MUNICIPAL

Bye-Law to Regulate the Sanatory Condition of the City.

BYE-LAW.

We, the Mayor and Councillors in Council convened, by virtue of the power and authority vested in us by An Act to Incorporate the City of Victoria, passed the second day of August, A.D. 1862, in the Twenty-sixth year of the reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, entituled, "The Victoria Incorporation Act, 1862," hereby enact as follows:—

I. No person or persons occupying any Messuage, Shop, Building or other Erection, or any Land or other Premises within the city, or if there shall be no occupier thereof, no owner or owners of any Messuage, Shop, Building or other Erection, or any Land or other Premises within the City, shall have or permit or suffer to be in or on his, her or their Messuage, Shop, Building or Erection, or any Land or other Premises as aforesaid, any ditch, gutter, drain, privy or ash-pit emitting noxious or offensive effluvium or smell, or constructed so as to be a nuisance to or injurious to the health of any person or persons, or any swine kept so as to be a nuisance or offensive by reason of the stench thereof, or any dung, manure, refuse, offal, ashes, filth, or other matter or thing emitting noxious or offensive effluvium or smell, or any animal, vegetable or mineral matter or thing alone or together with other matters or things in a state of fermentation, putrefaction, decomposition or decay, or emitting noxious or offensive effluvium or smell, or permit or suffer any Messuage, Dwelling House, Shop, Erection or Building whatsoever within the said City to be in a filthy state or infected with any kind of vermin or dirt or emitting noxious or offensive effluvium or smell; Provided, however, that no person or persons shall be liable to any penalty for the infraction of the Bye-law until he, she or they shall have received notice from the Mayor and Council in manner hereinafter mentioned, and until he, she or they shall have neglected by the space or time therein mentioned to abate or remove the offensive matter or thing noticed in such notice and therein complained of, or to do the act, matter or thing required of him, her or them by such notice within the space of time limited by such notice.

And whereas it is expedient for the good government of the City that a Sanatory Commission be appointed, and to enable such Commission to inspect, order the removal and report all nuisances within the said City of Victoria;

Therefore be it enacted by the Mayor and Councillors of the City of Victoria, with the consent of His Excellency the Governor on Her Majesty's behalf:

II. From and after the passage of this By-law the Mayor and City Councillors may from time to time nominate three members of the City Council to act as a Sanatory Commission for the purpose of inspecting, ordering the removal and reporting all nuisances and other matters, the continuance of which may be deleterious to the public health.

III. The Commission shall perform their services gratuitously.

IV. The Commission shall have power to enter any Messuage, Dwelling House, Shop, Building or other Erection or Land or other premises within the City, and whether or not the same be occupied or the curtilage of any of the same, and inspect the condition of the same between the hours of eight in the morning and eight in the evening.

VI. No person or persons shall permit, after due notice in that behalf given, any animal or vegetable matter in a decomposed or putrifying condition to remain on the premises occupied or owned by him or them.

VII. The Commission on behalf of the Mayor and Council may notify any person or persons on or occupying any messuage, dwelling house, shop, building, or other erection. or the curtilage of any of the same or other land or premises within the city, or if the same be unoccupied, then the owner of any such messuage, dwelling house, shop, buiding or other erection, or the curtilage of any of the same or other land or premises within the city on which any matter or thing may be done, permitted, or suffered, contrary to the intention of this by-law (according to the form of schedule A. annexed) to remove such nuisance as before mentioned, or to close up, purify, cover, or cleanse any well, cesspool, drain, privy, ditch, or gutter, or otherwise to abate or remove the matter or thing noticed in such notice as in their judgment shall seem meet by giving notice in writing, (as per schedule aforesaid) signed by two or more of the Commission on behalf of the Mayor and Council, specifying the act to be done and the time in which the same is required to be done, such notice may be given to the occupier or owner of such messuage, dwelling house, shop, building, or other erection, or the curtilage of any of the same or of the land or premises in the city, or by leaving the same at his, her, or their last known place of abode, or by fixing the same or a copy thereof on some conspicuous part of the premises.

VIII. In the event of any Messuage, Shop, Building or other erection, or any land or other premises within the City being unoccupied and the owner or owners thereof neglecting or refusing to be able to remove any matter, or thing done, permitted or suffered, contrary to the requirements of this Bye-Law, either absolutely or in the terms of any such notice as aforesaid, duly served as aforesaid, within the time in that behalf specified, it shall be lawful for two or more of the Commission, on behalf of the Mayor and Council, or their servants or agents in that behalf, to do the act or acts, matters or things, required to be done or performed by such notice at the costs and charges of the owner or owners of such Messuage, Shop, Building or other erection or any land or or other premises, the said costs and charges to be recoverable by action as work and labor done and money paid by them for the use of such owner or owners as if done at his, her or their actual request or in such other form as is proper in law.

SCHEDULE A.

HEROISM AND CATASTROPHE.—The Courier of St. Hyacinthe records the sad, but remarkable circumstances of a disastrous fire at St. Liboire. As a train of the Grand Trunk was passing through this locality during the night, a young gentleman, Mr. Bachand, noticed that a house was on fire while the people seemed not to have waked up. He urged the conductor to stop the train, or at least to slacken it, but met with a refusal. The courageous young man leaped, however, from the cars, broke his leg, and yet crept to the burning house, which was that of Mr. Urgele Desmarais, merchant. The family were all asleep, as Mr. Bachand had supposed, and he roused them just in time to save their lives, with one exception, that of a young lady, 22 years old, a niece of Mr. Desmarais. She has perished in the flames, and the Coroner has returned in reference to her a verdict of accidental death. Mr. Bachand certainly deserves a reward from the Humane Society of England.

EVERY minister who has been a successor can bear witness to the inflictions that must be borne for some months at least, from the oft repeated and tedious and unprofitable descriptions of his predecessor. It is a staple of conversation until the subject is worn threadbare.

THURSDAY EVENING, JULY 19, 1866.

NAPOLEON AND THE EUROPEAN WAR.

The most important European news yet received on the war question we lay before our readers to-day. Prussia and Italy, as might have been expected, have refused the armistice proposed by Louis Napoleon, and are pushing the war more vigorously than ever. The Austrians, fancying, no doubt, Napoleon would speedily take possession of Venetia, have evacuated Lombardy and retired across the Mincio, and the Italians have crossed the Po. It is quite evident that Louis Napoleon, with his usual wile, has been negotiating secretly with the whole of the powers at war. If Prussia were beaten by Austria, we have no doubt he had his assistance for Prussia at the expense of the Rhine provinces; if Italy were defeated by Austria, Sardinia would have been the price for Napoleonic interference. Now that Austria has sustained a most crushing blow, and fearing for her Germanic influence, if not indeed for her dynasty, she offers Venetia to Napoleon, in order that Italy may be checked by the French, and the whole of the Austrian army left at liberty to deal with the Prussians. The blunder Austria appears to have really made is the concentration of the best part of her army on the Italian frontier, instead of meeting Prussia, as we previously intimated, in the German States. By leaving these small principalities to contend with her enemy she virtually handed them over to Prussia, and allowed that power a foothold on Austrian territory. We now see that not only Silesia and Bohemia have become battle-fields, and the very capital of Austria menaced, but that the Prussians are pushing their forces through Bavaria into Austrian Tyrol, so that a junction may be effected with the Italians. This seems to be the great strategical movement and our telegrams give promise of its success. Garibaldi is advancing on Tyrol with 50,000 men, and the other portions of the Italian army have again assumed the aggressive, and have crossed the Po. It is by no means improbable therefore that a junction will shortly be effected between the Prussian troops and those of Victor Emanuel. So much for the relative positions of the three powers. But a fourth power is now added to the imbroglio. The unscrupulous cunning of Louis Napoleon has enabled France to get hold of Venetia, to plant herself right between Italy and Austria, and make the Gulf of Venice and the Adriatic generally as much French as the Seine—that is if Europe or Italy will allow it. There are turning points in the career of the fortunate diplomatic schemer as well as the most successful gambler, and this last effort of Napoleon, we have no hesitation in hazarding the prediction, will, if not relinquished, prove his ruin. Italy cannot, dare not, allow France to come in and rob her of not only her national dream, but what was certain to be the fruits of her warlike labors; and we question very much if England and Russia will permit the cession as they did that of Nice and Savoy. Napoleon now threatens every European power. He has already shown his contempt for the treaties of 1815, and he has made himself as much the dictator of Europe as his uncle was in the most palmy days of the Bonaparte era. Dignified neutrality will be put to a severe test; for the French Emperor shows no nervousness about carrying out his programme. Already the telegrams inform us a Commissioner has been sent to take possession in the name of France of the fortified places of Venetia, and the French squadron in the Mediterranean have got orders to proceed to Venice to hoist the French flag on all the ports on the Venetian coast. Victor Emanuel has refused the armistice proposed by Napoleon, unless Prussia accepts it, and Prussia persists in war. The future is therefore more menacing to the peace of Europe than ever. If Louis Napoleon insists on retaining Venetia, and consequently interferes with the success of the Italian cause, he raises Italy against him, and every liberal-minded man in Europe; risks revolution in France, for the French people are too much imbued with sympathy for liberty and the Italians to accept this "Napoleonic Idea;" and throws himself open to the almost certain assassination by the Carbonari. Instead of being the friend of nationalities struggling for freedom, as he delights in calling himself, he will be a kind of national vampire, fattening off the life-blood of oppressed peoples. We have, however, too much confidence in Napoleon's shrewdness to think that he will run these risks. We prefer to believe he has taken Venetia to hand it over to Italy, probably in exchange for Sardinia. This, although endangering the peace of Europe in another quarter, seems the most likely solution of affairs. In the meantime Prussian success promises destruction to Austrian influence in Germany, and future events will no doubt give the wily Napoleon another opportunity to add to the European territory of France.

St. Ann's School Examination.

The examination of this popular School took place to-day in the presence of a large concourse of spectators. The temporary structure was packed as closely as space would allow, and yet the visitors were so interested in the proceedings that few left during the entire examination. The platform on which the pupils were examined was tastefully hung round with specimens of some of the young ladies' artistic taste and handiwork. The first was a dog chasing a pheasant, by Miss Cecilia McQuade; the second was a boy and a lamb; the third a dog running after a bird, by the Misses Huston; the fourth was a pheasant on a branch of roses, by Miss M. A. Murphy; the fifth was King David on his throne playing the harp, by Miss Galley; the sixth a cockatoo on a bunch of roses, by Miss Anne McQuade; and the seventh a reckless-looking boy, exciting the appetites of some hungry chickens by munching a piece of bread, by Miss Maggie Leighton. Three of the pictures were specimens of raised workmanship. Altogether they were highly creditable to the pupils—some of them indeed shewed an unusual artistic finish. Besides these there were numbers of beautiful specimens of bead and other ornamental work, embracing cushions, slippers, baskets, and articles of apparel. As the examination will not be completed until some time after we go to press, we postpone giving a detailed description of it till to-morrow. We may, however, thus briefly summarise the proceedings so far:

The morning exercises commenced at nine o'clock, and embraced classes of the younger pupils in geography—physical and political. The answers returned showed considerable proficiency. Then followed arithmetic with the same result. The grammar class got along very creditably. Next came recitation, which, as might be expected, was rendered in rather low tones; but the children seemed to have their parts well. The musical exercises elicited much applause from the spectators, some of the duets being remarkably well rendered, when we consider the youth of the performers. The French class read very fluently and with a tolerably good accent and pronunciation. Ancient and modern history brought out the faculty of memory very well. A little after twelve o'clock there was a recess, and at one the pupils assembled on the platform in good order, ranged according to height. Tastefully dressed and the embodiment of good health, they presented a very pretty spectacle. A recitation was delivered by Miss Mayer, in a rather low tone but with clear enunciation. A piece of music, with the words in Latin, was then sung, iddicating considerable preparation. Some of the farther advanced pupils, including Miss Leighton, Miss Ann McQuade, Miss C. Watkins, Miss Laumeister, and Miss Mayer, were then examined in grammar, geography and arithmetic, and showed much proficiency After this a duet by Miss Galley and Miss Ann McQuade was performed on the piano to the delight of the audience. A very amusing little comedy, in which Miss Marks, Miss Laumeister, the two Misses Lichtenstein, Miss McCann, and several other young ladies appeared, was then given, to the immense satisfaction of the junior portion of the spectators Then followed a duet on the piano, exceedingly well rendered, by the Misses Lichtenstein.

A play, in French, enacted by Miss McQuade, Miss A. McQuade, Miss Galley, Mis Murphy, Miss Mayer and Miss - ——, was next presented, the proficiency of the young ladies in the language being very noticeable. A Duett, by Miss Watkins and Miss Leighton, the latter accompanying on the piano, followed, and was much applauded. One of the most interesting features of the examination now ensued: some forty little girls, some of them hardly big enough to toddle to the stage, ranged themselves in two ranks and sang "My Mother Dear" in chorus very sweetly, and with such feeling as quite carried the audience with them. Recitations from some of the elder scholars, Misses McQuade, Galley, Watkins, Murphy, A. McQuade, Mayer, Leighton and Allard, were next given, and with much fluency and sweetness, Miss McQuade especially enunciating with much clearness and feeling. A piano duet between the Misses McQuade came next, executed with much skill, followed by a brilliant solo by Miss Teresa Lichtenstein. Another recitation by Miss McQuade was excellently given and much applauded.

The examination was still going on when we went to press.

For New Westminster.—The steamer Alexandra sailed for New Westminster at 10 this morning. She carried some 30 or 40 passengers and about 140 tons freight, the largest she has yet taken up. Sixty tons were Telegraph Co's stores from the Onward. Among the cargo was a large freight-wagon for Messrs. Evans Bros., of Cariboo.

Heavy Iron Work.---Messrs. Spratt & Kreimler have nearly completed a new boiler for the Russian-American Fur Company's steamer Constantine. The boiler will, when finished, weigh over 20 tons, and will be the heaviest ever placed in any vessel in the colony.

Police Court.—The wages case of Whear against Turgoose came up from yesterday Mr. Bishop appeared for Turgoose, and objected that the suit was irregularly brought. The Magistrate adjourned it till to-morrow.

School Examinations.—The examination of the Craigflower school takes place to-morrow, commencing at 10 a. m. The examination of Mrs. Wilson Brown's school will be held next Thursday.

The Fideliter-Alexandra Case.—The judgment for $6000 given by consent in this case does not include the sum realized by the sale of the Alexandra.

Fortifications at Esquimalt.---We hear it stated that the naval authorities are about to commence the erection of two batteries at Esquimalt.

Sanatory By-Law.—On our first page will be found the Municipal By-Law to enforce sanatory regulations in the city.

Launch.---Capt. Stamp's new steamer will, it is expected, be launched from Mr. Trahey's shipyard next week.

The Supreme Court did not sit to-day.

TELEGRAPHIC.

To-day's Despatches.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.

Napoleon takes possession of Venetia--Prussia and Italy refuse an armistice--their Troops advancing ou Austrian Tyrol—Battles in Bavaria--Garibaldi at the head of 50,000 men.

European.

New York, July 17th.—The steamer Pereire from Havre, via Brest the 7th, has arrived. Prussia and Italy have refused an armistice. The Italians have crossed the Po. The Austrians have entirely evacuated Lombardy and retired across the Mincio. Florence journals declare that if the Austrian troops evacuate Venetia to march against the Prussians the Italian army will pursue them closely until a junction is effected betwen the Italian and Prussian army. They believe in the immediate resumption of a campaign which will be continued until the Austrian monarchy is dismembered.

The Presse of the 7th says the cession of Venetia to France is complete and definite without any other condition on the part of Austria, except as to the withdrawal of arms and munitions of war found on fortified places within forty-eight hours. The whole of Venetia will be made French territory, and it will depend upon the good will of France to keep or part with it. The Italian Government will have to cease immediately every act of hostility against Venetia, it being French territory. The French Commissioner is going at once to Venice to assume its Government in the name of the Empire. Orders have been issued for the French squadron in the Mediterranean immediately to proceed to Venice and hoist the French flag, instead of the Austrian, upon all ports on the Venetian coast. The Presse says, furthermore, that King Victor Emmanuel has not at once acceded to the armistice proposed through France; he alleges as his reason that he desires to consult his ally, the King of Prussia. The Augsberg Gazette says that Benedek has demanded 30,000 reinforcements. The same paper has a report that the Archduke Albert as been appointed successor to Benedick. The fortifications of Vienna were being increased—500 guns are now in position. The Prussian army debouching from the Electorate of Hesse has entered Bavaria. A fight occurred at Meiningen on the the 4th between a Bavarian corps and the Prussian army under Fulkenstein—no particulars.

An Eisenach despatch of the 5th, says some detachments of Bavarian troops have been driven from Herisfield. A corps of the Prussian army has entered the Austrian Tyrol and is moving towards Calias. Garibaldi's headquarters are at Novate. He had about 50,000 men under his command; they are not completely equipped, but armed, and have plenty of ammunition. Owing to the appearance of Garibaldi the war is likely to assume a peculiar character. Some of the Tyrolese priests have roused up a portion of the peasants by representing the Italians as bandits and Garibaldi as an anti Christ.

Views of a Spectator.

My Dear Mr. Editor—It is but fair that being one of the many headed monster I should be allowed to hiss my plaint at the actors in the pleasant little farce which is being carried on in this colony just now, especially as I do not hold a diploma to add a nostrum in the Apothecaries Hall of the country for general salvation. It is a Heaven born privilege to us "who sell things" to clasp the hand of approval when a passage is well delivered or the bye-play is well done, no matter at what our opinions are estimated. There is a theory that men resemble the lower animals in disposition, and that their features in consequence derive a similitude to the particuiar species in which similar instincts are most prominent; and even birds have their prototypes in the human form; whether a profound study of this has aided our great authors in the knowledge of the human heart is not known, but certainly it is wonderful how true we are to our instincts in whatever position we are placed in life. Who is there amongst us who has not felt the truthfulness of the characters delineated in the "Pickwick Papers"? we who have dwelt in country districts can all recall to mind a George Nupkins, Esquire, a tyrannical blustering ignorant magistrate, who would rather be decidedly wrong than undecidedly right, with a Mr. Jinks who has attained knowledge from sweeping the office of the country attorney until the advent of the appointment of clerk or private secretary (by the mark) to the newly elected magnate. Ah, well do I recollect a dozen ridiculous stories of such men in their official capacity. I knew a case of a man pleading guilty to stealing a goose, but the Justice gave him the benefit of the doubt, as the prosecutor could not swear whether it was a goose or a gander which had been stolen. How often do we find similar characters in different situations still true to their instincts. I can picture to myself a veritable Mr. Jincks amongst us who, with books under arm, wends his daily course through our streets to his highly responsible duties; and this brings me to enquire whether our officials are justified in carrying books and papers belonging to the public offices to their private residences; if so, I think it a proof of all work and no play, and the usual consequence will be inevitable unless the colony looks to it. The least that can be done is to allow each department to have its book bearer, and public security demands that a suitable trunk or portmanteau should be made for the purpose. Or, stay,—is it that policy dictates the circuitous route through the streets, bearing huge books and a mass of papers before the vulgar eye to impress it with the importance of a certain staff. If so, the portmanteau would be open to objections, as the aforesaid eye might prove some day the contents—a vacuum.

Cymro.

The Farther in the Deeper.—Our contemporary is still wallowing in the mud of falsity and stupidity. Having been driven out of every position it has taken on the recent political questions, it endeavors to escape by giving in yesterday's iesue a supposed history of the "reply." It is scarcely necessary for us to say that the thing is untrue, and the Chronicle refutes its own assertions in its own columns of Tuesday. The document which our contemporary praised on that morning was never revised by any of the parties stated, and all that Dr. Helmcken had to do with the reply as it came up yesterday morning was simply the mechanical duty of rearranging some paragraphs.

Mr. Zinn begs to announce to the inhabitants of Victoria that he has lately received a large assortment of Children's Carriages and Chairs, Fishing Baskets and Fishing Canes, and a large quantity of Market and Travelling Baskets, China Vases, Fancy Goods and Toys. all of which have to be sold on or before February next at greatly reduced prices Goods sold at wholesale for cost prices. *

The Novelties in the Silk trade this season are the beautiful Gros de Suez, Gros de Londres, and Gros de Pekin. A choice lot of these are for sale at the London House; also a splendid stock of Black Gros Grains and Glaces, from three-quarters to a yard and a quarter wide, bought before the advance in the silk market. *

Removal.—Mr. Hibben requests us to state that he is now removing his bookstore from the old stand, corner of Yates and Langley streets, to the fine new premises in the Masonic Buildings, Government street, where he will open in a day or two. *

Executions in Australia.—Dunn, the bushranger, was executed within the walls of Darlinghurst gaol in March. The Sydney Herald states that he had gained upwards of a stone weight in gaol, and that, judging from his improved physical condition, his mind could not have been much disturbed by the fate of his impending doom. He had slept well during his last night, ate a hearty breakfast in the morning, and apparently enjoyed the pipe he smoked afterwards. He was perfectly resigned to his fate, mounted the steps of the scaffold without assistance, and in a moment "the young outlaw" had ceased to live: there was not the slightest movement after the fall. There were between sixty and seventy persons present to witness the execution. In the same month the murderer Jones was executed in the gaol at Ballarat. To the last he denied that the murder was a sin at all, and said that his victim was a person not fit to live The Melbourne Argus states that on the morning of the execution the entrance to the gaol was mobbed, and when the door was opened to admit persons who had a right to be present, a number of ruffians forced their way in. The culprit came out of his cell looking pale and subdued, but not timid. When the bolt was withdrawn a convulsive twitching and shuddering of the body were perceptible for more than five minutes, and it was understood that the pulsations of the heart were felt for some time.

The aristocracy of the St. Denis Hotel New York, were recently shocked by the presence at the dining table with white men of a well-dressed negro, apparently on terms of intimacy and equality. It was Robert Purvis, a wealthy and intelligent colored citizen of Philadelphia, who was the guest and companion of Wendell Phillips, James Mott, and other prominent abolitionists.

A New and Grand Epoch in Medicine!—Dr. Maggiel is the founder of a new Medical system. The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctors are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are no of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. Maggiel, 11 Pine street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box.

A Drop of Ink.—Think of a Queen's first signature to a death warrant, where tears tried to blanch the fatal blackness of the dooming ink; of a traitor's adhesion to a deed of rebellion, written in gall; of a forger's trembling imitation of another's writing, where each letter took the shape of the gallows; of a lover's passionate proposal written in fire; of a proud girl's refusal written in ice; of a dying mother's expostulation with a wayward son written in her heart's blood; of an indignant father's disinheriting curse on his first born, black with the the lost color of the gray hairs which shall go down in sorrow to the grave—think of these and all the other impassioned writings to which every hour gives birth, and what a strangely potent, Protean thing, a drop of ink is grown to be. All over the world it is distilling at the behest of men. Here a despairing prisoner is writing with a rusty nail his dying confession of faith on his damp dungeon wall. There an anxious lover is deceiving all but his bride with an ink which only she knows how to render visible. Beleaguered soldiers in Indian forts are confiding to the perilous secrecy of rice-water or innocent milk their own lives and the fortunes of their country. Shipwrecked sailors about to be engulfed in mid-ocean are consigning to a floating bottle the faint pencil memorandum of the spot where they will swiftly go down into the jaws of death. Everywhere happy pairs, dear husbands and wives, affectionate brothers and sisters, and all the busy world, are writing to each other on endless topics, with whatever paper comes to hand, whatever ink! The varied stream thus forever flowing is the intellectual and emotional blood of the world, and no one need visit Egypt, or summon an Eastern magician, to show him all the acts, all the joys and woes of men reflected from the mirror of a drop of ink.—Macmillans Magazine.

The New Zealanders.—Each passing year reduces the chances of effectual opposition on the part of the natives. All the efforts made to civilise and preserve them appear likely to be in vain. Dr. Featherston, in his speech at Wellington, confirms the idea that their numbers are rapidly diminishing; and he says it is 'impossible to avoid their early extinction.' Twenty years ago their numbers were estimated at 100,000; 'now,' says the doctor, 'no one believes they could muster 40,000 souls, and in 20 years they will be reduced to a mere handful.' It is consolatory to think that such a rapid decline in the native population is not attributable to European aggression. The numbers who have perished in battle and through the collateral effects of war. are trifling compared with the enormous reduction that has taken place. The diminution must be ascribed to other causes. Strzelecki, in writing upon Australian colonization, expresses the opinion that the natives of this new world 'have, wherever the European advances, the sentence of extinction stamped indelibly upon their foreheads.' That opinion was written 20 years ago, and each year has tended to prove its truth. It is not that their longevity is abridged, but that from some undefined cause, whenever placed side by side with Europeans, the hearths of the natives, like the wigwams of the American Indians, retreat or disappear before the torrent of immigration.—Otago Times.

A Novel Gun—A correspondent of the Independence Belge states that an Englishman has recently submitted to the notice of the Artillery Committee in Paris a gun which he has invented, and which, at least, possesses the merit of singularity. The gun consists of a simple tube without any breech. All recoil is thus avoided, and the weapon possesses, according to the inventor, qualities which render it more destructive than any other arm. Experiments recently made at the artillery depot of St. Thomas d'Acquin have produced satisfactory results, the shots fired having pierced through enormous thicknesses of planking.

The Blairgowrie Murder.—Joseph Bell was executed at Perth on the 22nd of May for the murder of Alexander M'Ewan Baker. The latter was shot on the highway and robbed; the crime was traced to Bell by clear circumstantial evidence. To the last Bell protested his innocence of the crime, calling God to witness that he knew nothing of it. Calcraft acted as executioner, and Bell died without a struggle.

In the depths of the sea the waters are still; the heaviest grief is that borne in silence; the deepest love flows through the eye and touch; the purest joy is unspeakable; the most impressive prayer is silent, and the most solemn preacher at a funeral is the silent one whose lips are cold.

When Alexander the Great saw Diogenes in a cemetery, he asked him what he was doing there! 'I am seeking, said the philosopher 'for the bones of your ancestors among those of beggars; but everything here appears so confused and mingled together that I cannot distinguish them.'

It is not what we eat, but what we digest that makes us strong. It is not what we earn, but what we save, that makes us rich. It is not what we read, but remember, that makes us learned. It is not what we profess, but what we practice that makes us righteous.

FACTS vs. THEORIES.

"Give me a place to rest my lever on," says Archimedes, "and I will move the world." "Give me pure and unadulterated drugs," says Medicus, of the olden time, "and I will cure disease."

In one sense, both of these learned pundits were the veriest charlatans. They knew there was no place to rest their lever on, either to move the world or cure disease. Mechanism was in a backward state, and the medical profession was but another name for sorcery, and all the adjuncts of magic filters and charms of the "evil eye," &c.

But these latter days have borne unto us something more than even superstition and its crew ever dreamt of in their maddest philosophy. In these days of practical science, what was theory of yesterday is fact to-day, and all the old time notions become as bubbles in the sun, and burst and break with every breath we draw.

Let Archimedes shoulder his lever and we will find a resting place for it to move the world. Let mine ancient Medicus pant and toil no more for the drugs he so sorely needs, for we have them at our hand, ever ready to serve them at his beck.

Refined in the laboratory of Dr. Maggiel, the finest materials known in the medical profession are obtainable by any one. His Billious, Dyspeptic, and Diarrhœa Pills stand unrivalled, and his Salve operates with magical effect upon burns, scalds, and all sores and ulcers of the skin.

In fact, we think Maggiel's Pills and Salve are the wonder of this century, and we are happy in the thought that many others of our brethren of the craft agree with us. We would earnestly counsel that all families provide themselves with Dr. Maggiel's Preparations at once, and keep them ready at hand, so as to use them at the most opportune time and as occasion serves.—Valley Sentinel.

THE GREAT REMEDY OF THE AGE.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

The effect of the Ointment on the System.

To the very core and centre of all diseases which affect the human body, this remarkable preparation penetrates. It disappears under the friction of the hands, as salt disappears when rubbed upon meat. The unguent performs its healing errand rapidly, safely, and without pain. Simple eruptions, open sores, hard tumors, scrofulous developments of all kinds, abcesses, cancers, old wounes, and, in fact, every species of inflammation and suppuration, whether in the skin, the flesh, the glands, or among the muscles, can be arresteb in its destructive course, and permanently cured without danger by rubbing in this inestimable Ointment.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Sores, and Ulcers.

In many Hospitals in Europe this celebrated remedy is now used for the cure of old wounds, sores, and ulcers; in Spain and Portugal, and in many parts of Italy, the first Physicians reregularly prescribe its use. It is a sovereign remedy for bad breasts and bad legs; and likewise for all skin diseases. It is to be found in the chest of nearly every sailor, soldier, and emigrant.

Imprudencies of Youth;—Sores and Ulcers.

The above class of complaints is surely removed by nightly fomenting the parts with warm water, and then by most effectually rubbing in this Ointment. Persons suffering from these direful complaints should lose not a moment in arresting their progress. It should be understood that it is not sufficient merely to smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be well rubbed in for some considerable time two or three times a day, that it may be taken into the system, whence it will remove only hidden sore or wound as effectually as though it were palpable to the eye. Bread and water poultices, after the rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is the only proper treatment for females in cases of cancer in the stomach, or for those who suffer from a general bearing down.

Piles, Fistulas, Strictures.

Blotches, as also swellings, can with certainty be radically cured if the Ointment be used freely, and the Pills be taken night and morning as recommended in the printed instructions When treated in any other way these complaints only dry up in one place to break out in another; whereas this Ointment will remove the humor from the system, and leave the patient a vigorous and healthy being. It will require time, aided by the use of the Pills, to ensure a lasting cure.

Diptheria, Bronchitis, Sore Throats,

Any of the above class of diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment three times a day upon the skin covering the throat, chest, and neck of the patient. The unguent will soon penetrate the pores and give immediate relief. To allay the fever and lessen the inflamation, eight or ten Pills should be taken night and morning. The Ointment will produce perspiration, which is so essential for removing fevers, sore throats, and those oppressions of the chest which arise from Asthma, Bronchitis, and other causes.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following Cases:

Bad Legs	Corns (Corns)	Rheumatism
Bad Breasts	Cancers	Scalds
Burns	Contracted and Stiff Joints	Sore Nipples
Bunions	Elephantiasis	Sore Throat
Bite of Moschetoes and Sand-Flies	Fistulas	Skin diseas

Chilblains	Lumbago.	Tumors

THE ONE THING WANTED.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

The Blood.

These famous pills are so composed that they operate wholesomely on the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and other organs; by correcting any derangements in their functions, whereby a steady supply of pure materials for the renewal of the Blood is furnished, and a constant abstraction of effete products is effected. This perfect circulation thus becomes the very fountain of health and life, and overcomes all form of disease wherever its situation.

General Disorders of the Liver and Stomach.

All who ever indulge at table, either in eating or drinking, should take about ten of these famous pills at bed time, from which will result a clear head and good stomach the following morning. Thousands of Ladies are always complaining of sick headaches, want of appetite, want of energy, and want of strength, to correct all these evils, three or four of these Pills should be taken twice a week, when they would give the invalid the health and appetite of a ploughman.

Females of all Ages and Classes

Obstructions of any kind, either in young or those between forty and fifty—the most critical period of life—may be radically removed by using these Pills according to the printed directions which accompany each box. Young persons with sickly and sallow complexions may have the bloom of health restored by this corrective, which purifies the blood and expels all gross and impure humors from the system. Beware then of the critical age from forty to fifty, as it sends many thousands to premature grave,—these Pills should be taken at that period of life two or three times a week

Want of Strength and Energy.

Persons of sedentary habits, or those troubled in mind, working in Factories or Coal Pits, who cannot obtain that amount of fresh air and exercise which nature requires, suffer from weakness and delility, lowness of spirits and want of appetite. All such should take a dose or two of these Pills every three or four days, as they act gently and effectually on the system and impart vigor and energy to the body, which is always followed by a good appetite, sound and refreshing sleep, and a high flow of spirits.

For the Cure of Dropsy.

The efficacy of Holloway's Pills in Dropsy is extraordinary. They act with such a peculiar effect upon the system, that the fluids causing this direful complaint, are perceptibly carried off and prevented from any further accumulation. The sufferer regains a buoyancy of spirits and rejoices in a completely renovated constitution. It is indispensably necessary that the Ointment should be most effectually rubbed into the complaining parts during the whole course of treatment.

Children and their Ailments.

In no country in the world are more children carried to an early grave than in Great Britain. Coughs, Measles, Scarlatina, Fevers, and other diseases attack the little sufferers, and death, but too often, follows at a rapid pace; yet if at the first stage of these complaints, parents were to have recourse to Holloway's Pills, all danger would be avoided, for the stomach and bowels would be gently but effectually cleansed by this mild aperient; the depraved humors corrected and the secretions duly regulated. A perfect cure would soon be effected, and the little patient restored to sound health.

Holloway' Pills are the best known remedy in the world for the following diseases:
