this bright and blooming burg breaks out in its editorial columns, with a mingled "gall" and simplicity that is as refreshing as whisky-and-soda, with the following cheerful but tardy confession: "From careful enquiry made among those who are best acquainted with James Johnson, it appears that, so far from being a Salvationist, he is a rigid Presbyterian of the old school. It is with unfeigned pleasure we make this correction." Now, what is a discriminating public to think of such a confession in view of all the circumstances? There are only two conclusions possible; Truth must be either a deliberate and unblushing journalistic knave or a hopeless "chump." In charity let us suppose the latter, and we have the sublime and edifying spectacle of a so-called journal making "careful enquiry," when it is practically too late, into the truth or falsity of slanders that have been making its columns offensive and ridiculous for fully half a week. It does not need calcium lights or other stage accessories to enhance such an object lesson. Verb. sat.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A "bee in the ear" of our ecclesiastical cotemporary—The "Methodist ring" in the retiring council will have a very pronounced Presbyterian "ring" about it in the new. Those churches again.

THE COLUMBIAN is a sort of "Burke's Peerage" on the religious affiliations of the people of New Westminster—Truth. Thanks awfully. Whenever Truth wishes to consult an authority on any subject we shall be happy to oblige it, and thus save it the humiliating necessity of making "careful enquiry" afterwards.

To give persons unacquainted with natural science an idea of the more interesting of the actions affecting the surface of the earth—especially in their relations to the welfare of man—has been the aim of Prof. N. S. Shaler, of Harvard, in his "Aspects of the Earth" (Chas. Scribner's Son, New York). In successive chapters, he treats clearly and in the light of the latest knowledge, earthquakes, volcanoes, caverns and cavern life, rivers and valleys, the instability of the atmosphere, forests of North America, and the origin and nature of soils. Especially attractive are the discussion of future earthquakes, curious facts concerning the Charleston upheaval, Pliny's account of the volcanic eruption that buried Pompeii, and the description and tracing of the origin of tornadoes, whirlwinds and cyclones. Many accurate engravings add to the instructiveness of the text.

WOODEN FRUIT-BOXES.

How They Are Made In the Great Factories of the Fruit Districts.

How many of those who buy a box of berries, cherries, plums or other small fruit, of the grocer or vender at the door, know how the little wooden boxes which hold the fruit are made? asks the San Diego (Cal.) Union. Light and fragile, thinner than pasteboard, and apparently simple in construction, they are by far the best thing yet devised for the handling and marketing of small fruits.

They are made of shavings. The thin sheets of wood which form the sides and bottom of a berry-box are nothing more nor less than small pieces cut from a great pine, fir or whitewood shaving, and bent and fastened together in the shape of a box. These shavings, of course, are not like those which fall in graceful curves from the carpenter's plane, but are great long sheets, in each of which is almost the entire wood of a big log, and from a single shaving is frequently made from 2,000 to 5,000 berry-boxes.

To one who has never witnessed the manufacture of berry-boxes, every stage of the process is extremely interesting. A reporter recently visited the works of the Colorado Fruit Packing Company, across the bay, and there had an opportunity to witness the operation of the machinery and see the boxes made.

The logs, which are brought down from the Northern coast, are unloaded in the waters of the bay and floated into the boom close to the shore, where the factory is located. From there they are hauled up on a tramway running down into the water, so that the logs can be floated upon the car. When brought up the logs are cut by a drag-saw into uniform lengths as desired. These sections of the log are then placed in a large steam-box, of which there are several convenient to the machinery, and left for twelve hours subject to the effects of the exhaust steam from the engine. This softens the wood so that it can be cut into the thin sheets desired, without checking or splitting into fragments.

A section of a great log, three feet in diameter, was rolled out from the steam-box by two men, and, after the center had been marked at both ends, was hoisted by a small derrick and swung over a machine, the principal feature of which was a long, bevel-edged knife, firmly set in a strong iron frame, in very much the same manner as the blade of a carpenter's plane is set. Indeed, the cutting portion of this machine is a great monster shaving-plane, with the edge of the blade fixed upward. The log was next lowered by the derrick to its proper position, the operator of the machine pulled a lever and two great clamps, with strong, sharp-pointed jaws, two inches long, advanced and pushed their iron teeth into the marked centers at each end of the log. The great wooden cylinder was now held firmly in front of the blade of the immense shaving-plane, and when the operator pulled another lever, the log commenced to revolve toward the cutting edge, exactly like the strip of wood in a turner's lathe revolves toward the chisel. Another pull by the operator, and the frame holding the great blade began to move up to the revolving log. When the knife came in contact with the steaming wood the outer edges were peeled off in thin strips without a sound of cutting, and the broad sheets rolled out under the blade as easily and noiselessly as would a slice of cheese under a sharp knife.

After the water-soaked outer portion of the log had been trimmed off in this manner, the operator adjusted, on the side of the log opposite to the cutting-knife, a number of small chisel-like instruments, at the end of each of which was a small, sharp cutting-edge pressing against the log. These little cutters are placed at various distances, carefully measured by the operator, and evidently formed an important feature of the operation. When the log again began its revolutions against the blade of the great shaving-machine there came out from under the knife a long, wide, thin strip of wood, which the men pulled out and rolled and folded up like wall-paper.

An examination of this great white steaming shaving showed that its entire length was marked by parallel lines, cut partially through the wood, made by the little cutters at the back of the log. The purpose of these lines was a mystery until the operator carelessly broke off an end of the great shaving, making a strip two or three inches wide, and quickly bent it into the form of a berry box complete, excepting the bottom. The points of bending were the parallel lines cut in the wood, which made the operation of shaping the box nothing but a simple mechanical movement.

The wood bent readily at the partial cuts and formed the angles of the box. Making the bottom, of course, consisted in exactly the same operation, except that the strip used for this portion was not so long, having only two cuts and three segments. The middle segment formed, of course, the bottom of the box, and the two at the end extended upward inside the frame formed by the longer strip.

All but the small core of the log is turned off into this long shaving, one-twentieth of an inch in thickness and nearly 1,000 feet long, which is folded and broken into convenient lengths for handling as fast as it comes from the knife.

The machinery which thus in a few minutes converts a rough log into a long paper-like sheet of wood, is called a rotary veneer-machine, and in the factory are several of them of various sizes, the largest of them being adapted to the shaving of logs ten feet eight inches in length. The thin sheets of wood, as fast as they are taken from the machine, are placed upon a long table near at hand and pushed under a knife operated by steam-power, which cuts the wood into narrow strips, lengthwise, and of the proper width for the sides and bottom of a berry-box. The knife which cuts the long shavings crosswise of course cuts lengthwise of the grain. The narrow strips, as fast as they are cut, are taken away by boys and carried on an elevator to the second floor of the building, where a number of boys and girls rapidly bind them into box form. The last step in the manufacture, which is done by girls, is the fastening of the bottom and side strips together. This is done by a peculiar-looking machine called a stapler, but which might very properly be called a wire sewing-machine. The girl operator has simply to turn the side of the box to be fastened over a little plate, press her foot upon a pedal, and the small wire, which is fed from a cylinder, passes through the two strips, and is clinched on the other side. The work is done very rapidly, and an immense number of boxes can be turned out in a day.

ORIGIN OF NEWSPAPERS.

The Pioneer Journals of Great Britain and the United States.

From the first day of the meeting of the Long Parliament may be dated the beginning of journalism, writes W. A. Engarde in the Inland Printer. The earliest English newspaper that has been discovered is in quarto pamphlet of a few leaves, comprehending a summary of parliamentary proceedings from an entire year. It is entitled, "The Diurnal Occurrence, or Daily Proceedings of Both Houses, in Their Great and Happy Parliament, from the 3d of November, 1640, to 3d of November, 1641." More than one hundred newspapers, with different titles, appear to have been published between this date and the death of the King, and upwards of eighty others between this event and the Restoration. Occasionally papers were published after the civil war began, limited to local or special occurrences, as "News from Hull," "Truths from York," "Tidings from Ireland." The more regular newspapers were published weekly at first, then twice and three times a week. The impatience of the people soon led to the publication of daily papers, and Spalding, the Aberdeen annalist, mentions that in December, 1659, "daily newspapers came from London, called Diurnal Occurrences, declaring what is done in Parliament." In the Scottish campaign of 1650 the army of Charles, and that of Oliver Cromwell, each carried its printer along with it to report progress, and, of course, to exaggerate success. It is from this circumstance that the first introduction of newspapers into Scotland has been attributed to Oliver Cromwell.

When we look over the United States and contemplate the vast number of newspapers and periodicals, daily, weekly and monthly, and some of them two or three times a day, the fact can be hardly realized that it is but little over a hundred years since the first newspaper of any kind on the American continent was started, and but little over half that time since the commencement of the first daily. Such is the fact, however.

April 24, 1704, saw the first newspaper in the English language in the American colonies or on the North American continent. This was the Boston News Letter, a small half sheet, published by John Campbell, a Scotchman, who was a bookseller and a postmaster. The contents of the first number were: "Queen's speech in the English parliament, a few local articles under the Boston head, one advertisement, extracts from the London papers and four paragraphs of marine news!" Advertisements were inserted at reasonable rates, from two pence to five shillings.

In 1721 James Franklin established a newspaper in Boston. The paper was severely critical withal, and somewhat hostile to the clergy. Franklin became unpopular, was censured and imprisoned for "scandalous libel." James Franklin was strictly forbidden to print the New England Courant without supervision, etc. He evaded this by substitution of his brother's name for his own. The Courant lived three years.

The American Weekly Mercury, of Philadelphia, issued in 1723, was the third newspaper printed in the colonies. It was made up of quaint advertisements and short paragraphs of antique news.

The Pennsylvania Gazette, edited by Dr. Franklin, and published in 1729, was the next venture to mark journalism. In its prospectus Franklin announces his intention to make a good, readable journal; and in his ideas it is easy to see that he was far in advance of his contemporaries. His paper consisted of four small pages, and the subscription was ten shillings a year.

In 1735, Thomas Fleet established the Boston Evening Post. Fleet was born in England and learned his trade there. He once advertised a negro woman for sale as follows: "To be sold by the printer of this paper, the very best negro woman in this town. She has had the small-pox and measles, is as hearty as a horse, as brisk as a bird, and will work like a beaver." Fleet was a humorous character, and made money out of his paper.

The Pennsylvania Journal and Weekly Advertiser was started in 1765. At the time of the Stamp Act, in 1765, the paper came out in mourning with the motto, "The times are dreadful, dismal, dolorous and dollarless." There was also a death's head in one corner of the page, and under it these words: "Oh! the postal stamp."

A journal called the New York Gazette flourished a little while in the year 1771, but was remarkable in no particular; and the first daily in the United States, the Pennsylvania Packet, afterward called the Daily Advertiser, was started in 1794.

These were the first attempts at American journalism, and, as such, are alone worthy of mention. Soon after the advent of the daily newspaper, the idea of collating and digesting the news became more and more comprehensive, and from the beginning of the present century up to this time, the American newspaper has grown steadily and rapidly, until it now represents the entire world, and is "greater than the throne itself." Its number is almost countless, and its power for good or evil beyond calculation.

MAN-KILLING MACHINES.

Maxim's Automatic Gun That Almost Loads and Fires Itself.

An automatic three-pounder gun, which seems destined to play a great part in the warlike operations of the future, was tested at Erith a few days ago in the presence of representatives of the War Office, who were so greatly struck by its performance that the Maxim Company has been requested to construct a twelve-pounder on the same principle, says the London Times.

About six years ago, when Mr. Maxim began his experiments in automatic gunnery, he made certain alterations in a Martini-Henry rifle so that when it was fired the recoil opened the breech by dropping the block in the ordinary way, the block remaining down until another cartridge was placed in position, when the breech automatically closed and the trigger could be again pulled.

The gun lately tried is merely an application of this system on a large scale. It has the appearance of the quick firing three-pounder, is mounted on a cone in the same manner and is trained by a crutch on which the shoulder of the gunner rests. When the gun is loaded and the trigger is pulled the barrel of the gun recoils a distance of four inches, the breech remaining closed during the recoil. When, however, the barrel returns to the firing position the breach block is thrown downward, the hammer is cocked and the empty cartridge is ejected, the breech block remaining down until another cartridge is introduced. The act of placing the cartridge in the chamber liberates the block, which rises instantly, closing the breech, and the gun can be fired again.

After firing the gun in the way described the trigger was fixed in the pulled position, a cartridge was fired and its empty shell ejected. On introducing another cartridge it was fired in the same way without the intervention of the trigger, and so on with an indefinite number of cartridges, the gun doing all the work except that of placing the cartridges in the chamber. This gun weighs no more than the ordinary quick-firing gun of the same caliber; the strain on the mounting is less, enabling it to be fired from a light torpedo boat without damage to the deck, and the rapidity of the fire is increased, with only one-half the usual gun detachment to work it.

CRUELTY OF PEDDLERS.

An Indignant Housewife Emphatically Demands Protection.

Said an avenue housekeeper to the Chicago Journal's sidewalk stroller lately: "A society is needed for the protection of housewives and house girls from the cruelties of book agents, peddlers, canvassers, circular distributors, beggars, bums and beats generally." Asking her to relate her experiences, she said: "Well, it is a fact that one of the most wearisome things about housekeeping on a nice avenue and in a nice house is the constant ringing of the front-door bell by the class of people whom I have mentioned, and who I think have no more business to ring it than they have to fire a gun at the house. In my house the calls sometimes average twenty a day, and what does it involve? I'll tell you. From the kitchen in the back basement, one hundred feet away, my girl has to climb a flight of stairs, go through a short hall, a dining-room, a library, a middle parlor and a long hall to reach the front door, there to be confronted and detained three minutes at least with a conversation about like this: "Is the mistress in?" "Yes." "Can I see her?" "What business?" "I must see her myself." "But she will not see you, I think." "Go ask her to come here," etc., etc. Sometimes I am roused from sleep, or sewing, or looking to the children, or entertaining friends, only to go to the front door and sweetly smile and refuse and waive away the intruder—one or another of the class mentioned. So I figure for my girl—extra walking per day, nearly half a mile; loss of time, over one hour, and say nothing of accidents to food on the kitchen stove and wear and tear to carpets. And now why can't we have some law," she earnestly added, "to save us from these daily pests and help make home one's castle, as it should be, whether in the city or the wilderness?"

Pretty Havanese Feet.

Cuban women wear shoes no larger than the No. 1. Nor is this diminutive size the result of any pinching process. She is born that way. That is, her foot. You could hold two of them in your one hand. And, whatever the woman's weight or size, the foot is universally this dainty and beautiful thing. Its arch is wonderful. But one thing about it offends the foreigner's eye. That is the high, narrow heel, two or three inches long and scarcely a third of an inch at its narrowest part. One feels afraid of accidents and contretemps from it. But the pretty-footed woman is a sure-footed one. She is the most graceful woman on her feet, in her walk and carriage, in the promenade or in the dance you ever saw. So this sinewy, live grace must also be inbred—a part of the grain, fiber, blood and very spirit back of them.

It Makes You Hungry

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound and it has had a salutary effect. It invigorated the system and I feel like a new man. It improves the appetite and facilitates digestion." J. T. COPELAND, Pelham, S. C.

Spring medicine means more now-a-days than it did ten years ago. The winter of 1888-89 has left the nerves all fagged out. The nerves must be strengthened, the blood purified, liver and bowels regulated. Paine's Celery Compound—the Spring medicine of to-day—does all this, as nothing else can. Prescribed by Physicians, Recommended by Druggists, Endorsed by Ministers, Guaranteed by the Manufacturers to be The Best Spring Medicine.

"In the spring of 1887 I was all run down. I would get up in the morning with so tired a feeling, and was so weak that I could hardly get around. I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had taken it a week I felt very much better. I can cheerfully recommend it to all who need a building up and strengthening medicine." Mrs. B. A. Dow, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

is a unique tonic and appetizer. Pleasant to the taste, quick in its action, and without any injurious effect, it gives that rugged health which makes everything taste good. It cures dyspepsia and kindred disorders. Physicians prescribe it. $1.00. Six for $5.00. Druggists.

The streets and crossings were in a terribly muddy condition to-day, and foot traffic was simply abominable. To people living in portions of the city where sidewalks are not yet laid, the present sort of weather has few charms.

George Gray, an employe of the Brunette Sawmills Co., lost two fingers yesterday by his hand coming into contact with a circular saw, at which he was working. Dr. Cooper attended professionally to the unfortunate man's injuries.

The weather department does not anticipate any more of the vagaries from the weather that characterized last Sunday. There was a marked rise in temperature to day and the department is hopeful of mild weather for the rest of the week.

A heavy rain fell last night for a few hours, causing the snow to almost entirely disappear from the streets. The fond anticipations nursed by many that sleigh driving would be in order for a few days, have been washed away by last night's rain.

Remember the Girard Leon's We 3 Co. will appear at the opera house Saturday evening December 14th. Twenty artists of merit will positively appear. Don't forget to bring the little ones to see the donkeys. Seats on sale at Lyal's book store.

Eleven carloads of Christmas prime beef cattle arrived to-day from up country and were unloaded at the C. P. N. stockyards. There were 160 head in all, 18 destined for Nanaimo, the remainder for Victoria. These cattle are some of the finest stock that has been landed here this year, and are a credit to the ranches which produced them. In the consignment which went to Vancouver was one steer weighing 2200 pounds.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Mr. Zed S. Hall was busy this afternoon distributing the "Christmas Globe," a number of great beauty and merit. One of the colored pictures represents every branch of the Canadian militia, a very handsome affair, and well worthy a place in any drawing room.

About 5 o'clock last evening a horse attached to a buggy dashed down Columbia street, and when near the corner of Mary street came to grief by colliding with a heavy dray. One of the wheels of the buggy was knocked off, but beyond that no serious damage was done.

Upper Clements, and upper St. Andrews streets are to be put in proper repair immediately. Clement street between Agnes st. and Royal ave. is in a terrible condition for either foot passengers or vehicles, and the council before retiring from office should take some steps to have a sidewalk and gutters laid.

The class in vocal music at the Y. M. C. A. last night was very successful, both in point of numbers and in the work done. On the fine new blackboard the instructor illustrated his remarks by drawing the notes and signs, so that every facility is offered the students for acquiring a practical as well as theoretical knowledge of the art.

The English iron bark Ullock, with a cargo of 620,000 feet of rough and finished lumber, cleared this port from the Royal City Mills' wharf, this morning in tow of the steamer Active, which took her to sea. The Ullock is bound for Port Philip, N.S.W., Australia, and has a full complement of officers and men, the places of deserters from the ship having been filled before she left.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church gave a very pleasant social last evening. A select programme of songs, readings and instrumental music was rendered, after which tea and cake were served to the audience. These social affairs are becoming more and more popular with the members of the congregation, and deservedly so, as they are admirably conducted.

At Portland on Friday evening, eighteen members of the Salvation Army, six being women, were arrested while beating drums and blowing horns on the street in violation of an ordinance recently passed by the Portland city council. The Salvationists evidently anticipated arrest, as they were carrying a banner inscribed "Prison Brigade." They were in jail only a few minutes when they were bailed out.

The Battery Meeting.

A meeting of great importance to every man of No. 1 Battery, B. C. G. A., will be held to-night, at 8 o'clock, sharp, at headquarters in the drill shed. All arms, accoutrements and clothing have been called in by battery order, and it is the earnest wish of the officer commanding that every man attend this evening and bring the above-mentioned property with him. Business of vital importance to the corps will be transacted, among which will be the election of officers to fill the vacancies now existing.

Mr. Townsend's Thanks.

Mayor Townsend called at THE COLUMBIAN office this morning and requested us to convey to the ratepayers who voted for him yesterday, his heartfelt thanks. He says he is quite satisfied with the results of yesterday's election so far as he is personally concerned, as it relieves him of troubles and responsibilities that even a good large salary fails to compensate for. Mr. Townsend takes his defeat with good grace, and in a manly way, and is by no means discomfited by his retirement. He will continue to interest himself with all affairs of importance relating to the city, and will identify himself with all progressive movements in the future as he has done in the past.

The Battle of the Flags.

The Gorrie flags are still flaunting bravely in the breeze, but at the reduced price of $75. Messrs. Davie & Bodwell, of Victoria, instructed by Mr. Gorrie, have offered to compromise the flag loan for $75, half the former demand, which must be paid immediately or a suit will be entered against the city. The council, some time ago, offered Mr. Gorrie $40 for the wear and tear of the box that enclosed the flags, but this he refused, demanding the full amount at first claimed. At the council meeting last night it was decided to allow Mr. Gorrie to pursue any course he wished in regard to the matter, and it was thoroughly understood that the city would not allow anything in the shape of browbeating to force a surrender.

The Vancouver Elections.

The Vancouver elections resulted yesterday as was generally expected—Mayor Oppenheimer was re-elected, with a majority of the aldermen as his supporters. The fight was the most bitter that has ever occurred in the terminal city, and every influence that could be brought to bear, one way or the other, was forced to the front and used to its fullest. The defeat of the ticket favored by the News-Advertiser, one of which was the editor of that journal, was overwhelming, and cannot be attributed to anything but the popularity of the opposing ticket. Following are the results: Mayor, D. Oppenheimer, elected by 256 majority. Aldermen: Ward one, Messrs. Browning and Carroll; ward two, Messrs. Garden and Horne; ward three, Messrs. Fox and Sentell; ward four, Messrs. Costello and McLeod; ward five, Messrs. Doering and Mason, elected by acclamation.

Bottled Enthusiasm.

Before the returns were all received at the city hall last night quite a large audience had gathered to listen to the remarks of the newly elected aldermen, but the crowd dwindled rapidly away after 6:30 o'clock, a good warm meal being apparently of more pleasure and importance than the speech of an alderman-elect. At seven o'clock the mayor and aldermen-elect had all taken their departure, and when Mr. Robson did make the official announcement, less than a dozen ratepayers were present to hear the "joyful news." Consequently there was no speechmaking, no enthusiasm, and, afterwards, a conspicuous lack of "red paint" round town, all the fresco work and kalsomining being done in private, or not at all. The damp and disagreeable weather had probably a chilling effect on the cheery ratepayers, and the bottled up enthusiasm will be liable to find vent on some future important occasion.

Declines to Take Second Place.

Tickets are selling well for the exhibition and concert to-morrow evening at the opera house. The merits of the entertainment have already been pointed out in these columns, and it only remains to be said that all who attend the concert to-morrow evening will discover that Westminster does not have to depend altogether upon outside talent for a good entertainment; and all who believe in giving home talent a fair trial will be there. The work on the horizontal bar is not the work of novices by any means; some of the most daring feats performed by gymnasts in the finest gymnasia of the east are done with ease by the young men who will gyrate to-morrow evening in the opera house. There has been rather a plethora of theatrical performances this week and they have been well supported; it would therefore be rather unfair to pass over the "home show," which in merit declines to take a second place to any that has appeared or will appear this week.

A Terror to Evil Doers.

The sentences passed upon Foo Sing and Scalon yesterday will undoubtedly be a source of satisfaction to all law abiding citizens, and make the petty members of the criminal class shudder. But these sentences are light compared with what will be dealt out to the next offender. Judge Bole hinted at fourteen years in the penitentiary for some of the sneak thieving fraternity, and there is little doubt that a worse place than Westminster for them does not exist. In his remarks on the Scalon case, his honor said the prisoner's crime was not characterized by the ferocity of the burglar, and luckily so for the prisoner, as had it been so proved, his honor would have sentenced him to fifteen years at hard labor. It was intolerable, said his honor, that people dare not leave their doors unlocked without the fear of some mean, pitiful, sneaking thief coming along and stealing their goods. If he found the crime increasing he would increase the sentence. It will be very much to the interest of those who are inclined to evil ways to remember these things and take timely warning. With the law dealt out in such doses New Westminster cannot fail to become a notoriously unhealthy place for the practice of crime of every kind

The Cautious Witness.

No man knows the hour that he may be called into a court of justice to give evidence, and it is well to cite a happily rather unusual case that occurred yesterday during the hearing of the robbery with violence case, before Judge Bole. A witness from Ladner's Landing exasperated the crown prosecutor and the judge by an extraordinary display of caution; he was sure of nothing and would swear to nothing; he thought he saw a man, but wouldn't swear to it; he thought he remembered a certain day, but would not swear to that. After about twenty minutes of this useless fencing he stated that he was positive—he actually startled the court by such positivism—that the man in the dock was not the man he saw with a gun in his hand that Sunday. This was more than Judge Bole could bear and he wheeled round indignantly and demanded how witness dared to have the audacity to come into a court of justice and tell such things. His honor said he had a good mind to commit him to jail, and finally told the witness to get out of the box and be ashamed of himself. On account of the disgraceful manner in which the witness gave his evidence, his expenses were disallowed by the court. This ought to serve as a warning to all others who imagine they are smart because they waste the time of the court by senseless equivocations.

The Galley Slave.

There was a thin house last night in the opera house, and the gallery predominated. The gallery also behaved itself in a way that was disgraceful, and by its stupid brawling and whistling spoiled the play for those who had paid their money to listen. The gallery hung its large feet and heavy shoes over the front railing and stuck its cap on the back of its head and tyrannized the whole house. The police in most other cities have a funny way of jumping right into the middle of such a howling mass and taking a grip of the noisiest ones by the back of the neck and hauling them like bales of hay down to the front entrance where a tremendous kick on the tail of the coat knocks all the wild enthusiasm out of the howling gallery "tough." The play was good and the acting strong. Bartley Campbell's "Galley Slave" is a favorite with eastern audiences, and with the respectable part of last night's audience was well received. The play really deserved a much better house than it had. Mr. Keene announced to the audience that the company would play "Damson and Pythias" to-night, the leading role of Damon being taken by an actor who has played that character all over the United States, and who, Mr. Keene said, is the best actor that has played in the north west. A representation of the fine old play Damon and Pythias, which was never played in Westminster or in fact the province, ought to attract a bumper house.

PERSONAL.

John Hendry and C. M. Beecher, of the Royal City Planing Mills Co., went over to Vancouver this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Edmonds went over to the terminal city to-day, where they will remain for the rest of the week.

Rev. Thos. Scouler left for Kamloops to-day, where he will attend the meeting of presbytery to-morrow, and return probably the day after.

Mr. and Mrs. Shadwell left yesterday, via Victoria, for California. Mr. Shadwell goes to Southern California for the benefit of his health, which has been very bad of late. He will remain for the winter at least.

Rev. P. McF. McLeod, of Victoria, went up to Kamloops yesterday to attend the meeting of presbytery at that place. He was billed to give a humorous lecture to-night at the inland capital on "That Young Woman."

The Clarion, the new organ of the National Liberal Club, was issued for the first time on Friday last. It will represent the opinion of the younger liberals of the Rouge stripe.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

A CARD.

To the Ratepayers of New Westminster:

Now that the excitement of electoral strife is past, permit me to tender my most sincere thanks to the friends who have, during the past week, showered upon me expressions of confidence and esteem, proving the genuineness of the same by returning me at the head of the poll for No. 2 Ward. Whether I shall fit the place or not, the next twelve months alone can tell. Be this as it may, I can assure my friends and fellow citizens that they have elected one who will discharge the duties of the position to the best of his ability in an honest, earnest and intelligent manner, and that fear of his fellow-man enters not into his composition. I am entirely free to promote the interests of the city as a whole, and of the west end in particular.

With reference to the brilliant and veracious Church street scribe, his distinguished notice had at first a maddening effect, from which I quickly recovered with a laugh—a laugh in which all who know me joined; it has not even yet lost its piquancy. It has been my intention to relieve that scribe's harrowing anxiety for a denial as soon as the contest was over, but he has forestalled me by coming out with a retraction this morning. He throws up the sponge and some bile, and should be feeling better by this time. I gather from his remarks that I may expect to have at least one fair-minded critic during the coming year. Be it so; I accept the situation. I have been a better friend of our new morning paper during its short existence than to THE COLUMBIAN during the past five years, and now the one acts the serpent and the other heaps coals of fire on my head. Such is life.

Business Change.

Mr. Luke Pither, well known in this city, has purchased the interest of M. Boucherat in the wholesale liquor firm of Boucherat & Co., and with Mr. J. Coigdarripe will continue the old established business. M. Boucherat, it is understood, will return to "la belle France," and spend the remaining years of his life in his beloved native land. Messrs. Coigdarripe and Pither are well and favorably known in the business world for their energy and integrity, and under their guidance the house of Boucherat & Co. will undoubtedly continue to enjoy that extensive patronage which has always been extended to it. Mr. Pither will enter into the business on 1st March next. His many friends will be pleased to learn of his permanent return to Victoria.—Colonist.

Capt. Pelletier's schooner, with a general cargo, which was some time ago wrecked and abandoned near D'Islet, Quebec, while bound to one of the lower parishes, subsequently went ashore and was pillaged by the inhabitants and then burned. The cure of the parish, in a discourse to his flock, severely censured this act of piracy.

Edmund Fitzgerald Cowen, who was mangled on the Grand Trunk track at Chatham, Ont., the other day, died Saturday. He was for several years in the civil service at Ottawa. He was English by birth and a grand-nephew of Cardinal Manning.

Job printing of all kinds neatly done at the COLUMBIAN office. Prices will be found as low as at any other office in the province.—Adv
