HE SHOT HIS CHINAMAN

Hon. Frank J. Lascelles Kills His Chinese Servant.

DEED OF AN ECCENTRIC ENGLISHMAN

Rolling in Wealth He Has Lived a Life of Dreary Solitude.

W. HARGREAVES COMMITS SUICIDE

The Honorable Frank J. Lascelles, an eccentric young Englishman, who has been living on Columbia lake, near Canal Flats, for the past eight or nine years, shot and killed a Chinese employe on Wednesday morning of last week. After the tragedy had occured, Lacelles, who was dressed in his pajamas, put on a top coat, and taking a rifle and some cartridges in a belt, left his house for the woods. Word was sent to Gold Commissioner Griffith, at Golden, and officers were sent in search of Lascelles.

The Canterbury Outcrop, which is published about twenty-five miles from Thunder Hill, the home of Lascelles, has the following in regard to the murder:

Lascelles returned from Peterboro on Thursday, the 23rd inst., where he had been as a witness in the case of Gallop vs. Hankins and at supper was more sociable than usual. At times on Sunday he acted peculiar. Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock he got up and asked Jack Lambert to go fishing with him. They eturned at 7:30. Tuesday morning about 10 I first saw Lascelles when he came to the new house where we were working and talked sensibly. He called Lambert out and started to talk about H. Macdonald. About 11 he left on horseback and did not come back until 10 at night. Had no horse, hat or coat and was drenched to the skin, and appeared wild. The Chinaman got him supper, which he ate. This morning as as it was just breaking day I first heard Lascelles, he was still raving about Macdonald and appeared to think he was about the place. I heard him say: "Don't try that game or I'll shoot." He also said, "I'll count 25 and if you don't come I'll go after you." Jack then got up and went out. Lascelles called two or three times to know who opened the door. He got no answer. He then said he would shoot the first man he met. I then started to get up with the intention of protecting myself. In the meantime he went into the store room. Then I looked around for the other Chinaman and Lambert, but could not find them I then walked six miles to Bullman's, got a horse and road to Windermere.

It is said that Constable C. Cameron, D. Gramger and Dr. Elliott, who were sent to investigate the affair, found Lascelles sitting at the roadside on a log. He pulled up his rifle and commanded the party to halt. They did so, and engaged him in conversation, and by using a little diplomacy succeeded in getting hold of his rifle. When this was accomplished the prisoner was handcuffed and placed in the rig, and taken to Windermere.

Mr. Lascelles is a young Englishman, worth probably nearly $300,000 He came to North East Kootenay about nine years ago to find a place where he could live in retirement and solitude. He selected the land where he afterwards built his home, on the opposite side of the lake from the government road, so as to be away from people travelling back and forth, and even painted his house green, so that there would be no contrast between it and the grass and trees, for the purpose, as he stated, to prevent people from looking over at it from the road.

There are several people in Cranbrook who know him well. They say he was full of eccentricities, and always has been a very peculiar individual ever since he came to the country. He made few friends, but for those whom he showed a liking, there was nothing he would not do for them. He lived with two Chinese servants and a companion. To his servants he never spoke, and they lived in abject fear of his peculiar temperment. Although having a liberal supply of money, he dressed in the plainest fashion. He seemed to have an antipithy towards women, and would not have one about his place.

There seems to be no doubt among those who have known him well, that his mind finally gave way under the life he was leading, and the tragedy is the result. He will probably be confined in an asylum until his friends from England come to look after him.

Suicide of William Hargreaves.

William Hargreaves, of Winnipeg, vice-president and travelling representative of G. H. Stephens & Co., of Winnipeg, committed suicide at Rat Portage last Friday by cutting his throat in his room at the hotel where he was stopping.

The deceased was well known to quite a number of people in Cranbrook, and his sudden death came as a great shock to them. He was in Cranbrook only a few days previous to his death, and visited G. H. Miner. A. Leitch and J. C. Slater at that time. At that time he seemed to be in the best of health and spirits. The Winnipeg Free Press in an account of the tragedy, says:

Mr Hargreaves was one of the most widely known of Winnipeg commercia travellers and was a past chief consul of the U. C. T.'s and past president of the N. W. C. T. A. He was an old time resident of Winnipeg and came west in 1878 or 1879 He had been connected with the G. F. Stephens Co. for many years and at one time represented sever*al well known eastern firms in the west*. He was born near Manchester England, and came to Canada at an early age, and lived for some time at Perth, Ont. Deceased was about 45 years of age and leaves a wife and two young sons residing on Kennedy street.

MOYIE

News Notes From the Mineral City

THE ST. EUGENE

Everything at the St. Eugene is now in first class order and the present month is sure to be a record breaker. The high water in the lake interfered with the tailings for a short time, but this has now subsided and no more difficulty will be experienced. Every day immense quantities of ore are being turned out, but last Tuesday the output was even a little higher than usual, 125 tons of concentrates being turned out between the hours of 7 p m. and 5:30 a.m This was surely a record breaker, and shows that the St. Eugene mill is a first-class one.

THE NEW SAWMILL

The work on the new sawmill is now steadily progressing. The timbers will, in a short time, be completed, when the machinery for the mill will be put in place and the lumber for the frame of the mill sawed Work on the spur from the C. P. R. is also being pushed and the grading will likely be completed this week.

THE AURORA

Tom Rader and O J, Johnson are hard at work on the Aurora, having a small force of men employed They report the showing good and every day the prospects brighter.

THE WATERWORKS

The small pipe for the Moyie waterworks has now arrived, but the main pipe is not yet here, being expected any day. On its arrival work laying it will at once commence.

THE I. O. O. F.

At a recent meeting of the Odd Fellows the following officers were elected: F. I. Moore, N. G, J. S. MacEachern, V. G., A. W. Sutherland, R S., A Drummond, F. S., W. L. Reid and R Smith, Trustees.

A Short Vacation.

The editor of The Herald and his better half will leave Saturday morning for a trip to the coast. They will go to Nanaimo, where Old Man Simpson will represent Cranbrook and Moyie I. O. O. F. lodges at the meeting of the Grand Lodge, and from there they will go to Victoria, Seattle and Tacoma. During the old man's absence, M. Rockendorf, The Herald's right bower, will have charge of the paper. He is duly authorized to collect all he can and not pay a cent, to keep the machine going. We propose to have a good time and toss off the worry of the whole business for two weeks, and on our return dig into hard work for another 12 months.

TWO CITIZENS DINED

George L. Morrow and W. S. Keay Honored by Friends.

TWO JOLLY BANQUETS GIVEN

One Left for Cuba, the Other Goes to California to Get Married.

TESTIMONIAL OF FRIENDS TO FRIENDS

Last Friday evening the Masons of Cranbrook lodge, No. 34, banqueted their departing member and district deputy, Mr. G. L. Morrow, who left for Cuba on Sunday afternoon. It was about 10 o'clock when the Masons and a number of invited friends took their seats around the tables in the dining room of the Cranbrook hotel. The tables were arranged in the form of a square, one of the Masonic emblems, and were loaded with all the dainties he market afforded. Chef Walcott did himself proud in the dinner that was served, and on all sides were heard words of praise for the magnificent spread.

A. Moffat officiated as chairman and Dr. J. H King as vice chairman, and when cigars had been lighted and the smoke was floating toward the ceiling Mr Moffat rapped for order and proposed as the first toast "The King," after which "Long Live the King" was sung with spirit.

The guests were then asked to rise again and drink to the guest of the evening, Mr. Morrow, which was done, and the chorus "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" taken up with enthusiasm. Mr. Gurd then read an address from the Masons to Mr. Morrow, setting forth the high esteem in which he was held by the fraternity and the people.

The following toast list was then presented:

The Press—F. E Simpson.

Learned Professions—Dr. Keith, Mr. Gurd and Mr. Gauvereau.

Mercantile Interests—Messrs Rink Miner, Beattie, Reid and Gilpin.

Banking Interests—H. Haines.

Song—J. W. Robinson.

Lumber and Mining—A. Leitch, J. W, Robinson, W. W. Doble and J. Hutchison.

Visitors—A. W. R. Markley.

The Ladies—Messrs. Gurd, Parker, Gauvereau and Bell.

At this juncture Mr. Morrow proposed the toast "Beautiful Cranbrook," coupled with the names of W. F. Tate, R. E. Beattie and F. E. Simpson.

The chairman then proposed the closing toast "Our Host," and the crowd sang "For Jim Is a Jolly Good Fellow" until Mr. Ryan blushed in his modesty but said some good things as he always does.

After joining hands and singing "Auld Lang Syne" the crowd dispersed.

Following are the names of those present: Dr King, Dr Bell, W F Gurd, M Rockendorf, M B King, Frank Clapp, George Hilliard, George Leitch, A D Parker, W T Reid, H Haines, John Hutchison, A Leitch, A Moffat, N B Gauverau, W W Doble, J W Robinson, J P Fink, G H Miner, G H Gilpin, Jas Ryan, Chas McNab, Geo Johnson, W F Tate, A W R Markley, F E Simpson, R E Beattie, B Carter, W Stocks, Dr Keith.

Ante-Nuptial Farewell.

Saturday night is not the best night in the world to hold a banquet. Therefore, it was nearly 11 o'clock before the guests invited to say farewell to W. S Keay, who left Monday morning for California to be married, were seated around the "electric-light-kissed festal board" at the Cosmopolitan hotel. The table was beautifully decorated with flowers and bunting, and the many fancy dishes and display of glassware presented a scene that was pleasing to the eye and a credit to Mr. Small, the host. F. E. Simpson officiated as chirman and R. E. Beattie as vice chairman. After drinking to the health of the King and Queen Mr. Beattie, in his happy style, explained why the mourners were present, and then called upon Mr. Hutchison who read an address to Mr. Keay. The address was a touching effort, and expressed the sorrow felt over the loss of Mr. Keay to the bachelor element and the congratulations of the benedicts on his wise step. A beautiful emblem was then presented and Mr. Keay responded thanking all for their kindness. Then followed a flow of eloquence in response to a toast list that was a little different from the ordinary list presented, and the replies included talks from all present:

King and Queen.

Old Married Men—H. McVittie.

The Mercantile Graft—G. H. Gilpin and J. P. Fink.

The Divorce Court—W. F. Gurd

Song—J. W. Robinson.

The Graft of Grafts—H. Haines.

Batching—N Gauvereau

The Cosmopolitan—E H. Small.

At the close the guests all shook hands with Mr. Keay and wished him every happiness in his new relations.

MINES AND MINING

CONSIDERING A SMELTER

A party composed of United States Senator Turner, of Spokane, G W Hull, of Toledo, Ohio, C W Burdsall and Leonard Cevier, of Spokane, arrived yesterday afternoon and took a conveyance at once for Kimberley. Mr Turner and Mr Hull are largely interested in the Sullivan mine, and they are here with Mr Cevier, a mining engineer, and Mr Burdsall, the former superintendent, to investigate conditions with a view of putting in a smelter if circumstances warrant it. It is quite probable, if any action is taken that way, that the smelter will be located near the falls on Mark creek.

Iron in South East Kootenay.

Nelson Tribune: Some interesting development work is now going on in the Goat River mining division, which may result in the establishment in that district of the greatest iron industry in Canada. Montreal men are furnishing the money, and if they have what they think they have the Clergue iron and steel industry at the Canadian Soo will be crowded into second place.

The work which these Montreal men have in hand is the exploration of the big ledge of hematite iron, between Arrow creek and Goat river, and upon which some twenty claims have been located The properties were formerly held by C. P. Hill, of Port Hill, Idaho, who a month ago gave a bond upon them to a Montreal Syndicate headed by William Blakemore,. formerly manager of the Crows Nest Coal company's property at Fernie. Mr. Blakemore has assumed personal charge of the development and has now on hand a thorough exploration of the big iron ledge with the aid of two diamond drills which are now on the ground The ledge is from 40 to 120 feet wide, and has been traced through the mountains for a distance of six miles, and assays made of it show 60 per cent magnetic iron. Mr. Blakemore promises that if the ledge holds the same values as depth is attained by the diamond borings an iron and steel industry will spring up around Kitchener which will be second to none in the Dominion In addition to the iron measures there is a water power in the Goat river which is said to equal that of Bonnington falls for power purposes, and anticipating the value of their iron ledge the Montreal men have secured it. The exploration of the iron ledge will be proceeded with as quickly as possible.

Ore That Runs High in Copper.

M. J. Halpin, of Whitewater, passed through Nelson yesterday on his way to East Kootenay, says the Nelson Tribune, to do some work on claims he owns over there, which are situate on St. Mary's river, some three and a half miles from St. Mary's lake. The ore on his property runs as high as 25 per cent copper, and carries a little gold. Mr. Halpin believes that he has something worth working, and as he is a practical miner he intends putting in some hard licks for a time.

Mining Notes.

James Cronin, manager of the St. Eugene mine, was in town yesterday.

C. P. Hill, who was instrumental in getting capital interested in the iron deposits near Kitchener, was in town this week. He says they have had a hard time getting their machinery on the ground, owing to high water, but that everything is in good shape for the work of prospecting with their diamond drill.

Tom Starbird, one of the best known mining men in East Kootenay, was in town yesterday. He had just returned from the Windermere country and says that they have been held back there in mining operations by the late spring but that during the past ten days the snow has been rapidly disappearing from the hills.

The Herald is in receipt of a pamphlet from Hon. Richard McBride, minister of mines, that is a most comprehensive review of the mining industry of British Columbia. The pamphlet has been prepared for distribution at the Glasgow and Buffalo expositions.

"Do you know," said an old miner of this district the other day, "it would not surprise me any time to hear of some one finding big pay gravel on some of these creeks, if they will go to bed rock. It takes time and money to do that, but the millions that were taken out of Wild Horse in the Sixties did not clean up the gold in this district by any means. Prospectors should have their eyes open for placer as well as quartz. It is surely here."

PERRY CREEK A WINNER

It Promises to be a Great Gold Camp.

DIVIDEND PAYERS OF THIS DISTRICT

They Excell the Lead Mines of the Slocan by Big Odds.

THIS DISTRICT COMING TO THE FRONT

The Herald has always maintained that one of the richest territories tributary to Cranbrook is the Perry creek district, and it will be a gold camp with strong values. Already there has been a large amount of placer gold taken out, and in the work done it is thought that the richest gravel has not been reached. John Murphy, of Moyie, who has two claims on the creek, the Daisy and General, visited the district this week in company with Oliver Burge, to look after the property on which the assessment work is being done by the Pollard brothers and A. Legget.

Speaking of the work done in the distriut Mr. Murphy said: "The Perry Creek Gold Mining company, limited, have 2200 feet of tunnel work on their property, and have started to make an upraise where it will give them a depth of 180 feet. Their main tunnel is in 1400 feet. During the last few days they have struck a pocket of rich gold ore that assays over $200 per ton. They have nine men in the camp.

"Jack Thompson and the Banks brothers have gotten to bed rock on Perry creek at 78 feet, and they are the first ones to do so, and have been rewarded by finding six feet of pay gravel. They had a wheel in the creek to do the pumping, but the high water took it out and they had to suspend operations until the water recedes They intend to push their work as soon as it is possible.

"Mr. Sherwood will start in a few days to do assessment work on his property. On the [illegible] Town and getting ready to do the work on his claim Shakespeare. Theis has staked a townsite near Young's property just above the townsite staked by the big company. Frank Villeneuve has done a lot of work on his property, having 130 feet of tunnel. He has a good property. I took some of his rock and panned it out, finding colors. Oliver Burge has a property there and will have the work done on it.

"I look upon the Perry creek district as one full of promise. The properties are looking well and with a stamp mill they can be worked at a profit. There should be a road from Cranbrook to the district as Cranbrook is their natural market. It would be a big thing for Cranbrook and a great convenience to the people of that district."

Famous East Kootenay Mines.

The North Star, the famous silver-lead property near Cranbrook, B. C, will soon pay another dividend of three cents a share, says the Spokane Review. That will be equal to $39,000, for the company has issued $1,300,000 in capital stock.

The new dividend will be payable on June 15 It will be the second distribution of profits in which the shareholders will have participated this year. The previous dividend, which also was for three cents a share, was made in March. The total sums that have been paid by the North Star up to date have been $205,000.

Notwithstanding the depression under which the silver-lead mines of British Columbia have been suffering, it is noticeable that they still contribute liberally to the profits of mining in the province.

The St. Eugene Consolidated, at Moyie, twenty miles from Cranbrook, which is controlled by the Canadian Gold Fields syndicate, has; aid profits of $210,000 this year. A dividend of three per cent was paid on January 1, and another of the same size on April 1. As the capital of the company is $3,500,000, each distribution of profits amounted to $105,000.

The St. Eugene has suffered considerably from lack of a market for its ore and has had to send its produce to Belgium to be handled. The property was almost closed for a short time, but the announcement was made a few days ago that it is to be worked again with a full force. There is good reason to look forward to a continuation of dividends.

Since the first of the year the silver-lead properties of the Slocan and East Kootenay have paid $398,500 in profits of which the St. Eugene has paid $210,000 and the North Star $78,000, making a total of $177 500, more than all the lead mines of the Slocan. Truly South East Kootenay is all right.

Married.

R. Hertz, of The Fort Steele Mercantile company, was married Wednesday, June 5, at Fort Steele, to Miss M. Secord, of that city, Rev. Beacham officiating. The bride and groom left this morning for a trip to Spokane and other points.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A smelter in South East Kootenay will go a long way toward relieving the present situation.

"Beautiful Cranbrook" is fully emphasized these days.

The Nelson papers are at it again. The people of that town are patient sufferers.

An hypocrite is an abomination in the eyes of man. He may think he is fooling the Lord, but he isn't.

Cranbrook is a great sporting center. In fact, when railways, commerce, manufacturing and mining is considered, it is the center of all these lines for this district.

Tell your friends when you write all about South East Kootenay, and if you are too tired to tell them, send them The Herald, and then they will get all the news.

The Libby News editor issued a paper again last week. He says he is not positive when he can get out another paper. If the Libby people know how to appreciate a good thing, they will see that the News editor is encouraged to issue his paper each week.

Nowhere is there a better or richer mining district than South East Kootenay. Here there is vast wealth to be found, and here prosperity will bring happiness to countless thousands within the next few years.

The Fernie Free Press and the Moyie Leader each gave considerable space last week to Cranbrook's big celebration. The Fort Steele Prospector ignored it althogether. Grace, you are old enough to know better.

Cranbrook made a big success of her spring meeting, and the success was made possible by the hearty co-operation of most of the other towns in the district.

The man who knocks at South East Kootenay today is simply driving nails in his own coffin.

ALL OVER THE PROVINCE.

Hon. J. H. Turner will not resign as provincial treasurer until he has been in England some time, and Hon. J. D Prentice will act as provincial treasurer meantime.

H. C. Killeen will have full charge of all roads and trails in the province in the future, and F. C, Gamble to have charge of the dyking works.

Provincial Constable Forbes, who resigned his New Denver station on the provincial police for service in South Africa, and who since his return has been stationed at Lardo, has been moved to Kimberley.

W. R. Hocking, formerly of Moyie, who is serving time on the charge of bigamy, has had his case taken up by the United States authorities on the grounds of new evidence that will show he is not guilty.

The people of Ferguson are kicking because all they can get from the government is receipts for taxes paid. No money has been spent on the town in public improvements.

The Lardeau Eagle says that many prospectors are willing to use space in that paper to boost their claims, but never think of putting up a dollar on subscription to keep the presses going.

Foot pads are working in Nelson.

It is rumored that the Canadian Smelting works of Trail, B C., now the largest producer of lead bullion in Canada, will proceed immediately with the construction of a lead refinery. It has not been decided whether these works will be located in the Kootenay district or on the Pacific coast, or at some point on the Atlantic seaboard. There is also some talk to the effect that Canadian capital is being raised for the purpose of erecting white lead works in the east.

FORT STEELE ITEMS.

From Fort Steele Prospector.

A small force is at work repairing the Windermere road north of Wasa.

E. G. Woodford left Fort Steele on Thursday on a visit to Winnipeg.

Mrs. J. A. Harvey and daughter left on Tuesday for Chicago. They will visit Toronto and other eastern Canadian cities before they return.

On Wednesday, Don McKay in charge of a small road gang, left Steele to work on the Wild Horse trail.

Mrs. R. D. Mather was visiting at Kimberley during the early part of this week.

M B. King and wife, Mrs Beattie and Dr. J. H. King were visitors at Steele on Thursday.

FERNIE

News From the Coal Metropolis

[From the Free Press]

McRae's mill at Coal Creek has closed down owing to high water.

The Fernie Church of England has extended a call to the Rev. Houghton, of Carberry, Manitoba.

There is some talk of organizing a baseball team from the Cranbrook and Fernie teams to go to Rossland and Nelson some time in July.

It took about five hours for the special train from Cranbrook on Tuesday evening to reach Fernie. The accomodation although only second class, was princely compared with that of the excursion rain last year.

The application of Alfred Doyle, of Fort Steele, for a license for the Crows Nest hotel, which was to have been heard on Saturday, the 25th, in Cranbrook was withdrawn, owing to failure to meet the requirements of the law. His petition contained 420 names. The counter petition contained 400 names, over 300 of whom are house holders. Thirty householders signed both petitions.

Now that Cranbrook has improved its baseball team by the addition of Mike O'Hara, one of the best pitchers in the west, it is expected that some very exciting matches will take place between Fernie's team and that of Cranbrook. Our boys are not the kind who will take a back seat at the first defeat.

MRS. DUBBS AND THE CLUBS

Mrs. Araminta Dubbs,
President of fifteen clubs,
Member of as many more,
'Sociate in half a score,
Wrote
And read
And sang
And said
In her clubs from dawn till bed.
She was ever on the go;
"Mustn't miss my club, you know."
Daybreak, Health and Breakfast clubs
Honored Araminta Dubbs.
Morning club from nine to ten,
Browning club—then on again;
Luncheon club and Sisterhood,
Euchre club and Better Food;
Ibsen club and Amateurs
Had for her their clubby lures.
Smile
And chat
Of this
And that—
"Faith," or "How to Trim a Hat,"
"Latest Searches For the Pole,"
"What We Know About the Soul,"
"Woman's Sphere" and "Help the Men,"
"How to Treat a Sitting Hen,"
"Ibsen's Mystic Inner Thought,"
"Whichness of the Why and What,"
"Immorality of Plays,"
"Is the Walking Skirt a Crime?"
"Wireless Messages to Mars,"
"Chats with Famous Female Stars"—
To
And fro
And on
The go
Mrs. Dubbs was never slow;
Talked and wrote and played and drew;
Took course in cooking too.
Sorrow came, though, after 'while
In a very sudden style.
Mr. Dubbs became quite ill;
But, with martyr's iron will,
Mrs. Araminta Dubbs
Kept her ceaseless round of clubs
Till one afternoon, when she
Was, as sweetly as could be,
Speaking with much grace and life
On "The Duties of a Wife"
To the Maids and Matrons' guild,
All her eloquence was stilled
By
A card
Which her
Speech marred—
Dubbs' soul had been unbarred.
Mrs. Dubbs repressed a sigh;
Said, "'Twas mean of him to die
Just as I'm about to reach
Finest part of all my speech!"
But, of course, she had to quit,
And that was the end of it,
For, when she had buried Dubbs,
Sad to tell, all of the clubs
Had another on her throne,
And she found herself alone.
She
Who stubs
Her toe
On clubs
Should heed the fate of Mrs. Dubbs.

A LAME BACK

Causes Mr. C. H. Wilcox Years of Great Suffering.

Injured His Spine While Lifting, and the Doctors told Him He Would Never Fully Recover—But He is Once More Free From the Trouble.

From the Brockville Recorder.

In the western section of Leeds county there is no man better known that Mr. Chas. H. Wilcox. He has resided in the vicinity of McIntosh Mills for years, and during much of the time has conducted a very successful saw-milling business. All of Mr. Wilcox's neighbors know that he was a great sufferer for years from a lame back, and most of them know that this affliction has now happily passed away. Mr. Wilcox says he owes this happy release from pain to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and those who know him will not for an instant question the sincerity of his statement. He gives the story of his suffering and subsequent cure in the following statement:—"One day while working in the mill, and engaged in lifting lumber I had the misfortune to severely wrench my back. I was so badly injured that I had to be carried home, and for six months I was practically unable to move, and suffered great torture. The doctor told me that I had injured my spine and that I would never fully recover from its effects. At last I was able to go about again, but was far from being the man I had been before. For years I suffered almost continually from pains in the back, and was unable to lift any heavy weight. At times the pain was so bad that I was unable to work at all, and I was often confined to the house for days at a time. During this time I was treated by four different doctors, but their treatment did not seem to do me any good. They told me that owing to the injury to my spine my back would always be weak. Seeing that the doctors were unable to help me, and having read of the many cures resulting from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to give them a trial, and procured a supply. Very soon I could see that they were relieving me a little, and this encouraged me to continue their use. In all I took about ten boxes, and when they were finished my back was as strong as ever. The pains that had racked my body for so many years had entirely disappeared, my back felt as strong as before the injury. It is now two years since I discontinued the use of the pills and in all that time I have not had an ache or pain, so that I may safely say that my cure is permanent. I would advise all similar sufferers to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for knowing what they have done for me, I am confident that they cannot be less successful in other cases."

These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine company, Brockville, Ont. Do not take any substitute or any other remedy alleged to be "just as good."

MILLIONS OF SMITHS.

This Wonderful Family Penetrates Every Grade of Society.

Three thousand years ago the Hebrews were under the dominion of the Philistines. Then arose perhaps the strangest hardship ever imposed upon a subject nation by a conquering one. The Scriptures themselves tell the story in these graphic words:

"Now there was no smith found throughout all the land of Israel, for the Philistines said, Lest the Hebrews make them swords or spears; but all the Israelites went down to the Philistines to sharpen every man his coulter, and his ax, and his mattox."

Thus the Hebrews were obliged to travel from 100 to 200 miles to find a smith, a hardship that is quite inconceivable today, when the country swarms with them. If there had never been any artisan smiths there could be no surname Smith today. And what would it mean to us if there were no longer Smiths (by name) in our land? It would mean vacancies in the professors' chairs and upon the judicial bench; it would thin the ranks of the lawyers, ministers and doctors, of the merchants, brokers and manufacturers, and of the railroad, commercial and financial magnates; it would diminish the number of scholars, reformers and philosophers and deplete the ranks of sailors, soldiers, farmers, mechanics and all the rest of the great laboring world; the tramps, beggars and jailbirds would be less often met with, and cranks, politicians, drunkards and criminals fewer in number. In fact, not a rank or gradation of our whole social system but would be affected. Some genius of computation has figured out that if all the males of earth were enrolled there would be an army of 7,000,000 Smiths among them. Allowing the feminine Smiths to be as numerous, the world has 14,000,000 living Smiths. Whether the number be as prodigious as this or not there is no question that it runs into the millions. A family so numerous and so universally infiltered through every caste and class commands at least the respect due recognized magnitude and aggregated power.

Literally smith means smiter—i. e., one who smites or hammers. And in old days when every bit of metal, copper, iron, silver, gold or brass, had to be pounded and hammered by mighty strokes into armor, tools, plate, utensils and implements, there was need of many smithers. These smithers, or smiths, were not men of brawn alone; they had to possess the ready brain and skill to sharpen alike an implement, repair an armor or shoe a horse. Theirs was an honest and lucrative trade, and every road, street and hamlet had its smiths. Not only were there many smiths, but different branches of smithery abounded, and thus numerous compounds and derivations of Smith came into existence. Among these are Smither, Smithkins, Smithson, Arrasmith, Arrowsmith, Goldsmith, Silversmith, Coppersmith, Steelsmith, Locksmith, Hammersmith, Hocksmith, Hockersmith, Drakesmith, Forcesmith, Bakersmith, Wildsmith, Wintersmith, Hoffsmith, Smitham, Bowersmith, Worksmith, Watchsmith, Kleinsmith and Smithdeal.

Strangest of all these perhaps is Fewsmith. Sometimes, to distinguish several Smiths in one street or hamlet, a Christian name was incorporated with the usual name. Thus came into usage Smithpeer, Hillsmith, Helensmith and Aaronsmith.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that other languages have their Smiths. Germans have numberless Schmitts and Schmidts, the French have Le Fevres, the Spaniards Gunsulus, the Russian Smithtowskies and the Irish have Gavan and Gowan, each meaning Smith, and McGavan and McGowan, meaning the son of a smith.

Queer Trees at Niagara.

Persons visiting Niagara falls in summer often have their attention attracted to the queer shapes taken on by the trees which grow immediately around the great cataract. A trio of sturdy old trunks which must be every bit of 50 years old, and yet are graced with a tuft of foliage which seems to belong to a sapling of a few summers, stand near the American falls.

A visit to the falls in winter will explain the reason for the grotesque appearance of the trees. The mist thrown up by the falling water settles on the trees in such quantities that they often assume the appearance of icebergs stranded high and dry on the banks. As the weight of the ice increases the weaker boughs break away under the burden, and after a very cold season the tree emerges from its plating of ice shorn entirely of its branches. The trunk alone stands, and when touched by spring's warm breath it shoots out into a very close and compact bunch of leaves, which looks ridiculous on the top of such a heavy piece of timber.

Booming Papa.

"Here is a story of a little girl, the daughter of a local physician of credit and renown," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. "She is a bright child of 6 and has been much petted by her admiring friends. Perhaps this has spoiled her a little, but she is so sweet and entertaining that visitors can't keep their hands off her.

"One of these visitors, a new neighbor, made a call on the little maid's mother, and it wasn't but a few moments before the little maid was on her lap.

"In the chatter which followed the woman made some allusion to the little one's grandmother.

"'Why, didn't you know?' cried the child.

"'Know what, dear?' said the visitor.

"'Why,' answered the child, 'grandma is dead, and grandpa is dead, and Aunt Jane is dead, and most all of papa's patients are dead too!'"

Philanthropy.

"How you must enjoy being a philanthropist!" said the sprightly young woman.

"I don't quite understand you," replied the man of earnest manners.

"It must be such a pleasure to feel that you have plenty of money and can always be doing good."

"Yes; but the only difficulty is that one can't always be sure whether he is doing good or being done good."

Standing In His Own Light.

"I'll never give you up, Miss Perkins—never."

"That's it, Mr. Hopkins; I'd be afraid to marry such a determined, obstinate man as you are."

Struck a Chasm; Able to Bridge It.

A teacher in the Philadelphia girls' normal school tells a story of a girl of humble parentage who gave her name as Bridget when she was first enrolled. During her first year Bridget changed to Bridgetta. During her second year the first syllable was dropped, and she became Etta. That developed into Margaretta, and when she received her diploma her name was Marguerite. From Bridget to Marguerite seems a far cry, but they do such things at the normal school.—New York Tribune.

YEARS A PRISONER.

A Sundridge Farmer Closely Confined to His Own House.

Recently Liberated, He Hastens to Write An Open Letter, Telling of His Years of Misery, and His Miraculous Release

Sundridge, Ont., April 29.—(Special).—A case of prolonged torture has just come to light in Strong Township, a few miles from here.

It seems hard that an honest man should be kept a prisoner in his own home for over four years, and yet, that is just what happened to Mr. Wm Doey, of Lot 19, Concession 13, Township of Strong. His family and friends all tried to secure his release, but in vain.

"For four years I suffered excruciating torture, during which time I was scarcely free from pain.

"The trouble commenced in my back, where it often remained stationary for months, and so intense was the pain that I could not lie down to take rest, but had to sit night and day in a chair. The pain would then remove to other parts of my body, and when in my knees, I was unable to walk, and confined constantly to my room.

"I was treated for Rheumatism by several doctors, and also tried many medicines without receiving any benefit. Almost in despair, I feared would never again experience the of being free from pain.

"A short time ago my attention was directed to some remarkable cures of rheumatism by Dodd's Kidney Pills, recorded in the public prints. I procured a box, and soon found that they were doing me good. I continued, and very soon I was a new man, and entirely free from pain.

"I have continued so for over six months, being able to attend to my daily duties on the farm, and feeling able for any kind of work.

"I verily believe this change, this remarkable cure, has been effected by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I think it my duty to make this statement, public, for the benefit of anyone afflicted as I was."

This is the statement which Mr. Doey makes over his own signature, and one cannot help being struck by its sincerity. Everyone in this neighborhood knows that Mr. Doey was a cripple for years, and his miraculous restoration to health, has created a great deal of talk in and around Sundridge. Dodd's Kidney Pills are having a very large sale here.

A beautiful woman needs no letter of introduction.

Never judge a man's character by one good or bad action.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated dis*eases rooted in the system of the patient*—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

The great demand for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is a purely Vegetable Compound, and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammation of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put at a price that will not exclude the poor from its benefits.

The trouble with too many young men is that they try to lead a $25 existence on a $9 salary.

Said a young lady to a printer: "You may print a kiss upon my lips but you must not publish it."

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constantly receiving letters similar to the following, which explains itself: Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I never used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for Dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful." Such a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

Carrie—That awful Tom Browne offered to kiss me.

Bertha—You don't mean it!

Carrie—I do, and I told him if he did I'd slap his face.

Bertha—And what did he say to that?

Carrie—He didn't say a word. He just kissed me.

Bertha—And you slapped his face?

Carrie—No; to tell the truth, I was so flustered I forgot all about it.

THREE COLLECTIONS.

They Puzzled a Visitor to a Country Church In Holland.

A Sunday among the staid burghers of Holland gave Mr. Clifton Johnson an opportunity to see three church collections taken up in rapid succession. He had asked to be directed to a characteristic country church in an outlying village. As a result he went by train from Leyden to a little place with an unpronounceable name, where there was a church as severe in its simplicity as the meeting houses of colonial New England.

It resembled them, too, in its chilliness, for there was no attempt at warming it, and the people were dependent upon foot stoves of the old fashioned type that was beginning to go out of vogue in America a hundred years ago. Several score of these little boxes stood in the church entry, neatly piled against the wall, ready to be filled with smoldering peat and supplied to the worshipers as they came in.

When the time for the collection arrived, a man started out from the railed off space before the pulpit, which space was occupied by the elders, and with a black pocket at the end of an eight foot pole proceeded to his task. With this accessory he could reach clear to the end of a pew, only he had to be careful not to hit some worshiper with the butt end while making his short reaches.

Everybody in the congregation put in something, and the collector made a little bow every time a coin jingled in the pocket. He had gone about half way round when another elder started out with another bag and pole. The writer wondered he had not started before. His purpose, however, was not to help his fellow collector finish the work. Instead, he started just where the other had begun and passed the bag to the same people, and every one dropped in a coin as faithfully as he had done the first time.

Nor was this the end, for the second collector had no sooner got a good start than a third stepped out from the pulpit front with bag and pole and went as industriously over the ground as the two others had done. He was just as successful as his predecessors.

Things were getting serious. The stranger had put silver in the first bag, but fearing that the collection might continue indefinitely he dropped copper coins in the second and third bags and was not a little relieved when he saw that the rest of the men in the elders' seats kept their places.

Later he learned the secret of the process. The first man collected for the minister, the second for the church, the third for the poor. As each member of the congregation contributed one Holland cent to each bag it seemed as if a little calculation might have saved much collecting. The sum of the three deposits would in our money be about one and one-fifth cents for each person.

At the moment when the bags began to pass the minister gave out a hymn, but the congregation finished singing it long before the collection was over. There did not, however, ensue one of those silences during which you can hear pins drop and flies buzz, for the minister ignored the collectors, who were still making their halting progress through the aisles, and promptly began his sermon.—Youth's Companion.

A LESSON IN CAUTION.

The New Store Detective and the Suspected Shoplifter.

"'When in doubt let her alone' is our first and most important maxim in regard to shoplifters," said a New Orleans floorwalker of long experience. "It is better to let a thousand guilty people escape and carry off our property with them than to run the risk of making one mistake, and when you hear of a woman being actually taken into custody you may rest assured that she has been under surveillance for days and that the evidence against her is strong enough to convict a bishop. It doesn't do to jump at conclusions, even when they are 'caught in the act,' as the saying goes, and that reminds me of a little incident which taught me what was probably the most valuable lesson of my life.

"It happened soon after I went into the business," the floorwalker went on, "when I was holding down the job of a house detective in a department store almost as large as this. It was my first employment of the kind, and naturally I was anxious to show my efficiency; so I was a little disappointed when a month or more went by without giving me a chance to gather in a culprit. One day, when we had a big bargain sale in progress and the store was jammed with people from end to end, I had my attention attracted to a quietly dressed, middle aged woman who was wandering from department to department in a manner that struck me as suspicious. At last she stopped before a fancy goods counter, where a number of handsome silver cardcases were displayed, and a moment later I saw her pick up one of them and drop it into her pocket.

"She stepped at once into the crowd, and I rushed after her. I was a little distance away at the time, and the crush was so great I could not get to her immediately without exciting a panic. Just before I reached her side the young man who managed the fancy goods department squeezed in ahead of me and tapped her on the shoulder. 'Pardon me, madam" he said, 'but you left this on my counter,' and he handed her a cardcase, almost the facsimile of the one I saw her pick up. 'Why, that can't be mine,' she exclaimed, looking startled; 'I have mine in my pocket.' The department manager opened the case he had brought and disclosed a large roll of bills, a hundred dollar note on the outside. 'This may help you to identify it,' he said, smiling. By that time the lady had extracted the other. 'Yes, that is mine,' she said when she saw the money. 'It was an absurd mistake, but you see they look very much alike on the outside.'

"During this brief colloquy my blood ran cold. Ten seconds more and I would have had the woman under arrest, probably involving the house in a great damage suit and certainly losing my job. As the department manager turned he saw me for the first time. 'Hello, Jim!' he said. 'I suppose you were intending to call her back too.' 'Yes,' I replied slowly, but I was mighty careful not to tell him how I was intending to do it."

Plant Life and the Sunbeam.

Even in the brightest room plants are never of so rich a green as those grown out of doors. In a dark cellar no chlorophyl is produced at all. Every one has seen potatoes growing there, with their long attenuated stalks and little white leaves, which exist but for a time and when the reserve material in the tuber is used up wither away because they have no light. To produce chlorophyl the light must be at least of sufficient intensity that this page may be easily read by it, and to act as a reducing agent it must be very considerably stronger.

Every one has learned by sad experience how impossible it is to keep plants in their rooms for any length of time, and the reason is that the light is not bright enough, and what there is does not last long enough to produce the necessary quantity of food material to support life. There is another fatal thing to the growth of plants indoors—viz, the dryness of the air—and this can only be overcome by covering over the plant with a glass shade. As plants die from want of light, so, too, there are some which die from too much. Many of the mosses which cover damp shady walls and banks with their soft covering of green velvet die from too great an exposure to sunlight.—Good Words.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Come and Play Another.

The Herald has been informed that some of the Kimberley boys did not take very kindly to the comments in this paper on the footbal game played here on the 27th between the Cranbrook and Kimberley elevens. The Herald said it was a slow game and made no invidious comparisons The players all admit that the game was punk on both sides. The Herald had to tell the truth or keep still. The Kimberley boys did as well as the Cranbrook boys except that they failed to score The Herald believes that the Kimberley team can play a much better game than they did on that occasion, and hopes to see them in another contest with Cranbrook.

Improving On Nature

Is one of the functions of the tailor. By his art he makes up for deficiencies of shoulder, chest, etc. It is our business to do that, and more. We not only make perfect fitting garments which set off a good figure and improve a poor one, but we put material in our suits which some tailors would not think of selling at less than double our price.
