VOLUME IV. NORTH VANCOUVER, B. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1907. NUMBER 6

EDITORIAL.

The act in favor of North Vancouver, and other cities that are, and are to be, permitting them to tax railways, has been finally passed by the provincial government and assented to by the lieutenant-governor.

GOVERNMENT STANDARD SEEDS.

G. H. Clark, seed commisioner and official seed analyst, Ottawa, has sent out a bulletin, in which he points out that all purchasers of red clover, alsike and timothy seeds who want a good, clean article, should see to it that the seeds they buy are quality, by being marked "No. 1," "Prime," "Fancy," "XXX," or such other destinction for which a standard of purity is fixed in section 4 of the seed control act.

"Government Standard" is a term coined by seed vendors, and may be misleading unless clearly understood. Section 4 of the act fixes a standard of quality in respect to weed seeds, below which timothy, alsike and red clover seeds are not allowed to be sold for seeding, either by farmers or seed merchants. This standard allows of the weeds named in the act about 90 in one ounce of red clover; 200 in one ounce of alsik or 400 in one ounce of timothy seed. It is to seeds that will pass this lower standard, but are not sufficiently clean to grade "No. 1" that the term "Government Standard" was attached last season.

Some seed vendors have advertised seeds under "Government Seal." No government seal is used on any seeds offered for sale in the trade. Some reliable seed houses sell grass and clover seeds sealed by them, and for which they alone are held responsible so long as the seal remains intact, but not after it is broken.

To avoid the provisions of section 3 of the act, which applies mainly to seed grain, some seed vendors represent to farmers that, on account of the seed control act, they are offering their grain for sale for milling or feeding purposes. If offered for sale for seeding, such seed vendors are required to make clear to intending purchasers that the seed contains wild oats, wild mustard, cockle, and such other noxious weed seeds when they are in the seed. The object of the act is to protect farmers who want to protect themselves against such weeds. It provides the means for farmers to buy seed intelligently. Ranchers who deliberately buy feed grain and use it for seed can scarcely hope for legislation that will protect them from loss on account of noxious weeds.

The second annual meeeing of the Moodyville Gun Club was held on Monday evening, at the Moodyville hotel. President Chas. Mee presided, and Secretary-treasurer F. J. Coutts was in his place.

The president stated that the affairs of the club were in a healthy condition. Last year keen interest was taken in the several shoots, and everything pointed to a very successful outcome this season.

The secretary-treasurer reported a neat sum on hand, and was instructed to purchase blue rocks for the coming matches.

After receiving several nominations for membership, the election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary President, John Hendry; President, Chas. Mee; Vice-president, G. B. Williams; Secretary-treasurer, F. J. Coutts; Captain, W. K. Burnett. Committee—W. K. Burnett, A. F. Stonor, W. A. Shaw, J. McPhee, Geo. Bartley, and above officers.

A shoot will be held at the butts on Good Friday, from 1 to 6 o'clock, and all day on Easter Monday.

W. C. T. U.

The North Vancouver branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, March 20th, at Mrs. Stoney's, Sixth street. Among other items of interest discussed was the forthcoming public meeting, which was unavoidably delayed, but which will be held the second week in April. Further notice of this will be published in this paper at a later date. This meeting promises to be of unusual interest, as we have secured some first-class talent from the city, both singers and speakers. It was also decided that we hold our meeting the third Wednesday in each month, at 3:30 p. m. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Philip, Second stret.

This monthly publication comprises 52 pages, regular magazine size, printed on best calendered paper, and is profusely illustrated with local characters and scenes. "It is not what we hope to make it in the course of a few months," say the publishers of this high-class literary journal. The letter press and typographical appearance are a credit to the management, who should receive every encouragement and support of British Columbians. We bespeak for it a long and successful career.

The splendid herd of cattle at the Cottage Dairy, W. L. Keene, proprietor, was sold by auction on Wednesday. The registered Ayrshires, Norvan Chief (bull) and Nancie Lee (heifer) were purchased by R. H. Bryce. And Hickory Midge and Nancie A. (cows) and Lass of North Vancouver (heifer) went to Mr. McQuillam. Although there were about 100 people present nearly all the cattle did not bring prices they were worth.

Demise of Father Richard.

There passed away peacefully and quietly at the Imdian mission, at 1:30 o'clock a. m., on Monday, March 25, the Rev. Father Richard, O. M. I., at the ripe old age of 81 years. Those present at the time of his demise were Father Chirouse, Sisters Mary Amy, Anatolie, and Jerome. On Sunday, the 17th, Father Richard preached as usual, and on Monday, the 18th, he held his last mass. Sister Mary Amy, on observing that he was unwell on Friday, suggested that he go to the hospital, but he would not admit at any time that he was at all ill. He wanted to be engaged in active work, and live and die with the Indians. On Saturday, at 5 p. m., Bishop Dontenwill administered the last sacraments to him, and at the time of his death he had his clothes on. For over 50 years he had been engaged in missionary work in this province, and was the best known clergyman among all the old pioneers and natives. After requiem mass on Tuesday by Rev. Father Chirouse, the casket containing the body of the late venerable priest was rowed across the inlet by Indians in a canoe, followed by several others. The four Chiefs, Harry, Tom, Dick and Thomas were pall bearers at the wharf. Chiefs Joe Capilano and Charley Chilpamulk, who recently went to London to see King Edward, as well as seven other chiefs from Vancouver Island, most all the Indians, all the sisters and school children at the mission were present at the funeral obsequies. The eastern express was met at the C. P. R. station, and the funeral party went to Mission Junction, where the body was interred in St. Mary's cemetery, the resting place of the Oblate fathers. At St. Mary's Mission, Mission, on Wednesday morning, Bishop Dontenwill held mass, assisted by Fathers Welsh and Connoly. Rev. Father Richard had had charge of the North Vancouver Mission for about eight years. R. I. P.

Milk Supplies.

Many of our citizens were greatly concerned when they learned that Mr. Keene was giving up the dairy business, and that they could no longer look to the Cottage Dairy for that supply of milk of the best quality which they had so long enjoyed. All who have been served by them heartily appreciete the care and attention given by Mr. and Mrs. Keene, and their unfailing courtesy to their customers. The rest they seek from the arduous work they have had is well earned, and we hope they may fully enjoy it.

We are glad to be able to set at rest the fears of those who thought they would have to depend on the "canned cow." The North Arm Dairy Company, of Lansdowne avenue, Vancouver, will have a milk cart here loaded with supplies on Monday next, and they can meet all demands that can be made on them, and give delivery at every house. See their advertisement elsewhere.

MOTHER'S GRATITUDE TO ZAM-BUK

IT CURED HER BOY OF PAINFUL SORES.

Nothing is more unpleasant to the eye and more painful to the sufferer than boils and ulcers. At this period of the year many adults suffer acutely from these painful outbreaks. When boils, ulcers, etc. occur on children it is pitiful to see the little ones suffer.

Mrs E. Holmes, of 30 Guise St., Hamilton, is grateful for what Zam-Buk did for her little boy when in this pitiful plight. She says: "He suffered from Spring eruptions and then boils broke out on his neck. I tried blood purifying remedies, but nothing seemed to do him the desired good. The boils got worse and I could not send him to school. We tried a sample of Zam-Buk and it did him a little good, so I bought a 50 cent box. The result was really amazing. Inside a week's time the boils had begun to dry up, and in a very short time indeed every one of them was healed."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure also for eczema, scalp sores, ringworm, poisoned wounds, chronic ulcers, chapped hands, cuts, cold sores, cracks, festering sores, eruptions and pustules due to blood poison, etc. It stops bleeding and cures piles, fistula, etc. Is antiseptic; an excellent "first aid." Every home and farmstead should have its box of Zam-Buk. All druggists and stores at 50c a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes for $2.50. Send 1c stamp for trial box.

DREAM OF FLIGHT.

Soon shall the frequent bicyles
And roaring motor car
Be quite as rare as icicles
In summer solstice are.
Yes! They'll be dead as Pharaoh—
plain
It seems to me indeed—
When all prefer the aeroplane
For comfort, rest and speed.

Yet nervous folk will, caviling
At the mode, find full soon
The safest way of traveling
By steerable balloon.
For ecstacy then singing out
To learn at least she can.
Will Mary Jane go winging out
With her discreet young man.

Then quite intent on gaining it,
And one in heart and mind,
When we go aeroplaning it,
'Tis heaven, my own, we'll find.
While well agreed between us is
This plan we cherish still—
We'll honeymoon where Venus is—
By Jupiter, we will!

SUICIDE OF ANIMALS.

Bereaved Retriever Mother Places Her Head on a Railway Line.

Are animals capable of premeditated and skilfully planned suicide?

The question is raised by the strange death of a dog at Crofton Park Station, England.

Bess, a large retriever bitch, was owned by Mr. Hayward, a horticultural builder, whose house adjoins the station. A short time ago she gave birth to a litter of five puppies, and four of these were subsequently taken away.

"With the loss of her little ones the dog seemed to lose all spirit, and would scarcely take any food," said Mr. Hayward's foreman. "She was let loose at midnight on Wednesday, and shortly before two we heard that she had been decapitated by the 1.22 down train.

"Whether the dog's act was deliberate is a moot point. But on the testimony of a passenger and a railway employe, Bess deliberately put her head on the line and waited for the incoming train."

A porter named E. Forder told how he found the body.

"I did not see the animal on the line," he said, "but when the train drew up I was told a dog had been run over. I found the head 15 feet from the body, cut off as if by an axe. The trunk was intact.

"I have had to remove the bodies of many dogs killed on the line, and in every case they have been terribly crushed and mutilated in trying to run away from the train.

"To have been decapitated as this dog was, the animal must have kept perfectly still, with its head resting on the metals."

Escaped a Press Gang.

In the evil days of the press gang fair hauls of recruits were obtained from Arbroath, where many hardy young fellows at that time followed a life on the ocean wave in the then numerous fleet of Baltic schooners. One young man seemed to have a special attraction for the myrmidons of the rulers of the Queen's Navee. This was a strapping youth belonging to the town, descendants of whom are still alive in the burg. Twice was this gallant tar "pressed," and twice did he cleverly manage to baffle his persecutors. On one of the occasions, having been forcibly taken possession of by the limbs of the law, he was being rowed from the harbor to a Government cutter which lay in the bay. Thinking they were secure of their prize, the men in charge of the boat had apparently let their wits go to sleep, for, seizing a favorable opportunity, the young man sprang overboard when about a hundred yards from the shore, and swam to terra firma, having reached which he made a dash for liberty.

The boatmen were not quite so alert as the fugitive, and in a few minutes he was safely ensconced below an auld wife's bed in a house in Ladyloan. The old lady, cute to protect her whilom refugee, ran to the door of her house, and, as the press gang were tearing past in pursuit of their quarry, who they supposed had made for Dundee, clapped her hands and shouted: "Whar's yer bonny sailor laddie noo?" The men paid no heed, and after immediate danger was over the young fellow emerged from his hiding place, took to his heels over the Common, and found safety among friends in a farmhouse. After all danger had blown over he joined a merchant vessel at Arbroath and remained absent from home for several years.

His other escape was just as exciting. Having fallen into the clutches of the gang, he was locked up in prison to await the arrival of the cutter. Meanwhile, his wife had been taking food to him daily, and one day she succeeded in smuggling in a file, with which the bold young man at once proceeded to cut away the hinges of the door of the prison—then situated below the Town Hall—and, biding his time, he was soon at liberty, and never had the honor of serving on board a man-of-war

Pleasant Occupation.

The occupation of the wheat farmer has much that appeals to the man of leisurely and sedentary disposition. In case he grows the winter varieties he has nothing to do from the time he puts it in in the fall until the next June, when he harvests it, but simply to watch it grow and mature. He can rest and read at home, go gadding among his relatives or toast his shins before the fire in the country store. At any rate, it is hard to persuade him of the amenities of milking from ten to twenty cows, cleaning out the stables and swilling the pigs that are often kept on the diversified farm.

Fastest In the World.

Great Britain has built a torpedo boat destroyer which is the fastest in the world. This destroyer, The Cossack, was launched at Birkenhead on Feb. 16. It will make 33 knots an hour, the highest speed hitherto attempted.

Women of Lassa.

Women comprise two-thirds of the population of Lassa, the forbidden city of Tibet, and they conduct practically all the business of the city.

The Reserve Flask.

A curious custom obtains in the German navy when the sailors, having served their time, pass into the reserve. They don the "reserve flask"—also used on a similar occasion in the army—and parade the streets wearing caps with ribbons which reach to the ground, other ribbons being attached to the canes they carry.

Paraguay.

In Paraguay there are more than twice as many women as men. This is due to the fact that some years ago in a political revolution and a war with Brazil and the Argentine Republic the men were almost exterminated.

A SPRING NEED

Weak, Tired and Depressed People Need a Tonic to Put the Blood Right.

Spring blood is bad blood. Indoor life during the winter months is responsible for weak, watery, impure blood. You need a tonic to build up the blood in spring just as much as the trees need new sap to give them vitality for the summer. In the spring bad blood shows itself in many ways. In some it breeds pimples and eruptions. In others it may be through occasional headaches, a variable appetite, perhaps twinges of neuralgia or rheumatism, or a lazy feeling in the morning and a desire to avoid exertion. For these spring ailments it is a tonic you need, and the greatest blood-making, health-giving tonic in all the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red, health-giving blood, which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing health, strength and energy to weak, despondent, ailing men and women. Here is proof. Mrs. Geo. Merritt, Sandy Cove, N.S., says: "I was weak, feeling miserable and terribly run down. The doctor whom I consulted said the trobule was anaemia, but he did not help me. A friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and it is simply impossible for me to over-estimate the good they have done me. I shall always recommend them to ailing friends."

But if you want new health you must get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, manufactured in Canada at Brockville, Ont. Other so-called pink pills are fraudulent imitations. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all reputable medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Eyes.

Every one, for hygenic reasons, should wash out the eyes with a 5 per cent solution of boric acid each morning and every night before retiring, for this bath not only cleanses them, but soothes and allays slight inflammation caused from cold or from strong winds and incidentally strengthens the eyeballs.

THE EDIFYING SOLDIER.

Sketch of One of the Great German Toy Warehouses.

The Troedel market is on a little island in the heart of the old town of Nuremberg. Along the north branch of the river is an old, low eaved house with a little darkling doorway. When you have got so far you are met by a little old man—a rusty little man who looks as though he were made of metal—who leads you into the great mysterious warehouse of toys.

Round all the walls they are ranged—guns, cannons, motors, steamships, trumpets, sabers, and everywhere the soldiers. How many millions of metal soldiers have marched away from the Troedel market not even the rusty old man could tell you—mighty articles of pewter and tin.

Hundreds of regiments, of battalions, of divisions, are drawn up on the shelves, waiting for the day when they shall be sent out into battle. And with a kind of pride the rusty old man says, "They are edifying soldiers."

That is the German way of putting it. What it means is that each army illustrates a battle or a campaign—the war of Troy, the campaigns of Alexander, the exploits of Coeur de Lion, the war of thirty years, the siege of Orleans, the victories of Napoleon, the battles of 1870 and (the one I liked best) that desperate battle in which a tiny tin hero with gleaming teeth rough rode it up San Juan hill. In a word, the edifying soldiers teach history, geography, strategy.—Vance Thompson in Everybody's.

EATING IN PUBLIC.

The Varied Sorrows of the Critical Man Who Dines Out.

What chance has the diner out of being completely happy? The mere actions of eating and drinking are neither pretty nor conducive to showing people at their best. It is really a most uncouth sight to see a man or a woman stoking food. The necessity of being polite at the same time makes it uncomfortable as well. No sooner have you got into conversation with a pleasant woman than the soup in your mustache stops all inspiration. She despises you for your play with your napkin, and your mustache is out of shape. And who can feel that the evening is going to be what he hoped when he realizes that his shirt front is smirched with some relic of the meal?

Indeed, dinner parties are really a struggle between eating and talking, a struggle which does not always end, as do most things, in the survival of the fittest. As one can't speak with one's mouth full and first hunger must be appeased, conversation and eating go on rather as a game, the one person whipping up some food while the other is speaking and then in his turn speaking in order to enable his partner to get some nourishment. To talk or to eat might be a sensible question at the beginning of dinner, but it is not one likely to be asked. One is seldom sure which is least worth sacrificing, the food or the conversation. How much simpler it would be if we fed apart and indulged in conversation afterward.—Macmillan's.

Shingling a House.

And I looked and beheld seven carpenters shingling a house. They were hauling up bundles of shingles that had been lying in the rain for two days and nailing them on one by one. In a few days the shingling will be done. Then the painter will come along with his ladders and brushes and stains, and $300 will be spent by the owner of the cottage to have it thoroughly dabbed. And in a little while the sun will shine, and all the shingles will buckle, some up, some down, until the cottage will resemble a frizzled chicken. And there will be leaks and cursings and lamentations. Now, brethren, why not be sensible in these small matters? Painters are not needed at all in a case of this kind. Keep your shingles dry; buy a few barrels of stain; soak the shingles in the stain and throw them on the grass to dry; then nail them to the clapboards. They will never buckle, they will never leak, and you have saved $300.

Forest Air.

There is a general impression that the humidity of the air is greater in the woods than in the open fields. This is contradicted, however, by the result of observations made in Germany. It was found there that the humidity, both relative and absolute, was slightly greater in the open than in the woods, and this was true equally in the morning and in the afternoon. As to the temperature of the air among the trees, it was a trifle higher than in the open in the morning and in a more marked degree in the afternoon.

A Comparison.

Thomas Sheridan, the father of Lady Dufferin, once displeased his father, who, remonstrating with him, exclaimed, "Why, Tom, my father would never have permitted me to do such a thing!" "Sir," said his son in a tone of the greatest indignation, "do you presume to compare your father to my father?"

HAD A NASTY BRONCHIAL COUGH

As an After Effect of Pneumonia--Nothing Proved Effective Until We Used

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine

Many a mother can say, as does Mrs. Harker in the following letter, that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proved a friend to her in time of colds with the little ones.

Mrs. Walter Harker, Sydenham, Frontenac country, Ont., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven a friend to me in times of colds with my little ones. I have tried many others, but have found none just as good. My little boy, about a year old, had pneumonia, and was left with a nasty bronchial cough, but Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is helping him wonderfully, and I am sure it will cure him.

"We have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with splendid results, and have great faith in all of Dr. Chase's medicines."

It may not have occurred to you that both bronchitis and asthma are diseases of the nerves of the bronchial tubes and lungs, and that this is why severe attacks of coughing are brought on whenever these nerves are irritated by changing temperature, the breathing of dust or emotional excitement.

It is by its remarkable facility for soothing the nerves and sheathing the delicate coating that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven so thoroughly effective as a a cure for bronchitis and asthma. Its power in these diseases is unquestionable.

Relief from coughing comes almost immediately and by persistent use cure is gradually and certainly brought about.

When the system is greatly run down it is advisable also to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in order to assist in restoring vigor to the wasted nerves.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

A New Danger

A Philadelphia physician warns the public against sitting with one leg crossed over the other.

"This apparently harmless habit," he says, "is likely to cause sciatica lameness, chronic numbness, ascending paralysis, cramps, varicose veins and their evils, including appendicitis. The reason is simple. The back of the knee, as well as the front of the elbow and wrist, the groin and the armpit, contains nerves and blood vessels which are less protected than those in other parts of the body. The space behind the knee contains two large nerves, a large artery and numerous veins and glands. It is the pressure on these nerves and vessels which is apt to give rise to the various troubles against which I give warning."

BABY'S SMILE.

Baby's smile indicates that he is well and happy. It is only the sick child who is cross and restless. And the mother can depend upon it that when her baby cries he is not crying simply to be ugly—that is not his nature—he is crying because he is in pain—most probably his little stomach is out of order. The mother will find Baby's Own Tablets a never failing cure for all the minor ailments of little ones. In the homes where the Tablets are used there are no cross, crying babies — nothing but bright, happy and playful babies—the kind that are a joy to the home. Mrs. Joseph Legree, Caraquet, N. B., says: "At the time I sent for Baby's Own Tablets my little one was weak and failing. He would cry night and day, and I did not seem able to get anything to help him. After giving him the Tablets there was a great change and he has since thrived finely." The Tablets are sold by druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Charlotte Bronte Poem That Has *Just Seen Light.

The London Times publishes a Bronte poem in its issue of Jan. 4, and says it was received from a correspondent at Haworth, to whose mother it was given by Charlotte Bronte. "Our correspondent," says The Times, "thinks the poem has never been printed, and, as far as we have been able to ascertain, it doesn't appear in any of the collected editions of poems by the Brontes."

Lines on the Celebrated Bewick.

The cloud of recent death is past away,
But yet a shadow lingers o'er his tomb
To tell that the pale standard of decay
Is reared triumphant o'er life's sullied bloom.

But now the eye bedimmed by tears may gaze
On the fair lines his gifted pencil drew;
The tongue unfalt'ring speak its meed of praise,
When we behold those scenes to nature true—

True to the common nature that we see
In England's sunny fields, her hills and dales;
On the wild bosom of her storm-dark sea,
Still heaving to the wind that o'er it wails.

How many winged inhabitants of air,
How many plume-clad floaters (?) of the deep,
The mighty artist drew in forms as fair
As those that now the skies and waters sweep.

From the great eagle with his lightning eye,
His tyrant glance, his talons dyed in blood,
To the sweet breather-forth of melody,
The gentle merry minstrel of the wood.

Each in his attitude of native grace
Looks on the gazer life-like, free and bold;
And if the rocks be his abiding place,
Far off appears the winged marauder's hold.

But if the little builder rears his nest
In the still shadow of green, tranquil trees,
And singing sweetly 'mid the silence blest,
Sits a meet emblem of untroubled peace.

"A change comes o'er the spirit of our dream."
Woods wave around in crested majesty,
We almost feel the joyous sunshine's beam
And hear the breath of the sweet south go by.

Our childhood's days return again in thought,
We wander in a land of love and light,
And mingled memories, joy—and sorrow—fraught,
Gush on our hearts with overwhelming might.

Sweet flowers seem gleaming 'mid the tangled grass,
Sparkling with spring drops from the rushing rill,
And as these fleeting visions fade and pass
Perchance some furtive tears our eyes may fill.

There rises some lone rock, all wet with surge
And dashing billows glimmering in the light
Of a wan moon whose silent rays emerge
From clouds that veil their lustre cold and bright.

And there, 'mongst reeds upon a river's side,
A wild bird sits, and, brooding o'er her nest,
Still guards the priceless gems, her joy and pride,
Now ripening 'neath her hope-enlivened breast.

We turn the page before the expectant eye,
A traveler stands lone on some desert heath;
The glorious sun is passing from the sky,
While fall his farewell rays on all beneath.

O'er the far hills a purple veil seems flung,
Dim herald of the coming shades of night;
E'en now Diana's lamp aloft is hung,
Drinking full radiance from the font of light.

Now we behold a marble Naiad placed
Beside a fountain on her sculptured throne,
Her bending form with simplest beauty graced,
Her white robes gathered in a snowy zone.

She from a polished vase pours forth a stream
Of sparkling water to the waves below,
Which roll in light and music, while the gleam
Of sunshine flings through shade a golden glow.

A hundred fairer scenes these leaves reveal,
But there are tongues that injure while they praise;
I cannot speak the rapture that I feel
When on the work of such a mind I gaze.

Then farewell, Bewick, genius' favored son;
Death's sleep is on thee; all thy woes are past;
From earth departed, life and labor done,
Eternal peace and rest are thine at last.

Nov. 27, 1832. C. Bronte.

*Thomas Bewick was one of the greatest of British wood engravers, born near Newcastle in 1753. He died in 1828. The most notable of his engravings include the illustrations of Aesop's Fables and Goldsmith's "Deserted Village."

The Easter Designer

April was chosen for the Easter number of the Easter Designer because costumes appropriate for Easter are more suitable for April than for March. And the designs of the new spring dresses are very attractive. The grace and practicability of The Designer models are winning many new friends among well-dressed women because of the ease of making and correctness in the fit.

The fiction in the April number is of more than ordinary interest. The continued story begun in the March number, "Economy Farm," by Miles Bradford, author of "Carlotta and I," has the second instalment in the April number. There is also an interesting article on "My Three Easters in the Far East," by Alexander Hume Ford, a man who has covered the world in travel and has had many interesting experiences. An Easter play for little folks will prove to be another possibility for home entertainment. And besides these there are many more articles of use and interest among the regular departments of The Designer which Designer readers know and look for from month to month.

At school Wilhelm had great difficulty with his arithmetic problems, and his teacher tried in vain to make him understand. Finally, to bring the matter home, he said:

The boy thought profoundly for a moment and then said:

"He would make up the weight with his thumb!"—Muskete.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

"No," was the answer.

The next question was, "Now, be careful; did you ever stop payment?"

"Yes," was the reply.

"Ah!" exclaimed the counsel, "I thought we should get at it at last. When did that happen?"

"After I had paid all I owed," was the answer.

A BAD MENTAL STATE.

It Is One of the Greatest Foes to Physical Beauty.

If I were asked what was the greatest foe to beauty in both man and women, I would say not errors in diet, not lack of exercise, not overwork, not corsets, not any one of these, but bad mental habits. If we observe closely the faces of the people we meet at random on the street, at the theater or in the great shops, we will observe that nearly all of them are characterized by the lined mouth, the drawn brows and other facial disfigurements which accompany bad mental states.

What do I mean by bad mental states? I mean anger, fear, worry, anxiety, irritability, regret, envy, jealousy, lack of trust in oneself and in the great good. All these are bad mental states, and all these destroy beauty not only by interfering with the action of the vital organs, but by directly disfiguring the expression of the face.

Unless the beauty seeking young woman is prepared to deliberately cultivate good nature, kindliness, calmness, cheerfulness even to hilarity, unless she is prepared to deliberately conquer all tendencies to the bad mental states above mentioned, there will be little or no results from her efforts to deveop in herself that most divine gift of beauty.—From "Health the Basis of Womanly Beauty," by Dr. W. R. C. Latson, in Outing Magazine.

SLEEVE PROTECTORS.

A Good Suggestion For Girls Who Do Office Work.

Instead of using typewriting paper with a band of elastic for keeping the sleeves protected when working in an office, how much better it would be to make use of the attractive handkerchiefs sold in the art departments of the large stores at 10 cents apiece. They are made in a very few minutes to fit the arm. One handkerchief makes a pair of sleeves. It is best to buy a handkerchief intended for a boy, as the ladies' size is too small.

To make place the handkerchief upon the table and cut off the two opposite corners four inches from the point. Then take the remaining part of the handkerchief and fold it in two, one point on top of the other, and cut across the center. Fit the pieces to the arm, the point being placed over the elbow and the two edges pinned to fit the arm at the side seam. When this is neatly sewed the sleeve protector is complete, with the exception of the cuff, which is made from the corner already cut off and which is neatly joined to the edge of the cuff and turned back on the arm. Four of these handkerchiefs would equip a girl nicely for office work. Two should last clean for a week, so that she would always have two fresh ones for the following week. These should be chosen, if possible, to match the gown. —Washington Star.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Pure, unadulterated cream, sweet and fresh, is excellent for softening and smoothing roughened skin.

Bran or starch sewed into bags and put in the bath water for a short while before using it will render the water soft.

Drinking a glass of water in which a tablespoonful of cornmeal has been allowed to soak for a few minutes regularly three times a day will help to clear the complexion.

When the hands are dirty try adding a little sugar to the soap with which they are washed. The sugar increases the lather and also the cleansing power of the soap and soon removes dirt and stains.

A delightful complexion powder is made thus: Two ounces each of zinc oxide and precipitated chalk, seven ounces of rice powder, one ounce each of talcum and orris root. Tint with carmine and perfume with oil of rose.

Dress and Age.

A gentlewoman never by any chance leaves her style of dressing open to the wonder how she managed to afford it, says Elizabeth Asstruther in the Complete Beauty Book. She leaves that wonder to a class of women with whom she has little indeed in common. And a gentlewoman is never so silly as to hope by her style of dressing to belie her age any more than her income. There are many women now called "fashionable" who dress themselves at sixty as they would at twenty-five, but they are not elegant women, however much they may pay for their clothes or for their steam yachts. A gentlewoman dresses girlishly in her girlhood and young matronly in her young matronhood and keeps on thus, wearing the livery of her years with a sweet dignity that makes the foolish pretense of the grandmother in a lingerie hat almost hideous.

Pin Money and Training.

For the girl who is to remain at home and wishes to earn her own pin money there is no better way than to take the catering off her mother's hands. One young girl of seventeen did this last summer with most satisfactory results. Her mother gave her at the beginning of each week a certain sum of money, the amount she knew from experience to be sufficient to cover the regular expenses of the table for the family. Whatever the young daughter could save from this amount was to be her commission. By careful selection and payments of cash for meats, vegetables and fruits she saved weekly from $1.50 to $2.50. By this method she learned the value of money; she also laid the foundation for a well conducted future home of her own, when she will not be classed with the "incompetent young housekeepers."

Pallas' Gray Shrike.

The nest and eggs of Pallas' gray shrike (Lanius major) are said to be still unknown to science.

Fie.

The word "fie" or its equivalent in sound exists in all languages and in every one is expressive of disgust. In the Icelandic the word "pfui" means putridity.

A Yoke That Lincoln Made.

The University of Illinois has lately added a number of relics to its Abraham Lincoln collection. Among other treasures in the university's possession is an ox yoke made by Lincoln at New Salem, Ill., in 1830, when he was twenty-one years old. It remained there until 1840, just after Lincoln's return from his only term in congress. Then Lincoln and his brother-in-law, Clark M. Smith, visited New Salem together. While there the two attended an auction sale of farm chattels, among which was the ox yoke. When the yoke was offered for sale it was treated as a novelty because made by a congressman. Lincoln acknowledged having made the yoke, and Mr. Smith bid it off, saying "it was worth taking home as a souvenir because made by his brother-in-law and a member of congress."

If a cough makes your nights sleepless and weary, it will worry you a good deal, and with good cause. To dispel the worry and give yourself rest try Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It exerts a soothing influence on the air passages and allays the irritation that leads to inflammation. It will subdue the most stubborn cough or cold, and eventually eradicate it from the system as a trial of it will prove to you.

After all, the farm will always be the fountain source of wealth.

SCORED ANOTHER WONDERFUL VICTORY

One More Added to the Long List of Cures Effected by Psychine.

This young lady, who lives in Brownsville, near Woodstock, Ont., tells her own story in a few effective words of how she obtained deliverance from the terrible grip of weakness and disease.

I have to thank Psychine for my present health. Two years ago I was going into a decline. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I could not sweep the carpet.

If I went for a drive I had to lie down when I came back. If I went for a mile on two on my wheel I was too weak to lift it through the gateway, and last time I came in from having a spin I dropped utterly helpless from fatigue. My father would give me no peace until I procured Psychine, knowing it was excellent for decline or weakness. I must say the results are wonderful, and my improvement has remarked people. Instead of a little pale, hollow cheeked, listless, melancholy girl, I am to-day full of life, ready for a sleigh ride, a skating match, or an evening party with anyone, and a few months ago I could not struggle to church, 40 roods from my home. I have never had the slightest cause to fear any return of the disease.

ELLA MURIEL WOOD,
Brownsville, Ont.

Thousands of women are using PSYCHINE, because they know from experience that in it they have a safe friend and deliverer. Psychine is a wonderful tonic, purifying the blood, driving out disease germs, gives a ravenous appetite, aids digestion and assimilation of food, and is a positive and absolute cure for disease of throat, chest, lungs, stomach and other organs. It quickly builds up the entire system, making sick people well and weak people strong.
