AROUND TOWN

by LOYD McINTOSH

Pauline Mac. proved that even though she wandered into one of the facilities at the Alder Lanes, restricted to Gents, it pays off. She came back to bowl and made three strikes and one spare. The embarrassment gave her that added incentative. It must run in the family. Some weeks previous husband Larry walked into a similar spot in Chilliwack. This one was marked Ladies.

P.S. Pauline's experience also gave her ladies' high single for the week. We also hear that this does happen to others besides Larry and Pauline. Apparently Evelyn Horvath and Cora Williams had a similar experience at Bradner Hall.

When the B.C. government took over the B.C. Electric, they promised cheaper power. Well the power did go down if you can subtract the insignificant decrease. However they lost little and are now recuperating their loses multifold by assessing a connection charge of five dollars. That is for new services such as 220 for a stove. Don't worry about them taking a loss, they will fleece their voters one way or the other.

Well no one guessed the puzzle last week. So have another go at it. There were a lot of answers submitted, some of the answers were quite unique, others were not printable. All kidding aside though, keep them coming. The correct answer this week will get the winner a year's subscription, new or renewal. PLUS a year subscription for a non-subscriber.

Three young men proved a point recently. "Gasoline and Stupidity don't mix", They proceeded to display their skills behind the wheel on the ice at the gravel pit. The final result was that the late model car broke through the ice and was submerged in four feet of water. I hope this will benefit others as well as those involved.

Geoff Rowley had quite an experience with an attempt at Distance Dialing. He called a Mutual number in Vancouver. When he asked the party if they were the ones he was calling he was told "no". After several attempts, and getting the same party each time, he asked whose number he was getting, he was surprised when he was told a Mulberry number in Chicago, Illinois.

DISTRICT NO. 34 BUILDING SUPERINTENDENT RETIRES

A career that has seen many changes in the schools in the MSA district ended upon retirement recently of O. T. Jacobson.

Mr. Jacobson joined the staff of School district 34 as building superintendent in 1948 and since that time has overseen construction of almost all new classrooms in the district. His first job was supervision of remodelling of the Ground Instruction school building at the Abbotsford airport for use after the Matsqui flood.

New building supertendent is E. S. Glendinning.

SKATING ON THE POND, JUST LIKE THE GOOD OLD DAYS—Cold Weather over the weekend made skating on the various ponds throughout the district possible. To many it brought back memories of the "good old days" on the prairies. People from all over the district flocked to the gravel pit, south of Aldergrove on the Jackman Road. Mother nature provided a thick sheet of ice over the water-filled pit. Youngsters and adults took full advantage of this over the weekend. Shown above are three young ladies who enjoyed their time on the ice. From left to right are: Betty van Diepen, Linda Klassen and Lois Eden. Lois had just taken off her skates after spending most of the afternoon on the ice.

'Grove C of C to Discuss Traffic With Engineer

The Aldergrove and District Chamber of Commerce met last Monday in St. Dunstan's Church hall. Art Dingley, president of the chamber opened the meeting by asking members to rise and offer a two minute prayer in honour of Larry Stade, who was taken from the chamber ranks by an untimely accident.

Mr. Al Rose was asked by the president to introduce the guest speaker. Mr. Rose introduced Jim Rhodes, M.L.A. provincial representative for the Delta riding.

Discussions followed Mr. Rhodes address. Chamber members were informed by Art Dingley that further discussion on traffic problems would be best presented to Provincial Engineer. He informed the meeting that the problem of traffic lights for Jackman and Trans-Canada Highway were looked on favourably by the municipality. but will need approval provincially.

Further traffic problems to be submitted to the engineer were: A bridge of sufficient size to permit use of emergency vehicles to gain access to the area north of the T.C.H. without the present delay. Also signs erected west of County Line and Coghlan Roads designating these intersections on the highway as concealed intersections.

Other problems were discussed at the meeting. The expense of Christmas lighting each year is borne by the chamber. It was the general feeling that the municipality should bear a share of these costs. The chamber has taken on full responsibility for the past 10 years and felt that as a matter of beautification to the municipality the council should take this into consideration.

Prepare Now for Population Upsurge Cautions Jim Rhodes

Mr. Jim Rhodes, M.L.A. for the Delta riding, addressed the Aldergrove and District Chamber of Commerce at their general meeting last Monday.

In his address, Mr. Rhodes advised the chamber that a change of attitude was essential toward the need of the new Trans-Canada Highway. He stated that the new highway would bring stabilization to the area. It would bring about an upsurge of residential development. He stated that we can expect a great trend in urbanization, but we must use precautions by safeguarding areas for agriculture, light industry and residential. The lack of space for expansion in Vancouver would make it inevitable in in the future for a general exodus to this area.

Mr. Rhodes presented five problems facing this area.

1 Social Welfare is a major factor draining constantly from the municipality. One person out of eighteen is on welfare of some sort. One of our main problems are administration. With the province and municipalities both handling welfare it leads to duplication. We should provide adequate workers in the field and emphasize rehabilitation.

2 Taxation was anothtr serious matter. With the home owner grant of $100.00 almost becoming a certainty, there will be a tremendous drain on revenue. The City of Vancouver alone would have less than 1/3 of it's ratepayers paying less than $100.00 taxes. In addition to this the abolishing of per capita grants would have a big effect on the muncipalities. Some thought should be given to provincial taxation. Some would pay more but cases as pensioners would benefit by it.

3 Hospitals are another problem facing the people. The new expansion of the hospital in Langley will be inadequate upon completion. Hospitals should be planned with emergency wards, resident doctors, but must not be let get out of hand. Attention must be given to hospitals which provide for both the acute and chronically ill.

4 We must concentrate on secondary industry. We have river frontage and rail facilities. With the tax situation in Vancouver prohibiting small business, we must be prepared to accommodate them by utilizing the Fraser River and other facilities.

5 We must make provisions for tourist areas. Tourists benefit communities considerably. However we must make and select suitable attractions and camping facilities to accommodate them.

In closing Mr. Rhodes stated that the Delta riding should have more representation in Victoria. Not a multiple representation but representatives for a smaller area population wise. At present Delta's two M.L.A.'s represent 150,000 people, while the Vancouver area is represented by one M.L.A. to 43,000 people. Mr. Rhodes advised the Chamber to push for a fairer representation.

WATER USERS NEEDED FOR ALDERGROVE WATER SYSTEM

The Aldergrove and District Chamber of Commerce were advised, by Mr. C. J. Watt, that the Aldergrove Water System must obtain more users, if it is to be put on a basis where it at least pays for itself.

Mr. Watt stated that though the new well was put into operation five years in advance of planning, it was providing an excellent quality and quantity of water.

A plea of assistance, from the chamber to encourage new users in the area to hook up with the system, was submitted by Mr. Watt. He said that, should each member make a point of discussing the matter with non-users it would, perhaps, convince them of connecting to the system. In doing this it would put the Aldergrove Water System on an economical basis and it would prevent the question as to the benefit of the system.

The Aldergrove Volunteer Fire Department was called out to the Jake Wall residence on Wednesday, January 10th. They arrived in time to put out a chimney fire which could have caused further damage.

It was only good fortune that the department was not called more often during the low temperatures and high winds experienced last week.

FIRE CALL ERROR CAUSES HOUSE LOSS

A kitchen range is thought to be the cause of a blaze which gutted a Matsqui home last Thursday morning.

The fire was at the Henry Hamm residence on the King Road west of the Clearbrook.

Mrs. Hamm states she had left the house to go to the neighbours and when she got home the kitchen was smoking and in flames.

The Abbotsford truck was sent out first in error when the call went to the Abbotsford operator.

W. G. Merrell to Retire in Dec.

At a special meeting of the Langley Municipal Council it was mentioned that W. G. Merrell Superintendent of Works. intends to retire at the end of 1963. Reeve Poppy stated that it would be difficult to replace Mr. Merrell, that in the past, consideration had been given to the employment of an engineer, when Mr. Merrill retired. He suggested that the municipality should consider the employment of an engineer and be given attention immediately He also suggested that the person employed should be available to work with Mr. Merrell during the summer and fall in order to familiarize himself somewhat with the workings of the department.

This matter was decided of utmost importance and would be presented before council at the next regular meeting.

SCHOOL GROUNDS FOR RECREATION

One of today's problems facing our rapidly growing communities is the allowance for lands suitable for recreation and parks. Planning commissions are delving into the problem, but have not been able to reach a solution to this critical situation.

We have unused recreation space in every community. Our school grounds are not being utilized by the schools for the purpose that they were purchased. At any time of the day an observer can drive past these grounds and see them inactive. Why can't these grounds be used by organized recreation groups?

Our school boards prohibit the use of grounds by other groups because of a fear of being held liable in case of injury. This could easily be overcome by the signing of waivers by these groups exempting the board from all liability.

Why should the people who pay taxes for these grounds be prohibited from using them, when they are not being used? Our school curriculum on physical education provides a limited time spent on fitness. Periods of short duration are set aside. Among these is an examination on the theory of physical education. This exam is of little use except that it may strengthen the writers' fingers and provide muscle-bound brains.

The problem of recreational facilities could be lightened if we would allow ourselves to use our own grounds, provided for this use.

Should we allow these school grounds to lie idle while the need for such space is becoming more critical each day?

Municipal Council discussed the possibility of changing the policy that requires subdividers to pay a portion of the cost of constructing and paving a road required as the result of a piece of land.

The Council wishes to re-construct Jericho Road. Only one of the six parties involved on this road has paid in a sum of money, in trust, for its construction. The remainder refuse to do so.

This faces the Council with having to wait for the remaining five parties to subdivide their land. When the required share for the road could be collected before the subdivision would be permitted, or obtain the required frontage from the parties concerned and construct the road at municipal expense.

The matter was referred to a committee working on a five year program of municipal development.

It was on his recommendation that the Council meet at 9:30 a.m. instead of 10 a.m. so that the business in hand would not have to be rushed through to prevent a late meeting.

When several of the councillors stated how difficult it had been to arrive at an earlier time. Councillor Woolley quipped, with a serious face, "alright then, I'll phone you all, so that you can get here on time."

THE FIFTH COLUMN

By Joanne Moeller

Remember when you were small and the natural thing was to pretend this unfortunate incident had never even happened. Aldergrove played a basketball game against Port Coquitlam on Friday,January 11th.,and (if no one minds) we would like to pretend that this game never took place. It is bad enough to say that we lost but to mention the scores would be downright embarrassing. It isn't that our team is not too good either, it's just that theirs is better.

We held a Pep Rally on Friday afternoon. (rah—rah) Mr. Hanson presided at the affair, and he introduced the Senior Girls' team and the Senior Boys' team; then the Junior and Senior cheerleaders. We also had a riot.with each house competing against the others to apparently see if one could out—vocalize the other As is natural Tsimshian won the top honours—three points for the House. I may be partial to this House; but it could not be because I am a member. Gosh no!

Those blue hunks of cardboard entitled "Report cards" were circulated via-the-students on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Let's see if we can compete with Langley and follow this slogan—"Suicide is not the best policy"—no matter how much you doubt it. So you got a D in English 91, the most that can happen is that you will not graduate!

We had a lovely holiday on Tuesday, the 8th. For some unknown reason, all students were let out at noon. I certainly wish that the Department of Education would see how beneficial only a half day is to students; we seem to be able to work harder for the three hours before lunch hour.

Aldergrove Secondary School is supposed to be having an ice skating party soon, but it seems all ponds are frozen except the one which we wish to use. Ice skating is a very exhilarating sport, which tones up the many parts of the anatomy, one part (unmentionable) in particular. Of course. this could only apply to me—but I think many of the other students find themselves in the same position.

There will be a Club Period on Friday 18th, so be sure and support your club as you did before Christmas. The Driving Club seems to be coming along fine, old ladies are no more in danger, just curbs. Funny, isn't it, how close the curb seems to get some times when you are trying to parallel park.

Rehearsals for Belbriggan Bay are in full swing and the Annual staff is really starting to dig in now. What say we put out the best annual Aldergrove has ever seen? All agreed?

See you next week—same day same column.

Mather Comments

By Camille Mather, MLA, Delta

Our recent cold snap in the Lower Mainland brought about a development which, as one mother of my generation, was pleased to observe. With a fine night sky and a great white moon our young people took to their skates and found invigorating fun and exercise on the frozen field pools of the Delta—just as their grandparents did before them.

I have nothing against the well organized indoor skating which goes on in the arenas of our urban and suburban communities. It represents to many the only means of such recreation, but when young people seek their outdoor skating pond, as they did last week, it seems to me to offer them more "do-it-yourself" fun and novel satisfaction.

Do readers remember the days when, with the first good fall of snow, the hilly streets of Mt. Pleasant in Vancouver would be roped off for sleighing and great crowds flocked to frozen Burnaby Lake or other nearby skating areas? Surely there was something then, something more than the exuberance of our youthful hearts, which added a zest to our recreation, not to be found in the well-controlleld relaxations of today?

In a still earlier time there must have been great fun on the Fraser. We read in an old report how on one Saturday night in January 1868—"An enormous bonfire cast it's glare over the bay while a hundred torches, lit as if magic, flashed upon the scene." It seems the winters about that time were more severe than in recent years. It is related that, in the winter of 1862 the Fraser, from Chilliwack to the mouth was frozen solid. Sleighs are said to have run that winter on the Fraser ice from Langley to near today's Sunbury while many residents of Hope walked down-river to New Westminster. Maybe it is because we are getting older but it does seem to me that we do not have the keen winters we once had nor the enjoyment which we used to make for ourselves.

DRUM BEAT

By T. GASCOIGNE

A local sportsman with a definite Scots' background from away back, found his hip waders were worn out and leaking. Perhaps due to his ancestory or some other saving grace he decided that he could save the costs of a new pair by renovating the old.

To do so, and with good intent, he proceeded to pour a mixture of rubber cement and solvent directly into the insides of his rubber boots, and shook the boots around as if he were mixing a gin fizz,—if this is how a gin fizz is made? Leaving them to stand for a few minutes, he then poured off the surplus and hung them up to dry.

A few days later he decided to go fishing, so, putting on his newly renovated boots, away he went, happy in the knowledge of being fully insulated against the problems of saturation and hoof rot. Everything went just fine and although, as usual he caught nary a fish his feet were dry. He felt justified.

On arriving home, and after offering the usual excuses regarding the total absence of fish. he was extremely dismayed to discover that his rubber boots would not come off, doubtless, they were seemingly permanently cemented, not only to his socks, but also to his feet and skin.

Even with the too helpful response of his wife and interested neighbours who poured, hilariously poured, great quantities of various mixtures of solvents and hot water down his boots they remained in their solid condition, a part of him.

Eventually, the helpers relinquished their psuedo scientific efforts and were finally forced to borrow a pair of husky tinsnips and to cut the boots off from the legs with a number of resultant

Bob Shewan to Direct Langley Farm Broadcasts

Bob Shewan brings a fondness for nature, and a intense love of the soil and all growing things to CJJC's Farm Department. Bob's natural affinity for agriculture directed him to the University of B.C., where upon obtaining his Bachelor of Science in Agriculture Degree, he joined the farm department of the B.C. Electric, and enjoyed a tenure of nine years service. A veteran of the RCAF during the war. Following his active job with the public utilty company, Bob decided to strike out on his own and entered the poultry business and operated his own chick hatchery for a number of years. Bob, his lovely wife Jean, and two kiddies are strong believers of the good, country and life, and own a beautiful plot of acreage on Otter Road in the Aldergrove district. Bob will be heard at many different time periods throughout the day and evening on CJJC Radio, where a strong farm emphasis will be maintained to serve the Valley's extremely busy agriculture industry. Count on CJJC farm director Bob Shewan for down-to-earth farm reporting for a large farm audience.

Bob is well known to the people of the Aldergrove district, having sold real estate out of one of the local offices.

Maximum—39°
Minimum—29—30°
Precipitation—1.82"

Our third foggy spell this season (six consecutive days) was brought to an end by a weak storm which passed through on the eighth. This prepared the way for a rapid onrush of very cold Arctic air, giving us our first cold snap of the winter.

Northeast winds continued very strong for 36 hours, from 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to 8 a.m. Friday. Abbotsford Airport recorded a steady velocity of 35 miles per hour, with gusts to 55, at 11 a.m. Thursday. The maximum of 18° that day was the lowest maximum at this station since November 12, 13, 1955, when similar bitter winds held the temperature to 15° and 16° in the dayime.

The three coldest days, the 10th to 12th, averaged only 16° eighteen degrees below normal. compared to 18° for the three coldest last winter, Jan. 19—21.

Barometric pressure was very high on the 11th and 12th rising to 30.82 inches on Saturday, just three months after Hurricane Freida, when the pressure dipped to a very low 28.82 inches. This is the greatest range we have had in any fall and winter.

MANAGEABLE BEE INTRODUCED TO FIELD

Dr. G.A. Hobbs, forage crop insect specialist in Lethbridge told the annual meeting of the Forage Crops Advisory Committee, held in Edmonton, Alta recently, that an alfalfa pollinating bee that can be managed has been introduced to the field.

Hobbs described the activities of this newly introduced leafcutter bee and explained how it could be readily overwintered in rootcellars or cold rooms and transferred to alfalfa fields when the the plants start to flower.

Named the "soda straw" bee because it can be induced to build its eggs in soda straws, it it was brought in from the United States to the research station at Lethbridge last summer. It is there undergoing study, and from present indications it may prove just that aid to increased yields that the alfalfa seed grower is looking for.

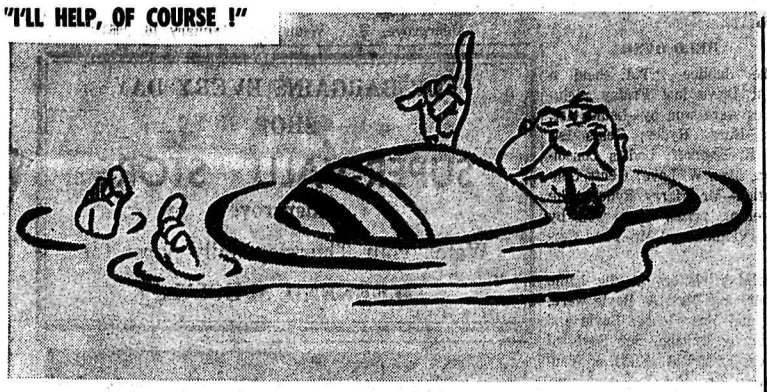
"I'LL HELP, OF COURSE !"



This leisurely chap floating in a pool of water is the introduction to every household in Langley of an appeal for people to volunteer as canvassers in the door-to-door solicitation of pledges for the swimming pool fund. Pamphlets urging residents to offer their services to call upon their neighbours have been mailed to every Langley household.

"A good response to this appeal for volunteers will mean success for the fund and an early start on construction," declared Harry Alder, UCCF chairman.

Date set for the canvass of local homes is January 28th until early February. Final phase of the campaign will involve about 500 volunteer workers visiting 4,800 homes in Langley and district.

An incentive for canvassers to come forward was announced Monday night by a special committee of George Watson and Tom Packingham. A private person has offered an expense-paid trip for two for a week at Harold's Club in Reno, Nevada, and Harold's Club is donating the accommodation. Cost of the prize has nothing to do with the campaign funds for the local swimming pools.

Names of all canvassers who complete their assignments will be placed in a hat and the winner of the trip will be drawn from that assembly. Full details of the prize are to be released at the January 28th kick-off rally for the pool canvass.

Aldergrove Bowlers Elect Officers to Vacant Posts

The Aldergrove District Bowling League held a meeting in the Alder Lanes, Sunday afternoon at 2, to elect new officers to their executive. Due to the loss of Hazel Baird, secretary, and Al Hickman, president, who have both left the community, it was imperative to elect members to fill these posts.

Ben Greer Jr., who was vice-president moved up to presidency. Nominating committee leader, Ritchie Fatkin, nominated Ken Fletcher as vice-president and Alice Fletcher as treasurer. These two were unanimously voted in to the positions.

Plans are under way to send members to White Rock to take part in the Fraser Valley Championship. Top bowlers from the local league are being approached on their availability.

The Competition is to take place March 16th and 17th. Howard Craig volunteered to coach the teams.

Further business discussed was the delinquent teams who have not paid their fees. It was decided that these teams will be penalized should they fail to bring their dues up to date not later than February 1st. There are eight teams who have not yet paid their registration fees.

A motion made to some of the members but not tabled for general discussion was made by Barbara Scott. She suggested larger signs on the washrooms for members who had difficulty reading those now up.

Next meeting will be announced at a later date. It will be held to discuss plans for the banquet.

Did you know that Mars would hit the earth in 1964? That is the conclusion of a group of some of our future scientist in our neighbourhood. The group range in age from our Jim aged eight to five years old. Jim finds it necessary to hold a Martian Meeting at least every other day after school. Project of the group is to try and figure out how to reduce the size of Mars so it won't hit the earth too hard. Jimmy told grandmother (who is in her forties) she wouldn't have to worry about the problem as she would be gone by then.

Wasn't too long ago I was asked if I wore long skirts when I was a girl, and did I remember when horses pulled the fire wagon. Does anyone remember with me the polio epidemic of about fifteen years ago ? We tend to forget the seriousness of the diseases in this day of wonder drugs. There is still much research to be completed before we can stop giving to the support of these worthy causes.

MSA District Contemplates Sports Director

Recreation commissions in Matsqui Sumas Abbotsford discussed Monday January 7th the possibility of hiring a full time recreation director for the area.

Speaking to the group and offering advice was Keith Maltman co-ordinating director of amateur sports and physical fitness in B.C. Mr. Maltman said that the physical education program in B.C. schools needed to be revamped. The program, governed by the public schools act is fine in theory, he said, but lousy in practise.

Mr. Maltman stated that sports and games should be taught to youngsters early. They should know that they have to lose as well as win and be tough to be able to play. He said this phylosophy taught through sports would aid them in their later lives.

If fitness and sport are to be promoted throughout the province Mr. Maltman told the group everyone must work together. He said even paid organizers will lose enthusiasm unless volunteers take an interest.

British Columbia has one of the best fitness programs in Canada the meeting was told. There are seven recreation consultants throughout the province, lots of resource material and fair distribution of grants is made to recreation commissions.

HERE'S HOW...

THE FENCE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

A house takes on that homey look when properly fenced. Well-designed, well-built, attractively finished, the fence is a frame that adds beauty to the structure it protects.

Depending upon how much of the job he wants to do himself, the home owner may buy his fence ready-made and set in place, or he may buy the "makin's" at his local lumber yard.

Fence details are simple, but the prospective builder should examine attractive fences before he plans the picture frame for his home. His local lumber dealer can offer suggestions and often provide him with plans and sketches.

Needed tools are few: hammer and saw, post-hole digger or narrow spade, and a level for plumbing the posts and rails. Rust-proof nails help prevent streaking of the pickets.

What kind of wood? Here again, the lumber dealer knows the best answer for your area.

A wood fence is easy to build, is readily adaptable to alteration and repair. Painted, or unpainted, depending on the owner's choice, it can be designed to complement or to contrast with the lawn, shrubbery, or the home itself.

OPEN LETTER

Because the Sons of Freedom live and operate in B.C., this open letter is addressed to you. Readers in other parts of Canada please take notice.

Freedomites are remarkable people and I don't say this because they burned down their homes and began their march.

Whether or not we think they are wrong, off the track, insane or whatever else we think about them, is not the point. The point is that the Sons of Freedom don't question the way of living as taught to them by their parents and grandparents. They base their firm beliefs on the teachings of those wise and inspired men who wrote, what is now considered to be the Word of God. The Good Book tells the Freedomites even today that their actions are in the interest of all mankind and they prove the sincerety of their convictions by what they are doing. We may totally disagree with their mode of living and their convictions but can at least have some form of respect for their willingness to put up with all kinds of inconveniences to get their point across. That's why I think they are remarkable people. I have heard it said: "these no gooders should be taught a good lesson." Sure enough, as long as the method of teaching will bring about such results as are necessary to solve this 60 year old problem, before it becomes even more complicated and to the further discredit of this country.

There must be a good number of men and women close at hand capable of teaching these "misguided" people that their interpretation of the Bible can be "improved" upon, to put it as strongly as the present situation warrants. Not until these people are shown that living according to their convictions is not according to the intent and purpose of the Good Book's teachings will they become the kind of citizens we can have a lasting respect for Those who can be moved to save these people and their children from spiritual and possible physical destruction have a most important job to do.

If they should succeed in making useful citizens out of the Sons of Freedom, their greatest reward will be the knowledge of having been instrumental in solving an ugly problem with effects eternal.

A timely warning for anyone ready for an attempt now is: "don't ever under-estimate the real power of the Sons of Freedom." The power they possess is the strongest known to mankind. It is the same power that gave the martyrs strength when faced by lions or the stake. That same power can move mountains and what a wonderful asset these people would be to this country if their power could be utilized and directed into the proper channels.

Apart from what they possess in this way, one of their tactics gives them an edge over anyone or anything trying to make them change their minds.

It is their ability to stick together "no matter what may happen to us." that has put them into the limelight they are in today. Most of us, whose way of thinking differs from theirs, feel that they have gone a little too far? Did they? Certainly not as far as they are concerned and what they have accomplished so far is only the beginning of a drama about to be unfolded. unprecedented since the beginning of time. They are determined to carry out their mission at all costs, and if they are not met, at least part of the way at this time, the most scandalous things are bound to happen.

Our government seems unable to handle the problem to this province's best advantage so it will be up to us, the citizens, to have a second look at what the Sons of Freedom claim has happened to them in the Kootenays. Is it true that our government promised them land and communal life without interference? Is it true that they have been stepped on and attempts have been made to scatter them every time they begin to prosper? Is it true that their former leader, John Lebedoff, when he was ousted in favour of Stephen Sorokin, spitefully decided to hurt his former disciples in every way he saw fit? Is it true that Stephen Sorokin can not return to B.C, because, if he did, he would be murdered by the enemies of the sect? Is it true that said John Lebedoff has been paid by the R.C.M.P. to blow up bridges, railroads etc., and that the Sons of freedom got blamed for it? Is it true that the same John Lebedoff and his consorts started a nerve campaign in the Kootenays by phoning and visiting Sons of Freedom homes and telling them to "burn down your homeorwe'll do it for you with you and your family inside." Is it true that the Sons of Freedom finally, in desperation did burn down their homes and started their march? A hundred more questions can be added to this list. If none of what the Sons of Freedom claim is true, there seems only one answer to the problem. Have no consideration and scatter them all across the country so they'll have to mix with other Canadians and at least give their children a chance to become useful citizens. As the Sons of Freedom behave like normal people when away from their group, it would take a relative short time for them to assimilate. However, this "scattering" can only be done by force and as these people have individual rights, there must be good reason before such drastic action would be permissable.

Let's presume that what the Sons of Freedom claim is true, it would be an unforgivable sin to persecute them even more. If what they claim is true, and this is possible you know, we'll have to look at their problem from a different angle. It is pretty well established that our government wants to ignore the Sons of Freedom.Does our government have a good reason? I am inclined to think so. Judging by the way our Premier and his cabinet ministers handle themselves and our business, it seems ridiculous to think that they can not solve the Sons of Freedom problem if they wanted to.

Ignoring the problem may be part of their plan of solving it and time will tell what they have done so far to lead over a thousand misguided fellow citizens and their children into a less objectionable direction. This for the sake of humanity, Christianity, this province and last but not least, the Sons of Freedom themselves.

It could be the last chapter of the Sons of Freedom story if they should decide to move on to Victoria. Our government could no longer ignore them, lest we may wonder what our leaders are afraid of. It would be a crucial moment for our government if the group actually landed on the lawn in front of the Parliament buildings. Action taken at that time is bound to bring discredit to our government as it is extremely hard to make the right decisions at crucial moments, especially when there is no history lesson to gain experience from, as would be the case. If the Sons of Freedom should march to Victoria, indications are they will, the last chapter of their story will most likely be written there and the book can be closed. The easiest way out will be to take the children away from them and lock the parents up in that place the Sons of Freedom call "Buchenwalds", and forget the affair. This may be the easy way out but will we be able to live with ourselves afterwards?

What if the story, the Sons of Freedom are trying to tell us, is true? What, if they have actually been cheated out of their land, priviledges as promised. been blamed for crimes not committed, made to burn their homes and finally, in desperation, moved our way to get understanding? The march is these simple people's way of letting us know what they have been up against. Even if only a fraction of the story they are trying to tell us is true, we should not let their voices be as crying in the wilderness.

Should we not consider their perfect behavior in Hope as their possible true nature? Should we not consider that our government may have failed to recognize the strong convictions of these people at times, causing them great harm, unintentionally? Should we not be very considerate while the lives and future of so many fellow citizens or fellow Chrstians and their children are involved? Yes we should, unless we are willing to take a chance on getting these people's blood on our hands and this is one chance we cannot take.

The group sacrificed and left their homes in the Kootenays to tell us their story. Their act is unusual and strange. Their story is unusual and strange. If you ask them with whom they would like to discuss their problems, they invariably will say: "some of our people, two Canadian working men, Bonner, Bennett, Diefenbaker, Mr. Sorokin (because he knows everything) and then all the people will know the real truth about us."

This is their way of saying: "we want a public hearing."

The cost of a public hearing will be a very small price to pay for what it can do towards solving this ugly 60 year old problem. It should be made clear to the group that, if a public hearing reveals their guilt, they would voluntarily disband and accept all the consequences if they should break their word to that effect.

If a public hearing should reveal that their story is true, a lot will have to be made up for, to them.

Denying them a public hearing at this time would seem unreasonable. A public hearing is what the Sons of Freedom want. There is enough at stake to warrant it. If made conditional, the Sons of Freedom problem will be solved once and for all.

Your support is respectfully requested.

Arie de Ruiter, Aldergrove, B.C.

THE SAYING OF THE BOOK

The book says can you come to the garden alone? Your tears are His tears! Isa 16:9. He is faithful who has promised Heb. 10:23. The Lord of Hosts bore a crown of Glory and for a diadem bore beauty. A spirit of judgment that sitteth in judgment for strength that turns the battle in to the "gate." Be not a fading flower, be not a crown of pride for this earthly life is therefore a judgment. Your garden or the life of your soul. Shoot forth a debate in measure: when it shooteth forth thou will debate with it like Jacob of old: the iniquities be purged. God is revealed from heaven who hold the truth, righteousness the assessor is David concerning God's son Jesus, to his flesh entreating the redemption 11 Sam. 7:21

Wedding Vows Taken At Langley United Church

United Church, Langley, was the scene of a holiday wedding on December 22nd at 7 p.m., when Lorraine Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sverre Albrechton. Jackman Road, Aldergrove, Bryan MacDonnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. MacDonnell of Kelowna, B.C., in a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. D. D. Johnstone of Langley.

The church was tastefully decorated with tall vases of lilies and poinsettes.

The lovely bride entered the church on the arm of her father gowned in full-length white satin with sequins at neck, lily point sleeves, hoop skirt trimmed with standup roses. Her veil was made into a crown of three tiered veiling, three-quarter length, and she carried red roses and white carnations in her bouquet. She was attended by Miss Doris Dams, bridesmaid, of Aldergrove who was attired in a red velvet, trimmed with white, with matching headpiece, and she carried white carnations in her bouquet.

The groom was attended by Gary Barclay, Vancouver, and ushers for this occasion were LaVerne MacDonnell (groom's brother) and Gordon Albrechtson.

The organist was accompanied by James MacDonnell on the saxaphone.

The reception was held at Newland's Golf Course, with both parents of the bride and groom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Albrechtson was attired in turquoise blue with matching accessories; her corsage was red and white carnations, while the groom's mother chose a black and white costume with matching accessories, with white carnations in her corsage.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, flanked by red and green tapers with a table piece of green with holly which carried out the Christmas theme.

The toast to the bride was made by Irving Nelson, to which the groom ably responded.

The evening was spent in dancing to music rendered by a Vancouver orchestra.

Lorraine's going-away costume was a yellow sheath in crepe, with brown and beige accessories and a corsage of bronze Chrysanthemums.

Out-of-town guests attending were from Kelowna, Rutland, Red Deer Alberta, and many local points. For their honeymoon the young couple travelled to Manning Park and to Kelowna for the New Year. On their return they will make their home in Vancouver.
