AROUND TOWN

By DON ANSON

Last Wednesday I drove into Langley from Aldergrove and was disgusted with the performance of my chariot. Sluggish, dull, noisy, etc. At Langley I found out I was still in second gear. And we talk about women drivers!

Cor Hunenstyn of Aldergrove Cleaners thinks in terms of the past, present and future.

I heard him say to a customer on Friday, "If you bring it in yesterday evening you can have it ready today."

Once again the flower box outside Findlay Medical has been overturned and several plants pulled from other boxes. How mean and stupid can some people get?

There has been a tremendous run here on "No Hunting" signs. One large farm took 75. It is easy to see that we are rapidly becoming a huge game preserve here. I saw six deer last week and they looked very happy about things in general. Sig Sater reminds people that ponies have not got white tufts on their tails.

Someone on Boundy Road was so impressed with the colors in the new fire hydrants that he decorated one with flowers.

A local painter mislaid a pot of paint over the week end. Someone was quick to ask "I wonder where the yellow went?"

Watch out, folks! This is the season for chain letters. It's incredible how many people think they are going to make money more quickly or think there will be bad luck if the chain is broken. The only bad luck comes to the organizer.

Slim Sorenson had trouble with the water meter at Aldergrove Hotel last week so to make certain it was working correctly he laid himself down on the ground to study it. In no time an elderly gentleman came up and asked Slim if he could help him to his feet. And they say the age of chivalry is dead!

Just in case you didn't know, the speed limit on Trans Canada from Fry's Corner to King George Highway has been increased from 40 to 45 m.p.h. and that from Cloverdale to Latimer Road from 40 to 50 m.p.h.

High School Uses $6,066 Electricity In Full Year

Cost of electricity at Aldergrove and Langley High Schools is a matter under study by School Trustees.

From May 50 until April 61 the cost of power consumed in Aldergrove High School was $6,066. Savings of approximately $1,600 per year could be realized by purchasing power on a meter basis suggests B.C. Electric Co. However, in order to qualify for this rate it would be necessary to make some minor changes with transformers.

Langley High School used $7,012 of power during the same period and a change to primary metering there would save approximately $2.200. Costs for making the changeover at Langley would be considerably higher.

Anthony Holland For Night School Drama Course

Langley Players have been able to obtain the services of an outstanding teacher for the Drama course starting at Langley Central Activity room on Tuesday October 17.

Anthony Holland is a former director of Bristol Old Vic and is well known on the Lower Mainland for his fine achievements with the trainees at Haney Institute.

The course will run in conjunction with Langley Night School and will be held for at least ten sessions.

In view of Holland's fame as producer and teacher of drama, it is expected that these classes will be well attended and interested persons are advised to enrol as early as possible.

POLICE CORNER
PROWLERS HIDING IN TREE

An urgent call to Livingstone Road Police Station early on Monday morning claimed there were prowlers on Jackman Road, outside a house near the naval station.

R.C.M.P.'s surrounded the house quickly (both of them), but could see nothing at ground level. They kept looking and were eventually rewarded when they found the guilty prowlers, all four of them, up a tree. At the sight of the uniforms the four coons deemed discretion the better part of valour and had climbed the nearest tree.

Three Injured As Cars Crash

An accident early Sunday morning on Trans Canada near Livingstone Road resulted in slight injuries to three persons.

Elmer Heide, Vancouver, was travelling west and his car came in collision with another traveling east driven by an Aldergrove juvenile.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Heide suffered cuts and bruises and were taken to Langley Memorial Hospital. They were released next day.

Damage to the two vehicles amounted to $1,800.

Chimny Fire Burns Roof

A chimney fire at Gordon Vanetta's home on County Line, Monday mid-day, set fire to the roof of the house before members of Aldergrove Volunteer Fire Department were able to get it under control.

The fire was reported by William Epp who was passing at the time and he phoned the fire department. Although the house was occupied at the time it was not realized that the chimney was belching fire and smoke.

FRED MINER has recently joined the staff here as a printer. He comes from Merritt and will shortly be bringing his wife down to live in Aldergrove. Besides printing Fred is keenly interested in woodworking. News Photo

Following a long distance call from Merritt Tuesday morning Fred was handing out cigars and putting out twice the amount of work— he is now the proud father of a baby daughter.

A.H.S. Now Overcrowded

Heavy enrollment at Aldergrove High School has raised the total number of students to 644 from just under 600 last year.

Already it is almost impossible to accept more students particularly into Grade 9 where one late arrival has recently been transferred to Langley High School.

Some thought is being given to renting of extra accommodation for students in the Anderson School area where double shifts are now in progress.

Langley School Board has not yet announced whether another referendum for school building will be presented in December. The last referendum was narrowly defeated by 10 votes.

I SAW

Each week this paper offers a prize for the best humourous or unusual happening or incident any of our readers experience. It is called the "I Saw" contest and the winner each week receives two tickets donated by Hillcrest Drive-In Theatre and each month, for the best of the month, two Chinese dinners donated by the Aldergrove Hotel Cafe.

"We had a big Holstein cow a few months ago among our herd. We used milking machines, but one evening my young son, then aged 13, was anxious to get through his chores to join his two pals, Peter Voigt and Gerry Wozencroft, in a ball game, so decided to milk this Holstein by hand while the machines were busy on the other cows.

I found Doug on one side of the cow milking two teats while Pete and Gerry were on the other side each milking one teat. It made a funny sight and Bossy didn't seem to mind at all".

CANADA'S DISGRACE

It is a highway 5,000 miles long, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

On both sides of the highway, on lots 100 feet apart, there are homes, an eighth of the homes of Canada.

These are the homes which have been struck by fire.

At every mile of the highway, there is a cairn for the dead.

More than 500,000 homes destroyed or damaged by fire! More than 5,000 victims of fire!

Since the birth of Canada? No. Only in the last 10 years.

The lesson for Fire Prevention Week, and every week: Keep off this highway, by not giving fire a place to start in your home.

OUT WITH THOSE RAZORS!

Why is it that women in this country, as in nearly all countries, go out of their way to make themselves attractive while a large percentage of their menfolk think nothing of going about unshaven?

Shaving costs so little in time and money that it would seem either that men feel no disgrace in presenting a hirsute ugliness to the world or they feel it is a front for manliness.

One cannot believe that any woman would advocate retention of a sandpaper chin by her spouse, as it can play havoc with a delicate skin Neither can the possession of a rough covering of capillary appendages be considered as protection against the sun or the cold.

Let's face it men. If women wanted, they could easily put an end to this manly procrastination. "No meal for you until you are presentable", as a female cry, could soon put an end to this modern day trend.

Report from Parliament Hill

By W. A. McLennan, M. P.

The bill respecting the construction of a railway line in the Province of Alberta and the Northwest Territories, by the Canadian National Railways, from a point near Grimshaw in the Province of Alberta running in a northerly direction to Great Slave Lake, in the Northwest Territories has been given third and final reading in the House. This road will open up a brand new empire, rich in minerals, timber, oil and gas as well as thousands of square miles of rich farm land. When we came down here a few years ago the proposal was to build this road by the eastern route or what is known as the waterways route. With wonderful support from the Chamber of Commerce in British Columbia and the Provincial Government, we were able to convince the Federal Government to set up a royal commission to investigate both routes. In their report of July 1960, they recommended the western route. In building this railway from Grimshaw, will enable our Pacific Great Eastern Railroad to connect up with it.

It will shorten the distance by nearly 400 miles to the west coast and make it much more economical to ship the products of the farms, mines and forests to the lower mainland and the ports of New Westminster and Vancouver.

I am very pleased that approval in principle has been given to a three million training plan for the Fraser River River to be carried out by the Department of Public Works. When this development takes place it will enhance the shipping facilities of the river ports and I look forward to the day when we will have deep sea shipping up as far as Mission City.

As this is being written we are getting prepared to wind up the longest session of Parliament in Canadian history. It is expected the next session will open in the early part of December.

"I SAW" RUNNERS-UP

The two stories which gained second place in this weeks "I Saw" column were the following:

A friend of ours was fishing one day recently and not paying particular attention to anything when she suddenly got a heavy strike. It was a big fish all right an 8 lb. Cohoe. It so happened she had a large pin in her pants and in the exertion of pulling in the fish the pin broke and it was a case of hold her pants or lose the fish. She dropped her pants and landed the fish. Luckily, she had two pairs of pants on.

Wilma Orwick. Aldergrove

I saw this happen a few years back and we often laugh about it even now, though it might have been tragic.

I came from England to this country to live out in the bush country. My husband was a bush-wacker and I'd been told that there were wild animals in that part of the country, so being a little scared, I got a big dog. My husband put up 25 feet of clothes-line wire and hooked the dog up on a chain to the line. This kept him at home and gave him a little freedom.

Well, my husband got word that my son-in-law had had an accident with a team of horses while hauling water a mile away. He quickly went to the barn, got on a horse and galloped past the house. He cut the clothes line clean in two with his neck. After two hours he came back and had a nasty red line around his neck. This lasted for a long time.

NATURE'S SCRAPBOOK

LARGEST ELK HERD

Elk once ranged over a great part of the northern two-thirds of this continent. By the turn of the century, however, their stamping grounds had contracted to about a third of their original proportions. Contrary to what one might reasonably expect, the largest herd of elk in the world today is to be found not in Canada but in the State of Wyoming. The satisfaction gained from this distinction may be offset to some extent by the fact that the game department is confronted with a winter feed bill that makes it not only the largest but the most expensive elk herd extant.

Tourism Booms For B.C.

"British Columbia's booming tourist industry chalked up a substantial 14.5% increase over last year in American motorists crossing the border this past spring and summer," the Honourable Earle C. Westwood, Minister of Recreation and Conservation, said Thursday. The increase is more than double the 6.1% registered for all of Canada up to the end ofAugust.

Wider promotion by the B.C. Government Travel Bureau, a Government grant of $50,000 to stimulate regional promotions and the opening of B.C. House in San Fransisco supplementing the establishment of a federal travel office there were credited by the Minister with the increases registered throughout the summer.

During the month of August, 13.2% more U.S. motorists visited British Columbia than during the same month last year while the all-Canada increase reached only 3.9% for that month. The total number of traveller's vehicle permits issued at border points to August 31 was 327,141. representing nearly 1,000,000 visitors by car from the United States, and this category makes up only 75% of the total number of tourists entering the province.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

In this season of Thanksgiving most Canadians can find something for which to be thankful.

Fortune may have smiled on some of us less brightly than on others, but even so, this year may have been better than the last.

For victims of muscular dystrophy, however, each year is worse than the last. As if they were under some evil spell, these persons find the substance of their leg and arm muscles slowly and mysteriuosly changing from muscle tissue into fat. Medical science is desperately trying to discover why such a thing should happen, for the tragedy of MD is heightened by the fact that it mostly affects children.

To help its research scientists, The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada needs every available bit of information on the incidence of MD in Canada—including the ages of the victims, and the type of MD that afflicts each of them.

We urge your readers therefore to bring every confirmed or suspected case of MD to the attention of your local MDAC chapter or fire department, or to our main office in Toronto. Not only will this information serve to speed our research programme, but its reporting will enable us to extend our many services to these victims and their families.

Yours very truly,
David Green, M.D.
1st Vice-President

Writing a book column is like eating peanuts. The more one writes about books, the more one reads and find things of interest about which to write. So, today's column will ramble on with not too much continuity between items. I only hope it turns out to be as interesting as it is disjointed.

Herman Wouk's Pulitzer Prize winning "The Caine Mutiny" is available again in a paper edition (Doubleday, 95c). After rereading it, I am more than ever impressed by Wouk's ability to bring characters alive. His graphic portraits of people caught in a net of circumstances concerning a most unusual warship complement, a story of human frustration that loses none of its suspense in a second reading. It is indeed a good novel.

These are two non-fiction books I like so much I'm often accused of owning stocks in the company that publishes them. Both are published by Pan Books at 50c. They are "Boldness Be My Friend", by Richard Pape and "The Dam Busters" by Paul Brickhill. Rather than bore you with my loud praises, I will quote from other reviews.

Of "Boldness Be My Friend", the Manchester Guardian said: "One of the most remarkable escape-books of the Second World War. It is a story of amazing diversity and of sheer, desperate courage unmatched in the annals of escape."

"The Dam Busters", the story of the 617 squadron of the R.A.F., which was formed early in 1943 for one special job and, thanks to its success, was retained as a unit and used for other equally perilous missions was the first Pan book to sell over one million copies. Hugh Dundas of the Daily Express said of it: "In all the history of arms there is no finer epic".

Mystery fans will be happy to see John D. MacDonald's latest book "Where is Janice Gantry"? (Gold Medal, 35c). Continuing his easy reading style with a rapid pace and just enough romance, MacDonald has come up with another better-than-average popular mystery yarn. While some may think (as I would) hero Sam Brice's discovery of the missing car a little too fortuitous and his escape from the villians, a little too improbable, the author's skill in storytelling more than makes up for the deficiences.

Cost of living note: Dill's 18th printing of "Peyton Place" is up in price to 75c.

Orderly Planning Urged for Langley Municipality Now

Some startling figures and facts were presented to members of the Aldergrove Chamber of Commerce recently when Nigel Richardson spoke on the future of Langley Municipality and the need for Council to take immediate measures on limitation of subdivisions within its boundaries.

Nigel Richardson, planning officer for the Lower Mainland Regional Planning Board, discussed the growth of Langley from its early days and showed that despite its possession of the first capital of B.C., only 5,500 lived in it by 1931. By 1941 Langley's population grew by over 40% to nearly 8,000 and between 1941 and 1951 nearly 60% to 12,300. Then, said Richardson, the growth slowed and in the following five years was only 17%, about 2,000 newcomers. He estimated the present population at 15,000 for the Township and 2,500 for the City.

The Township, despite a fairly rapid rate of growth, is still a rural municipality emphasized Richardson, with most of its people farmers or serving farmers in one way or another. In about 120 square miles, he said, live only half the number of persons in the City of New Westminster.

Having told members about the past, Richardson then spoke on the drastic changes expected on the opening of the new T.C. Highway in two years' time. "From a quiet rural municipality with a farming population, Langley will become increasingly suburban and a part of the Greater Vancouver community", he said.

He pointed out that with the opening of the Patullo Bridge the population of Surrey had quadrupled in 20 years from 14,800 to 70,000 and the population of Richmond had likewise quadrupled from 10,400 to 42,600 with an increase of 70% in the last five years during which the Oak Street Bridge opened.

On this basis, said the planning officer, Langley Township might well have a population of 30,000 in ten years' time and 60,000 by 1981, most of whom would be suburbanites.

Even assuming this rate of growth, he continued, "All the newcomers in the next ten years, with their parks, schools, churches, stores, etc., would not need to take up more than 1,500 acres of land or less than 2% of the area of the township."

Most of these, said Richardson, could be accommodated within the Aldergrove and Ft. Langley community plan areas.

He pointed out that there were actually 17,000 acres in Langley, about one fifth of its total area, better suited to urban development than to agriculture with poor soils but good foundations, drainage and water supplies. This, he said, could accommodate the next 30 to 40 years' population growth with figures doubling every ten years.

Richardson then went on to show why it is folly to allow good farmland to be subdivided and unwise to throw open even poor farmlands to subdivision, permitting a repetition of North Surrey's sprawl with subdivisions scattered at random over dozens of square miles. This, he said, imposes an impossible burden on municipal and school board budgets.

"The idea that new residential development is a tax asset is a fallacy", he went on. "This doesn't mean it's a bad thing, it obviously helps local business people. etc., but it doesn't bring taxes down". He asked members to compare the mill rate of Sumas or Pitt Meadows, typical rural areas, with that of Burnaby or North Vancouver.

But when subdivisions run wild as in Surrey, so that services have to be spread over many miles to provide for houses that could have been built in one small corner of the municipality, the situation becomes impossible, said Richardson, and added "this is the root of Surrey's present problems."

The only answer to the problem, he went on, is orderly, controlled development. New suburban areas should concentrate at one or two points and expand gradually from them.

This would mean municipal control and the council must be prepared to define quite small areas in which small-lot subdivision is permissible and refuse to allow it elsewhere.

A special meeting is being called by Council to discuss this important business on October 11 when representatives of organizations will be invited to attend.

Minor League Banquet And Dance, Oct. 14

The New Party Elects Officers

September 9 was the date chosen by the Delta constituency for the annual meeting of the New Democratic Party which took place in the Cloverdale auditorium at 2 p.m.

After luncheon, each sponsor and candidate spoke for an allotted time, after which Returning Officer Walter Johnson took the chair and Alderman Doug Stout spoke. C. C. F. Leader Bob Strachan introduced the Hon. T. C. Douglas, Premier of Saskatchewan, the main speaker.

There was scarcely standing room despite the fact that Premier Douglas had already addressed the group four times earlier in the day.

We Salute the Fine Men of our FIRE DEPARTMENT DURING FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Next week has been proclaimed Fire Prevention Week throughout Canada.

Fires in Canada in the last ten years have taken 5,477 lives, and wasted more than a billion dollars of property. This is in the heart of the Proclamation to 18 million Canadians, designating October 8-14 as Fire Prevention Week.

Fire prevention education begins in the home, Canada's 57,000 fire fighters believe. It's in the home that three-quarters of all fires happens and fire deaths occur.

MAN YOU'RE TROUBLE DUE

Fire facts show that smoking in bed is the Canadian male's downfall, while stoves and furnaces are the killer of women and children.

During the 1950's, of the 152 people burned to death in bed, 106 were men. The other careless smokers included 44 women and even two children.

Fiery clothing touched off by a hot stove or furnace killed 294 women and children, but only 87 men.

In the past 10 years, the words "we left them alone for only a few minutes." were sobbed 156 times. Each one meant the death of a helpless child.

Some birthday parties brought grief instead of joy when frilly dresses touched flickering candles. A total of five children are buried today because someone let them too near deadly candles and torches.

The 74 Canadians who used kerosene and fuel oils to kindle fire died in the inferno they had not planned. Twenty-seven of them were children.

THE COST

Estimates of the cost of fire protection to citizens of Canada:

Fire department annual operations— $65,000,000.

Capital equipment, buildings etc.— $225,000,000.

Citizens also paid (1960) $213.6 millions in earned fire insurance premiums.

This was a new record for fire insurance protection in Canada, comparing with $198.7 millions in 1959.

Against the 1960 premium total of $213.6 millions, the figure for loss claims (including adjusting expenses) was $120.9 millions, or a loss ratio of 56. 3%.

Fraser Project Gets Underway

First step to opening up the Fraser River has been approved in principle by Ottawa.

W. A. McLennan, M.P., has announced a three million dollar plan for reducing annual maintenance dredging required for the river and for enlargement of a section of the Fraser River ship channel leading to the Port of New Westminster.

McLennan stated that this development would be the first phase in making the Fraser River one of the most important year round inland seaways in the world and a fulfillment of a 60 year dream of the people of the Lower Fraser Valley.

USE THE WANT-ADS

Suggests Culvert Is Dangerous

Concern regarding a source of danger to children at Milner School has been expressed by supervising principal R. S. Price in a letter to the School Trustees.

The entrance and exit to the culvert which extends under the school creates a hazard, said Price. The flow of water through the culvert is copious and swift during heavy rains and the entrance is fairly deep and contains broken pieces of concrete, he continued, and recommended that the entrance be covered by the Municipal Council and that the School Board build a solid board fence around the culvert.

ALDERGROVE WEATHER STATION

October 1	63°	36°

Maximum—65°-66°
Minimum—42°-43°
Precipitation—0.83"

Cool air moving down from Alaska has given us much below normal temperatures since Sept. 19th.

The maximums on Thursday and Saturday were fourteen degrees below normal. In the past nine years only one September day was cooler (Sept. 24th, 1958, had a high of only 49°). This has resulted in the month being the coolest September to date at this station, and at least the coolest since 1941 at other stations.

The mean temperature, 54.1°, was 2.3° below normal. The mean minimum, 41.6°, a record low, was 3.3° below normal. Temperatures ranged from a high of 83° on the 13th to a low of 30° on the 29th. Six nights had frost (also a record) and eight others had ground frost.

Precipitation totalled 1.90 inches, 52% of the average 3.67 inches. Twelve days had measurable rain (average 10), and fifteen days were sunny (just average).

Our warmest and driest September was in 1957, with a mean temperature of 60.2°. and only 1.13" of rain.

Former Prairie residents would be interested in the abnormally low temperatures recorded at the end of September in the Agricultural areas of the Prairies. Since the lowest occurred Saturday morning they were not reported in the daily papers.

A low temperature of only 4° was recorded at Prince Albert September 30.

The 75 year record for September at that location was 9°.

At the Regina airport the mercury fell to 7°. Their lowest September reading was 3° reached in 1934. The only other occasions when their September temperature fell below ten degrees were in 1893 and 1928 with low reading of 9°

Other cool spots on the 30th were Moose Jaw 9°, Swift Current 15°, North Battleford 16°, and Saskatoon 17°.

Prince Albert had 16 frosts in the month, Calgary had 14, while Aldergrove had 6.

Winnipeg Airport recorded 21° on the 28th. Only five times in 87 years have they had a lower September minimum. Their record is 17° set in 1890.

A. T. Brooks Is Re-elected

With a complete slate of new teachers in the County Line School this year, Mr. Robert McCubbin, supervising principal for the Aldergrove Region, was invited to attend a P.T.A. meeting and he introduced the new teachers. G.R. Eldridge, formerly of Sperling School, is the head teacher and the staff members are J. Babchuk, Miss B. Campbell and Mrs. A. Hodgson.

During the course of the meeting the election of officers was held and A. T. Brooks was returned by acclamation for another term of office. Mrs. Cliff Davidson was elected vice- president; Mrs. David Simpson was returned as secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ralph Parish is membership chairman; social conveners are Mrs. J. Regier and Mrs. Boyce; program- Mrs. Hodgson and Mrs. Nels Oss; health- Mrs. L. Bird; Council representatives are Mrs. Phil Reddicopp and Miss Campbell.

The giving of awards to the highest graded pupils at the June examinations came under discussion, as did the procuring of games for the classrooms during the winter months. Parents have been asked to donate or lend games they have at home which are not being used.

After introducing the new teachers Mr. McCubbin gave an outline of his duties as Supervising Principal.

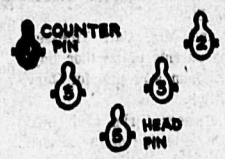
HOW TO BOWL FIVEPINS

by Bert Garside and Jim Hoult
Chief Bowling Instructors
Double Diamond Advisory Council

HOW TO KEEP SCORE

It's astonishing how many people go bowling fairly regularly, but still don't know how to keep score. Every bowler ought to know how to keep score. If you don't know how, you can't play properly.

There used to be a confusing variety of scoring methods, used in different parts of the country. The confusion has now been ended, and the "National Count" is officially accepted everywhere in Canada. The diagram shows the scoring value of the pins:



Behind every two lanes, you'll find a score stand and pad of scoresheets supplied by the bowling centre. Though a completed scoresheet may look complicated at first sight, scoring is actually quite simple.

A bowling game consists of 10 frames, represented by one line on the scoresheet. In each frame, you're allowed three balls— unless you manage to knock down all the pins with fewer. In the last frame, you must always roll three balls.

Under the "National Count", if only the headpin is standing after two balls, you must roll the third ball. Some old systems, in which the headpin had less value, conceded this pin to you if you had knocked down all the rest. This no longer applies in 5-pin bowling.

You score the value of the pins you knock down with three balls in each frame. However, the left corner pin— the counter-pin- must be knocked down in each frame. If it left standing, this is called a "blow", and you get no score for that frame.

Symbols of Success—and Failure

To keep track of exactly what you bowled each frame, and what bonus points you are entitled to, a number of symbols are used:

STRIKE — If you knock down all the pins with your first ball, this is a 'strike' You don't bowl the remaining two balls in this frame. For the frame, you score 15 points, plus a bonus of the pins you knock down with the next two balls you bowl when your turn comes again. You mark an "X" in the small square in the upper right hand corner of the the frame.

SPARE — When you knock down all the pins with two balls, this counts 15 points, plus a bonus of the pins you knock down with the next ball you bowl when your turn comes again. For this, mark an oblique stroke "/" in the small square at the top of the frame.

HEAD-PIN — When your first ball picks out the No. 5 pin only, you designate it a "head-pin" and mark it 'H".

SPLIT — When the No. 5, and one of the No. 3 pins are bowled down on the first ball, this is a split, marked "S".

CHOP-OFF — When the No. 5 pin, and the No. 3 and No. 2 on either side are bowled down on the first ball, mark this "CO".

FOUL — When any part of the bowler's body touches the lane beyond the foul line, this is a foul. At the end of the game, 15 pins are deducted from the score. Mark an "F" in the frame.

ERROR — When the first ball is delivered you can put a dot in the small square. When the second ball is delivered, you can put a horizontal line in the same square. This indicates an "error" by not bowling either a strike or a spare.

BLOW — When the counter pin is not bowled down, there is no score for that frame. It is marked by a double diagonal line through the frame.

In a later column we will illustrate scoring for a sample game, meantime let's get back to the game itself.
