OPEN LETTER.

EDITOR DELTA TIMES:

Sir: For the second time it gives the members of the Executive Committee of the B. C. Field Trial Club great pleasure to express through the columns of your paper their sincere gratitude to the farmers of Delta Municipality, particularly that part in the vicinity of Ladner, for their kindness in allowing the use of their lands during the trials.

As you are aware the last meet was a great success, and this fact is due in a large measure to the splendid grounds and to the numbers of birds that were found.

Again expressing our gratitude to all those whose land was made use of, we remain, yours faithfully,

J. L. G. ABBOTT,
President.

H. S. ROLSTON,
Secretary.

B. C. Field Trial Club.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by F. J. MacKenzie.

MISSION CIRCLE.

A Mission Circle, under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, has been formed and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: Superintendent, Mrs. Betts; president, Miss B. Welsh; vice-president, Miss F. Thirkle; recording secretary, Miss T. Kerr; treasurer, Miss H. M. Manley; auditor, Miss M. Jordan.

The next meeting will be held in The Parsonage, on Wednesday evening next, at 8 o'clock.

The S. S. Sonoma will make regular trips every week day to and from Steveston. Leave Ladner 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. Returning leave Steveston 9. a. m. and 5 p. m.

15th Anniversary.

The past week has been one of unusual interest in Methodist circles in Ladner. The 15th anniversary of the erection of the church and parsonage was fittingly observed on Sunday last by services suitable to the occasion when Rev. Jas. Calvert, M.A.L., preached at both services. Mr. Calvert was superintendent of the circuit at the time of the erection of the buildings, and many friends of those early days were delighted to meet him once more. The congregations were large and were favored with thoughtful, orderly and inspiring sermons.

The Anniversary tea and reunion held in Oddfellows' Hall, on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, was a very great success. The high tea was something of which the ladies have every reason to feel proud as everyone who had the pleasure to partake of it was well satisfied. There was a plenty of everything for everyone.

After the inner man had been properly attended to, adjournment was made to the auditorium where a lengthy and excellent programme was run off. Rev. J. F. Betts opened the programme by asking the audience to join in singing one stanza of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," after which Mr. Calvert led in prayer. Mr. Betts then called on John Oliver, M.P.P., to take the chair, and who, in turn, called all ministers of the Gospel present to take seats on the platform with him, when Revs. A. McAuley, J. A. Banton, J. Calvert and J. F. Betts came forward.

The Chairman, in his opening address described, briefly, the great resources of this great and flourishing province—agriculture, mining, lumbering, fishing and horticulture. He believed, he said, that the fishing industry was only in its infancy, the mining industry is making great headway, the lumber industry compares favorably with any other country, while the Kelowna exhibit of fruit at the Dominion Fair would be hard to beat in any part of the world. He particularly urged the importance of a high moral character on the part of all the citizens in order to reap the fullest benefits of the limitless wealth which a bountiful Providence has bestowed upon this province. Mr. Oliver then called the first number on the programme:

Piano solo, Miss Grundy, encore; vocal solo, Mrs. Banton, encore; recitation, F. J. Grant, encore; violin solo, Miss Vaughan, encore; address, Rev. A. McAuley, this took the form of some sound and good advice to the boys which was given in that rev. gentleman's able and lucid manner; vocal solo, Mrs. Lanning; piano solo, Miss Grundy; trio, Miss Thirkle, Rev. Jas. A. Banton, Dr. Woodley, encore; address, Rev. J. Calvert; vocal solo, Rev. Jas. A. Banton; violin solo, Miss Vaughan; Doxology

Rev. Mr. Calvert took his hearers away back to the time when this district was occasionally submerged; the purchase of the property from W. H. Ladner, for whom the rev. gentleman had many words of praise in all his dealings; of the many faces he had missed when looking round, and of the little ones who have grown up into young men and young women, also of those who early crossed over unto the other side and to their reward.

At the close of the evening's entertainment a standing vote of thanks to the Ladies' Aid and their assistants was taken, when every one promptly rose to their feet in acknowledgment.

Every number on the programme was excellent and thoroughly enjoyed.

NOT A SLUR.

EDITOR DELTA TIMES:

Sir: Although almost incredible that it should be needed, kindly allow me once more a little space to show that instead of a "slap in the face" being intended, it was rather a pat on the back that was given. Anyone who had a teacher good enough to give high school subjects, and was personally clever enough and industrious enough to obtain a government certificate without attending a High School (subject, of course, to subsequent Normal School training) can have no possible slur cast upon the necessary qualifications obtained in such a highly honorable and creditable way. I reiterate—these cases were merely cited as cases in point, and NOT to create ill-feeling.

Trusting that the educational department may soon do away with the necessity of our having to send our children away from home for so long, yours very truly,

ANOTHER ONE INTERESTED

[Through the absence from the district of the writer, the above communication arrived too late for last issue.—ED.]

W. W. Clarke, known as the "Rambler" on the Vancouver News-Advertiser, is in town rustling business for his paper. He expresses himself as being much impressed with the great productiveness of the Delta district.

Butter-Making.

W. A. Wilson, of the Dominion Dairy Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, assisted by Miss Hetty Baynes, winner in 1897 of the Lord Mayor's Cup in London, being the champion prize for the best butter maker, will give lessons on butter making in the Town Hall, Ladner, from Friday, the 27th, to Tuesday, the 31st October, inclusive.

Every person interested in dairying is invited to attend. Ladies are particularly invited. No fees are charged for instruction or admission. The hours of instruction will be 9:30 to 12 a.m., 2 to 4:30 p.m. A full equipment of apparatus, including cream separators, churns, butter-workers, milk testers, etc., will be provided.

Instruction will be given in cream separation, cream ripening, churning, working and packing of butter, milk testing, etc. Students will be expected to do the practical work under the direction of the instructors. A sufficient supply of milk will be provided.

Any person may attend for any any number of days, but it is hoped that all may remain for the full course.

Short lectures will be given every day by the Superintendent. Arrangements will be made for the accommodation of spectators during one afternoon of each course.

Intending pupils are requested to enroll their names with the Secretary of the Institute, N. A. McDiarmid, beforehand, so that there may be no delay on arrival of Mr. Wilson.

Preparing Poultry.

FEEDING CHICKS FOR MARKET.

Spring chicks usually bring about seven cents per pound live weight, when sold without special preparation. A little feeding will give them an extra market value whether sold alive or dressed, and will pay well for the trouble. There is a good demand this year for a good quality, but dealers don't want the poor scrub. Farmers will do well to put their chicks on the market in good condition; one can make a pound of chicken as cheaply as he can make a pound of pork or beef, and the difference shows in the price. If you have not customers already, ship only to reliable produce merchants. If shipping alive one must allow for considerable shrinkage.

The following extracts from Bulletin No 7 deal with feeding and preparing poultry for market.

FATTENING CHICKENS IN CRATES.

The fattening crates in use at the illustration stations are 6 feet long, 16 inches wide and 20 inches high, inside measurements. Each crate is divided by two tight wooden partitions into three departments, and each compartment holds four chickens. The frame pieces are 2 in. wide ⅞ in. thick. This frame is covered with slats, placed lengthwise on three sides, bottom back, and top,— and up and down in front. The slats for the bottom are ⅞in. wide, and ⅝in thick; the back, top and front slats are the same width, but only ⅜ in. thick. Two inch spaces between the slats in front enable the chickens to eat from the trough. The bottom slats are 1¼ in. apart and the slat nearest the back is 2¼ in. from the corner piece. The bottom slats are placed on the bottom cross pieces of the frame to prevent the chickens feet being bruised when the crate is placed on the ground. The top slats are 2 in. apart and the back slats 1½ inch. The top slats are cut above each partition and six strips two inches wide are nailed under them. The three doors so formed are hinged to the rear corner piece.

The crates are placed on stands 16 in. from the ground. The droppings are received on sand or other absorbent material. A light "v" trough 2½ in. inside, carried on two brackets nailed to the ends of the crate, is placed in front of each crate. The bottom of the trough is 4 in. above the floor and the upper inside edge is 2 in. from the crate.

SITUATION OF CRATES

In warm weather the crates should be placed outdoors in a sheltered position.

In unsettled weather it is advisable to construct a rough board shelter to shed the rain; or the crates might be carried into a shed or barn.

During cold weather the crates should be placed in a warm building. Abundant ventilation is required at all times.

In order to have the chickens plump and fit for market when at the most profitable age, they should be put in the crates when from three to four months old, though suitable market chickens of any age will show gains in the crates. Select for fattening chickens that are of medium size, of a broad square shape, with short straight legs set well apart, and above all with a good constitution.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1905.

We would ask the Council why the short piece of macadam on the Slough road has not been completed?

We would direct the attention of those opposed to the borrowing of money, for road making, to the condition of some of our roads. Is it unreasonable to expect the coming generation to bear a portion of the burden of improvements, while the present generation reaps a little of the benefit of good roads?

SURVEYOR ARRIVES.

It is gratifying to note that the Council have not neglected the Raitt road. Some time ago Coun. Davie was promised this work—the surveying of the Raitt road—but, on account of business pressure, W. N. Draper, P.L.S., could not undertake the work until now.

It would be a good idea to have all Municipal roads surveyed before any public work is done upon them.

MINISTERS MEET.

On Wednesday morning last, there was a meeting of the ministers of Ladner at the Baptist Parsonage, Trunk road, Ladner. There were present Revs. J. F. Betts, A. McAuley and Jas. A. Banton. The proposal was made and adopted to hold a joint Thanksgiving service on Thursday, Oct. 26th, at 10 a.m., in the Baptist Church. Addresses will be delivered by Revs. McAuley and Betts. The service of praise will be conducted by Rev. Jas. A. Banton, assisted by the united choirs of Ladner. It is expected that there will be an anthem by the choir, a trio by the ministers and a quartette. All will meet for practice, in the Baptist Church, at the close of next Sabbath evening's service. Mrs. Banton will preside at the organ.

The following hymns will be used from the Songs and Solos: 405, "Come, Sound His Praise!"; 402, "Glory to God on High"; 736, "Oh, Worship the King"; 373, "To God be the Glory"; 712, "We Plough the Fields."

All Christian people are requested to come together to render thanks to Almighty God for His goodness to our land through the past year.

JAS. A. BANTON, Secretary.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn-plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequaled. For sale by F. J. MacKenzie.

EQUIPMENT FOR FATTENING.

It is advisable to use the crates described in Bulletin No 7. If only a small number are to be fattened, packing boxes of suitable dimensions can be adapted for the purpose. The open top of the box may be the bottom of the crate and one side should be removed for the front. Laths should be nailed up and down the front and lengthwise of the crate to form the door. The laths are put the same distance apart as recommended in the construction of the fattening crates. A board should be loosened in the top to remove the chickens, and a feed trough arranged in front. A shaping board and shipping boxes are also required.

FATTENING RATIONS.

A satisfactory ration is one that is palatable and that will produce a white flesh. Oats, finely ground or with the coarser hulls sifted out, should form the basis of all the grain mixtures. Ground corn feed in excess will result in a yellow flesh of inferior quality; ground peas impart a hardness that is not desirable. Ground oats, buckwheat, barley and low grade flour are the most suitable meals.

SATISFACTORY MEALS MIXTURES.

1. Ground oats (hulls removed)
2. Siftings from rolled oats (no hulling dust should be included).
3. Two parts ground oats, two parts ground buckwheat, one part ground corn.
4. Equal parts ground oats, ground barley and ground buckwheat.
5. Two parts ground barley, two parts low grade flour, one part wheat bran.

The meal should be mixed to a thin porridge with thick sour skim milk or buttermilk. On the average 10 lbs. of meal require from 15 to 17 lbs. of sour skim milk. A small quantity of salt should be added.

When sufficient skim milk or butter milk can not be obtained for mixing the mashed, animal and raw vegetable food should be added to the ration.

DURATION OF THE FATTENING.

The chickens should remain in the crates not more than 24 days. Some will fatten more readily than others. These should be picked out a week before finished, and during this last week it is well to feed a little beef tallow, shaved into the trough along with the mash, about 1 lb. tallow per day to 50 or 60 chickens.

KILLING THE LICE.

Before the chickens are placed in the crates they should be well dusted with sulphur to kill the lice. They should be sulphured again 3 days before being killed.

THE FIRST WEEK.

Feed them lightly the first week. A small quantity of food should be fed along the troughs; as this is eaten, add more, but not as much as the chickens would consume. They should be fed and the troughs cleaned and turned over three times a day. Give them water twice a day and grit two or three times a week.

BALANCE OF THE TIME.

The chickens should be given twice a day as much as they will eat. Half an hour after feeding, the trough should be cleaned and turned over. Water and grit should be suppled as in the first week.

FEATHER PLUCKING.

Chickens fattening in crates sometimes pluck the feathers from one another. This habit is caused by an irritation at the roots of the feathers resulting from overheated blood or parasites. The remedy is to remove the affected chickens and feed the others more skim milk in their mashes, or add animal and vegetable food to the ration. If the trouble is caused by parasites the mites can be found among the white powdery matter at the base of the quill. A sulphur and lard ointment should be applied to the affected parts.

Let Us Talk It Over.

Have you, young man or young woman, ever given the future any consideration? Are you content to drift along as you are with a superfficial public school education which does not prepare you for earning your living.

There are openings for young men in the business world as stenographers or clerks. Women are eligible for the same positions. what could you do in such a position? Are you a good penman? Are you rapid and accurate at figures. Can you use the typewriter so as to write 40 words per minute? Can you do well the many things that are required to be done in the business offices of large cities?

Unless you have taken a course in the above you are unprepared for office work except in a small village. We can prepare you for a good position—a position that will in a few months pay for your investment. Some of our lady graduates are earning $40 a month and over.

Miss W. K. Smith receives 40 per month from the Hastings Shingle Manufacturing Co., as stenographer. Miss Menzie starts for the Yorkshire Guarantee and Securities Corporation at $45. Several are working for the C. P. R. at $30 per month and upward.

WE CAN HELP YOU TO A POSITION LIKE THIS

If you come to us and work hard. If you want further proof of the way we help to positions write us and we will send you more names.

But don't put off. Every month you delay means one month's salary lost. The sooner you graduate the sooner you are in a position.

Hard on the Ladies.

Very few remember the existence of a certain remarkable statute which was passed in the early days of George III. if indeed they ever heard of it. It runs to the effect that if any woman "entices any of his majesty's male subjects into marriage by the use of any powders or paints or false hair or wool on the cheeks she shall be prosecuted for sorcery." What a cause celebre it would be if any of his present majesty's male subjects were to endeavor to put the law into action. What a rush there would be of fashionable ladies to secure front seats in court for the hearing.—London Tatler.

Legend of the Looking Glass.

Who ever heard it stated that the looking glass was first invented to spite a pretty woman? And how would it be possible to spite a woman by showing her a perfect reflection of her own dainty self? Well, according to Japanese mythology, the deity presiding over the sun and furnishing light to the world became infuriated at some trifle and hid herself away in a cave, thus depriving humanity of a very necessary element. In order to induce her to come out the mirror was invented and placed in the cave. The beautiful goddess, seeing another beautiful goddess within those narrow confines, immediately departed, and the people took care that never again should she enter the precincts of a cave. And so that most valued of woman's treasures was invented for spite, but for what a different purpose has it served!

Old Coins From Old Mints.

The "mint house" in Boston existed about thirty-four years. All the coins issued from it bore the dates 1652 or 1662, the same dies being used probably throughout the thirty-four years of coinage. Some coins had been made in Bermuda for the use of the Virginia colony as early as 1644. Copper coins bearing the figure of an elephant were struck in England for the Carolinas and New England in 1694. Coins were also struck for Maryland bearing the effigy of Lord Baltimore. A mint was established in Rupert, Vt., by legislative authority in 1785, whence copper cents were issued, bearing on one side a plow and a sun rising from behind hills and on the other a radiated eye surrounded by thirteen stars.

Pen Picture of a Beautiful Horse.

A pen picture of a beautiful horse is to be found in one of Sewell Ford's stories in "Horses Nine." Here it is: In the stalls at Gray Oaks stables were many good hunters, but none better than Pasha. Cream white he was, from the tip of his splendid yard long tail to his pink lipped muzzle. His coat was as silk plush, his neck as supple as a swan's, and out of his big, bright eyes there looked such intelligence that one half expected him to speak. His lines were all long, graceful curves, and when he danced daintily on his slender legs one could see the muscles flex under the delicate skin.

Absentminded.

"Rather absentminded, isn't he?"

"Extremely so. Why, the other night when he got home he knew there was something he wanted to do, but he couldn't remember what it was until he had sat up over an hour trying to think."

"And did he finally remember it?"

"Yes; he discovered that he wanted to go to bed early!"

A Lucky Call.

"I don't mind telling you now," said young Dr. Frankly, "that you just called me in at the right time."

"Really!" exclaimed the convalescent. "I wasn't so bad as that, was I?"

"Bad! My dear sir, you were good. I was down to my last cent and needed the money!"

The Traveler's Ready Answer.

Mrs. Z.—Listen, George. The baby is saying "Oo-goo-ja-bo-oo-go." What does it remind you of?

Mr. Z.—H'm! Reminds me of a brakeman calling out stations.

From the Father's Side.

Senator Graphter—Well, did Sterling say he'd vote for our bill?

Senator Mainchantz—No; he said he couldn't imagine a bill of a more crooked and odious character.

Senator Graphter—Did you tell him I was fathering the measure?

Senator Mainchantz—Yes, and he said he fancied the bill's characteristics had been inherited.

Disappointed.

"Her marriage was a great disappointment to her friends."

"Indeed."

"Oh, yes. They all predicted it would turn out unhappily, and it didn't."

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more promp and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so well known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other It is for sale by F. J. MacKenzie.

QUAINT LONDON LEGACIES.

Some of Them Show the Old Time Estimate of Sermons.

Some curious glimpses into the life of old London are afforded by the reports made in the charity commission on the endowed charities in the county of London. For instance, in the reports dealing with the city parishes we have an estimate of the value set on sermons by city men in olden times. That estimate varied from 5 shillings to £1 10s. One Thomas Bright had left a bequest for a sermon to be preached on the 5th of November every time it fell on a Sunday, the minister to get 13s. 4d., the clerk 3s. 4d. and the sexton 1s. 4d. But David Gittin had a more modest idea of the value of a sermon in the same parish. He required two sermons for 10 shillings, one to be preached on the second Sunday in Advent and the other on the second Sunday in Lent. The reader got 2 shillings, the churchwarden 2s. 8d. and the poor sexton fourpence for each occasion. John Ireland thought 13s. 4d. enough for two sermons.

In 1630 John Winn left a curious bequest to the parish of St. Bennet, Paul's Wharf. A pound was set apart for an annual sermon, the text to be taken from the fifth chapter of St. John and the twenty-seventh verse. He also left enough to buy twelve penny loaves for twelve poor people of the parish who attended a sermon every Friday in the parish church. But he expected more for his pound than the annual sermon, for before or after the sermon the minister had to spend an hour examining or instructing the poor people in the Christian doctrine.

The most generous donor of the preacher was James Wood, who thought a sermon in St. Nicholas-Cole-Abbey was worth £1 10s. every alternate year. In 1625 he bequeathed to the Company of Bowyers a sum to enable them, among other things, to repair to the parish church named, after they had sworn in their wardens and master every second year, there to hear a sermon and pay the parson £1 10s. and the clerk and sexton 1s. 5d. each. In the parish of St. Michael Bassishaw one Edward Heylin in the eighteenth century left money the interest on which was to be applied to purchasing two sixpenny loaves each Sunday for two poor men or women who should attend divine service.—London News.

IN MEXICO.

School children study their lessons aloud.

The chambermaids at hotels are all chamber men.

The best grades of coffee are sold at tobacco stores.

The Mexican meal consists of more kinds of meat than vegetables.

Railways, street cars and cabs all provide three classes of conveyance.

In the cities real estate is sold by the square meter instead of the front foot.

Fruit and vegetables are not sold by measure, but by the dozen or by weight.

Many tailors take the clothes of their customers to the patron's home to try them on.

Mexican men of the lower classes wear the biggest hats in the world, the women none at all.

Sunday is the great amusement day. All big entertainments are reserved for this general holiday.

Remote Kin.

Kind Lady—How many are there in the family beside yourself?

Little Amie—Four; mamma, papa, sister and a distant relative.

"That is only three. The distant relative is not a member of the family."

"Oh, yes, he is. He is my brother."

"Your brother? Then he isn't a distant relative."

"Yes, ma'am; he is in the Philippines."

Would Avoid the Trouble.

"I suppose you'd like to be worth a million dollars?" she suggested.

"No, mum," replied the tramp. "I'd be too much trouble lookin' after the money. All I want is that some feller what's worth a million dollars shall provide fer me."

If you want a boy baby, don't let the stork know it, or it will bring a girl. You will find, by the way, that some influence similar to the stork's has followed you in all your desires.—Atchison Globe.

Colds

It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and prepares the system for the more serious diseases, among which are the two greatest destroyers of human life, pneumonia and consumption.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

has won its great popularity by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It aids expectoration, relieves the lungs and opens the secretions, effecting a speedy and permanent cure. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.
