PRINCE RUPERT HONORS CROWNING OF THE KING

ALL LONDON IS WAITING FOR THE CORONATION

Enormous Prices are Being Paid for Seats to View the Wonderful Pageant---His Majesty Received the Colonial Premiers at Buckingham Palace This Morning---Description of the Great Events of Tomorrow

(Colonial Press Despatch)

London, June 21.—All is now ready for the great Coronation which takes place tomorrow at Westminster Abbey. The full programme has already been rehearsed and London is now all agog to see their Majesties pass in the great procession tomorrow.

London is Crowded

London is crowded with visitors from every country and clime. The hotel accommodation is exhausted, and enormously high prices are being paid for flats and shop-windows overlooking the route of the procession.

Thousand Pounds a Day

One flat near Pall Mall overlooking the procession is said to have been rented to an American millionaire for a thousand pounds for the day. Single seats in some of the shop windows are bringing from five to thirty-five guineas.

Thirty Thousand Soldiers

There are thirty thousand British regular troops in London today. These, under the command of General Lord Kitchener, will guard the line of march from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey, where the Archbishop of Canterbury will perform the Coronation rite. Within the procession will be the kings and princes, the foreign delegates, the officials, the Household Cavalry and the Colonial detachments.

A Gorgeous Robe

The robes of the participants will be remarkable for their gorgeousness. The King's robe, consists of a mantle, cunningly woven from twenty-seven yards of pure gold tissue, so stiff that it stands alone, and yet so simple that it falls from the shoulders in graceful folds. It is in this robe the King will be arrayed as he sits on the famous Coronation chair, which since the time of Edward the First has served to enthrone his ancestors.

Receives Colonial Premiers

So far as is possible, His Majesty is resting today, in preparation for the celebrations of the remainder of the week. He will receive the Colonial Premiers at the Palace today, his only official reception until after he is crowned.

Guns Will Announce

A Royal salute of forty-one guns in Hyde Park, will announce the moment of the actual Coronation, and as the crowned King of England, his Majesty will then, on his return journey to Buckingham Palace, be able to acknowledge the plaudits of his loyal subjects.

Reception at Nithg

There will be no rest after the Coronation. A great reception will be given at night to his guests, the kings and princes of the world, and their representatives. This will be one of the most exclusive functions imaginable. None but monarchs, their children and accredited representatives will be present.

Drive Through London

On the following day, his Ma-Majesty in accord with custom will drive through his capital. A great procession will accompany him, while from the Tower of London a salute of sixty-two guns will roar out a welcome. The procession will be one of great magnificence.

Reviews the Navy

Next his Majesty will review the Navy at Spithead. For eighteen miles a triple line of warships, covered with gorgeous bunting will await his inspection. As the Royal yacht passes each battleship, the war vessel will fire a salute of twenty-one guns. Over three thousand guns will be fired before the end of the great sea-line is reached.

A Third Procession

A third procession will be held on the 29th, when their Majesties, the Court, and a Sovereign's escort will visit St. Paul's Cathedral. The route will take in different streets than those covered in the preceding processions, and will end at the Guildhall, where His Majesty will be entertained to luncheon by the Lord Mayor and Councillors of the City of London.

Visit to the Country

During the following months, His Majesty will visit various parts of his Kingdom, before preparing for the ceremonies attending the investiture of his eldest son, Prince Edward, as Prince of Wales. This ceremony which will take place at historic Carnarvon Castle, has not been held since the days of Henry VII. It will be replete with picturesque details, and will give great satisfaction to the Welsh people, who are intensely loyal.

Then the Durbar

Later on, preparations will be made to hold the great Durbar at Delhi, when with Oriental magnificence, His Majesty will receive the homage of the Hindu pronces, and be accliamed Emperor of India.

No Paper Tomorrow

WATER SPORTS PROGRAMME AND TEN MILE TRACK

Sixth Avenue and McBride Street Centre of Interest for Dominion Day Land Sports---The Big Race---Committee Decides on Course---Boat Races and the Twelve Mile Launch Race---Entries in Shoals

On Dominion Day the big crowds will centre around Sixth avenue and McBride street. This point has been selected by the Land Sports Committee for the races. All the short distance flat races can be run on almost perfectly level ground with plenty of room, on Sixth avenue. At the meeting of the Athletic Committee in the police court room last night excellent reports were given of the rush of entries for the races. Over thirty have already handed in their names for the hundred yards.

The Ten Mile Course

For the ten mile the principal aspirants are known. There may be a dark horse at the last moment. Announcement is now made of the course for this important race. It will be as follows: Starting on Sixth avenue on the south side of McBride street, along Sixth as far as Hays Cove Circle, round the Circle to Fifth avenue, and along then by McBride street repeating the course to complete the ten miles.

Water Sports Programme

The Water Sports programme was also announced last night. This includes events as follows: Single and Double Skiff races, and Mixed Double Skiff race, Single and Double Canoe races, Mixed Double Canoe race, Crab race.

Launch Race

A twelve mile launch race is also to be held over a triangular course from the waterfront to the Island across the harbor and over to Digby Island where a buoy will be placed, thence back to the harbor. Entries for this race must be in not later than the 28th inst. in order that the launches may be tested over the measured mile for handicaps. No boat must exceed three per cent of her running time.

The Cup which was won last year by the Ka Yex must be won three years in succession.

Boat Crew Races

Six oar boat crew races will be held. A crew from the Lillooet will compete with a crew of Prince Rupert Longshoremen. This race is open to any other six oar crews caring to enter. The launch race starts at 9.30 a.m. promptly as the whole of the water sports are timed to be over at noon. Captain Musgrave of the Lillooet will act as Commodore assisted by Captain Babington, W. A. Pettigrew and Dr. Tremayne. Entries for the launch race may be made now to Mr. Pettigrew at the Government Land offices.

TELEGRAPH DEVELOPMENT IN THE SKEENA DISTRICT

Stewart Line Will be Completed Before First Snowfall Comes Down This Fall—New Offices and Extensions Planned Up the Skeena

Just returned from an inspection trip up river, and into the Naas district, J. T. Phelan, superintendent of the Government telegraphs, has news of rapid progress made on the Stewart telegraph line. On Friday night this week the construction parties expect to be within fifteen miles of the Naas. Energetic efforts are being made to complete the work quickly.

Heavy Travelling Here

In this district the work is impeded considerably by the heavy nature of the trails. Not only is the timber growth thick and construction work through it necessarily slower, but owing to the presence of deep ravines, creeks, and canyons which have to be bridged to carry the line across, the work is retarded in spite of strenuous effort.

Alice Arm Gang

The other gang working started from Alice Arm, and is progressing from the head of that inlet over the Naas. There will be a telegraph line into Goose Bay by the end of the fall.

Reports from the men in charge of the gangs state that there is still a good deal of snow to be encountered on the line of construction. Over five feet of snow is reported from the summits by the Alice Arm gang.

In Stewart This Fall

In spite of this, however, Superintendent Phelan is able to state confidently that the telegraph line to Stewart will be completed easily by the end of this fall, and some time before the fresh snow comes down for the winter. Regarding his up river trip Mr. Phelan mentioned that with the advance of the railway transportation facilities he was keeping ahead with telegraph development. A new telegraph office has been established at Cedar River, thirty-five miles from Kitsumkalum, and Superintendent Phelan has made preliminary investigations for further developments in this direction.

Metlakatla or Bust

The Baptist Brotherhood will run that excursion to the beach beyond Metlakatla tomorrow. Ball games! Races! Swings! A good time! Boats leave G. T. P. slip at 1 p.m., 3 p.m., and 6.30 p.m. sharp.

NATIVE QUEEN PRESENTS FEALTY

Her Highness the Begum of Bengal Attracts a Deal of Attention.

(Colonial Press Despatch)

London, June 21.—Amongst the many interesting visitors is one of the most powerful of East Indian potentates in the person of her Highness the Begum of Bhopal, who arrived a short time ago in England to present her fealty to the Emperor of India, King George of England.

Her Highness brought a large retinue, including a native doctor, several cooks, and an astrologer.

The Princess (who is a reigning Sovereign) wore a beautiful white silken robe and long veil over her face. A special train was brought to the pier, and her landing was from a gangway which immediately faced the door of the saloon carriage.

STRUGGLE IN CITY HALL DUE

Burning Question of Sewers, Retaining Walls and the Famous Report on the Engineering Department to be Discussed.

Tonight the greatest struggle of the year is to be held in the council chamber. Discussion of the report on the engineering department, the proposals for establishing a sewer system, and the burning question of the retaining walls will take place. There promises to be a long sitting and a lively time.

THREE TIMES A WEEK

More Frequent Mail Service Arranged for to Hazelton by River Steamers.

Postmaster McIntosh announces that arrangements have been made for the establishment of a tri-weekly mail service to Hazelton by the river steamers of the Hudson Bay Company and the Inlander. It is the intention to maintain this service regularly as far as transportation facilities allow. Meantime it has not been found possible to complete arrangements for a mail service by rail part way up river, but this matter is being further gone into.

Coronation Day Picnic

There will be a Baptist Brotherhood Picnic to Metlakatla on the 22nd. Ladies free; gentlemen 75c.

Presbyterian Picnic

The S.S. Inlander has been engaged to take the Presbyterian crowd to a beautiful sandy beach for Coronation Day. The boat will leave at 1 p.m. sharp, returning about 8 p.m. The Sports Committee think that the gloomiest person in town can be guaranteed an afternoon of fun and rest too. The ladies will bring baskets and the men pay seventy-five cents each for the return fare.

Everybody be on hand as the boat will leave punctually at 1 o'clock.

Use the 'Phone

Call up 341 if you want pie, cake, or lunches from Reilly's Bakery Lunch in the Empress Theatre basement.

Flags for Coronation Day

The Arctic Studio has received a large stock of silk flags at very reasonable prices—just the thing for decorating. Every boy and girl—big and small—should have one tomorrow.

A man named McIver, who speaks with a foreign accent was tried by Magiestrate Carss for having refused to pay his full fare on Saturday on the Prince Albert bound for Rupert to the Queen Charlottes. He maintained that he had paid more than enough on the trip in, and wanted a free passage back. Case proceeding at noon.

TWO AND A HALF MILLION DOLLARS FOR HIDDEN CREEK

Development of Prince Rupert's Nearest Great Mining Property to be on Grand Scale—Smelter Will be at Mine—Great Activity at Goose Bay

Undoubtedly the development of the Hidden Creek Mines in the Goose Bay district is going to be one of the biggest things done in mining development in the neareer Prince Rupert neighborhood this season. It is not very likely that a smelter will be established at Prince Rupert, but it is an absolute certainty that very large sums of money are to be laid out by the Granby Consolidated Mines Company on the Hidden Creek property.

Two and a Half Million

From unmistakable signs those who have seen the work already in progress there, can predict that development on the largest possible scale is begun, and will go forward without hinderance. It is also known beyond doubt that the Granby Consolidated Co. are prepared to spend upwards of two and a half million dollars on the work right at the mines, and Goose Bay where shipments of either ore or smelter product will be made.

Unlimited Ore in Sight

Diamond drilling in various directions throughout the property has invariably resulted in the bringing to light of cores of solid ore extending deep down through the mountain. In almost every direction tested good commercial showings are revealed. It would seem that without exaggeration the Hidden Creek property is almost a solid mountain of the entirely profitable low grade copper ore such as the Granby Company handle at Grand Forks and Phoenix

Smelter Probably at Mine

It was necessary for the Granby Company to extend their enterprise by the acquisition of a large producer of ore such as they handle profitably and the Hidden Creek mine seems to answer the description. Most likely the smelter will be established at the mine, and the product shipped from Goose Bay. While the expenditure of two million and a half dollars in Prince Rupert would mean much to the city, there are many here who would just as soon not see Prince Rupert a smelter city, owing to the smoky atmosphere inevitably associated with this class of wealth production.

WILL BUILD A NEW CHINATOWN

Vancouver's Chinks Decide to Remove to Permanent Headquarters on Albert Street.

Vancouver, June 21.—Present-day Chinatown in Vancouver will shortly be no more, for it has been decided that the residents are to move, a definite announcement being made yesterday at a general meeting that the new colony of the Celestials be located on Albert street, between Woodland and Park Drives.

Inculcated with western progressiveness the wise men of the east will establish a district on improved lines and will build up a small city of their own, which will be far more their domain than the one shortly to be vacated. In conformity with their deisre to compete in the industrial and commercial pursuits of the Occident, the Chinese will erect a quarter which for general effect, it is contended, will vie with any other business section in Vancouver.

Albert street will be solely reserved for the Chinese.

The Mah Hong and Dr. Lewd case of procuring, has been remanded until Friday.

Nick Gurvich summoned for careless blasting on Seventh street, has had his case remanded also on request of Mr. Williams.

WILL RUSH THE WORK ON THE RAILWAY

Tug Boat and Barges Laden With Steel for the Big Bridge Across the Skeena—Million and a Half Feet of Lumber for Snow Sheds is Due Tonight—Fourteen Freight Cars Laden With Lumber for Stations are on the Way

This morning a tug boat arrived with barges in tow bringing 400 tons of steel for the Skeena River bridge, which after the Kitselas tunnels is the next great undertaking on the G. T. P. between here and Hazelton. The bridge steel is to be ready in advance of the immediate need for it so that there will be no delay at all in the construction of the bridge.

Lumber for Snow Sheds

Tonight General Superintendent Mehan expects another tug will arrive bringing scows of lumber for snow sheds between here and the end of steel. A million and a quarter feet of lumber will be landed this week for these snow sheds, and work upon them is being rushed ahead rapidly.

More Rolling Stock

Either at the end of this week or early next week a third arrival of important railway material is expected when the G. T. P. Company's own barge for rolling stock will come in bringing fourteen cars loaded with lumber for stations now being constructed up the line. The cars will be run on to rails ready for instant transfer to the destination of the lumber at points along the line.

SMART DRESS OF PLAID

The pretty model illustrated in the sketch is of blue, red and white plaid, with a coat of blue woollen crepe trimmed with bias plaid and lined with white. The sleeves are new and attractive, and the neck is finished with a lace collar.

Social and Personal

Mrs. F. G. Dawson entertained at Bridge on Friday afternoon. The rooms were prettily decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Helmers were the prize-winners. The players were: Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Patmore, Mrs. H. L. Johnston, Mrs. Brandt, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Helmers, Mrs. Bondeaux, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Burritt, Mrs. Spain, Mrs. Wark, Mrs. Naden, Mrs. Tite, Mrs. Sawle, Mrs. A. M. Manson, Mrs. Lockhart, Mrs. Vernor Smith, Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. McLennan, Mrs. McCaffery.

Mrs. Morte Harley Craig received for the last time this season yesterday in her bijou flat in the Clapp building. Reveiving with her was Mrs. Gordon Hunter of Victoria, a picturesque figure in a magnificent costume of cinnamon brown chiffon cloth, appliqued upon brown satin with large white plume hat and diamond ornaments. Mrs. Craig was gowned in white crepe de chine with chic lace coat and Miss Craig wore a dainty frock of soft green rajah. The tea table was prettily decorated with pink and white carnations and asparagus fern. Among the callers were: Mrs. W. E. Burritt, Mrs. F. Stanley Spain, Mrs. Tremayne, Mrs. J. C. McLennan, Mrs. Lamont, Mrs. H. L. Johnston, Mrs. Willis James, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Bondeaux, Mrs. Neil McNeill, Mrs. Angus Stewart, Mrs. DuVernet, Miss McIntosh, Miss Johnstone and many others.

MACARONI CHEESE

A Delicious Supper Savory Easily Made

Break up a quarter of a pound of macaroni into short pieces, put them in a saucepan containing enough boiling water, slightly salted, to well cover the macaroni, and boil fast for forty minutes. Drain and cool. Boil one gill of stock with one gill of milk, one bay leaf, and one slice of onion. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add one tablespoonful of flour, and cook them for a few minutes, stir without browning. Now add the boiled milk and stock strained, stir till it boils, put in the macaroni, and add two tablespoonfuls of grated Canadian cheese; mix well and season with salt, pepper, and dust of paprika. Fill a well-buttered gratin dish or pudding dish with the preparation, sprinkle over with bread crumbs and grated cheese, put a few small pieces of butter here and there on the top, and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes. Serve hot in the dish it was cooked in.

SIMPLE SEASON STYLES

Best Fashions This Summer are in Strictest Good Taste

If there is one thing more than another that strikes one when looking at this season's fashions in dresses, suits and hats, it is the extreme simplicity of the lines and the absence of much trimming and "fussy" effects. The skirts hang slim and straight, almost always devoid of even relieving folds of material, and are short. The walking skirts are very short, while the longest ones merely touch the floor. Jackets show the same tendency; and by the time spring is well advanced the short boleros and Etons will probably be greatly in favor. Most of the jackets are in square box effects, not unlike boy's coats, while the sleeves are simply the perfectly plain close-fitting coat sleeve. One of the new features is the broad collar. Coat revers are wide, and the sailor collar is being used on every garment possible. It has a place even on the kimonos and lingerie dresses, as well as on all the wraps. Skirts with the raised waist-line are in favor again, and are generally becoming. Each of the spring garments seems to be striving to add to the narrow effect—everything is narrow, sleeves, shoulders, hips, backs and dresses. Some of the skirts are only two yards wide at the hem.

THREW RING IN GROOM'S FACE

Forced to Marry Russian Count by Czar's Order Lovely Actress Displays Character.

The once famous American actress, Genevieve Ward, is growing old now in her little home in Regent's Park. Miss Ward for years carefully guarded the story of her own marriage to a Russian count. Many years ago the dashing Count Guerbet, connected with the imperial Romanoffs, wooed and won Miss Ward at Nice. She was 16 years old then, and the count allowed her to make her own wedding arrangements, and the couple were married at the American consulate.

The Russian ambassador notified Miss Ward's mother that the marriage was not legal in Russia. It developed that the count learned at the last moment that Miss Ward was not an heiress. She left her husband, and he followed her to Paris, forced his way to her apartments and tried to poison her. Next he went to Naples, and his engagement to the daughter of the Russian ambassador in Italy was announced. Miss Ward and her mother went to Czar III., who issued an order that the count must wed Miss Ward in the Russian church, or forfeit his estates and go to Siberia.

The count consented to a ceremony at Warsaw. A brother of Miss Ward's was on hand with a loaded pistol. Following the ceremony the bride threw the ring into her husband's face and left him. She never saw him again, and never used her title. He implored her a dozen times to live with him, and when he died he left her his estate, but she refused it.

THE CTIY'S DUTY TO THE SICK

There will be very little criticism offered to the city council for their act in voting a sum of $5,000 to the General Hospital. Here and there, is an occasional soul, like that lone alderman who opposed the grant, obessed with the idea that economy consists in saving money. From these criticism may be expected; from the great majority of the citizens nothing but approval will be uttered.

Hoarding money is not economy; it is parsimony. Economy consists in spending money to the wisest advantage. And how can public money be more wisely, more profitably spent than in providing for the sick and injured members of society?

Some people speak of money donated by cities and governments to hospitals as philanthropy. It is not that. It is economy. Philanthropy and charity it may be when donated by a private giver, but when donated by a city it is economy.

It is from the healthy and strong producers that the wealth of cities and provinces is obtained. A state composed of a million cripples would speedily go bankrupt. A cripple—save where he is a mental genius—is as useless to the state as a landlord or a "gentleman." He brings only needs, and gives nothing in return.

The work of turning a cripple or an invalid into a strong healthy worker is a work which benefits society, because it turns non-producers into producers of wealth. From selfish motives, if not from unselfish, it pays society to care for its sick and helpless and nurse them back to health and strength. The money so expended is economically used. It earns dividends for years—perhaps generations—to come.

There is another aspect of the question. The majority of the workers—the wealth producers of society—are unable to maintain themselves or their relatives during periods of illhealth. The "living wage" does not permit provision for periods of illhealth. Should they then become recipients of charity?

"I will not do that. I will die first," said one man in a large city three weeks ago, when he chose death as preferable to asking charity during his ill health and incompetence. Today, in consequence, the Empire is poorer by the loss of a man of spirit, who at little expense might have been nursed back to health and usefulness.

Slowly the world is growing to see that the least the state which profits by his labors can do is to care for the worker while he is ill, just as a team-owner cares for his sick horses—and for similar reasons. One of the benefits of citizenship in a great city ought to be that each person would be removed from the haunting fear of what may happen if illness should come. Hospital accommodation and skilled medical ttreatment should be one of the rights of every citizen, to accept or to decline as he wishes. It is obnoxious that medical comforts should be the privilege of the wealthy, and a piece of charity to others.

To provide medical attention for its sick, is as much a piece of civic duty, as to provide a water supply or a garbage collection service out of the common funds. The economy of the service is its justification.

Perhaps the day will come when the whole of the funds of the city hospitals will come out of the taxes, and the kindly philanthropist who leaves money to the hospitals will seem as much out of place as that impossible person whom we cannot conceive of as leaving half his estate to the Waterworks Department, and the other half to the Scavenging and Street Cleaning Department.

The discussion of the hospital funds reminds us that the Ladies Committee are trying to raise funds by compiling a cookery book, with a recipe for a different kind of cake for each day in the year. Whether the hospital is to be helped by the proceeds of the book, or the amount of custom the recipes may create has not yet been announced. The dentist who is lavish with candies for the youngsters may be merely a clever business man.

Perhaps the civic grant will enable the Hospital Board to see their way to obtain an ambulance. A sum of five hundred dollars has already been donated by the Grand Trunk Pacific. A $50,000 hospital without an ambulance to convey patients there, is rather suggestive of the two storey house the amateur architect planned—forgetting to leave room for the stairs.

HISTORIC CORONATIONS MARKED BY CALAMITY

The Shouts With Which William the Conqueror Was So Acclaimed Was Misinterpreted as an Evidence of Revolt—George the Third's Coronation Was Bungled

The action of the authorities in prohibiting aviators from flying over London during the Coronation period, has revived memories of some of the calamities that have marked previous Coronations.

Perhaps the most calamitous of all Coronation days in England was that of William the Conqueror.

After the Coronation oath, where by the new monarch promised to protect the church, and to execute judgment and mercy, the Archbishop put the usual question

"Will ye have this Prince to be your King?"

A clamorous shout of assent from the assembled English so startled the Norman soldiers outside that they immediately set out burning and plundering, believing the English had revolted.

Charles Stuart had a most unfortunate day. The Royal barge stuck in the mud of the Thames; the sermon sounded like a funeral oration; an earthquake shock was felt during the ceremony; and, finally, the herald pronounced him the "dubitable" heir, instead of the "indubitable" heir.

When George III. was installed on the throne, the master of ceremonies forgot the Sword of State, and the chair and canopy for the banquet.

And as he moved down the Abbey with the great circlet on his head, the large diamond dropped out.

There will be a Baptist Brotherhood Picnic to Metlakatla on Thursday.

SUFFERS FROM CLIPTOMANIA

Omineca Herald Makes Grave Charge Against Prince Rupert's Alderman Editor. Blames the Council for it.

"For a paper that once, not so long ago that it has been forgotten by any means, characterized the Herald as a paper of 'uncertain existence and temporary address,' the Prince Rupert Empire does a most amazing amount of stealing from our columns," says the Omineca Herald.

"Not only paragraphs and columns but almost whole pages have been incorporated bodily into the Empire at frequent intervals with never a word of credit given to the Herald. It has been going on for a long time but is more noticeable since the editor was elected to the city council and the cares of statesmanship prevent his giving a proper amount of attention to his business. We never remarked on it before as the Empire needed brightening and the Herald was not particularly harmed. However, the matter has now passed the bounds of decency, let alone the courtesy usually governing."

BASEBALL CHALLENGE

Royal Blue Ribbons Open to Meet any Indoor Baseball Team in Town.

Indoor baseball has taken hold in Prince Rupert. The live games at the Auditorium between the Crescents, and the Typos have led to the commencement of team organisarion by the Presbyterian young men, and now another team still takes the field. The Royal Blue Ribbons today issue a challenge to any Indoor Baseball Team in town to meet them. Representatives of the team can be found at the Royal Hotel.

Weax Robertson, former secretary of the Capitals, who was for many years a leading figure in the lacrosse world, is dangerously ill. "Bowery" suffered an attack of throat trouble last fall, which laid him up for several months. Recently he recovered, but had the misfortune to suffer a relapse, with the result that his condition is such as to give the doctors little hope. He is also secretary of the Ottawa Curling club, and was a member of the team that won three N. L. U. championships for the Capitals, also touring the Old Country with Mr. Tasse's party in 1908.

A ROYAL SALUTE WILL BE FIRED

Guns Throughout the Empire will Announce the Minute of the King's Coronation.

At the moment when King George is crowned tomorrow, no fewer than 776 guns will sonorously announce the fact, and they will be so distributed as to give loyal subjects in the remotest corners of the Empire some chance of hearing them.

The Royal salute consists of twenty-one guns, though forty-one are fired from St. James' Park; and there are 19 military stations at home and 17 abroad that will thus honor the occasion.

Only on the birthday, accession and coronation of the Sovereign, and the birthday of the Consort of the Sovereign, is this Empire web of concussion brought into play. Royal salutes are fired only at the Tower and in St. James' Park on other occasions, such as the State opening of Parliament.

The number of guns to be fired in honor of great officials and foreign potentates is carefully calculated, and the honor is jealously prized. King Edward conferred an inestimable boon on the Newab of Junagarh when he raised his salute from eleven to fifteen guns. But this has caused the dusky prince to be fiercely envied by all the other Indian princes, who are only "eleven-gunners."

FIRST EXCURSION NORTH

City of Seattle Carries Big Crowd of American Sightseere to Alaska.

The City of Seattle this week on her journey north brought a large cargo of goods for Prince Rupert, and a number of apssengers. The steamer was crowded with the first party of excursionists from the States to the scenic splendors of the Alaska Coast. Numbers of the excursionists took the opportunity of looking round Prince Rupert during the steamer's stay at the wharf.
