BOUNDARY ORE SHIPMENTS

What Perseverance, Capital and a Railroad Has Accomplished.

Two Convincing Arguments Which Should Convince the Most Skeptic and Doubting Ones as to Southern B. C.'s Possibilities.

The Grand Forks Miner in an article relating to Boundary ore shipments says:

"It is said that the Ironsides and Knob Hill alone have more than 8,000 tons of ore already in the bunkers only waiting for the completion of the track (spur to Granby smelter) before commencing shipments. The Victoria, Banner, War Eagle and the properties of the Dominion Copper company have nearly as much ore as this in sight and between the lot there are hundreds of thousands of tons blocked out underground and ready to be taken out as soon as there is any place to send it.

* * *

The Phoenix Pioneer in an article on the same subject says:

Wm. H. Aldrich, general manager of the Trail smelter, and David W. Moore, ore buyer for the same concern, who came into the Boundary with the C. P. R. officials last Tuesday, were visiting the shipping mines of this section. Thursday the two gentlemen drove back to Phoenix, for the purpose of inspecting and securing samples from the Brooklyn, Stemwinder, etc., and also drove out as far as the Golden Crown. When asked by a Pioneer representative if his smelter was receiving much ore from the Boundary, Mr. Aldridge said: "Yes; we are beginning to get regular shipments from this section now. On an average we are receiving about six cars daily from Boundary mines, and we expect this to gradually increase. We shall have no trouble in furnishing all the ore cars that may be needed. We are looking over the mines of the district for the purpose of familiarizing ourselves with the character of the ores in the different properties, from which we expect to receive large shipments in the near future."

* * *

Some time ago the remark was heard on the streets of Princeton, made by a misinformed or unknowing person, that there were no shipping mines in the Boundary. Such misleading statements only go to show the gross ignorance, of our own immediate country, some knowing ones possess. Every day we see some striking incidence of this lack of knowledge from parties that are making mining their business. We heard one party make the statement that he was through Phoenix during the winter and that the Old Ironsides and Knob Hill mines were closed down, and had been all winter. On being cornered he finally admitted that he might be mistaken, that somebody told him the mine near town was closed down, but he was not positive of its name. As a matter of fact the neither one of the mines were closed down, but were kept running all winter, and later on in the season put on an extra force of men. The uninformed persons who make these mistatements do not confine their remarks to any particular country, but for mere effect go about condemning and running down any property or part of the country which they do not take a fancy too, thereby giving strangers an entirely wrong impression. We occasionally hear parties giving their opinion on some undeveloped property, which does not happen to be their own, making it appear that the property had no showings to work on, securing their information from no source whatever but their own emulous and meddling brain. If those parties could only hold their information until called for there would probably be no occassion for any remarks on the subject. The two preceeding articles give an idea as to whether the Boundary country has any shipping mines, and only give the Similkameen one-half the chance other portions of the province have had and we will take a back seat for no one in the way of shipping mines.

UNITED EFFORTS NEEDED.

In these precarious times when the province, and in fact the whole world, is in a state of doubt and nebulosity, it behooves every individual to be up and doing if he desires the immediate and surrounding country to go ahead and prosper. The residents should cast aside all their animosity for neoteric ideas and work hand in hand with each other for the upbuilding of the Similkameen country. The fact that we are so far away from the outside world in the matter of transportation, and yet so near in actual distances, should only be more cause for a concerted action on the part of the whole community. If the people of the Similkameen valley could only drop their inveteracy and have one mind what a blessing it would be. If such were the case our energies would be placed in the right paths and could be used as a sort of a combine to force the needs of a long suffering community upon an unobservant administration. Possibly our needs in regard to a better mail service could be brought closer to the thinking tanks of our worthy postmaster-general at Ottawa, and probably our efforts in regards to the opening up of roads, trails, bridges, schools, and etc., would meet with better success if they were backed up by the grim determination to stand for the best interests of the Similkameen country, first, last and always. If we can not live up to this resolution, it would be better for us and the country at large, if we with our autochthonal ideas, packed up and moved on.

A FINE MAIL SERVICE. (?)

The postal authorities have had their attention called to the poor condition of our (weakly) mail service by the people of the province so many times in the past few years that it seems about time some concessions were made. Without trying to gain an ear of our august post-master general at Ottawa, in regard to this matter, we will rather seek condolence from our brother sufferers in other parts of the province by giving an illustration of our antiquated mail service by drawing a comparison. A letter directed to Phoenix, B. C., and dated June 10th, was sent the same day to Keremeos, getting there too late to catch the tri-weekly stage—thereby losing too days—arriving at Phoenix, June 18. An answer was mailed the same day and going by way of Robson, Revelstoke, Spences Bridge arrived in Princeton on June 30th, taking a total of 18 days. If the letter had been mailed from Princeton via Spences Bridge it would have taken 22 day. The distance from to Princeton to Phoenix via Keremeos is about 140 miles. By Revelstoke 400. On June 11 a letter was mailed to St. Louis, arriving in that city on the 21st. An answer to this letter was received on June 30th. The distance to St. Louis from Princeton is something like 4000 miles. To St. Louis and return 19 days. To Phoenix and return 22 days. Both letters arrived at Spences Bridge on the 26th. If they had been a day later they would have had to lay over for a week, thereby requiring 30 days to receive a reply from the Boundary 140 miles away. What gyratory movement these letters are required to go through between Spences Bridge and the Boundary is more than we can imagine.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Our Boundary exchanges are slightly out-of-date when they arrive at our office, consequently the latest papers are just telling "how it come to happen" at the recent election.

The approximate payroll of Rossland for June 15th footed up to 80,000, with every prospect for an increase next month. There will be a day in the near future when Princeton's mines will go them one better.

The postponement of the legislative session for two weeks, was anything but satisfactory, as the present condition of affairs all over the province require prompt action in regard to the public and private legislation left undone by the untimely end of the last session.

It is estimated that the entire yield of spring and winter wheat in the United States will not be over 500,000,000 bushels. If the calculations should be borne out by the harvest, the crop will be the smallest since 1896. The yield in 1897 was 530,000,000; in 1898, 675,000,000; and in 1899, 547,000,000 bushels.

TOWN TALK DISHED UP
BY A PASSING WAYFARER.

There is a young Princeton politician who we fear, through disappointment and melancholy over the recent reverses in the late election, has forever forsaken his native land and soil. While in Keremeos on Dominion day, the thought that by going just a few miles farther he could enter the domain of another great and mighty country was too much for him, and with the courage of an ancient gladiator he determined to discover the actual mode of living of a real live Yank. That he will ever come back is very doubtful, as he will, after a hard fought battle, finally sucumb to the wiles of some Loomiston belle.

It is quite observant that Lee Lee one of our local celestial magnates is quite a philosopher. Upon being questioned as to his opinion on the Chinese difficulties he said: "He whitee man killa lotee Chinaman. Chinaman he no sabe fitee. Hepe lotee Chinaman. Killa one tousand; nuder one come; Killa two; nuder one come; by-bye tousands come. Ale samee Similakameene misketoes. Li Hung Chang he no good. What for old man wante monee. Pretty soone he die."

Sometime back, while a well-known Grand Forks dentist was in town, Lee Lee had occasion to have his teeth fixed. A few days later upon being asked if he was making lots of money said: "Heep litta monee. Too muche explence. (and drawing his hand across his mouth) Flixem tiefe slixte fi dolla." No wonder the doctor went away with a good opinion of Princeton.

* * *

It is a very noticeable fact that among the many different things which Princeton can boast of excelling in, her large canine family comes in about the head of them all. There is the lean, lank, cadaverous Siberian hound, the Shepard, bull dog, spitz, terrier, just plain dog, and in fact every specimen the world has ever known. There's Scotty's trick dog, the dog that cries, the dog that can talk, and then there are those level-headed bow-wows who have a general antipathy for the pig-tail celestial. But they all fade in significance when it comes to Toby. Now Toby is a very intelligent dog but of late he has been falling in bad ways, and he has assumed a very sneaking gait. Toby taking advantage of his masters absence had taken guard over Landlord Jackson's guests when he spied a gentleman in the act of paying a bill. A spring, a grab, and the deadly work was done, and a five dollar bill had gone down Toby's mouth never to return. Whether it was "just the nature of the brute" or caused by masterly training only his master knows. At any rate 'dog' has raised in the canine market.

COMMUNICATED.

EDITOR SIMILKAMEEN STAR:

Sir:—In your issue of June 23rd you gave some most valuable information regarding the revenue received by the government from the Similkameen district, and you conclude with the very pertinent inquiry, "What has the Similkameen received in return?"

Had the Semlin cabinet remained in office six months longer an answer to this question would have been forthcoming. After a vast amount of interviewing and petitioning the ministers at last commenced to recognize the needs of the district. They were made aware of the importance of the new town of Princeton as the centre of supply for the numerous mining camps which are springing up around us, and were forced to realize the advantages to the province of opening up the vast sources of mineral wealth which has been proven to exist in the neighborhood, and had signified their intention of placing on this years estimates all the most urgent work demanded by the Princeton delegates. Then came their illegal dismissal by the late governor with the result that all the expenditure of money and time has been fruitless, and we are no farther forward than we were a year ago Well! What are we going to do about it? If I know anything of the community of Princeton they are not the sort to take a reverse like this lying down.

We must organize a fresh campaign and put renewed zest into it, for the reason that we have now to reckon with a little mushroom suburb endeavoring to further its own interests by interfering with ours, and trying to sow discord amongst us. Such figures as those lately published by you should prove a serviceable weapon to fight with if a future fight becomes necessary; but I think we may safely reckon upon a bloodless victory. No self-respecting government could possibly go to work upon such distinct promises as those made by their predecessors; we have only to prove these promises and ask that they be fulfilled.

We have no reason to suppose that the present government well be unfriendly to us, and we may safely count upon the advocacy of Mr. Murphy who received such a substantial support from the Princetonites at the late election, and will see that a community contributing so largely to the funds of the government are not ignored in the future.

Your remark that $2500 was uselessly expended last fall on the road to Keremeos is scarcely just to the late government. Certainly so long as the road remains incomplete the money spent upon the construction of the first few miles is so much money lying ide, but this road is one of the most pressing needs of the district. It was the intention of the late government to complete it this spring, and there will be no peace for the new ministry till they take this work in hand and so give a value to the $2,500 already laid out.

It would be a crying shame if a town of the present size of Princeton, which is now almost ripe for incorporation, should remain longer without such necessaries as a school, a court house and a recorder's office. We shall get all we want if we only pull together and use enough of that most valuable commodity called, GINGER
