AROUND TOWN

By Don Anson

Father Karl Bohnenberger has been attending a conference in Europe and returned home Tuesday. He was interviewed by radio station CJOR on his arrival at the Vancouver Airport and was heard by local residents.

A large convertible car is said to have skidded on Jackman Rd. on Sunday and, as a result, smashed up the nice white fence at the Navy Station. Details of the accident are meagre but the skid marks can be seen across the lawn of the new houses and ending against the fence. Considerable damage was done to the car but no one is reported injured.

Lost property handed in to this office and here for the asking is a scapula medal necklet and a man's black bow tie with clip fastener. No one brings in any money.

Elks' Bingo Jackpot is going up, up, up. No one seems to want to win it and it stands at $320. There will be a special Elks' Bingo this Thursday so as not to conflict with next week's Royal Purple meeting.

If everything goes according to plan this scribe is going on holiday this week, from Monday to Friday. After 18 months without a break this business of writing gets on top of you, so I shall probably have three days sleep and possibly 2 days rock hunting in the Lillooet area.

And we talk about rain! Parts of Eastern India had 40 inches in 2 days last week.

J. Nachbar has been working for the last two months on the grounds of the B. C. Electric's palatial new gas headquarters at Fleetwood. This building will be officially opened mid-September.

Friends of the MacIntoshes since World War II days, Mrs. Margaret Birch and son, are visiting friends out here and called in on Larry and Pauline last week.

Jack Harrower, former Aggy teacher at Aldergrove High School, has obtained a position as vice-principal of 100 Mile House High School. Jack is an ardent hunter and will now be right in the centre of things.

Pat Rooney will shortly be moving his barber's shop across the street, next door to Rowley's Jewelry. Announcement will be made next week.

Can anyone explain a TV commercial to me? What kind of person would want to write on butter? Imagine a director saying to his secretary, "Take this down and don't forget to smear

Cadet Award For Proficiency To Terry Metcalfe

A cadet from R.C.S.C.C. Columbia captured one of two awards presented by the Captain himself at the annual Cadet Camp held at Comox, on Vancouver Island. One is for leadership and the other for proficiency. Terry Metcalfe, of Langley, was awarded the Proficiency Award. Some hundreds of boys attend this training camp and Terry's achievement enhances the enviable reputation already gained by R.C.S.C.C. Columbia during it's one short year of operation.

When Terry left for camp he was classed Petty Officer Cadet, 2nd Class. While at camp he took his Petty Officer's examination and passed with 100 percent, an achievement in itself.

Able Cadet David Thomson, of Abbotsford, also at the Comox camp, took his Leading Cadet examination and came through with 93 percent.

Some thirty boys from this area attended the camp at specific times during July and August and will be that much better for the experience during the coming session at R.C.S.C.C. Columbia.

It is expected the anniversary of the Commissioning date will be marked this month, sometime.

Pottery Expert Will Conduct Classes Here

A prominent pottery expert, Santos Mignosa, will conduct a workshop for making pottery in Langley during the three days of September 19, 20 and 21.

The Extension Department of the University of British Columbia is sponsoring the workshop in conjunction wit hthe local Fraser Valley Potters' Guild, and the fees are reported to be very reasonable indeed.

Mr. Mighosa instructed night school at UBC last year as well as other classes in Vancouver and the Potters' Guild consider themselves fortunate to have obtained his services. He will instruct two sessions daily, each of two hours duration.

Further information may be obtained by phoning BAldwin 6-3411 or Langley 115-Y.

SCHEDULES UNCHANGED

H. D. Stafford, Superintendent of Schools for Langley District, states that all schools will open on time September 6. All bus routes and times for schools and buses will remain the same as last year for the present. So don't be late, kids!

LUCKY — A Matsqui woman escaped with only minor bruises and shock when the Volkswagen she was driving skidded and ended upside down in the ditch 1 mile east of Aldergrove on Tuesday. Oddly enough, no glass was broken on the nearly new car. (NEWS Photo)

PETE SWENSSON EXHIBITION

Vancouver Camera Club Honours Aldergrove Man With Salon Show

A one man show will honor Pelle (Pete) Swensson, local farmer and photo hobbyist, in Vancouver on September 1 and 2.

Lions' Gate Camera Club of that city are celebrating the opening of new quarters at 518 Hastings Street West by sponsoring an exhibition of work from Swensson, who was listed by the Photographic Society of America as Canada's leading salon contender last year.

He had 69 acceptances in 49 salons around the world to win the title of four star exhibitor from the Society.

Swensson has a sixty print show on tour in Russia at the present time and the attendance is expected to reach the hundred thousand mark, plus a TV audience of further thousands. The exhibition is housed in the "House of Friendship", Moscow, seen in the photograph above.

Photos taken at the Moscow show depicting Russians examining his prints have been forwarded to him at his home on Le Feuvre Road, Aldergrove.

Ridiculed by some in 1958, when he wrote to Kruschev asking for an exchange of prints, his message, "Let us exchange pictures instead of atom bombs" has been reprinted in French, German and English newspapers, clippings having been forwarded here.

Currently, the U.S.A. Baltimore, Ohio, Camera Club is forwarding a hundred print show to Russia. Arrangements were made through Swensson by Mr. Christopher, a leading American pictorialist, with Vladimar Shakhousky, head of Russia's Photographic Society.

A print show of the work of Russian photographers is expected in Canada as soon as present negotiations are finalized. Swensson hopes to make this show available to smaller communities as well as the larger cities.

The Vancouver show is said to be the first one man amateur photographic exhibition held in that city for over twenty-five years.

"Pete" Swensson, as he is better known here has lived in Aldergrove for thirty years, has served on the school board and taken a great interest in young people. He recently donated three pictures to the Aldergrove High School for prizes in their Camera Club contest.

While still in Sweden he won many medals and trophies in sports events and participated for that country in the Olympics held in Antwerp, Belgium. He specialized in decathlon events, and was largely responsible for the "Junior Empire Games" staged in Aldergrove Park some years ago, when Olympic stars from many countries participated. Pete also coached Dave Stafford, the Langley boy who took part for Canada in the British Empire Games.

HOBBY DIVISION GROWS

Aldergrove Fair Has Classes For All Ages

Preparations are getting well ahead for the Aldergrove Fall Fair and each member of the board has a job to do.

The hobby section has 31 classes this year with six of them allotted to painting, both in water colors and oils. One judge will be allocated to this section alone since the entries in each of the painting classes last year were very heavy. The judge, it is hoped will be an experienced artist himself.

If you have any hobbies the Fair Board would like you to look over them and make plans to enter in one of the classes in this section. The youngsters will be back to school next week and the Board feels they will have little time to prepare anything then.

There are classes for stamp and other collections, scrap books, weaving, flower and leather craft, metal and woodwork, pottery and ceramics and four classes in different age groups for "an other hobby," leaving a wide range of possibilities.

The Institutes are busy again preparing their display which has turned out to be one of the largest in the district. In the class for "Other Organizations" the Board would like to see a little more competition, as in the Women's Institutes class. This class is open to any organization, church group or club and there are many in the area.

The needlework section has 35 classes with separate sections for junior and intermediate competitors. The younger crowd is also catered for in the Domestic Science division. An unusual class in the Domestic Science division is that for Green Tomato Mincemeat.

No Valley fair would be complete without the foundation classes for flowers, fruit and vegetables, including classes for children.

The Aldergrove parade will see its third year this year and will have to top 34 to beat last year's entry list. The parade starts up in Endacott Subdivision and moves off at 6:30 p. m. sharp.

Fire Chief Asks Public To Flag Down Fire Truck

Aldergrove Volunteer Fire Department was called out to a chimney fire on North Jackman Road last Wednesday evening.

The call was made at the D'Andrea home after occupants found the kitchen getting uncomfortably hot although there was nothing to show why. When the firemen arrived paint was peeling and turning brown but spraying soon cooled the chimney down.

Fire Chief Fred Dams once again urges the public to flag down the engine at the scene of fires where no flames or smoke are obvious. "One of these days the engine will get to a fire too late just for this reason," he said.

Langley Police Court News

An old man, Mike Panteluk, was charged with vagrancy at Langley Police Court after being picked up at Coghlan Road. He was sentenced to one day's imprisonment.

An Aldergrove woman, Pauline La Chapelle, was fined $10 and costs for having no driving licence and a Clearbrook man, Reynold Abe Thiessen, was charged with hauling an insecure load after several egg crates fell off his truck onto Trans Canada highway. He was fined $15 and $3 costs.

Russell A. Hetzler of Vancouver pleaded guilty to driving without due car and attention on Hospital Hill. His car rolled over in an accident causing slight injuries to his wife. He was fined $40 and $3 costs.

Passing on the right cost George Zukiwsky of Aldergrove $30 and costs while going over a solid double white line meant a fine of $15 for Norman Harvey Vance of Chilliwack.

A recent accident west of Aldergrove, when a car collided with another owned by an Abbotsford doctor, resulted in a charge of driving without reasonable consideration for others against Anthony John Hoeber of North Vancouver. Hoeber pleaded not guilty but Magistrate Mulligan found the charge proved and imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS MEETING

Manning, Garibaldi Merits To Be Debated

The merits of Manning and Garibaldi parks as sites for the 1968 Winter Olympics will be discussed and debated at Aldergrove on September 12 when the local Chamber of Commerce will host the quarterly meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of the Fraser Valley and Lower Mainland.

One of the prime objectives said Associated Board's President Ed Boyce, is to try and end the controversy between the two sites and bring all available backing to bear on one of them. "B. C. may easily lose out to Banff if we don't get together," he said.

Langley Jaycees, co-sponsors of of the Manning Park plan, have the backing of Langley and other Boards of Trade together with Langley City and District councils. Garibaldi has the backing of many influential and wealthy Vancouver businessmen.

Gordon Love, president of Canadian Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker at the noon luncheon which will be held in the United Church Hall. Business meeting will be held above Aldergrove Fire Hall and all members of Aldergrove Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend. Arrangements for the meeting are in the hands of Jack Scott and Charles Haid.

One of the resolutions to be presented during the day is North Vancouver's plea for more stringent regulations governing car and truck mufflers to cut down noise.

The difference between a technician and a handy man is about three dollars an hour.

RCSCC COLUMBIA CADET IN ACTION AT SUMMER CAMP

Bob Quiring, of Aldergrove, is among hundreds of Royal Canadian Sea Cadets who, this summer, have spent two weeks at HMCS Quadra—sea cadet camp near Comox on Vancouver Island. He is seen here in action during a physical training session. The instructor is Ldg. Sea. Tom Sloan, of Victoria. The camp program features a wide variety of activity, including boatwork, swimming, rifle drill, seamanship training and related studies. (National Defence Photo)

MONEY MUST BE EARNED!

A person's wages should be commensurate with his capacity to produce and while we agree that there should be a minimum wage in all employment, we think there should be a complete overhaul of the wage structure of this province.

It should not be possible for a boy leaving school at grade 9 to step right into a job with a man's wage. Not only is this bad for the boy inasmuch as he gets a false concept of the value of money, but it is bad for the economy of the province as a whole.

What does an able bodied unemployed man think of it? Possibly he is unemployed for the very reason that he started that way and has been laid off without any qualification for another job.

Every boy should learn a trade, be apprenticed to a business, should start at the bottom, should work on a probationary period and should realise that wages have to be earned.

Far too many youngsters think they are on easy street and will find out later, to their regret, that it was all a fool's paradise.

Pride in craftsmanship is rapidly dying out. Why worry about a craft when mere muscles can bring in two or three times as much immediate cash?

Easy money, coupled with easy time payments, make a mockery of budgeting for the future. Until security of job and a gradual building up of status is acquired, then unemployment will always be rife and repossessions will always be adding to the funds of the too numerous finance houses.

THE LITTLE BLACK DOG

By Tom Gascoigne

The very first thing I saw as I walked onto the patio was the 'little black dog'; actually he was just a little pup about four months old. Around his neck there was a heavy studded collar to which was attached a short piece of thin frayed rope.

He was a cute little fellow no more than twelve inches long with a body along the general lines of a small barrel. He was black all over with the exception of a touch of white on his chest and one paw. His general physical condition was superb, his coat healthy and clean.

Rising slowly to his feet he came to me, his eyes beseeching approval and acceptance of his friendly advances, I dropped to my knees to pat and stroke him, offering a welcome to the little stray. Feeling reassured by my attitude he wagged his tail furiously, nuzzled my hands, slurpily offering all his love and affection till death us do part. No sooner were these initiation rituals completed than he walked slowly into the carport, lowered himself to the floor and fell fast asleep. Poor tired little critter, I felt sorry for him.

Later the same evening the pup woke up, stretched himself and came over to my wife to present himself and offer his respects. She welcomed him, offering food and water. Strange as it may seem he refused all nourishment—no sponger he—waggled his tail a good deal more and returned to the carport and back to sleep.

There are two things our household doesn't need, one of them is a dog—we have little to protect and absolutely no place for him to sleep. However I did notice a relaxation of the 'wouldn't have a dog around the house attitude' between my wife and myself. It's alarming how a chubby stray puppy with his humid eye overtures can affect staid resolutions, particularly after a close investigation of it's sex. No female dog for us, we remember well that we once had one, and her sex life will be engraved on our memories for the rest of our lives.

At bedtime the little pup was still fast asleep so we left him there all cuddled up nice and comfy on a little rug which my dog-hating wife brought out from the house.

The following morning, as my wife pulled the window shades apart, what should greet her but the little pup, bowing and yipping, looking up at her through the window saying good morning in the way puppies do. It was easy to see that he was hers for life. My wife fed him at once, a thing she swore she would never do for a stray dog, patted him on his cute little round rump then left him to his own devices while she made breakfast for us.

After a hurried breakfast we went outside ostensibly to look at the garden, but in reality to see the pup which had already wormed his way into our dogless lives—but he wasn't there. We were both disappointed and a little upset at this sudden and unexpected end to the brief period during which we were happy in the possession of such a cute and happy little puppy. And for that day, at least, the sun was not quite so bright. We both felt that a little bit of something nice had gone from our lives forever.

WHEREVER THERE IS NEED

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

If you can cast a plug into a tea cup at ten paces or snake out a fly line 160 feet — head for Detroit.

The national casting contest opens in Warren, near Detroit, August 16. The country's top anglers will be showing their form and competing for tackle handling honors in the annual competition held by the National Association of Angling and Casting Clubs. Records are waiting to be broken by the right combination of man and equipment.

The U.S. team to compete in the International casting tournament will be picked from among the winners. Last year's seven man squad set three world's records, and won twelve international championships in Scarborough, England, competing against the best casters from sixteen nations. The 1960 International Competition will be held in Zurich, Switzerland Sept. 5 through 10.

Tournament events include skish distance and accuracy requiring the use of standard fishing tackle, and unrestricted events which also are a proving ground for tackle improvements.

Earlier local competitions leading to the national, and the national itself, have stimulated such innovations as shooting tapered fly line and fast taper spinning and bait rods proven in practice, and adopted as standard gear.

In 1946, a new bait casting reel called the Ambassadeur, was developed by the Swedish for long distance and accuracy casting. All but a few accuracy competitions have since been taken by it. It has also taken record fish.

Casting competition is not divorced from angling. On the contrary, good casters are better than average fishermen, International casting champion Johnny Dieckman also holds the National Fresh Water Fishing Championship. Casting is an art with an object—more successful, more enjoyable fishing. When long casts are needed to reach into inaccesible pools—the top caster will have the fish. Good tackle and sure casting skill means more time to concentrate on fishing fun.

Gibson Gives His Reasons For Standing As Independent

Many members of the Social Credit Party must be wondering why Dr. Gordon Gibson, incumbent M.L.A., failed to get re-nominated at the White Rock Social Credit convention and furthermore, why, after failing to get re-nominated Dr. Gibson decided to stand as an Independent candidate.

Explaining his reasons Gibson said that indications prior to the first nominating convention pointed to a designed overthrow of himself as the elected representative but, however, the delegates, mostly long established Social Creditors, did not react accordingly, and Delta's first member was dropped. A second ballot was taken even though two nominees were clearly elected on the first count according to the 50% plus 1 method of selecting candidates, said Gibson.

The second ballot resulted in the overthrow of both sitting members and two others were chosen "and then," says Gibson, "consternation reigned amongst the delegates. One member of the Balloting Committee detected an error in tabulating the first count and insisted the injustice be righted."

The League President ruled the following morning that Gibson was duly nominated on the first ballot but a Constituency Council meeting was called July 11 to hear about the unusual procedure. Gibson says there was "Evidence at this meeting of an inside group determnied to upset the Convention's findings in an effort to have their own way."

In spite of discussion a reason was finally found and a new Convention was ordered by the League President who practically demanded an open convention.

On July 13 an executive meeting set August 3 as date for next nominating Convention which, says Gibson, was unconstitutional as the executive cannot legally set the date when a Constituency Council exists.

Gibson claims that time elapse between conventions was not 30 days as required, and many new people voted at second convention who were not 30 day card holders, and not entitled to vote. "Furthermore," says Gibson, "resolutions unanimously passed at executive meeting were entirely overruled by chairman at nominating convention, who permitted irregular motions to offset purpose of executive motions." Opportunities for discussions on these motions were ignored, Gibson claims.

After failing to get nomination at final convention, Gibson, after serious deliberation, decided that the irregularities at the final convention fully justified his action in standing as an Independent candidate.

Local Winners At Exhibition

PNE results are pouring from all sections, some names being very familiar and others quite new.

W. V. Mufford and E. C. Marrington of Milner are both prominent amongst the prize-winners again although Norman Skelton of Chilliwack has made their competition considerably keener this year. Skelton took 26 firsts, 9 seconds and 5 thirds. Mufford had 11 firsts, 9 seconds, 13 thirds and 2 fourths, Marrington came up with 6 firsts, 8 seconds, 9 thirds and 1 fourth.

Mr. Mufford won the District Vegetable Exhibit.

In the pony classes G. H. Gardiner of Matsqui came up with a championship, a reserve, a first, 2 seconds and 3 thirds. John M. Reiss of Aldergrove had a first and 2 seconds. G. G. and Etta Dueck of Abbotsford took 4 seconds, 2 thirds and 2 fourths, plus a reserve. A. Macfarlane of Langley had a third and Faith Hoy of Abbotsford took one first and one second.

In the half-Arab classes John M. Reiss took a first and a second while Sylvia Macfarlane had one second.

In the sheep classes A. C. Stewart of Abbotsford was again a major winner with R. C. Sibbald of Matsqui also taking a goodly number of prizes.

Huntingdon W. I. took several prizes in the Home Arts section. Fort Langley W. I. took 4th prize for a patchwork quilt and second for a rug. Otter W. I. won third prize for two articles in tatting. PNE Challenge Trophy for Women's Institutes was won this year by Point Grey W. I.

Easy Win For Willow Smiters

A galaxy of runs from the bats of Langley cricketers enabled the local club to score an easy victory Saturday against North Shore by 57 runs.

Langley batted first and against a weak bowling side had no difficulty in hitting up 149 runs for the loss of only 5 wickets before declaring. Top scorer was Gerry Brown, whose 42 was quickly hit with powerful strokes, mostly in front of the wicket. Mostyn Williams (25), Colin Stewart (22), John Thompson (19 not out) and Art Griffin (15), all made useful contributions to the total.

In reply, North Shore never looked like making a bid for victory totalling only 92 runs, and fine bowling by Art Griffin, 5 for 24, and Colin Stewart, 4 for 27, assured Langley of their eighth victory in the league against two losses and one draw.

Langley plays at home next Saturday against Rowing Club Commodores.

Mr. and Mrs. Grey returned to their home in Vancouver after spending a few days visiting with her sister, Mrs. N. Armstrong, relatives and friends.

Mr. Hassan has returned home from Langley Memorial Hospital after spending some time there with a recent illness.

Miss Valerie Butcher, a teacher from the British Isles is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cochrane. Miss Butcher taught school last year in the Slocan-Nelson district. She spent her summer vacation on a tour of Yellowstone Park, Boulder Dam, Banff Calgary and will leave on Monday by air to teach in Kemano. On Saturday evening, Mrs. Cochrane entertained in honour of Miss Butcher. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Masson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. N. Liberal Candidate Urges Plan To Expand Tourist Industry

Arthur Helps, Liberal candidate in the Delta riding has urged the expansion of the tourist industry as a means of bringing permanent business, prosperity and full employment to British Columbia.

He suggests that the Government set aside a sum of $2,500,000 as an investment in the Tourist industry. Money used to promote the tourist industry would bring in new money and pay for itself in a short time. "The tourist trade is the most neglected of British Columbia's principal industries," he said.

"Touring is the most upcoming industry in North America, and British Columbia has vast riches in natural tour resources," continued Helps, and went on, "we have the products and properly handled we have a tremendous market available. For instance "Century '62," a multimillion dollar World's Fair will come to Seattle in 1962. The U. S. Pacific Northwest will be completely congested with travellers from all across the USA, Canada and abroad. The tourist industry should be, but is not enjoying its best year this year. With my plan effected through my election to the legislature, 1961 can be a great improvement over this year and 1962 can see the greatest tourist prosperity year in British Columbia history."

He thinks expansion of the tourist industry is the quickest and surest possible way to bring permanent business prosperity and full employment opportunities to all ages and classes of workers throughout British Columbia.

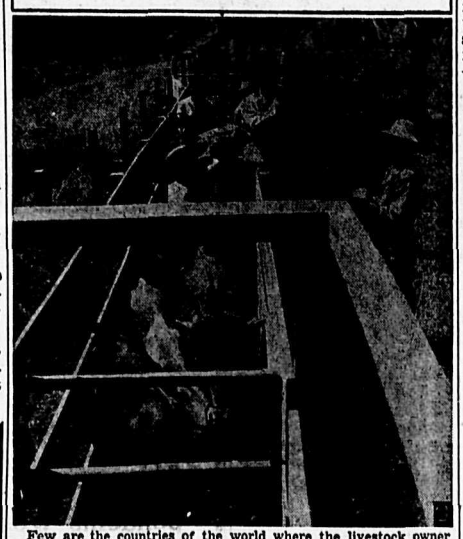
No Admittance! AFTOSA



Few are the countries of the world where the livestock owner does not live in dread of seeing the above notice tacked upon his gate. For he knows that if his animals become infected with this disease they will waste away and never regain normal weight and milk production.

He also knows that once aftosa hits the only way to stop it is to kill off all livestock in the entire infected area!

But the economic losses caused by this animal ill—formally named foot-and-mouth disease, but more commonly known as "aftosa" — are not limited to stock owners. Today aftosa is a world problem. Here are a few reasons why:

— Because aftosa control and eradication measures are expensive to governments.

— Because in a world where too many millions are already undernourished, aftosa is the number one cause of loss of animal protein.

— Because aftosa cuts down international trade by forcing aftosa-free countries to bar animal products coming from infected lands.

Only Australia, the Guianas, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, and the western hemisphere north of Panama are free of aftosa. Yet even these areas run danger of infection as the aftosa virus can be carried in bones, blood, milk and hides as well as fresh, dried, canned or even frozen meats.

Taxes National Economies

In stamping out six aftosa epidemics between 1900 and 1930, the United States suffered direct and indirect costs totalling almost $200 million.

Therefore when aftosa broke out in Mexico in 1946, the U.S. found the need to protect its own livestock at one with its sympathy for a sister republic's plight. Both countries fought shoulder to shoulder for six years before aftosa was eradicated. The cost: $130 million to the U.S. and more than $500 million to Mexico.

In South America, Argentina alone estimates aftosa costs it $150 million a year.

When aftosa suddenly appeared in limited areas of Canada's Saskatchewan province in 1954 all shipment to the United States of Canadian breeder and feeder cattle was abruptly halted. In the few months before the outbreak was put down Canadian farmers lost millions of dollars of customary revenue.

Pan American Center Set Up

It was in recognition of aftosa's international dimensions that the 21 American Republics jointly founded the Pan American Foot-and-Mouth Disease Center on the outskirts of Rio de Janeiro in 1951.

Administered by the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, and financed through the Organization of American States' Technical Cooperation Program, the Center's purpose is to aid the countries in controlling and eventually eradicating aftosa from the hemisphere.

The Center trains anti-aftosa workers, provides the countries with consultants, organizes multi-national campaigns, furnishes reference laboratory and diagnostic services, and carries out research.

Center experts hope soon to produce a vaccine that will protect livestock for much longer periods than do any in present use. Such a vaccine could mean aftosa's eradication.

American Look: Young Adult Version!

You're pretty as a picture in this charming date-time dress designed by Bobbie Brooks. The gently scooped neckline — the sleeves as well — are bordered with ric rac — a sweet, neat detail! Notice the way the midriff molds the figure, and is accented by a gay red rose. The full, full skirt with deep double-box pleats was designed for dancing! The fabric is "Frosette" — crisp, with an interesting surface.

Wear this in black, as we've photographed it, or in navy, from right now, through all the parties ahead: and be sure to have it, too, in chalk white, for beautiful emphasis of the summer tan you'll soon have! This is one of the important fashions from the new Bobbie Brooks Spring collection.

Popular, fresh, crisp green beans are once again an economical vegetable for eating pleasure. A serving of green beans at 21 cents a pound only costs 5.2 cents. Few vegetables cost less, and green beans add their own special delicious flavor and color to meals.

This year's crop is a good sized one, so there will be lots of green beans to enjoy fresh or to can or freeze for wintertime enjoyment.

The Egyptians were the first to cultivate the green bean and make it an article of a common diet. There are no strings on today's snap beans, so the word "string-bean" has become outmoded. It has been within the last 100 years that truly stringless, nearly fiberless, tender-podded varieties have been developed.

Use varieties in flavorings when serving green beans, so each time green beans are served, it is a special treat. Fold some celery seed and grated parmesan cheese into some mayonnaise. Spoon over hot green beans. This is particularly good with pot roast or braised lamb shanks. Stir a little horseradish into hot green beans and sprinkle them with chopped hard-cooked eggs. Serve this tasty dish with grilled frankfurters, potato salad and iced tea for supper. Or marinate cooked green beans in a tart French dressing with a little minced onion. Drain and serve as a luncheon salad with deviled hard-cooked eggs, pickled beets and a scoop of cottage cheese. This hearty salad is a whole meal when you add hot biscuits and glasses of milk.

TOASTED FRENCH BREAD

This is delicious served at a buffet supper or luncheon. The hot, crisp, cheesy flavored bread calls for seconds, and even thirds sometimes.

½ cup butter
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped parsley
A few drops of lemon juice

Soften and cream the butter, then add the above ingredients. Cut French bread in half lengthwise. Spread each half with the above mixture, then spread with a little prepared mustard, toasted sesame seeds and grated cheese. (Toast sesame seeds in oven until lightly browned). Just before serving put in oven at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes. Cut in squares to serve. This may be prepared ahead and placed in refrigerator until time to put in oven before serving.

CHICKEN AND RICE

This is a highly recommended and easy way to prepare chicken.

⅔ pkg. dehydrated onion soup
½ cup rice
1 chicken, cut in pieces for serving
1 can mushroom soup
1 can water

Spread onion soup in a large flat pan, then add rice and lay chicken on top. Mix soup and water and pour over chicken, saving a little to add just before serving. Bake at 325 degrees for about 1½ hours or until chicken is nicely brown and tender. Cover pan with foil for the first half hour.

CELERY AND ALMONDS AU GRATIN

Here is a Cape Cod recipe that is different and very good.

Cut 4 cups celery into 1 inch pieces and parboil and drain them. Place celery in a buttered casserole, adding ½ cup blanched, finely cut almonds. Cover with the following sauce:

Melt 3 tbsp. butter, stir in 3 tbsp. flour; add 1½ cups chicken stock, ½ cup cream, salt and pepper to taste. (Canned chicken soup or a chicken bouillon cube may be used if no fresh chicken broth is on hand). Cook the sauce, stirring until it is thick. Sprinkle grated cheese over top and cover with bread crumbs. Bake at 325 degrees until sauce bubbles.

DATE NUGGETS

2½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
3 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup shortening
1½ cups brown sugar
3 eggs
2 cups coarsely chopped walnuts
1¼ cup chopped dates
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift together flour, salt, soda and cinnamon. Cream shortening with brown sugar. Beat in eggs. Add sifted ingredients to creamed mixture and mix well. Stir in walnuts, dates and vanilla. Shape into balls, using about 1 tablespoon of dough for each. Place on greased cooky sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes. Yield: 6 dozen cookies.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

It's No Joke!

The phrase "improvement of the breed" as applied to horse racing has, in metropolitan areas, become a subject for joking, but farmers and stockmen know it means something.

The Thoroughbred is a dominant factor in the upgrading of the Western range horse. For that matter, all established breeds from the Standardbred (trotter) to the Percheron, owe a debt to the Thoroughbred.

The Horse and Mule Association once estimated that 90% of the equine population (officially 3,079,000) are grade animals; that is, by a pure-bred sire out of a dam of unknown or mixed ancestry or, more rarely, the reverse. And, roughly 94% of grade animals are sired by Thoroughbreds.

The Thoroughbred himself has improved both in size and speed and, according to Cornell University scientists, the phrase "Thoroughbred blood" is more than a figure of speech; they found it has a higher red cell count, providing a greater quantity of oxygen-carrying hemoglobin.

The word Thoroughbred, while it has come to be applied to the best of anything, originated with the race horse. Cattle are "pure-bred", dogs are "pedigreed", but technically speaking only the running race horse, registered in the Stud Book and traceable to the Byerly Turk, Darly Arabian or Godolphin Arabian, are Thoroughbreds.

Development Of Manning Park Is Urged By Green

Lloyd Green, chairman of the Manning Park Development Committee, spoke to a meeting in Abbotsford recently.

He told the group that Manning Park had all the requirements for Olympics, 'economic feasibility, good access, reasonable closeness to a populated area.

He stated that some action had to be taken immediately although the Olympics would not be held until 1968, the site has to be approved by 1964.

"Development of the area should be done as a winter playground, not only for the Olympics," stated Mr. Green. He told the group that snow and temperature conditions were ideal for skiing and there are very few skiing areas for Fraser Valley residents.

Developing Garibaldi would cost the taxpayers millions, he said, initial cost of developing 50 miles of road at appriximately ¾ of a million dollars per mile. How can this be justified, Mr. Green asked?

BC Unemployed Double National Ave. Claimed

The rate of unemployment in B. C. is twice that of the national average, Dean Finlayson told a meeting in Abbotsford. Mr. Finlayson was speaking at a meeting in support of Progressive Conservative Candidate Douglas Taylor.

Mr. Finlayson said that the present government was putting too much reliance on tomorrow taking care of itself.

He spoke of the start of the P.N.R. railway which, he said, was a promotional deal. The area in and around Prince George has been flooded with people seeking the employment promised by Premier Bennett and Social Welfare payments in that district are 8 times what they were two years ago, he went on.

Mr. Finlayson said that dreams were no substitute for real planning. There is a lack of planning for the real future in B. C., he said.

Steacy Offers Assistance To Bulb Farmers

Farmers were offered much assistance by the Hon. N. P. Steacy at a meeting in Bradner last week. Mr. Steacy offered assistance of agriculture department field men to help farmers in increasing their crop yields, as farming is becoming a very scientific profession.

Mr. Steacy urged bulb farmers to increase their acreage. He said there are 150 acres used in Bradner. These should be increased, Mr. Steacy stated, and farmers should also go to different varieties. There is a big market, he claimed.

The Minister spoke of the land clearing program which he stated was the best in Canada. He said that there is 4% of B. C. lands available for farming and only 2% is in use now.

Miss MSA Choice On Wednesday

Next week brings along the Abbotsford Fair and its popular parade. The date is Tuesday, September 6, for the opening and the parade will take place on the 7th.

A total of $6,500 in prizes will be given this year, covering all sections.

New features this year will be a stable of Arabian horses from Seattle which will take part in the parade, and the judging of the "Miss M.S.A." contest for which there are nine entries. In former years there has been a "Miss Abbotsford" contest but because of lack of entries the contest at the fair has taken its place. While the judging is taking place and supplying entertainment on Wednesday evening a band will be in attendance.

September 8 is the last day of the Fair, which is followed on the 9th and 10th by Langley's annual event.

BEAUTY TIPS by Lady Esther

1954 beauty-contest winner, Angie Dickinson is Hollywood's newest symbol of sex appeal. Currently starring in Warner Bros. "The Bramble Bush", she plays one of the sexiest roles ever portrayed on the American screen. Angie also has the most beautiful legs since Marlene Dietrich . . . measurements: ankle, 8½"; calf, 12½"; thighs, 19½".

Her favorite sport is water skiing. Like most girls, especially those in the public eye, she works at keeping her figure at its prettiest. Angie diets by eating a little of everything, with emphasis on the "little". Diet alone keeps weight off. To be limber, supple and graceful; exercise and good posture are essential. Here are Angie's posture tips:

Angie Dickinson

1. Your figure looks better when you stand "tall". Graceful posture can make an "average" shape seem perfect.

2. Be consciously aware of your posture in every gesture. See yourself a picture of grace; think tall when you comb your hair, make-up, stand, walk.

3. Sometime during every day line-up your body, back to wall, touch head, shoulder blades, buttocks and heels to wall. This pulls diaphragm up and in; aligns pelvis joints.

4. Hands are most important. They must be gracefully held as well as soft and smooth. But don't crook your little finger holding a cup. That went out with World War I. Don't let them get rigid, stay fixed or set; clasped across a tummy or in your lap. They should suggest serenity, move lightly whatever you do. Massage them often with a good lotion. Give your whole body a lotion massage, especially your legs, after your daily shower, to encourage that lithe and limber look.

To keep not only your hands, but arms, elbows and legs in a pretty smooth state, Lady Esther designed a Hand and Body Lotion that is full of beneficial softening ingredients besides being the prettiest shade of Aquamarine and so sweet smelling.

Peterson Claims Nothing Given Away In North

The CCF are the greatest enemies of full employment Hon. Leslie Peterson, Minister of Education, told an audience of 75 at a Social Credit meeting at Murrayville Thursday evening.

Peterson was speaking on behalf of Socred candidates for Delta, George Massey and Don Riggan. He continued, "We need 1½ billion dollars private capital coming into this province every year for development. We need both Columbia and Peace River projects as soon as possible. Government financing won't suffice. There has been nothing given away in the north. Concessions have been the history of this province but not during the last 8 years," he said.

He told the meeting that the government road program was one of the few things opponents were not criticising and said the Social Credit government placed priority on things that affected the people most." Our emphasis is on human values in all things," he continued. "Our policy has been to provide adequate and equal education for all. I'm glad to hear that your Delta candidates, like myself, have not made extravagant promises as we stand on our accomplishments which no other party can match." "No government is doing more to provide employment," he went on, and instanced roads, public buildings, power plants and schools. Three out of every eight classrooms in use now were built during the last six years," he said.

George Massey suggested that if the CCF took over the B. C. Electric they wouldn't create one more job. "What we need," he said, "is more industry."

Deas Island Tunnel, he informed the meeting, would be clear of toll in 10 years or less with one million vehicles using it every three months.

Candidate Don Riggan, president of the Delta Social Creditors, spoke on farming. He thought that retail prices should be based more on cost of production and suggested ways and means of lowering production costs for farmers should be sought such as increasing exemption on farm buildings. He agreed with Massey that a Standing Committee on agriculture should be revived and thought serious consideration should be given to the amount of land allotted to farming as the Lower Fraser Valley was the food basket of B. C. He also suggested the setting up of a Lower Fraser Valley Parks Board with its own financial structure as, he said, little money for the purpose of parks is left over from municipal budgets.

Fire is the greatest menace to nation's forests. Every year human carelessness is responsible for eight out of ten of Canada's forest fires.

Fort Langley Centennial Museum Receives Many New Exhibits

An increasing number of visitors are taking in Fort Langley during their tours in British Columbia.

During July 1272 people signed the register at Fort Langley Centennial Museum and many expressed themselves delighted with what they saw there. Although 968 of these people came from B. C., the remaining 304 came from distant fields, with the highest number from U.S.A., 91. Alberta visitors numbered 82, Manitoba 42, Saskatchewan 34, Ontario 32, Quebec 7, England 7, Yukon 3, Holland 3, Sweden 2 and Australia 1.

These numbers represent only about a third of the actual tourists as the majority do not sign the register.

Donations for July totalled $69.25. Sales of the magazine "Beautiful British Columbia" amounted to $13.50, and Ron Gadsby, editor of the magazine, has intimated that a feature article on Fort Langley may be included in the spring issue.

Exhibits for the museum continue to be donated, ensuring the public of a good variety always on display. Latest donations include a wooden shredding machine used to shred sauerkraut, etc., presented by Mr. Johnson of Wilson Townline Road, who also donated a hand written autobiography of Mrs. V. Greensides, late of Fort Langley, describing her life in Canada in pioneer days.

Several exhibits were given by Mrs. A. Knott of Langley City including a pair of spectacles, around the Regency period, with handmade steel case, and several Chinese ornaments used as love charms. Two sets of Chinese costumes made of heavy brocade and beautifully designed will make a show piece for the museum, and a very old English book without title or year was thought by Chairman A. E. Roberts to have been written possibly by James I of England to his son. The book cover consisted of a last will and testament on parchment.

George Parkinson of Wilson Townline Road donated a pair of Indian moosehide mitts made around 1900, while a pair of pinchers used in making bullets was given by W. E. Lyons of Armstrong Road.

A useful addition to the scrapbook record now being kept by the Museum was a copy of "Fraser Valley Flood Record," a supplement to the B. C. Electric "Family Post," giving a history of the disastrous 1948 flood. This was presented by Neil McKelvie of the B. C. Electric.

COUNTY LINE

A number of friends and neighbours gathered at the County Line Hall on Saturday evening to bid farewell to Mrs. Irene Smith who has left the district to reside in Abbotsford.

The evening was spent in dancing and on behalf of those present Mrs. W. T. Craig presented Mrs. Smith with some articles for her new home, as remembrances of the friends she made and the years spent in County Line.

Polio Victim Climbs Ladder Of Fame; Now At P.N.E.

Jeanine Pivoteau, Paris born, blond and beautiful, is the toast of aerialists in her native France, and has won wide acclaim in both Europe and America.

When she appears at PNE Shrine circus, produced by Polack Bros., in the Forum for 9 days starting Friday, Aug. 26, through Monday, Sept. 5, older circus fans will be reminded of the great Lillian Leitzel who fell to a tragic death nearly 30 years ago.

Very few aerialists since have attempted the difficult and dangerous one-arm plunge that brought fame to Miss Leitzel. Jeannine Pivoteau is featured in this amazing feat during one of the huge production numbers in the show.

Both performers had several things in common. Both were foreign born, Jeannine in Paris, and Lillian in Budapest. Like Lillian, Jeannine is petite and blond. Miss Leitzel became first lady of the trapeze despite a physical handicap. She had a congenital curvature of the spine, which she ignored as she climbed the ladder to stardom.

Jeannine Pivoteau was stricken with polio at the age of 17, and spent 18 months in a hospital. She returned home partly crippled.

Her guiding light was a circus performer who convinced her she could become a trapeze performer with enough practice and perserverance.

Three years of gruelling practice followed. First to overcome her physical handicap and second to master trapeze technique. Then she became an aerialist with a European circus. Her engagements took her all over Europe, North Africa, and Central and South America, and now the United States.

Everyday Foods Are Best For Reducing

Gaynor Maddox, nationally recognized for his expert and authoritative reporting in the food field, says that food, not starvation, is the sensible basis for weight reducing. In his new book "The Safe and Sure Way to Reduce," recently published by Random House, Maddox points out that everyday foods you enjoy are best for those who want to lose weight surely and safely, and that no single food is essential nor is any single food forbidden. There is a special chapter dealing with teen-age diets. According to the American Dietetic Assn., the book is written in refreshing style for easy reading and ready reference and many palatable reducing diets that fit into normal family living.

It has long been the popular belief that people who suppress anger, instead of expressing it in words or action, run the risk of having high blood pressure. Now evidence to back this up comes from a study at Chicago's Michael Reese Hospital. The study suggests that a factor in essential hypertension—the most common form of elevated blood pressure and one in which no organic cause can be found—may be the chronic inhibition of angry feelings.

Vancouver, B.C.—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Emerson of suburban Richmond are shown demonstrating a 1925 gas engine Maytag washer to Barry Hudson, manager of Washer Parts and Service Limited of Vancouver. The elderly couple — they are both 78 — are the Province of British Columbia winners of a nation-wide contest to locate the oldest Maytag washer in Canada. The Emerson's received the Maytag automatic washer shown at the right of the ancient machine.

A Challenge to CCF Leader Robert Strachan:

Tell B.C. where CCF would get $1,500,000,000 a year for jobs and construction

Harsh language and untrue charges are no answer to statements we have made warning British Columbia against possible loss of its good standing with investors.

We have said this:

1. It takes one billion, five hundred million dollars ($1,500,000,000) a year—mainly from outside B C —invested in private and public projects to keep B C prosperous. (This is undeniable.)
2. A Socialist - C C F Government would frighten away, not attract, such capital. (If you disagree, Mr. Strachan, you owe it to the public to say WHERE you would go to get the money.)
3. A Socialist - CCF Government put into office by alliance with a militant group of labor union leaders would give such leaders not only their present great economic power in B.C. but political power as well, through control of government. (Such power would be extreme and dangerous.)

You describe these warnings as "dirty, rotten practices", and "mud-slinging". Do you have any better answers?

You have charged that the B C Federation of Trade and Industry is a "front organization for the Socreds." The Federation was formed years before there was a Social Credit government in British Columbia, never has had association directly or indirectly with it nor with any political party whatsoever in British Columbia.

The Federation answers Socialist propaganda with factual statements and urges British Columbians NOT to take a gamble in state-ownership and class government which could dry up the vital flow of funds for new development and payrolls.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A HUTCH TABLE-BENCH

An old-fashioned hutch is a useful and unique piece of furniture.

The entire hutch may be made of 1-inch finished lumber. Edge-glue boards to make the large panels. The table top may be of hardwood plywood. Cut out the parts as shown.

Notch the end pieces to the actual width of the side pieces. Do not cut the seat base, the lid or the hinge board behind it until after partial assembly of the other bench parts. These pieces may then be fitted more exactly.

Use glue at all joints and No. 5 wood screws, 1¼ inches long, or 6-penny finishing nails. Counter bore for the screws, and fill the holes with glued dowel plugs.

Assemble by fastening one side board to the ends, add the bottom of the hutch, and then the other side piece. Attach the lid jambs to the under sides of the seat borders, allowing a ½-inch extension to support the lid before setting the borders in place.

Then add the hinge board. Attach the lid to the hinge board with butt hinges. Center the top braces beneath the table top.

Sand the hutch, rounding all sharp edges. Stain and varnish, or paint, as desired.

Aldergrove is becoming very sign conscious. Latest neon effort is the three color, flashing diamond sign outside Rowley's Jewelry. Suppose we will one day get flashing signs on space satellites.

I think the oblique turning off Trans Canada to Murrayville when travelling west is extremely difficult to find on a dark night, and wonder why there have not been more accidents there.

MERCY PLANE — Featured in many search and rescue incidents on the west coast, the Canso amphibious flying boat is the mainstay of No. 121 Rescue Flight at Sea Island. Landing on small lakes in remote areas of B. C., the Canso is able to take to the air in a short distance with the aid of "JATO" (Jet Assisted Take-Off) units providing the extra thrust.

The Canso was originally designed in 1933 and later models served long and faithfully during the Second World War as a long range reconnaissance aircraft on anti-submarine and shipping patrols. With a range of 1,200 miles, at a cruisnig speed of approximately 100 knots, the Canso has travelled B. C. from north to south on rescue duties and mercy flights. Soon to be retired, it will be replaced by the newer amphibious "Albatross."

Kiernan Speaks At Bradner Meet

Bradner residents received praise from the Hon. K. Kiernan, Minister of Mines, at a meeting last week, upon the completion of their new hall. He said the government was very pleased to be able to assist in this project. "If people are prepared to help themselves," Mr. Kiernan told the meeting "where practical, they can always get government support."

Speaking of the government agricultural program, Mr. Kiernan stated that the progress of the program is only through sound planning and hard work not in splashes or flares. We can't see the agriculture program as we can the highway program, he stated.

Premier Bennett has been called a dictator, Mr. Kiernan hold the meeting, but he has a firm hand on the wheel. That this is necessary was shown by the stacks of reports compiled on the PGE before our government went ahead and accomplished something. He cited the new government ferry which was 2 years from idea to operation . . .

Under 21

DEAR DAN: I go around with some of the most popular kids in town and they're all really swell but most of them use pretty strong language. Should I just let a few words slip with the rest of the kids or keep my mouth clean? What do you think?—Non-Swearer.

Dear Non-Swearer: Would your mother be especially proud of you if you let a few words "slip?" Don't go along with the crowd when you know they're in the wrong. I'm sure their parents don't know about the new vocabularies or they would change things fast.

DEAR DAN: Please let me know what subjects I should concentrate on in high school to be a medical doctor. I'll be a freshman this fall and will be taking Latin, English, home economics, science and algebra. Please let me know and thank you.—Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: Your first year subjects sound okay to me but I think in order to get the 100 per cent correct information you should write to the college of your choice and inquire. Your family doctor could also help but I think if you contacted the college you plan to atend, you would be absolutely certain of your subjects. Good Luck.

DEAR DAN: I was 14 in April and my mother won't let me date any boys not even those I go to school with. What do you think about a girl dating boys she's known for a long time?—Troubled

Dear Troubled: A girl is usually better off dating a boy she's known over a period of time rather than a comparative newcomer but the age is your real problem. Your mother may feel, as so many do, that 15 is plenty of time for you to begin dating. That's the way I feel about it although I concede 14-year-olds should be allowed to attend special school dances with boys.

DEAR DAN: Here's a perfect example of what's wrong with kids today. Up to now I thought your teen-age advice wasn't too bad but when you tell teen-agers an officer overstepped his authority on that beer business, I wonder. Not only that but you told the kids not to let the matter rest but to take it to their parents and school authorities.

I take it all the kids involved were teen-agers and I presume you know it's illegal for teen-agers to even be in possession of beer. As for the girls not knowing the boys had open beer in the car—baloney!

If people like you tried to make kids realize that laws and people doing their jobs of enforcing the laws are to be respected, maybe we would know more what is really expected of us or what we can try to get away with. Yours for stricter adults.—K. C. Minor.

Dear K. C. Minor: I'd hate to have you sitting on a jury in any criminal action if your attitude is that an individual is guilty of a law violation merely by association. As a former newspaperman, a special deputy sheriff and an interested observer, I've ridden thousands of miles with city, county, state and federal law enforcement officials. I've been with the law boys as they've checked out all types of cases from lost children to murder. I've sat through all types of hearings and trials, including dozens of cases involving juveniles and beer and whiskey.

I simply believed the girls who wrote and told me they didn't know the boys had open cans of beer in the car when they were invited for a ride. Understand, I'm going by what the girls told me only and think if they were found guilty of having beer in their possession when they did-not realize beer was in the car, I wouldn't let the matter rest there.

That incident will long be rememberer by many adults and rather than have the girls branded as "wild," I think they should push their case. If I thought they were in the wrong, I'd want to be as tough as you. Our difference is simply a mater of personal opinion.

(Dan Halligan will be glad to answer questions submitted by teenagers and children. Send them to him. Dan Halligan, c/o Aldergrove News. For personal replies, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

KOLACHE, OLD-WORLD TREAT

The enchanting little filled buns known as Kolache are of Old World origin, coming originally from Czechoslovakia. They are made in a variety of shapes, of which the round pictured above is a favorite. They also feature a variety of fillings such as poppyseed, fruit and cheese mixtures. For the simplest filling, and the prettiest, use preserves — either your own prize homemade preserves or any of the excellents kinds you can buy.

KOLACHE

⅓ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons margarine or butter
⅓ cup warm, not hot, water
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
About 3 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon mace
⅔ cup preserves

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine or butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure water into large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, and 1½ cups flour. Beat until smooth. Stir in lemon rind, mace and remaining flour to make soft dough. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top of dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1¼ hours. Punch down; turn out on lightly floured board. Shape into roll 12 inches long. Cut into 12 equal pieces. Form each into smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheet 2 inches apart. Flatten slightly. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about ¾ hour. Press down center on each ball with fingers, leaving ¼-inch rim. Fill center with preserves. Bake at 375° F. about 30 minutes. If desired, frost, when cool, with confectioners' sugar icing. Makes 12.
