'Small in size - but big in scope'

VOL.16 NO.32 | 20 PAGES | THE STAR, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1973 | 10 CENTS

SAYS FINANCE ALDERMAN

Keep property taxes in check

Ald. Gary Smith, Langley district's finance whiz, has asked municipal staff to fight off further tax increases.

Smith says there will be a 10 per cent increase, as usual, in assessment values next year, but he has asked the staff for "no increase in the millrate next year if at all possible."

He says the 10 per cent upping of assessment, coupled with a hike of "a couple of mills" amount to a 16 per cent increase in tax revenues, and he doesn't feel this is warranted.

At the same time, Smith has asked other committee chairmen to "bring out things that necessary have to go up." Recreation needs more money, and so does road building and maintenance, he says.

Former finance committee chairman, Ald. Bill Blair, Monday morning pointed to staff wages as a contributary factor in municipal inflation.

Blair said wages paid out in July of 1972 amounted to $77,000 but a year later, in July 1973 had shot up to $125,000.

Ald. Andy Milne, in an earlier discussion of farmland classification said that the structure of the municipality had shifted to the extent where the "greater part of our (current) taxes are being paid by new people on relatively small pieces of land."

GIRL KILLED IN HIT-RUN

A 15-year-old girl was struck down by a car and fatally injured as she was walking with a friend along Fraser Highway Sunday evening.

The girl, Debbie Jill Williams, of 2652 Rainville Road Victoria, was hit by a 1961 or 1962 model white car of unknown make, police said. The driver of the car sped off in spite of the attempt of another motorist to bring the car to a stop.

Lower mainland police were seeking the driver of the killer car all day Monday and scanning the scene of the accident for clues, but yesterday they were said to have a suspect of the hit-and-run in custody.

No name nor further information with regards to the details of the accident were released, however.

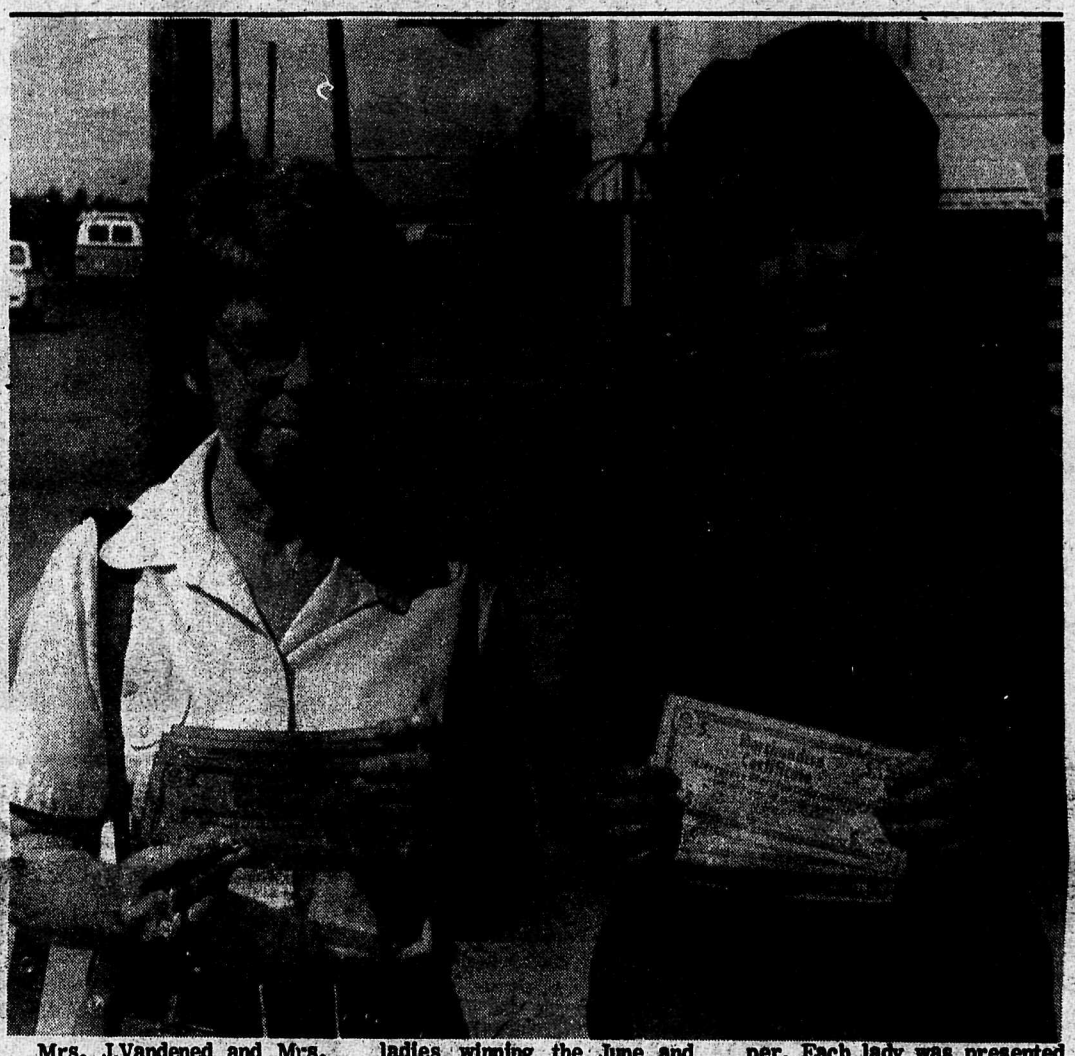
The two young girls were walking alongside Fraser Highway near 270th Street when the incident occurred shortly before dark at 9:35 p.m.

CIVIC CENTER IT IS

'Langley Civic Center' has been accepted by all involved as the official name of the public multi-purpose arena in Brookswood.

Ald. Ralph Barichello, of parks and recreation, said Monday the name had been okayed by the arena committee and the joint owners, Langley city and district councils.

Lengthy discussions, some of them quite heated, preceeded the naming of the facility.



Mrs. J.Vandened and Mrs. D. Rushlow were the two lucky ladies winning the June and July contests sponsored by the Aldergrove Merchants' Shopper. Each lady was presented with $50 in merchandise certificates.

SUMPTIN'S FISHY

Angling for votes, or publicity?

Langley's good ol' MLA, Bob McClelland, who last week announced his intention of seeking the leadership post of the Social Credit party, is now busy hob nobbing with the hordes.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week McClelland went fishing with the (shudder-shiver-quake) socialist premier off the westcoast of Vancouver Island according to a news bulletin from the capital city. And the local free enterprise enthusiast spent the night with Barrett and his entourage of NDP courtiers on board a gill-netter somewhere in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

What McClelland and his old friends were fishing for we do not know, and also we haven't been informed of whether or not the two bosom pals, Barrett and McClelland spent the night in the same foc'sle.

Welfare takes slight dip

Welfare in Langley district was 3.93 per cent during July, down slightly from the previous month, according to health and welfare chairman, Ald. Bill Blair.

SAYS ALDERMAN

Many offenders in the dump

Langley district municipality is expecting "a sizable amount of fines" to be extracted from people caught and convicted of dumping their household garbage outside the municipal sanitary land fill operation on Jackman Road. So says a Langley alderman.

Ald. Gary Smith told council Monday morning that quite a number of people had been caught in the act of illegal dumping of refuse, and "the fines might even pay for the operation."

Smith said the majority of the offenders had been caught by the new municipal constable, and the fines might also pay for his salary as well.

The former dump on Jackman Road South is open six days a week, Wednesday excluded, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. and minimum dumping charge is 50 cents a car load.

You just can't bamboozle nature

The long waited for Aldergrove lacrosse box is coming along. Slowly but surely.

One of the greatest problems encountered in connection with this sports facility is that "you just cannot rush nature", according to Ald. Ralph Barichello.

He told Langley district council Monday morning that there had been "quite a shamozzle on this to start with" and the recreation committee had been "in error earlier this year when we thought we could have it finished in May."

"With pressure from outside we thought we should give it a try," Barichello said, and added, "The weather never did cooperate until the end of June."

Now the main contractor on the job has asked an additional $6,700 to complete the box because a tile field apparently was destroyed when bulldozers cleared the site before the dry season set in. And some members of council feel this request is out of line.

Ald.Dan Kitsul said he would love to do the job himself and "make a pile of money."

"How much would it cost us (to repair the damage)?" asked Ald. Gary Smith.

"Well, it's the problem of doing it," said Kitsul. He said the municipal works crews just didn't have the time to do it now while the weather is perfect.

Ald. Bill Blair said another mistake was made when the district "allowed volunteer, unpaid engineers to go in" on the site preparation. He said this had contributed to the rush and the subsequent damage.

Council debated whether or not the district should repair the damage or let the contractor do it, but Clerk Derek Doubleday recommended the latter, saying that if anything went wrong there would then be no recrimminations against the municipal works department.

It was finally approved to award the additional re-tiling contract to Sinclair Contractors who already hold the main contract of $24,983. A minor contract of $4,000 is held by Deglan Bulldozing of Langley.

WHAT'S A BLACKHALL?

by Rudy Langmann

It is with great pleasure and pride we this week introduce Blackhall to our readers.

What is a Blackhall, you ask? Well, we suggest you turn to page 4 and check for yourself. And hopefully have a good laugh or two. You see, to make all our readers chuckle is part of our sinister plot as we believe in humor being the finest form for medicine. It will cure almost any of your ailments and you can practice it without getting into trouble with the AMA.

Anyway, although Blackhall himself, like most cartoonists and other men of the noble art of comedy and satire, is quite an unassuming and publicity-shy fellow, you will, if you study his cartoons in the weeks and months to come, probably get to know something about the man himself. He cannot hide his own self forever to our astute reader (you).

Blackhall, a man familiar with Aldergrove and Langley from away back, is going to help us (whenever we tend to mellow or soften up) to shoot little darts at the Establishment and point out to you mankind's daily foibles ... if not outright blow the image as well as mind of our more pompous and toplofty brethren.

It is no coincidence that we have chosen our beloved Langley district mayor to lead off the parade. Rather it shows the affection we feel for his worship. And, of course, we hope George will join us in a good belly-laugh, same as all the future victims of Blackhall's evil brush.

AT NEW AULD-PHILLIPS STORE

Lucky lady will draw $100 grand opening prize

This coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday will see the grand opening of the new Auld-Phillips store on 20500 Fraser Highway in Langley and a lucky visitor to the department store specializing in ladies wear and fabrics, will walk off with the $100 door prize.

But even if you aren't that lucky you will still find a visit very much worth your while. There will also be free balloons, treats, coffee, donuts and a free pair of panty-hose to all ladies who enter the store between 9:30 a.m. and 10 a.m. during the three-day introductory sale. The draw for the cash prize will take place on Saturday, August 25 at 4 p.m. And, of course, you'll find bargains galore in the newest fashions and fabrics.

Auld-Phillips now has two stores, one located on Yale Road in Chilliwack, and now the newest outlet in the former Duckworth store in downtown Langley. The Chilliwack store was bought eight years ago by Rod Cooper. The former owners, George and Mary Auld and partner Toots Phillips, started the business 40 years ago.

The company now deals exclusively in ladies' wear and fabrics and a large selection is in stock. The Chilliwack store has, over the years, become a family by-word and with the addition of the new store in booming Langley, it is expected that total yearly sales will gross over $1-million. The company bought the former Duckworth store two months ago and has since been adding to merchandise and reorganizing store layout. The fabric and staples are now on the main floor for more convenient shopping facility.

The Chilliwack main store has become a very popular shopping place for ladies looking for bargains in the medium price range. Because of their established 'satisfaction or money back' guarantee it has increased sales by 600 per cent since the business was bought by Rod Cooper eight years ago. Fast, efficient checkout service and a courteous and knowledgeable staff is the hallmark of the store.

In completely restocking the store the firm is closing out the men's and children's departments. The second floor will be a bargain centre for clearance sales, factory close outs, mill ends and remnants, etc.

As part of the fabric department you will find a modern sit-down pattern bar with all the latest styles from the great houses of fashion, and the customers can here choose from Simplicity, Style and McCall's patterns.

Lower table, lower wells

Langley district Ald. Bill Blair says you can't shut down a gravel pit because "one or two people are running out of water."

The comment came after a complaint by area residents that the deeper and deeper excavating of a gravel pit had lowered the water table so their wells had run dry.

Blair said people finding themselves in such position could just lower their wells 15 feet "and they'll probably have water again."

Building permit granted

A building permit will be issued to Jack and Ella Van Woudenburg to build a house and barn on their farm in northwest Langley.

For months the Van Woudenburgs were denied a permit because Langley council argued their land was in a flood plain, and albeit behind the dikes, prone to serious flooding. The Van Woudenburg farm is located in the Salmon River watershed west of Fort Langley.

Last week a Fort Langley lawyer, Don Nundal argued that council had "no right to refuse" a building permit for his clients and at the same time promised that the Van Wondenburgs would sign a covenant to be duly registered, to the effect that they were fully aware of the fact that their land could become subject to spring flooding. Nundal said it was necessary for his clients to build and live on the farm in order to run a productive farm operation.

After conferring with municipal solicitor Henry Castillou, council decided this week to grant the permit.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Not many can qualify

Editor, The Star, Dear Sir,

Letters to the Editors are interesting and appreciated by most readers of a newspaper. Although this part of a newspaper is used mostly for complaints against the governing powers of the country or community, this must be considered as constructive criticism which is necessary and needed to produce improvements and progress. Small articles and stories of odd experiences and happenings are also of interest and appreciated by many readers. The following is one such odd but true story.

It is a well known fact that there are quite a few hermits or recluses living off the land in wild or mountainous territories, but that there exists or has existed any such hermits living off the land on the bald-faced prairies is something else, perhaps almost entirely unknown. In the early 'thirties', I got in touch with two such hermits, each of them living entirely separate from each other. Since they were old men at that time, it is hardly possible that they are still living, and there may not be any other person in North America that can qualify (hermit status).

At that time, I was operating a Silver Fox Farm at Iddesleigh, Alberta. One day, I went to a gully which extended far up on the prairie from the Red Deer River badlands to get a load of coal, driving a small Model 'T' truck. The coal was a two foot seam near the surface and quite easy to get out. When I got there, there was an old man with a wagon which was very old and had a makeshift box to hold a small load of coal. An old derelict horse was hitched to the wagon. Since this little old man apparently had a long way to drive home, I helped him to get his load ready. When done, he asked me if I was thirsty and it being very hot in that coulee, I certainly was thirsty. He said he had some tea but it was only sage tea. He unwrapped a large package inside of which he had a large bottle. I had a drink and it was not a bad drink. Could be that the manufacturers of the 101 health herb teas have overlooked one of the best!

When I later inquired about this old man, the local storekeeper told me this man was "old Eric", a hermit living about 15 miles out in no mans' land. Also, I was told that he lived on gophers, and only every spring and fall would he come in to the village to get a bag of flour. This storekeeper, who incidentally was the father of the former minister of agriculture, Bud Olson told me he would take me out to see Eric's place the next Sunday. At the same time, he would also take me to another hermit's place about 5 miles further. This other hermit was a former trapper and prospector, he said, and his name was Flannigan. This man knew how to trap coyotes and rabbits, and apparently did not rely on gophers for his food! Each of these hermits lived in an old one-roomed cabin, very poorly equipped. There was nothing else to be seen. Since I was young and inexperienced at the time, I regret to say that my interest was prompted by curiosity, and I did not try to learn more particulars on their complete mode of living.

Sincerely yours,
Fritz Peterson

Fraser Valley Rock and Gem Club

Beautiful Work in Soapstone shown by Special Guest

The Fraser Valley Rock and Gem Club held its regular meeting in the O.A.P. hall, Aldergrove last Saturday, August 10 at 8:00 p.m. with Mr. Roger LeGentil as the chairman. Our guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clayburn and also Mr. Bob Young.

Mrs. Olive Ferguson presented an interesting "Rock-talk", concerning many lovely varieties of the Agate family. The Agate is a silica composed of alternating layers of variously colored chert (very fine grained quartz), and is found in many countries throughout the world. It takes a ready polish, and is a excellent stone for beginner lapidarians to start with. Many agates will florescent and many can also be dyed to produce other rich colors. There are virtually many kinds of agates – the Grape Agate resembles a cluster of grapes, the Iris Agate which is clear and colorless, shows a brilliant display of colors. Only about one in 10,000 tends to be an Iris. The Agate is a banded chalcedony, though Moss Agate reveals fernlike designs. Onyx is likewise banded, the layers being straight. Carnelian is red chalcedony, chyrsoprase is green, bloodstone is also green but with red spots resembling drops of blood. Jasper occurs in many colors, typically dark red, green, or yellowish-brown. The Agates are the favorite stones of amateur lapidaries who have a rewarding hobby in cutting and polishing them.

Mr. Ernie Pfister gave an interesting talk about "Pryrolusite", which is a black drendrite of soft metallic iron. It is of great value in the uses of the arts, and acts as a decolorising agent in glass and is also used in batteries. The specific gravity of the mineral is 5, and the most extensive deposits are in the Soviet Union, India, South Africa and Brazil.

The Merrifield Table was very worthwhile with samples of lovely Fraser River Agates, Tiger-Iron and Jasper which Lloyd Tucker presented to the club. Soapstone and a beautifully Eskimo carved walrus was brought by Mr. Alex Rose. Mr. Ernie Pfister presented a lovely picture-rock, thunderegg from the Richardson Ranch in Oregon, and also some lovely Agate from Arizona. Next month's selection of mineral is to be of "Fossils".

Mr. Bob Young of Ladner was our special guest. He does excellent work in carving figures from wood or Soapstone and brought with him two lovely samples of his work. His latest figure of a mother and child, which has already involved 16 hours of work, and when fully finished, he promised that he would return with it for our viewing. To start, one must decide on what shape is best attained from the Soapstone block, and the general theory is that there is a subject in every stone, and you just release it by carving. The shape of the stone makes the decision for you, but bears and seals are the easier subjects to carve, as they have a more natural line of body structure to follow. One needs a knife to carve with and usually any fractures in the stone are knocked off first. A Gauge chisel, which is also good in wood carving will remove large chunks too. With a coarse rasp, you work one way then the other, and quite a bit of material is also removed. The thin slabs of stone are useful, and shouldn't be discarded, as they are mainly used as a relief carving, and are lovely when mounted on wood. We enjoyed Mr. Young's presence very much, and shall look forward to when he can return.

Our Rock and Gem Show will be held on September 15 and 16 in the Elk's Hall in Aldergrove.. a warm and hearty invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Refreshments and social hour followed our meeting and our next date is scheduled for September 8. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

Stand on principle

Next Sunday morning a man who had long been a cripple tells in the Christian Science radio program how he learned to stand on Principle, God, with the result that he was made perfectly well. "What Are You Standing On?" will be broadcast by local stations listed in "The Truth That Heals" ad in this newspaper.

'Sandhill' farms in Langley?

"What is the sense in cutting up the best farmland in Ladner and keeping a bunch of sandhills in Langley?" Ald. Bill Blair posed the query in Langley district council's committee meeting Monday morning.

Blair said the best agricultural land in Delta had been cut up for freeways, pipelines, power corridors and other right of ways. He said he couldn't understand why the government then, at the same time, was trying to preserve the rural atmosphere of Langley.

Ald. Ralph Barichello said he was convinced the government would study the problem in depth and eventually come up with a re-classification of what constitutes farmland.

Last day for YES next Thursday

by Shirley Barbeau

Youth Employment Services will be closing down this summer on Friday, August 31. If you have any jobs that need doing — whether it's something big or small — employ a young person! Give Y.E.S. a call at 856-2521.

There are only three more days your youngsters can benefit from the free elementary piano lessons Cathy Enns is giving. The location is the Aldergrove elementary school's gymnasium. Students over the age of eight are welcome to participate. The days on which these piano lessons are taught are: Thursday (August 23), Tuesday (August 28), and Thursday (August 30). If you would like to register your daughter or son for these lessons, phone 856-2521 and ask for Cathy.

Y.E.S. is still offering a mailbox painting service. Your mailbox is painted and-or lettered in whatever colors you choose. The charge for this is nominal — only $1 — and is used to cover costs of paint and brushes. Edith Penner and Linda Christensen are doing the painting and lettering end of this mailbox service. So, if you want your mailbox done, give Y.E.S. a call at 856-2521 and ask for Shirley.

As always, we would like to remind you that it makes things a bit easier for the office staff (Shirley Barbeau and Cathy Enns) to get someone out to you if you give a call to Youth Employment Services a few days in advance of when the worker is needed. Office hours are 9-4, Monday through Friday. Y.E.S. would be open longer if possible, but Aldergrove secondary school (where the Y.E.S. office is located) locks up at 4 p.m. So, give Youth Employment Services a call if you need some help, or contact Y.E.S. care of General Delivery, Aldergrove, B.C.

Another chapter written in Eldorado Epic, Mufford Edda

Solicitor Peter Oreck was at Langley council with another chapter of the Mufford Saga Monday night.

Oreck told councilmen it was his intention to turn author and serialize the history of the Mufford-Eldorado industrial complex at Milner versus the local council. And the lawyer has made no bones about who he considers the villains.

What brought on the new section in the never-ending story was the recent (August 6) decision of council to color the Eldorado property pink on their zoning map to be forwarded to the Central Fraser Valley regional district. This, to the layman, opened the way for the Eldorado trailer factory to start business in Langley, locating on part of the Herbert Mufford farm at Milner. That is, if the map is approved by the district and ultimately by the provincial land use commission.

This was a long-time contentional issue, since about half of the council members were violently opposed to the Milner industrial idea, while Eldorado originally was given the go-ahead, by a majority vote of councillors.

And Monday Oreck was back to press for the okay of the Mufford industrial complex, on the remainder of the old farm.

However, this was never promised, and although the lawyer tried to convince council that the Muffords "deserve some support from council" and that it was ridiculous to zone part of the farm industrial and not the rest, council responded that the matter was now out of their hands, and if Oreck wanted to write further chapters in the epic he would have to do his research at the regional offices.

Ald. Gary Smith said a letter from Victoria indicated that the land commission did not consider the proposal a very good idea, but this definition was disputed by Oreck.

And his colleague, Ald. Andy Milne said council, "all seven of us", had attempted to put together a map that would be credible to Victoria. He said the government would have thrown the map out for sure as being "totally frivolous" if the district had asked for further land to be exempted from the land freeze as ordered by Bill 42.

Ald. Ralph Barichello concurred that Oreck's next step would be to canvass the regional district, but at the same time the alderman didn't fail to point out that he himself had been in favor of the rezoning to industrial of the fertile Milner Valley, for the use of "prestige industries", all along. "It is a closed issue now," Barichello said, "and your next step will be attend the meeting of the regional district and present your submission there."

Ald. Bill Blair, also an advocate of prestige industry on the land where McMillan portaged 150 years ago on his way to the Fraser River, added that Oreck could do so, but he thought it would be a useless exercise as the regional district would not be likely to listen to his submission, especially not without council's blessing.

This statement caused a few angry words to fly back and forth across the council table, whereupon Blair walked out in a huff, saying he had better things to occupy his time.

Mayor George Preston asked if this could be understood as Blair's resignation, to which Clerk Derek Doubleday said no, a resignation would have to be in writing.

OR HOW ABOUT A BLACK MARIA?

Buy him a police truck

Ald. Dan Kitsul has suggested that Langley district buys a new pickup truck for the use of the municipal constable, rather than paying the enforcement officer mileage at the rate of 15 cents per mile or approximately $400 per month.

Kitsul says he "cannot see how it pays to pay a man $400 per month or $4800 per year when we can buy (him) a pickup for less."

The alderman was reminded by other council members that the constable, who is paid mileage on top of his $600 salary, is still working on a probationary basis. But if the job proves worthwhile the matter could be reconsidered.

The constable, accompanied by his own police dog, is now driving his own compact car.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Macey spent two weeks with their daughter, Delaine, her husband and family, at Chemainus, Vancouver Island, where Daryl has been transferred for his work.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Corbett and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Penner drove to Quesnel last week. Mrs. Corbett enjoyed the visit with her sister and Mr. Penner saw his brother. They were away four days.

Several ladies gathered at the home of Sue Jackson on Thursday to help Mrs. Gunderson celebrate her birthday. A pleasant time was had visiting with neighbors, after which the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Agar, served a very lovely tea.

Following is a summary of rain totals in the dry period: 10 days Aug. 6-15 - trace; 22 days July 25-Aug. 14 - .23"; 39 days July 8-Aug. 15 - .33", 52 days June 25-Aug. 15 - .98". .46" fell on Thursday in a twelve-hour period, the heaviest since June 6 when we had .49" in twelve hours.

With the clearing skies Friday evening very low minimums were recorded. Abbotsford Airport had 38 deg. on the 18th equalling their record low for August established Aug. 19 and 24, 1947. In 28 years of records no other August has had a temperature below 40 deg. At Aldergrove 36 deg. has been recorded in August in three previous years, 1965, 1966, and 1969. Temperatures lower than 40 deg. have been recorded in nine out of 22 years. Saturday's minimum on the grass was 32 deg., Sunday's 33 deg.

The latest really cool minimums last spring were on May 28 - screen minimum 35 deg., grass minimum 31 deg.

KINDERGARTEN, ELEMENTARY REGISTRATION

Up to and including the first day of school, registration for Kindergarten to Grade 7 pupils should be done at the Regional Office. Elsewhere in this edition of the paper you will find a list of the Elementary Schools by Region. By referring to this, you can determine at which school your child should be registered.

Pupil increase leads to staff additions

At June 30, 1973, the total number of students from Kindergarten to Grade 12, in the Langley School District was 8401. A large increase in the number of 1,000 pupils is expected this September. To accommodate this growth staff increases have been made. The instructional staff has been increased to 419. To replace those teachers who have left the district, and to provide the new staff required, 95 teachers have been hired.

Two new junior secondary schools, a new elementary school, and classrooms added to existing buildings are now staffed.

SHOW TALK

by Frank Marshall

The one thing about TV and the film industry that's common is the fact that when one has a big success the other follows. MASH was a box-office hit in the theatres, so TV came up with a series. 'On The Buses' and 'Mutiny On The Buses'.

The latest to come is on its way; the Carry On Gang over the years a top hit in the movie houses so TV have decided to come up with a half hour series. To date they haven't announced whether it will be with the real Carry On Gang or a new TV crew.

The National Film Board has made, with the cooperation of the Canadian Equestrian Team, a film on horses and horsemanship. This film will be shown in the near future at the local theatres as a short subject but it is very well done.

Watch for the film 'Let the Good Times Roll'. It's all about the early days of rock and roll and has all the top entertainers of the rock years in it.

Anthony Quinn has the film rights to mobster Frank Costello's biography. Costello said once that he wanted Quinn to play him, if it was ever going to be made into a movie, so natch Quinn, all businessman, bought the rights.

James Cagney will receive the second annual American Film Institute Life Achievement Award in March of next year. Cagney will make his first personal appearance in 12 years to accept the award.

Answers to last week's quiz:

Sarah Jane Fulks is the real name of Jane Wyman.

Joseph Cotton played the role of the man who saved Ingrid Bergman in Gaslight.

Ronald Colman played Bulldog Drummond, George Raft Johnny Angel and Robert Taylor the role of Johnny Eager.

On the Local Scene

The Hillcrest Drive-In Theatre once again goes with first run product as on Monday forenoon they received word that they will play this week the film mentioned above, 'Let The Good Times Roll'.

The Clova this week brings Elvis to the screen in his new one, 'Elvis On Tour', along with that real funny show 'Slither'.

James Bond feature, 'Live and Let Die' is held over for another week at the Westminster Drive-In.

Shiver and shake up the Matterhorn

by Joan Zyda

Despite an arthritic spine, past heart attacks and a fear of heights, Stanley Zundell, 60, likes to live dangerously.

He left last week for Zermatt, Switzerland, to try to climb the Matterhorn five separate times.

If he is successful, Zundell will break the world's record for the total number of ascents of the 14,780-foot mountain by a non-professional climber.

A.F. Mummery, a non-professional English mountaineer, made seven ascents over a nine-year period ending in 1874. But Zundell, who has already made five ascents of the Matterhorn since 1969, is challenging that record.

He plans to complete five more climbs in three weeks.

"Violent exercise with fear just turns me on," said Zundell, president of a Santa Monica bank. "Once on the summit of the mountain, you look down at your toes. They're just six inches away from falling — 9,000 feet down to the village of Zermatt.

"This challenge really turns me on. I'm enchanted and mesmerized by it. The Matterhorn is my concept of heaven."

Zundell and a guide will leave Zermatt (elevation 5,500 feet) for Hornlihutte, a climbers' outpost at 10,500 feet. They will stay there until they are used to the altitude's thin air.

One day, at 3 a.m., they will begin the climb to the summit of the Matterhorn at 14,780 feet. The ascent will take the men about six hours.

They will not stop for rest, food or drink. The theory, Zundell said, is to get up to the top and back down as quickly as possible because of the daily snowstorms.

Zundell got into shape for the feat by swimming 500 yards and running five miles daily. He practices climbing at Mt. San Jacinto, Mt. San Gorgonio and Mt. Baldy in southern California.

Zundell will tackle the Matternorn with a bare head, an open shirt and bare legs. He refuses to wear the thick, heavy climbing gear of the Swiss climbing guides.

"I'm just warm-blooded," he explained. "They (the guides) get so bundled up. They look like they are going to Antartica. But I'm going to look like I just came from the beach."

GRANT WITH A RIDER

Langley district council has decided to make another donation to Trinity Western College. This time it is $2,000 worth of gravel to help build up a soccer pitch on the private college campus.

There will, however, be one rider to the gift, namely that the recreation commission deems the public is getting "sufficient use" of the finished field.

The college has promised that the public will reap part of the benefits from the soccer pitch, but council would like that farther substantiated.

"We will have to enter into an agreement with them (the college) regarding the use of the pitch, before the grant can be made," an alderman said.

Ald. Dan Kitsul, a land developer, said the current price for a load (12 yards) of gravel is about $22.20.

CLAIMERS PROVIDE ACTION

by Larry Pynn

It was the Claimers class that stole all the action last Saturday night at Langley Speedway before a full grandstand of spectators. Cam Barnes, of Burnaby tried his luck at winning for the first time and came out very well indeed. As if the trophy and fast heat weren't enough, then he had to go and walk away with the 'A Main' event. A very successful day for Barnes. Second place went to Don Downer. Al Pendergast got around the track the hard way when he rolled his car during the 'A Main'. But that wasn't to stop Al as he pushed his car back on all fours and continued throughout the race. Maybe he was hitchhiking because the only injury he sustained was to his thumb.

In the Super Stock Class it was Don Fletcher, out of Delta, who won the 'A' dash. In the 'A Main' it was Gordie Hemrich who once again pulled off a first place win. Gordie now has a towering lead in the Carling Point Standings. John Rothwell, a not-so-consistent Burnaby winner, placed second with Al Turround of Surrey, third.

The 'B Dash' saw Len Hargett from Anacortes take first place. In the 'B Main' Jim Strattachuck, George Renson and Ed Weismiller took the top honors. They are from Burnaby, Stanwood, Washington and Bowel Island respectively.

Aldergrove once again wrapped up the Modified Stock class in the Main event. Marty White placed first ahead of Andy Fentie. Marty seems to be consistently overtaking Andie now that the season is heading toward the checkered flag. Time will tell who gets the top Carling Points. Sig Krickemeyer of Surrey was third. The trophy dash was won by Keith Whitter of Burnaby.

Bellingham Motocross Results

Last week's motocross race travelled to Bellingham for a Sunday of action at Hannegan Raceways. The track was dry and dusty for the one hundred and twelve odd riders who participated. The main attraction of the day was Jim 'Crash' Ralph who tried some trick riding and ended up shaking hands with the local neighborhood stump. Fortunately, his shoulder was the only thing injured and his trick CZ was not damaged. (Just joking - actually Ralph did receive a nasty shoulder scrape). The next race is in Mission next Sunday.

Here are the results:

100 A - Danny McKenzie, Yamaha, Burnaby.

100 B - Morrie Grammy, Yamaha, Vancouver.

125A - Larry McKenzie, Honda, Burnaby.

125 B - Wally Levy, Suzuki, Aldergrove.

250 A - John Maynard, Yamaha, Everett.

250 B - Bob Unger, Montesa, Abbotsford.

Open A - Henning Hansen, Husky, Vancouver.

Open B - Dan Riddock, CZ, Surrey.

Milne points to bad crossings

... and goes on guided tour

Two representatives for CNR, summoned by Langley district council, dutifully showed up Monday morning. Al Maynard and Jim Charley answered to charges that the CNR does a perfect snow job but a lousy between-the-tracks-at-level-crossings-paving job.

Ald. Bill Blair said in particular two crossings, that at Jackman Road in Glen Valley and the one at 208th Street were in terrible shape.

Charley said he thought the CN had nothing to be ashamed of. Council disagreed.

"What's the problem?" asked Ald. Dan Kitsul. "Is it a money problem or a shortage of men or just that CN doesn't wanna do nothin'?"

"Part of our problem is that everytime we talk to a different (CN) person," Ald. Andy Milne said.

However, Blair was the diplomat, saying, "Yes, but we have never been so close to anyone who could fix them (the crossings) for us." Charley had said they had authority to do something "within reason".

It was agreed that Milne should go on a "guided tour" through Langley with the two gentlemen and point out the bad crossings. And then Milne would report back on his Odyssey at the next meeting of council on Monday, August 27.

PLANE CRASH INJURES MAN

A 25-year-old Abbotsford man is in serious condition in Royal Columbian Hospital after the home-made plane he was flying crashed last Sunday on Sumas Prairie.

Roy Stanley Buckton of 33479 Rainbow Ave. suffered multiple fractures and a head injury.

RCMP said the crash happened at 4 p.m. in a cornfield east of Dixon Rd. between Campbell and Number Five Roads.

The single-seat aircraft is owned by Leon King of 2488 James Street, Abbotsford. The accident is being investigated by the Ministry of Transport and RCMP.

Everywhere a chick - chick

A Langley man who had too many chickens in his yard was told by the bylaw enforcement officer last week to get them into the freezer, pronto.

And Ald. Bill Blair wasn't enthused. He didn't think this was fair and right.

However, Ald. Andy Milne told him it was right in the town of Fort Langley, and apparently there was some sort of bylaw limiting the number of chickens to be kept in Fort Langley residential areas.

"I wasn't aware of the bylaw myself," said Milne.
