SUN STARTED TO SHINE AS PROCESSION BEGAN

A Good Omen Attended the Coronation of King George and Queen Mary—Singing of Loyal Crowds Outside the Palace Was Acknowledged in a Few Words by the King

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, June 23.—A happy augury attended the Coronation of King George and Queen Mary. For several hours while the crowds were assembling in the streets, the rain fell and the clouds were threatening. At one time it looked as though a downpour would take place.

As the time for the procession to start arrived, the weather improved, until at the very moment when their Majesties left Buckingham Palace the sun burst forth from the clouds, dispelling the clouds and the rain.

The Great Procession

The first portion of the procession consisted of the Royal and other representatives. All of them drove in closed carriages. The second portion of the procession, including the members of the British Royal family, came half an hour later. The Prince of Wales, in the Order of the Garter Robes accompanied his sister and brothers in the last carriage.

At 10.30 o'clock a Royal salute announced the departure of the King and Queen from the Royal Palace and as the most gorgeous of processions made its way through the troop-lined streets a great wave of cheering spread from one end of the route to the other.

A Crowd of Notables

A wonderful display of uniforms preceeded the Royal coach. Immediately behind the Royal coach Lord Kitchener rode beside the Standard; then came the Duke of Connaught, Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Duke of Teck, Prince Christian, and Prince Al-

RAPID WORK AT DIGBY ON NEW PROCESS PILING

Marine Station Yards Being Graded Fast—Fine Residence for Superintendent at Second Storey—Several Large Gangs of Men Can Be Employed Together Shortly

Under the direction of Mr. Thomas Stedham, the inventor of the Stedham process of making re-inforced concrete piles gangs of men are actively engaged at present preparing the first set of these piles to be made at the new Marine Station works at Digby Island. Mr. Stedham's process is very simple and swift. In a few hours on Wednesday a gang of about a dozen men had three piles ready framed for the concrete. From Mr. Stedham's experience the piles can be very speedily placed in position.

Other Work Progressing

Under the active supervision of Mr. F. P. Jennings, resident engineer, the work of grading the yard area, roadways, and residential sites is rapidly being accomplished. Excellent progress is shown upon the house for the superintendent of the station. This building designed by Mr. Jennings promises to rank easily amongst the most commodious and attractive residences erected in the Prince Rupert district.

Will be Big Gang Soon

Owing to the disposition of the works to be undertaken it will be possible to have several, in fact, almost all of the important parts of the work carried on simultaneously. This will mean that a large number of men can be employed together on the work, and the contract can be completed very expeditiously. Mr. Stedham has no intention of letting such an item as frost interfere with the making of the 200 odd piles required for the work. At the present rate of progress these will be all set long before the frost comes.

INDIAN BANDS WIN COMPLIMENT

Leading Orange Official in Toronto Regrets He Cannot Get Some for July 12th.

The Indian brass bands of Northern British Columbia have just had a very good compliment paid them. In accepting an article on the subject from the editor of the Daily News, Mr. William Banks, Sr., editor of the Globe Magazine and one of the leading officials of the Orange Order in Canada, writes, "I found the article so interesting, that I cannot help regretting the impossibility of bringing some of the bands here for the 12th of July. They would make a great sensation and a glorious show. I wish it could be arranged for some of them to be here for the July of 1912."

The Orangemen are said to have a theory that there's nothing too good to walk in the parade on the 12th. The compliment paid the Indian bands is a very sincere one.

CANNERIES OPEN

Started in Full Swing This Week

Business is now in full swing at the various canneries along the Skeena River. At the Inverness and North Pacific canneries the first catches of salmon this season were landed and canning began right away.

It is expected that the harvest of fish will be an exceptionally good one this year. Accordingly the canners have made preparations to put up serveral thousands of extra cases.

The opening up of the G. T. P. line, which runs alongside several of the plants, is going to help them in getting in supplies and also in shipping out some of their goods.

CITY'S FIVE THOUSAND PAID TO HOSPITAL FUND

Hon. Wm. Templeman Remembers the Hospital Too---President Expresses Appreciation---Printing of By-laws Awarded---New Water Tank to be Ordered--Ambulance Not Yet

Prince Rupert City has made good its promise through the city council and presented a cheque for $5000 to the Hospital Board to be devoted to hospital purposes. At yesterday's meeting of the Hospital Board held in C. D. Rand's offices, Second avenue, the Secretary, Mr. William Wright, reported the receipt of the cheque.

President D. G. Stewart expressed the appreciation of the Board of the civic contribution, and the secretary was instructed to write a letter of thanks to the Mayor and council.

Hon. Wm. Templeman Too

Another cheque which it gave the President much pleasure to have acknowledged was one for the sum of $50 from the Hon. William Templeman, M. P. Mr. Templeman who with characteristic thoroughness took a very great interest in the establishment of the General Hospital when he was here last, took care to leave his cheque with the secretary before leaving Prince Rupert. A letter of thanks will be sent him by the secreatry, and the Board expressed appreciation of the gift.

Printing the By-laws

Tenders for printing the new by-laws, revised by Mr. C. V. Bennett were opened. The successful tenderer is O. H. Nelson of the Journal Printing House. The bids were as follows:

O. H. Nelson, "The Journal," for 500 copies $39, for 1000 copies $59. P. R. Publishing Co, "Daily News," $42.50 and $62. "Empire" Publishing Co. $45 and $60. Premier Press $47 and $72.

Order Water Tank

A large storage tank for water is to be ordered at once to be erected beside the hospital for a safeguard against drought or frost. Mr. H. H. Clark has been making special investigations about these tanks for the House Committee. His experience has led him to recommend the selection of a specially lasting red-wood tank which is to be purchased down below at a cost of $136. The stand for the tank to rest on will be put up by days labor here. A tank constructed locally would not be such a profitable investment, it was decided.

Ambulance not Yet

No report on prices of ambulance has yet been brought in by the executive committee which is investigating this matter. Various minor matters were attended to at yesterday's meeting. There are altogether some nineteen patients in the hospital at present, and the secretary reported matters running smoothly and efficiently in spite of pressure of work on the staff which responds well to the demand for its services.

BABY'S LUCKY ESCAPE FROM SHOWER OF GLASS

Explosion Shattered Windows of Clapp Block and Fragments Fell Three Stories on to Pram—Mrs. Kugler's Baby Saved by Her Thoughtfulness

By the greatest of good fortune yesterday a tiny baby escaped painful injury when a spark from a burning root pile near the Clapp Block ignited a quantity of dynamite and caused a terrific explosion. The baby is Mrs. J. Kugler's. Mr. and Mrs. Kugler reside in the Clapp Block, and Mrs. Kugler was just going out for an airing with her baby in the pram. The awning of the pram was down as she put baby in, and Mrs. Kugler left her charge for an instant on the sidewalk while she returned to the doorway. Fortunately just before stepping into the doorway she raised the awning over the baby.

Shower of Glass

Scarcely was her back turned when the accident occurred. A spark fell into the dynamite left on the near grading work, a tremendous crash shook the whole building, and a perfect hail of broken glass came pattering down from the shattered upper windows of the Clapp Block. Mrs. Kugler darted back to her baby in the very midst of the shock as the glass came showering down. Jagged pieces fell around her and on to the pram awning, but thanks to the young mother's protective instinct the little one was quite safe shielded by the awning. Mrs. Kugler swiftly got her small treasure out of reach of any more bangs that might be coming.

Not Much Dynamite

Fortunately for the Clapp Block and its residents only a few last sticks of dynamite were in the case which exploded. Had a whole caseful gone off so near the reult would have been the wrecking of the whole building with perhaps loss of life. Greater care will be taken under strictest supervision of the police in future.

SERGT. PHILLIPSON RESIGNS FROM FORCE

Popular Officer Has Received Promotion From the Dominion Authorities—Will Enfore Law Among the Indians Up the Skeena River

Citizens of Prince Rupert will learn with regret that Sergeant "Pat" Phillipson, has resigned from the local police force. His excellent record as an officer, brought him to the notice of the Dominion authorities, and he has been appointed to act as constable in the Skeena river district under the Department of Indian affairs.

The position is a distinct promotion, and well-deserved. Few men, if any, are more popular in the city than Sergeant Phillipson. He has proved himself a capable officer, courteous and firm in enforcing the law. His pluck was evidenced during the strike, and he carried a bullet wound on his forehead received during the riot. His real name is Albert, but "Pat" fits in better with his rich brogue and the merry twinkle of his eyes.

Sergeant Phillipson's new district will extend from Prince Rupert to Hazelton. It is likely he will make his headquarters at Port Essington.

Mr. Norton Griffiths has already secured promises through his agents that the Dominion Government will grant a charter for the road, and work will commence at an early date. Mr. Griffiths and his associates are said to be greatly impressed with the agricultural future of the Peace River Valley and the British Columbia interior.

CORONATION HOLIDAY ENJOYED IN RUPERT

Loyal and Lively Young People Found Fun on the Launches and at the Beach—Patriotic Concert

Coronation Day in Prince Rupert was marked by no particular demonstration, but a general holiday was observed, and the day will be a memorable one for the host of young people who went on the numerous and church other picnic excursions planned. The weather was excellent.

Very large parties were conducted by launch over to Metlakatla under the auspices of the Baptist Church Brotherhood which has been so successfully organised by Rev. W. H. McLeod. The Presbyterians had a great time on the fine beach specially discovered for them by their energetic pastor Rev. F. W. Kerr, and the river steamer Inlander carried big parties of picnickers across the harbor.

Members of the Overseas Club made a special effort to mark the day as one of rejoicing, and the club held a most successful concert in the evening. A reception was also arranged in honor of the occasion across at the Digby Island Marine Station Works now in progress, and a number of persons enjoyed themselves there.

Private picnic parties went by launch to every conceivable beauty spot within a ten mile radius of Rupert, and with boating on the harbor, the less adventurous had a great good time.

Bunting fluttered from the Government flagstaff, and all the public buildings flew the Union Jack. An epidemic of red, white and blue ribbon gave the loyal feminine population (and some of the males, too) a festive and patriotic appearance. At night the boys had bonfires, not too big, of course, for ours is still a city of wooden buildings, and altogether the Coronation of King George Fifth will be remembered by Young Prince Rupert whose Coronation is still to come.

HOMER WOOD FACES CHARGE

Gilbert Thorne who told of the purchase of the revolver by the accused from the Prince Rupert Hardware Store. Ralph Fisher, engineer at the Cold Storage, told how he saw accused with the gun before the shooting and at the time, and Chief Vickers who gave evidence in relation to the letter written by accused to his wife, and other matters. The case was adjourned till this afternoon. The City Solicitor is conducting the case for the prosecution at present, and L. W. Patmore appears for Woods.

patrick that the adverse report sent in by Alderman Newton as chairman of the investigation committee, was by no means unanimously approved by the members of that committee. The other members refrained from signing it. Alderman Kerr said they did not know what to do about it and decided to let it go to council and be fought out. Alderman Douglas agreed only with the idea of retrenchment expressed in it. Alderman Newton condemned the department, and Alderman Morrissey supported him with the evident desire to have Mr. Lucas tried out as City Engineer.

Strong Opinions Expressed

Very strong opinions were expressed by Alderman Smith, and Alderman Hilditch of the way Colonel Davis had been attacked in Alderman Newton's report. Alderman Smith described the charges made as most unjust, and the fact that the report had been published in Alderman Newton's paper is considered a serious aggravation of the injustice.

"That unjust report," said Alderman Hilditch, "has gone through the medium of Alderman Newton's paper broadcast into places where the people don't know Alderman Newton as we know him, where the allegations made will have more weight than citizens of Prince Rupert will give them and will accordingly do Colonel Davis' reputation harm most unjustly."

This view was held also very strongly by Alderman Smith, who with twenty-seven years of experience on construction work himself, was ready to say confidently that Colonel Davis' work was good, and that Alderman Newton's attacks on him were misguided and unfair.

Blunderingly Sincere

Alderman Hilditch holds the opinion that Alderman Newton is sincere but that he simply does not know the first thing about the work of the department he attempted to reform. Certainly there was a distinct feeling of regret amongst the council that Alderman Newton should take up the position he did on Wednesday night. For his own part Alderman Newton expressed himself in these words addressed to the Mayor:

"I retire from the board with the kindliest feelings to yourself, and every member of this board, and only hope that my absence from the chamber may enable you to carry on your business without my interference."

Social Note

Mrs. G. R. Naden entertained pleasantly at Bridge on Wednesday evening. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bennett, Miss Brown, Miss Martin, Miss Ellot, Miss Johnstone, Mr. Peck, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Clancy, and Mr. Gamble.

Alderman Hilditch—"Pooh, I only wanted to give the committee something to do."

Great Pennyworth

"If Alderman Morrissey ever got it into his head that $8000 was to build all the retaining walls in this city, he has no right to be on this council."—Alderman Hilditch.

Morrissey's Big Bone

"Alderman Morrissey's big bone of contention seems to be that he is annoyed that the retaining walls are being built at $1.40 a yard instead of $5 by contractors."—Alderman Hilditch.

Not in Seattle

"You must have a competent waterworks engineer on the spot to supervise the waterworks."—Alderman Smith.

Pro Bono Publico

"It may be unfair to militate against the interests of Colonel Davis, but it is very fair of course, to militate against the interests of the people."—Alderman Newton.

Good Man

"It is to the interests of the people of Prince Rupert to retain Colonel Davis."—Alderman Smith.

Morrissey's Man

"The recommendation of the committee imposing responsibility on Mr. Lucas is a matter of the greatest pride to me."—Alderman Morrissey.

Hilditch's Challenge

Alderman Hilditch—"I will go right before the people of Prince Rupert tomorrow. We will both resign, and see whom the people think is doing most for the people's interests."

Alderman Newton—"I am willing. You can have my resignation after this is over."

Newton Feels Burked

"For a considerable time there has been a disposition to Burke my quiet attemopts to effect remedies of matters for which the old council was blamed, and which I believe we were sent into office to endeavor to change."—Alderman Newton.

Throws up Sponge

"My influence has been tried in a quiet way, and I have simply failed to effect these alterations. If my influence has done no good purpose, I have no desire to waste my time at this board. I have plenty business of my own to take up my time."—Alderman Newton.

From A to Zee

"From first to last there has been a disposition shown at this board to detract from my efforts"—Alderman Newton.

Newton no Czar

"I did not come into this council to try to further my own interests, nor to become a dictator, nor for the purpose of agreeing with everything done at this board."—Alderman Newton.

Wash His Hands of It

"I can see from tonight's doings that I might just as well have spared myself the effort to effect improvements."—Alderman Newton.

Newton's Sincerity

'The only thing I ever gave Alderman Newton credit for is his sincerity."—Alderman Hilditch.

How Hilditch Sees It

"I believe we have got our engineering department and public works department in as efficient a stage as we can get ever them. I would far rather resign now and get out of it than have these continual bickerings which are caused by Alderman Newton and Alderman Douglas and Morrissey."—Alderman Hilditch.

Discovered by Douglas

"Since I came into this council I have got busy and talked to the City Engineer. Everything I got from him was just the same as I got from Alderman Hilditch. It is a frame-up from start to finish. Alderman Hilditch has the City Engineer under his thumb."Alderman Douglas. (Greeted with loud applause and laughter).

Hand and Glove

"Alderman Hilditch is doing the whole thing and the City Engineer is backing him up. They are just working together hand and glove."—Alderman Douglas.

What Silent?

"I have sat at this board from the beginning of this year to the present time as a silent spectator."—Alderman Newton.

Council Acrobatics

"Alderman Hilditch has turned a complete somersault, and instead of his former kicking, he becomes champion of the whole system."—Alderman Newton.

A Little Abstruse

"I want to bring this head to an intelligent issue."—Alderman Newton.

Newton Sick of It

"In view of Alderman Hilditch's challenge, I beg to tender my resignation as member of the City Council of Prince Rupert, not because I want to go before the people again, but because I am sick of the whole business."—Alderman Newton.

City's Needs Neglected

"I believe that the city's interests are being absolutely neglected. There are combinations formed at this council to Burke an honest effort made to remedy existing evils."—Alderman Newton

No Use for Him

"Now that I see that one having the interests of the city at heart can do no good whatever, I desire to resign."—Alderman Newton.

No Ill Feeling

"I retire from this board with the kindliest feelings to Mayor and every member of this board, and only hope that my absence from the chamber may enable you to carry on your business without my interference."—Alderman Newton.

Hilditch Did It

"Had not Alderman Hilditch thrown out his challenge for us to go before the people I should not have taken this course, as it is I feel that I am too busy to campaign."—Alderman Newton.

"He Has His PaPer"

"As far as camapigning goes, Alderman Newton can have this all to himself. He has his newspaper. I have nothing."—Alderman Hilditch.

Newton Won't Hike

"I will not waste my time hiking over the streets of this city campaigning."—Alderman Newton

Mayor's Idea of It

"If Alderman Newton and Alderman Hilditch go together before the people I suppose they will both be returned and then the one that gets the most votes will be declared the winner."—The Mayor.

PREPARING FOR AN ELECTION

Parliamentary Post Office is Working at High Pressure in Readiness for a Call.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 23.—While it is by no means sure that a general election will be pulled off this fall, the government is busily preparing for such an eventuality. Campaign literature is being forwarded through the parliamentary post office at a record breaking pace. This is accepted as an indication that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is getting ready to take advantage of the occasion if an election should be forced on him.

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

THE BENEFITS OF WORK

Keeps the Whole Physique in Tune and Makes for Health

We often hear of the evils of overwork and overstrain and a good deal of pity is wasted upon people who have to work hard, while others enjoy perpetual leisure But there is another side to the picture, a side which shows the worker in an enviable light. A medical journal declares that people who work (especially the brain workers), and observe ordinary hygienic care of their bodies, resist disease better than the leisured classes, and when they are actually ill recuperate sooner than those who have lived less intellectual lives. The medical authority might also have added that the workers keep their youth longer. One has only to compare women like Ellen Terry and Sarah Bernhardt with the average idle rich woman of the same age for a proof of this. It is often said, and with some truth, that a woman ages sooner than a man. Maynot this also be due to the fact that man is more commonly a worker, and that the perpetual exercise of his intellectual faculties keeps him young?

THEY DON'T PLAY CARDS

Good Game for an Evening Party Instead of Card Games

For a game for those not playing cards and one to include many players, try "Words." Provide each player with pad and pencil. Choose a rather long word. Starting together, everyone sees how many words can be made out of the word, beginning with the first letter, using no letter twice, and allowing three to five minutes time.

The first reads his list and any word all have is struck out, each word being valued by its scarcity. If only one person has it he gets 8 marks, supposing that the number playing is 8. If 3 people have it, they get 5, estimated on the number who have not got it; if 2 have a word, they would count 6, and so on. Each totals up his winnings each time and also after all the letters are used up and prizes are given. If the word is very long it would be well to omit some letters.

Prizes for either lady or gentleman would be cup and saucer, napkin ring, vase, pack of cards, box of candy; for lady, jabot, handkerchief; for gentleman, card case, cigar holder, cane.

KINDRED SPIRITS SUPPLIED

Extraordinary League Instituted for Lonely Wives. Affinities to Order

Many fashionable ladies of Bucharest, Roumainia, have recently received invitations to join a society known as the "Women's International Free Love League." The league undertakes to put them into communication with kindred spirits who will supply the deficiencies of husbands who fail to understand the complex nature of their wives.

The league's motto is "Equal rights for all," and ladies are assured that the heads of the league will be in a position to put them into communication with their affinities. Ladies are asked to subscribe to the funds of the league whether they are in immediate need of its services or not, as it is impossible to know when such a need may arise.

A husband of one of the ladies who received the league's circular, put himself into communication with the police. The police traced the circulars to Milan, where it was discovered that a certain Hungarian and her Italian husband were the founders of the league. The woman, questioned by the police, said that the league had thousands of members in every country in the world. She explained that the consolation offered to the ladies was of an entirely spiritual nature and that her object was merely to supply the demand for sympathy caused by the brutal obtuseness of most husbands. The police decline to take any action against the league.

PLACING THE PICTURES

Pretty Way with Them in a Pretty Girl's Room

How to dispose of a great many small pictures without making too patchy a wall is a question that girls whose rooms are attractive have been obliged to spend a great deal of time in solving. The pictures should be framed uniformly, and if they are somewhat the same in character it is a good plan to group them together. A frieze of small pictures placed close together and extending across one wall space is a very good way of disposing of a number of pictures all of the same size. The pictures look well placed over a shallow shelf on which there are placed small vases and bits of bronze or brass which will give a color to the wall and a sharp and piquant note to the wall decoration.

The frieze, and indeed most pictures, should be hung above the line of the eye, considered from the average height. It is contended by some persons that they should not be hung lower than the line of the eye when standing, but when pictures are hung low enough to be in line with the eye when one is sitting the effect is very pleasant. It used to be the habit of the majority of people to hang pictures so high that one was obliged to stretch one's neck most uncomfortably to see them. but that fashion has happily gone by to a large extent.

THE CLIMAX IN THE COUNCIL

The resignation of Alderman Newton from the city council though without warning, did not come as a surprise. Perhaps no one but the alderman himself knows what an amount of self-restraint he has practised to keep peace within the council, and stave off the inevitable day when open disruption would ensue.

No man on the present council has given more sincere and unselfish service than has Alderman Newton. Possibly none was actuated by a stronger desire to effect retrenchments and give the citizens of Prince Rupert clean and honest government. Even those of his critics who have most fiercely assailed him, must admit his inherent sincerity. It was obvious that he could not for long stand pat with a council, selected mainly for party purposes.

That Alderman Newton is not always right in his conclusions—that he is more often wrong than right in his reasoning—is as true as his own sincerity. He possesses a fatal gift for hypnotising himself. Once he takes direction, there is small hope of altering his course. He hypnotised himself into believing that the late council were all incompetent if not dishonest, in the face of ample evidence to the contrary. Then he hypnotised himself into believing that Mr. Manson and all the gentlemen on the Manson political ticket were of transcendant ability, in the face of abundant evidence to the contrary. Nothing but the cold douche of seeing his engineering report recommendations voted down clause by clause has shattered his dream.

Alderman Hilditch having laid the trap to bring about Alderman Newton's resignation will be impelled by a sense of honor to hand in his own. With two seats thus rendered vacant, and a talk of two workingmen candidates being induced to run, the city has to face the liklihood that neither of the aldermen will be returned. Thus the council with very little accomplished will have to exchange two experienced aldermen for two inexperienced.

Nothing is to be gained either by the aldermen in question or by the city in such a contest, so lightly proposed and so lightly accepted. The issues would almost certainly be lost sight of. Now that Alderman Newton has wakened from the condition of auto-hypnosis, and commenced an independent policy in the council, his usefulness to the community has been greatly increased. If, as he alleges, there is "a frame-up," that is working against the best interests of the city, it is clearly his duty to remain in office and with such help as he can muster, combat and expose the "frame-up."

The whole incident emphasizes the need for abolishing the council system of civic government, and substituting a government by commission. With the city's control vested in a commission of three—an expert engineer, an expert financier and an expert business man, all holding their offices permanently during good behaviour—Prince Rupert would have a better chance to grow, and grow good. Nothing could be worse than the present system of having groups of party nurses fighting over the city's cradle.

The blame for not having a commission government does not rest on the citizens. It rests on Hon. Mr. Bowser who struck the clause out of our charter, and on Mr. William Manson our member, who permitted it to be done.

"It is a new thing, and unusual," said Mr. Bowser as he struck out the clause which would lift the city control out of party politics.

The fact is that commissions and Boards of Control, are neither new nor unusual. Mr. Bowser was merely ignorant of what is going on in the world.

It is time that the citizens got together, and setting aside party differences agreed that Prince Rupert should be governed by the most scientific and cleanest and most enlightened forms of government, instead of by an antiquated system, which Mr. Bowser in his ignorance, his prejudice, and his arrogance, would force on it for all time to come.

In the meantime, Alderman Newton would be well advised to reconsider his resignation. If he presses it, then the council should decline to accept it. It is flagrant trifling with the city's interests, for aldermen who have sought and obtained election, to discover after they have been in office for six months that they want to go to the people to settle personal disputes. It savors too much of a trick to get rid of one, who whether his contentions are right or whether they are wrong, is evidently a thorn in the side of other members of the council.

HOMER WOODS OUT ON BAIL

After Preliminary Hearing Accused Appeared before Judge Young and Elected to Have Speedy Trial. Bail Fixed at $3500

After the preliminary hearing of his case before Magistrate Carss which concluded yesterday afternoon, Homer Woods, charged with attempting to shoot Alex Mathieson, and to commit suicide, was brought before Judge Young. He elected for speedy trial, and was meanwhile released on bail of $3500

Woods has reserved his own statement of the case until he comes up for trial. When asked yesterday if he had anything to say in answer to the charge against him, he replied "No." L. W. Patmore is defending Woods, and City Solicitor Peters is conducting the prosecution.

Accused, who still wears the bandage on his head, looks quite collected and capable now, and seemed to take a live interest in the evidence and his conversation with his solicitor on his defence.

Evidence given at yesterday's preliminary hearing brought out the main points in support of the charge, viz., that Woods had obtained the gun and fired the shots. Woods' letter to his wife was produced. It indicates premeditation. The date of Woods' trial was not fixed at the time of writing.
