Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, July 22, 1887.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will in a few years cease to be the greatest railway in the world. The Russians are building a Siberian Pacific Railway to connect St. Petersburg with Vladivostock on the Sea of Japan. When that road is finished, five years hence, it will only be necessary to send our Yokohama steamers on to Vladivostock to put a girdle round the earth in forty days. As westward the star of Empire holds its way, we presume that this great railway will be the opening up of new fields of interprise for the Anglo-Saxon still pressing forward beyond the wide Pacific to the far West.—Montreal Witness.

Russia in Central Asia.

The pilgrims, of whom large numbers are now arriving at Pesshawur, on the way to Mecca, stage that the Russians are showing activity, that a branch railway is being made from the Askabad-Merv line south-wards towards Sarakhs, and that Penjdeh is being connected with Merv by telegraph. Persestent reports reach Lahore that the Russian officials are intriguing with the Governor of Badakshan and the ruler of Chitral, and that the Maharajah Dhuleep Singh is to be employed stirring up troubles in Cashmere and the Punjab. They also report plots and disturbances in Bokhara. The story telegraphed from Europe that the Afghans killed fourteen high Bokharan officials at Kirkee is discredited here. Of course rumors brought from Afghanistan and central Asia by pilgrims and travelling merchants must be received with great caution; but, after making every allowance for exaggeration, it is apparent that there is a general feeling of unrest in those countries, and it seems highly probable that the central Asian question is again about to enter a critical stage. Little importance is attached here to Dhuleep Sihgh's machinations, as it is believed that he has no influence with the Sikhs. — London Times' Calcutta Correspondence, June 5.

An Accomplished Scoundrel.

Walter M. Gibson, the deposed Prime Minister of Hawaii and son-in-law of King Kalakaua, has seen a checkered career. He is a native of South Carolina, and first came into public notice through his violation of the neutrality laws in selling arms to the Venezuelan Government. He was arrested for this, but managed to escape. He was next heard of in charge of a schooner-load of ice bound for Brazil. This venture proved a failure, as the ice had melted before the vessel got to its destination. Gibson next turned up as the leader of a rebellion against the Dutch Government in the Sumatras. He was captured and sentenced to be hanged, but again escaped while awaiting execution in a prison in Java. Having put to sea in a small boat, he was picked up by an American ship and taken to Liverpool. There he represented to the United States consul, Nathaniel Hawthorne, that he was the law-ful heir of a British nobleman and was in search of his estate. He seems to have entirely won the confidence of Hawthorne, who devoted two or three pages of his note book to reminiscences of Gibson, one of which is to the effect that the adventurer borrowed enough money from him to get back to the United States and never repaid it. Gibson next went to Washington and brought suit against Holland for $100,000 damages for false imprisonment. The Secretary of State interested himself in his case until the Dutch Government forwarded proofs of Gibson's treason. The latter then disappeared, and soon after turned up in Utah, where he convinced Brigham Young of the feasibility of forming a Morman colony in the South Pacific. He was sent to Honolulu, where he established a church, proclaiming himself a representative of the Morman leader. Having acquired a large portion of the Island of Lauai, through contributions of his native converts, he forsook religion, started a newspaper and devoted himself to politics. In this way he became so influential as to arouse the fear of the king, who, in order to conciliate him, made him his Prime Minister. The unscrupulous use which he made of his power is now pretty well known, and it ended last week in his overthrow. He will probably be heard of again. Such men are not easily discouraged.—Toronto Mail.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

By Associated Press.

CHEAP PETROLEUM.

FINDLAY, Ohio, July 21.--The Buckeye Pipe Line Co. has reduced the price of crude petroleum to fifteen cents a barrel, the lowest point ever touched in the history of the product. It will have the effect of practically closing the entire northwest Ohio oil fields, which have a capacity of 100,000 barrels per day. The producers of this district will hold a meeting here on Saturday to discuss the situation and take steps to protect their interests, which in view of this cut in price are being ruined.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

OTTAWA, Ill., July 21.—At Streator, this morning, a carload of dynamite had just been received, and was being placed in the magazine when the lightning struck it. The force of the explosion threw thousands of persons from their beds, while one hundred houses were completely wrecked. The shock was heard 13 miles distant. The total loss will exceed $15,000. Hundreds of men are thrown out of employment, and many rendered homeless. Three deaths have occurred, and forty persons are more or less injured.

A CHINESE CELEBRATION.

CHICAGO, July 21.—This being the 30th birthday of Wo Sing, a laundryman under the Union hotel at the corner of Madison and Canal streets, he projected a celebration according to Chinese custom. He had fireworks in his cellar and was just lighting some bright offensive tapers in front of the paper joss, when a spark flew into a magazine of fire works which went off, setting the laundry on fire. The flames quickly spread to the hotel above, and broke into the small jewelry store next door, from whence the fire communicated to the roof of the third building along Canal street. Wo Sing ran to the river and jumped in. Being rescued he ran to the lake and took another plunge, and while the police were fishing him out, the fire was extinguished. Loss $15,000.

CHANGE OF TUNE.

LONDON, July 21.—France is anxious to get the Afghan matter out of the way, in order that it may not hamper Russia's operations in the Balkans. The Quarterly Review, one of the most uncompromising organs of high class Tory literature, has evidently had a visitation of light through the recent tribulations of the ministry. Through all the parliamentary controversy on the Irish question, it has never, until now, been able to see that the Irish people and the Liberal minority in the constituencies and in the house of commons were entitled to any consideration whatever. It has stubbornly contended that the views and sentiments of the people of the United Kingdom, barring a comparatively few malcontents in Ireland, were faithfully represented by the government's policy. Now it admits to the surprise of all, that there are signs of a change in the public mind with regard to the Irish question, and guardedly advises the cabinet to turn its sails to the prevailing breeze. Evidently the reports of the recent elections have penetrated the Tory shell in which the Review office is encased.

THE ELCHO SHIELD.

LONDON, July 21.—The shooting for the Elcho challenge shield at Wimbledon to-day resulted in England scoring 1570, Scotland 1552, Ireland 1556.

THE GOVERNMENT YIELDS.

LONDON, July 21.—The government proposes establishing a sliding scale for abatement of the judicial rents during the next three years. Parnell congratulated them for accepting the leading provisions of his bill of last year.

WOULD BE TRAIN ROBBERS.

ST LOUIS, July 21.—The train men of the Vandalia train, due here last night, report that at Long Point, this side of Indiana, the conductor discovered four rough looking men on the rear platform of the baggage car. He ordered them off, but the train started to go on to Rens, where they were all again found. When the train reached Greenup crossing they were forcibly ejected from the train and they moved away, but as the train was passing a clump of bushes near the crossing they opened fire from revolvers and sent some twenty bullets whistling through the baggage and express and passenger cars. Luckily nobody was shot, but there were several narrow escapes.

THE CRUISER ATLANTA.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In his report to Secretary Whitney of the trials of the guns of the cruiser Atlanta, Capt. Burce says not only were the gun carriages disabled, as heretofore reported, but also the arrangement of the battery is bad, as some of the guns will have to be abandoned by the crews. The other guns may be fired at a target. Commenting on the results of the battery trials, Secretary Whitney said the reports are not very favorable as to the first trial of the guns, but as yet no matter of great moment has turned up. "The trouble to my mind is this, if two rounds of her battery give this result what would a dozen do, and this is what we are called upon to ascertain. She is meant as a fighting ship and might be further tested. She should have cruised at sea sufficiently long to subject her to trial in all weather. Her battery should be tested by actual firing until her working characteristics are determined. For these purposes a board should be appointed and the matter settled at the earliest day."

THE COKE STRIKE ENDED.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 21.—The coke strike just ended was one of the most stubbornly contested battles ever fought between capital and labor. Over eleven weeks the fight went on. The amount of money lost by idleness cannot be computed, but it reaches millions. When the strike began four-fifths of the 11,000 men in the region had money of their own, but few have money enough now to take them out of the districts if they wanted to go. Operators will also suffer heavy losses. The pumps have been kept running at all the pits. Pit and yard masters, superintendents and clerks, have been drawing salaries, and mules getting fat on oats and hay, that they did not earn. At West Leisenrung, where the Pinkerton men have been stationed the expense has been over $1000 a day since the strike began. Besides this the ovens have become badly out of repair and fully a third of them all over the region will have to be overhauled before coal can be put into them. Then, too, the coke trade has fallen off and it will take time and money to build it up. It is estimated the actual expense to operators has been from $70,000 to $100,000, while the loss entire will foot up over a million.

VIENNA July 22.—Tagbleatt states that King William, of Servia, and Queen Natalie, his wife, have become reconciled.

ABOUT STANLEY.

LONDON July 22.—Neither the church missionary society nor the Baptist missionary society has received any news regarding Stanley, notwithstanding the fact that there is an American Baptist missionary at Matadi.

OTTAWA MORAL STATUS.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Chief McVittie, of the Ottawa police force, is authority for the statement that a condition of affairs similar to that exposed in London by the Pall Mall Gazette some years ago, now exists in Ottawa, professional men, civil servants, tradesmen, and all sorts of people being implicated. [This is extremely doubtful.—ED.]

TRADE COMPETITION.

LONDON, July 22.—The Marquis of Salisbury replying to a deputation which called to urge the government to take some action to protect British trade from the effects of foreign competition, said it was impossible to speak too strongly of the injustice of which the foreign bounty system inflicted on British workmen. A European conference, he said, would soon consider the matter, and in the meantime he could only say that there were two ways for Englishmen to deal with their assailants in this contest. If reasoning failed, Englishmen might return blows.

THE NAVAL REVIEW.

LONDON, July 22.—The American minister to France will attend the British naval review to-morrow.

RUSSIA CIVILIZING KERKI.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—A correspondent of the Times denies that disorder exists in Kerki. The correspondent declares that Russian occupation has benefited the inhabitants who, he adds, appreciated Russia's work in maintaining order and protecting trade. Russia notified England a month before that she intended to occupy Kerki.

TO SEPARATE FROM THE AMERICAN BODY.

LONDON, Ont., July 22.—The final session of the district assembly of the Knights of Labor was held last night. After a lengthy discussion on the subject of separation of the Canadian Knights from the American body in the matter of jurisdiction, a resolution urging secession from the United States' great assembly and the formation of a general assembly for Canada. The body to have restricted power to adjudicate on all questions and business connected with the order, was passed.

WERE THEY DRUNK?

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 22.—At the inquest connected with the railway disaster a witness swore that the engineer was under the influence of liquor and unfit to control a train, and that the conductor had been drinking through the night.

RUSSIA'S CREDIT.

BERLIN, July 22.—The North German Gazette thinks the Afghan boundary settlement opens up highly satisfactory prospects for peace. The German press still goes for Russian securities. The bank has been ordered to send to Bismarck the exact amount of Russian stock upon which loan has been advanced.

MORE BULGARIAN HUMBUG.

LONDON, July 22.—According to despatches from Pesth the sobranje has publicly declared that Prince Ferdinand, of Saxe-Coburg, has grossly deceived the Bulgarians, and has been an instrument in the hands of Russia.

The Panama Canal.

Wwhether this gigantic undertaking will ever be completed or not is a matter of much speculation and doubt. The success of M. De Lesseps in the Suez canal was such as to fill the public mind with unlimited confidence in his integrity and his engineering ability, and this has enabled him to float the Panama project in the face of difficulties which an ordinary man would have found it impossible to surmount. But the floating of the scheme in the financial world is one thing, and the completion of the work is quite another. Where reports are so conflicting it is not easy to reach an intelligent conclusion, but one can scarcely doubt that the project is now in a most unsatisfactory condition. It is unfortunate, too, that much of the company's stock is held by persons in moderate circumstances, who cannot afford to lose their investments, and very widespread distress will undoubtedly follow the collapse of the company. It is stated that the canal cannot be completed within the time specified in the agreement with the government of Central America, and in that case the whole thing falls into the government's hands. From whatever point one regards it, the Panama canal, begun with such a flourish of trumpets, and containing so much promise of good to mankind, seems an unfortunate venture that is likely to end in disaster to its proprietor and all whose confidence in him has led them to put their money into it.

Prompt Action Needed.

The other day we mentioned some respects in which this city had been excluded from fair treatment by the pamphlets and other advertising devices of the C. P. R. Since then we have been informed that persons coming in on Monday's eastern express and intending to proceed further west are often induced by what they hear on the train to go on to Vancouver and there remain till Tuesday, not knowing that a steamer leaves this city for Victoria every Monday on the arrival of the train. There is no steamer from Vancouver on Monday, and the arrangements of the railway company are that all passengers for points beyond the straits arriving by Monday's train shall take the steamer at Westminster and thus avoid unnecessary delay. Instances have been reported to us where passengers have been told that the steamer running between Westminster and Victoria is unseaworthy and that they had better go to Vancouver and remain till Tuesday, when they would find a much better steamer. These reports, in which it must be admitted there is some truth, are having the effect of diverting the current of travel and injuring the Fraser route. But this thing will go on, we suppose, just as long as the government permits such steamers as the Rithet to take the mail subsidy and allows the buoys and the channel at the sandheads to shift themselves about at their own sweet will. In fact, as things are now one could not look for traffic by this route. About one half of our own citizens habitually go round by Burrard Inlet to reach Victoria, because they will not go on the Rithet if they can help it. If the representations of the board of trade with respect to the condition of the service between this city and Victoria and the state of the buoys do not bring a response within a few days, we suggest that a public meeting should be called and resolutions expressive of public opinion on these subjects passed and forwarded to Ottawa. Everybody says the Fraser route is being ruined by the carelessness of the C. P. N. Co. and the marine authorities, but what are they going to do about it? Words are often harmless: let us have action. Surely the people of Fraser River have had experience enough to teach them the folly of expecting any company to study their interests with as much earnestness as its own. The time was when the people of the royal city, and of the Fraser River generally, stood by Capt. Irving's steamers when it cost them a good deal of money to do so. But a new pharaoh has arisen who knew not Joseph. Capt William Irving's successors are not pursuing a policy calculated to retain the confidence he built up. They have two lines to the mainland now, and it matters nothing to them whether traffic goes by the river or the inlet; and so long as the people of Westminster are content to accept without vigorous protest the wretched service they are now receiving, so long will the company cease to trouble themselves about the wants or the claims of the route. Where else on this broad continent can we find a similar scandal—a company earning an $8,000 mail subsidy with a steamer on which half the people refuse to risk their precious lives, and which takes from 9 to 12¾ hours to make 70 miles!

A GOOD FELLOW.

The History of a Man Who Treated the World Better Than It Deserved.

Didn't know Rodgers, did you—Abraham Rodgers, g. g. f., which means general good man? Well, I did, and I helped bury him yesterday.

When I first knew Rodgers, he was a young fellow of 18, and the title of good fellow had already settled upon him. If they wanted the old church swept for Sunday, or the bell rung for prayer-meeting, some one asked Rodgers to do it. If any old hunker fell sick and hankered for rabbit soup, Rodgers was asked to go out and hunt for the rabbit. If any old woman wanted sassafras root for herbs, Rodgers was the good fellow who'd go to the fields and woods on her errand.

No one ever thought of offering him money in payment for his time, and it is only his due to say that he wouldn't have accepted it if they had. He was expected to pound down the nailheads in the sidewalks, replace broken planks, have an eye on the bridge, paint the schoolhouse steps, replace the broken glass in the church and be the guardian of all bad boys, and no one ever heard him kick.

Later on, the old man Jackson fell sick, and when watchers were required he expressed his desire to have Rodgers come to the house and stay. Rodgers went, put in sixteen days and nights of hard work, and when the old man died the widow feelingly exclaimed:

"Oh, Abraham, but you are a noble young man! I can never, never repay you!"

She never did—never even offered him the value of a pair of stockings, although she was left $30,000.

Then Aunt Nancy Lee fell sick and died and Rodgers had just begun his day's work as a carpenter when one of the Lee boys rode up with the news and added:

"And the very last thing she said was that you must be chief pall-bearer. Aunt Nancy always loved you, and you must come."

Rodgers went, Aunt Nancy forgot to say that he should be paid for his day's work, although she left $12,000 to the heathen, and so Rodgers was out again.

He had scarcely settled down to work when some one discovered that the old hand fire engine which had been stowed away for six years ought to be put in condition. A leading citizen suggested to Rodgers to go ahead and fix the old tub up, and his bill should be paid by a subscription. Rodgers tinkered away for a week, and a leading grocer gave him a bar of soap, and a dry goods man came down with a roll of tape. The effort to reward him died out with that.

Rodgers lived just that sort of a life until he was 40 years old. He even put off getting married to sit up with a sick horse and be rewarded with a thank you. In one year he was pall-bearer at twenty-two funerals, and sat up with fourteen different dead people.

When he worked for pay people paid him when they got ready. When there came a week in which somebody did not want him to compound a salve, repair a tub, sit up with a corpse, subscribe for a mill-dam, railroad or public hall, or give a day's work to public improvement or charity, Mrs. Rodgers felt that the judgment day could not be far off.

He had put in three weeks looking up Widow Davis's lost cow, digging roots for Widow Jenkins, and sitting up with Elder Smith, when Judge Froth suddenly died.

Of course his last words were:

"I fall in the service of my country, and want Abraham Rodgers to be chief boss at my funeral. I will and bequeath my $75,000 to my wife, and I leave my thanks to Abraham."

Rodgers bossed the funeral. He borrowed all the chairs, got the singers together, formed the funeral procession, and rode two miles to the grave in a pouring rain to stand with uncovered head. Next day he was ill, and yesterday, as I told you, I helped bury him.

When he died he hadn't a dollar in the house. He had selected cemetery lots for fifty people, but he had none of his own. He had helped to put as many into caskets, but he was buried in a plain coffin at the expense of his friends.

Very few of his friends turned out, as they were busy with their work. He had formed funeral processions half a mile long for 'squires, elders, deacons and judges, but there were only four vehicles in his. The clergyman seemed to be in a hurry, the grave-digger was impatient for us to be gone, and as we turned away some one remarked:

"Oh, his wife will get along some way—widows always do."—[Detroit Free Press.

President Jackson's Inauguration.

At Jackson's inauguration there was for the first time on such occasions at Washington, a military pageant. A band of the veterans of the Revolution formed his body guard, bayonets bristled around the Capitol, and on Pennsylvania avenue martial music resounded, and salvos of artillery were fired at different points in the environs to announce that the oath of office had been administered.

An immense concourse of people joined in the shouts with which the "hero of New Orleans" was greeted, as he rode on a spirited horse from the Capitol to the White House.

"I never saw such a crowd," wrote Daniel Webster to a friend. "Persons have come 500 miles to see General Jackson, and they really seem to think that the country is rescued from some dreadful danger."

Hunters from Kentucky and Indiana, fighters from Tennessee and sturdy frontiersmen from the Northwest mingled in the throng with the more refined dwellers on the Atlantic slope and the impetuous people of the South, who had all the virtues and the faults arising from their peculiar social institutions.

Arriving at the White House, the motley crowd clamored for refreshments, and soon drained the barrels of punch which had been prepared, in drinking the health of the new chief magistrate. A great deal of china and glassware was broken in the struggle for ice-cream and cakes, and the east room was filled with a mob.

At one time General Jackson, who had retreated until he was pressed against the wall, was only protected from injury by a number of his friends, who linked arms and formed a long barrier about him.

Such a scene had never before been witnessed at the White House.—[Hugh J. Hastings's "Ancient American Politics."

Churning Extraordinary.

The Danbury News is responsible for the story that a mouse fell into a bowl of cream the other night, and in its efforts to keep afloat churned the cream into butter, on which it stood and climbed out.

This is claimed to be true because the mouse left a trail of butter all along the clean pantry shelf.

A Dog Justifiably Mad.

A canine with a tin attached to his tail by a strong cord passed hurriedly down the street.

"Is that dog mad?" inquired an anxious pedestrian.

"Well," responded another, "I caught a glimpse of his countenance as he passed by, and he didn't look the first bit pleased."—[Pittsburg Dispatch.

NORWEGIAN HOSPITALITY.

Interesting Customs of a Simple and Good-hearted People.

In no land is hospitality more open-handed and more unaffected than in Norway, and though these features are naturally becoming blunted along the beaten lines of travel, the genuine goodness of heart, fine "gentlemanly" feeling and entire absence of that sordidness which is so often seen even in primitive regions, cannot fail to strike the unprejudiced observer. Nor is etiquette ignored by even the rudest of the people.

In the cities the stranger is apt to make many blunders. In the country, however, this is not less marked, though perhaps the visitor will be less conscious of its presence.

One of the peculiarities of the Norwegian farmer is that, when visiting a friend, he must ignore all the preparations made for his entertainment. He will see the coffee roasted, and the cups set out, and then, just when the good wife is about to offer him her hospitality, he gets up, bids the family good-by, and is only persuaded to remain after some resistance.

Every cup must be filled to overflowing, otherwise the host would be thought stingy. When milk, brandy, or beer is offered, the guest invariably begs that it will not "be wasted on him," and then, after emptying the cup, declares that "it is too much"—going through the same formalities, it may be, three or four times.

In the farmhouses, or upland "saeters," the guest is left to eat alone, silver forks and spoons being often substituted for the carved wooden ones used by the family, and a fine white cloth for the bare board which serves well enough on ordinary occasions.

To a punctilious guest this may not be a drawback, for at the family table, as indeed, among the peasants in Scandinavia everywhere, the different individuals dip their spoons into the same dishes of "grod" and sour milk; but for any one desirous of studying a people a load of foreign prejudice is a grievous burden to carr about.

When a child is born the wife of every neighbor cooks a dish of "flodergrod" (porridge made with cream instead of milk), and brings it to the convalescent, there being a good deal of rivalry among the matrons to outdo each other in the quality and size of the dish.

When any one has taken food in a Scandinavian house he shakes hands with the host and hostess in rising from the table and says:

"Tak for mad" ("Thanks for food"), to which they reply: "Vell bekomme" ("May it agree with you").

In many parts of Scandinavia all the guests shake hands with each other and repeat the latter formula; and in Norway, at least, it is the fashion for a guest to call on the hostess a few days later, and when she appears to gravely say:

"Tak for sidst" ("Thanks for last time"), great gravity on this formal visit being a mark of good breeding.—[Peoples of the World.

Mountain Sam's Dogs.

An old trapper and hunter, known as "Mountain Sam," is doing a land office business killing huge mountain sheep for their heads and horns. These he ships to New York to fill orders which he is constantly receiving, and there they are mounted. Sam's best customers are wealthy Englishmen.

For many years "Mountain Sam" has buried himself in the most remote recesses of the Big Horn Mountains. Sam rounds up the wild sheep with dogs.

His pack numbers twenty-five head, and they are a pure cross of the bloodhound and bulldog. Mountain born and bred, these noble animals add to the strength and sagacity of their blood strains a marvellous endurance and activity. No snow depth, no roughness of trail, no steepness of precipice, no loftiness of peak, no remoteness of locality can stop the mountain dog when on the track of the mountain sheep.

The pack works in an organized way when the trail of a band of sheep is struck. The dogs break into little bunches and wide and careful circuits are made. The closely pressed sheep are hurried toward a common centre, and they will soon be bunched with twenty-five stanch dogs, crests erect and tails wagging, moving about them in an endless and eager circle.

The pack has been known to bunch 250 head of sheep, and to hold their watch and guard for over six hours awaiting the coming of their master, who has been kept back by the difficulties lying in his path.

It sometimes occurs that the dogs bring the game together on a spot that is utterly inaccessible to human feet. Then the hunter gives his dogs notice of the fact by a peculiar shrill and piercing shout.

The pack at once dash into the midst of the sheep, seize and slay the largest, and by dint of rolling, tumbling and falling from crag to crag, from declivity to declivity, bring the carcasses within reach of their master.—[Denver Tribune.

Daniel Webster and Lord Brougham.

Mr. Webster was an admirable raconteur, and some of his reminiscences of his visit to England were very entertaining.

One morning in London, after a breakfast with Rogers, the banker-poet, he left the house in company with the celebrated Sydney Smith, and as they passed the door of Lord Brougham Smith proposed to call, to which Mr. Webster assented.

On entering, Smith introduced Mr. Webster as "Mr. Clay." Now Mr. Clay had not long before denounced Lord Brougham in the United States Senate, so, to use Mr. Webster's words, "Lord Brougham did not say a word to Mr. Clay, nor did Mr. Clay to Lord Brougham."

Smith and Webster soon took their leave, and as they were crossing St. James Park the former all at once became silent and then asked:

"Did I not introduce you to Lord Brougham as Mr. Clay?"

"Certainly you did," replied Webster.

No more was said on the subject, but Smith soon excused himself. That afternoon Mr. Webster found a card from Lord Brougham inscribed:

"For Mr. Webster," and they became intimate friends.—[Boston Budget.

Biblical Learning.

A Baptist preacher, well known in Macon, asked four other preachers of other denominations whether Zedekiah was one of the minor or one of the major prophets.

They all agreed that he was one of the minor prophets, and were much disgusted with themselves when they discovered that he was no prophet at all.—[Savannah News.

The Countryman in Town.

A countryman and his son "put up" at a city hotel. Son out seeing the town. Old gent comes down from his room at midnight and says to the night clerk:

"Has my son come in yet?"

Night Clerk: "Guess not. Haven't seen him."

Old Gent: "Well, you needn't set up for him any longer."

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE

STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practically impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

The veil of smoke still obscures the face of nature, but it is isn't quite so impenetrable as it has been in past years.

The work of tearing down the old gaol goes on, and in a week or two that corner will not be able to recognize itself.

The str. Rithet arrived from Victoria at 5:10 this afternoon. She had 40 tons of freight for the city and 35 tons for the railway.

The body of Brown, who was drowned a few days ago at Burrard Inlet, was found yesterday a short distance from Moodyville.

The William Irving arrived from up river ports at 1.30. She brought down about 20 passengers and a small cargo of miscellaneous freight.

Constable Carty arrested a Siwash and klootchman to-day at noon on Front st., on a charge of having three stolen salmon in there possession.

Sparks from the locomotive are continually igniting the C. P. R. dock and two or three small fires have been extinguished during the last few days.

Yesterday a jury was obtained for the trial of the Chicago boodlers. It has taken a month to get it. The trial is expected to occupy at least six weeks.

Eight cars of freight arrived from the east to-day, among which were 1 car condensed milk, 2 cars flour and bran, and a car of hides from the interior.

Another sale of city squares and reserves will be held on Saturday, the 6th of August. Particulars may be learned from an advertisement in another column.

It is stated that the militia authorities view with favor the experiments carried out this year by different corps with the view of organizing companies of bicyclists.

While in British Columbia, Mr. McLelan, the postmaster-general, will endeavor to make a new contract for carrying the mails between Victoria and San Francisco.—Mail.

Owing to the extraordinary crop prospects throughout the province of Manitoba there has been such a great demand for agricultural implements that every dealer in Winnipeg has completely sold out.

The new steel yacht Volunteer, built by Gen. Paine to contest for the American cup, has been out on her trial trip and pronounced a great success. It is claimed she will be able to beat the Scotch yacht Thistle.

Capt. Rudlin complains to the Vancouver News of the insufficiency of the guides to the navigation of the straits and the entrance to Coal Harbor and Fraser River. In times of smoke and fog it is almost impossible to find one's way.

The missionary str. Glad Tidings left to-day and proceeded down the river. The canneries between this city and Ladners will be visited, and service will be held at Ladners on Sunday. The steamer will then proceed to Victoria and round the coast of Vancouver Island.

Consignees per William Irving today: W. H. Miller, C. G. Major, Hayes & McIntosh, R. Erley, R. Dickinson, C. P. N. Co., D. McPhadden, M. Sinclair, R. C. P. Mills, Dr. Bentley, J. Rousseau, Mrs. Loveless, J. S. Smith (Revelstoke), Mrs. Wm. Reid, Angus & Gordon (Vancouver), Capt. Irving and Thos. Earle (Victoria).

The Times says the building boom in Seattle still continues. Six blocks are in process of erection at a cost of $424,000. In addition to these a $40,000 church is to be built and a hospital at a cost of $75,000. Other enterprises and buildings under construction amount to $235,000. It is claimed that by next spring the total sum in buildings will foot up to over $1,000,000.

There were 110 persons at the Reformed Episcopal Sabbath school picnic yesterday. The pic-nicers were taken by the Gladys to the ranch of Mr. W. D. Ferris, on the North Arm, where they were received and handsomely entertained. A collection was taken up and a little purse raised which was expended in prizes for races and athletic contests. The affair was very successful, and every one was delighted.

CHERRIES.—A large quantity of large red and black cherries, sweet and sour, at 10c. per lb. Send your orders early in the day.
djy20w1 W. CLARKSON.

THE SALMON.—Last night the run of fish in the river was very much better. From 90 to 300 fish to the boat were taken, and fishermen are beginning to think the season may yet satisfy their best expectations.

BASE BALL.—The Metropolitan Base Ball club of Vancouver came over this afternoon and engaged in a contest with the Royal City boys at Townsend's field. At the time of going to press the game was still in progress.

POLICE COURT.—Alex. McDonald, a half-breed, charged with selling liquor to Indians, was remanded until Monday next. Wing Quen was charged with the assault and robbery of another celestial. He was also remanded until Monday.

FIRE!—At noon to-day the fire alarm was sounded, and the Hyack Company turned ont pomptly. The saw-dust and shavings with which Ellice street has been filled was found to be on fire near Agnes st., and although there was no immediate cause for alarm, it was thought prudent to extinguish the burning material without delay. The steam fire engine was placed on the plank-way on Columbia st., near the Merchants Exchange, and with two streams of water the fire was very soon blotted out.

I. O. O. F.—The installation of the officers for the current term for New Westminster lodge No. 3, I.O.O.F., took place in the lodge rooms of the order. The ceremony was conducted by D. D. G. M. McCorvie, assisted by the officers of the grand lodge. The following are the newly appointed officers: N. G., C. R. Monck; V. G., Geo. R. Raymond; Sec., T. J. Torfar; Treas., A. McCorvie; W., W. Kelly; C., J. E. Phillips; I. G., B. W. Shiles; L. S. N. G., G. Turner; L. S. V. G., G. W. Gilley; R. S. N. G., S. T. Mackintosh; R. S. V. G., W. McColl.

MORE ROT.—The San Francisco Journal of Commerce, in its issue of 14th inst., is good enough to give prominence to the resources and development of British Columbia. It says, among other things: "Victoria has a large and steadily increasing trade, as also has Vancouver, New Westminster, and the new settlement at Port Moody." We should be glad to learn more from our cotemporary respecting this interesting "new settlement at Port Moody!" We are afraid the the writer is like a good many other outsiders who undertake successfully to advertise their lack of information.

FRESH FISH TRADE.—Messrs. D. W. Port & Co. have got their freezers in operation and are now ready to freeze fish. Hitherto the fish have not been sufficiently plentiful to do more than supply immediate demands. The firm is shipping on an average over half a ton per day of fresh fish to the east. These fish are packed in ice, and are distributed over a large territory, going as far as New York. If the fish continue to come as plentiful as they were last night, the freezers will take the surplus and will soon be filled. The temperature in the freezing rooms to-day was 24, and it's a good place to go when one wants to cool off.

THE AGITATION GOES ON.—At the recent commercial union picnic at Port Hope, instead of the usual resolution in favor of unrestricted reciprocity, an amendment declaring that "Commercial union is our politics, and we will not vote for either individual or party that does not favor it," was carried by a unanimous standing vote. This is the strongest stand which has been taken in favor of commercial union, and it may mean a good deal. It is interesting to know that the Government has begun to compile statistics on the subject, and if the farmers continue to pledge themselves to vote only for commercial union it is not improbable that Sir John Macdonald not Mr. Wiman will soon head the commercial union movement.—Montreal Witness.

ABOUT ARCHITECTS. — People in every walk of life are liable to be sometimes subjected to criticism for things that they are not altogether responsible for, and Architects say that they form no exceptions to the rule. After having carefully planned a building in accordance with their own best judgement they are after compelled by the changed views of the owner, with reference to expense or some other matter, to make changes by which not only their own taste but their professional pride is to some extent sacrificed. People should remember that it is not usually by the Architect alone but by the Architect and the owner in consultation that the building is planned so that in criticising the building they should not too hostily criticise the Architect also.—Record and Guide. The above extract is so true that I beg of the Editor of the Columbian to republish it. J. KENNEDY.

THE THIN CANNOT GAIN IN WEIGHT if they are troubled with dyspepsia, because the food is not converted into the due proportion of nourishing blood which alone can furnish the elements of flesh. But there is no reason, when this wearing, attenuating disease is conquered by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, why there should not be an appreciable gain in weight, which indeed is usually the case. It is a peerless remedy also for Constipation, Liver Complaint, Kidney troubles, and roots out all impurities from the blood.

Job printing of all kinds neatly done at the COLUMBIAN office. Prices will be found as low as at any other office in the province.—Adv.

A little boy about four years old, living in a New Jersey town, ran to the window one evening lately during a heavy thunderstorm. As he looked out, long glittering lines of forked, zigzag lightning ran acrost the black sky, then came a broad flash, lighting up all the west and northwest. "Oh, mamma! mamma!" sobbed the little fellow, "God's house is all on fire! Will he be burned in it?" A few moments after, hearing the rain pouring in torrents, he ran to to her, crying exultantly: "Mamma! mamma! God has turned on His hose. Now His house won't burn."—Harper's Magazine.

Jas. Shannon, Leaskdale, writes: For many years my wife was troubled with chilblains, and could get no relief until about two years ago; she was then not able to walk, and the pain was then so excruciating that she could not sleep at night. Your agent was then on his regular trip, and she ashed him if he could cure her. He told her Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was a sure cure. She tried it, and judge of her astonishment when in a few days the pain was all allayed and the foot restored to its natural condition. It is also the best remedy for burns and bruises I ever used.

A strange story comes from Krasna, in Russia. A man named Leslie, descendant of an Englishman, the family of the Lords Leslie, who settled in Russia in the sixteenth century, lately received notice that the elder branch of the family had become extinct and that he was the heir to a fortune of £10,000,000 and a peerage.

Miss Mary Campbell, Elm, writes:—"After taking four bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, I feel as if I were a new person. I had been troubled with Dyspepsia for a number of years, and tried many remedies, but of no avail, until I used this celebrated Dyspeptic Cure." For all impurities of the Blood, Sick Headache, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Costiveness, etc., it is the best medicine known.

The United States adds about $800,000,000 to its wealth yearly. In the past six months it has spent $94,000,000 on railroads and $150,000,000 on buildings in its big cities, and companies organized in the south alone call for $161,000,000.

M. A. St. Mars, St. Boniface, Manitoba, writes: Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a public benefit. It has done wonders here, and has cured myself of a bad cold in one day. Can be relied upon to remove pain, heal sores of various kinds, and benefit any inflamed portion of the body to which it is applied.
