Festival fun for all the families

ALDERGROVE - The town is throwing a party all this weekend, and everyone is invited to join in the fun. With a Gold Rush theme, the days of yore meet the future in three full days of family activities that are sure to leave all with a treasure of great memories.

The fun begins Friday, and the day's highlight will be the opening ceremonies, music and fireworks in Aldergrove Community Park, next to Aldergrove Community Secondary School. The presentation of the Hilda Reddick community service award will be a special highlight.

Saturday offers more activities than any one person could possibly take in. There's the slow pitch tournament, the parade, antique tractor pull, youth talent search and the Opera in the Country show -- among many other events. A special dedication ceremony at Heritage Park will launch Aldergrove's newest attraction, the Kinsmen Bandstand, and Alder Grove Heritage Society hosts an open house, along with their Discover Aldergrove Contest at the adjacent FJ Hart BC Tel House.

Sunday's fun includes a Lions Grove pancake breakfast, Canadian Cancer Society cut-athon, a picnic in Heritage Park at the new bandshell -- along with continuing action at the tractor pull, the slow pitch and horseshoe tournament, awards presentations and so much more.

It's a celebration of our community, with something for everyone. See inside this issue for a complete listing of events, and we'll see you in Aldergrove this weekend!

Concert very popular

ALDERGROVE - There are no more tickets available for the Opera in the Country show this Saturday evening, but The Star has a list of people who'd like to come if there are ticket-holders out there who won't be able to come. If, for some reason, your plans have changed, ticket-holders are kindly asked to return them to The Star, and we will call those on our waiting list and pass the tickets along to them.

A second show is not possible because of Tamara Lynn Hummel's very busy schedule. She is preparing to leave for Vienna for a six-week training session, and she's also rehearsing for the Van-

No answers from board

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

LANGLEY - Linda Kaye, president of the District Parents Advisory Council said last Monday that dozens of concerned parents have called her about the school district's cost over runs and the firing of superintendent Susan Everett, but she doesn't have answers for them.

After Monday's board meeting at which board chair Linda Moir read a prepared statement, Kaye said she still doesn't have answers for parents, only more questions for the board.

Moir stated that the legal firm Lidstone, Young, Anderson, hired by the board, has completed a preliminary report on three of the six schools in question (she would not say which three) and recommended the accounting firm of Ernst and Young be hired to conduct an audit.

After the audit and report are complete, a resolution will be brought before the board, which will then make a decision based on the best interest of Langley students.

When asked later how long the audit and full report would take, Jennifer Canas, senior legal advisor for the board, said they have yet to discuss the issue with the accounting firm. It could take months.

During public question period, there was a bombardment of questions on the issue, but Moir cut the session short by asking for a motion to adjourn. She said she would talk to reporters after the meeting.

Canas said that because of pending litigation, there is very little that can be said, but added that the board will make public as much information as is legally possible. She would not say who the litigation is between, calling it a 'personnel matter.'

It appears that sometime between February when the issue first came before the board, and May when the board fired Everett, the issue of district cost over runs became a personnel matter.

Moir refused to say if the district owes money to anyone, and if it does, how much. She would not confirm whether there has been any discussion with the Ministry of Education, or whether there was an outside opinion sought as early as February.

Canas said the board will be issuing a statement as soon as possible, but could not say when. The board's last meeting for the 1995/96 year is June 17, but they may meet during the summer if necessary.

She kept repeating that they have only a preliminary legal report and don't have all the facts.

Meanwhile the public is waiting for answers

DRUGS MAJOR PROBLEM HERE

Big bust merely scratches surface

LANGLEY - A six month undercover operation by the RCMP Drug Section, which ended in January, has convinced police that there is a major drug problem in the area.

Although several people have been arrested and some have warrants out for their arrest, this is only a small 'dent' in the community's drug trafficking activities.

There are currently arrest warrants out for six area residents.

Edward James Agretto, 25, and Scott Bradley Blight, 29, both of Surrey are jointly charged with two counts of trafficking cocaine. A total of seven grams of cocaine were seized with a street value of $500.

Kenneth Todd Graber, 32, of Langley, is charged with four counts of trafficking cocaine. Ninety-two grams, worth $9,200 were seized.

Lisa Michelle Rowan, 24, of White Rock and Brian William Campbell of Langley are jointly charged with one count of trafficking cocaine. Two and a half grams of cocaine, worth $250, were seized.

Dennis Anthony Fridleifson, 25, of Vancouver, is charged with one count of trafficking heroin. One gram of heroin, worth $600, was seized.

At this time there are eight people before the courts facing drug related charges stemming from this police investigation.

Van Trai Nguyen is charged with two counts of trafficking cocaine. Seven grams, worth

A MESSAGE TO CANADA SAFEWAY CUSTOMERS

As you know, our stores are currently closed due to a labour dispute.

We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience this may cause.

For reasons we don't know, the Union insisted on going forward with their Strike Notice against Safeway in the Lower Mainland, even though we offered to remove our lock out notice if they removed their strike notice.

We believe our employees should have been able to work and our stores should have remained open while the voting is conducted.

Our final offer is a compromise that was a sincere effort to avoid a provincial shut down.

Key points of our final offer are:

- It calls for no concessions on wages or benefits to our current employees.
- We have proposed expanding our current employee buyout plan to any employee earning more than $10.00 per hour. This program is strictly voluntary. Employees who wish to stay are welcome to do so.
- We have proposed a new $8.00 per hour start rate for new hires only, like most of our competitors.

Our employees will be voting on this offer within the next two weeks.

We have the best employees in the business. These negotiations should not have resulted in a dispute with them. They didn't cause the problem that we all face, nor did we.

We appreciate your patience while we deal with this situation.

THANK YOU.

Dan Kilthau of Chevron Canada presented $500 to teacher Ayako Tanaka of Fraser Valley Japanese Language School in Bradner.
"This award recognizes the ongoing efforts of Fraser Valley Japanese Language School, a community based society, to encourage and promote inter-cultural understanding and communications through the study of Japanese language and culture," said Kilthau. A photocopy machine purchased with the award money can be seen in the photograph.
"We very much appreciate this support from Chevron Canada," said Tanaka. "I like teaching such enthusiastic students. We enjoy learning from each other."

Trial begins

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

SURREY - The man accused of being the Abbotsford Killer made a very brief court appearance on Tuesday morning to set some dates.

Thirty-one year-old Terry Driver, dressed in slacks and a baggy sweatshirt with a bear design, was in court for less than two minutes to schedule a pretrial conference for August 23 in Judge's Chambers. He does not have to appear.

His next appearance will be at the preliminary inquiry scheduled for September 24.

Driver is accused of sexually assaulting and killing Tanya Smith and brutally beating her friend Misty Cockerill, both 16, on October 14, 1995.

After the murder, the killer repeatedly phoned police, taunting them to catch him and threatening more victims. In February, Smith's tombstone was vandalized with threats, uprooted and dumped on a news cruiser outside a local radio station.

Deportation stay angers White

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

ABBOTSFORD - The Enforcement Department of Immigration Canada will be closely monitoring the court case involving Scottish immigrant Gary Scott Murray when it goes to trial in August, although there was no officer present at the June 3 hearing.

Randy White, MP Fraser Valley West, who is pushing for the deportation of criminal immigrants, was appalled to find out last November that a deportation order issued for Murray was stayed by an Immigration and Refugee Board adjudicator.

Lorenne Clark ruled that Murray's brutal beating of a young girl, in which he held her upside down with her head under water, was 'just a severe spanking.'

Murray, who is currently in custody on another matter for which he has had his parole suspended, is now facing charges in relation to the assault of an Abbotsford woman.

He is scheduled to be released from custody in about eight days, so at the hearing, Crown counsel asked the court clerk to read him the conditions of release.

The conditions include weekly reporting to his bail supervisor, getting treatment as previously ordered, abstaining from alcohol and other non-prescription drugs, and not going near the victim or her home.

White wrote a letter to immigration officials expressing his outrage about the situation, who replied back that they are aware of the proceedings against Murray, and would be 'monitoring the events.'

The letter from Rob Johnston, Manager of Citizenship and Immigration Canada Vancouver, stated that should Murray be convicted, the department would make an application to the IRB for a cancellation of the Stay of Removal Order, and an Order to dismiss Murray's appeal.

He indicated that since the Stay of Removal Order does not have conditions attached to it, such as keeping the peace, being of good behaviour, and abstaining from alcohol and illicit drugs, Murray cannot be found in violation of the Order no matter what he does.

The issue is very bureaucratic in nature, but White said that if Murray is convicted, he 'does not believe for one minute that the IRB would actually consider granting a second stay.'

He said Murray has made his last mistake in Canada, unless the system fails our society once more.

Toonie turns into $10,000

RICHMOND – Burger King cook Janice Granger recently served herself up a winning lottery ticket. The Aldergrove resident won $10,000 instantly while playing a Lucky 7s Bingo ticket.

"I had a loonie and a toonie in my pocket," said the 41-year-old. "I gave the loonie to my grandson for some candy, and I used the toonie to buy a ticket." The mother of two and grandmother of three was about to start dinner, when she began playing the ticket. "I thought I had won $25," said Granger. "Then I realized I had actually won $10,000! I never did get that dinner cooked."

Granger plans to use her windfall to "finish off the house." The lucky ticket was purchased from Paz Foods & Deli.

Candidates ready

LANGLEY – The annual general meeting of the Langley Memorial Hospital Society will be held on Tuesday, June 18, at Brookswood Secondary School, 20902–37A Avenue.

Meeting will convene at 4 pm and will recess immediately following announcement of the candidates to permit voting to take place until 8 pm. The regular agenda will commence at 8 pm.

As required by the Society Constitution & By-Laws, society members must renew their memberships 30 days prior to the annual general meeting to permit voting. Memberships must have been renewed by May 19, 1996.

Salmon stocks in deadly peril

Editor, The Star, Sir,

For many years there have been warnings of a looming crisis in the west coast salmon industry, both commercial and recreational. Now the crisis is here, and our politicians and bureaucrats are doing nothing effective about it.

Salmon populations, especially those of the highly prized chinook and coho, have crashed in the states of Washington and Oregon. We have seen Canada's magnificent east coast fishery destroyed, perhaps forever.

A similar disaster is happening here, and it will take the best combined efforts of all British Columbians to combat the factors that now threaten the very existence of our once splendid runs of salmon.

As deeply concerned citizens, we feel that the riches of our salt and fresh water bodies belong to all Canadians in perpetuity, not to any government agency, to any industry, or to any special group of citizens by decree. Therefore, the members of The Save Our Fish Foundation are pledged to protect and sustain this precious, common resource by demanding a fisheries code that is effective, realistic and geared to long-term recovery, not to short-term tinkering; a code that is based on the widest sharing, not on special interest profit.

We believe:

1. The control of British Columbian fisheries should be in the hands of British Columbians, not under control of the federal government in central Canada.

2. In order to help save the wild salmon stocks, the brutal herring fishery - in which herring, the vital food fish of the chinook and coho species, are stripped of their roe for the Japanese gourmet market and the herring carcasses relegated to pet food or landfill - must be stopped immediately.

3. Any method of harvesting fish, crustaceans or shellfish by dredging the sea bottom must be outlawed.

4. The commercial fishing fleet must be reduced in a way that cuts down its total killing capacity and prevents wholesale concentration of licences in the hands of individuals or companies.

5. Another salmonid, the magnificent steelhead, is also in danger of extinction and must be saved with all the care and determination the wild salmon stocks require.

Any consideration of a total closure of any fishery must be based on the principle of clear necessity for survival of the fish, not on a consideration of lost profit.

7. The 1994 Round Table on Environment and Economy warned that modern commercial fishing technology has created "the greatest killing machine ever invented," and that "there is no place for the fish to hide." We agree, and urge, that the use of the electronically enhanced seine net and gillnet vessels, which have the capacity to capture an entire salmon run in a few days, must be severely curtailed, and all trawling and dragging totally banned.

8. We believe that the federal Department of Fisheries is capable only of applying bandages to severely wounded fish stocks, when what is needed is a complete life support system.

9. First Nations representatives should review their reluctance to enter into emergency conservation agreements for fear of undermining their position in future treaty negotiations. Such fears are understandable, but major conservation steps must be taken now or there soon will be no salmon resource to consider.

10. Every possible effort must be made to convince Alaskans that their shortsighted greed in deliberately overfishing salmon bound for B.C. rivers will inevitably wipe out those fish, to everyone's loss.

SOFF comprises a highly diverse group of concerned B.C. citizens having no affiliation with any of the major organizations involved in the crisis. Our aim at this time is simply to point out to as many persons as possible that our salmon fishery is on the brink of destruction.

The late Roderick Haig-Brown, dean of Canadian fishing writers and a Pacific salmon expert, warned several decades ago that if we, as a people, could not find ways to preserve the splendor and magic of our salmon runs, we might not be capable of surviving ourselves.

For more information about SOFF, or to provide us with information about the salmon situation in your area, you may phone 604-272-5579, fax 604-271-0255, or write to Save Our Fish Foundation, P.O.Box 11161, Royal Centre, 1900-1055 West Georgia, Vancouver V6E 4J2. Meanwhile, if you share our concern over the impending destruction of B.C.'s salmon runs, write to the premier of this province and the prime minister of Canada, demanding action.

TONY EBERTS,
Aldergrove

Fine spirit

Editor, The Star, Sir,

I speak for a group of volunteers who run bi-monthly socials/dances for handicapped adults from September through May. These adults come from Abbotsford, Mission, Aldergrove, Langley and Surrey.

At our windup bowling banquet on May 21, approximately 120 clients and caregivers were present. We, the volunteers, would like to publicly acknowledge and thank Patricia Hall Community Association for their continued support. For over 20 years they have allowed our group to use the hall free of charge. Without their help our group could not function.

Further thanks go to our two bands, 29th Avenue and Danceable Duo, who have played for our socials during this season. Their understanding and patience is much appreciated by everyone.

Embracing the Internet

By CARL DEGURSE

MOOSE JAW – Canadians used to have a good excuse not to fret about the Net.

Until a few years ago, there was little public access to Internet sites, few places where curious first-timers could explore without making the commitment of thousands of dollars in computer equipment. Even if we were cyber-virgins who had never signed on, we didn't have to feel guilty about it.

But the recent explosion of Net access in libraries, coffee shops, campuses and workplaces has robbed us of our rationalization that we haven't tried the Net because the equipment costs too much.

If we still haven't taken advantage of the abundant free access, we must face the possibility that we are (gasp!) latent Luddites.

One of the symptoms of computerphobia is that we are irrationally bothered by Internauts (this month's trendy term for frequent Net users).

Computerphobics wish Internauts would stop babbling excitedly about web sites, home pages, hotlinks and E-mail because it makes everyone else feel that they must be missing something.

Computerphobics specialize in repeating malicious news about the Net.

They repeat second-hand horror stories about the Net's vastness and unmanageability, which has users diverted for hours down irrelevant cyber streets.

They've heard that information on the Net is unreliable because no one edits it. They whisper to each other that the Net's unbreakable anonymity is an ideal vehicle for wackos and perverts, like a recent contributor who extolled the joy of having sex with a three-year-old.

Computerphobics see the Net as a symbol of the technological revolution that is taking jobs, robbing us of human contact and making us read boring computer manuals to learn new ways of doing old things.

They think Unabomber suspect Ted Kaczynski had the right idea, he just went too far. They long for the days when the net was something that caught fish.

Deep in their Luddite-like souls, however, even computerphobics know by now that the Net is more than a fad. The Net is rapidly morphing Canada's traditional systems of communication and information.

Sure, the Net seems intimidatingly difficult at first. So was riding a bike. But once users find their balance, they will find the Net is interesting and relevant to their personal lives.

It's true there's much worthless information and smut on the Net, but there are also tools to avoid it. Search engines can help cut through the chaff. Screening devices can block porn.

It's not necessary to understand all about the Net before we make good use of it. New aspects of the Net are sprouting as fast and as randomly as mushrooms after a summer rain, and it's hard for anyone with an off-line life to keep up.

As with so much new technology, the key is to use the Net rather than become its servants. We're in charge. There's nothing wrong with ignoring most of the Net and using only services which make our lives easier or more interesting.

Examples: We can communicate with friends and business contact around the world instantly, bypassing the ponderous delay of snail mail. Cities and towns can promote themselves with home pages. Students can stay in their home towns and study with Ivy League professors. Anyone can join global group discussions on a stimulating variety of topics. Anyone can enter a red-hot cyber romance, perhaps the ultimate in safe sex.

In a country as huge as Canada, the Net can be a strand that unites the country, like the railway used to, like the CBC still does.

A fitting way of celebrating Canada Day on July 1 would be to sign on and meet a Net friend who lives in another province. Because the Net can help bring Canadians closer together, it's a friend.

(Carl DeGurse is Managing Editor of the Moose Jaw Times-Herald.)

We're just not seeing the light

Editor, The Star, Sir,

Well, we've done it again! The Langleys have allowed another election to go by without sending a member of the governing party to Victoria!

Is there some kind of virus in the Fraser Valley, that prevents the electorate from being part of the governing party, or are we to face the future only as part of the Opposition? I would have thought that, with the influx of new residents, we would have, at the least, been blessed with a substantial number of New Democrats, and therefore have improved our chances of being on the 'action side' of the government.

I do not hold out much hope for the Upper Valley ever seeing the light, but I did think the Langley constituencies might break with tradition this time.

Don't get me wrong; a loyal opposition is important in legislative debates, but a vibrant growing community such as the two Langley districts, should have at least one member on the policy-making side of the legislature! Better luck next time, neighbours!!

JOE CHESNEY,
Fort Langley-Aldergrove.

Letters invited

The Aldergrove Star invites letters to the editor on topics of interest to the community. The letters-to-the-editor column is a chance for comment on what has been said in the paper. It is our readers' opportunity to respond to what newsmakers of the area have been saying. We especially encourage readers to write on topics of local interest, although letters which enlighten or stimulate thought are welcome. We ask that letters be free of libel and bear the name and address of the author. Submissions must include a written signature. We prefer letters to be typed and double spaced, and present the comment as clearly and briefly as possible. The editor reserves the right to condense or reject letters containing libel or of poor taste.

A message to our valued customers and employees:

As most of you are aware, many of our stores are currently closed due to a labour dispute.

First, we wish to apologize to our customers for any inconvenience these closures have caused.

We would also like to clear up any confusion there may be on the issues surrounding this dispute.

Our number one priority is to be as competitive as possible, while still providing our employees with fair wages and benefits.

To that end, we feel it is important to emphasize several key facts:

- Our final offer calls for no changes to our existing collective agreement with our current employees, including wages and benefits.
- We have proposed expanding our current employee buyout plan to any employee earning more than $10.00 an hour. This program is strictly voluntary. Employees who wish to stay are welcome to do so. The hours worked by employees who opt for the buyout will create employment opportunities for trainees.
- We have proposed a new $8.00 per hour start rate for new hires only, like most of our competitors.

Our employees will be voting on this offer within the next two weeks. In the meantime, we feel they should be allowed to continue to work and earn a living for their families. This can be accomplished easily. The union simply has to postpone their strike notice at Canada Safeway until the results of the vote are known and both companies will postpone their lockout notice enabling our stores to re-open as quickly as possible.

I will keep you posted on developments as they happen. Our goals are simple and unchanging. Great value for our customers. And a fair deal for our employees.

Bandshell now open

ALDERGROVE - The Kinsmen Bandshell will be officially dedicated this Saturday afternoon at Heritage Park, marking the latest phase in the development of a former patch of mud and weeds into a beautiful public area. The park, on the south side of 32 Avenue between 271 and 272 Streets, is owned by the township of Langley, but the improvements have all been donated by community organizations and local businesses.

The bandshell ceremonies will be on Saturday at 1 p.m., and will feature a performance by Aldergrove Secondary's band. It will also be used by local performers on Sunday from noon to 4 p.m. for the Festival Days Family Picnic.

Kinsmen Mike Muise and Dave Deyette were busy over the past weekend, doing last-minute landscaping on the site, after Mike O'Krane had completed the construction work. Muise called it "Aldergrove's very own Malkin Bowl" and expressed the hope that it would be a popular venue for local performers and other events. There is full electrical service installed for amplifiers and lighting, and Muise said arrangements would be made for public access to the locked powerbox, possibly through the neighbouring office of the Alder Grove Heritage Society.

Numerous people, from the very young to senior citizens, have already been asking about booking time at the bandshell. The amphitheatre is capable of seating at least 200 people. The scheduling considerations will be worked out, and The Star will publish details and names of contact persons, when they're available.

The park now has the historic FJ Hart/BC Tel heritage house, operated by the AGHS, and this will be dedicated as the Alder Grove Telephone Museum on June 22 at 1 p.m. The gazebo, built by Aldergrove Secondary construction students, was funded by Aldergrove Kinettes, and the improvements to the adjacent Bertrand Creek were spearheaded by local Enhancement Committee volunteers, who received word this week that they have won a provincial environment ministry award. The landscaping and other improvements, such as the soon to be installed lighting fixtures, were donated by Aldergrove Kinsmen.

It was not many years ago, that the parkland was unsightly and the fish-bearing creek was filled with garbage. It's a credit to the community that so many people have pooled their resources to cause such a dramatic turnaround, and create a greenspace that residents enjoy walking through and sitting in. The fish appreciate it, too.

Many events during festival celebrations

ALDERGROVE – The Secondary Concert and Jazz Bands will be playing at the Kinsmen Center in Aldergrove, Friday, June 7, 7 to 8:30 pm for Aldergrove Festival Days. Come out and enjoy some great music before the fireworks. Ice cream and popcorn will be sold by the music students from 7 to 10 pm.

Bingo Bonanza in Aldergrove Center Mall, Sat., June 8, 12 to 4 pm, is sponsored by the Aldergrove Secondary Music Society. The concert and Jazz Choirs will also perform that evening at Aldergrove United Church as part of the Opera in the Country show, featuring Tamara Hummel.

You can also see the Aldergrove Secondary Music Society, Sun., June 8, from 12 to 4 pm for your ice cream and popcorn treats at the Aldergrove Festival Days Family Picnic, in the new band shell on the corner of 272 Street and 32 Avenue.

Among its achievements this year, Aldergrove Secondary students won more awards than any other school at the prestigious Rocky Mountain Festival, an annual national-level festival in Banff in April. Altogether, four of our students won five scholarships worth almost $4,500. Congratulations to Christy Ashton, Jane Dean, Tiffany Martin, and Tyler Summers.

Three vehicle crash claims woman's life

SURREY - A three-vehicle accident that occurred around 10:40 a.m., June 4, at the intersection of Highway 10 and 192 Street has claimed the life of a 68 year old Langley woman and sent two other people to hospital with undetermined injuries.

Amalia McInnes was passenger in a car westbound on Highway 10, driven by husband, Ian McInnes, 75. He was turning south onto 192 Street when it collided with a pickup travelling east on Highway 10.

The force of impact pushed the McInnes' vehicle into a Surrey School District truck that was stopped at the intersection, and its driver and passenger were not injured. The pickup driver, 47 year old James Brown of Surrey, was taken to Langley Memorial with non life threatening injuries. Mrs. McInnes was transported to LMH, where she later died. Mr. McInnes was treated at LMH and released.

The highway was closed for almost four hours while the scene was measured and photographed by investigators from Surrey RCMP, who are requesting that any witnesses contact Cst. Dale Head at 599-7606. The accident is still under investigation.

Fire and safety fair

ALDERGROVE – The Fire Department is getting involved in the Aldergrove Festival Days celebration, and firefighters are planning a huge display in the parking lot of the Aldergrove Mall. There will be many different kinds of fire trucks, and displays by the RCMP, Search & Rescue, B.C. Forestry, St. John's Ambulance, Aberdeen Fire Hall, and the B.C. Ambulance Service.

There will be lots of fun things to do, like watching the auto extrication demonstrations, play in the foam house, target shoot with a fire hose, join in the bicycle rodeo, and visit with Sparky the Fire Dog.

The Safety Fair will be on Saturday, June 8, from 12 noon - 4 pm. Come out and enjoy yourself at this free event.

ASK ANNABELLE

My Dear Annabelle,

Doubtless you noticed that my Free Ale Party (FAP) was not included on the ballots of the recent provincial general election, due to an unfortunate technicality. It was my understanding that May 28 was the deadline for fielding candidates, not the voting day, so my stalwarts missed the troopship, as it were. Alas, I was doubly unready, for when it came to financing my campaign, I discovered that my bar bill at my club far exceeded my supply of ready cash.

Even when I managed to produce a campaign poster, I came under heavy fire from a variety of hostile forces. Three pitbulls, two vicars, a platoon of angry matrons and two Liquor Control Board representatives attacked without warning, and I had no option but to throw down my Free Ale sign and make a rapid, strategic retreat to the Fox and Hounds.

The public is the poorer for my lack of participation, however, for I can make hollow promises and threatening telephone calls and parley in smoke-filled back rooms as well as the next individual. I feel that I might have had the balance of power in my hands, if only I had been allowed onto the jolly old jousting field, what?

Meanwhile, I have devised a way in which all our governments can quickly eliminate debts:

Since MPs and MLAs almost always ignore the wishes of the people in order to vote exactly as their leaders order them, why on earth do we need so many of them? No provincial parliament needs more than a dozen of these drones, and 25 should be enough for Ottawa. Then we sell all our parliament buildings to WalMart, arrange for legislative sessions to be held in tents pitched in convenient parks, turn the Senate into a mushroom manure composting plant - and our troubles are over!

Your obedient servant, Brig. Gen. Hugo (Huge) Wallop, Ret.

Dear Huge,

You really have to be more liberal with your time, (no pun intended) and your beer. Have you thought about setting up a roadside stand? But that would probably get you into more trouble. Stick to the Fox and Hounds for the next four years.

Dear Annabelle,

We have a woman in our office who is into everyone's business. When one of us buys something on our lunch hour, she is over at our desk asking where we bought the item and how much we paid for it. She is originally from Australia, and with her accent it sounds like she is saying "Emma Chizzit". Loosely translated we have come to understand she is saying "How much is it?'

As a joke several weeks ago we started calling her Emma Chizzit. I know that is a rather nasty thing to do and we never thought it would backfire on us. Last week we hired a new receptionist and to our horror a call came in for the nosy one and the receptionist said to the person on the phone, "I'll transfer you to Emma Chizzit's department." Needless to say this caused quite a ruckus and several of us were called in to the manager's office. We, of course, had to apologize to "Emma". Now we are all on our best behaviour, and some of us are even telling "Emma" how much we pay for things.

Signed: Reformed.

Dear Reformed,

While it is bad manners to keep asking what things cost, you should have handled "Emma" in a different way. Simply saying you didn't want to divulge how much it was, may have been a good way to nip her questions in the bud. Yours is an amusing story though and hopefully will make other nosy parkers take notice. If it happens again make sure you inform any new employees of a change of name. It could save you a lot of embarrassment.

This is the sort of English up with which I will not put. -Winston Churchill

Aldergrove Trailer Park resident Ken Ryan is lucky to be alive, after a natural gas explosion blew apart his home and sent him to Vancouver General's burn unit last week. Neighbouring trailer owners kept the fire from spreading by running hose water on the sides of their homes until fire trucks arrived and extinguished the blaze, shortly after 2 a.m. on May 25. Flames lit up the night sky for miles around, and the intense heat caused some damage to neighbours' homes. Fire investigators examined the site over several hours after daylight.

Explosion at trailer court

ALDERGROVE - Police, the fire department and the B.C. Gas Company are investigating an explosion and fire that happened just before 2 a.m, Friday, May 31, at the Aldergrove Trailer Court on Fraser Highway. One mobile home was completely destroyed and two others damaged.

The lone occupant, 47 year-old Kenneth Ryan, was found outside with burns to 40% of his body. He was transported to the burn unit at Vancouver General Hospital for treatment. It is not known how he got outside.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined, but area residents reported smelling gas prior to the event.

Bound for adventure in summer reading club

ALDERGROVE – Book some time at any branch of the Fraser Valley Regional Library during the 1996 Bound for Adventure Summer Reading Club. Join the program as soon as school is finished, and check out some adventurous reading! Club members will receive a reading record, bookmark and stickers. It's all absolutely free!

The colourful artwork for this year's program was developed by Victoria artist Ken Campbell. The main logo for the club is a flying ship which is Bound for Adventure anywhere that children's imaginations will take them.

Summer reading clubs are fun and educational. The club is a program for school-aged children which encourages them to set their own reading goals and do their personal best. Good reading habits benefit children in the classroom and summer reading clubs maintain reading levels during the summer holiday break.

Many special activities are planned for the reading club including magic shows, pirate programs, contests and other activities.

Bound for Adventure is sponsored by the British Columbia Library Association and the Fraser Valley Regional Library, with support from the Library Services Branch, Ministry of Municipal Affairs. For more information, contact your local library branch.

Varied program offers classics, favorites

couver Academy of Music's workshop production of Mozart's Magic Flute this summer at the Waterfront Theatre.

However, now that organizers have proven a local interest in fine music, they are hoping to bring Hummel and other quality performers to this community on an ongoing basis. While Saturday's show is free of charge, in order that organizers can determine the audience's reaction to the acoustics and other qualities of the venue, the Aldergrove United Church sanctuary, future shows will not necessarily be free. In order to pay performers and the various suppliers of goods and services, and to attract the very best available, organizers have to determine the limitations as well as the possibilities of this community.

Thanks to the generous support given by the performers, volunteers and the United Church, the show will only cost The Star a few hundred dollars, but will provide experience and information worth much more than that. This research will be shared with others in the community, which will help all to draw up budgets and logistical planning for future shows.

As for this Saturday, the audience is asked to carpool as much as possible, so that the church parking lot is used efficiently. There will be volunteers helping direct the traffic inside the lot.

There are no reserved seats, aside from the area for wheelchairs and for those using walkers. The audience is asked to heed the direction of ushers, who will work to ensure that everyone has the best seat possible and that all are comfortable. Please arrive as early as possible, as late arrivals will be seated only during breaks, and the seating capacity is at its limit, so try to understand.

The program begins at 7:30 p.m., with the Aldergrove Secondary Concert Choir in three selections, followed by two from the Senior Jazz Band and then three from the Senior Jazz Choir. These ensembles have been "powerhouses" at provincial competitions and are primed for this show, so expect the best.

After a brief intermission, Hummel and pianist Silvia Fraser will be front and centre in an exciting program of six selections that will show the range of musical styles they are capable of. The first three selections will showcase Hummel's abilities with Italian and French songs from Cesti, Handel and Canteloube. This is followed by several songs in English and in medley form, by Quilter, Rodgers & Hammerstein and Floyd. These includes favourites from The Sound of Music, which are not only popular standards, but also a tribute to Austria, as Hummel is very much looking forward to her upcoming studies in Vienna.

At Hummel's request, there will be a social reception in the church after the show, and everyone will have the opportunity to meet and chat with the performers and their neighbours. The School Music Society and United Church Women will serve light refreshments, and the audience is asked to donate generously for the coffees, teas and cakes that will be provided.

The Star and Bob Long of University Printers are providing the program that will be given out. The Star is also providing several door prizes that will be awarded, from a draw of the numbered ticket stubs, so hang onto these. The audience is asked to kindly fill out the questionnaires that will be circulated, so that your input is taken into consideration for future shows.

For the comfort of all, photographs are not permitted during the performance, but the set will be left standing for those who wish to pose for photos after the show. Kurt Langmann will act as master of ceremonies, and church board chair Joyce Douglas will give a welcoming address.

Come out on Saturday and celebrate our community!

Opera in the country

ALDERGROVE - Excitement is building for this Saturday evening's Opera in the Country gala at the United Church sanctuary -- and organizer Kurt Langmann is starting to have an attack of nerves.

"Everyone is talking about it, looking forward to it, and I know it's going to be great," said Langmann, "but I think I'm going to collapse in a corner when it's done. I'm sure everyone's expectations will be fulfilled, but I'm going to notice every little glitch and those little things drive me crazy, even if no one else notices them.

"I want to help develop a network of artists and audiences, who will help cultivate a vibrant scene. Certainly, we'll all continue to trek into Vancouver for the Show Boats, Three Tenors and Miss Saigons, or whatever, and we can't hope to stage something on that level in Aldergrove -- but we can aim high if we work together.

"Think about it. There are so many possibilities available, in a variety of musical and theatrical styles. Together, we can do it," said Langmann.

Star returns triumphantly

VANCOUVER – Ian Alkenhead, president of the Pacific National Exhibition, announced that after a 17 year absence the PNE is bringing back the popular 17 day Star Spectacular entertainment series. This much loved Vancouver entertainment tradition will be a major part of the 1996 PNE "Party Zone" fair theme.

The stars will definitely be out this summer at the Pacific Coliseum as the 17-day Star Spectacular concert series features a continuous stream of some of the hottest names in entertainment. From rock-n-roll to sports to comedy to Chinese Canton-pop music, the starstudded line-up promises something for everyone at an affordable price.

Advance purchase of Star Spectacular tickets includes admission into the PNE Fair - a savings of $9.50 for adults, $6 for youths aged 13-18, and $4 for seniors. Children under 12 are always free at the PNE Fair. Only tickets bought in advance include complimentary admission to the PNE Fair.

Ticket prices range from $12.50 to $20 for the following shows, with more to be announced as confirmed.

Sunday, August 18, Collin Raye with Paul Brandt and special guest.

Thursday, August 22, Bob Newhart at Coliseum Theatre Stage.

Monday, August 26, Little Richard & Jerry Lee Lewis.

Tuesday, August 27, Crash Test Dummies with special guests.

Wednesday, August 28, Mega Stars from Hong Kong starring Kelly Chen with Daniel Chan & Edmund Lung.

Thursday, August 29, Coolio with Groove Theory.

Friday, August 30, Tom Jones.

Saturday, August 31, Sex Pistols with Gravity Kills & Goldfinger.

Sunday, September 1, Steve Miller Band with Pat Benatar.

Monday, September 2, Bill Cosby.

Tickets are available at all Ticketmaster outlets or charge by phone at 280-4444.

Youth violence topic of project

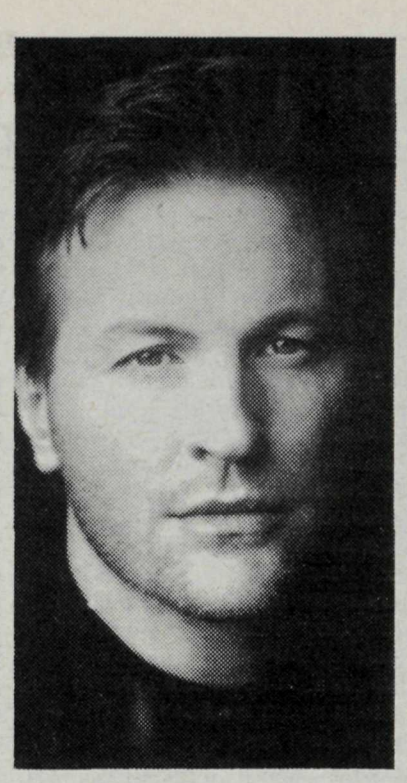
SURREY – On Saturday, July 6, the Temperament Project is sponsoring a conference on Early Intervention for the Prevention of Youth Violence in cooperation with several community agencies. The conference features highly-qualified speakers from a broad range of backgrounds, includes a keynote address on the scope of youth violence and its causes and treatments, and offers workshops on the childhood histories of assaultive adults, aggression in preschoolers, parenting for prevention of disruptive behaviour, parenting skills for strengthening child-parent bonds, the effects of television on behaviour, attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder and aggression, and working with high-risk families. The fee for the full day is $50 (half-day rates are $30) and registration continues now through June 21. For more information, or to receive a conference flyer, call the Temperament Project Conference line at 584-4357.

Myths about drug use and serious abuse

LANGLEY – The next general meeting of the Langley Partners will be held on Thursday June 6, from 7 to 9 pm at the Elks Lodge, 22594 Old Yale Road.

Presentations will be made by Corporal Larry Atkinson of the R.C.M.P. Provincial Drug Awareness section, speaking on the trends of drug use and popular myths. The schoolbased prevention workers for Langley will also be making a presentation.

This evening will be an opportunity for people to learn more about the prevention of alcohol and drug abuse, what our community is doing and how to get involved. The Langley Partners are a coalition of community organizations, business, schools and concerned citizens focusing on the prevention of alcohol and drug abuse through community action. For further information, contact Michele at 856-8383.



Don't lie to me!

Collin Raye, one of the headliners at the Merritt Mountain Music Festival, says he can only sing songs he believes in. The Texas-based, multi-platinum seller says, "Peoples voices change when they lie. I know mine does – and that's what makes it so important for me to have songs I really believe in. When you're an artist, you have to live with the songs every day. You have to sing 'em, talk about 'em years from now. You have to know that I'll never have to like or sing something I don't believe in. I think the people who love my songs deserve better."

Village fair at old fort

FORT LANGLEY – Community Improvement Society will present the Village Fair at the Fort Langley Community Hall on Sunday, June 16, at 9167 Glover Road.

Spokesman Adam Lossing said, "The success of the first three fairs allows us to bring to the village another arts and crafts sale. Local artists and artisans will display their creations to add an original flair to your gift giving and art collecting that is close to home: pottery, original artists prints, silver jewelry, stained glass, photography, sculpture, paintings, hand painted silks, bead jewelry, candles, preserves, aroma therapy, on-location portraits, dried flowers and much, much more.".

There will be an open mike available for all musicians, singers and the like, to try out the fabulous new sound system. For information contact Adam Lossing at 888-8391.

Living with cancer

LANGLEY – Living with Cancer support group meets first and third Tuesday of the month, 7 pm at Canadian Cancer Society district office, #108–20218 Fraser Hwy. Manage cancer with survivors. For information, call 533,1668.

Skyline on stage

By MADELINE ROACH

ALDERGROVE – This week the Legion has Nashville Skyline on stage on Thursday from 8 to 12. Ed Peekeekoot will be on stage Friday and Saturday from 9 to 1, and Sunday from 4:30 to 8:30.

Since this is Festival Days weekend, our L.A. Smorg has been put back a week. They will host their smorgasbord on Friday, June 14 at 5:30 in the hall. On the menu is roast beef, potatoes, veggies, salads, and all the trimmings. The branch smorgasbord will be on June 21.

This Sunday is our golf tournament and we hope all the golfers have great weather for their event. Remember that we hold bingo in the hall every Tuesday night with the doors opening at 5:30 and the games starting at 6:30. All events in the hall are open to the public.

Learn to swim for free

LANGLEY – In British Columbia, we are surrounded by a multitude of lakes, rivers, oceans and other natural and man made bodies of water. According to the 1995 Drowning Summary, British Columbia has the third highest number of drownings nationally. In 1993, there were 127 water-related fatalities. Because of this, the Canadian Red Cross and BCTV proposed, in 1994, a swim project that would remove barriers, such as financial situations and transportation and allow for access to Water Safety Learn to Swim programs. In 1994, W.C. Blair was chosen as a pilot site for this project.

Because of its great success, BCTV and the Red Cross, with additional support from Realty World, continued the project in 1995. The initial purpose was to expose non-swimming children to the beginner level (yellow) only. In the Township of Langley, understanding that there is more Water Safety than just the ability to swim, organizers saw a need to include access to all levels of the program.

For the past two summers, they targeted specifically the residence of Kinsman Park Place in Aldergrove. Because of its growing success, in 1996, they would like to continue the program and expand it to allow for more participants from other areas of the community. In order to do this, they will be looking for community sponsorship, modelling the initiative after the Squamish Parks and Recreation Department, who had great success and support for a similar project last year.

The initiative will include water safety, swim lessons, public swim for the participants and their families, and an end-of-session celebration for the families and community sponsors. Sponsors may support one individual or an entire group. The goals is to raise $2,520 to support 60 children in swimming lessons this summer. If they receive more money than their goal, they will target other groups of the community to provide for them with this service. Also depending upon its success, they may also expand the program to include access to recreation and aquatic programs in the fall. Donations received are tax deductible and receipts will be issued.

This program has been successful for the past two years thanks to community sponsors, Aldergrove Community Centre (1994/95), Surrey Bus Service Ltd. (1994), and Green Acres (1995). These organizations are an example of how support can benefit a community.

The 1996 sponsorship drive will continue through July 2. A team of volunteers will be visiting local businesses to solicit support. If you have any questions, comments or if you wish to contribute or volunteer, call Lesley Visser 882-0408 loc. 301, or if you are interested in finding out more information about the swimming lessons and/or access to the swimming lessons, call Cheryl Wiebe 533-6176.

At the Woodshed

ABBOTSFORD – The Valley Women's Network will meet June 18 at the Woodshed Restaurant, 2752 Allwood Ave., from 11:45 am to 1 pm. This is the last meeting of the year and will be the annual general meeting. For reservations, call Connie Friesen at 852-2663 or Julie Edwards at 853-6668.

Missing monitors draw fine

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

ABBOTSFORD - The Answer Garden Products has pleaded guilty to permit violations regarding well-water monitors which were not set up before effluent was discharged from the plant.

The company, which composts garden waste into a usable product, was fined $10,000 at a court appearance last week. Three other charges were stayed.

The case goes back to late January 1995, at which time it was noted by Linda Vanderhoek, a provincial conservation officer, that effluent was being discharged into the environment without well water monitors in place.

There was some concern that liquid from the decaying matter can seep through surrounding ground water into Pepin Creek, if not carefully monitored. Pepin Creek, an environmentally sensitive fish bearing stream, flows through Aldergrove Lake Park into Washington State where it enters the Nooksack River.

Crown counsel told the judge that the company is the environmental business and should be considered part of the solution, not the problem, but added the fine should send a strong message to other companies that permits should be strictly adhered to.

The Lawyer for the company outlined communication problems between the Ministry of Environment, The Answer Garden Products, and the company hired to build and install the wells.

He also cited winter rain and Christmas as factors that delayed the installation of the wells, which were supposed to have been in place by October 1994.

He said there was no criminal intent by the company, and the well monitors were installed as quickly as possible after the company was notified of the discharge.

The Judge agreed saying the mistake seems innocent rather than wilful, and the company is diligently trying to make amends.

Traffic getting steadily worse, and not better

By ERNIE CLUETT

ALDERGROVE – The May meeting of the Aldergrove Seniors Network was held in the Community Centre at 26770–29 Avenue on May 27 at 1:30 pm. As there was no business to discuss, the meting was of short duration.

The next meeting is scheduled for June 24. It will be preceded by a pot luck lunch at noon, the meeting will be the usual time at 1:30 pm. There are still tickets available for the Miss Saigon show at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, June 23. Show starts at 2:30 pm. Pick up at the centre is at 11 am.

At the June meeting a full slate of bus trips should be available, extending into the fall season. As the June meeting is also the election of officers to run the organization, nominations are now being sought of members to stand for office.

The garden party at Select Roses still has a few seats available. Tea and refreshments are included. There is no charge, and you are not asked to buy. Meet at the centre and wear name tag. Bus leaves at 12:45 pm. Brad Jalbert and his efficient staff will be glad to answer any questions you may wish to ask.

So there has been another accident at the 264th and highway corner, involving a car turning south to the USA border crossing. It is very evident that Bill Jackson's efforts on the Aldergrove seniors behalf, with a petition to install a left lane signal at this busy corner, has landed up in someone's waste paper basket. To a great many drivers a yellow light is a signal to speed up to beat the red light that they know is bound to follow.

In Aldergrove itself, traffic gets progressively worse week by week. A bypass suggestion is greeted by howls of anguish even before a route is even discussed. Perhaps that is why the highway in the downtown core still resembles a one horse town at the turn of the century. With industry building at 264th and the highway, and again at the Mt. Lehman interchange, and the expressed wish of the residents not to get any larger, Aldergrove can be left surrounded by its horse farms for another fifty years or so. The traffic will find its own way around the obstacles in the towns center with the accompanying breakup of residential streets with its usual dust and fumes, with much screaming from the residents whose apathy caused it all in the first place.

Elections come and elections go

By MAUDIE MacPHERSON

ALDERGROVE – Since writing my last column the election has come and gone, and I think people are quite relieved.

Last week was a busy time with hosting the Choral Festival. Compliments were flying; the three choirs performed well, and the Alder Angels, a choir made up of children, received a standing ovation.

Lunch was served at the OAP hall for the choir members following the performance at the United Church, and again we were rewarded with many compliments.

The last bowling day of the season was Thursday of last week. There were two carpets with sixteen players. It was a good afternoon.

On Friday, June 7, the last general meeting of the OAP for this season will be held, and the main subject will be the Festival Days, and our effort as a good will gesture is the Strawberry Tea held in the hall on Sat., June 8, beginning sometime after eleven and carrying on until 2:30 or 3 pm.

Other items to be discussed will be the convention which is held in Abbotsford this year and the OAP picnic at Williams Park July 14. (Please note there was a mistake in last week).

Bridge news for last week was as follows. Barbara Hann came first with a score of 7110, Art Charnall was second with 6230, Ken Lowdermilk third with 6030, Ann Audette had 5710, Bill Smith 5380, and Gladys Peterson was sixth a score of 5070. The draw went to Ralph Peterson.

On Wednesday, May 29, forty five attended the dance, a good crowd for midweek. The Spot dance went to Dick Lockhart and Violet Kapin. 50-50 winners were Mary Sanderson, Cliff Anderson and Yvette Rivard.

It was a poorly attended dance on Saturday of last week - only 52. I think there was a Jamboree that took some of the crowd that usually attends. The first Spot went to Wilmer and Emma Sanders, and the second Spot was won by Ken Anderson and Georgina Onstine. 50-50 winners were Edna Dowdle, Gordon Healey and Myrtle Arson. Door prizes were won by Belinda and Mary. Mary Barclay was a visitor at the dance. A card was signed and sent to Mabel Tour who is in the hospital.

So often you hear people speak of the baby boomers as the self-centred "me" generation, but I have to tell you, on Saturday night I had occasion to sit with a group who are in that age bracket, and they were the nicest, most mannerly, considerate group you would ever wish for and made our evening a delight. It has been said that parents, who went through the depression years and then the second World War, were so anxious to make sure their children didn't suffer the deprivation they had endured, that they spoiled them by being far too generous, but these couples of whom I speak didn't portray such a picture.

It was a great wedding and I wish the couple all the happiness they deserve.

Bridge as well as the dances carry on all summer a usual, but most of the other activities take a break.

Lots of holidaying goes on among the seniors, even though they have two holidays a year each lasting six months.

Be sure and be around for Sunday, July 14 for the annual OAP picnic at Williams Park. Must be all the news among the senior circle.

Middle age is a state of mind, it's when your comb has more teeth than you do - and more hair.

Big brothers and sisters move on to new heights

LANGLEY – Big Brothers and Sisters of Langley will be raising the profile of the agency to new heights on June 15. On the morning of that day, president Tim Lounsbury will be raised up on a 32' high platform and will camp up there for over 24 hours. The event is intended to draw attention to the need for more volunteers to become Big Brothers or Big Sisters.

The agency program matches adult volunteers with children from primarily single parent homes. The benefits provided by the program to children include improved self-esteem, better relations with adults and peers and increased academic achievement. At present there are over 60 children on the waiting list for matches. Many of those on the list are faced with a wait of several years before they are matched. Sadly it is possible that some may never have their own "Big". The greatest need at this time is for male volunteers.

The event will be taking place at the south parking lot of the Willowbrook Shopping Centre. Applications to become Big Brothers or Sisters will be taken throughout the event by supporting volunteers on the ground.

The good-natured Lounsbury has not set a particular number of applications he would like to see made. However, Lounsbury, the manager of a local credit union has said, "We know that right now the public is weary of political platforms, but ours is different. We expect our platform will create a greater rate of interest as well as an improved bottom line in volunteer involvement."

1996 SPRINKLING REGULATIONS

Effective June 1, 1996, until September 30, 1996 sprinkling of lawns at times other than those listed below is prohibited. These measures are being taken in co-operation with all GVRD communities to conserve our water resource so adequate amounts are available to all. Please use water responsibility.

1. WHEN YOU MAY SPRINKLE YOUR LAWN

DAYS — EVEN numbered premises on Saturdays and Wednesdays

ODD numbered premises on Sundays and Thursdays

TIME — 4:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. on permitted days
7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. on permitted days

2. Newly turfed or seeded lawns may be irrigated more frequently, provided a written permit stipulating conditions is first obtained from the Engineering Department. The permit fee will be $30 for each location and shall cover a period of 21 days. A maximum fee of $150 shall apply for multi-famly developments.
3. Watering of flowers, shrubs and vegetable gardens is not effected by the regulations at this stage.
4. Car washing using a hose equipped with spring loaded shut-off device is permitted.

Failure to comply with these requirements shall constitute an infraction of Langley Waterworks Regulation Bylaw No. 3261 and may render penalties as provided. Such action includes, but is not limited to a fine of seventy-five ($75) dollars.

The above regulations are to remain in effect until further notice. Your co-operation will help save water and reduce the risk of more severe restrictions. Remember, your lawn only needs about 1 inch of water (about 1 hour of sprinkling) per week to stay healthy.

If you require any further information please contact the Engineering Department at 533-6006.

JACKMAN LANDFILL RECLAMATION TRUCKING ACTIVITY

Starting June 10th there will be a slight increase in truck activity in the vicinity of 8th Avenue and 272nd Street. The increased traffic relates to the hauling of landscaping materials for the Jackman Landfill. A mixture of sand, biosolids and paper fibres will be used to cover the landfill and provide a base for plant growth. The trucks will operate for a limited period, and trucking contractors will exercise suitable caution at all times.

The reclamation project is co-sponsored by the Greater Vancouver Regional District and the Township of Langley.

Extra trucking will occur

Questions and answers

My monthly income is based on interest income from my Term Deposits and a Canadian Bond. Tax on this interest income is something I am always trying to avoid. How can I beat it?

Your personal aversion to risk is crucial to your strategy. If you insist on remaining with 100% Guaranteed Government investment products, then your options are limited. However, it is to your advantage to access investment vehicles that pay dividends, such as preferred or common shares. Dividend income and capital gains from these products are treated quite differently by Revenue Canada, which will lower your taxes. The disadvantage to this is the need to manage the risk associated with investments that are not government guaranteed. Whenever there is a reward such as a tax benefit there most surely is a risk involved.

I would like to defer my income tax. Are there any investment products that help me to defer my taxes?

Some Mutual Funds utilize a "buy and hold" strategy. This means that the companies that funds purchase shares of, are held for a long period of time. This otherwise defers the capital gains created in the fund when shares are bought and sold on a regular basis. The only way capital gains are triggered are when the companies are bought and sold. Many mutual funds are very aggressive, meaning they are consistently buying and selling within the fund. If the mutual fund is held outside your RRSP and there is a capital gain realized, it becomes part of your taxable income. You can avoid this income by buying mutual funds that utilize the buy and hold strategy. Additionally, you could also buy individual companies yourself and hold onto them for the long-term.

Our house in Abbotsford is now finally paid off after twenty five years of payments. The other day my wife thought it would be a good idea to take out another mortgage, in order to invest. Is this wise?

You must very seriously think this one through before getting another mortgage. Despite the favourable rates available these days, it is quite harrowing to ensure that committing yourself to years of more payments will pay off financial dividends in the long run.

If you are serious about this, it is necessary to invest in products such as mutual funds and individual stocks. These are the only products that will provide you with the potential for returns that are significantly above your new mortgage rate. Of course, with these products come some risk. Once you have assessed your situation clearly, this strategy can indeed work well over the long term, given the current low mortgage rates, but remember, there is risk involved!

Congregation prepares picnic

By ELAINE DANVERS

ALDERGROVE – A reminder to the Aldergrove United Church congregation, that there will be no service at the church on Sunday, June 9. It will be held, along with our annual picnic, at the Aldergrove Lake Park, 272 St. and 8 Ave. at 10:30 am. Bring something for the pot luck lunch and your own plates, utensils, chairs or blankets.

We will be at the Blacktail Picnic Shelter, which is under-cover. We suggest you bring your own thermos of a hot beverage, if you so desire. Cold drinks and ice cream will be provided. Games and races; fun for the whole family. The youth group will be putting on a short skit and the Alder Angels will be singing.

Our picnic will be followed by the Fraser Presbytery Picnic at the same site. You are welcome to stay on and meet our representatives of our Presbytery. Join in the fun and plan on making a day of it.

If you have tickets to the Opera in the Country concert, starring Tamara Lynn Hummel, it's on Sat., June 8 at the Aldergrove United Church at 7:30 pm. We are very happy to be hosting this event, along with the Aldergrove Star and the Music Dept. of the Aldergrove Community Secondary School.

Christians make comeback here

By ART MARTENS

ALDERGROVE – After almost going under due to lack of leadership in recent months, Aldergrove Christian Assembly is being re-launched this Sunday with the installation of a new pastor.

Dale Baldwin is a grass roots type of man who doesn't care much if people don't address him as pastor. Tending to be fairly informal in style, he just wants to do his part in making ACA a vibrant church community where anyone can come and feel welcome.

"I believe the church needs to be an integral part of the fabric of the community," Dale says. "We want people to feel they are significantly connected and that they belong."

Baldwin received his theological training at Western Pentecostal Bible College in Abbotsford. He subsequently worked some 8 years at the Overwaitea Foods distribution centre and in his spare time helped with the young adults program at Christian Life Assembly. In 1990, he joined the staff there.

Now the more developed Langley church is making him available to Aldergrove.

Baldwin rather likes the idea of being located in the former liquor store. "Some of our people have told me they used to come here to buy their liquor," he says with a smile. "Now they're coming to find hope and a sense of fulfilment."

He notes that Jesus in his day walked along the path of life very intimately with the people of his time. He was interested in their hopes and aspirations. And he wanted to bring healing to their frustrations and fears. "We would very much like to follow in his footsteps," he says.

Located in the heart of Aldergrove at 3117–127 St. directly across from the Town Centre Mall, Baldwin considers the church to be strategically situated to have an impact.

Installation of the new pastor will take place this Sunday at 10:30 am. Dale and his wife Sandy invite everyone to come for coffee and a muffin, enjoy the music, and get acquainted.

Pools dry up

LANGLEY – The Fraser Valley Region of Scouts Canada needs your help. It is looking for swimming pools for their summer Wolf Cub Camp being held at Camp McLean, from July 21 to August 17.

The pools are required for Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 10–11, 11–12 am, 2–3 and 3:30–4:30 pm. Only 16 youths will visit at a time, accompanied by summer camp staff and lifeguards.

If residents are able to help by providing one or all of the needed facility dates, call Ken Vallevand at 581-5777.

Share love of leisure

LANGLEY – Are you looking for experience in the field of recreation or therapeutic recreation? This summer there are opportunities to volunteer for the special needs area of Langley Township Parks and Recreation.

All of the volunteer opportunities involve assisting children, teens or adults to participate in the summer recreation activity of their choice. Volunteers also help out in various summer day camp settings and are a great asset to our summer staff team.

As a volunteer you will gain invaluable work experience, meet new friends and assist a child who has a disability in feeling part of the group. Whether you like the water, love to act and ham it up, show off your sports skills or enjoy the artsy side of things, there is a program or a child waiting for you to share your love of leisure.

Volunteer positions are available at Walnut Grove Community Centre, Langley Civic Centre, WC Blair Recreation Centre, Aldergrove Kinsmen Community Centre or Williams Park.

Come out and join a volunteer information meeting on Monday, June 10 from 7 to 8 pm at the Walnut Grove Community Centre, 8889 Walnut Grove Drive. If you would like more information phone Lesley Visser, community special needs programmer, at 882-0408 loc. 301.

Road racers

FORT LANGLEY – The Road Race and Time Trial cyclists will be competing June 15 from 11 am to 8 pm and organizers are expecting 150 cyclists, just like the French Grand Prix. Registration is on Mavis Street in Fort Langley on the historic Fort grounds west of the parking lot. The actual races will start outside Fort Langley on River Road. People can station themselves near the start and/or finish. Take a picnic and watch this colourful event, along 264 and 240 Streets and 88, 84, 80 and 72 Avenues. For information, contact Alistair Barrett, 254-5460 or Ted Ritter, 732-7569.

FOR SURGERY

Hip hip hooray

LANGLEY – New hip and knee joints have given many people a new lease on life. Included are such celebrities as the Queen Mum, Liz Taylor, Liza Minelli, Angella Lansbury, "our Pet" Juliette and Sam the Record Man Sniderman.

Every week, somewhere in the Fraser Valley, people are receiving new joints and returning to activities they have had to give up because of excruciating pain. Unfortunately, waiting lists are growing longer and money for prosthesis, special surgical equipment, educational material and rehabilitation equipment is getting shorter every year.

Hip Hip (knee) Hooray is a non-profit organization, Canada-wide, making a difference in their communities, by raising funds for the items mentioned, and making them available to local hospitals.

On Sunday, June 9, the Fraser Valley group is inviting all recipients of new joints, their families and friends, to join them for a short walk in Queens Park, New Westminster. Walking also will be orthopaedic surgeons, nurses, physiotherapists, occupational therapists. There will be T-shirts for the walkers, refreshments, prizes and fun galore.

This year Langley Memorial Hospital has requested to be a recipient of equipment and educational material purchased with the funds raised at this event.

Registration time is between 9:30 and 11 am. Walk time is 11 am. Pledge forms are available from the Arthritis Society Office at the Seniors Resource Society. For more information call Sally Frost, 534-1798 or Louise Cox, 543-9747.

Walk, run to support sufferers of disease

ABBOTSFORD – The Alzheimer Society of B.C. and B.C. Athletics co-host the second annual Longest Day 10K & 5K Walk/Run to be held on Friday, June 23 starting at 7 pm. The run will begin at the Osborne Gym at the University of British Columbia and at a new site, the Rotary Stadium in Abbotsford.

Participants can choose from three routes: a scenic 10K run (race #9 in the Timex-Ascis Series), a 5K walk or run and a 1K loop for children or the "young at heart". The summer evening will culminate with a delicious and healthy bar-b-que, lots of prizes and live entertainment.

The Alzheimer Society of B.C. is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing community, regional and provincial support, education and advocacy for people with Alzheimer Disease, their caregivers, and the general public. B.C. Athletics is a non-profit amateur sports organization which promotes, encourages and develops the widest participation and highest proficiency in amateur track and field, road racing and competitive running in British Columbia. Funds raised by the event will help support special projects and services provided by the Alzheimer Society of B.C. and B.C. Athletics.

For information regarding registering or volunteering for this exciting event, or for information about the Alzheimer Society of B.C. or B.C. Athletics, call the UBC Event hotline: 681-6530 or Abbotsford hotline: 859-9801.

Mosquitoes sting at Vernon tourney

ALDERGROVE – Congratulations to Mosquito Fox & Hounds Expos for playing so well in the June 1 Vernon tournament.

After winning their division, they were knocked out in the semi-finals in a most exciting "squeaker" of a game. The Expos were sparked on by great pitching throughout. The tournament fielding and base running were outstanding.

Regular Expos players: T.J. Grisedale, Jeff McLean, Cory Jeffries, Matt Walsh, Chris Coombs, Matt Parmiter, and Cody Inverarity thank pick-up players Greg Moffat, Blake Lawson, Colby Hanson and Reilly Hogan for becoming honorary Expos - great players.

MVPs were Cody Inverarity, Chris Coombs, Matt Parmiter and Greg Moffat.

Coach Grisedale is proud of his team's effort. The Fox & Hounds Expos were especially congratulated by the Vernon tournament organizers for their sense of sportsmanship and good behaviour. Well done, Expos!

Slam bam, thank u m'am

ALDERGROVE – The Alder AA Jays met the Cloverdale AA on Sunday, June 2. Strong pitching from Jason McAllister kept Cloverdale Jays off the score board for the first 2 innings. The Alder Jays' defense only allowed 5 runs in 7 innings.

In the fourth, Cassidy Martin sealed it for the Alder Jays with a grand slam homerun, bringing the score to 13-2 for the Alder Jays. Coach Soanes said, "The boys played very tight defense. When they only have 2 errors it doesn't get much better than that." Final score Alder Jays 17 and Cloverdale Jays 5.

Rockies stumble at Vernon meet

ALDERGROVE – The Aldergrove Rockies Mosquito Baseball Club travelled to Vernon to compete in a tournament June 1 and 2.

The Rockies first game was against Vernon Wendy's on Saturday. Thomas Dickinson pitched the first inning, and the team allowed one run. In the bottom of the first we went down quickly, with Brodie Sorenson drawing a walk, and was left stranded. Thomas Dickinson pitched the second inning, and the team allowed three runs on a couple of errors. The bottom of the second again had the Rockies go down quickly. The Vernon pitchers were pitching well, and the score was 4-0 after two innings. TeeJay Andrychuk pitched the third inning and gave up one run. The bottom of the third again had the Rockies go down 1-2-3. TeeJay pitched the fourth inning, and the team gave up one run. The bottom of the fourth and Nathan Fitzner got our first hit of the game. The score after four innings 6-0 Vernon. Curtis Soanes pitched the top of the fifth, and the team gave up 3 runs. The bottom of the fifth had the Rockies threaten but could not score. The game was called after the fifth inning and the Rockies behind by 9. The final score 9-0 Vernon.

The Rockies were visitors versus Vernon Husky's, and only Brodie Sorenson singled in the first inning. Jacob Harder started the game and gave up one run in two innings and struck out three. The Rockies scored four in the bottom of the second, with Jacob Harder and Nathan Fitzner having hits, and TeeJay Andrychuk and Bryan Jones drawing walks, and all four scoring. Danny Kivinen started the third and fourth innings and pitched well, but a couple of defense errors cost the Rockies four runs. The Rockies scored five runs in the third and fourth innings. Chris Raeside walked, Cody Doherty singled, Danny Kivinen walked, Thomas Dickinson singled, Jacob Harder was hit by the pitch, and Joe Williams and Bryan Jones walked. The score after four complete innings 9-5 Rockies. The top of the fifth and the Rockies went down 1-2-3. The bottom of the fifth had TeeJay Andrychuk on the mound, and the team gave up four runs to have the scored tied 9-9 after five. The top of the sixth and the Vernon pitcher struck out the side. The bottom of the sixth had Vernon score the sinning run to defeat the Rockies 10-9.

Jacob Harder lead off the game against Vernon Baker's Dozen with a single, Brodie Sorenson and Danny Kivinen followed with hits, and Thomas Dickinson singled, and all four scored for a 4-0 lead. Thomas Dickinson pitched the first and second innings and gave up one run on one hit. The score after two innings 5-1 Rockies. The top of the third had Kivinen single, Thomas Dickinson doubles, Bryan Jones singles, and Chris Raeside walks for the maximum four runs. Danny Kivinen pitches the third and fourth innings and struck out six and gave up two hits and one run. The top of fourth and Curtis Soanes singles, Ryan Hamman walks, Danny Hunt doubles, and Cody Doherty walks for four runs. The score after four complete 13-2 Rockies. Jacob Harder pitches the fifth inning and quickly retires the side. The official score was 13-2 for the Aldergrove Rockies. The team played well and had lots of fun and got a chance to know each other better. And most important played in the SUN. The Rockies Baseball Club would like to thank all the parents and family who went to Vernon and would especially like to thank Danny Kivinen and Brodie Sorenson for playing with our team this weekend.

The Rockies continue their league schedule with games against the Dodgers on Monday and the Expos on Thursday.

Busy month for Bunnies

By LINDSAY HUBBARD

LANGLEY – On May 2, Woodlands 4-H Rabbit Club held a meeting in which they discussed upcoming events. Every Monday night in April and May, all 4-H members attended judging practices. Here, junior and seniors learned the finer points of picking first place animals from dairy to llamas to rabbits. Quite the variety.

May 8 saw the club lend a hand for Pitch in Week. Members leaders and parents picked up garbage around the elementary school in Brookswood. Following that, members gathered at a leader's house to make an educational board ready for display at the Cloverdale Fair. This year's topic was Earth Worms Move Mountains.

Club members had their rabbits on display at the Cloverdale Fair for the duration of the long weekend. For the most part, there was a rabbit on display for people to pet and members on duty to answer any questions. Everyone involved worked hard and long hours to make this a successful display.

Next meeting to be held is June 6, to get prepared for the big 4-H Judging Rally.

Youngsters show demos

By CARLY HANDEL

LANGLEY – The 4-H Otter Llama Club met recently for "Demo Night". Youngsters from Maple Ridge, Surrey and Langley provided demonstrations on a variety of topics. Judges for the event, Denice Lillies and Judy McLaren, gave each participant feedback on their performance, and suggestions for future events. First place in the Junior division went to Timothy DeJong and Tristan Levell for their demo on "Candle Making".

First place in the Senior Division went to Nicole Purney and Natalie Vollans, who's demo was on "The Creation of a Worry Rock". Second went to Carly and Shannon Handel, with their demonstration on "Hedgehog Housing". Third place was given to Jason Kennett and Cody Vollans with their demonstration on "How To Make Devil Sticks". The 4-H Otter Llama Club is unique in the Lower Mainland, being the only club dealing solely with llamas. Each member learns a variety of skills, from grooming their animal, to doing obstacle courses and conformation. Llamas are very intelligent, and it takes very little time to train them to do a number of tasks. Members of the club will be showing their animals during the next few months at the Maple Ridge Fair, the Agrifair and the PNE.

Injured driver sent to hospital

SURREY - Police are investigating a serious crash, the cause of which appears to have been a car going through a red light.

The accident happened just before 12:30 p.m, Tuesday, May 21, when a red Ford Tempo, driven by Meng Qi Wu of Vancouver, entered the intersection of Highway 15 and Barnston Drive, and was broadsided by a Ford utility truck.

Wu was transported to Royal Columbian Hospital with serious, but not life-threatening head injuries. The driver of the truck suffered only minor injuries.

Parks developed in partnership

SURREY – The Greater Vancouver Regional District invites citizens to express ideas for park association pilot projects and discuss forming a partnership steering committee at a workshop, Thursday, June 13.

The workshop will be held from 4:30 to 9:30 pm at the Sheraton Inn Guildford, 15269–104 Avenue. An orientation about the partnership program will be held from 4:30 to 6 pm.

Since the first partnership workshop held in January, GVRD has moved closer to establishing strong citizen organizations in its system of 22 regional parks.

The pilot projects will likely be created at Colony Farm Regional Park (Coquitlam), Derby Reach Regional Park (Langley Township) and Pacific Spirit Regional Park (near UBC).

Project ideas focusing on park user safety improvements and networking, outdoor educational opportunities, new park services, holistic park planning, environmental enhancement/stewardship and others are welcome.

To confirm your attendance, call GVRD Parks at 432-6351 as soon as possible.

Demonstrations enjoyed by all

By CHRISTINE MORRIS

LANGLEY – In April, Otter 4-H Lamb & Swine 4-H Club had our junior and senior demonstrations. They were all great demonstrations and we enjoyed them very much. George Tidball and Mike Morris received honourable mention with their topic, The Many Uses of Duct Tape. Jennifer Neimi and Tanya Caunce placed second with Cupcakes and in first place were Serena Caunce and Christine Morris with Brownies and Peanut Butter Chips. The junior demonstrators to place first were Myles Lamont and Steve Morris with Lamb Pizza.

We had our annual Club Field Day and Weigh-In. We selected our lambs and hogs, weighed them, vaccinated and wormed them, and eartagged them.

Our bottle drive is coming up soon and so is another club meeting to discuss plans for the upcoming fairs.

Watch for our car wash at Otter Co-op on June 15.

Locals lead grads

VANCOUVER – More than 5,000 academic degrees were conferred on graduating students at the University of British Columbia's spring congregation ceremonies, May 28-31. Among the 27 graduating class scholarship and award winners, 12 entered UBC directly from B.C. high schools and four came from other B.C. universities.

More than 155,000 people have graduated from UBC since it opened its doors in 1915. Close to 94,000 of these alumni continue to live and work in B.C.

Aldergrove residents included: Bachelor of Applied Science to Shannon Louise Clark in chemical engineering, and Bachelor of Science in Physical Therapy to John Leonard Ross Gillanders.

Ready to hire a student

LANGLEY – The Employment Centre for Students held their annual employer BBQ Blastoff on June 3 to officially inaugurate "Hire-A-Student" week in the Langley/Aldergrove area. The goal was to raise awareness of our free services to the local business community; to let them know that we are here to help their businesses save time and money this summer.

Between 11:30 am and 2:30 pm, over 50 people came out and enjoyed free food, refreshments and sunshine. The menu included barbecued burgers, pizza, Caesar salad, iced mochas, as well as many freshly baked desserts. Some guests also walked away with door prizes, which included t-shirts and free gift certificates to various Langley restaurants.

Among the guests present were the Langley city mayor, Marlene Grinnell, and the Langley township mayor, John Scholtens. Mayor Grinnell presented an official proclamation declaring the week of June 3 as "Hire-A-Student" week, and both mayors delivered a heartfelt address to our guests concerning the importance of student employment in our community.

All the food was graciously donated by local businesses. Steve Tidball, from the Keg in the Country, went beyond the call of duty by bringing along his own portable kitchen and cooked all the burgers and hotdogs. Inventa Sales and Promotions, who are promoting a new line of iced coffees for Coca Cola products, came in their promo van and handed out free cans of their product. Other donors include ABC Family Restaurant, Accent of Pastries, Boston Pizza, Burger King, Dairy Queen, Dino's Place, Earl's, Restoratons and Forsters Food Services, IGA, Kentucky Fried Chicken, G.H. Market, Koko's, Muffin Break, Panagopolous Pizza, Pizza Hut, Ricki's, Safeway, Save-On-Foods, Wendy's, Tim Horton's Donuts and Venetis Restaurant. Organizers would like to thank all the donators for supplying an abundance of food. With permission from the donors, most of the left-over foodstuffs was donated to the Langley Food Bank.

For any employer or student interested in finding out more about the services, come on down and see any of the staff at 20621 Logan Avenue, inside the main Employment Centre, or phone 534-8584.

Eight drug charges now before the courts

From front $400, were seized.

Jason Eli Rowsom, 25, of Delta, is charged with two counts of trafficking cocaine.

Robert Allen McCarron, 20, of Abbotsford is charged with one count of trafficking cocaine. Three grams, worth $300, were seized.

Alfie Mandall McKenzie, 27, of Surrey, and Edward James Laing, 33, of Langley, are jointly charged with one count of trafficking cocaine. Laing is also charged with other related offences. One hundred and thirteen grams of cocaine, worth $12,000, were seized.

Stacey Marie Hambrook, 26, of Surrey, is charged with four counts of trafficking cocaine. Sixty-four grams, worth $6,400, were seized.

Steven Mark Toderick, 28, and Adrian Lundstrom, 21, both of Abbotsford are jointly charged with two counts of trafficking cocaine. Thirty-one grams, worth $3,100, were seized.

David James Oliynyk, 45, and Daniel Schofield, 36, are jointly charged with trafficking cocaine. Seized in the December 7 raid were 32 ounces of cocaine worth $64,000, a loaded unregistered semi-automatic handgun, $23,620 Canadian cash, and $1,415 U.S.

Oliynyk, a member of the local Hells Angels chapter, is further charged with possession of a narcotic for the purpose of trafficking. He was on parole for trafficking in narcotics at the time of his arrest, and is now in jail awaiting trial.

What's it all about, Alfie?

By JEREMY HAINSWORTH

It. At some point in everyone's life they have been "it". Hide and seek, kick the can, tag...whatever the game someone has to be "it" for the jollity to proceed.

The Oxford English Dictionary actually has a definition which fits this situation, explaining "(in children's games) the person who has to catch the others". The primary definition, however, says the pronoun is "the thing mentioned or being discussed".

Taking the two together, this makes perfect sense. For example, "You are it, the thingy. You know, the whatsit".

In this age where everybody is deemed to have come from a dysfunctional family - if you aren't there's obviously something wrong with you, as the pop psychology refrain goes - what better way to spend your formative years; being "it".

In some situations, the entire thing probably went too far. A case in point here would be a conversation I had the pleasure of eavesdropping on at university. A group of first year students were sitting in a lounge over coffee discussing what "it" was. "It is it," one would explain, only to have another ask: "But what is 'it', in the first place?". The whole conversation was infuriating to listen to. By the time they had reached the apex of their logic, the trio were just sitting there repeating the word over and over again. I had heard better discussions on the playground. Obviously taking Chimpanzee Logic for Gibbons 101.

Anyway, let's get back to it.

I hated being it because my friends and I played hide and seek and kick the can on a large scale. You could hide anywhere in the neighborhood. When that area contains about 70 houses on big lots - not to mention a rather large lead and zinc smelter - being "it" is not a pleasant task. One of my favorite strategies for the game was to have everyone who wasn't "it" meet up at someone's house to watch TV for an hour or so. Every once in a while, we'd peek out of the window and see "it" ride by on it's bike, faithfully searching for us. Mind you, we were the same innocent children who would tie pieces of beef to the back of a local beagle's collar and watch it do backflips.

My last roommate said he used to play a game which he claims was called "enshie enshie eye over" or some such rubbish. We called it throwing a ball over the house. It's phrases like his, though, which make childhood great.

Who could forget yelling things like "oley oley olsen free-o", a call used by "it" when giving up, something which was done a lot in my neighborhood. No one ever heard it, however, because the TV was probably on too loud.

And let's not forget one of the greatest games of all time: knicky, knicky nine door. A classic game of youth. Knocking on people's doors and then running away, could it possibly get any better than that? I think not. This game when coupled with making crank phone calls could make a summer vacation pass in an instant.

Winter was not without its big thrills and silly-named games either, although no one had to be "it". Bumper riding was a good one. You'd hang out behind a snow bank until a car came and then hang onto its bumper and slide along the road behind it. Then the driver would slam the brakes and everyone would get killed. What joy! People in Prince George called this bumper shining for some odd reason. I guess that would be because the driver would have to clean the blood off the bumper and then shine it up.

So there you have it. Childhood, an assortment of being a pronoun, running away, hiding, abusing animals and inadvertently attempting to get killed. Pretty standard childhood stuff, normal practices. Guess it shows I'm not dysfunctional.

Blah, blah, blah, blah...

Daily News' editor Jeremy Hainsworth was a very good it.

P.S. The name Alfie in the headline on this story has nothing to do with the story. It's only there because sports editor Day Roberts is constantly singing the line from the Michael Caine film.
