THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 9, 1923 No. 5

Special Services Starting Sunday

A series of evangelistic services under the joint auspices of the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations will open at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, closing on Wednesday evening, March 28th. There will be services each week night, except Saturday, at 8 o'clock and on each of the three Sundays there will be the services at the usual hours, with all the meetings held in St. Stephen's Church.

The speaker is Rev. F. A. Robinson who is accompanied by a talented soloist and pianist, and in other towns where they have appeared the meetings are spoken of in highest terms, as is indicated in the following taken from the Telegram, Kamloops:

"Rev. F. A. Robinson, who with Miss Grunert, pianist, and Miss Niven soloist, is conducting services in the city, addressed two crowded congregations on Sunday. Each of the co operating churches held its own service in the morning, Mr. Robinson speaking in the Presbyterian church. In the evening in the Methodist church every seat in the big auditorium was filled and the school room had to be thrown open. A large choir assisted with the singing, and under the inspiring leadership of Mr. Robinson and the unique playing of Miss Grunert, the whole audience joined in the familiar hymns with a vigor that was truly inspiring. Mr. Robinson has the faculty of evoking a generous response from the choir and the music is one of the most appealing features of the whole service.

"Miss A. B. Niven made a distinct contribution to the services with her carefully selected solos, and she and Mr. Robinson were heard with delight in a duet, "Who Could It Be?" Mr. Robinson spoke on "The Pre eminence of Christ," and held the close attention of everyone."

Additional seating capacity is being provided at St. Stephen's and it is expected there will be comfortable seating capacity for the large crowds that are expected to attend. Rev. Mr. Robinson will deliver a few special addresses during his stay, and these will be announced from the platform from time to time.

Erickson

There will be Church of England service at the schoolhouse on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It was a case of a stand up for the late comers at the growers meeting at the schoolhouse on Saturday night, which was chairmaned by C. G. Bennett, and addresses were given by Guy Constable and R. B. Staples. The meeting voted to co operate 100 per cent. strong in whatever marketing scheme the Valley decides to go, and endorsed the appointment of the select committee that will bring in recommendations at another meeting at Creston on the 17th.

H. S. Peck arrived on Sunday from the Old Country, and is a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. G. Cartwright. He is on his way to Edmonton, Alta., to visit his brother.

Frank Celli is about ready for work on the land to start. On Saturday he took delivery of a new Eordson tractor, cultivator and plough. Staples & Pierson supplied the equipment.

Jack Dodds and Ray McKelvey have joined up with the Winlaw logging forces, the former operating with the F. Putnam team.

Messrs. Putnam, E. Cartwright and F. Palmer wound up their hauling contract with G. Bayle on Wednesday last. In addition to the logs, they also drew about 5000 ties to the Canyon siding.

Mrs. C. Cotterill was last week's surprise party hostess, the crowd making its en masse appearance on Saturday night, and spending a most enjoyable time until almost midnight at cards and lunch. The winners were Mrs. A. E. Penson and Dolf Weir, whilst the low scorers were Mrs. Timmons and Mr. E. Penson.

Harness and Shoe Repairs

I have now opened the store in the Postoffice Block and am competent and ready to do all kinds of leather repairs.

Reasonable prices combined with promptness and civility.

Lister

C. Frampton is busy this week completing the erection of the unfinished barn on the A. R. Webb ranch.

Mrs. Liddicoatt, who has been at Cranbrook for a couple of weeks, owing to sickness in the family, has returned to Lister.

Jack Johnson, who has been laid up for over a week with a very severe case of nervous breakdown, shows considerable improvement, but the doctor has ordered him to take complete rest for at least a month.

The schoolhouse at Huscroft was packed to capacity for a dance on Saturday night, the music for which was supplied by the Demchuk four-piece orchestra.

A whist and dance is announced for this Saturday night at the schoolhouse at which prizes will be given for cards, lunch will be served and a dance to close with. Admission 25 cents.

Fred Powers, who has been at his home here for about a week, left on Monday to resume work at the mine at Klockmann.

E. L. Langston got back at the end of the week from Calgary, Alta. where he had been consulting the hospital authorities.

It is quiteauthoritatively announced that the new contract of carrying the mail for four years from Creston to Lister, has been awarded F. N. Thompson, who commences work on April 1st.

A wedding of particular interest to the residents of the Huscroft area was solemnized at the manse at Creston on Monday night, when Rev. J. A. James united in marriage Miss Margaret Ann Waddy and Mr. Charles Lapointe, both residents of this section, and who will continue to reside here.

Due to a shortage of space this week the February report of Lister school is held over until next issue.

Falls, Breaks Jaw

Rev. G. Knox, pastor of the Methodist Church, met witha serious mishap on Thursday night last. Whilst attempting to make a pulley clothesline work right he fell off a couple of boxes and landing full force on his chin broke his jaw in three places. Dr. Henderson was immediately summoned and set the injured member and on Wednesday the patient was removed to Cranbrook hospital for treatment. The breaks are nasty ones and it will be quite a few weeks before he will be able to resume pulpit work. Rev. Mr. Freeman, Methodist pastor at Cranbrook, was here a couple of days the early part of the week, leaving on Wednesday for home and accompanying his friend, Rev. G. Knox, to the St. Eugene hospital.

Canyon City

Normon Strong is leaving this week for Wasa, where he will work again this season.

With the sleighing gone the Company now has the teams and wagons at work on the haul of sawn ties. Had the slipping lasted just another two days the log haul would have been completed.

Mrs. Barnhardt and family of Glenlilly were visitors here last week, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Knott.

R. Hurl, who has been taking chiropractor treatment at Calgary for a few weeks past, is home again, and looks some better for the attention given him.

Peter Burns, who has spent the past two months on a visit with old friends at Ottawa, and other eastern Canada points, arrived home at the end of the week.

Practically every grower in Canyon was at Erickson on Saturday night for the growers meeting, but came home disappointed at the small quantity of definite information given out as to the 1923 selling policy for the Valley.

The Company logging operations are completed and due to the limited quantity stocked in the yard it is hardly likely the big mill will continue to operate after Friday. The portable mill at the Lyon place, however, will run all summer from present appearances.

At the United Farmers meeting on Friday it was decided to reassemble on Saturday, March 10th, for the purpose of taking action to organize an egg marketing circle in connection with the Kootenay geg exchange at Nelson.

The church people have been busy the past few days and have now moved the old building much further back on the lot, and have the material on the ground for putting a ten foot addition on the rear and extension of possibly sixteen feet at the front end.

Alice Siding

Guy Constable got away on Tuesday to Vernon, where he was summoned by wire to handle the wind-up features of the business in connection with the organization of the B.C. Growers, Ltd.

Principal Lallymond put the school back to the 9 a.m. start on Monday. Since the first of November it has been opening at 9.30.

Miss V. Marshall who has been on the staff at the Creston Bakery for several months past, has resigned her position, and is again at her home here.

Mrs. Churchill is the first in the Valley to have 1923 hatched chicks. An old clucker brought out a clutch on February 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie, who have occupied the Mrs. Stace Smith residence all winter, left on Monday for their prairie home at Sage Creek, Alberta.

Most every grower in Alice Siding area was at Creston on Saturday for the growers meeting, this section having the largest turnout of lady spectators of any section in the Valley.

Dick Smith has invested in a work horse, which he purchased from R. Stewart.

A party of about thirty-five, most of them from Creston way, turned up unexpectedly at the Webster home on Thursday night last, and had a fine night of it with cards, music and dancing, and a sumptuous midnight lunch.

Three local residents shared in the Alice Siding school wood contract this year. Mr. Kelly supplied the logs, J. Marshall did the saw and axe work and Victor Carr the hauling.

Mrs. Stace Smith and family, who have been visiting at the coast for the last three months, arrived back in Creston on Monday, after a short visit with Nelson friends.

West Creston

Jack and Joe Stephens have just completed the taking out and haul of some boom timber which will be placed at the new bridge on to Nick's island, to prevent the driftwood and ice doing damage to the bridge piers.

Several of the Creston anglers are visitors to the Corn Creek section at present trying out the fishing, and some good catches of chub and ling are reported. Bass fishing in the Kootenay, however, has been poor.

Ferryman Lockhead took his week-end bath a couple of days early last week. Whilst doing some work on the ferry Thursday he accidentally slipped into the river, getting a thorough soaking on the twenty-foot dip he took.

Hay baling operations will be resumed at the Reclamation Farm this week, with Mr. Bliss of Creston in charge.

Messrs. Beam and Brubacker of Erickson are in camp at Corn Creek, where they are operating a line of traps this winter.

The biggest and best bit of news that has come of West Creston in a dozen years is the announcement that a one-room public school is to open here after the summer holidays. Inspector Manning had a meeting with the property owners at the Reclamation Farm on Thursday afternoon, at which all agreed that the building should be put at the bridge at Corn Creek. A structure 20 x 20 feet was looked upon as satisfactory, and the inspector assured that the education department would make the customary contribution to the building and equipment fund. A canvass of the Corn Creek-West Creston area reveals fifteen pupils of school age.

Boys' and Girls' Clubs Organized

The first definite move to get the boys of St. Stephen's Church into a worth while boys' organization was accomplished on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dow, when the Stand Fast Club was brought into being with a membership that already totals seventeen. The club will operate along the lines of the Four Fold Program, and the meetings will be held in the room at the back of the Presbyterian church three Fridays each month from 7 to 8 p.m. to enable the Alice Siding and Erickson children to attend, and one Saturday afternoon each month will be given over to social effort of some sort. The officers chosen—with Mrs. Dow as leader, are:

President—Harold Speers.
Vice-President—Alex. Henderson.
Secretary—John Blinco.
Treasurer—Jim Cherrington.
Secy.-Treas. Thrift Club—Albert Sherwood.

The afternoon previous a Get Together Club was organized to look after the girls of the congregation, Mrs. Lidgate being chosen leader, and the club to meet each first Friday at the Lidgate home. The club officers are:

President—Ruth Lidgate
Vice-President—Gladys Webster.
Secy.-Treas.—Evelyn Bevan.

With two such organizations in charge of such capablesuperintendents and officers the young people of St. Stephen's Church should be well looked after.

Kitchener

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Paulson of Spokane are occupying their cottage at Kitchener at present.

E. McGonegal was a business visitor at Creston on Monday, returning the following day.

Mrs. Bryen of Kaslo is a Kitchener visitor at present, with Miss Roberts.

Kitchener is a very busy place, everyone trying to finish their contracts before the snow leaves.

Charles Walker, representing the Daily News, was in town on Monday.

Miss Erickson, Mildred Andeen and Master Bobby Johnson, were in Cranbrook for a few days.

Miss Hunter hasissued the following report for Kitchener school for February: Junior Fourth—Alice Molander. Senior Third—Ellen Andeen, Clara Hunt. Junior Third—Lucy Kersch, Beatrice Molander. Second Reader—Richard Molander, E. Simpson. First Reader—E Ketchum, H. Kersch. Second Primer—Joseph Murray. Miss Hunter is at present teaching the largest number of pupils Kitchener has ever had.

Remove Immigration Restrictions

The second session of Parliament under the administration of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King is on the eve of opening. It has been forecasted as a lengthy session with many important subjects to receive consideration, including Canada's relations to the Empire and foreign affairs, revision of the Bank Act, grain marketing, trade treaties, a Redistribution Bill, railway policy, immigration, development of natural resources, export trade, etc.

Admittedly these are all big and vital questions, but to the close student of present-day conditions and problems in Canada and the world the outstanding question among those enumerated is undoubtedly that of immigration. The present Immigration Act is a product of the war and after-war conditions. It is obsolete. Canada's true interests demand that it be scrapped, wiped off the Statute books entirely, and replaced by a new, well considered Act based on present-day needs and requirements.

The present Immigration Act, and the Orders-in-Council thereunder, are repressive and restrictive in the extreme. They have operated and are today operating to practically prohibit and kill all immigration to this Dominion, when, as a matter of universally admitted fact, this country stands in need of immigration to an ever greater extent than at any time in all its past history. The debt created by the war, and the enormous deficits on the National railways, imperatively demand a large increase in population in order that our natural resources may be developed for use, and our export trade expanded, and thus bring to this country that prosperity and wealth through which alone will it be possible to pay off our war debt and make our railways a national asset instead of a heavy national liability.

Organized labor favors the immigration of farmers and agricultural workers, but opposes the entry of common laborers, artizans and workers of all other classes. Yet the farmer has need of the services of common laborers to build roads, and to work in the fields. But how can the farmer successfully bid for the services of such needed help in the carrying on of his operations against the railways and other corporations where the labor unions dictate minimum hours of employment and maximum rates of wage? What laborer is going to accept the long hours on the farm and the wages which a farmer can afford to pay in the light of the returns received for his products rather than the short hours and much higher wages dictated by labor unions for employment in cities and towns and by railway and other corporations?

The desparity between the returns by the farmer as a result of long hours and unremitting labor, and those received by organized labor, is already so great that the agricultural industry of Canada is today in jeopardy. High labor costs in the cities have boosted the costs of almost everything the farmer must buy to such a point that the buying power of the farm has largely disappeared. The manufacturer, the wholesaler, the merchant is feeling this loss. The result is lessened employment in all branches of industry and trade. The whole of Western Canada is feeling the adverse effects of this condition. Unemployment is rife, and there is hesitation on every hand in the launching of new projects, the erection of buildings, the expansion of business, or the expenditure of money in any direction. Instead, with unemployment in evidence, we have the abnormal fact of a steady increase in Bank deposits—people hoarding their money instead of putting it to productive use.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Making a Sun-Dial For Newfoundland

Is Being Made by Toronto Professor For Use of One of Dr. Grenfell's Hospitals

Professor Louis B. Stewart, Professor of Surveying and Geodesy, University of Toronto, is working in his spare moment on a scientifically accurate sun-dial for the use of Dr. Grenfell's hospital in Newfoundland. A sun-dial, in order to be of real service, must be constructed to suit the latitude in which it is to be used and must be placed on the true meridian. In 1904 Professor Stewart was one of a party who went to Newfoundland to observe a lunar eclipse, and found at that time the exact longitude and latitude of that part of Newfoundland near which Dr. Grenfell has since located one of his hospitals. Hearing from a university student, who was investigating water power in Newfoundland this summer, that the people in charge of the hospital have no means of being sure of the correct time, Professor Stewart undertook to make the sun-dial on which he is now working.

WHEN NERVES ARE NEAR EXHAUSTION

The Right Thing to Do is to Take a Tonic for the Blood

When you become so exhausted after a day's work that you cannot sleep, or sleep fails to refresh you, it is time to look after your health. Failure to act at once means a steady drain on your health reserve, which can result in but one thing—a nervous breakdown.

Do not wait for a breakdown. The treatment is simple enough if you do not let your condition become too far advanced. The treatment is one requiring an effective tonic to enrich the blood and feed the starved nerves. The most effective tonic known is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which act directly on the blood, and with proper diet have proved of the greatest benefit in nervous troubles and all conditions due to impoverished blood. Mrs. Mary Hanson, Braeside, Ont., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and says:—"I was taken ill with what doctors whom I had consulted called neuralgia of the tissues of the system. I was a complete wreck from constant pains in my body and limbs, dizzy headaches, fainting spells and constipation. So intense was the pain that at times it caused vomiting and I would have to go to bed for two or three days, only to get up so dizzy and so weak that I could not cross the bedroom without aid, and while these spells lasted I could keep nothing on my stomach. I doctored for almost a year, but with no beneficial results. Finally the last doctor who attended me said medicine would not benefit me. I must have perfect rest, and spend most of my time in the open air. He gave me very poor encouragement. Knowing that the mother of four children could not spend all her time in idleness, I told my husband I was through with doctors and was going to try some other remedies. I got one, but after taking it for a month found no benefit. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and at the end of two weeks I found these were what I needed. With nerves worn threadbare from all the suffering of the past, I continued the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for three months and by this time I was able to do most of my own housework. In fact I soon felt well and was able to do any kind of work without feeling tired. Since that time I have continued to do all my own work and have had no return of the dreadful pain I suffered before. I have recommended the pills in many cases and have always seen good results from their use."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Indians Increasing

The American Indians are not, as most persons suppose, a dying race. There are now more than three hundred and forty thousand of them in the United States, which is perhaps seventy-five thousand more than there were twenty years ago. Anglo-American Relations More Friendly And Cordial Than Have Been In Past

The urgent need for continuation of a spirit of friendship and co-operation between Great Britain and the United States and the importance of Canada's position as the keystone of that friendship, were points emphasized by Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador at Washington, and other distinguished speakers at the annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York.

"The relations between Great Britain and the United States are more friendly and cordial than ever they have been in the past," declared Sir Auckland.

This was a fortunate condition for the other nations of the world, he pointed out, for upon the unity and co-operation of the English-speaking nations very largely depended the future of the world.

"The world is too far from stable to stand any more shocks," Sir Auckland continued. "Things have gone too far to allow us to sit idly by and say, 'all will come out all right,' and pay no further attention to what is going on. The fundamental essence of civilization is the spiritual life of the people. Today, in some parts of the world, the spiritual life seems to have grown feebly. Unless a change comes it will be but a short time, as history measure times, until the fabric of civilization will crumble.

"I believe with all my heart and soul that the people of our nations, those of the British commonwealth and the United States, are now called to a great mission. In our countries the spiritual life is still strong. Through the advice and encouragement of the English-speaking peoples hopes may be brought to the peoples who feel that the world is crumbling around them.

"The choice before us is simple. Friendship and co-operation—take it or leave it. Take it and the world will come back to prosperity and happiness. Refuse it, and the process of crumbling we have already seen in the world will extend, extend, extend."

Sir Auckland said his friendship and co-operation was not advocated for any selfish reasons, or for any national benefit.

Sir Auckland, in a brief reference to the British debt funding mission, declared that while it was impossible for him to discuss the work of that body, he was more optimistic now than ever before that the work would be crowned with success. The British representatives, he said, were carrying back to England a most profound impression of the courtesy and appreciation which had been shown them in the United States.

Right Hon. Sir George Foster, retired Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, sketched the present position of the British Empire, which, he declared, "at the end of a hundred years of expansion and development, is more powerful, more united, than ever before."

Sir George predicted that the tide of emigration and the flow of capital from the Old Country would more and more be diverted to the British dominions instead of going "to build up alien nationalities and to develop estates other than her own."

"The history of the relations between Canada and the United States," said Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State in the Wilson administration, "is already written in our unfortified frontiers and in the peace and goodwill which has existed for more than a century. While Canada is British to the core, it has a large tincture of American sympathy, and we claim the respect of our Canadian brothers because we, Americans to the core, are filled with respect for Great Britain and the dominions and their staunch respect throughout the world for every effort that makes for civilization and justice."

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS

"California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels, and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its "fruity" taste, and mothers can rest easy because it never fails to work all the souring food and nasty bile right out of the stomach and bowels without griping or upsetting the child.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

Sleeping sickness has been known on the west coast of Africa for over one hundred years. At the end of the last century it spread from the Congo into Uganda, and in a few years killed 200,000 of the natives.

How Backache and Periodic Pains Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leslie, Sask.—"For about a year I was troubled with a distressing down-bearing pain before and during the periods, and from terrible headaches and backache. I hated to go to a doctor, and as I knew several women who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results, I finally bought some and took four bottles of it. I certainly do recommend it to every woman with troubles like mine. I feel fine now and hope to be able to keep your medicine on hand at all times, as no woman ought to be without it in the house."—Mrs. OSCAR A. ANDERSON, Box 15, Leslie, Sask.

Mrs. Kelsey Adds Her Testimony

Copenhagen, N. Y.—"I read your advertisement in the papers and my husband induced me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get relief from pains and weakness. I was so weak that I could not walk at times. Now I can do my housework and help my husband out doors, too. I am willing for you to publish this letter if you think it will help others."—Mrs. HERBERT KELSEY, R.F.D., Copenhagen, N. Y.

Sick and ailing women everywhere in the Dominion should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before they give up hope of recovery.

A Better Standard

Discontent Bred of the Power of a Higher Civilization

People used to complain because a few possessed the comforts and advantages of life. The enmity was against the comforts and advantages. But that form of discontent has changed; people now complain because everybody does not possess the comforts and advantages of life. And that is the right kind of discontent—to make prosperity and not poverty the standard. Things would be unutterably worse if all were reduced to the same level of poverty, as some have proposed to do. The better way is to elevate all to a high degree of independence and comfort. That is the true function of finance, manufacture, commerce and transportation, and until these do function primarily to such ends, they will be in danger of constant change. The new discontent has the power of a higher civilization behind it.—Dearborn Independent.

Periscopes On London Tram Cars

Among the latest inventions for the comfort of public servants is a periscope for double-decked tram cars which allows the conductor to have a full view of the top deck without the necessity of climbing the stairs. The new convenience also will be of use to passengers by enabling them to see, from below, if there are any vacant seats on the upper deck.

Entirely New Treatment For Bronchitis, Catarrh

No Internal Medicine To Take

Years ago the profession fought Catarrh by internal dosing. This upset the stomach and didn't remove the trouble. The modern treatment consists of breathing the healing, soothing essence of Catarrhozone, which goes instantly to the source and the trouble. Catarrhozone is successful, because it penetrates where liquid medicines can't go. The balsamic vapor of Catarrhozone drives out the germs, soothes the irritation, relieves the cough, makes Catarrhal troubles disappear quickly. For bad throat, coughs, bronchitis, Catarrhozone is a wonder. Two months treatment one dollar. Small size 50c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

Marvellous!

Fond Mother.—"Isn't he splendid?"

Caller.—"Yes, indeed."

Fond Mother.—"And so bright. See how intelligently he breathes!"

What Tenby Bay Lady Says About Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mrs. N. Espeland Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all Sufferers.

Tenby Bay, Ont.—(Special).—"I have been troubled with my kidneys for years, but since I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills my health has greatly improved. I only have to take them occasionally now." This statement is made by Mrs. Espeland, well-known and respected resident here.

The reason Dodd's Kidney Pills have come to occupy such a prominent place in the family medicine chest is that so many of the ordinary every day ills come from sick kidneys. Rheumatism, urinary troubles, diabetes, backache and heart disease can all be traced directly or indirectly to sick kidneys.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

Canada Looking After Fisheries

Canada's fisheries are one of her assets and large sums are spent by the Dominion Government in providing against depletion of the supply.

This year the Department of Fisheries has distributed 846 million fish and fish eggs from her different great fish hatcheries among the various lakes and rivers. Of these 535 million were whitefish, 165 million pickerel, 106 million salmon.

The man who is constantly disappointed in other is likely to be a disappointing fellow himself.

London Times Urges Imperial Conference In View Of The European Situation

The London Times, discussing the need for holding an imperial conference at an early date, in view of the grave situation of European affairs at present when peace in Europe hangs by a thread, says decisions may be taken at the conference which will affect the life and prosperity of every citizen of the Empire.

"It is therefore essential," the Times continues, "that the decisions should express the united views of the constituent nations of the British Commonwealth. Those bound by the consequences of the policy adopted should share in its determination. The wartime practice of frequent personal consultation between the Premiers of the Empire was renewed at the Imperial Conference in 1921. It is to further meetings of the kind that the people of the Empire must look for fixing broad lines of imperial foreign policy.

"The British Government's procedure of keeping the Dominions informed on current developments doubtless will become permanent. A condition of the successful continuance of the present compromise is frequent meetings of the premiers in conference, without which a united policy of the Empire is unattaintble. This necessity is greater than ever at a time of unsettlement and crisis.

"Therefore, on all ground it is urgently important to the British Commonwealth that the Premiers' Conference meet in 1923."

Danish Prince Will Start Dairy Farm

Is Studying Systems In Prairie Provinces and Ontario

His Royal Highness Prince Eric of Denmark, one of the younger sons of King Christian, will study in Eastern Canada to get impressions on mixed and dairy farming. For some time he has been studying ranching conditions in the west.

The Prince intends to go back to his country, and with one of his brothers, start a large farm. Before undertaking the enterprise he is touring countries like Canada, the United States and Holland, where scientific farming and the latest methods of agriculture are applied. The Prince will devote himself solely to farming when he returns to Denmark.

The Canadian Pacific Railway WILL FIND Farm Help for Western Farmers

TO BE OF SERVICE to Western Canadian Farmers and help to meet their needs in securing competent farm help, the Canadian Pacific Railway is prepared to utilize its widespread organization to provide such help from a number of countries.

The CANADIAN PACIFIC Railway will now receive and arrange to fill applications for male and female farm help to be supplied from Great Britain, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Switzerland and Norway, in all of which countries the Company has representatives who have farmed in and are familiar with Western Canadian conditions and who are now in touch with such men and women ready and anxious to come to Canada.

THE GOVERNMENTS of the countries above mentioned have expressed their willingness to aid the emigration of this class of their peoples. In order to fill such applications satisfactorily and bring the help to the farmer at the proper time and with a clear understanding of the requirements and obligations of each, a printed "Application for Help" form has been prepared which can be obtained from any C.P.R. Station Agent or offices listed below.

The Company will make no charge to the farmer for this service nor will the farmer be required to make any cash advance whatsoever towards the travelling expenses of his help to the nearest railway station. The information necessarily asked for in these application forms, which will be held in strictest confidence, covers the following points:—the kind of help required—male or female—married or unmarried; date required and for how long; nationality desired; monthly wages offered; kind of work offered, etc.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAR. 9

W.M.S. PRESBYTERIAL

The business meeting of Kootenay Presbyterial opened its first session in St. Stephen's church, Creston, the morning of February 21st, the devotional exercises of the meeting being taken by the Cranbrook delegates, followed by an address by Mrs. MacKay, president of the Presbyterial. Mrs. James gave an address of welcome to the visiting delegates, and was replied to by Mrs. Campbell of Grand Forks. As the recording secretary was unable to be present, Mrs. McMillan of Trail read the minutes of the last annual meeting held in Trail in February, 1922.

The morning was taken up with a discussion on the secretary and treasurer's reports of the year. It is very gratifying to know that the W.M.S. as a whole in the Kootenay Presbytery has done exceedingly well, and while not as large an increase as compared with 1921 they had more difficulties to overcome, and are looking forward to doing greater things during 1923. Standing committees were also struck during the moring session. Resolutions Committee, with Mrs. Brodie of Nelson as convenor; Finance Committee, with Mrs. McMillan of Trail as convenor; Members Committee, with Mrs. Worden of Cranbrook as convenor.

Mrs. Worden of Cranbrook extended an invitation to the Presbyterial to meet in Cranbrook next year, which was accepted with pleasure. The meeting adjourned to the manse for lunch, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The second session opened at 2 p.m., Nelson auxiliary taking the devotional exercises. Reports of the various committees were read and adopted, each committee giving a splendid report, which spoke well of the progress made by the W.M.S. in Kootenay Presbytery. Rev. and Mrs. James contributed a duett. Another feature of the afternoon was a discussion of the mission banner presented by the Kootenay Presbyterial for the best average attendance of the Mission Band during the year, and honors were equal between Creston and Cranbrook.

It was with very great pleasure that we heard Mrs. James' paper on intercession of prayer, and was so thoroughly enjoyed by the ladies present that Miss Mitchell, field secretary, thought it should be sent to the missionary Messenger, so others could profit by the reading of it and a motion was adopted to that effect.

The evening session opened with Grand Forks taking the devotional exercises. The mission banner was still open for discussion, and after the percentage was taken the banner was presented to Creston Mission Band, which Creston is very proud to have won. It was decided to amend the ruling for the obtaining of the banner so the competition is to be for per centage of attendance giving work and knowledge of study as provided by the Mission Band. Creston will certainly have to work for 1923 as there are several new bands being organized through Kootenay Presbytery.

The Finance Committee was heard from and they drew up some very fine suggestions for the W.M.S. for 1923. The principal one being prayer, as no organization can succeed without careful thought and communion with God at all times. Next came the Resolution Committee, several resolutions being framed and sent to Presbyterial officers who were not able to be present due to illness in their families. A resolution of condolence was passed and sent to Mrs. Barr Stirling of Nelson, who is second vice-president of the Presbyterial. Another resolution was sent to Mrs. O'Donnell, our president up till July, 1922, regreting that she could not be with us due to her removal to Vancouver last summer necessitating her resigning her position. We all missed her very much, but our loss is their gain.

The Nomination Committee came next, and nominations were placed before the meeting and elected as follows:

Hon. Presidents—Mrs. McEachern, Cranbrook; Mrs. J. Smith, Nelson; Mrs. J. McKee, Ladner.

President—Mrs. MacKay, Cranbrook.

1st Vice-President—Mrs. A. A. McKinnon, Cranbrook.

2nd Vice-President—Mrs. M. Gibbs, Nelson.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Alfred J. Balment, Cranbrook.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Worden, Crabrook.

Treasurer—Mrs. H. White, Cranbrook.

Supply Secretary—Mrs. Kerr, Midway.

Home Helpers' Secretary—Mrs. James, Creston.

Strangers' Secretary—Mrs. Smellie, Nelson.

Library Secretary—Mrs. E. A. Hales, Grand Forks.

Literature Secretary—Mrs. R. McMillan, Trail.

Mission Band Secretary—Mrs. J. W. Dow, Creston.

Messenger Secretary—Mrs. (Dr.) Henderson, Creston.

Young People's Secretary—Mrs. Oliver, Nelson.

Press Secretary—Mrs. J. Brodie, Nelson.

It was a very great pleasure and privilege to have Miss Mitchell with us during the Presbyterial meetings, and she gave us a great deal of useful information. Mrs. McBurney of Cranbrook gave a very interesting paper on Mission Band work during the past year. Different ladies asking her for the paper, it was agreed that it should be sent the Messenger for the information of all. The meeting adjourned to meet at 10.30 Thursday morning.

The Thursday morning meeting opened with Trail auxiliary taking the devotional exercises. The principal feature of this session was an address on "How to Organise a W.M.S." by Miss Mitchell, field secretary, the greatest need being preparation. Choose your hymns and bible readings to suit your study for the day. Also choose them the month before, in order to have them prepared by the members taking part. Have all your meetings of a devotional nature and meet promptly on time. If you have the business well organized it should only take ten minutes to carry it through, and the balance of the hour should be for bible study. Don't call those who pay the fee members; they are only home helpers. They must be members in earnest and attend the meetings to be real members. Also make your meetings interesting, in forming, inspiring and inviting, and have your members taking part. Sit on the front seat, and when addressing the meeting face the audience. Also not to forget date of meeting. Have an objective in the meeting; be aggressive in the W.M.S.; start new things in order to succeed; small appeals makes dwarfs, great objectives makes giants.

Some good books were recommended by Miss Mitchell for members' reading. "A Plea for the Twelve," by Ada Cronk. There being 8750 hours in the year, yet we only devote twelve of them to the W.M.S. meetings. Another one, "Full of Excuse" for not being active in missions met by scripture, by Mrs. M. C. Porter. "The Marks of a World's Christian," by Daniel Johnston Fleming, and the "Meaning of Service," by Foster.

Never go out of your meetings and criticise; be a booster. Make your announcements attractive. W.M.S. work is themost important in the church, and a suggestion for making life members was a beautiful one. That of placing envelopes at a church service on Christmas morning making it a gift service, and the collection to go towards making life members of the W.M.S. as a Christmas gift from the congregation. In order to get new members it would be a good plan to have a membership roll and a non-membership roll, and allot so many non-members to each member, and for them to urge and earnestly pray they may become members of the W.M.S.

Make the Home Helpers' day spiritual and helpful. In organizing a young people's society make loyalty a strong point—loyal to and in support of the church. In addition Miss Mitchell gave some interesting facts in connection with mission band work; that in order to carry on successfully we need more prayer and more faith in God; without Him we can do nothing, recommending special mission hymns for the Band, such as Children's Praise No. 1, The Greatest Day of the Year, Carols, Sunny Songs for Little Folks, Missionary Gems for Jewels. See the mission band children do their part in the official duties as it is good training for them. A book of mission stories, Friday's Footprints, by Mrs. Appelgath, was recommended. We were all very grateful to Miss Mitchell for such an instructive address. In closing we wish to thank all members and friends who made the Presbyterial meeting in Creston a great success.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918 Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Growers Discuss Marketing Policy

There was a banner turnout at the meeting on Saturday afternoon at which the growers heard reports and discussed the matter of joining up with the Co-Operative Growers of B.C., Limited, or adopting a marketing policy independent of the big, new co-operative concern, with the bulk of the expressed opinion favoring the new provincial co-operative selling organization.

Unfortunately the number expressing their views was insufficient to enable the meeting to come to a definite concluson in the matter, but a ballot was taken that indicates that the growers favor going into whatever selling policy is finally decided upon 100 per cent. strong, and the meeting adjourned after naming a select committee of growers and business men to take into consideration all the facts adduced at the meeting and report back at another gathering two weeks later at which it is hoped the whole matter will be finally disposed of.

The chair was occupied by President Bennett of the board of trade who wasted no time in getting the meeting under way, the first speaker being Guy Constable, who is a member of the committee of ten that is drafting the constitution as well as the contracts of the Co-Operative Growers of B.C., Ltd.

Mr. Constable was duite conservative throughout his address and without any reservations whatever very frank ly admitted that he was not as yet convinced that the new order of things was what Creston Valley required. Most of the essential details of the B.C. Growers, Limited, were presented by the speaker, who read a telegram from Vernon, which stated that up till Friday 84 per cent. of the tonnage in the area west of Grand Forks has been signed up.

He explained the various charges that would be made for the central handling of the crop, 5 cents a box on apples being taken to repay the money that would have to be borrowed to buy out the plant and equipment necessary for the conduct of the Growers business, whilst 2½ cents would be levied on all other packages handled for the same purpose, whilst another 1 per cent. charge would be made to establish a reserve fund.

Mr. Constable explained that at the committee's deliberations he had asked for a separate pool for Creston, and adhered to the belief that the situation in the Kootenay's could not be effectively handled without at least a sub central at Creston or Nelson, and the creation of an advisory board to co-operate with the officials in charge of the sub central in handling Kootenay selling. He cited the fact that with separate control of the Kootenay tonnage the cherry situation in particular could be much more advantageously handled. This pooling arrangement had not been definitely settled as yet.

Beyond helping to stabilize the market Mr. Constable could not see very much in common as between Creston and the Okanagan, and as to finance he held that it would be very unwise for Creston to have collections and payments for crops made through Vernon. In closing Mr. Constable pointed out that whatever move was made it was absolutely essential that the Valley should go into it solid. Liabilities that had to be met by the community could easily be shouldered if all stood together, but they were altogether too heavy for even 60 per cent. to assume.

In his opening remarks R. B. Staples very strongly corrobarated the arguments of Mr. Constable as to the necessity of the Valley growers going in 100 per cent. strong on the best possible marketing proposition, and he could see no reason why the Co-Operative Growers of B.C., Ltd, should not be the selling organization.

He went fully into the local growers financial situation to demonstrate that the burden 60 per cent. of the growers would have to carry in the way of unpaid for buildings and equipment would necessitate a per box assessment that could not be safely undertaken with the apple market facing the uncertainties that will exist for the next three or four years. Should the Valley not be agreed as to the wisdom of going into the Co Operative Growers Mr. Staples pointed at least two alternative propositions that might prove equally as profitable as the Co-Operative Growers connectioh under certain circumstances.

Mr. Staples also strongly advised that whatever arrangement is made it should be provided that Creston would do its own selling and collecting. The latter was advisable in order to assure prompt payment to growers and to finance the local's operations. He believed local selling was just as advisable. So much direct buying is done by prairie dealers at Creston, to say nothing at all of the express shipments of soft fruits, that it was unthinkable that Vernon or even Nelson would have to be consulted before any trading could be done.

In the informal discussion that followed opinion was expressed that Creston could stay out of the new concern but still be of assistance to the Growers, Ltd., provided price cutting was guarded against. Those, however, who had occasion to speak in this connection did not favor such a plan of co-operative effort.

W. S. Watson voiced the fear that if Creston stayed out the Co-Operative Growers would watch Creston shipping and wherever a Creston car went the Growers, Ltd., would ship in half a dozen cars and give their stuff away in order to break Creston, and in this view others were inclined to concur.

Major Mallandaine submitted a motion that went unseconeded that the growers should sign the contracts with certain stipukations made on the back as to separate pool and Creston central and its manager, the contracts to be held back until such time as the conditions were agreed to, otherwise the contracts be not turned in.

On request Manager Bennett of the Bank of Commerce and Manager Allan of the Imperial Bank, stated the situation as to credits for financing seasonal operations. Both were agreed that 1923 credits might be more restricted than was the case a year ago, but that there would be money for all who were entitled to it. Were the Valley growers to go in 100 per cent. strong for any marketing proposition Mr. Allan thought credit would be slightly more readily available.

L. Leveque pointed out that there was something to be said against as well as for a separate pool, claiming that Okanagan points would be entitled to special consideration on fruit going to Vancouver market, as well as to export when shipped via the Panama canal. As to the export Mr. Constable advised that the most satisfactory export route was via the Atlantic.

Messrs. Adlard and Pochin could see nothing for it but the Co Operative Growers, Limited, and Mr. Knott was another supporter of the idea that the big new concern was the only proposition to consider. C. M. Brousson announced that he had no intention of signing any contract until such time as the growers who had sold through the Staples Fruit Company, Ltd., had gotten together to discuss matters.

With the meeting beginning to break up without anything definitely accomplished the situation was saved by the adoption of a motion to appoint a select committee of business men and growers to take into consideration all the evidence adduced at the meeting and from it to draft recommendations to be considered at another growers meeting on the 17th, and the committee was named as follows: C. B. Garland chairman; C. G. Bennett, C. W. Allan, Jas. Compton and R. J. Long.

A Mother Superior PRAISES Zam-Buk

Many of our religious and charitable institutions have adopted Zam-Buk as their standard skin-remedy. This fact speaks for itself.

The Sisters of Charity carrying on the noble work of humanity, are often called upon to minister to the bodily as well as the spiritual needs of the ailing and afflicted. As the following letters show, these Sisters, with the skill and knowledge of trained Nurses, have complete faith in the healing and disease-dispelling power of this great herbal balm.

The Mother Superior of Elie Convent, Man. writes:—"Gentlemen, In our institution, we use your Zam-Buk and have found it most efficacious. It is a splendid remedy for sores and skin troubles. You may gladly use this information as a recommendation of your excellent preparation."

The Grey Nuns of St. Patrick's, Ottawa., write:—"Gentlemen, In the orphanage department of the Asylum, we have found Zam-Buk very good for healing cuts, coldsores, and skin injuries, and shall continue to use it for such." Everybody needs Zam-Buk.

CHAPTER V.

Treachery

Overjoyed at the prospect of a peaceful solution of the problem which confronted him, Wade walked rapidly toward the hotel, happy, too, in the thought of meeting Helen Rexhill.

Whether he loved her with the single-hearted devotion which a man should feel toward his future wife, he was not sure; but he was confident that he did not love any one else. The idea of love in connection with Dorothy had never occurred to him; she was his good friend, nothing more. To Helen, belonged the romance of his life, fostered in other years by the distinct preference she had shown for him. At one time, they had been reported engaged, and although the word had never actually passed between them, many things more significant than speech had contributed to the warm regard which they felt for each other. Beneath Helen's reputed coldness of heart lay intense feeling, and on numerous occasions she had verged on unwomanliness in baring her moods to Wade, in a way that many other men would have been quicker to fathom, and perhaps to take advantage of, than he had been.

Now, the knowledge that she was close at hand, and that he might see her at any moment, caused his heart to beat rapidly. If to others she had been cool, to him she had been ardent, and this warmth had been the one thing needful to make her physically captivating. Only when some vital cause impends is a young man likely to distinguish between the impulses of his body and the cravings of his soul, and no such vital exigency had as yet appeared in Wade's life. He wondered if she was as beautiful as ever, and began to reproach himself for lack of ardor in his recent letters to her, lest he should now be repaid in kind. He wanted to be received upon the old, delicious footing, with her in his arms, and her lips trembling beneath his.

There were dozens of men in Washington and New York who would almost have bartered their souls for such privilege, and Gordon Wade need not be chided for his moment of passionate yearning. He was enough of a man to put the thought aside, pending his interview with the Senator, which was his first purpose. He felt sure that if Senator Rexhill could be moved to interest in Crawling Water affairs, his influence would be potent enough to secure redress for the cattle men, and Wade meant to pull every string that could bear upon so happy a result. He was glad that Mrs. Rexhill had not made the journey, for he was conscious of her hostility to him, and he felt that his chances of moving her husband were better without her.

When he inquired at the hotel, he was told that the Rexhills were in, and he presently found himself shaking hands with the Senator, who greeted him with effusive warmth.

"Helen is changing her gown and will be in shortly," the big man exclaimed. "I'm mighty glad to see you, Gordon. Only this morning we were talking of looking you up. How are you? Sit down, my boy, sit down!"

"Senator," Wade began, after they had exchanged commonplaces for a few moments. "Glad as I am to see you, on my own account, I am more than glad in behalf of my friends, who have not yet had the pleasure of meeting you. Your arrival in Crawling Water could not possibly have been more opportune. You have come just in time to save us, most likely, from an internecine strife which might have ruined us all. I was more glad than I can tell you to learn that you were here."

"Indeed, Gordon? I—I am much interested. Perhaps, you will . . ."

While Wade succinctly sketched the situation, the Senator nervously toyed with his eye-glasses, now and then lifting his double chin from the confinement of his collar, only to let the mass of flesh settle again into inertness. He thought rapidly, Moran had not divulged the fact that he, the Senator, was concerned in the Crawling Water enterprise. Certainly, Moran had done very well in that, and Rexhill almost wished now that he had been less precipitate in coming to Crawling Water. If he had stayed in the East, his complicity in the affair might possibly have been concealed to the very end. He hastily considered the advisability of remaining under cover; but now that he was on the ground he decided that he had better be open and above board, in so far at least as he could be so. It would prove awkward in the event of subsequent investigation, if he should be made to appear in the guise of a deliberate conspirator.

So, presently, as Wade neared the end of his resume of the situation, Rexhill permitted an oleaginous smile to overspread his countenance. At the last, he even chuckled.

"It's really a bit amusing. No, no, not what you have said, my boy; but what I am about to say to you. You invoke my influence to stop these —er—depredations, as you call them, and up to a certain point, you shall have my aid, because I seem to see that matters have gone a bit beyond bounds. But when you ask me to go to extremes myself, why, I'm bound to tell you that I, too, have interests at stake. Why do you suppose I came to Crawling Water?"

"I'll admit that puzzled me."

Rexhill looked keenly at Wade, wondering if he were foolish enough to believe the trip a sentimental journey, purely. He concluded that the young ranchman had too much sense to jump at such a conclusion.

"Well, the reason is . . ." The Senator leaned ponderously forward, twiddling his glasses upon his thumb. "The reason is that I, if you please, am the moving spirit behind the company which Race Moran is representing here. You see . . ." He chuckled plethorically again at Wade's start of surprise. "It really is a bit amusing."

"Then Moran is your agent"

"In a sense, yes."

"Well, I'll be damned!" The cattleman's tone was rich in disgust, but even more keen was his intense disappointment at this failure of his hopes. "Would you mind telling me, Senator, just what the purpose of your company is?"

"Certainly not. It's no secret," Rexhill replied briskly. "Certain parties back East, myself included, as I've told you, have reason to believe that a railroad will be put through this valley in the near future. This is an extremely rich and productive section, with natural resources which will make it heard from some day, so we are anxious to obtain a portion of the valley for speculative purposes. If the railroad comes through we'll probably build a town somewhere nearby and open up an irrigation project we have in mind. If not, we'll use our holdings to raise wheat and livestock. The proposition is a sound investment either way you look at it."

"A few years ago," said Wade, "I and several others leased upwards of twenty thousand acres of grass land here in the valley for stock grazing purposes. I, personally, filed a claim on the land I now call my home ranch. Our lease, which is direct from the Government, gives us entire control of the land so long as we pay for it.

"Besides ourselves, there are a number of ranches in the valley, all of them cattle and horse outfits. There has always been a tacit agreement that sheep should not be grazed here because sheep and cattle can't live on the same range in large numbers. Until Moran came here, we had no trouble whatever—the sheep ranchers kept to their own side of the mountains and we cattle men kept to ours. Since Moran has arrived, however, the sheep have crossed the Divide in thousands, until the entire valley is being overrun with them.

"Only this morning, Moran admitted to me that the sheep men are acting with his authority and backing. Senator Rexhill, this is wrong, and your agent, or manager, is making a big mistake. Since you are the prime mover in this matter, your arrival is even more opportune than I at first thought, because you have the power to immediately correct your hired man's mistake. So far as we cattle ranchers can learn, Moran is bringing sheep in here with the deliberate intention of starving us out of our homes. He seems to want our range and he—I'll not say you—thinks that such a course is the cheapest way to gain possession. He'll find it the dearest in the end. Unless the sheep are moved mighty soon, we shall be mixed up in one of the bloodiest little wars in the history of the range country. Mark you, I'm no firebrand—some call me too conservative; but we have about reached the limit, and something is bound to happen before many days."

Senator Rexhill drummed with his fingers on the table.

"Um! Does Moran know of this attitude in you and your friends, Gordon?"

"Yes. I have just finished telling him of it. But he merely laughs at us. We are a long way from the courts, here, Senator, and we can't easily appeal to the authorities. We are obliged to settle our differences among ourselves. Moran knows this as well as I do; but he forgets that the thing can work two ways. Each day that the sheep are here in the valley they spoil more grass than all our cattle could eat in a week; in two months, if the sheep stay, the range will be as bare as a ball-room floor. Can you wonder that we ranchers are becoming desperate?"

"It's strange," Rexhill commented, apparently much perturbed. "Moran is not the sort to take useless risks. He's dominant, but he's no fool. Well, my boy, I'll talk this over with him; in fact, I really came out here to see how things were shaping up. If things can be peacefully arranged, that's the way we want them. We're not looking for trouble. Certainly, you are right to object to sheep being run on your leased pasture. I'll look into it right away and see what can be done."

"Thank you." Wade was much relieved and he showed it. "I felt sure that an appeal to your sense of fair play would not be fruitless. I'm mighty glad you are in town."

"Gordon!" a girl's voice exclaimed softly behind him.

"Helen!" He sprang to his feet and turned to seize her hands.

Those who admired Helen Rexhill at Washington social functions never saw her look more lovely than she did at this moment of meeting with Wade, for the reason that all the skill of the costumer could not beautify her so much as the radiance of love now in her face. The dress she wore was far from inexpensive, but it was cut with the art which conceals art, and to Wade it appeared simple.

Yet his first sensation was one of acute disappointment, which he strove rather ineffectually, to conceal. Doubtless, this was because his recollection of her had soared beyond the bounds of human perfection. But the gown, which she had chosen with so keen a wish to impress him, reminded him of the simple frocks which Dorothy Purnell wore, and in Helen Rexhill's face there was not the same sweet simplicity of expression which distinguished her rival. Flaming love was there, to transform her from the suggestion of a lily to that of a pomegranate; but it was the love that demands and devours, rather than the constant affection which, in giving all, seeks nothing but the privilege of loving in return. Without actually analyzing the impresison which Helen made upon him, Wade felt something of the truth of this, and was disappointed in the realization of his dream of her. Materially she was too perfect, too exotic, for the setting of Crawling Water.

"Why, you look just the same," she happily exclaimed. "And I? Have I changed? Now, be careful what you say! You're not a bit of a courtier."

"Everything changes, doesn't it,?" he said, slowly feeling his way. "Except the heart?" His answer pleased her.

"Will you listen to that, Father? In the cattle country, too."

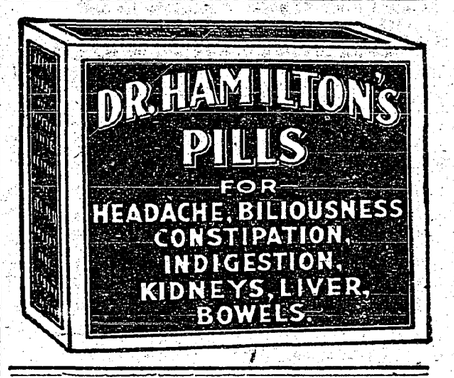
A Phosphorescent Lake

Situated near Nassau in the Bahamas is a wonderful lake called the "Lake of Fire." It is an artificial stretch of water and was constructed as a place for keeping turtles. It is cut out of the coral rock and a narrow ditch connects it with the sea. What is most remarkable about this lake is its shining appearance due to the presence of phosphorus. The dip of an oar in the water will cause sufficient light to read large print by night. The lake is full of fish which being disturbed dart about, leaving a trail of fire behind them.



Things Undone

Are there things that you neglected to do in 1922 that if done would have made the year a richer one to remember? Did you lose sight of a friend whom a letter or a telephone call would have brought into your life again? Did you let slip a day in the spring when you should have kept tryst with the birds and the lilacs? Were you too busy to go to a symphony concert or view the pictures in an art museum? "I should like to do that sometime," we say. "I did that once," is a better thing to say.—Youth's Companion.

Ostrich Expert Says Birds Do Not Drink At All

The ostrich is one of the most peculiar birds in the world. He has an interior economy which is full of surprises. His digestion is a proverb, but strictly speaking he does not digest the keys, bits of metal, and other oddments he swallows.

These he stores into a powerful grinding mill of muscle, and uses them to reduce hard corn into coarse powder. What is curious about the ostrich is the fact that he out-Pussyfoots Pussyfoot Johnston by never drinking at all.

This was not realized at the London Zoo until an ostrich expert in the service of the South African Government paid a visit to Regent's Park and saw pans of water in the ostrich house.

He explained that he never pampered his birds by giving them anything to drink, and the water supply of the London birds was promptly cut off.

That was three years ago, and the birds have not started to grumble yet.

HAD BAD PAINS IN HER HEART

Nerves Were Very Bad

Mrs. John Case, R. R. No. 4, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I wish to say that I have been bothered very much with my heart and nerves. I doctored with two different doctors, but did not find much relief. I would have such bad pains in my heart, at times, I would be almost afraid to move or breathe, and at night I could not sleep. If the pains in my heart were gone, my nerves would be so bad I could not lie still and would only get a little sleep by being tired out. My stomach was also very bad and I could eat but very little, and then only certain things or I would have so much distress which always made by heart worse.

I had been suffering for nearly two years until one day I was talking to our druggist about the way I felt. He advised me to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a fair trial. Things Might Be Worse

Yes, Times Might Easily Be a Little Bit Worse

Yesterday the news columns carried the story of three farmers who have returned to Saskatchewan after looking over the land offered them in Mexico, convinced that this province is the place for them. The point of the story is that there are worse places in which to live than this same province of Saskatchewan. One would be foolish to deny that things have not been going as swimmingly in many ways during the last few years as might be desired; but that is not grist for the mills of the pessimist. Where, outside of Saskatchewan, are things going any better?—Regina Leader.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Declares Tanlac Completely Overcame Run Down Condition 3 Years Ago—Felt Fine Ever Since

Still another who vouches for the fact "Tanlac makes you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better," is Sam Nicolson, 121 11th Ave., East, Calgary, Alberta, a well-known employee of the Robin Hood Flour Mills.

"When I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I wasn't exactly sick, but I had no appetite and felt tired and worn out all the time. My strength and energy had about all left me and I was so run down that I never felt like work.

"What I needed was an all round building up and Tanlac did that very thing. My appetite picked up at once and I soon got to where I could eat better, sleep better, feel better and work better. Tanlac just seemed to fill me with new life and energy and while that was some three years ago I am still in good shape. No one in need of something to build them up can go wrong by taking Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Less Crime In Britain

Absence of Crime is Attributed to Decrease in Drink

"England accomplished an unprecedented feat of self-restraint after the signing of the armistice. Unlike the after period of all former wars, there has not been a crime wave and I ascribe it chiefly to the decline of the drink habit, for today the public house is a far less important factor in the life of the people than it ever was before." This was the opinion expressed by Sir Basil Thomson, former Chief of Scotland Yard, in an address given before a Toronto audience.

The Four Horsemen

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" showing at the Grand Theatre Wednesday, March 14th. This is the Rex Ingram production that cost $1,000000 to make and that New Yorkers paid $10 a seat to see when it opened its record breaking run in the metropolis. The artistic results are priceless. Indications of the screen's power have been given in memorable productions of other years, but not until "The Four Horsemen" has there been a photodrama that has compl e t ly filled the promise of epical achievement.

The artist to whom most credit has been awarded for his achievement is the director, Rex Ingram. Himself a sculptor before he entered the motion picture field, he has brought to the screen a sense of composition and form that is infallible in getting the right result down to the smallest detail. And then there are the big settings—the broad sweep of the Argentine plains with their enormous herds of cattle, the Buenos Ayres dance hall with its swirl of smake and glamorous vice, the whirling gaiety of the Parisian tango palace, the fevered rush of the mobilization scenes at the outbreak of the war, the cluttered retreat of the refugees, the seemingly endless masses of German troops pouring toward Paris, the bombardment and destruction of a village and a chatean on the Marne, the terrific horror and fascination of an infantry attack from the trenches into No Man's Land. And through it all is the uncanny vision of St. John, picturing the Four Horsemen—Conquest, War, Famine and Death—a vision that Mr. Ingram has portrayed in an atmosphere of unearthly imagination.

47 Indians on Trial

The biggest day's business ever handled at Creston police court was transacted on Friday afternoon and evening at the R.C.M.P. barracks, when Magistrate Mallandaine was confronted with a total of forty seven indians and squaws charged with gambling by the R.C.M.P., who were prosecuting under the Indian Act.

According to the evidence submitted the Creston indians were playing host to about a dozen reds from the Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, reserve, the excuse for the get together being a celebration of the third anniversary of the death of the late chief Dominic Luke.

There were several features to Thursday evening's festivities but about the time the redcoats arrived on the scene gambling was very much in evidence, and in the absence of real money horses and cattle were the stakes played for, the home of Moses Paul being the scene of activities.

The whole contingent appeared at the police barracks on Friday afternoon and the accused were handled in bunches of about ten, with squaws and bucks handled without sex distinction. Thirty of the Creston indians pleading guilty were assessed the costs of the court and allowed to go on suspended sentence, while the cases against eight others were dismissed. The dozen Idaho indians also pleaded guilty and after putting up costs of court were allowed to go on one month's suspended sentence.

March 17th Boxing

The Review has been asked to announce that the boxing and wrestling tournament, of which mention was made in last issue, will be held in the Grand Theatre on Saturday, March 17th. Training headquarters have been established in the warehouse of the Staples Fruit Company, and under the supervision of manager Staples work-outs have been a nightly occurence during the past month. While it is not possible to announce the programme in this issue, patrons will have an opportunity to witness five bouts of boxing and at least two exhibitions of wrestling. The main attraction of the evening will be a fight between Fred Benham of Creston and Kid Larson of Kitchener, in which the contestants have been scheduled to go 6 to 8 rounds. Both men have had considerable experience in the ring and are reported to be in splendid shape. The evening will feature Jimmy Lockhead and the Castonquay boys who will offer an exhibition of the art second to none ever exhibited in Creston. Two years ago a boxing tournamenr was staged for the purpose of assisting Creston baseball club. This year the tournament will be held under the auspices of the War Memorial Committee and all those who are anxious to help a good cause and at the same time obtain an evening's entertainment of the highest order will make a point of securing reserved seats which will be on sale early next week.

The select committee appointed at the Growers meeting on Saturday afternoon are very busy assembling all the facts so as to be able to make practical recommendations at the next meetings on the 17th. What the onlooker, however, cannot undesstand is tne seeming indifference of the growers as to the need of a little personal effort on their part to bring the two camps together. Plenty of contracts are available and it is hoped those favoring the B.C. Growers, Ltd., will begin to show a little enthusiasm.

Word came from Mrs. Mallandaine on Wednesday that her sister, Mrs. G. Westwood, had passed away in the hospital at Vancouver that morning., Mrs. Mallandaine having been at the coast the past month attending the deceased. The late Mrs. Westwood was mother of Miss Jean Westwood, whom many will remember as having spent the winter of 1916 17 here with Mrs. Mallandaine, while a nephew, Capt. N. Westwood, was the dental officer in charge of the forestry company that was recruited here early in 1917.

There was a fairly good turnout at the band-United Farmer whist and dance in the Parish Hall on Friday night, at which the winners at cards were Mrs. J. E. Hayden and Bert Hare, whilst the low scores were made by Miss Ethel Peairs and Mr. Oakley. After lunch there was a couple of hours dancing, with music by the band, assisted by T. Trevelyan on the accordeon. The band and U.F. take this opportunity to thank all who helped make the evening a success and particularly Mr. Trevelyan whose playing was much appreciated.
