LEAGUE WILL NOT ALLOW SHAWCROSS TO TRANSFER

Such Was Decision of Committee—Draw for B. C. Football Cup—The Junior Schedule.

The usual treatment accorded Westminster in sport matters by Vancouver clubs was again seen last evening when the Vancouver District league meeting declined to allow the transfer of Shawcross from the ranks of his present club to the Rovers, although he is at work in this city. Manager Davis, who represented the interests of the city club, failed to obtain any concession. With regard to Davidson and McPhail, who had signed forms for two clubs, they were required to forward an explanation before the next league meeting.

The Columbian college and Y. M. C. A. game, which was defaulted by the college, was ordered to be replayed, the college to pay the expenses.

The draw for the B. C. cup resulted: All games to be played Nov. 21, Westminster vs. Shamrocks away, D. Leith referee; Nationals vs. North Vancouver; Westham Island vs. Celtics; Thistles a bye.

Divorce Suit Granted.

The last civil case was heard yesterday at the assize, when Chief Justice Hunter granted a decree nisi to Mrs. Charity Harvey from her husband, John Harvey. The parties were married in England in 1872, and there were eight children. The respondent left her in 1886, and evidence was given that he had stayed with another woman as his wife at the Winters hotel, Vancouver, on several occasions since. S. D. Schultz appeared for Mrs. Harvey.

Entertain Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dunn, of Royal avenue, entertained a party of friends at their residence yesterday evening, the guests including W. Williscroft, of Victoria, Capt. Croll, Sid Croll, Miss G. Young, Mrs. M. McKeen, Miss A. Croll and C. Bowman. With the able assistance of Miss Croll, who accompanied him on the piano, Sid Croll entertained the guests with a number of Scotch dances and flings. Miss A. Dunn also contributed to the enjoyment of the evening by rendering a number of favorite songs.

Spend Winter in California.

John A. Wilson, of Cloverdale, will leave in the near future for Sacramento, Cal., where he will spend some time before proceeding to Santa Rosa for the next few months. Mr. Wilson expects to return to B. C. about the beginning of March, when he proposes going into the real estate business at Cloverdale, his long residence in the Surrey district having well fitted him for the occupation which he intends taking up.

While stooping down to examine some goods in a Columbia street grocery yesterday evening, Miss Ella Duncan in some manner brought her head into violent contact with a heavy counter, sustaining injuries which necessitated her removal to the Royal Columbian hospital, where she remained unconscious for several hours.

CITY TREASURER APPOINTED AS ASSESSMENT COMMISSIONER

N. H. McQuarrie Will Be First Permanent Official Having Control of the Assessment—City Treasurership Will Be Filled Two Weeks Hence — Columbia Street Paving Again Discussed.

N. H. McQUARRIE.

The new assessment commissioner is a son of L. McQuarrie, belongs to a family well-known in this city, and is an Ottawan by birth. He came here in 1889, and has been in the civic service for some sixteen years, rising to the chief place in the department which he now leaves. He was assistant to W. T. Cooksley and A. E. Hill, and upon the resignation of the latter in 1897, became Treasurer. His efficient control of the city's finances is acknowledged by all.

An important meeting of the city council was held last evening. After three ballots, N. H. McQuarrie, the city treasurer, was appointed to the position of assessment commissioner, and his present post will be filled in two weeks. Discussions of some length on the Columbia street improvements, Lulu island water, and the condition of Eighth street on the north side took place.

Appointment Is Made.

The council went into committee of the whole with reference to the appointment of assessment commissioner. The names of the applicants were, in the order read out, St. George E. Jeffery, J. H. Vidal, W. E. Brown, J. S. Clute, James Johnson, Harold Delaney, N. H. McQuarrie, T. D. Caldicutt, John B. Rushton, H. M. Leonard (barrister-at-law, Vancouver), and A. Cuthbert, Vancouver, who had experience in assessment work in Regina. The names successful in the first ballot were McQuarrie, Rushton, Jeffery and Vidal. On the second ballot McQuarrie received half the votes, and his name and Rushton's, as they had most votes, were finally balloted upon, with the result that Mr. McQuarrie received six to two, and he was thereupon declared elected as assessment commissioner.

It was decided to advertise for the position of city treasurer, applications to be in by Nov. 16, at $125 a month. The mayor said the man chosen would have to be a first class accountant, and have some knowledge of municipal work.

It was explained that the bond was $7000, now put up by the city with a guarantee company for the treasurer.

Finally Mr. McQuarrie's resignation was accepted from Nov. 10, and he was asked to act temporarily till the new appointment was made. Mayor Keary bore testimony to the excellent manner in which Mr. McQuarrie had performed his present duties.

Use of Moody Park.

Deputations consisting of E. R. McMillan, president, and H. Ryall, treasurer, of the Rovers' football club, and Professor Bouck and F. A. Armstrong on behalf of Columbian college club, waited on the council with reference to the use of Moody square grounds by the clubs, arising out of the difficulty of Oct. 24, when the Columbian college team wished to use the ground, and were prevented, defaulting a league game.

Mr. McMillan first addressed the council, explaining that the club had built the dressing room, and put the ground into shape. The club would be occupying the ground every Saturday, either for the senior or junior teams, and also wanted a place to practice.

Mr. Ryall followed, and said provision must be made for the senior team to practice. They could only get an opportunity on Saturdays to turn out to play, and he thought there was plenty of room in the park for all teams to play.

Professor Bouck spoke strongly on the treatment given the club on the day in question, saying he was not aware then that the Rovers had built the club house, and the college needed the ground to play matches when the Rovers were not engaged. Mr. Armstrong concurred.

The mayor thought the matter was one for agreement, and suggested a sub-committee to meet the representatives of the clubs.

Ald. Henley said the clubs ought to get together and build a good pavilion. At the present time the park was becoming a collection of hovels. As to the application for a steam roller, he thought it was of little use to the ground, as it only served to depress the soil where stumps had been taken out.

Ald. Johnston thought the council should make arrangements for all clubs who wished to play, to have an opportunity to do so.

A committee was appointed with power to act consisting of Aldermen Gray, Garrett and Johnston, to meet the representatives of the clubs on the site on Thursday next, Ald. Gray intimating that he would see what arrangements could be made with the West End lacrosse club as to the use of their dressing room.

Columbia Street Paving.

A discussion, which was breezy at times, took place on the proposed meeting of the property owners with reference to the Columbia street improvements, the mayor pointing out that the council had gone to the expense of providing blue prints and profiles of the street, and very few people even took the interest to go and see them.

Ald. Fader wanted to know if the information prepared showed what each owner must pay, and Ald. Jardine said it had always been understood the owners were to pay two-thirds, and the city one-third, also keeping the work in repair.

Ald. Johnston was continuing the debate when the mayor asked a question which the alderman did not like, and he replied that he did not come there to be cross-examined.

Aldermen Garrett and Fader continued the discussion, and the mayor further explained that the difficulty was that there were three parts of the improvement, some were willing to see cement sidewalks laid, and others the sewer and sidewalks, and again there was also the paving of the street. Many of the owners were non-resident, who cared nothing for what was done, so long as they got their rents.

Other difficulties, as the question whether the charge should be on the assessment, or on the frontage, were reviewed, and at length it was decided to meet the property owners on the afternoon of Nov. 11, invitations to be sent out to non-resident owners living in the province.

The discussion in committee subsequently showed that if the work falls to be carried out under the local improvement scheme the resources of the council will not be exhausted, and application will be made at the next sitting of the legislature for additional powers.

Finance and Civic Works.

George Hubbard attended the meeting with regard to improvements in the upper portion of Eighth street. Among other things he asked for was the laying of a sidewalk along the street from Eighth to Tenth avenue, by the new cemetery.

Ald. Jardine rose to object. They were voting for sidewalks, and all kinds of improvements while there was no money.

Ald. Johnston moved, and Ald. Fader seconded a motion that the works asked by Mr. Hubbard be granted, and other construction of a sidewalk as suggested be left to the board of works to report.

Ald. Henley said they had spent $37,000 on improvements already.

Ald. Johnston claimed that they ought to bear every application in mind, and not reject them because they were short of money.

Ald. Johnston's motion was carried.

Deputation from Island.

A deputation headed by John F. Roberts waited on the council with reference to the difficulty of securing water on the city end of Lulu Island. Mr. Roberts said they had no water at all, and they would like the council to put either the city water in, or else let them have river water. The cattle would not drink the well water in the island. There were a number of settlers in, and water had been promised to be laid some months ago.

Ald. Jardine said the matter had been looked into by Mr. Sott, and passed by the council, the only difficulty being that it was proposed to lay a four inch and not a two inch main.

The mayor said the council was providing for a four inch main across the bridge, but something must be done meanwhile, as it would be four or five months before the bridge could be built. The council might pass a resolution that the main be extended.

The matter was left with the water committee, with power to act.

Falling of the Leaves.

Ald. Shiles drew attention to the condition of the leaves on the sidewalks, pointing out how dangerous it was in the wet weather, and Ald. Fader supported. Mr. Fader had seen several women fall during the last few days.

The matter was left to the police committee. It is understood that the police will notify the owners of property they must keep their sidewalks clear of leaves.

Mosquito Fleet.

Charles L. Davis wrote on behalf of J. W. Davis & Son with regard to the gasoline launches and other boats, describing them as a mosquito fleet, occupying the landing stages, to the detriment of their business, as they could not carry heavy mill supplies across a dozen or more boats, and sometime it would take hours to move other boats before they could get away. Like others they used the river almost exclusively as their highway. In moving that the letter be referred to the board of works to act, Ald. Henley said they already had the matter of the city slips in hand, and a dredge had been promised by G. A. Keefer to dredge the Sixth street slip as soon as possible. The council then

WATER DOES DAMAGE IN CHINESE STORE

Choked Drain Diverts Torrent Into Celestial's Shop—Other Places Flooded.

The choking of a drain at the corner of Carnarvon and McInnes street early this morning diverted a large volume of water into a Chinese store occupied by Yam Lue, a considerable portion of the groceries and stock in trade being damaged. Before the obstruction which had lodged in the drain could be removed, the floor of the store was submerged to a depth of three feet. Several other places in Chinatown were also inundated.

A few other stores and business places were also flooded during the night.

Yesterday the interurban cars could not get through between Collingwood and Central Park, and the passengers had to get out and walk to waiting cars through mud and rain.

OWNERSHIP OF PIANO IS STILL UNSETTLED

In the county court yesterday the case of A. G. Cook vs. Cook and Lee occupied all afternoon before His Honor Judge Howay. W. J. Whiteside appeared for Mrs. Cook, J. R. Grant for John A. Lee, and Mr. Hannington for plaintiff. The articles, which include a piano, sewing machine, safe and several pieces of furniture, were disposed of under a chattel mortgage to Mr. Lee as security for furniture supplied to the rooms formerly rented by Mrs. Cook in the Dominion Trust block. The arguments in the case occupied all day, and ultimately the hearing was adjourned till this morning.

MAYOR AND TREASURER TO GET PRACTICE SIGNING NAMES

The successful firm of tenderers for the city debentures promise that the city shall have the benefit of the money as soon after Dec 1 as possible. Much has already been spent on public works, being met by an overdraft on the bank. The coupons, of which there are 100 to each debenture ($132,000) means that the mayor and city treasurer will be kept busy signing their names for some hours, exactly how long is left to the statistical reader.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS.

Those of England Called the Most Obliging and Helpful.

There is no country where the matter of landing from American passenger ships is so easy and so expeditiously done as England, says the Travel Magazine. Of course it is a free trade country, the freest in the whole world. There are duties levied on tobacco and spirits, but travelers are allowed a half pound of tobacco in any shape and a half pint of spirits, which also includes perfume. Sugar is dutiable, whether in grain, sweets or in jam, but a small quantity is freely passed. In all cases, however, these goods must be the actual property of the passenger and be for his use and control. Cocoa, coffee and tea are also dutiable, as are reprints of English books. Outside of these things as named, passengers can bring in anything—motors, cycles, horses, but not dogs, which animals a not to exceed six months' quarantine awaits. Keep dogs on the American side. The customs officials are life appointees—under the civil service—and will be found most obliging and helpful. In fact, they are a model to the customs world. Tell the truth at all times to these officials and you will be all right. They are marvelously keen on spotting the supposedly smart liar. Lying doesn't pay "anyhow, Hinnessy!" at home or abroad.

TESTATORS' LAST WISHES.

Strange Requests Regarding the Arrangement of Funerals.

Sir James Colquhoun's desire to be buried in full evening dress costume recalls, says the London Standard, curious last wishes of other testators.

George Herring directed that his remains should lie beneath a sundial at the Haven of Rest, Maidenhead. Queen Victoria planned the entire programme for her funeral, even choosing the music to be played, the anthems to be sung.

A couple of months ago a young lady who died at Reigate on the eve of her wedding was buried in her bridal dress, the friends who were to have been her bridesmaids attending the funeral in the gowns which they should have worn at the wedding and carrying in place of wreaths the wedding bouquets.

More singular was the funeral of Major General Algernon Stewart at Hascombe, Surrey. The coffin was drawn to the grave by the dead man's horse. The mourners walked, and the bearers wore old fashioned smocks, each with its collar adorned with a text. The same men appeared in their mourning garments at the church service on the following Sunday.

OLD LEATHER.

Uses to Which Discarded Boots and Shoes Are Put.

Old boots and shoes of leather are cut up into small pieces and then are put for two days into chloride of sulphur, the effect of which is to make the leather very hard and brittle.

When this is fully effected the material is withdrawn from the action of the chloride of sulphur, washed with water, dried and ground to powder. It is then mixed with some substance that will cause it to adhere together such as shellac or other resinous material or even good glue, and a thick solution of strong gum.

It is afterward pressed into molds to form combs, buttons and a variety of other useful objects.

Prussiate of potash is also made out of old leather. It is heated with pearl ash and old iron hoops in a large pot. The nitrogen and carbon form cyanogen and then unite with the iron and potassium. The soluble portions are dissolved out and the resulting salt, added to one of each, produces the well known Prussian blue, either for dyeing purposes or as a pigment.—London Boot and Shoe Trades Journal.

A Doubtful Compliment.

Although Mr. Hobbs was taken at his face value by his son and heir, there were times when the youthful William's admiring tributes embarrassed his parent in the family group.

"I had quite an encounter as I came home tonight," the valorous Mr. Hobbs announced at the tea table. "Two men, slightly intoxicated, were having a quarrel on the corner. As usual, there was no policeman in sight, and they were in a fair way to knock each other's brains out when I stepped between and separated them."

"Weren't you afraid, father?" asked Mrs. Hobbs in a quavering voice.

"No, indeed! Why should I be?" inquired Mr. Hobbs, inflating his chest.

"I guess there isn't anybody could knock any brains out of my father!" said Willy proudly.—Youth's Companion.

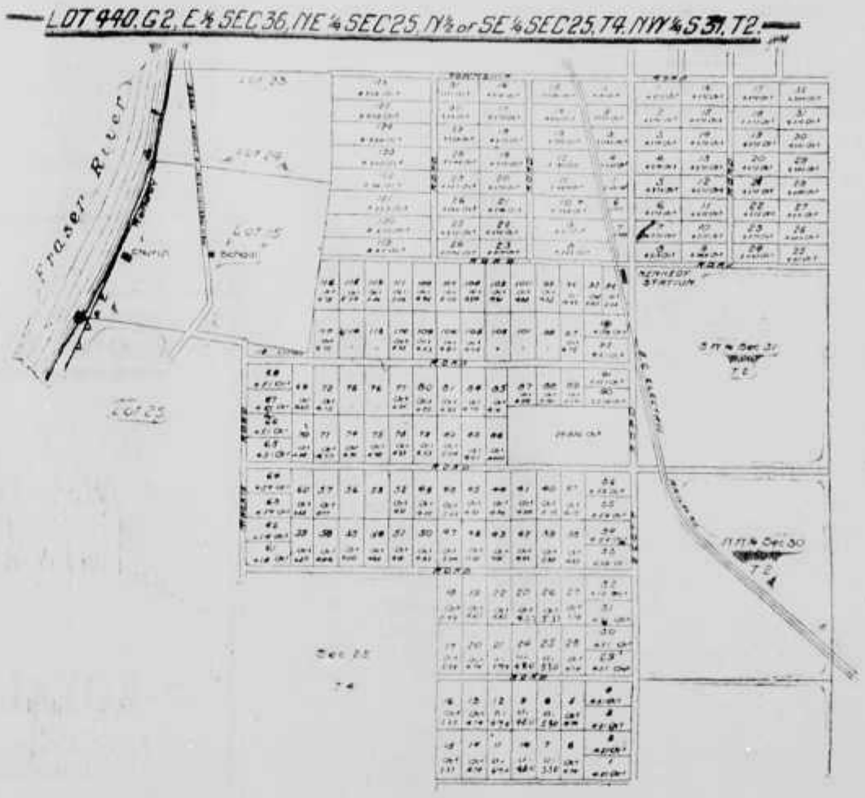
—SOUTH WESTMINSTER.—

—PLAN—

—OF SUBDIVISION OF—

—LOT 440, G2, E½ SEC 36, NE¼ SEC 25, N½ of SE¼ SEC 25, T4, NW¼ & S½, T2.—



A PLUM PUDDING!

The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it, and to judge from the way the 5-acre blocks in our South Westminster subdivision are being snapped up, the investing public recognize a really good thing when they see it.

"My lot is a peach!" said one man who bought about two weeks ago, and only examined his purchase for the first time yesterday, "and I would not take double what I paid for it. You do not say half enough about your splendid subdivision. It is by far the best thing advertised in any of the papers."

"I am going to make a home on my 5-acre farm and will commence building right away. I consider land here will, in a very short time, be just as valauble as any along the Vancouver-Westminster tram line."

These are only two of the many complimentary references to our 900-acre subdivision, and go to show that our statements are based on fact and will bear investigation, as for instance, when we state that the new Chilliwack tram runs through and has its first fixed station in the centre of the property, it will be found exactly as we represent. We make this point to offset if possible the bad effect of statements circulated in an effort to sell certain other lands, that the new tram line runs through them, when, as a matter of fact, an old discarded trail line is the only thing in evidence, and the adopted route, where actual construction is rapidly advancing, is miles away. This sort of thing does no good and brings discredit on the perpetrator of the canard.

All the other excellent and variously named orchards, gardens and apple groves are all right in their way and place, but are not in the same class with ours. This is conceded by all.

Our principals have control of all the good land at the South Westminster end of the Chilliwack tram line, and it is here that the wise ones are now investing, recognizing that our choice suburban villa sites possess soil admirably suited to fruit culture, and can be purchased for $100 per acre—the same price asked for 5-acre blocks situated from 10 to 20 miles distant from town.

Our subdivision has only been on the market a few weeks, but during that short time we have disposed of over 300 acres. This fact speaks for itself.

If fruit farms are worth $100 per acre 15 miles from town, what should they be worth two miles away, where you have all the conveniences of city life? This is the way the question is being figured out, and the result is very much in our favor.

Don't put it off, but come right along and buy a block. You'll never regret it. We've only a limited number to let go at present prices. When trams commence running prices will advance 100 to 200 per cent.

Our carriages go over every day. Any hour will suit us. It only takes half an hour to drive over.

A REVIEW.

(From the Victoria Times.)

The prediction of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a telegram to Hon. William Templeman that his government would be sustained by a very large majority has been fulfilled to the letter. The Prime Minister is too big a man to lend his great name to an election canard, and it would have been to the advantage of the people of this coast had the doubtful ones reflected upon that fact. It should be remembered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a statesman; Mr. Borden is a politician. The election just concluded showed the immense chasm between the two.

The majority at the present time is fifty or more. In a very short time it will be nearly sixty, and there is no doubt that it will be as large as it was in the last parliament. What does this mean? Simply that the people of Canada preferred to exalt a party with a splendid record of national development, led by one of the greatest living statesmen, to taking chances with those whose only policy was to get into power at any cost and led by a gentleman whom nature never designed for political leadership or a pre-eminent position in the public life of this country.

Had Messrs. Borden or Foster the faculty, that intuitive sense it might be called, of sounding human nature or public opinion, they would have realized that their course of scandal mongering and name blackening was suicidal. It gave the government a tremendous weapon which the Prime Minister wielded with terrific effect. See what he accomplished in Ontario in his brief tour. In the very places where Messrs. Borden and Foster hoped to create a revulsion of feeling against the government of Sir Wilfrid turned the tide by simply asking the people if they would dethrone a government with a good record to replace it with a party whose only policy was mud throwing.

Sir Wilfrid's whole campaign was an appeal to the reason of the people. He credited them with intelligence and the power of discrimination. It was Mr. Borden's misfortune that he did not know anything at all about the public; temperamentally he was unable to grasp their ideas of what good government stands for and he conducted his campaign on an issue that no clear-headed tactician would have resorted to.

Take the Maritime Provinces. There Mr. Fielding, the Minister of Finance, was well known as a great financier and a man of unimpeachable character. More than that, he is universally beloved. What use was there under Heaven of Mr. Borden trying to tell the public that the government, with Mr. Fielding as one of its chiefs, was unworthy of support because of "criminal corruption?" It was a transparent falsehood and the people knew it but Mr. Borden could not see into the human mind and thought they believed it. In Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island there were Liberal gains and losses, but the two parties line up, on the whole, precisely as they did four years ago. And yet Mr. Borden, a Halifax citizen of prominence, should have had some weight.

What became of the scandal mongers of the Maritime Provinces? They are down and out. Where is George W. Fowler, of nauseous memory, he who made the famous "Wine, Women and Graft" insinuations? He was defeated. Where is Mr. Lefurgey, another energetic member of the select coterie who made scandal their daily meat and drink? He, also, has retired into oblivion. And the men they maligned are again representatives of the people in parliament. It is a scathing circumstance that Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. William Pugsley who were most bitterly assailed, have been triumphantly returned to their seats in the Commons.

Let us turn to Quebec for a moment. Did Mr. Borden's campaign avail him anything in that province? Not a whit; out of sixty-five members he only commands eleven, and among the slain was his right-hand man, J. G. H. Bergeron. The people of this city should remember Mr. Bergeron. He accompanied Mr. Borden through the West last autumn and boasted that he could not be beaten in his constituency. He was always a weak man at best and his defeat once more vindicates Mr. Monk's claim as the strongest Conservative in his province. It is a strange circumstance, attributable to Mr. Borden's characteristic short-sightedness, that he turned his back upon Mr. Monk during the last parliament and bestowed his smiles upon a much weaker vessel, J. G. H. Bergeron. Then there is Rufus Pope, another member of the Fowler-Foster-Lefurgey-Bennett clique. An able man, withal a bitter partisan, he tried again to regain his lost prestige. He used the scandal cry to the utmost, but it recoiled upon his head and he is now in a political sarcophagus!

Is it necessary to draw attention to Ontario? Just contemplate the Tory slain—Some noble and some ignoble. In the very province that Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster and Mr. Bennett fondly hoped would give a tremendous majority, the line-up shows a Liberal gain. A few weeks ago George Taylor, Conservative whip, predicted that the Conservatives would win sixty seats in that province. Instead they gained nothing, but lost their star scavenger, W. H. Bennett, in East Simcoe, and Mr. Cockshutt, the manufacturers' candidate, in the manufacturing town of Brantford. No; the people of Ontario wanted something better than scandal; they distrusted the frenzied appeals of the Conservative writers and speakers. Mr. Borden, accompanied by Premiers Roblin, Hazen and Attorney-General Bowser, of British Columbia, toured Ontario and New Brunswick, comporting themselves more like ward heelers than gentlemen occupying high positions in the public life of the country. There is no doubt that their deliverances had much to do with their party's annihilation; they were "hoist with their own petard," and by this time they realize to the full the purport of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's words: "The wolves hunt in packs; the lion hunts alone."

The new provinces sustained the government in decisive style. Manitoba only elected two Liberals out of ten members. This was predicted last winter by the Manitoba members; Mr. Sifton was heard to remark that unless the government passed legislation which would ensure a fair, impartial investigation of the Manitoba voters' list there would not be more than two government candidates elected, simply because Messrs. Roblin and Rogers had manipulated the list to their advantage. Fortunately this is the last time that such a disgraceful proceeding will be possible. The government will probably amend the Elections Act in such a way that political crooks will not be permitted to make playthings of the franchises of the people.

British Columbia so far has declared against the government, although, with the two bye-elections favorable, there will be a Liberal majority from this province. Here, also, there is direct evidence of a manipulation of the lists, evidence which, doubtless, will be dealt with on the floor of parliament. The city of Victoria has decided against the government policy with regard to this province by turning down a cabinet minister. In other words the people have expressed themselves as opposed to the program of important projects which the government has in hand for the Pacific Province and the cities of the coast. This includes the appropriation of five million dollars for railway subsidies, assistance to steamship lines and other matters. It is, indeed, unfortunate that the people here have allowed themselves to be duped by the opposition campaign, because it is only reasonable to assume that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will feel that the accomplishments at his government in this province and in the interests of Victoria, as well as whatever projects he has in hand, are unappreciated and not wanted.

NAILS AND NAILING.

They Figure In Speech as Well as In Trade and Building.

To nail a thing is to fix or fasten with a nail or nails; to drive nails into for the purpose of fastening or securing, such as to nail up a box, to nail a shelf to the wall, to nail down the hatches, etc.; to stud with nails; figuratively, to nail a thing is to pin it down and hold it fast, such as to nail a bargain or secure by prompt action. It was Burns who said:

Ev'n ministers, they hae been kenn'd,
In holy rapture,
A rousing whid at times to vend
An nail 't wi' Scripture.

Passing into the colloquial, to "nail to the counter" is to put a counterfeit coin out of circulation by fastening it with a nail to the counter of a shop; hence, figuratively, to expose as false.

Other definitions referring to the nail are: Nailer, one who nails, who makes nails or who sells them, while a female nailmaker is referred to by Hugh Miller as a naileress. A nailery is described as an establishment where nails are made. A nail head is the head of a nail, and anything is said to be nail headed when so shaped as to resemble the head of a nail.

ODDITIES IN GRAVES.

A Woman Who, Born, Living and Dying Cross, Was Buried Cross.

There is a curious old gravestone in Prestbury churchyard which records the fact that one woman at least in England died a bachelor. Her name was Sarah Pickford, and the stone gravely informs the reader she was there interred "August ye 17, Anno Dom. 1703, and died a Bachelour in the 48th yeare of her age."

A stone in Westminster abbey records the interment there of George Graham, who was the only workman that received the honor of being buried in Westminster abbey. He was a scientific instrument maker, who in 1700 invented the deadbeat escapement in clocks. His funeral was attended by the Royal society in a body.

In East Ham churchyard there is a tombstone placed crossways. The woman interred is said to have been born cross, lived cross, married a Mr. Cross and died cross. Her dying request was to be buried cross, and this was carried out.

As to more ancient graves, that of Noah is reported to be in the small town of Nakhitchevan, near the foot of Mount Ararat, and is sixty feet in length. Another tradition says that the grave is merely a niche in the wall of an abandoned fortress.

Willing to Chance It.

It is reported of the Earl of Mansfield that he once dismissed a servant, but wrote for him a "character," as follows: "The bearer, John ——, has served me for three years in the capacity of coachman. He is an able driver and a very sober man. I discharged him because he cheated me." A day or two later the man returned to thank his old master for the help he had afforded him in getting him a new birth. How had the testimonial helped him? The man explained that his new master had observed that ability to drive and sobriety were the qualities he required in a coachman. As for the cheating, his employer had said, "I'm a Yorkshireman, and I'll be hanged if you cheat me."

The English of it.

An English actor of some prominence was dining with some friends in this country. One of them asked him if he had found any American plays that he thought he could use in England. "Oh, yes," he replied, "I have seen one or two that I fawncy will be on the other side. In fact, I have entered into negotiations for several. One that appeals to me strongly is a play called 'Ten Evenings in a Public House,' where I shall play John Morgan, and another is named 'Uncle Thomas' Residence,' which has a fine part for me in Marks, the barrister."—Kansas City

"Flirting" With Brook Trout.

If the farmer boy is more successful in his catch than the city fisherman it is because he realizes the advantage of keeping out of sight. Of course the supposition is that other conditions are equal. Familiarity with a stream often has much to do with the size of the string. Trout especially love to hide under wooden bridges, water soaked logs, branches, etc. They seem to realize that safety is found in such places. When the current will not take the worm to these spots one must resort to "flirting." This is done by holding the hook in the left hand and bending the pole until the tension is sufficient to throw the worm over the spot. Considerable practice is necessary to make the bait land exactly where it is wanted, but "flirting" is an art well worth acquiring.—Circle.

Valorous.

An old time lord mayor of London whose sporting experience was limited rode forth one day to join the city hunt in the fields about Marylebone. Placed by his escort under a tree, his lordship heard the hounds give tongue in the distance, and the sounds grew louder and louder till one of the city scouts shouted out, "The hare comes this way, my lord." The lord mayor rose to the occasion, and, drawing his sword, he exclaimed heroically: "Let him come! I thank my God I fear him not!"—Household Words.

Can I Learn to be an Ad. Writer by Correspondence?

Our answer is, yes. We can teach you how to write good, catchy advertisements by mail just as well as if you were attending personally, and only taking up half an hour of your time every evening.

The Swords School of Advertising is the best school of instruction for many reasons, viz:

It is the only school that gives you their personal criticisms, no form letter being used, but, instead, the work of every student is looked over separately.

Then, too, it is the only school that is conducting a successful advertising service, and is backed up by leading merchants of the province. It supplies practical ad-work for the student, showing lay-outs, copy, etc., which is picked from the most successful advertisements written by its writers.

Its system of teaching by mail is endorsed by not only the leading merchants and manufacturers, but by the greatest experts and publishers.

If you have only a common, ordinary school education and earning less than $25.00 per week, let us put you in the most lucrative profession in the world today.

Its employed students are everywhere—in stores, factories, advertising agencies, and are so thoroughly qualified that they command higher salaries year after year. If you want to work up in the firm you are with, this knowledge will open the door of promotion, and we can do it by correspondence and the hearty co-operation of yourself.

MELODRAMA IS COMING TO OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY

Lovers of melodrama will be pleased at Manager MacGowan's announcement that "Too Proud to Beg," Lincoln J. Carter's latest play, will be at the opera house on Thursday evening.

The story is very simple, but interesting and thrilling. A band of thieves, having for the leader a police captain, is traced by a young detective. He follows the thieves to an old warehouse where he is knocked senseless and the building set on fire, but is rescued by his little son. The thieving inspector is in love with the detective's wife, and, supposing her husband dead, tries to win her love. She refuses him, however, and for revenge he abducts her two children. They are eventually rescued by their father and are happily united and the villains arrested. It is said that Mr. Carter has departed from his usual style in writing this play and depends more on the beautiful story of the piece for success than on scenic or mechanical effects. The first act opens at the office of Inspector Sharpe, where the villainous plans are laid. The last scene of the act shows the old warehouse on fire and the rescue of the detective. The second act shows a street scene in Chicago. The third act is laid in the den of thieves where the children are held captive. Act four is the home of the thieving inspector and the capture of the gang. The cast is very well spoken of and there are two clever children that take important roles.
