MYSTERIOUS MIDNIGHT TRAGEDY

Missing Artilleryman Believed to Have Been Murdered by Two Bluejackets

Malta.—At somewhere about midnight on Thursday two Maltese boatmen reported to the police that two bluejackets and an artilleryman had embarked on their craft for conveyance from Valetta to Sliema, and that when in mid-sea the sailors and the soldier quarreled, the former throwing the artilleryman overboard. A high sea was running at the time and the sailors, by intimidation, prevented the boatmen from attempting to rescue the soldier.

On reaching the shore the sailors decamped, and the boatmen then returned to the spot where the soldier had been thrown overboard, but as their search proved fruitless they reported the matter to the police. All sailors' leave was stopped, and the boatmen were conveyed on board each warship and confronted with the men who had been given shore leave the previous night.

Both boatmen in turn identified William John Payne and Albert Woodcock, both able seamen belonging to the Royal Arthur, which arrived here on Friday en route for China. The missing artilleryman is Gunner Hourihane, of 65 Company of the Royal Garrison Artillery. He is 22 years old.

Both Payne and Woodcock have been arrested, and the Royal Arthur's departure has been delayed pending the magisterial inquiry, which is proceeding. Both prisoners have admitted having been in the boat in which a quarrel arose, saying that they made this statement because leave of all men had been stopped. Consequently they did not wish to sacrifice other men.

One of the prisoners in his statement to the ship's commander said: The soldier hit me and I hit him, and being drunk he overbalanced and fell out of the boat into the sea. Several witnesses from the Royal Arthur are being heard, and afterward the inquiry will be adjourned and the Royal Arthur will sail. The prisoners having admitted being on the boat will be remanded.

The South Pole

The south pole is situated on an antarctic continent larger than the United States and with an area of 5,000,000 miles.

The pole is on a tableland about 10,000 feet above the sea level.

The great ice barrier is a glacier 700 miles wide and hundreds of miles broad in places; it varies from 100 to 300 feet in height.

The breaking off of portions of this ice barrier each summer produces the greatest crop of icebergs in the world.

Mount Erebus belches steam and lava within the circle of eternal ice.

Vegetation in the antarctic continent consists entirely of moss; the land animal life is limited to a species of wingless insects very primitive in form.

The only human beings in the antarctic continent are explorers; no traces of native inhabitants have ever been discovered.

Penguins, great, awkward birds, exist along the coast in some parts.

There is little snow on the lower plateau, necessitating explorers carrying tents; the surface is smooth ice.

Scientists claim that centuries ago the south pole was a tropical region filled with plant and animal life.

DRUGGED HIMSELF IN TUNNEL

Former English Army Officer Discovered Dead in Rather Strange Circumstances

London, England.—An ex-army officer's unsuccessful struggle to cure himself of the drug habit was described at an inquest at Guston, Dover, on Claude W. Lawrence Marshall, aged 41, of independent means, whose body was found in a railway. A broken hypodermic syringe and two empty drug bottles were found near the body. Dr. Marshall was formerly an officer in the South Staffordshire regiment.

Mrs. Marshall stated that her husband had been addicted to the drug habit for several years, taking morphia and cocaine. He broke off the habit last year for a time, but could not do without the drugs, and resumed them. She had known him to go into this railway tunnel for the purpose of injecting morphia into his leg. He went into the tunnel because it was dark there, and he objected to making the injections in the light. He told her once that after he had injected morphia into his leg in the tunnel he became unconscious on the bridge just above. She thought that on this occasion he might have become unconscious in the tunnel. She once found him unconscious in a pit as a result of the drug. Mrs. Marshall added that her husband was very bright and showed no signs of suicide.

Evidence as to the finding of the body pointed to the fact that Mr. Marshall had his back against the wall of the railway tunnel and was leaning down injecting morphia into his leg when the train struck him; or else that he had made the injection and lost consciousness in that position at the time of the fatality.

It was said that members of Dover police force had frequently seen Mr. Marshall in the vicinity of the spot injecting morphia. It was mentioned that he had injected as much as sixty grains of morphia at a time.

The jury returned a verdict of death by misadventure.

The Shirker

If you don't do your share of work in the world the chances are that some one else will have to do it for you. But you won't draw his overtime or secure his promotions, or those that might have been yours had you tried. There is a good deal of justice in the world, regardless of what the croakers and malcontents may tell you, and the shirker, in dodging his work, misses his pay, which goes to a better man who will probably prosper and be called a thief because he attended to business and was industrious and polite. His compensation lies in the knowledge of work well done, as well as the material reward, and somewhat, perhaps, in the fact that the opinion of his detractors may not be so important after all.

British and French Navies Unite

Ostend, Belgium.—Flotillas of British and French torpedo boats, destroyers and submarines are carrying out a series of night manouvers in co-operation, in the English channel. The commanders of the flotillas are following common plans of action and there is a frequent exchange of wireless messages between the vessels.

JURY ACQUIT A MURDERER

The Unwritten Law Viewed in France From Standpoint of Approval

Paris, France.—The assize court at Dijon, tried a farmer named Ernest Gauthier for the murder of a neighbor named Fufey, whom he surprised with his wife. Gauthier dealt his rival two blows with a spade and the man died the next day. The farmer also attacked his wife and then gave himself up to the police. Mme. Gauthier committed suicide a few days later.

At the trial, the judge mildly reproached Gauthier, and informed him that it would have been easy for him to obtain a divorce.

Addressing the jury, the public prosecutor said: Give him a few weeks in prison, a few days for the principle. After examining the facts and emphasising the shortcomings of the dead woman, he concluded: Having regard to all the circumstances, would it not be better for you to exercise your sovereign right and pardon the accused?

The jury after a brief deliberation brought in a verdict of acquittal.

They Wanted to Hear it

Now, children, said the teacher to her kindergarten class, I want you all to be very quiet, so quiet in fact, that you could hear a pin drop.

Everything had quieted down nicely and the teacher was about to speak when a little voice in the rear of the school room squeaked forth: Go ahead, please, teacher, and let her drop.

Clean Stomach, Clear Mind.—The stomach is the workshop of the vital functions and when it gets out of order the whole system clogs in sympathy. The spirits flag, the mind droops and work becomes impossible. The first care should be to restore healthful action of the stomach and the best preparation for that purpose is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. General use for years has won them a leading place in medicine. A trial will attest their value.

Doing the right thing is seldom a source of worry.

Cheerful Under Difficulties

If you make any noise, threatened the holdup man, I'll stuff this handkerchief in your mouth!

The victim regarded it with a ghastly smile.

Oh, that's such an old gag, he protested.

Probably there is nothing that will make a woman quite so happy as the possession of a thing her rival wants and can't afford.

THE KNOW HOW

To Feed Children and Get Good Results

There are more nervous persons made so by undigested food lying in the stomach than the average individual would suppose.

If food remains undigested in the stomach, it begins to ferment, set up gas and a large portion is thus converted into poison.

That's why imperfectly digested food, may, and often does, cause irritation of the nerves and stupor of the mind—brain and nerves are really poisoned.

"My daughter had complained for some time of a distressed feeling in the stomach, after eating, which set me thinking that her diet was not right," writes an anxious and intelligent mother.

"She had been fond of cereals, but had never tried Grape-Nuts. From reading the account of this predigested food, it seemed reasonable to try Grape-Nuts for her case.

"The results were really wonderful The little brain that seemed at times unable to do its work, took on new life and vigor. Every morning, now, before going to school, she eats the crisp little morsels and is now completely and entirely well, she seems to have a new lease on life—no more distress in the stomach, nor headache, but sound and well everyway." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

TRIES TO STRANGLE JUDGE

Jurist Has Terrible Struggle With Camorrist He Had Just Sentenced

Naples.—An attempt has recently been made by a Cammorist prisoner to strangle a judge at the Naples criminal court recently. Two members of the Neapolitan Camorra, Spalanea and Guadagni, were found guilty of theft, and were each sentenced to sixteen months' imprisonment.

Immediately sentence was pronounced the prisoner Guadagni, a man of Herculean proportions, felled the two carabinieri who were on guard and escaped from the iron cage in which he was confined. He dashed toward the judge, and blacked the eye of a lawyer who attempted to stop him, while two ushers each received a blow on the nose.

There was a wild stampede from the court, and the president rose and wrapped himself in his robes as though uncertain whether to beat a retreat. The infuriated Camorrist clambered up to the judicial bench with amazing agility, and seized the assistant judge nearest to him. Cavaliere Vitelli, by the throat and attempted to throttle him. Both fell to the floor in the desperate struggle. Barristers and policemen endeavored to separate them, but several minutes elapsed before the grip of the prisoner could be released, and the man put in chains. The unfortunate judge when released was in a state of collapse.

The immensity of nature strikes every one with the same awed feeling.

No, it doesn't. I took a girl to the circus once, and she told me she thought the hippopotamus was cute.

Weather Wise

In a certain town the local forecaster of the weather was so often wrong that his predictions became a standing joke, to his no small annoyance, for he was very sensitive. At length, in despair of living down his reputation, he asked headquarters to transfer him to another station.

A brief correspondence ensued.

Why, asked headquarters, do you wish to be transferred?

Because, the forecaster promptly replied, the climate doesn't agree with me.

Mr. Badgerton is here, sir, said the chief clerk. Shall I show him in?

No, replied the great organizer, let him wait in the ante-room for about three-quarters of an hour. He has a big proposition, but I am anxious to keep him from getting the idea that I consider it worth while.

The indications of worms are restlessness, grinding of the teeth, picking of the nose, extreme peevishness, often convulsions. Under these conditions the best remedy that can be got is Miller's Worm Powders. They will attack the worms as soon as administered and will grind them to atoms that pass away in the evacuations. The little sufferer will be immediately eased and a return of the attack will not be likely.

Jeweller—What's the matter with it. Didn't it fit

Young man (cautiously)—Sh! It did not have a chance. Gimme studs for it.

A MESSAGE FOR THOSE WHO SUFFER

MRS. E. J. TALBOT TELLS THEM TO FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

She Had Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Neuralgia and Found the Remedy She Was Looking for in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hamilton, Ont. (Special).—"I know there are a lot of people who suffer and do not know what will cure them. Dodd's Kidney Pills will."

These are the words of Mrs. E. J. Talbot who resides at 293 Wellington street north this city. And Mrs. Talbot speaks out of her own experience.

"Last July I was very sick," Mrs. Talbot continues. "My heart bothered me, my limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. Rheumatism, lumbago and neuralgia added to my sufferings, and the doctor I called in did not help me much.

"I finally decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have used seven boxes and I am so much stronger and better that I feel I must recommend them to others."

Mrs. Talbot's complication of troubles all came from sick kidneys. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them. For Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They simply cure kidney disease of any kind. They never fail to do that.

"The Only Cure for Piles"

Writes Mr. Taylor in Telling His Experience With Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. M. Taylor.

Because Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost immediate relief from the dreadful itching, burning, stinging sensations of piles, it is well worth the attention of everyone suffering from this annoying disease.

In most cases, even after years of standing, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes a thorough and lasting cure of itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

Mr. Maxwell Taylor, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes: "To all sufferers from piles in any form I would recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only cure. Over a year ago while in Boston I became afflicted with a dreadful itching. I went to a doctor, who gave me some ointment, which made me no better. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and by the use of two boxes I was entirely cured. You may publish this statement in order that other sufferers may profit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Ointment can better prove its value by the relief it affords than by all the words we could use in its praise. 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

In the spring the young man's fancy gets a hunch that he will have to get busy or there won't be any summer clothes for him.

Mrs. Daniel has gone to Vancouver to meet her daughter, who is coming from the Old Country-

On Monday morning Harry Hardy, aged 53, was killed at Camp 4 by being hit in the chest with a heavy block. The cononer's jury found a verdict of accidental death. The funeral took place from Sutton & Kirkwood's parlors yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Alice Beaton is visiting in Vancouver.

One Friday evening last a wrestling match was pulled off in the Opera House, between Alex Swanson of Nanaimo and Young Forbes of Campbell River. As a curtain riser a boxing exhibition was given by J. Potter and young Goodern, of Cumberland' which was declared a draw. Just before the wrestling match started a challenge was read by the Referee Andy Thompson from Benny Reece, offering a match to the winner. The boys put up a good exhibition although Swanson was the heavier and more agressive after 11 1-2 minutes of strenuous work he got the first fall with a hammerlock. Forbes went off the mat holding his shoulder. In the second round some clever work was done by both, but Swanson again turned the trick in 13 minutes. The music for the occasion was furnished by "Chubby," and it was good music too.

A MESSAGE FOR THOSE WHO SUFFER

MRS. E. J. TALBOT TELLS THEM TO FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

She Had Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Neuralgia and Found the Remedy She Was Looking for in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hamilton, Ont. (Special).—"I know there are a lot of people who suffer and do not know what will cure them. Dodd's Kidney Pills will."

These are the words of Mrs. E. J. Talbot who resides at 293 Wellington street north this city. And Mrs. Talbot speaks out of her own experience.

"Last July I was very sick," Mrs. Talbot continues. "My heart bothered me, my limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. Rheumatism, lumbago and neuralgia added to my sufferings, and the doctor I called in did not help me much.

"I finally decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have used seven boxes and I am so much stronger and better that I feel I must recommend them to others."

Mrs. Talbot's complication of troubles all came from sick kidneys. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them. For Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They simply cure kidney disease of any kind. They never fail to do that.

Of Course

Oh, Helen! Suppose I should faint some time, and I should come to in some young man's arms! What would I do?

Why, Margaret, keep your eyes closed of course.

BABY'S GOOD HEALTH

The good health of baby depends entirely upon whether his stomach and bowels are kept right or not. Keep the bowels working regularly and the little stomach sweet and baby will be well and happy. To do this use Baby's Own Tablets—they are a gentle laxative and have no equal. Mrs. Chas. Lapierre, Les Boules, Que., says: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets very good for my baby and they kept him in good health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The sun may shine tomorrow, but that won't serve as an umbrella today.

Could Hardly Live for Asthma. Writes one man who after years of suffering has found relief through Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Now he knows how needless has been his suffering. This matchless remedy gives sure help to all afflicted with asthma. Inhaled as smoke or vapor it brings the help so long needed. Every dealer has it or can get it for you from his wholesaler.

Indeed Who Would?

Listen to this, wifey, said Mr. Hubby, looking up from his newspaper. For every missionary sent abroad last year, America sent 1,469 gallons of liquor.

Merciful goodness! exclaimed wifey, who'd ever think missionaries were such drinkers?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

After reading the very able and instructive articles on local conditions that have recently appeared in these columns by "A member of the Board of Trade," and hearing the comments on these articles we have come to the conclusion that this is a much more effective method of rationally discussing the various questions involved than by stirring up old animosities in noisy public meetings. Therefore we beg to briefly state why we believe it most expedient to incorporate Courtenay at once.

It was well said at the recent public meeting that we should give this subject most careful consideration, and we have carefully studied the proposition from every possible angle.

We find that we can fulfill all of the requirements of the law, as we have more than the necessary number of male British subjects of mature age resident within the proposed area, so it remains for us to decide for ourselves as to the expediency of incorporating. Some seem to fear heavy taxes; but we find that by taking the government assessment we will start out with an assessment of over half a million and the taxes from that, together with the income from our own water works and electric lights.

Oh dear, there we are mixed up with the notorious water works question in spite of ourselves. There are some questions, just like bedbugs, that will force themselves onto one regardless of how one may dodge. "With malice toward none" we must all admit that just as long as Courtenay lies helpless in her cradle, anyone can take candy from the baby. This happens to be the first of the many important undertakings that will present themselves as Courtenay developes. With no organization, she was unprepared but a word to the wise should be sufficient, and we ought not to allow ourselves to be caught napping again.

But to return to the matter of the city's income, we find that without increasing the assessment at all we have an income amply sufficient for all practical purposes, and that it will lie entirely with ourselves to say how this income shall be expended. A "Local Improvements" by-law will throw the burden of the expense of opening up new streets on to the property owners of those streets, so the city need have no fear of expense from that quarter.

As long as the so-called civilized nations permit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, we shall have to protect ourselves and our families as best we may from its contaminating influences. We must regulate the sale of the poison and the actions of the poor poisoned wretches who use it as carefully as possible. The government has enough to attend to without regulating our morals, so we must incorporate and thus put ourselves in a position to act in the matter.

In studying this subject of incorporation we find that those who are most strongly in favor of it are our most prominent, public spirited, property holding citizens, whose only interest in the matter is in the general good and development of Courtenay, while it is extremely obvious, that those who are most strenuous in their opposition are trying to shield individual interests.

In order to advance a city, like a man, must have self-confidence. Just as love begets love, so confidence begets confidence. We must furnish Courtenay with her self-confidence, in order that outside investors and manufactures will pick this favorable spot for their operations.

So, looking from the point of view of the property owner, we are unreservedly in favor of the immediate incorporation of Courtenay; as we have found that we have a sufficient amount of taxable property, and that the public spirited citizens who are in favor of the municipal ownership of public utilities are working only for the general good and prosperity of Courtenay in advocating incorporation that we may save ourselves from being robbed.

A Taxpayer.

Dear Sir:

I have noticed severel remarks in your valuable paper which show that you are alive to the fact that the Oriental Question has "hit" Courtenay. You are in favor of the total exclusion of Japs, Chinamen and aliens in general. Your s ogan is "Keep Courtenay white." You believe that Courtenay should take the attitude of California. Perhaps some of your fairminded subscribers would like to hear both sides of the question.

The only Orientals who hold any stretch of land in this district are the Japs. Now if the Japs refused to abide by the laws of the country, if he was guilty of insobriety or disorderly conduct we would have some reason to bid him return to Japan or a trifle further. But on the contrary the Jap is sober, enterprising, energetic, industrious and endowed with plenty of grit and pluck. These are an array of characteristics which should be some warrant of good citizenship.

Well, that is one side of the question. Now take a look at the other side, what is the Jap's offense, the crime for which you would close the gates of the country to him. The Jap's offense, as we all know, lies in his very industry. During the American period of his existance he takes no thought for education, politics or anything except money-grubbing. In Japan he has been gronnd down by taxes which make him a virtual slave. When he comes to this land of promise he does not adapt himself to his new conditions of living. He still keeps at his slavery, and whose fault is it? Do Canadians try to make a good citizen of him? Are the people of this Valley giving the Japs that come here a fair chance to become good citizens? No. They are not. On the contrary they are taking advantage of them. They are paying them low wages because they are willing to take them. They are charging then high rents because they are willing to pay them. And then they are blaming them for working for wages which a white man cannot work for and for living as a white man does not wish to live. Is it right? Is it fair? Is it British? Can we blame the Japs for looking askance on things British when we have given them this foretaste of British fair-play.

The question which soon must be answered not by Courtenay alone, but by Canadians as a nation, is whether we are going to take the stand which California has taken, widen the breach which now exists between the East and West and make the war-cloud a stern reality, or whether we are going to give the little Jap a fair chance to show what is in him.

Young Westerner.

DENMAN ISLAND

Mr. Sandy Swan has finished moving his barn, and is to be congratulated on the improvement he has made in the appearance of his ranch. The barn is as substantial as ever, contrary to the opinion expressed by many wise men.

A goodly nember of Denman Islanders attended the picnic at Hornby on the 24th, and a most enjoyable time was spent by all. All appreciated the welcome given us by the Progress Club.

Mrs. Arthur Damaresq is visiting in Vancouver.

Mr. Fred Piercy is attending school regularly these days—doing a little carpenter work.

Mrs. Robert Swan has been ill in bed for two months and is making a slow recovery.

We have had a visit from both the fire warden and game warden this week.

Things are humming at the stone quarry since the new company has taken charge.

The road sale lasted two days and many exciting bids were registered. We expect a great improvement in our roads by next fall.

We were glad to welcome Mrs. Scott back after her serious illness in Vancouver hospital. Miss Scott accompanied her and spent the week end here.

Two new houses are under construction down Pickets road.

Messrs. James Nixon and James Swan two of our Island-bred young men, have this week returned to their parental roofs, bringing their wives.

Mrs. T. Piercy and her daughter, Mrs. Scott have returned from their trip to Harisson and Seattle.

Cupid is still doing his deadly work on Denman Island, judging by the recent announcement of an engagement, wedding bells will soon be ringing, but we hope the happy couple will be able to wait Mr. Kidd's return. He is at present in the east attending conference.

Mr. J. Smith and his niece are visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Smith.

Mrs. Carmichael and baby are visiting her home.

Mr. Bakie is in Revelstoke represent- the Liberal party on Denman Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Dumarsq sr., have returned to Vancouver after spending a few weeks here.

Mrs. Wood and Miss Corrigall are spending the week end in Courtenay.

Lost—Pair gold rimmed glasses, between Kilpatrick's mill and Geo. Leighton's house, $5 reward will be paid for them. Return to Ed. Wilson.

There seems to be a healthy spirit of rivalry between some of the different road gangs to see which can do the biggest days work. In one of the gravel pits in Mr. Crockitt's division, where all the gravel had to be picked and some of it blasted, seventy two loads were taken out by two teams, with six men loading.

HATS! HATS! HATS!

We have a specially well selected stock of Gents Hats, comprising Felts, Linens, Straws and Panamas, all in the latest styles, for summer wear, and are in a position to please the most fastidious.

It will be a pleasure to show you through our stock, and we feel sure if you are in need of a hat you will see the advantage of buying from us

ZAM-BUK DOES CURE PILES

Mrs. C. Hanson, wife of the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Merritt, B.C., suffered from piles for years. Went to doctor after doctor in vain. Finally went to Spokane and had an operation. Twelve months afterwards she was as bad again. She says, "One day I read about Zam-Buk and thought I would try it. The first one or two boxes gave me more ease than anything else I had tried, so I went on with the treatment. In a short time I began to feel altogether different and better, and I saw that Zam-Buk was going to cure me. Well, I went on using it, and by the time I had used six boxes I was delighted to find myself entirely cured."

If you suffer from this painful ailment, or from eczema, ulcers or any skin disease, don't waste time. Try Zam-Buk. 50c. all druggists and stores.

THEATREGOERS WIN STRIKE

Takes Just Nine Seconds for Manager to Surrender

Sydney.—Theatregoers of Mount Gambier, in South Australia, went on strike recently.

The management of a travelling company demanded 2s. for admission. The visitors did not propose to pay more than 1s. and after a hasty consultation outside the entrance formed a theatregoer's union. Pickets were stationed and within a few minutes 278 people—practically all who were there—had agreed not to pay the 2s.

The manager appeared at the doorway and refused to make the required reduction.

I'll give you till I count twenty said the newly elected president of the newest union, and after that our price will be 6d. instead of 1s. He counted slowly to nine and then the manager capitulated.

The strike was declared at an end and the quondam strikers trooped into the hall, and the union was dissolved after an existence of about twenty minutes.

MARCH WEATHER RHEUMATIC WEATHER

Victims Can Cure Themselves With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

With the coming of March people who are afflicted with rheumatism begin to have unpleasant reminders of their trouble. The weather is changeable—balmy and springlike one day, raw, cold and piercing the next. It is such sudden changes of weather that sets the pangs and tortures of rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica going. But it must be borne in mind that although weather conditions start the pains, the trouble is deeply rooted in the blood, and can only be cured through the blood. All the lotions and liniments in the world can't cure rheumatism. Rubbing may seem to ease the pain while you are rubbing, but there its value ends. Only through the blood can you cure rheumatism. That's why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have so many thousands of cures of this trouble to their credit. The new rich blood which they actually make drives out the poisonous acid and rheumatism is vanquished. Among many sufferers from rheumatism who have been cured by this medicine is Miss Mary B. Kelly, South Dummer, Ont. Miss Kelly says: "Some time ago I had a very bad attack of rheumatism. At times I would be confined to bed for a couple of days and would seem almost paralyzed with the intense pain in my back and legs. At such times I could not walk and my joints were stiff and swollen. I consulted different doctors and took their medicine, but did not get more than temporary relief. At this time a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got a supply. After taking a few boxes I found they were greatly helping me, and I continued their use until the trouble completely disappeared. I can strongly recommend this medicine to others who suffer as I did from the pangs and tortures of rheumatism."

If you suffer from rheumatism, or any other disease of the blood, begin to cure yourself today with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ease That Sore Joint Nerviline Will Do It

The Champion Clog and Pedestal Dancer of Canada Tells How to Keep in Trim

Few men in his profession are better known than Mr. Thomas Hogan, of 27 Fortification Lane, Montreal, who writes:—"To limber up a stiff joint, to remove every sense of soreness from tired muscles I can tell you nothing compares with Nerviline. It is really a wonderful liniment, and I use it continually simply because I find it keeps the muscles and joints supple and entirely free from pain and stiffness. I earnestly recommend Nerviline to every person that requires to use a strong, penetrating, pain-subduing liniment."

For Rheumatism Nerviline is a wonder; for Sciatica it cures where others fail; for Lumbago, stiffness and cold, nothing surpasses it. Keep Nerviline handy—it's good to take inwardly, destroys internal pains quickly, and is just as good for outward application. Large family size bottle, 50c; small size, 25c; at all dealers or druggists or The Catarhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

TRAGIC LAMP EXPLOSION

Woman Ablaze Sets Child's Clothes on Fire

Paris.—A dramatic scene occurred recently outside a house in the Faubourg St. Martin in Paris.

Mme. Haumond was filling a lamp, when it exploded and set fire to her clothes. Her husband was out, and her two children, a baby boy 2 years old and a girl 5, were in the room with her.

The woman rushed to the window, screamed for help, and as the flames from her clothing caught those of the baby in her arms, she threw him down to a woman in the street who tried to catch him in her apron. The apron strings broke, the baby was badly hurt and Mme. Haumond, who threw herself out of the window after her child, broke both her legs.

A fireman made his way into the house and rescued the elder child, the girl, who had become unconscious. The baby's condition is critical.

GOLF AT OLYMPIC GAMES

English Cricket, However, Is Rejected at Berlin

Berlin.—Golf will appear for the first time in the Olympic Games program at Berlin in 1916. The schedule of events just drawn up by the German managerial committee states that the committee has decided to include golf, after rejecting cricket.

The committee has also determined as a special compliment to the great German gymnastic organizations, to give gymnastic experts a special place in the program for an exhibition of this German specialty. The teams will also meet in competition gymnasts from other countries.

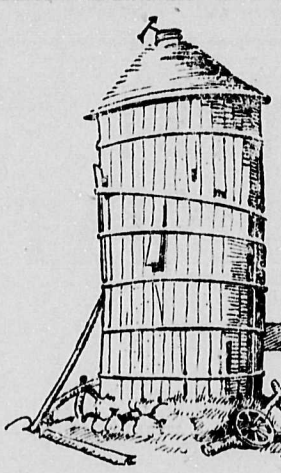
What kind of a silo will yours be? Wood—or Concrete?



IF you were to build two silos—one of wood, the other of concrete—side by side, and then could see them as they will look after five years of service, you wouldn't have to think twice to decide which is the best material. In a few years more there wouldn't be much of the original wooden silo left—the repairing you'd have to do would be as troublesome and cost as much as the building of an entirely new one. But the passage of five, ten, fifteen or even twenty years will make no difference to the hard-as-rock wall of the concrete silo.

CONCRETE SILOS LAST FOREVER

WIND, rain, fire and lightning are alike defied by concrete. You need no insurance against its destruction, because it cannot be destroyed. Concrete silos are best for another reason. The concrete keeps the ensilage at an even temperature, so that it "cures" better, and therefore contains more food-value for your stock.

YOU CAN BUILD ONE YOURSELF

NO matter whether you have ever used concrete or not, you can build a concrete silo. Our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" gives all the information you will need, not only about silos, but about scores of other uses for concrete on the farm. It isn't a catalogue, nor an advertising circular. A handsome book of 160 pages, well illustrated, and written for farmers. It is free. Just send your name and address on a postcard or in a letter and the book will be sent free by return mail.

SUBSTITUTION AND WEDDINGS

Billy's Scheme Was Daring, and It Won.

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Elizabeth crossed the turf so loathly, so laggardly, she left a waving trail of deep green footprints athwart the dew grayed grass. The line was blotched here and there where she had stopped and half turned about, but from the last and lightest of the blotches it ran straight to the wicket gate in the hedge. The path to the gate led around, almost under, the library windows. Therefore she had avoided it. She did not want to be spied upon, and, though the library commonly was empty until long after sunrise, she had come to believe there was no counting on where Miss Prudence Weir would be at any special hour.

The wicket gave upon a lane shady and secluded, yet a public passway notwithstanding both sides of it belonged to Elizabeth's Uncle Dan. He had been trying to close it ever since he bought the old Mears place, but his rustic neighbors had held stoutly to their right of way. So the young man walking slowly along the lane was no trespasser, albeit he walked warily, keeping close to the hedge. Elizabeth smiled shamelessly to see him. Now that she had really brought herself to a clandestine meeting she was all in a happy flutter and amazed at her own hesitancy.

Yet she said, smiling up at her tall sweetheart: "You must go right back, Billy—must. Do you hear? Miss Prudence Weir sleeps with both ears and one eye open. Besides, she gets up early more than half the time. And you know she can make Dandy believe anything in the world, except that he ought to marry her."

"H-m! That's a pity! Skepticism on any other point would be less inconvenient," Billy Medwin panted, hurrying Elizabeth along the lane toward the woods beyond the main traveled road. It was not at all the way he should go to go home, but somehow Elizabeth made no protest.

Soon they were walking through dew sweet shade, with birds singing thin and sweet above their heads. And presently Billy had his arms about Elizabeth and was saying, with his lips in her hair: "Honey girl, I've been thinking—hard. Miss Weir is the lion in our path, and there's just one way to get round her"—

"What?" Elizabeth interrupted, lifting her head a little. Billy looked up among the leaves and colored faintly as he answered: "Oh, we must show Dandy how deceitful she is. She's made him believe it would be sin to let me have you. Don't you think it would shake his faith in her if he knew she was willing to take me herself?"

"Billy," Elizabeth exploded, shaking with laughter, "you wouldn't dare propose to her. Can you live through a breach of promise suit? If only you could do it! But you never in the world can."

"Sure you won't be jealous?" Billy asked, pinching her ear.

She made a face at him as she answered: "Just you try it. Why, even if the worst happened—if you got tangled past getting out—I should have at least the heavenly satisfaction of knowing she had showed herself to Dandy the cat she is."

"Trust me not to get tangled," Billy protested. What else he said is not strictly material to this narrative, although it sent Elizabeth home at last with happy eyes and the color of a wild rose.

* * * * * * *

Ofttimes fortune favors the daring. The execution began with his rescue of the pudgy Miss Weir from a runaway which was not in the least dangerous, but which gave her a mortal scare. Of course he went back with her to the gate, stopping there to explain elaborately that he had somehow incurred the displeasure of Mr. Daniel Goodwood and been forbidden the premises. That, of course, gave him excuse to ask if he might inquire by letter after Miss Weir's health. One letter quickly and easily bred another, and from writing it was but a step to meeting either in the lane or in the wood beyond and talking of many things.

Miss Weir was rising thirty, just five years Billy's elder, but so light colored and plump she flattered herself it looked the other way. She loved ease and consequence—witness that for five years past she had been trying delicately to marry Uncle Dandy. She had only succeeded in becoming after a sort his social watchdog.

He had a great opinion of Elizabeth, his heiress, and wanted to match her well if she was to be matched at all. Miss Weir had about lost hope of Uncle Dandy when Billy came on the scene. Billy knew pretty well all there was to know of lovemaking. This time he chose to make it in hypothetical fashion. He began impersonally by describing a young fellow who had set his eyes and heart upon one so far above his deserts he had become quite hopeless of winning her and had descended to trifling with mere ordinary girls by way of filling an aching void. Then he pictured the lady. Her eyes were heaven blue, her skin all lily and rose, her hair like spun sunshine, her voice a flute. But that was as nothing beside her loftier charms—her soul, her spirit, her angelic nature—which made a mere ordinary sinner grovel in dust whenever he let himself feel what temerity it was to love her. Thus far Billy got by the end of the second week. Naturally it was but little later that the lady was forced to discover herself in the fair unknown.

Then Billy played finer than ever. He would not speak the worshiper's name; she must guess it. But he would with her permission send her a letter unsigned from the worshiper, one in some faint way setting forth all that was in his heart. And she bound herself to reply to it—reply as her heart directed. Billy had hard work to keep from shouting when he heard that, but by holding himself hard in hand he kept a proper face and hurried off to consult his best chum, also a very ancient "complete letter writer."

Miss Weir did reply from a full heart. Indeed, the heart slopped over a bit—she called names—Billy's name with endearing variations. More, she whittled down the wind his pleas of unworthiness—he was a demigod at least among men—she rejoiced to hail and own him, king of her affections. Marry him? She would be happier as his wife than any crowned queen. His "modest fortune" did not count at all. Her tastes were even more modest—and so on, and so on.

To do the lady justice she knew Billy had really a handsome competence; also that he was no sluggard. And her own position was far from enviable. Moreover, she was dreadfully crabbed over Prudence's tardy settlement. "Here you are a nagging old maid when you ought to be a grandmother—almost," she said now and then brutally. Really the stars in their course fought for Billy—Billy the unregenerate, who as soon as he got the letter put it in his pocket and bore down on Uncle Dandy.

Just what happened between them is to this day a dark secret. Folks outside heard first a lot of growling from Uncle Dandy, followed later on by shouted laughter, but nothing audible until the pair came out together, with Uncle Dandy slapping Billy on the back at every other step. And this was what he was saying: "We've got to hire you a substitute, Billy, and I know just the man. It's Amos Flack—he needs a wife if ever a man did—a preacher, with five of the worst children going. Any endowed proposition will be tempting to him. Besides, I've already detected him casting sheep's eyes up this way. So you trot along and find Elizabeth while I look him up. And be sure you burn that letter. It must be thought to have got lost in transit. You may tell whoever you see there's going to be a double wedding up this way soon."

"Yes, sir; I will," Billy said obediently. "But I shan't tell 'em I had a hand in bringing on both matches."

Sure enough, there was a double wedding, with Uncle Dandy playing fairy godfather to both brides.

A Trait of the Burmans.

Knowledge of direction seems to be instinctive with the Burmans, says the author of "A People at School." They always reckon by the needle, not by relative position. They do not say "Turn to the right," but "Turn to the west." If a table in a room has two tumblers on it one of them will be the east tumbler, the other the west, and the table itself will be not the "table near the window," but the "table in the east of the room." So they speak of the north or south side of a street or of a tree, not the shady or sunny side. Even in rain or mist they know the direction at once. An English traveler, walking in the Burman forest on a foggy morning to find all trace of the road wiped out by rain and every apparent means of ascertaining direction gone, was at a loss what to do, but his Burman servants knew at once. "That is north," they said, pointing, "and that is east. Our course lies between," and straight to the northeast they marched unerringly.

Slander.

"Did you hear about Pickleham?"

"No."

"He went home last night and broke up the furniture and a lot of dishes and chased his wife out into the street."

"What was the matter with him?"

"Why, some woman in one of these suffrage meetings alluded to him as a model husband." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Pretty Girls.

That pretty girls are few,
I call to mind a stately Claire
To whom I bent my knee,
And Geraldine, with lips so rare—
Ah, what a queen was she!
Where'er one looked there used to be
A lovely maid in view,
But now I find, from bias free,
That pretty girls are few.

MORMONS IN CANADA.

They Will Erect a Temple at Cardston, Alberta.

An unusual degree of interest is just now centered around the colony of Mormons residing in Alberta, over the surprising announcement by President Joseph Smith, at the recent semi-annual conference at Salt Lake City, that the church would shortly commence the erection of a great temple in one of the settlements in the Canadian colony. President Smith stated in making the announcement to the conference that the assembled priesthood of the church had given a hearty and unanimous endorsement to the plan, in view of the rapidly increasing strength of the Canadian colony and the freedom and protection afforded them by the Government of the Dominion.

The announcement has startled all western Canada, especially those who have watched the colony since its inception twenty years ago. There are now about 10,000 Latter Day Saints in Alberta, and they have built some of the finest towns in the province. They are enterprising and industrious, and respect the laws of the Dominion and honor the flag of the Empire with as much zeal as do their "gentile" neighbors. They have elected a Mormon to the Provincial Assembly, Martin Woolf, of Cardston, being the representative.

Fostered by the free institutions of Britain, Mormonism has gained a firm footing on Canadian soil. United efforts have been made by various religious and women's organizations repeatedly to destroy the colony root and branch, asking that they be deported as undesirables. But thus far their energies have been expended in vain. The Government apparently sees no reason why the Mormons should not dwell in Canada so long as they observe the laws, especially in respect to plural marriage. The opponents of these people in Canada allege that polygamy is practiced, but they cannot prove it. Therefore, their hands are tied, and the colony is growing stronger and stronger as the years pass.

This latest project, however, has created great excitement. It is tangible proof that the Mormons are in Canada to stay, for the proposed temple will be a massive structure constructed with a view to provide for the generations yet unborn. The estimated cost is $150,000 and all the magnificent interior embellishment and fixtures, characteristic of the temples in Utah will be placed in the edifice in the Dominion. The rites and ordinances, which can be performed only in the temples, will be fully provided for and in every respect the sacred building will be constructed and furnished after the revealed plan.

It is a marvel how these people have flourished on the plains of western Canada. Led by Charles Ora Card from Utah—their purpose to find a haven from the polygamy war then at its height in that state—they prosecuted their lonely and unknown trek northward, similar to the gigantic migration of the Mormons from the east under Brigham Young. Crossing the international boundary line, they found a home on the grass-covered prairies that swept from the base of the Rockies far into the unknown horizon to the east. Alberta then was one vast stretch of inhospitable wilderness—the home of the trapper and isolated rancher. But with innate perseverance and industry the Mormons converted the broad, rolling plains into golden fields of grain, dotted here and there with prosperous towns and villages. This was really the first demonstration of the fertility and possibilities of the last great west; and since that time a constant stream of immigration has poured into the land of farms, the future home of contented millions.

Two years ago the Mormons built a college in Raymond. This was viewed with anxiety by the ministerial associations, and strong resolutions were passed and bitter words were said against this sect. The people were unmoved, and nothing came of it save a great deal of discussion in the press and pulpit. But now that this latest and most gigantic enterprise is announced the staggered public will undoubtedly be aroused as a unit. Just what tactics will be pursued is not known, but it is likely that an emphatic protest will go out from all over the country, forcing the Government to action.

Three-year-old Amy, who had a very lively little brother, was being put through a lesson in arithmetic by her uncle. She had successfully added one and one, but stuck at two and one.

"Your mamma," said her uncle, "has two children. If she had one more what would that make?"

"Oh," cried Amy, "that would make my mamma cwazy!"—Woman's Home Companion.

A Gentle Hint.

"I'm hungry," said the out of a job tragedian.

"Well," said the kind hearted (?) manager, "can't I give you something to appease your hunger?"

"Surely," said the actor. "I believe I'd prefer a few dates." — St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

AN ARCTIC ADVENTURE.

Nansen's Daring and Perilous Swim For His Drifting Boats.

Among the perilous adventures of the Nansen arctic expedition was the narrow escape of Nansen and Johansen on their return trip to the Fram after their unsuccessful dash for the pole. After many months of hardship a narrow channel opened in the ice, and they launched the two light kaiaks that they had carried on their sledges for more than a year. A few days afterward disaster nearly put an end to the expedition. The incident is related in "The Siege and Conquest of the North Pole," by Mr. George Bryce.

In the evening their legs felt stiff with sitting in the kaiaks all day, and they landed on the edge of the ice so that they might stretch them a little. After the kaiaks, which were lashed together, had been moored by means of one of the braces they ascended a hummock close by and had been standing there only a moment when Johansen raised the cry that the kaiaks were adrift.

They ran to the edge of the ice, but the boats were already a little way off and were drifting quickly. The position was a terrible one, for all they possessed was on board. Nansen at once threw off some of his clothing, handed his watch to Johansen and sprang into the icy water. He knew that if the boats were lost it meant death to him and his companion. At first it seemed more than doubtful whether he could manage to regain them. When he got tired he turned over and swam on his back. At length he gained a little and redoubled his exertions.

By this time Nansen felt his limbs stiffening and losing all feeling. His strokes became more and more feeble, but the distance from the kaiaks became shorter, and at last he was able to grasp a snowshoe that lay across the sterns. He now tried to pull himself up, but his body was so stiff with cold that he could not do so. After a little he managed to swing one leg up to the edge of the sledge that was lashed to the deck and then raised the rest of his body. They were saved!

With some difficulty he paddled the kaiaks back to Johansen, who admitted that these were the worst moments he had ever lived through. Johansen now pulled off Nansen's wet clothes, put on the few dry ones they had in reserve, spread the sleeping bag upon the ice and covered Nansen with the sail and everything he could find to keep out the cold. The next day Nansen was all right again, and in the evening they pressed forward once more on the march that finally brought them out of the arctic.

A Chilly Forecast.

The earth is growing in bulk on account of the meteoric dust that falls on it. It has recently been estimated that 100 tons fall daily over the surface of the globe, and that millions of years hence this will have increased the thickness of the earth considerably. This would have a tendency to bring us closer to the sun. But centrifugal force is augmented at the same time in greater proportion and counteracts this tendency; consequently the earth would be swept away from the sun, with the result that its distance from that body would be considerably augmented. This is spoken of as having possibly happened to some of the larger outer planets, notably Jupiter, in the remote past.—Harper's.

Milk and Ministers.

Milk became a very important part of the food of families in the colonial days of the eighteenth century. In 1728 a discussion took place in the Boston newspapers as to the expense of keeping a family of "middling figure." These writers all named only bread and milk for breakfast and supper. As cows increased in number, milk, of course, became more frequently used. Rev. Mr. Higginson in 1630 wrote that milk cost in Salem but a penny a quart, while another minister, John Cotton, said that milk and ministers were the only things cheap in New England.—American Cultivator.

Knew the Symptoms.

"Doctor, my husband is losing his mind, I fear. He continually mumbles and mutters to himself."

"Is it possible?"

"Yes; he mutters to himself, and when you speak to him he stares at you blankly."

"I know what the trouble is," said the doctor, smiling. "He is memorizing some lodge work. I belong to the same lodge."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Unnecessary Instructions.

"Now, Tommy," said his mother, giving her final instructions before he left for the party, "remember, if you're asked to have something you want you must say, 'Yes, thank you,' and if you don't want it"—

Tommy raised his hand. "That's all right, ma," he said; "you needn't bother about that part of it."

"I'm out for a ride!" the motorist cried
As he hurried away in glee.
Ten miles from town his car broke down,
And "I'm in for a walk!" sighed he.

BRITISH AMAZONS

Women Who Could Pull an Oar With the Best of Men.

WON FAME ALL OVER EUROPE.

Ann Glanville and Her Champions Not Only Beat Their Own Countrymen, but Went to Havre and Outrowed Half a Dozen Crack French Crews.

In the boat races that have from time immemorial been rowed on the Hamoaze, the estuary of the Tamar and the Tavy that forms part of the harbor of Plymouth, the women of Saltash have often distinguished themselves. In "Around and About Saltash" P. E. B. Porter writes of Ann Glanville, whose amazonian feats of oarsmanship made her famous all over Europe:

"Some sixty or seventy years ago the crew of Saltash women was often seen not only on the Hamoaze, but wherever aquatic sports were held. It was not often that Ann and the crew that she stroked were beaten in a match—never by other women.

"They competed for prizes at Hull, Liverpool, Portsmouth and Dartmouth, and it must not be supposed that a crew of men ever yielded the palm out of masculine courtesy, for, as a matter of fact, the men did not at all relish being beaten by a 'parcel of females.'

"In some of these contests Mrs. Harriet Screech, a daughter of Ann Glanville, who had fourteen children, rowed with her mother. As she was the youngest member of the crew she pulled bow oar, the least arduous post in the boat.

"Once this crew, rowing a match at Fleetwood in the presence of Queen Victoria, gave the men so sound a beating that her majesty asked to have Ann presented to her.

"However, the most famous event of Ann's life took place in 1850, when Captain Russell of H. M. S. Brunswick suggested to her that she and her crew should go to Havre to the regatta there and challenge the Frenchmen, a proposal to which she readily assented.

"When the Frenchmen heard of the challenge from les Anglaises de Saltashe they shrugged their shoulders, for they scarcely regarded it as serious. And when the women appeared in their white frilled caps prinked out with blue ribbons, in their short petticoats and white dresses, with blue neckerchiefs tied over the shoulders and crossed behind the back, they looked puzzled.

"The challenge of the Englishwomen created a stir not only in Havre, but for miles along the French coast and for many leagues inland too. And in England the greatest interest was aroused.

"When the day of the regatta came there was a vast concourse of people to witness the contest. Every quay, hilltop and housetop from which a view of the course could be had was crowded. Every one was on tiptoe of expectation. Before the start the Saltash crew had a pull round 'to show themselves.' Their steady stroke, the way in which they bent their backs to their work and the perfect ease and grace with which they pulled made the French open their eyes.

"Ann and her crew had not the best start possible, nor at first did they have the advantage. Five minutes after the start six boats were ahead of them. But they soon tested their opponents' nerve. Ann, who had the stroke oar, gave the word:

"'Bend your backs to it, maidens, and hurrah for old England!'

"One by one, with a cheer from old Ann, they passed the six boats. At last they drove their boat, with the British color flying gayly at the fore, into the lead. It was a long course and a hard pull, but they soundly thrashed the Frenchmen. Ann and her 'maidens' beat them by 100 yards. The members of this famous crew were Ann Glanville, Harriet Hosking, Jane House and Amelia Lee. A man acted as coxswain.

"Mrs. House was so elated at the victory that on reaching the committee boat she plunged into the water, dived under the vessel and came up with a dripping and drooping cap on the opposite side.

"Ann Glanville died in 1880, at the age of eighty-five, dignified, vigorous and handsome to the last. Her character was summed up by a neighbor in these words:

"'Her was honest to a farthing, clean as a smelt and kind hearted as a queen.'"

Rose to the Occasion.

"Do you know, Miss Dooties," asks the earnest young man, "that if one were on Sirius the orbit of the earth would look just about the size of a finger ring?"

"I beg your pardon, Harold," she flutters. "I was musing for the moment and did not catch everything you said, but I heard you say something about 'serious' and a ring."

HORNBY ISLAND

Last year wild straw-berries were ripe on the 24th of May, this season it is a week late.

Robbie Swan of Denman Island is over visiting friends, and is the guest of John Scott.

Wm. L. Ford and James Strachan arrived from Salmon Bay, Toba Inlet, per power boat Quascilla. They report that twenty-five new settlers have left Toba valley on account of the difficulty of getting title to lands.

Among the visitors of last week were Mrs Paterson and J. Kelly of Vancouver Island. They were agreeably surprised to find the Island with so many natural parks of unsurpassed beauty and they desire in the near future to purchase a farm here.

At Day's logging camp, Tribune Bay, a lage boom of over a thousand logs is now waiting for the tug.

The 24th of May was gala day for the Islanders at "Pine Park" St. John's Point. Under perfect weather conditions many took advantage of the day. The Double O, which left Denman at 10 a. m. had such a heavy load with every available space taken up with passengers, and with 4 boats in tow, it was fully one o'clock when she arrived at the picnic grounds. A. Graham's steamer the "Rex" also brought a full quota of pleasure seekers from Denman wharf. After a hearty repast, games and sports were the order of the day, prominent which were foot races, three legged races, wheel barrow, obstacle and burden races, and other athletic sports were indulged in. In the children's race Edith Chalmers gained the first prize and Vinnie Piercy second, in the young boy's race Jas. Dalziel 1st and Cesar Scott 2nd, girl's race Ruby Piercy 1st and Rosie Baikie 2nd, boys under 10 John Carmichael 1st and Earny LaForest 2nd, womens race, Mrs. R. Scott 1st and Mrs. P. Smith 2nd, youths race Francis Graham 1st and Arthur Pickles 2nd, young mens 100 yd foot race Burt Pickles 1st and Francis Graham 2nd, wheel barrow race Frank Swan and Ray Chalmers 1st and Burt and Arthur Pickles 2nd, burden race Irvine Piercy and Francis Graham 1st and Frank Swan and Burt Pickles 2nd, besides the above, other games were indulged in. At 7.30 the last boat load of pleasure seekers left for home, and all expressed themselves as delighted with the picnic and outing.
