The Temperance Crusade.

The act of the New York legislature to repeal the laws which prohibit music in places where beer is sold is unquestionably approved by the most intelligent public opinion. The law is an illustration of the carelessness and thoughtlessness of much of the legislation upon the subject. It is this recklessness which greatly strengthens the opposition to all such legislation, upon the ground that it interferes with personal liberty, and that it is enough to hold every man responsible for keeping the peace, without attempting to regulate his habits of eating and drinking. That is not a sound view, but it is very plausible to many persons, who forget that society has the right to take care of itself, and that it may as justly regulate the traffic in ardent spirits as in that of gunpowder. The legislation upon the subject, however, is very apt to be careless, because it is insincere. The legislators who vote to prohibit music in beer halls, for instance, are not necessarily opposed to music in beer halls, but the prohibition vote will be propitiated by forbidding the music, which is apparently held to be an incitement to tippling and disorder, although the tendency is actually the reverse. The vigor of Mayor Hewitt in enforcing the law against the selling of liquor on Sunday will undoubtedly produce some definite result in discriminating between reasonable and unreasonable suppression of the traffic. There has been a great deal of timidity upon the part of many excellent persons in publicly supporting Dr. Crosby's sensible view, in which they privately cordially agree, that the denunciation of all drinking of wine and beer as a crime leads to total mental confusion and the passage of arbitrary and unjust laws. The temperance campaign has been often largely conducted upon the theory that moderate drinkers are the chief enemies of temperance, which is like saying that the man who smokes a cigar occasionally is the chief cause of other men's besotting themselves with opium. The temperance question is one of great importance, but its wise treatment requires nothing more imperatively than common-sense. The anti-saloon meeting in the Cooper Union on the 24th of May is another event of especial interest in the anti-liquor campaign. It is designed, as we have already stated, to define the position of the Republican party as a party relentlessly hostile to the saloon. The Republicans who lead the movement desire, as we understand, to procure the adoption by the party of an anti-saloon plank so uncompromising that those who are pecuniarily interested in the liquor business will withdraw from the party. Their argument is that while the position of the party is indefinite—while it is a party "upon the whole," but not distinctively and in terms, hostile to the liquor interest—temperance men are constantly leaving it. The time, therefore, in the judgment of these leaders, has come for the party to decide which it prefers to lose, the saloon vote or the temperance vote. They believe, indeed, that the saloon vote is already lost, and cannot be held or regained, and that the welfare of the party demands an open and relentless declaration against the saloon. But such a declaration will not be made until the party is convinced that anti-saloon Republicans will refuse to vote for saloon Republican candidates, or will vote against them. In other words, they will control the action of the party upon the subject only when they prove that they are more interested to overthrow the saloon than to secure the success of the party. If reform within the party means to anti-saloon Republicans invariable support of the party, whether controlled by the saloon or not, until they convert the party to their view and purpose, the saloon Rebublicans will cheerfully co-operate with them. —Harper's Weekly.

Count Mitkiewicz, a Russian electrician, who has lived for several years in Washington, sailed this week for Hong Kong in company with S. A. Stern, of Philadelphia, and E. L. He says he has organized a syndicate of Philadelphians representing $26,000,000 to carry out his plans of introducing telephones in the celestial empire. He was entertained at a banquet here by the Chinese consul-general on the evening before his departure. —S. F. Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

Van Horne and Sir George Stephen Burned in Effigy.

Recent Winnipeg advices say: An immense mass meeting was held here last night to protest against the monopoly. Besides Norquay and other cabinet ministers on the platform there were a host of prominent citizens, including about 25 or 30 mayors and reeves of different municipalities throughout the province. Resolutions were passed to support the government in their efforts to build a competing line to the boundary. Great enthusiasm prevailed. Over 2,000 were present. About midnight effigies of Sir George Stephen, Van Horne and other C. P. R. magnates were burned on Main street. The fire brigade was called out. Mr. Van Horne will be here tonight.

The Sun says: The crowds pouring out of Trinity hall last evening, or rather this morning, after the public meeting, were amused to see the effigy of Sir George Stephen, labeled "A knight benighted," and of Mr. Van Horne, labeled "The man who thought he owned Manitoba," being burned. This demonstration occurred at the corner of Main street and Portage avenue. A second effigy of Sir George was burned in front of the Queen's. During the burning someone pulled the fire-alarm box, and the brigade was on hand in time to save the remains of the great magnates.

Richardson was arrested and great excitement prevails, and citizens are indignant. There is considerable talk of lynching. More Copy.

[Adapted from Mikado.]

At the door of my room stood a devil quite small,
Crying "Copy, more copy, more copy;"
And I said, "Young imp, you have very much gall,
To yell, 'Copy, more copy, more copy.'"
He replied, "Why there is not a page on the hook;
If you don't hustle lively you'll get the dead shook;"
Then he suddenly yelled with a bold, brazen look,
"Gimme copy, more copy, more copy."

His grimy face grinned as he stood at the door,
Yelling "Copy, more copy, more copy,"
And I threatened to spread him all over the floor—
"Gimme copy, more copy, more copy."
I exclaimed, "Get you gone; no more copy to-day;
If I'm pestered much more I'll jump into the bay;"
But he stuck out his finger in this meaning way,
Crying "Copy, more copy, more copy."

I fired my paste-pot at the imp, but alas!
He cried "Copy, more copy, more copy."
He dodged and it shattered a big pane of glass—
"Gimme copy, more copy, more copy"—
So I scribbled a column as "fat" as could be,
While he sat on the table and snickered with glee
Because I had to hustle whene'er it pleased he
To yell "Copy, more copy, more copy."

The Salmon Trade.

The Pacific Coast Pack to be a Million and a Half.

This industry has for the last two or three years been an exceedingly profitable one on the Pacific coast. Last year was the year of the pool, managed by William T. Coleman & Co., that resulted in very large profits for the syndicate. Some 600,000 cases were controlled, and prices were advanced $1 a case. This year salmon opened $1 a case higher than the opening prices of last year, and 750,000 cases have been sold at prices that will realize a very handsome profit to the canner. The principal operators have again been Coleman & Co., who claim to have sold between 400,000 and 500,000 cases already. They will control on commission the consolidated packs of Sacramento river and Alaska, besides the product of some fifteen canneries on the Columbia river and the principal outside packs. This concentration has enabled prices to be firmly maintained, and it is said that at no time in the past has the salmon-packing industry been upon a more substantial financial basis. It is estimated that from 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 cases will be put up this season on the Pacific coast in American territory. In the foregoing calculation the pack of this province has been omitted. It is said that if the season is a favorable one the British Columbia pack will approximate 175,000 to 200,000 cases this season.—Broadstreets.

C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., says: "I have sold at retail, 156 bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, guaranteeing every bottle. I must say I never sold a medicine in my life that gave such universal satisfaction. In my own case, with a badly ulcerated throat, after a physician pencilling it for several days to no effect, the Eclectric Oil cured it thoroughly in twenty-four hours, and in threatened croup in my children this winter, it never failed to relieve almost immediately."

AspiringAuthor—"I have here, sir, an entirely new theory about the battle of Gettysburg, which I would like to submit." Editor (wearily)—I dislike to reopen that controversy; but a new theory—what is it, in brief?" Aspiring Author—"That there never was any battle of Gettysburg." (Dull thud on office stairs.)

Mr. H. McCaw, Custom House, Toronto, writes: "My wife was troubled with Dyspepsia and Rheumatism for a long time; she tried many different medicines, but did not get any relief until she used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. She has taken two bottles of it, and now finds herself in better health than she has been for years."

Commercial Union.

During the past few months a great deal has been said and written in the east on the question of commercial union between Canada and the United States. This discussion has arisen chiefly, we presume, from the strained relations existing between the two countries in consequence of the fishery dispute and the threat of a possible suspension of commercial intercourse. It was forseen by all that the enforcement of that threat must inflict disaster upon many of the industries of both countries, while it would not at all help forward a settlement of the dispute. There is a widespread and increasing opinion among a certain class of men on both sides of the line that instead of putting up new barriers between the two countries the public interest would be best served by taking down a great many of the existing barriers and opening the markets of both countries to a more unrestricted trade. Hitherto the manufacturers have been stoutly and uncompromisingly opposed to any such doctrine. They supposed that the facilities of American manufacturers were so great in comparison with ours that if the barriers to international traffic were removed, the Canadian manufacturer would be instantly pushed to the wall. If not, say they, why has Canada placed such heavy duties upon manufactures entering the country? Is it not because our home manufactures are not able to compete with the vast machinery and resources at the disposal of our neighbors? But it may be worth while to consider carefully whether this theory, so often announced, is founded on fact. At a meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade recently held the question of commercial union was discussed at some length, and among other things produced on that occasion was a letter from Mr. John Livingstone, of Oshawa, in favor of union. Mr. Livingstone claimed that unrestricted trade with the United States would vastly extend the Canadian market, and that Canadian merchants and manufacturers would be found equal in progressive industry and in resources with the people of the republic. "Measured by the limits of the Canadian markets," said he, "the manufacturing plants in Canada are the equal of like manufacturing plants in the United States. I say this from observation, and my statement is founded on freshened visits for discovery to many manufacturing places in the United States within the past few months. True, I did observe some improvements in machinery, especially so in the Cumberland paper mills, where 11,000 tons of paper are manufactured annually and the whole sold in the United States without even the aid of a traveler. It is not in difference of machinery in the manufacturing plant of the United States or Canada that advantages lie in favor of the United States; it is in the fact that their market is so large that they do not require to enter upon multiple variety in productions as we in Canada have to do to keep men employed. They can limit the variety of their production and find plenty of employment. To this is due the fact that opposes the plea of superiority in American manufacturing plants. I say that in some kinds of Canadian manufacturing plants the latter are more extensive than like plants in the United States. With, then, our manufacturing plants equal to those of the United States, why should our Canadian manufacturers fear to hold their own in Canada? Why should they hesitate to participate in the trade of the 60,000,000 people in the United States who say, come without money and without price? Then, if so, why fear your ability as Canadian manufacturers to hold a share in Canada and take a part of that in the neighboring states?" Mr. Livingstone goes on to point out how large an impetus would be given to many branches of Canadian trade by having free access to the markets of the United States. All along the eastern boundaries the products of Canadian farms and dairies would be increased in value. Canadian fish would find an exhaustless market across the boundary, and in the far east Canadian coals would go to warm the people of Maine. Besides there is the timber, the barley, the iron, the phosphates, and the cattle, all of which would be eagerly sought by the Americans. The Board of Trade did not accept the views of Mr. Livingstone, but nevertheless they are worthy of very careful consideration by all who have at heart the best interests of our Dominion.

DIRECTORS' ANNUAL REPORT.

GENTLEMEN—In presenting our report for fiscal year ending 31st March, 1887, we beg to state that it will be an utter impossibility to run the hospital free of debt on the grant just voted by the government for the ensuing financial year.

The surgeon has been attentive in his duties and reports a large increase in the number of patients admitted during the year, shewing also that we have received patients from all parts of the province.

There are a number of incurables in this hospital, some of whom were brought from Victoria hospital years ago. The sum of $1,000 a year has been voted for a convalescent home in Victoria, the last few years. The Board think, therefore, that some of these incurables should be shipped back to Victoria.

A great number of improvements have been made during the year, walls and floors repaired, a wash-house built, the two cesspools thoroughly cleaned; the building being old, requires constant repairs, which entails considerable expenditure.

The hospital has been filled to its utmost capacity during the whole year.

The Board desire to thank subscribers for generous substriptions, lists of which are annexed, and without which it would have been found impossible to have kept the institution free of debt; also the congregations of Holy Trinity Church, St. Andrew's (Presbyterian), Methodist and Baptist Churches for hospital Sunday collections, and the following ladies and gentlemen for old clothes, linen, books, papers etc.:—Mesdames C. T. Woods, C. E. Woods, Major, Lennie, H. Elliot, W. J. Armstrong, W. B. Townsend, Douglas, Edmonds, J. W. Harvey, Baker, W. H. Keary, D. Hennessey, Cummings, A. M. Herring, Bronskill, Sisters St. Ann's Convent, ladies W. C. T. U., Bachelors' Ball Hatchery, Messrs. I.B. Fisher, Z. S. Hall, R. I. Bentley, J. S. McDonnell.

The surgeon's report is appended hereto, and gives full details of the work accomplished for the year.

The average cost per day for each resident patient in the hospital, which includes the disbursements on out-door patients, is 67 cents.

W. H. KEARY,
Hon. Secretary.

SURGEON'S REPORT

FOR YEAR ENDING 31ST MARCH, 1887.

To the Members of the Board of Directors:

GENTLEMEN.—I have the honor to herewith present the report on this Hospital for the year ending 31st March, 1887:

Number of Indoor Patients	103
" Outdoor "	00
" Remaining in Hospital	18
" Died	14

Causes of death of the fourteen who died and length of time in Hospital:—1 typhoid fever, 6 dys; 1 alcoholism, 13 dys; 1 effects of fire at Vancouver, 4 mos. 10 dys; 1 bronchitis, 4 dys; 1 inflamation of bowels, 8 dys; 1 consumption, 2 mos. 26 dys; 1 syphilis; 9 dys; 1 paralysis, 4 dys; 1 aneurism (popliteal), 4 mos. 29 dys; 1 general debility, 2 mos. 27 dys; 1 aneurism (arota), 12 dys; 1 old age, 6 dys; 1 paralysis, 23 dys; 1 dropsy, 5 dys; total, 14.

Although the number of deaths is large the short number of days in the Hospital of a large proportion of them shows that they came in in a hopeless condition.

The places where the indoor patients were received from are as follows:

Victoria	5	Ladner's Landing	2
Cariboo	1	Langley	2
Kamloops	5	Clover Valley	1
New Westminster	25	Harrison River	1
Bonaparte	1	Mud Bay	3
Yale	4	Chilliwhack	1
Port Moody	6	North Arm, Fraser	1
Hastings	4	Boston Bar	1
Moodyville	3	Cassiar	1
Port Haney	2	Fraser River	2
Vancouver	22	Mission	2
Hope	1	Pitt Meadows	1
C. P. R.	3
Total	103

The number of incurables now in the Hospital is twelve [12]. This large number requiring to be taken care of from year to year renders it impossible to make a number of desirable improvements in the building, owing to the limited supply of funds. I have introduced the table of residences to show the people of British Columbia that they all ought to take an interest in helping on this institution, which is increasing in usefulness every year, as may be seen by comparing the number of indoor patients of the previous year—seventy-five (75)—with this year—one hundred and three (103).

We still require a lot of draining to be done about and from the building. The floors and walls have been improved and the new wash-room is a great addition to the comfort of the place.

I have great pleasure in thanking a number of friends of the Hospital for presents of clothes, old linen, pictures, books and papers. Again I have to thank the steward, Mr. Charles Digby, for his constant attention to the cleanliness of the building and his kindness and attention to the wants of the sick and his readiness in carrying out all my directions. Before closing this report I must offer my sincere thanks to the medical gentlemen who so kindly offered their assistance to myself whenever required during the past year.

I am Yours Faithfully,
R. I. BENTLEY, M. B.,
Surgeon R. C. H.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

In presenting the accounts for the past year, the Treasurer begs to call attention to the fact that the outlay has been rigidly scrutinized, in which he has been ably assisted by the Steward, Mr. Digby. There seems little prospect of any reduction of expenditure. You will notice that the subscriptions have been liberal and have been a great assistance in keeping the institution free of debt. It is to be regretted that the Government have reduced the grant to the Hospital from $4,500 to $3,500.

W. H. KEARY,
Treasurer.

THE GAMBLER'S DAUGHTER.

Game as Played by a Beautiful Girl.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writes from Long Branch, this strange story:

One encounters strange adventures on the broad piazzas here.

"Very handsome, isn't she?"

"Yes. Said to resemble Langtry, but is a trifle older."

"They're coming this way. By the way, old man, she bowed to you. Do you know her?"

"It seems so. Yes, though a moment ago I was unconscious of the fact. We were fellow passengers for a week or so and got well acquainted."

"How was that?"

"Do you really want me to tell you?"

"Certainly."

"I was coming from New Orleans on the St. George Cromwell in August of 1872. Some time ago? Yes, but the story connects closely with the bow of half a minute ago.

"This lady, then fourteen years younger (as you will find if you count your fingers), was brought to the pier just as the vessel was about to start. She was very beautiful. Her father, a dapper little old man, with dyed hair and mustaches, was most affectionate in his parting with the fair young girl. She was hurried on board the boat. The gangway was pulled ashore and we were off.

"Now, she was the one beautiful woman among the passengers, and the young men of the ship's company were anxious to make her acquaintance. She was shy and repelled us all.

"Well, toward evening we got out on the Gulf of Mexico. It was quite rough. My lady, the unknown beauty, was helped on deck by her ancient maid and looked very pale. She was about to be seasick.

"Now, all of a sudden it occurred to me that my friends, Captain Norton and Judge Weldon, of Bayou Saras, had got a couple of bottles of fine old blackberry brandy to my stateroom for my use on the voyage. Here was a use for some of it.

"In a jiffy I was down in the cabin, and borrowed a corkscrew and had a bottle open. I carried a small glass of excellent liquor to the deck and approaching the servant, said: 'Excuse me, madame, but the young lady appears ill. If you permit me, as a physician, to prescribe for her I think this will relieve her at once.'

"But you are not a doctor?"

"True. I was just at that moment, however. She was not what she seemed any more than I was. But to continue——"

"Yes, go ahead."

"The glass was accepted, and the result was that the following day I made every other man on the ship unhappy by taking a little walk on deck with the tender, dark eyed girl. It was my first attack, and I was gone in a few hours. She was very gentle, modest and ladylike. Her education had been well aimed for—in a convent, if I remember."

"Well?"

"We were together very much. She evinced a decided preference for me. I felt flattered and—don't smile like that—happy.

"One night, the last before we reached New York, somebody proposed cards in the social hall. It was agreed to, and the game was soon made up. We played whist for a time. Then other passengers came in, and as there were only one table somebody expressed curiosity to know how the game of poker was played. They wanted to see the game and play it 'just for fun.' The game was not a bad one, but I kept still, don't you see? There sat my pretty little creature, just opposite, and I did not care to have her know that I had been seen a 'lay out.'

"But my friend, Charley Brown, of Broad street, was not so particular. He took it as a taunt to me he said, 'Give me the cards; I'll keep the bank and deal.' He soon had all the clubs out of one of the two decks of cards and had them spread out upon the table. There were a pile of ivory chips, and, giving them imaginary values, we distributed them among the players.

"The very instant the chips touched the fingers of the girl her whole manner changed. Her eyes became alight with a strange, wild light I never before had seen in them, though I had studied the enlarging size of their pupils under the stars and beside the lamp in the lighted saloon. She acted very strangely.

"I moved over to her side of the table to give her such direction as I could without exposing my knowledge of the game—which was not inconsiderable. As the deal progressed she looked intently about the table from time to time as though seeking something that was not there. I even heard her murmur once, 'Who keeps the game?' but did not attach any importance to the remark. When the cards were nearly all dealt from the table (for, of course, they had no box to deal from) he said:

"'Are you ready for the call?'

"'Yes,' said my companion rather eagerly.

"'Now,' said Charley, 'I will look at the three last cards and tell you their value. If you call the order in which they turn up you will be paid four for one. Seven, queen, deuce.'

"Queen, deuce, seven, for $50!' exclaimed Clairette, utterly ignoring me and almost elbowing me away as she drew her money on the corner of the table.

"The deal was finished. She had called the turn!"

"Well?"

"I didn't speak. I was staggered. I went out into the darkness of the night and sought Captain Clapp, the commander of the vessel.

"'Who is that beautiful woman whom I have seen me with so much?' I asked.

"'Do you really want to know?'

"'I must know.'

"'She is the daughter of Johnny Rebs, the King of the New Orleans gamblers.'

"It was true. She did not appear at breakfast. Nor did I. I have never seen her since until now. There was at least one very sad heart that night. I don't speak of hers, but of mine. And she is—let's take something."

Kill or Cure Remedy.

Customer, in the last stages of bronchitis:

"Give me some rum and gum for a horrible cough."

Polite bar-tender: "Try our superior rock and rye, and it will be ended in twenty-four hours."

Customer, gasping: "If it's as fatal as that, I'd rather not."

APPETIZERS.

A Shark's Mistake and How He Rectified It.

"Don't you do no foolin' with a shark," said a Barnegat fisherman as he crowded tobacco into his pipe for another smoke. "Sharks is an animal that knows more'n you think for.

"A couple of years ago I took a party out after weakfish in the yacht Mary. She belongs to Capt. Small, or did afore he died.

We were anchored up in Bay No. 3, and the fish were biting like smoke, when all at once the school left us. I knowed that meant a shark and I looked around for him.

"Purty soon he came alongside and I up with a pole and gave him an awful jab in the back. You can't hurt a shark's body very well, but his feelings are as tender as a child's.

"This fellow ran off a bit and then cooked his eye at me and took a good long squint. Then he ran around under the stern to read the yacht's name, and when he went off he gave his tail a flirt which meant that he would call around and make it pleasant for me some other time.

"Well, in the course of three or four days, Capt. Small got home and went out in the Mary for sheephead.

"He went up to No. 3 and cast anchor, and then sot down in his usual position—his right leg hanging over the port quarter and his foot just touching the water. He hadn't been there ten minutes before along came a shark and cut that leg off below the knee as slick as a chopper could have done it.

"The captain had skeercely realized his loss afore the fish came back with the leg, giving himself a hist and a twist, and the bloody meat was flung back into the boat.

"For why? Because the shark had discovered that he had bit the wrong man. He was after me, and he had got Small. He had nothin' agin Small, and he cheerfully brought back the leg when he discovered his mistake.

"The captain he died of the bite, but not before I had explained things, and the last thing he said was that he forgave the shark."

Nothing Mercenary about Her.

"I'll keep this diamond engagement ring," she said in breaking the engagement.

"I'm surprised," remarked the male member of the social contract, "that you should wish to keep anything that will remind you constantly of me."

"I keep it," she continued as she toyed with the gold band and its sparkling setting, "not for its intrinsic value, but simply as a reminder of how big a flirt a man can be."

"If that is the case," said he, "and you don't want it for its value, I will exchange it and give you a cheaper keepsake—one that will not tempt you to wear, but will keep just as well as a genuine diamond."—[St. Paul Globe.

Good Hen Story.

A young married lady, who moved into the country from a city home, considered keeping hens a pleasant and profitable duty.

As she became more absorbed in the pursuit her enthusiasm increased, and "hens" made a favorite subject of her thoughts and conversation.

During one of her animated descriptions of success a friend inquired:

"Are your hens good hens?"

"Oh, yes," she replied in a delighted tone; "they haven't laid a bad egg yet."—[Catskill Mail.

Such a Stupid Fellow.

They were playing a nice little game of two-handed euchre and chatting pleasantly.

"Have you heard of the new game of cards?" he asked innocently, as he dealt her a hand.

"No," she said. "What do they call it?"

"Matrimony."

"Oh," she exclaimed rapturously, "let's play it."

"I don't know how," replied the thick-skulled fellow, and the girl got so mad that she wouldn't talk to him any more.—[Washington Critic.

Pat in Court.

It is stated that a lawyer was some time ago cross-examining a witness in a local court, when he asked:

"Now, then, Patrick, listen to me. Did the defendant in this case strike the plaintiff with malice?"

"No, sor, sure," replied Pat gravely; "he struck him wid the poker, bedad."

Again he inquired of the same witness:

"Did the defendant stand on the defensive during the affray?"

"Divil a diffensive, yer Honor; he stood on the table."

Lung Burglars.

Mrs. Proudfoot Malaprop dropped in to have a sociable hour of gossip with her next door neighbor.

"O, did you know that pore Fanny Mullens is dead?" she asked, clicking her knitting needles and settling herself comfortably on the softest chair.

"No; what ailed her?"

"Burglars on the lungs, I think it was. They're always fatal. Some folks call em' lung burglars, pore soul."

And she picked up the stitch that she had dropped.

Too Much for His Understanding.

The conversation turned on the difference of ages between married people.

"As for me," remarked Calino, "I remember that when I was married my wife was nine years the younger."

"Well, and how do you stand to-day?" asked some one.

This question perplexed the poor, thick-headed husband.

"Oh!—ah!—I really can't say! But you—you—you'll understand that—that since then she must have grown—grown—older!"—[Tid-Bits.

A Considerate Book Agent.

Book agents are proverbially "cheeky," but the agent who had a fight with Dr. Nall, after getting well "done up" by the doctor, called in the latter to bind up his wounds.—[Memphis Times.

Bridget (glowing with pride): "Ther dessert, mum? It's in Afriky or Agypt. The tacher alwus called me a fine lump ov a scholar."—[Judge.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE

STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practically impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. MR. G. ROBERTSON,
Vancouver:

Representing Goldie & McCulloch, Galt, Ont.

SIR.—We the undersigned having witnessed the terrible fire which wiped out of existence the young city of Vancouver, on the 13th inst., have, after the fire, examined the safes sold by you, some of which were put to the most severe test, having been surrounded by large quantities of lard and bacon, and we are pleased to testify to the remarkable manner in which every Safe sold by you preserved its contents; not only books and papers, but also thousands of dollars in paper money were taken out in perfect condition. We can, therefore, with the greatest confidence, recommend them as thoroughly fire proof:

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN Printing Company

(LIMITED.)

ON THE 10TH OF JANUARY, 1887, the COLUMBIAN Newspaper and Printing Concern was purchased by a joint stock company composed of citizens of New Westminster, to be known as the "British Columbian Printing Co., Limited." The concern has been for nearly a year owned and controlled by the British Columbia Stationery and Printing Company, of New Westminster, Victoria and Vancouver. The object of the new company is to continue the publication of the BRITISH COLUMBIAN newspaper and carry on a general printing and publishing concern, controlled entirely by those whose individual interest it will be to promote the development, especially of the Mainland. There will be no slackening of the energy hitherto displayed in the management of the establishment, and its patrons may rely upon receiving full value for their money. The COLUMBIAN will continue to be entirely independent in both Dominion and provincial politics, and will devote itself to the advancement of such schemes as may be considered in the public interest. The concern is now entirely separate from any other business, the book and stationery establishment in this city having been taken over by Mr. T. R. Pearson, who will continue to carry it on in his own name and for his own benefit. It is desirable that a daily newspaper should be maintained in this city, and the new company asks for public patronage on the ground that it is engaged in an enterprise calculated to promote the public welfare. It asks that the COLUMBIAN be judged on its own merits and supported only so long as its policy is enconsistt with its professions. In consequence of this business change all accounts due the concern must be settled without delay so that the books of the former company may be adjusted and closed. Address all communications and remittances to

It is understood Sir John will try to visit England this summer if his engagements will allow, but possibly political exigencies will take him over the Canadian Pacific to British Columbia instead. Lady Macdonald will join her daughter at Banff hot springs, where she is erecting a summer residence.

Fully $30,000 a month is being sent out of the province to Oregon for supply of beef cattle, sheep and hogs. In a few weeks, the local butchers say, this, to a great extent, will be stopped, as provincial cattle will then be ready for slaughtering. The late winter told severely on stock, which ran down in flesh very fast.—Times.

But nine miles of the O.&C.R.R. remains to be completed, and this gap will be finished in a month at least, as at present there are 5000 men employed, on it. Were the Southern railway from here to Seattle completed, passengers could then travel by rail from the Royal to the Bay City. But we look for this at no distant date.

Dr. McInnes informs us that the young man, Wm. McKee, who suffered the accident at Boundary Bay on the 24th inst., is more seriously hurt than at first reported. In falling from the horse his foot struck the hard ground and twisting, both bones of the leg were snapped in two. The operation of setting the broken bones was very painful, but the young man bore it without a groan.

The Montreal Witness, speaking of the present agitation in Manitoba against disallowance, says: "If the people of Winnipeg and of Manitoba allow themselves to be bullied by threats about the removal of shops, etc., into giving up their agitation for railway competition, all that can be said of them is that they deserve to be the slaves of a monopoly and should no longer murmur at their chains.

A great many people complain of the unnecessary amount of steamboat whistling at our whaves, especially at very early hours in the morning. The str. Irving has a magnificent whistle which it is a pleasure for any one to hear on ordinary occasions, but it is not right that she should be permitted to rouse half the city at 3:30 every Monday morning. At Victoria, and we believe at Seattle, a stop was put to this practice some time ago.

The steamship Willamette, which arrived in Vancouver on Thursday evening, is the first vessel that has discharged at the C.P.R. wharf. Her cargo consists of the following goods: 5,500 bbls. sugar, 295 bbls. syrup, 72 bales wool, 624 do., 56 do., 88 do., 338 do., 20 bales dry hides. The total value of the cargo is about $250,000. These goods will be shipped immediately over the Canadian Pacific railway to New York, Boston, Minneapolis and other eastern points.

RELIEF FOR NANAIMO.—The miners of the anthracite mines at Banff have contributed $125 for the Nanaimo sufferers.

FREIGHT.—Four cars of freight arrived from the east yesterday and three carloads of lumber were shipped to Banff to-day.

RIVALS.—It is reported the Grand Trunk is exerting its influence against the imperial subsidy for the C. P. R. steamship line.

IN ST. LOUIS.—Vice-president Van Horne, of the C.P.R., has completed arrangements for a through line from Chicago and St. Louis to Montreal.

THE LAST OF MOODY.—A piece of one of the toredo eaten piles which were brought down from Port Moody, was on exhibition last night in the window of the B. C. bookstore labelled "The last of Port Moody." It attracted much attention and many were the comments passed upon it.—News.

THE BANFF HOTEL.—The new C. P. R. hotel at Banff is being pushed ahead rapidiy. About 750,000 feet of lumber and 300,000 shingles will be used in the construction. It is intended to have a part of it ready for guests about the middle of August. One hundred and sixty men are now employed on it.

CAMP-MEETING.—The annual camp-meeting begins at Chilliwhack to-morrow. Persons attending this annual religious gathering will be carried from this city and return at one fare on either of the river steamers. The str. Gladys leaves at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning for up river, and the str. Irving leaves Thursday morning at the same hour.

ON A TRIP.—President Robt. Harris, of the Northern Pacific railway, accompanied by John M. Brookman and C. B. Wright, directors, and Gen. C. H. T. Collis, left New York Saturday for a trip over the road, and will be present at the opening of the new line across the Cascade range of mountains. The party intend to extend their journey to Alaska before returning.

VAN HORNE COMING.—Vice-president Van Horne, of the C.PR., is expected here very soon. On Saturday he arrived at Banff, and stopped at the Park over yesterday. To-day he is at Gleichen. One of the important questions on Mr. Van Horne's arrival here will be the permanent location of the headquarters of the C.P.R. telegraph system, at present in this city.

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE, but not found wanting. Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure has been weighed in that just balance, the experience of an impartial and intelligent public. Both remedially and pecuniarily it is a success. Its sales constantly increase, testimony in its favor is daily pouring in. The question of its efficacy in Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Kidney Ailments, and for Blood Impurity is decided.

A SAD ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon, in Nanaimo, the two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jonathan Blundell was missing, and a search in the neighborhood resulted in finding the unfortunate child in the well at Mr. Woodbank's residence. Medical aid was summoned, but too late. This is a double affliction to Mrs. Blundell, as her husband was one of the unfortunate miners who lost his life in the recent mining disaster.

SCRIBNERS.—The June number of this very excellent monthly is received. This number opens with an illustrated historical sketch of Napoleon, followed by "An Art Master," "The Ethics of Democracy," "Sister Annunciata," "Miss Pringle's Neighbors," "An Uncommercial Republic," "Miss Peck's Promotion," "Seth's Brother's Wife," "Two Russians," "The Magic Flight in Folk-Lore," and several other papers. The number is a very interesting one.

MORE SCHEMES.—The New York Commercial Bulletin makes the startling announcement that recognizing that the port of New York is the port of the American continent, the Canadian Pacific Railway, after having become divorced from Canadian authority now proposes to become the grand colossus—grand octopus or great northern power, and is already on the high road to a consolidation with or an absorption of the New York Central, Harlem and West Shore system as its outlets from Niagara and Montreal.

THE LICK TELESCOPE.—The San Francisco Bulletin says: "It is thought that the great telescope will be mounted at the Lick Observatory early in September. Captain Fraser writes that work is rapidly progressing on the observatory dome. The wall-plate, live ring wheels and sole plate are already in place. Although the weight of the sole plate and its connections, with wheels and connections, is about 35 tons, a direct pull of 125 pounds is all that is required to move this great weight, ond on one occasion 100 pounds was found sufficient to set it in motion."

ACTION FOR CRIMINAL LIBEL.—On Thursday, May 19th, the Times newspaper printed an article entitled "Drastic Judicial Utterances," which was remarkable for the venomous character of its language in attacking Hon. Mr. Robson and the deputy attorney general. It was remarked in this newspaper at the time that in the interests of the administration of justice the government could not afford to let it pass. Yestrrday a prosecution for criminal libel was entered against the managers of the paper, and it is understood the case will have a hearing on Tuesday before his lordship the chief justice.—Colonist.

A DISAPPOINTED SIWASH.—An Indian came over from New Westminster yesterday morning and applied to Chief of Police Stewort to make out a warrant and arrest a citizen of the Royal City who had broken into his house and stolen some money therefrom. As the case did not come within the jurisdiction of the chief, he referred the siwash back to New Westminster and assured him that he could get the matter straightened up by the authorities there. The siwash thought different, and was of opinion that the big skookum house man was the best to apply to for justice, and it was with some reluctance he took his way back to New Westminster.—News.

A CURIOUS CASE.—A man named Henry Harden, who has been staying in a hotel on False creek, awakened on Thursday morning fully convinced that his head had turned 'round during the night. So convinced was he of this strange hallucination that he refused to get out of bed, saying it was no use doing so as he wouldn't be able to walk. As the case seemed serious and the man evidently believed such to be the case, the police were sent for and Sergt. McLaren soon appeared and requested the man to get up and go with him. He refused at first to do so, but finally got up and commenced dressing. While this operation was going on the sergeant was astounded to see Harden putting on all his clothes wrong side foremost, and for a moment was staggered as to the best course to pursue. He reasoned with the man, but to no effect, as he insisted that his head was turned the wrong way and that his clothes must be turned to suit the change. When fully dressed he presented a rather strange sight, and the sergeant was rather timid as to the advisability of appearing on the street with him. At this stage the man refused to attempt to walk, as he said he couldn't go forward with his head looking behind him. He was finally persuaded to try, but the effort was a painful one and it actually seemed as if he was walking backward. He was finally lodged in the police station, and yesterday morning, as he appeared better, he was discharged.—Vancouver News.

A LIBEL.—The Canadian Methodist Magazine for May contains a brief account of the visit of its editor, Rev. W H. Withrow, D. D., to this city, and a picture which is supposed to represent the Royal City. We regret to say that the whole thing is a fraud and a libel. Dr. Withrow has a wide reputation as a traveler, a scholar and an author, and anything from his pen may, therefore, command attention; but his representation of Westminster and the description of his visit are a libel on the city and a discredit both to him and his magazine. The picture (under which are the words "New Westminster, B. C.—looking up Fraser River") is from a photograph taken 27 years ago. It shows nothing but a small portion of Front st., east of Lytton Square, now known as Chinatown. There are 6 low wooden houses visible, among them the Pioneer Saloon, then kept by Mr. J. T. Scott, Picht & Hoyt's liquor store, Mr. Dickinson's stable, and some other sheds. In front of Picht & Hoyt's stands a tall, leafless tree, right on Front st. Herring's ranch across the river, and the western portion of the queen's reach, are visible. Sitting on the top of Mr. Dickinson's stable, and hovering over the small cluster of shanties which are visible, may be counted 73 crows, and the whole sketch is suggestive of a small Indian rancherie at a time when all the Indians are absent. Dr. Withrow puts forward this caricature as a fair representation of the largest city on the mainland and the second largest in the province! In his description, which is, like the picture, conspicuous for what it does not contain, the author gives no word of explanation, and there is nothing to prevent the readers of the magazine from coming to the conclusion that this is really a correct representation of the modern city of Westminster. We are sorry to utter harsh words against the work of an eminent author, but truth compels us to pronounce this illustration a caricature and a libel.
