Has Seedless and Coreless Apple

Geo. Drennan has a novelty in the fruit line and one that may revolutionize the apple industry. Last spring Jas. Carter gave Mr. Drennan an old apple tree, which the latter carefully planted. It was originally an Ontario but had been recently grafted to a Delicious. A remarkable thing about the tree was that the graft bore fruit the first year, which was duly gathered and put away separately from the other apples. Last week Mr. Drennan tried one of the new apples to see what the flavor was like, and on cutting into it found that there were no seeds nor no core. Several more were cut into, and they were all the same—seedless and coreless. Whether the tree will continue to bear the "better fruit" of course remains to be proven, but if it does Mr. Drennan should have a very valuable tree.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

Tight boots are said to aggravate attacks of neuralgia.

Little girls hate to be called boys, and they are right in doing so, and little boys hate to be called girls, and no one can blame them for their resentment. This is a wonderful provision of nature which makes each sex more than content with its lot. It would be awkward if all women wanted to be men and if some men wanted to be women. It would make the good old world a rather miserable place.

Girls for adoption are more in demand than boys, which shows that baby girls are more popular than boy babies with the people who want to increase their families in this way. Yet boy babies are very nice, and it is a heartbreak when they grow up and leave us even if they make a success of life. Perhaps their going isn't any harder to bear than staying at home and making a failure of life. It is the duty of every young man to make good to his parents the promise of his cooing babyhood.

The duty of providing for the family, of feeding and clothing them, of keeping them warm in a comforiable house is a strong man's work. In doing it he gets many a buffet from the world and gets many a disappointment. The weight of discouragement often bears heavily upon him. If he has a nice wife, however, and loveable children all thesedis-couragements are nothing at all. But there are some women who are not nice, who are forever scolding and grumbling, and who are full of reproaches. These women make even a good man feel the weight of his burden. The bond of affectionate sympathy between husband and wife is the strength and beauty of the home.

The Immortal Memory

"Robert Burns has passed to his great reward, has been dead for well nigh 127 years, yet the wonderful power of his genius remains with us as a legacy for all time—an imperishable gift, stronger in its potent power as the years go by. Reticence, it is said, is seldom found in conjunction with genius; the lack of it, in the case of Burns, has given the mean and uncharitable the opening for an ill-natured criticism, in seeking to "draw his frailties from their dread abode"—a reprehensible course that might well invoke the cry, "Alas! for the rarity of Christian charity."

We love the man for what he was—a real benefactor to his country. We seek not to canonize him; he himself would not have wished it so, for in his "Bard's Epitaph," written in the "golden time of youthful prime," he predicted his own fate and held a far truer and more humble measure of himself than even his most severe critic could have done:"

"Is there a man whose judgment clear,
Can others teach the course to steer,
Yet runs himself, life's mad career,
Wild as the wave,
Here pause—and thro' the startling tear,
Survey this grave.

The poor inhabitant below
Was quick to learn and wise to know,
And keenly felt the friendly glow,
And softer flame;
But thougtless follies laid him low,
And stain' his name!"

—A. F. Reid, in Vancouver Province.

Connie Runs For Mayor

Brick throwing becomes a popular outdoor sport when Constance Talmadge takes the stump as candidate for mayor of the town in her new First National release, "Woman's Place" which will be shown at the Greenwood Theatre on Saturday, Jan. 27. But Connie's winsome ways make a decidedly deeper impression than the bricks. The production promises to be one of the most popular ever screened in this community. It is from a John Emerson-Anita Loos story, directed by Victor Fleming, and with Kenneth Harlan playing opposite Constance.

Donated His Savings

While the various organizations of the North Shore that undertook to bring Christmas cheer to the less fortunate families on this side of the inlet, received numerous donations of one kind and another, and these donations were all highly appreciated, there has come to light one instance of generous heartedness which is worthy of special mention. Santa Claus recently received a donation from Master Bud Ewing, which amounted to $3.50 and represented Bud's savings for this purpose for the past year. It is understood the donation is made annually and is for the purpose of bringing Christmas Cheer to the needy children of the North Shore.—North Shore Press.

Bud is a native of Greenwood being the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ewing, of North Vancouver, formerly of this city.

Mountie's Horse Found

"There is no place like home," and this old adage appears to be as deep-seated in the mind of a horse as his master, for recently the fine bay gelding belonging to the R. C. M. P., and ridden by Corporal Williams of Trail, suddenly dropped out of sight. A diligent search was at once made, and last week, to the surprise of everyone interested, the animal was discovered by one of the R. C. M. P. near Oroville, Wash., evidently making for his old home near Grand Forks, from which place he was brought to Trail about three years ago. The animal had, immediately he got free, left Trail unnoticed, coming to Rossland and going by the route traversed when he was brought here, via Paterson, and on in the direction of his birthplace. Corporal Williams was overjoyed when the news of the animal, a great favorite with himself and family, was received.—Rossland Miner.

Lessons Of History

The political history of the world is one long continued story of struggle towards the accomplishment of reforms—a never ending battle to overthrow existing evils and to right grievous wrong. From the early dawn of history, under old despotic monarchies, up through the dark ages," right down to the present time, man has striven to better his condition, obtain his liberty, and defend and widen that liberty.

But all too frequently in the attempts made to remove injustices and right existing wrongs, and in the methods employed to these ends, equally great injustice has been done, and even greater wrongs perpetrated. The history of the world affords numerous examples where, even in the name of religion, terrible wrongs have been inflicted upon thousands of innocent people, and appalling injustice meted out.

Take the Russia of today as an example. History records that for centuries under the absolute rule of the Czars people were downtrodden, liberty flouted, innocent men, women and children thrown into prison without trial, banished to Siberia, and put to death. Groaning under the burdens imposed upon people, plot followed plot, Czars and Governors were assassinated, revolutions fomented. Finally, the revolutionares were successful, and a republic set up. But what is it? A republic of fanatics, whose leaders hold office through a reign of terror, under which liberty has become a by-word, and whose excesses far exceed those of the later years of the Czardom. In other words, the cure is for the time being worse than the disease.

In the first half of the last century it is not to be denied that the workers of the world were underpaid, poorly housed and fed, and the conditions under which they were obliged to labor almost everything they should not be. Factories were unsanitary and unsafe, often veritable firetraps; mines unprotected! seamen were made the victims of press gangs, and the worker generally the victim of rapaciousness and greed on the part of others. Gradually, the workers of the world organized for self defence. Reforms were forced. Conditions bettered in every way. Then in turn the organized workers, utilizing their strength, began to impose arbitrary and unjust conditions, not on employers alone, but on their fellow workers, and to such an extent that only those who would conform to their particular views and methods, and subscribe to their creed, were allowed to enjoy the right to work and thereby live.

Realizing the power of trades unionism, not only over employers and Governments, but over the workers of the world, the "Reds" of the world burrowed their way into control of many of these union organizations. Socialists, Communists, Bolsheviki, all the loud speaking, agitating elements, have to a large extent succeeded in silencing the voice of the saner, level-headed men in the ranks of organized labor. Anyone challenging the half-baked theories of these agitators is denounced as a traitor to the cause, until they gradually drop into the background, while the Bolsheviki element step forward as the exponents of the cause of the workers of the world.

But, as all past history demonstrates, there inevitably comes a time when the newer evil which has developed out of the successful attempt made to right a still older wrong, must likewise give way before those who, disgusted and alarmed over the trend of affairs, organize and do battle against the latest and common enemy.

That is what has happened in Italy in recent months. During the war the Socialists and Communists got the upper hand and when the war ended they were masters of practically all Italian industry, and threatened the existence of stable government in that country. Then arose the Fiscisti. It had its origin in opposition to Socialism which was rapidly ruining Italy, as it has for the time being ruined Russia. From small beginnings, the Fiscisti Movement has developed until today it numbers one million members, the sons of the finest people of Italy. The Fiscisti have succeeded in driving the Communists out of factories and restored them to their owners. They broke the power of the agrarian trades unions and liberated many farm hands from Socialistic control. They have taken power out of the hands of Socialistic mayors and councils. They are rapidly putting an end to industrial strikes in Italy, which were paralyzing and impoverishing the country. Finally, they forced out of office through a peaceful revolution the national Government which was subservient to Socialistic influence.

As a result of this counter-revolution of the Fiscisti, Italy is gaining in prosperity and in power and influence among the nations. The Fiscisti stand for stable, responsible government. They are upholders of the law of Italy, and are striving for the welfare, not of any one class, but of the Italian people as a whole, of Italy itself. It is a national movement which is attracting the attention of the civilized world, and is bound to have a profound influence in other countries where existing organizations are selfishly striving for their own individual benefit rather than for the welfare of the community as a whole.

Renown's New Type Armor

Changes for Cruiser Which Carried Prince Around the World

H.M.S. Renown, "the largest yacht in the world," the battle cruiser which carried the Prince of Wales around the world, is going into dockage for a long period to renovate its armor in accordance with the lesson learned at Jutland. It is but one step in making the navy effective under the limitations imposed by the Washington conference.

The Renown is a sister ship to the Repulse, which already has undergone improvements, consisting largely of heavily increased deck armor, considered necessary to fend off the plunging fire of high elevation guns, and universally adopted after the Germans showed such deadly effectiveness at Jutland.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION

The Only Sure Relief is to Enrich and Build Up the Blood

Nervous exhaustion is the cause of headaches and dizziness, and it is due, almost always, to conditions of impoverished blood. Tablets and powders for headaches should never be taken; they cannot possibly reach the root of the trouble, and are often most harmful. All that is needed to bring relief is a tonic that will enrich and purify the blood, and the very best tonic for this purpose is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have a direct action on the blood, and in this way the headaches, dizziness and other bad symptoms rapidly disappear. Mr. Mark F. Taylor, Granby, Que., tells what this medicine did for him. He says:—"I had severe headaches which would be accompanied by vomiting spells. These would last for two or three days at a time. I would take one of these spells every three or four weeks, and it is almost impossible to describe the misery they caused me. I tried a number of medicines without getting relief, until one day my mother brought me six boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When they were used I was feeling much better, and I got a further supply, and under the continued treatment every symptom of the trouble disappeared. I cannot speak too highly of this medicine for it certainly has done wonders for me."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Bond of Good Feeling

Dr. C. Eaton, of New York, Says British Empire Esteemed In U.S.

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of New York, evoked great enthusiasm at a Canadian Club luncheon in Toronto, when he declared that among all classes of people in the United States at the present time, the British Empire never stood higher than it does today. That, the speaker declared, was the most important thing in the world.

Dr. Eaton suggested the co-operation of Canada and the United States in the creation and distribution of hydro-electric power and light, so that from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 horsepower of hydro energy might be available for industrial and domestic use. This would not only create enormous wealth, he said, but would provide an object lesson to humanity of what two peoples, living side by side along a frontier of 3,000 miles, could accomplish for the world by common purpose and confidence and amity.

Discriminating Verdict

A countryman with a local reputation as a vocalist, attended a dinner, and was asked to sing. Although he had no music with him, and was as hoarse as a frog, he consented to try, but broke down.

"Never thee mind, lad," said an elderly guest, trying to cheer him up, "never mind the breakdown, for thee's done thy best; but th' fellow as asked thee to sing ought to be shot."—The Baptist.

Commercial Agreement

Despite rumors to the contrary, the negotiations for a commercial agreement between Canada and Belgium are proceeding and there are good grounds for believing that an agreement will shortly be concluded between the two countries.

An Idea of Insurance

Even life insurance has its humorous side. A Chinaman whose brother was seriously ill wrote to the insurance company: "My brother, he half dead, me likee half the money."—Windsor Magazine.

Among the Tauregs of Tripoli, by all the laws of the country, the men have to obey the women. Descent is traced through the mother, and the men go veiled.

Safeguarding the Domestic Water Supply

Only Small Percentage of Well Water Found to be Pure

A valuable service rendered by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa through the Division of Chemistry of the Experimental Farms Branch, is the analysis of submitted samples of water for domestic use. Of the 119 samples of well water, coming from every province, dealt with in 1922, only 24 per cent. were found to be pure and wholesome. This small proportion cannot be taken to represent the well water of the country because of the likelihood that suspicious samples would for the most part be submitted. Thirty-five per cent. of the samples examined were found to be seriously polluted. When it is borne in mind that water may be clear, spearkling and practically tasteless and yet contain dangerous germs, the necessity for the service is emphasized.

In his report the Dominion Chemist points out that a spring or pure stream at some distance from the farm buildings should, if available, be selected as the source of domestic supply. If water from such a source can be piped to the house and farm buildings a safe supply will probably be secured. Failing such a source, the location of the well should be at least fifty yards from any possible contamination, the surrounding area for a radius of fifty yards being kept free from manure and all filth and preferably maintained in sod.

The shallow well is not to be recommended as, unless properly located and very carefully guarded from surface drainage, it may at any time become a menace. The bored or drilled well, passing through a layer of impervious rock and tapping a deep seated source of water, may usually be depended upon to provide a safe supply.

Two methods are recommended in the report for treating water that is suspected of contamination:

(1) Boiling for ten or fifteen minutes all water required for drinking and culinary use. The boiled water may be aerated by cooling in the open air, and thus freed from insipidity.

(2) Chlorination. A level teaspoonful of chloride of lime is rubbed up with a little water to the consistency of cream. This thin paste is diluted and thoroughly mixed with one pint of water, bottled and securely corked. This stock solution will keep for at least a week. A teaspoonful of this solution should be added, with stirring, to each two gallons of the water to be treated. After fifteen minutes all disease germs present will be destroyed.

New Use for X-Rays

A discovery has been made by Dr. Van Brakle whereby alterations in cheques or false banknotes can be detected with the X-rays.

The note is placed with a photographic film between two screens coated with material which glows under the influence of the rays. A short exposure is given, and on development a photograph is obtained which reveals, not only the writing or printing, but also the character of the paper.

The average year's Pacific coast hop yield is 200,000 bales.

MRS. MISENER'S ACHES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—"When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have taken six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' period I worked on munitions for two years, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines."—Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Large People Live Longest

Longevity Rule As Applied to the Human Race

Large animals, as a rule, live longest. The life of an elephant is fourteen times that of a rabbit, while that of a goose is eight to ten times that of a sparrow. The whale is perhaps the longest lived of all warm-blooded creatures.

To some extent this rule applies also to the human race. The big races include English, Scotch, Scandinavians, Bulgarians and the Northern or Tartar Chinese. The average weight of an adult man of these races is about 150 pounds. Next come French, Italians, Spaniards, Arabs, Turks and Southern Chinese. Their average weight is between 135 and 140 pounds.

The small races are Eskimo, Mongol, Burmese, Japanese, Bengalese, Malays, Javanese and Hottentots, whose average weight when full grown is between 120 and 130 pounds.

An Eskimo is very old at forty, and few Malays live beyond fifty-five. English and Scottish men live on an average ten years longer than Italians or Turks.

Climate and food modify length of life in various parts of the world, but the averages mentioned hold good.

A Record Tenure

French Peasant Family Hold Same Farm for 900 Years

The Ministry of Agriculture, in a recent report, made mention of a French peasant family which had been living on the same farmstead since the days of King Philip Augustus o France, the property never having changed hands in six centuries. That record is now beaten.

A family has been discovered which from father to son has been tilling the same land since the year 1023, under the rule of Robert the Pius of the House of Capet. A number of noble families in France and some in England hold title deeds to lands from a period as remote, but the case probably is unique that peasant stock held land anywhere for nine centuries.

Minister of Agriculture Cheron has decided to include all cases of attachment to the soil on the part of farmers' families in a special list to be issued, awarding them the order of "merite agricole."

Great Opportunities Offered by Canada for Enterprising People

From all parts of Canada come hopeful reports respecting the state and prospects of business and industry. A good English authority has declared that the people of Canada ada are today better off than any others in the world. We do not need to go into such comparisons, but it is clear that the Canadian situation is improving, and that this country affords great opportunities for enterprising people. The Governments of this Dominion are fully authorized by the state of the country, to persuade the strong and willing to come to Canada and go to work.—Vancouver Province.

"YOUR TEETH"
CONTOURS
By Rea Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

The shape of a tooth is the result of ages of evolution. It would be impossible for us to improve upon the plan of a normal tooth. When decay, or caries, has destroyed a part of the contour of a tooth, that contour must be restored if the tooth is to do its work and remain a desirable neighbor to the other teeth in the mouth and to the gums. After the cavity is shaped right, the dentist thoroughly dries and sterilizes it and places the filling material so that every part of the cavity is exactly filled. Then he builds the filling to imitate the original shape of the tooth. Every little line and every ridge and cone is duplicated. The margins of the filling are so carefully and closely approximated that the cavity is hermetically sealed. The most difficult place to shape and finish a filling is at the gum margin between the teeth. If a filling should be left rough or should become roughened from hard use, it becomes a source of danger to the health of the mouth because it retains food, causes irritation to the tongue or cheek or lip and many times holds food tightly packed against the gum. If there is too much space between the teeth, or if there is projecting filling or a roughened area, pyorrhea will usually be started by infection that follows constant bruising of the gum.

If a filling is too high, the tooth will have more than its share of pressure and either the filling will give way or the tooth will be loosened in its socket and the pulp will be destroyed. This means soreness at first and eventually an abscess. The correct filling of a tooth is one of the most skillful operations that man has ever learned to perform. Like many other good things, the better they are the less we hear about them. It is the bad ones that raise Cain.

Elevators to be Enlarged

More Capacity for Saskatchewan Co-operative Plant at Port Arthur

Additions are to be made at the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company's terminal plant at the head of the lakes at Port Arthur increasing the capacity by another two and a half million bushels, it was announced from the company's headquarters at Regina.

The proposed extensions when completed will give the company a total grain handling capacity at the head of the lakes of 7,650,000 bushels. Contracts are to be let as early in the spring as possible with the object of having the facilities ready for handling the 1923 grain crop.

The existing capacity of the company's public terminal elevator at Port Arthur is 4,500,000 bushels. It is proposed to make an addition of new storage tanks to this unit to raise the capacity to 6,500,000 bushels.

The capacity of the company's private elevator at the same point is to be nearly doubled, the proposed extension being designed to increase the capacity of this unit from 650,000 bushels to 1,150,000 bushels.

Idaho Aviator Rescues Plane

Aviator Prest May Next Try Round World Trip Via Alaska

The biplane in which Clarence O. Prest, the Idaho aviator, attempted to fly from Eagle east to Siberia may yet take wing again, or at least will not be a total loss. United States Marshal Clarence Dudeney heads a party which has salvaged the plane and brought it to within 70 miles of Eagle, Alaska. The trail is being cleared of bordering brush sufficiently to bring the plane to Eagle for repairs.

Prest was compelled to land while flying from Eagle to Nome last summer. The plane was not injured, and Prest, after days of wandering, was rescued from the trackless bush. He is now in New York, and writes to his northern friends that he will fly in the Yukon and Alaska again next summer. A rumor has it that he will attempt a round the world flight via Alaska this year.

Co-operative Elevators

Total Grain Handled by Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co.

Shipments of all grains handled by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company from the commencement of the 1922-23 crop movement until Dec. 31, exceeds by more than six million bushels the grain handled in the same period of the previous year.

The total grain handled at the company's country elevators during the current crop year was 33,212,587 bushels as compared with 27,026,611 bushels from Aug. 31, to the close of last year.

Though the aggregate shipments and grain handled from the crop of 1915 has not yet been exceeded, there is now no doubt in the minds of officials of the company that a new high record will be established by the company.

Sir Robert Falconer, President of Toronto University, addressing the Canadian Club at Montreal, discussed misunderstandings that arose during the war and since the armistice. He cited the racial and language difficulties that had from time to time occurred in Canada, declaring that neither Ontario nor Quebec was to balme, but it was more or less the fault of nationalism in its wider sense.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JANUARY 28

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS

In this lesson we are afforded a peep into two worlds where we see disclosed extremes of character and conditions. No more graphic picture could be drawn showing the contrast of two lives. These lives were intended to be representative. The rich man descends from the highest pinnacle of worldly enjoyment to the depths of endless misery. The poor beggar ascends from utter wretchedness and misery to the loftiest heights of blessing.

I. Contrasted Lives (vv. 19-21).

1. The Rich Man (v. 19). He lived in a mansion secluded from the common people. He was clothed in costly raiment; his outer garments were of purple and his inner garments of fine linen. He fed upon the richest food that could be provided. His sin was to selfishly indulge his appetites without consideration for others.

2. The Beggar (vv. 20, 21). He was laid at the rich man's gate with the hope of getting at least the crumbs from his table. The dogs of the street were more kind to him than the rich man. Lazarus means "God is a help," indicating that a godly life shone through his poverty. We learn from these contrasted lives that worldly condition is no sure test of a man's state in the sight of God. Rich men are not all wicked or selfish, and not all poor men are godly.

II. Contrasted Deaths and Funerals (v. 22).

1. The Beggar. He was found dead and his body hurried off to a pauper's grave. No notice was taken of it by the world.

2. The Rich Man. He also died. His gold could not bribe the messenger of death. Doubtless a costly funeral was held, attended by those who moved in his class of society. Death is the common end to which all classes must come.

III. Contrasted Destinies (v. 23).

1. The Beggar. He was at once carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. The souls of believers are especially cared for at the hour of death.

2. The Rich Man. Though he had an elaborate funeral he lifted up his eyes in hell, being in torment. When the veil of futurity is lifted we see that the position of these men are reversed. The poor man was in the company of just men made perfect, because of his godly life while on earth, and the rich man is stripped of his purple and fine linen and cast into hell with all wicked men, because while on earth he only lived for selfish ends.

IV. The Reality and Fixedness of Life Beyond the Grave (vv. 24-31).

1. The Cry for Mercy (v. 24). Dives, which is the Latin name for "rich man," was now willing to claim relationship to Abraham. He was keenly conscious, and the appetites which controlled him while on earth were still with him. Instead of a means of gratification they were now an instrument of torture. Part of the torment of hell will be the cravings of appetite and lust, with no means of their gratification.

2. Abraham's Reply (v. 25). This reply cast the matter back upon the man's memory. He said, "Son, remember." The lashings of a guilty conscience will be most real in hell.

3. Their Fixedness (v. 26). Human destinies are fixed by the choices during the life. When one passes out of this life he enters into an unchangeable state and condition.

4. God's Word and the All-Sufficient Light (vv. 27-31). Dives now requested that Lazarus go on an errand of mercy to his brethren. He regarded the testimony of a spirit of more value than the Word of God. Many today are more willing to trust the rappings of a ghost than the sure Word of God. Abraham declared that God's Word is sufficient—that those who reject Moses and the prophets would not repent though visited by one who had risen from the dead. The greatest miracles will not affect the hearts of men who reject the Bible.

Honey Production

Industry Is Rapidly Growing in the Prairie Provinces

One of the new industries in the west is keeping bees and Manitoba heads the list with 1,000 beekeepers, 27,529 colonies of bees and 2,000,000 pounds of honey harvest.

Saskatchewan has 85 beekeepers listed with a total production of 24,000 pounds.

A very conservative estimate of the wholesale value of this honey is 20c per pound, giving an out turn of $402,800 for what costs very little to produce and adds a splendid food to the tables of the beekeepers beside bringing money to their purse.

Western honey finds a ready sale in competition with eastern honey, even when the latter is offered at lower prices.

It was not possible to obtain any definite figures from Alberta, though there are a number of successful beekeepers there also.

A man in London who won a $7,500 prize in a newspaper competition was ordered by the court the next day to pay $1,250 of the money to his wife as arrears of alimony.

War On Narcotics

Dominion-wide Body to Combat Menace of Drug Traffic

Definite announcement of a Dominion-wide body to combat the menace of the drug traffic in Canada was made in Montreal. The organization has come into being with the approval of the Dominion Government Department of Health and the commendation and personal support of hundreds of public welfare workers, noted clergymen, civic and government officials and others and is known as the Anti-Narcotics Educational League of Canada.

The objects of the league are of a sweeping nature. Taking as its slogan, "Canada has 60,000 drug addicts; we must wipe out this menace," officials of the league outlined their plans as follows: Investigation of the narcotic drug situation in general; co-operation with the police in every city; establishment of a legal department for representation in courts to see that justice is done users, traffickers, etc.

Heavy Shipments Made this Season to Eastern and Southern Points

Tons of choice milk-fed turkeys and chickens have been shipped out of Southern Alberta to Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Seattle, Spokane and Tacoma. Never have shipments to outside markets been so heavy, and never has the quality been better. One farmer, who shipped some 900 fowl to Montreal this season, expects to increase his surplus stock to 2,000 by next Christmas.

The Tide of Industry

Business Slumps and Booms Can Be Regulated Effectively

At this time of the year, when ponderous reviews of the trade and industry of the country make their appearance, the public will hear much about the "business cycle" and the "turn of the tide." Such catch-words mean, for the most part, that the financial writers regard the recurring periods of inflation and depression as something beyond the control of man. They are presumably, like the tides, produced by the man-in-the-moon. But the business cycles and tides, the slumps and booms, can be regulated as effectively as hydraulic engineering is making it possible to regulate the flow of great rivers—so that, instead of the extremes of drought and flood, there can be an assured supply and demand all the time. When the stream of trade and industry is thus regulated, civilized nations can emancipate themselves from the industrial waste of unemployment and so-called high cost of living. Something more enlightened than the catch-words of current finance is needed, however, to achieve this work of economic conservation.—The Ottawa Citizen.

A Vest Pocket Typewriter

Machine Weighs One Ounce and is Almost Noiseless

A typewriter weighing one ounce and fitting in a vest pocket was brought by Dr. H. E. Wetherell, of Philadelphia, to the meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He devised it for his own use.

Held between the fingers and the paper, the machine writes by means of a wheel equipped with rubber letters which special devices bring in contact with the paper. Dr. Wetherell said that operation of the typewriter was slow in the hands of a beginner, but that an experienced writer could attain a speed of seventeen words a minute. It is almost noiseless.

Big Butter Production

Expected Saskatchewan Will Produce Over Thirty Million Pounds of Creamery Butter this Year

Honorable W. R. Saskatchewan alone will produce over thirty million pounds of creamery butter this year and this product is of splendid quality." Mr. Motherwell is a successful farmer himself in Saskatchewan.

Postmasters Woe

Oh, I've stood in a line at the "Movies"
At street car terminals
I have lined up for a taxi
And a public telephone
But give me the "General Delivery" for delay.

The man behind the wicket
Must oft wish he had a gun
—Say a "coal box" or a nifty "75".
That he prays for "night or Blucher"
I can readily believe
When the rush hour line commences to arrive.

(Lor' Lumme from London)

"I asks you for my myle. If I asks agne and dont receive it, I'll report you stryte. I don't believe your bunkum about the British myle not being hin, because the tryne is lyte.

(Palestine Exile)

"A letter for me have?"
Isaac Isaacstein.
Its overweight? No! No! That cannot be!
Oy, Oy! Four cents it costs?
My beezness then would fail!
I pay one cent; you pay the other three.

(Haughty lady with Djer-kiss aroma!)

Pahdon me; I KNOW
A letter awaits for me!
Just look again, (for 6th time), my name is Myrtille Smith.
Perhaps you'd really bettah
Let me glawnce through the case
Wont you? (glare, glare), Because its there (Nose turned sky-ward) Sniff, Sniff.

(Yankee visitor, with "Give-me-liberty-or-give-me-death" manner!)

"Naow, have you any letters for Mrs. R. McKee?
Sir?.....I'll have you know the lady is my wife.
It don't make any difference?.....
Naow, in good old U.S.A.——
In this doggone town I'll never spend my life!

(Maltese: from the tribe of the great unwashed:)

"Giuseppi Gargel-sneezit.
Me know not how to spell.
Me cannot write. Me do not know your laws."
(On being shown letter).
"Ya, Ya, that me, Giuseppi. Ya, twenty cents to pay?
No! No! Not me. My name that never was."

(Home-brew George; verging on blind staggars:)

"Shay! Wheresh my bloomin papershl?
I—hic—havva keepa date
With Squire Cohen atta morning court.
Thash right! I'll havva hurry
'Caush m'legsh no good.
He thinksh I am a regular lil' shport." (hic, hic.)

From morn till dewy eve,
Replicas of these scenes
Re-acted are, to please? the wicket-man.
Tis said the shiny brass bars
Are to keep him off their necks . .
When you've "stood in line," just blame him, if you can!

The Provincial Party

A meeting took place of the Rock Creek Local last Saturday to hear the report of the delegate to the Vernon convention. Mr. Bruce was in the chair, and delegates from Midway and Bridesville were present.

Commander Lewis on being called upon gave a detailed description of the proceedings at the Convention but as his address occupied about 1½ hours it is possible to report only the most important points. The speaker said that he had been greatly impressed by the enthusiasm and earnestness of the delegates and mentioned that ten of them came from the Peace River country and had travelled over a week a considerable expense to attend. He explained that the farmers had combined with the delegates representing the business men from Vancouver and Victoria to form the Provincial Party and it was expected that Labour would join or in any case co-operate, in fact said the speaker it is a coalition of all three be they Liberl or Conservative who desire an honest business government.

Among those present were Dr. McIntosh, late Liberal member for South Vancouver, Mr. John Nelson, late vice President of the Conservative association and who have both joined the new party disgusted with the crookedness of their own, and Mr. Sam Guthrie, Labour member for Nanaimo. Commander Lewis quoting from the speech of Mr. Redman, of Kamloops, chairman of the Farmers Political Committee, "We are accused of trying to form group government, well there is nothing sacred about the two party systems, but as a matter of fact there are not two parties at Victoria, there is only one. Messrs. Oliver and Bowser keep up a sham fight for the benefit of the electors, but when the Liberals are in danger of being found out in some particularly bad bit of graft Mr. Bowser leads his party to vote the government and thus prevents an awkward enquiry, for reasons which may easily be guessed." Commander Lewis then explained, how the manifesto and platform was discussed and voted upon and finally passed and in the words of the Vancouver Daily World "It is the most formidable indictment that the Provincial Government has yet had served upon it."

The speaker told his audience that thousands of copies would be printed shortly and would be distributed, but that in the meanwhile a few items might be of interest.

The indebtedness of British Columbia in 1913 was $10,752,146, at present $80,814,628. Authority has lately been taken to borrow $11,955,394. When the borrowings are completed the indebtedness will be $95,500,000. The annual expenditure is now nearly $20,000,000 a tax of $40 per head on every man woman and child in the province in addition to Federal and Municipal taxation.

That the governments financial statements are incorrect. That instead of a surplus last year of two million dollars as stated, there actually existed a very large deficit.

Commander Lewis then explained that an executive committee had been formed with General McRae as chairman, with 6 farmers and 6 business men to take steps to organize the Province for political action at the next general election, and that a rural council had also been appointed with a delegate from each riding, he himself, having been appointed for the Greenwood riding.

In General McRae, said the speaker, I believe we have an ideal leader, a very rich man, grafting from the taxpayer will have no temptation for him, he has never before taken any part in politics, and has the complete respect and confidence of both the business and the labor world. He is a great organizer and an insatiable worker as was shown in the war when he filled the positions of Adjutant-General and Quartermaster-General to the Canadian forces with conspicious success.

In conclusion Commander Lewis said that the Province financially was in a very dangerous position, verging on bankruptcy, brought about by the dishonest and unbusinesslike methods of the two old parties, capitalists could not invest, employment was thus decreased, there was less demand for the farmers produce and thousands were leaving the Province,

The only salvation he saw, was the return to power of honest men of business capacity, who would pursue a policy of strict economy who would see that men appointed to government positions, were so appointed for their capacity and not because of their political color and he considered from what he had seen of the leaders of the Provincial Party that the electors when the time came would be safe in voting for the Provincial candidate.

He gave it as his opinion, that judging from reports he had from delegates all over the Province, that the Provincial Party stood a very good chance of being returned to power at the next general election.

At the conclusion of the address, Commander Lewis took the chair.

After several new members had joined, rules of procedure were discussed and temporarily passed, until such times as other locals had formed.

Chester Charlton informed the meeting that a local had been formed at Bridesville and F. Landers that a local was in course of formation at Midway.

After a vote of thanks to Commander Lewis for his services as delegate, the meeting adjourned.

CRUISING IN THE WEST INDIES.

(1)—Empress of Britain at St. Pierre, of Martinique, the scene of the volcanic eruption in 1902, when 30,000 people lost their lives. The path shown was once a busy street. (2)—Headquarter Palace of Cuban Republic, Havana. (3)—Statue of Empress Josephine, first wife of Napoleon, on Martinique Island, West Indies. (4)—Morro Castle, Santiago, Cuba.

SINCE ocean liners have been made as comfortable as the best city hotels, cruising has become very attractive to those seeking a rest. The luxury of the ship, the fresh sea breezes, the trips ashore at the places visted, the making of new acquaintances, the experiences gained only by travel make an ocean cruise an incomparable delight.

In former winters many Canadians and Americans escaped from the severity of the home winter by taking sea cruises. Cruises to the West Indies are very popular, not only on account of the mildness of the climate, and the beauty of the scenery, but because of the romantic history attached to these places. In the seventeenth century the West Indies were the headquarters of large numbers of British pirates who preyed on Spanish trading ships. These pirates were in a large way responsible for destroying the commerce of Spain. A few of the interesting sights of the West Indies are banana plantations, mahogany groves, sponge fishing fleets, and woods of cocoanut palm trees.

Two cruises to the West Indies, and islands of the Spanish Main, Panama and Venezuela, will be made by the Empress of Britain this winter. The many special features that contributed last winter to the success of these Canadian Pacific cruises have been retained and new ones added. The Empress of Britain was again selected by the Canadian Pacific for the cruises to the West Indies by reason of her great popularity as a luxurious ocean liner of the most modern and comfortable type and size, being of 22,200 tons displacement. The Empress of Britain is also the only steamship making cruises to the West Indies burning fuel oil. This outstanding feature appeals to passengers who have travelled in the Tropics as coaling or shifting coal at the various ports is eliminated and passengers are assured of spotless promenade and open spaces, with no noise, dirt or cinders.

The Empress of Britain is devoted entirely to the purposes of the cruises; and no cargo is carried. In addition to the comforts to be found usually at only the best hotels ashore, the food and service are of Canadian Pacific standard. The passenger accommodation is most attractive, and not more than two persons are booked in a room unless it is desired to accommodate a family party. Those who desire to travel alone will find a good proportion of single cabins. Other attractions include a gymnasium, swimming pool, verandah cafes and large decks for games and dancing. An augmented professional orchestra is carried for concerts and dancing.

The itinerary of the first cruise, starting from New York on January 20th, includes the following ports of call: Havana, Cuba; Port Antonio, Jamaica; Kingston, Jamaica; Colon, Panama; La Guayra, Venezuela; Port of Spain, Trinidad; La Brea Point, Trinidad; Bridgetown, Barbados; Fort de France, Martinique; St. Pierre, Martinique; San Juan, Porto Rico; Nassau, Bahamas; returning to New York, covering a distance of over six thousand miles during the 27 days of the cruise. The second cruise will start from New York on February 20th, and will be similar in most details to the schedule of the first cruise, Hamilton, Bermuda, being substituted as the final port of call.

There are excursions ashore at the various ports, conducted by representatives of the Canadian Pacific, allowing unusual opportunities for visiting every possible points of interest during each cruise. Two days will be spent ashore at Havana and two days in Jamaica, including trips to many nearby points. An additional day is provided this year at Panama and a journey will be made from Colon through the Culebra Cut to Pedro Miguel, Panama City and Balboa. In Venezuela the trip includes one of the most fascinating rides in the world from the port of La Guayra to Caracas, the capital, 3,000 feet bove the Caribbean Sea. Port Antonio, one of the prettiest spots in Jamaica, has been included in the itinerary this year.
