AN AMERICAN APPRECIATION

New York Tribune's Comment on Result of Recent Election

As an example of the anxiety manifested in the United States and the appreciation shown by our allies across the line over the result of the recent election, the following article by Frank Simonds, the well known war critic and editor of the New York Tribune, is worth quoting. He says:

"Last April on the shell scarred slopes of Vimy Ridge, Canada at the front gave proof of her courage, her devotion, her strength. The 'Maple Leaf,' planted on one of the great bulwarks of German tyranny, in France, was a final evidence of the attitude of one-half of North America to the Boche threat to civilization.

"Before Vimy the Canadians had borne their part nobly. It was soldiers of the Dominion who broke the first weight of the German thrust after the gas attack in the second battle of Ypres. The British empire will long remember gratefully the sacrifices of the 'little black devils' and the 'Princess Pats' on that blood soaked ground about Ypres when the veteran army of Britain, 'The Old Contemptibles,' found their glory and their grave in October and November, 1914.

"Of the Canadians at the front there was no question. They had seen the German thing as it was. Their comrades had been 'gassed and crucified.' Their fellow-Canadians had fought cleanly and bravely against a barbarism which expressed itself in the methods and in tricks which were beneath the contempt of white men, and below the level of savages.

"Canada at the front knew the German, but what of Canada behind the front, three thousand miles away? Would that line hold, too? Well, she world has its answer now.

"The politician doubted. The weak, the weary, the conquered and the disloyol spread their forecasts and proclaimed the outcome. They are answered; so are doubting politicians and faint-hearted patriots the world over.

"As the American democracy found itself by re-electing Lincoln in 1864, the Canadian democracy has justified democracy and itself in 1917 by re-electing for the war, by accepting the man and the method which alone promise victory.

"It is a stirring thing, this victory of democracy in Canada over all the forces which make for surrender and for worse than surrender.

"The voice of the first allied electorate to be heard in many, many months is a sgn for all allied statesmen to observe and heed. Canada has sent 400,000 men to Europe. Canada has borne more than 125,000 casualties, but in the call of duty Canada's response is immediate and unmistakable. It is a response which will be noted in Berlin as well as in London. It is not too much to suspect it may even be heard in Rome.

"The United States will congratulate and pay just tribute to a neighboring democracy for its decision. In a time of momentary depression Canada has cheered all of us. In an hour of depression Canada has shown the road of courage and victory illuminated by the spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion.

"She has been faithful to her dead. To those of her sons murdered as well as those slain in fair fight. Germany proclaimed the doom of the British empire. She forecasted the dissolution of the great structure, she gambled on the selfishness of the democracy beyond the seas that own British allegiance.

"Australia responded at Gallipoli, Canada in Flanders, South Africa amidst the ruins of German empire in Africa, and after the army the people of Canada have by their voice endorsed the action of their sons.

"We in the United States look with admiration and gratitude to our northern neighbor.

"She has blazed the trail for us in Europe. Her sons, with not a few of ours enlisted under her colors, have carried the spirit of America to the battlefields of Europe. Tardily, but not too late, our own armies are coming up. In time we shall bear a part in the great battle for human liberty. May it be as splendid as Canada's part—it can not be more glorious.

"Meantime, for those at home, Canada has also pointed a duty and furnished an example; the people of Canada have once more supplied the proof politicians might always expect if they had faith. But they never have faith, because they are invariably unworthy of the people whom they represent. To have won Cambrai and lost Cunada would have been an allied disaater. To have won Canada and lost Cambrai is a victory beyond question and beyond dispute. We did not capture Richmond in 1864, but in electing Lincoln the north won the civil war. This war, like that of half a century ago, can only be lost by those back of the front, and Canada has demonstrated that behind the lines the spirit is as unconquered and indomitable as in the first line trenches of France and Belgium."

FREE SEED MAY BE OBTAINED

By instructions of the minister of agriculture a free dirtribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers.

The samples of grain for distribution will consist of spring wheat (about 5 lbs.), white oats (about 4 lbs.), barley (about 5 lbs.), and field peas (about 5 lbs.) These will be send out from the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by the Dominion cerealist, who will furnish the necessary application forms.

A distribution of potatoes in samples of about 3 lbs. will be carried on from most of the experimental farms, the Central farm supplying only the province of Ontario.

All samples will be sent free by mail. Only one sample of grain (and one of potatoes) can be sent to each applicant. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply very early.

SHORT SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Residents of Block 41, Plan 72, Are Assured of a Street

An adjourned meeting of the city council was held in the council chamber at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon for the purpose of advancing the temporary loan bylaw. The mayor and all the aldermen were present.

A letter was read from the city health officer, who drew attention to the number of old buildings and shacks near the city hall, creating a menace to the public health. He recommended that the same be condemned and removed.

A letter from S. T. Hull, manager of the Grand Forks Townsite company, stated that he had been authorized by his company to make a street allowance in block 41, plan 72, and to have the same registered.

Rev. J. D. Hobden was present and addressed the council. He asked for a small grant and the moral support of the council on behalf of the children's welfare convention to be held in this city on the 15th and 16th inst. He stated that Prof. Hugh Dodson, of Regina, would be present to deliver a number of addresses.

SOLDIERS' GRATITUDE TO WOMEN WORKERS

Lady Sclater writes from Harnham Cliff to an English paper asking it to publish (which it takes much pleasure in doing) the following very interesting litter, which shows how wounded soldiers appreciate the work women are doing for them in providing hospital comforts. Lady Sclater hopes that publication will stimulate further effort. The letter was sent to her war hospital workroom at 10 Pont street, London, S.W. It is as follows:

In Hospital, May 27, 1917.

Dear Madam:—Some time ago I had the pleasure of visiting your depot. Since then it has been my misfortune to be in various field ambulance C. C. stations and hospitals. I have, therefore, had some chance to judge of the far-reaching effects of your work. I can not help feeling that you who are working so hard at home, and getting so little thanks or praise for all you do, perhaps hardly realize the comfort and pleasure you give thousands of suffering, weary, sore men, or the relief your bandages and splints bring. They don't know whom to write to and thank, or where the things come from, or who makes them, but, as I happen to know, I feel I must write this line to you and the workers at your depot.

May I tell you a couple of things I've heard said. A Canadian from Vimy was brought into the bed next mine; not very bad, but very beat after a long journey by road. He was undressed and cleaned up a bit and given a pair of pyjamas and a bed jacket, and after he had been propped up in bed he said to me, "Gee, look at this suit and this jacket. I guess some one at home made these, God bless them. I feel kind of different already." Another time a man was brought in and put into what I think is called a "helpless case shirt," and he said, "Well, sister, I hope the person who makes these knows what a lot of pain they have saved me and hundreds of others like me."

These are only two small instances, but perhaps they will help me to show you how much officers and men alike appreciate what is being for them by those who sit at home and work hour after hour. You would realize our appreciation so much more if you could only look into some C. C. station or hospital soon after a convoy has come in. In conclusion, please accept our heartfelt thanks—the heartfelt thanks of thousands of men to whom your labors have brought peace and comfort. May God bless you all. I won't sign this, for, perhaps, it is not right that one of lowly rank should take on himself to voice the feeling of thousands. But I remain, One of the Many Who Have Benefited by Your Labors."

FROM SOMEWHERE IN PALESTINE

H. F. Broad writes to a friend in this city from somewhere in Palestine as follows:

"I am just back after a pretty strenuous conple of weeks (see papers), and I haven't had a wash for weeks. We are back a few miles to refit, and I don't know what will happen after that; but we have had quite a good show here lately. We are well out of the desert now and in land much like the dry belt of British Columbia, but very few mountains. The country is getting green, and with a good rain ought to be passable. At present it is more like hell than the Holy Land. The Turk got it rather in the neck; but he is the finest trench digger of the war. His trenches, if we held them, would never be taken. He digs down a trench twelve or fourteen feet deep and two feet wide, and lots of our men are too fat to walk along them. Geoffery, I am sorry to say, is in the hospital again. Must be pretty badly crocked up, as he never seems to get out of the hospital for very long."

MUNICIPAL ELECTION

To the Electors of the City of Grand Forks:

After having had the honor of being the Mayor of this City for two years, I concluded not to seek office the third term; but so many of my friends have been so persistent that should again endeavor to represent you as Mayor, that I have finally given way to their wishes. If elected again, I can assure you that I will strive to give my best efforts to the welfare of the City. As you have so kindly entrusted me with the City's affairs in the past, it will be my aim to maintain that confidence which you have so generously placed in me. Yours truly,

G. H. ACRES.

MUST DESPATCH TROOPS AT ONCE

Col. House Tells Washington American Forces Are Needed Overseas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—American fighting forces must be despatched to Europe with the least possible delay incidental to training and equipment, Col. House's mission to the allied council recommended.

The commission also stated that speeding up systematic co-ordination in shipbuilding is a primary requisite to the whole unity of effort of the military, naval and economic situation so essential between the United States and the allies.

The recommendations mean that hereafter the allies will co-operate and the training period will doubtless be shortened. Reports show that the commission has succeeded in its purpose of reaching a definite plan for the prosecution of the war.

VICTORY LOAN CONTRIBUTION IN PROVINCE

The people of British Columbia subscribed $17,877,642.50 to the Victory loan, and this is the net amount of new money actually subscribed by people living in the province. It does not include any conversions of previous issues; it does not include the sum of $439,350 subscribed by the provincial government; and it does not include any allocations to British Columbia of a proportion of subscriptions by eastern firms having branches in the province, nor proportions of the sums subscribed by employees of railway companies and other corporations by special arrangement with their employers. In other words, it is the naked net amount not padded as it might have been to boost the contribution from British Columbia.

The war-savings plan in the United States, which went into effect on December 3, appears to be a pretty good lesson in thrift. It brings to every person who can save even 25 cents a chance to buy government securities and thus do his share in financing the great war. It is the most comprehensive plan for encouraging thrift that any government has ever put forth. Briefly, the plan provides for thrift stamps, which cost 25 cents each, and for war-savings stamps, which cost from $4.12 to $4.23 each, according to the month in 1918 in which they are bought. When you buy a thrift stamp, you receive with it a card that has spaces for that one and fifteen other. When you have bought the whole sixteen and stuck them on the card, you can exchange the card for a war-savings stamp by paying the difference between the $4 that the card represents and the current value of the stamp, which is $4.12 this month and one cent more a month for the rest of 1918. On January 1, 1923, the government will redeem it for $5. With the war-savings stamp you receive a certificate that has twenty spaces. If you fill all those spaces with war-savings stamps this month, for example, you will have paid $82.40 to the government. On January 1, 1923, the government will redeem the certificate by paying you $100. That is, the certificate bears 4 per cent interest, compounded quarterly. The 25-cent thrift stamps do not begin to bear interest until you have sixteen of them, and have exchanged them as explained above. Although the investment does not mature until January 1, 1923, postmasters will redeem any certificate after January 1, 1918, at the cost to the purchaser plus one cent a month for each war-savings stamp; but the purchaser must give ten days' notice.

So far there is only one candidate in the field in our municipal election. It does not seem to be possible that a single man can make a very exciting contest.

The negotiations between the Bolsheviki and the German imperial government remind The Youth's Companion of what the rooster said who got accidentally shut into the box stall with the horse. When the rooster realized the situation, he looked up at the horse and said to him, "Now let you and me make an agreement that neither one of us shall trample on the other."

It seems to us that the dominant faction of Russia has been misnamed. It should be known as the Bullsheviki, or by some similar name signifying a popular fertilizer.

The war has its grim jokes. For example, the case of the German merchant in Barcelona who gave a Spanish sea captain a check for seven thousand dollars on a New York bank and told him to bring back the money in gold. The captain, when he found he could not take gold out of the country, invested the seven thousand dollars in Liberty loan bonds, which he carried back to the waiting Germaa.

As a part of the campaign to reduce the number of accidents among railway workers a "safety-first car" is going from station to station along the Canadian government railways. It remains at divisional and terminal points a week or more, and by means of motion pictures teaches the men the safest way to do their workr

HIGH COST OF LIVING; CAUSES AND REMEDY

"Providing for Honest Things, Not Only in the Sight of the Lord B ut Also in the Sight of Men."—II Cor. 8:21.

(PART THREE.)

BY C. E. STEWART.

Men's Hearts Failing Them

Over 1800 years ago a great man lived and died for humanity. He rose from the dead a Spirit Being, was exalted to God's right hand, and given all power in heaven and earth. Jesus declared he would come again and take unto himself his great power and reign for a thousand years—for the subjugation of evil and the uplift of the people. While this mighty One was on earth he told his disciples that down in the end of the age, when this "time of trouble" begins to brew, difficulties so strangely perplexing would arise that the leaders and captains of industry and thought would be in distress. The people at large naturally look to their leaders and lawgivers to supply remedies for all their social troubles. The financial and religious "kings" are therefore growingly anxious concerning the outcome. There is a soul sickness or religious apathy that is appalling, which is startling the doctors of divinity, because they can not meet the demands made of them nor cure the malady, and they are just about to be repudiated. The doctors of finance are admitting their impotency; wages are necessarily going up; commodities go up to meet the increased cost of production; labor demands and gets more pay to make toberable the increased cost of living; commodities again advance—ditto labor. This has been going on for years. "Shylock" must have his pound of flesh, and the whole economic fabric of civilization is getting top-heaay—and something must break. As a consequence, "men's hearts are failing them for fear of the things coming upon the earth—distress of nations with perplexity." Each different element of humanity, as the waves of a vast sea, is throwing itself against each other wave, and the ebb and in-rush of the tides of human passion are lashing against the shores and bulwarks of society, endangering the stability thereof. (Luke 21:20 28; Hebrews 12:25-29.)

Business hums always on an advancing market; if the market breaks business is dull. Therefore the market is "better" when stocks and bonds and foodstuks go up. Mr. Commercialism is in quite a dilemma over the situation—puzzled to know how to keep the markets on a perpetual advance (the U.S. federal reserve law acting as a brake to prevent "prepared panics"), and at the same time keep on advertising the mistruths that they are "better" when they are worse!

Supply and Demand Not a Factor

There are a great many things attributed to the cause of high prices One class accuses another of an endless effort to shift the responsibility. The "inexorable" law of supply and demand has ceased to be inexorable. No less a personage than Robert W. Childs, in charge of the government investigation of the food situation, says that food prices have nothing to do with the supply and demand; that the market is being manipulated, and he is backed up by prominent men. The war comes in for its share of the blame. The speculators are merely taking advantage of the war; they see the demands the war will make for certain things, and these things they buy up and corner, and let loose when they get good and ready.

That stocks and bonds and foodstuffs are in the hands of giant trusts, who manipulates the markets, just as the potter moulds his clay, there is no doubt; the rapid and widespread fluctuations and the harmony between the exchanges is proof of this. What appears to be "erratic" to the outsider is not really so; they send prices up and down almost at will. Their manipulations include the making of a profit when their wares decline—it is the liquidation process that squeezes out the little fish. Panics are always profitable to the stock gambler. We all remember the "rich men's panic" of about eight years ago, precipitated by Wall street, which, if the wires had been cut, the outside world would not have received a quiver. Formerly, every now and then there would be a panic to relieve the top heaviness of the markets; but the federal reserve law acts as a highly charged electric wire to hinder the financier from precipitating another panic—he can't let go—and now Shylock is quaking in his boots; he sees that in extracting his "flesh" he is going to draw "blood"—and that means death.

To get this unlimited control, which is now slipping from his grasp, Shylock has schemed and exercised his brains and learned to "work" money for gain, as the housewife kneads her dough for bread. Back in 1873 he performed one of his greatest feats—he perpetrated a fraud in the demonetization of silver. He pulled the wool over the eyes of congress, the senate and the president, and turned a piece of legislation to his own profit. Senators Blaine, Conkling, Voorhees and many others, and President Grant, who signed the bill demonetizing silver, all admitted they did not know they were sweeping aside one-half the valuation of the world's metal for money. We give this as a fifty cause of high prices. The awfulness and the far-reaching effects of this legislation is concisely set forth in Pastor Russell's book, "The Battle of Armageddon," pages 385 411, where he shows it came about in fulfillment of prophecy, and that it would never be remonetized.

Is Gold a Menace?

Most people are hungry for gold, and will take all they can get. And from the Bible viewpoint it matters little whither they have the gold or are determined to have it. "How hardly (with what difficulty) shall the rich (that will be rich) enter the kingdom of heaven." Silver was made a merchantable commodity when it was demonetiszed—was made a thing to be bought and sold at a flucuating price the same as wheat, and therefore lost its power as a money.

And how do we know but that gold has been demonetized by another fraud of the financiers in more recent legislation, and therefore also lost its power as a money standard, and become subject to market values? Depreciated gold is the sixth cause for high prices. The wholesale advances in the prices of everything augurs the argument in favor of gold demonetization. If this is true we can readily discern what some men claim they do see, and that is, that the high prices are attributable to depreciated gold. It might be hard to comprehend, but if a sack of flour cost a year ago two dollars in gold standard currency, and today costs four dollars, we can say that either wheat has doubled in price or that gold has lost its purchasing power by one half, because it takes twice as much gold to go the same distance. The uninitiated refer to it as an advance in wheat, but the expert financier, conversing in the financier's language, refers to it as the rapid depreciation of the gold metal.

If gold is being gradually changed to a merchantable commodity, like wheat, and the United States becomes the dumping ground for all the gold in the world, is it not plain that gold will decrease in value? It is no secret that Scandinavian and Latin countries do not want gold. The gold of the world is $8,000,000,000—and over half of it is in the United States. James B. Morrow, in a copyrighted article in the Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer, of December 28, 1916, shows some are theorizing how the United States can get rid of its excess of gold, which means that Shylock sees if business returns to normal, or below, he will have a lot of gold "loafing" in his vaults and for him to allow his money to lie idle is unthinkable. We do not know exactly what is causing gold to cheapen; but whatever it is, it is a potent factor in today's high prices.

We now hear of millions after millions of gold metal leaving the United States for Japan. Those who are not onto the tricks of "frenzied finance" are alarmed over it; but, if we could look behind the scenes we would, in all probability, see Skylock smiling up his sleeve. It is a matter of public print that a certain class of men have been alarmed the way gold from the Eastern countries has been pouring into the pockets of Uncle Sam. Under date of June 6 the caption of a Washington press dispatch says: "Healthy Business Conditions Seen as Gold Gain Ceases." Why are we afraid of gold!

Can we not see that an economic system that can not stand prosperity—remain normal while her vaults are gooded with gold—and which has the power to change the laws of supply and demand is a very weak and perverse one—weak in goodness and strong in badness! Theorizing reversely: the tension would be entirely removed, the nerves pacified, the blood cooled, and all the headaches gone, if we had absolutely no gold or silver. Did God make a mistake when he enriched the earth so bountifully with the yellow and white metals?

If Your Boy Goes to the Front

He has twenty-nine chances of coming home to one chance of being killed.

He has ninety-eight chances of recovering from a wound to two chances of dying.

He has only one chance in 500 of losing a limb.

He will live five years longer because of physical training.

He is freer from disease in the army than in civil life.

He has better medical care at the front than at home.

In other wars from ten to fifteen men died from disease to one from bullets.

In this war one man dies from disease to every ten from bullets.

It will take virtually all the labor of the country to do the work directly or indirectly needed for the armies. When you save you stop setting up your personal demand for goods against the demand of the government, and so release labor, and you put yourself into a position in which, by buying bonds or paying taxes, you can help the government pay for the labor so released

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

"The Canadians in France," A Great War Map

Canadian homes will no longer have difficulty in following the Canadian troops in France. There has just been issued a map of the European war area that clearly shows every point of interest that has been mentioned in dispaches since the Canadian forces first landed in France. It has been made especially for the great Canadian weekly, the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, and is a credit indeed to Candian enterprise. It is a marvel of detail and yet not crowded. It is in four colors and about $2\frac{1}{3}$x$3\frac{1}{4}$ feet and folded into a very neat cover, about 5x10 inches. The map is surrounded by a border of the regimental badges and coat of arms of nearly every battalion that left Canada, from Halifax to Vancouver. Every important point can be recognized at once. That portion of the map covering France is in a soft color with names of towns and battle scenes in black, easily recognizable. The map is endorsed by returned military experts as most complete and accurate in detail. The map could not be produced, except in such large quantities as The Family Herald will use, at less than two dollars a copy, yet it can be had absolutely free with The Family Herald.

The publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star for several months back have been fighting hard against the necessity of increasing their subscription rates, but eventually had to come to it like most other papers. The increase, however, is a mere trifle—twenty five cents a year, making their new rate $1.25—and with the year's subscription they will include a copy of this great war map free of charge. This is certainly a generous offer, and one that Canadians will appreciate. Many expected a much larger increase in the subscription price of The Family Herald, and are surprised at the small extra amount charged.

The enormous circulation of The Family Herald and Weekly Star should be still greater when this offer becomes known.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Miss Ida Hartinger has returned to Penticton to rejoin the public school staff in that city.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.
