BRITAIN— CALLS TO CANADA—

THE FACTORY THE FARM

She must have Food—

for her Armies in the Field—for her Workers in the Factory—in the Munition plant—in the Shipyard—in the Mine.

THERE'S DANGER IN SIGHT—BUT YOU CAN HELP

DO YOU KNOW—
that the rapidly rising price of food stuffs means that the World's reserve supply is getting small?

DO YOU KNOW—that a world-wide famine can only be averted by increasing this supply?

DO YOU KNOW—
that a "food famine" would be a worse disaster to the Empire and her Allies than reverses in the Field?

YOU CAN—
help thwart Germany's desperate submarine thrust on the high seas.

YOU CAN—
do this by helping to make every bit of land in Canada produce—the very last pound of food stuffs of which it is capable.

AND REMEMBER—that no man can say that he has fully done his part—who having land—be it garden patch, or farm, or ranch—fails to make it produce food to its utmost capacity.

"BRITANNIA"

Hang high thy banner, England,
Fling it world-wide to the breeze,
Proclaiming on every hand
Thou art mistress of the seas.

Strike for the weak, brave England,
For those who on bended knees
Are praying for thy helping hand,
Oh, mistress of the seas.

Mistress of the Seas.

So shall thy glory greater grow,
Thy people's love increase,
Thy fame yet more brightly glow,
Mighty mistress of the seas.

" The Freedom of the Seas claimed by Germany - the freedom to drown men and women by submarine - is not the freedom we claim to possess."

THE TENDERFOOT

(Abridged)

Canada's Hero in Homespun

By Charles E. Sands

They tell of British heroes on A.rica's sun-burned veldt
Who fight all day and guard all night, with tightened cartridge belt.
They kept the old flag flying; they painted red the map,
But the hero that I sing of is a different kind of chap.
He comes to learn "the rawnching;" he thinks he knows a lot;
He's English, very English, but he often hits the spot.
He comes to "show the natives" in the last unlimbered West,
But "the natives" do the showing ,and perhaps you'll guess the rest.

He takes the situation with a grim, good-humored "haw,"
And soon learns how to swing the axe, and how to wield the saw.
The hands that once were strong and white and never had to work,
Grow brown and firmer every day; he's never known to shirk.
He used to go to bed at dawn, and rise late after noon;
He now goes to his bunk at dusk, and daylight comes too soon,
For he is cook and chore-boy, too, and has to make the mush,
Cook flap-jacks, plum-duff, Boston beans and coffee they call "slush."

* * * * *

He learns and thinks; he fights and wins and in the sturdy West
His name is spoken with respect by those who know him best,
Who love him for his work well done, his worth and kindly strength,
And give the patient Tenderfoot a strong man's place at length.
His former "boss" who broke him in, and set him on his way,
Now comes to him on how to make his farming pay.
He brings his younger brother out; makes pretty May his wife,
And says he finds what most men miss—his Paradise in life.

We're proud of England's soldiers—the khaki and the red
Stir our blood and win our praise, but let it here be said
That our Canadian hero who has made the wilderness
Yield wheat and gold and cattle, is worth a toast no less.
Stand up! Fill glasses! Three times three for the gallant Tenderfoot
Who breaks the sod and clears the scrub and pulls the stubborn root,
Who wars with storm and cold and flood, 'gainst famine, wind and fire,
And wins, by virtue of his blood to his own hearts' desire.

OUR HISTORIE.

As Recorded by one "Francis" of the C. M. C.

(Extracts from "The Sling.")

Continued.

And it fell that on a certain day in August, 1916, that the Field Ambulance did strike camp before the sun was up and we came unto a great seaport and did here take ship with many other soldiers, and with horses and mules, and with motor ambulances and with horse ambulances, and with G. S. Wagons and limbers. And great and marvelous was the order and system thereof. There was no confusion. And the ship set sail and upon the morning of the next day did make anchorage in a port at the mouth of a mighty river in France.

And here we tarried yet a few days and did then proceed unto the firing line in Belgium, made glorious and sacred unto us because of the heroic fights of our fellow Canadians.

And upon this firing line we took our part and did make good in the eyes of our masters.

And lo! again we were ordered to proceed, this time to fiercer fields of conflict.

After many days' march, and nights spent in cow stables and other strange places did we reach a place nigh unto the firing line, where raged a great battle.

Here once again did we enter the field, but of our deeds we speak no more.

New ye in Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, and elsewhere who shall read these lines of your scribe, have patience and forebearance and be fair in your criticism, for such are written in a captured German dug-out in the bowels of the earth, "Somewhere in France," to which fair country may there still come to pass the peace for which she fighteth so valiantly.

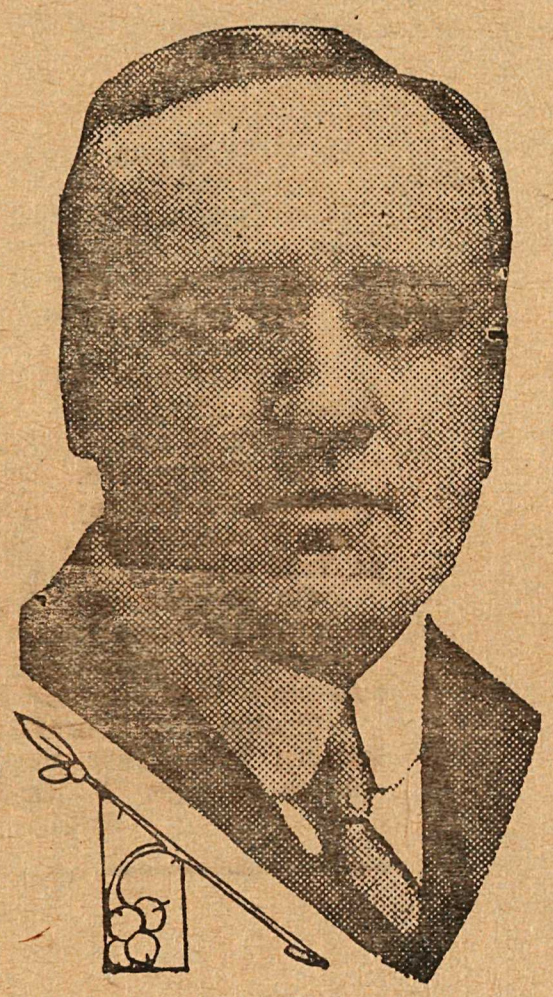
BRITISH BULLDOG VS. POMERANIAN.

A Scotch sentry had considerable trouble with a batch of German prisoners of war. On being reprimanded one of the latter, drawing himself up to his full height, exclaimed: "Don't you know I vos a Pomeranian?"

"It disna matter if ye were a Newfoundland," was the answer; "ye've got tae gie in tae the British Bulldog."

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

Sure a little bit of heaven fell from out the sky one day,
And it landed in the ocean, in a spot of mud and clay;
When the government found it, sure it looked so neat and rare,
They said suppose we leave it, and make a camp right there.
Then they dotted it with Canucks just to make the mud pies grow,
It's the only place you'll find them, no matter where you go.
Then they sprinkled it with raindrops, just to make it nice and damp,
And when they had it finished sure they called it Bramshott Camp.



Ex-Premier W. J. Bowser
Leader of the Opposition in the House at Victoria.

THE ORIENTAL INVASION.

We respectfully advise all white citizens of British Columbia to carefully digest the following:

"Before the war and the financial depression, there was a Chinaman to every seven white men in this province. After the war started, and a large number of our brave lads joined the colors, the ratio went up to one in five. Now, with more white men having gone overseas, the ratio is one yellow man to every three and a half male inhabitant in British Columbia."—Burnaby Courier.

CANADA CARES FOR HER DISABLED.

Military Hospital Commissioners Considering White Rock, B. C., For Convalescent Soldiers.

Continued.

"Beating the devil's tattoo with deft fingers all over the bared chest of Corporal Jones, Dr. Byers presently orders bed, and more bed, for the disabled soldier. That means to say he is a 'Class A' patient.

WHAT TREATMENT DOES.

"After two weeks of complete rest, his temperature taken every four hours, eating three hearty meals and drinking three pints of milk per day, the corporal is allowed to trade his bed for a comfortable canvas chair. Now he lies all day on a verandah, a class B patient, and has ample leisure to admire the bold, wooded hills rising up against the horizon, and the lovely lake beneath, in which the mountains are reflected as in a mirror. All day long be breathes in the health-giving Laurentian air, the best possible balm for sick lungs.

"Two months pass away, and now this soldier is a different man. He has lost the languor that he brought to the mountains. He becomes restless and envies the boys 'on exercise.' His weight, recorded regularly, has increased by 16 pounds.

"He comes up for examination, and on this occasion Dr. Byers is able to give him two excellent things: First, fifteen minutes' excercise, morning and afternoon, and, secondly, the splendid news that in their battle against tuberculosis, the lungs of Corporal Jones have delivered a severe check on the hostile bacilli; in fact, have actually commenced to drive the enemy out of the invaded territory.

"So now, every day, Corporal Jones puts on his puttees, grips his cane, and walks leisurely up and down and around the gloriously-garmented hills, and feels, after the prison of the chair, that a new heritage of life and liberty has been vouchsafed him.

"Every week, since all things testify to his making excellent progress, his exercise is prolonged by fifteen minutes, until at last he has four hours daily.

EDUCATION IN WORKSHOP.

"And now we must mention one very important feature of his stay at the Laurentide Inn. This sanatorium has the distinction of being the first military sanatorium in Canada to build a workshop for its patients, to convert the usually irksome period of convalescence into a healthy course of education and training.
