Vol. 38 No. 40 Established 1957 | WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1996 | 40 CENTS

Gary Kenwood was 15 years ahead of his time with the native plant program he started at Reid Collins Nurseries in Aldergrove. Today the company ships hundreds of thousands of these plants, along with millions of tree seedlings for forests in the province, as the environmental movement has caught on in a big way. However, Kenwood has sold the business -- see story, page 7. -Kurt Langmann photo

NO TO KIDS, YES TO STINK

Elks' camp rejected by ALC

By KURT LANGMANN

ALDERGROVE - In a bizarre display of bureaucratic power, the Agricultural Land Commission has approved a large mushroom composting operation immediately adjacent to an old residential subdivision here, and turned down the lease of two hectares of GVRD property in Aldergrove Lake Park for the Elk's Recreational Children's Camp. Both decisions were made this month and affect properties on the Abbotsford side of the 276 Street border with Langley Township. Residents and property owners are appealing both decisions.

B.C. Elks Clubs have been working on the project for many years, and have the formal agreement and support of the GVRD, which owns the entire section of land, between 8 and Zero Avenues, and 272 Street and LeFeuvre Road. Only the northwest corner is developed as public park, although the gravel pit at the north-east side will eventually be reclaimed as park -- if the land commission allows it. The entire south side, facing Zero Avenue, is leased out to crop farmers, and many of these in turn, sublet the houses perched on the hill that runs along the back of the lots. These include the Loucks heritage house, and the Shortreed log cabin that was recently moved and restored on the part of the lot which the Elks have leased.

Surrounding land uses are quite varied. On the east side of the municipal border are farms, major gravel pits, a cement plant, and the commercial composting operations of both The Answer and Kerry Seals. On the west side are more farms, the customs and border offices, duty-free shop, a golf course currently under development, and the Matsqui Indian Reservation of which most is leased out for a senior citizens' mobile home park called Pioneer Park.

The Elks camp would only require two hectares of the 21.4 hectare lot, leaving the GVRD free to lease the flatland in front out for farm purposes, such as broccoli or hay. This residential group camp would give special needs and inner city children a supervised experience of life in the country, similar to other camps elsewhere in the province. This arrangement was negotiated by the GVRD and Elks, with Abbotsford city's support, as beneficial to all of the community, but the land commission has disagreed.

In a letter to the Elks, dated Sept. 17, ALC general manager Kirk Miller wrote that, "Although the commission is sympathetic to the plight of the Elks Recreational Children's Camp Society in its search for an appropriate camp location in the Fraser Valley, it was felt that the introduction of an urban recreational node onto the subject property was inappropriate, as it would increase the pressure for further non-farm development on surrounding lands in the

Fair time fun for all at mall

ALDERGROVE - The Fall Fair brings good old-fashioned country fun to the Aldergrove Mall, this Saturday, October 5 from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Hosted by the Aldergrove Agricultural Association since 1912, this year's fair once again features local competition in categories from needlework to flowers and produce. There's no entry fees, but there's the prestige of winning ribbons and showing off your work to your neighbours.

Copies of the program are available at the mall, but contestants can simply bring their entry to the mall this Friday, Oct. 5 between 6 and 9 p.m. to register. There's also special contests for scarecrows and giant pumpkins. Call 857-0588 for details.

Special attractions during the fair will include a chili cookoff, that so far has six teams competing and a celebrity panel of judges. Kids' attractions include a train ride and a bubble inflatable play area. For seniors, there's a Pie and Tea, hosted by Cindy's Daily Grind in the mall. There will be live entertainment, including the Buttons & Bows Square Dance club. Displays feature Highland Nurseries, the antique engine club, and a number of crafters, quilters, spinners and weavers.

Join in the fun of a community tradition this Saturday, by competing with, or admiring, the skills of local growers and artisans.

Citizens bust armed robber for the RCMP

By KURT LANGMANN

ALDERGROVE - Talk about your late-breaking news story landing right on your backstep.

On Tuesday afternoon, shortly before 4 p.m., citizens ran down a knife-wielding bandit who'd just robbed the cold beer store at the Alder Inn. Finding himself surrounded by a large group of angry passersby, the suspect dropped the eight-inch blade and a bag with the stolen money, and laid face down on The Star's loading bay.

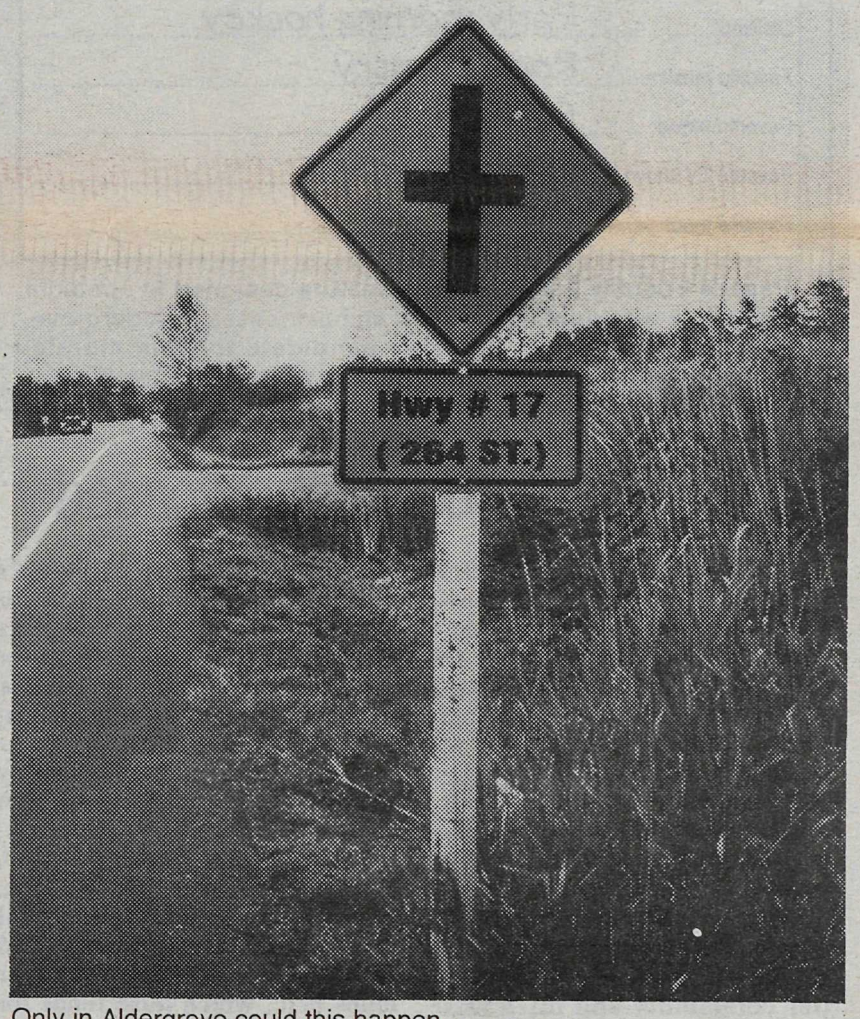
The crowd stood guard there, chatting and joking, until half a dozen RCMP officers arrived on foot, on their bikes and inside cars. The police handcuffed the suspect, put him in a patrol car, gathered up the evidence and took witnesses to the community policing station to make formal statements. An officer lectured the Alder Inn's owner about keeping too much cash on hand, and it was all over in minutes.

One of the men who made the citizen's arrest, Mike, told The Star that he was stopped at the Fraser Highway-272 Street intersection when an overweight and shaven-headed man with a knife in one hand and a bag in the other, darted across the highway. Observing the commotion at the beer store, he put two and two together, and turned north to track the suspect.

"None of us were going to touch him with that knife in his hand, but there were too many of us for him, he just gave up. He wasn't in the best of shape and looked like he was on something or other, and the run took all the fight out of him," said Mike. "It was no problem."

Blake Timmerman, proprietor of the Book Shop Music Stop, said the suspect had been coming into his shop in recent weeks, "but he never bought anything."

In a somewhat related item, Dave Hockins retrieved The Star's cashbox from Bertrand Creek during River's Day celebrations and brought it to The Star, Monday morning. The cashbox had been stolen two weeks earlier in a smash and grab, when a vandal kicked in the front door. The Star has alarms and does not keep cash on premises.



Only in Aldergrove could this happen.

Directions good for tourism

ALDERGROVE - Ron Blair wants to know if there have been lineups of tourists at the Aldergrove border crossing, wondering where the Tsawwassen ferry terminal went.

Three weeks ago, the Hope resident first noticed the new Highways Ministry signs on 16 Avenue, advising motorists that "Hwy # 17 (264 St.)" was coming up. At the 264 Street intersection, signs correctly identify it as "Route 13."

After placing seven phone calls to officials, who didn't know what he was talking about, Blair was referred to a spokesman in Surrey who said, "Oops."

"Today (Oct. 1) I see they've painted out the '17' and left it blank," said Blair. "That's really helpful."

For the benefit of motorists, Hwy 13 is the section of 264 Street between the border and the freeway (Hwy 1). Hwy 17 leads to Tsawwassen.

A large group of volunteers turned out on Rivers Day, Sunday, to hammer the decking and rails into place at the new bridge over Bertrand Creek near 268 Street and 32 Avenue. It's almost completed, but the team invites help to finish the ramps this Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The Bertrand Creek Enhancement Society received funding from the Aldergrove Rotary Club of $10,000 and the Township of Langley of $20,000. However, without the contributions of materials, equipments and labour -- at cost or free of charge -- from Cloverdale Truss Co., Pinnacle Construction Ltd., and Valley Gravel Sales, this project could not have been done at this price. -Kurt Langmann photo

Community groups showcased

ALDERGROVE - The first Community Organization Showcase will bring together at least a dozen local non-profit clubs for the first time, this Monday, Oct. 7 at 7 p.m., at the Kinsmen Community Centre.

Organized by Bruce Strongitharm, the president of the Aldergrove Community Centre Society, the goal is to have the groups network for the overall good of the community. "Members of our organizations are all committed to the improvement of our community and often raise funds to sponsor other groups or projects -- however, we may be unfamiliar with the efforts of other fundraising groups."

The agenda includes a brief presentation of each group's objectives and mission, plans for this year's projects, as well as identify possible joint projects for the community and a method of maintaining ongoing communications between the clubs.

Strongitharm has formally invited representatives from Aldergrove Seniors' Network, Veterans' Resort Society, OAPO, Elks, Lions, Rotary, RC Legion, Kinsmen, Kinettes, Agricultural Association, Royal Purple and Thrift Shop. If there are other clubs here, which raise funds for groups other than themselves, their representatives would be welcome to attend, too. For information call Strongitharm at 856-9519.

SUPPORTS MAYOR

New duo calls for responsible spending

By KURT LANGMANN

LANGLEY - Two more Township residents stepped forward, Tuesday, to confirm that they are seeking election to council this Nov. 16. Aldergrove resident Bruce Strongitharm and Brookswood resident May Barnard said they are joining forces, because they have similar goals and can help each other become familiar to voters in their respective communities.

In a joint news release, Strongitharm and Barnard said they are "responding positively to Mayor John Scholtens' determination to provide taxpayers with solid leadership and fiscal responsibility. (We) oppose the construction of the proposed $36-million cultural centre in Murrayville."

Barnard said, "Mayor Scholtens campaigned in 1993 on the issue of no new municipal hall, yet that's what this cultural centre has become, along with a music school, a library and a restaurant, and other amenities the public has not been given the opportunity to vote for or against."

Strongitharm added, "I'm concerned with the irresponsible spending of taxpayers' dollars without taxpayers' approval, particularly in the case of the so-called cultural centre. We're encouraging Mayor Scholtens to continue his efforts at the council table, and run for re-election."

Strongitharm and his family have lived in Aldergrove for 13 years, and Bruce has been involved with community causes:

May Barnard

past-president of Aldergrove Kinsmen, president of Aldergrove Community Centre Society, secretary-treasurer of Kinsmen Rehabilitation Foundation of B.C., and member of Aldergrove Festival Days and Aldergrove Music Society. A BCIT graduate who continues to serve on the advisory board of the BCIT Lumber and Plywood Program, Bruce is manager of the specialty products division of Primex Forest Products. He was born in Nanaimo.

Barnard and family have lived in Brookswood for 21 years, and May is a general insurance agent with Willis Corroon in Langley. She's a past-president and charter member of Langley Sunrise Rotary Club, and has volunteered her time with Magic Years Parent Participation Pre-school, Langley Central Fundamental PTG, Langley Minor Football (director for five years), as a soccer mom, and the First Langley Cubs and Scouts at St. Andrew's Anglican Church. May was born in Port Alberni.

Aldergrove flexes its muscles

ALDERGROVE - Yet another longtime resident of this community has put his name forward in the race for Township council, Nov. 16.

Erik Simonsen and his wife have lived on a culdesac near the Abbotsford border for 14 years, and he's worked for Abbotsford's Eaton's in sales for 16 years.

Simonsen told The Star that a number of local issues have set him off, including the state of suburban sidewalks and snowplowing.

"I'm concerned about the shape of this town, and now they want to put mushroom composting right on our border."

He added that while he shares residents' frustration about the state of the local municipal water, he's afraid of the possibility of connection to Abbotsford's system. "It's even worse than ours -- I know, because I work there and have to use it every day."

Simonsen's entry into the race brings the number of Aldergrove area (any part east of 248 Street) contenders for council to four. Others confirmed are incumbent Trudi Campen, and first-time contestants Bruce Strongitharm and Kurt Langmann.

Volunteers clean up town

Editor, The Star, Sir,

On Saturday, September 14, an enthusiastic contingent of local citizens joined the Aldergrove Revitalization Committee in the "Weedin & Whitenin Work Party - Part II". I would like to take this opportunity to thank those 40 people who swarmed Fraser Highway sidewalks from 273 Street west to 271 Street. Gerry and Sharon and children should also be recognized for taking on their pet project: cleaning in front of and in the playground of Aldergrove Elementary School. Three cheers to the Alder Grove Heritage Society who were out cleaning along 271 Street and 32 Avenue too. Don't ever believe there isn't community spirit, enthusiasm and muscle out here in Aldergrove!

I hope to see even more willing community hands at our last clean up for the season on October 19th.

The Aldergrove Revitalization Committee and the community thank: Jan Varty, Burt Mazerall, Darlene Sherwin, Reg Sherwin, John Scholtens, Tami Quiring, Jim Fuller, Eleanor Parkinson, Stephanie Cuff, Bruce Strongitharm, Lynn Whitehouse (Langley Chamber of Commerce), Kim Brandt, May Barnard (Langley Rotary - Sunrise), John Barnard, Michelle Coleman, Rich Coleman, Kevin Boese, Dan Unrau, Kate Unrau (Aldergrove Vineyard Church), Brian Gerbrandt, Julie Gerbrandt, Caleb Gerbrandt, Brianna Gerbrandt, Irm Park, Dean Dahl (Young Life Canada), Lindsay, Andrew, Mark, June Willson (Alder Grove Heritage Society), Doreen Brinnen, Heather McMullan, Gerry Lageries, Sharon Prokuda, Bethany Prokuda, Jordan Prokuda, Devon Miller, Dustin Miller.

Flying rocks and broken windshields

Editor, The Star, Sir,

Currently I drive a 1996 Ford Ranger pickup. On September 28, while driving westbound on the Fraser Highway near 232 Street, my vehicle windshield was "rock damaged". The cause was the usual one, an eastbound gravel truck. I have lived at this address for 20 years. On an average once to twice a year I sustain this type of damage from these gravel trucks. There are two other vehicles at this address. The story of rock damage and gravel trucks is also the same for them. When you do some rough calculations, it works out to about a $1,000 a year to keep these vehicles in windshields.

The gravel trucks are usually untarped, thus gravel blows off them during transit. During loading and off-loading, gravel gets dumped on their fenders and frames, and again gets blown off during transit. Rocks also get jammed in their tires, and thrown out at considerable force during transit. The gravel truck drivers seem unable to operate their rigs responsibly. The police seem unable to correct the gravel truck operators' behaviour.

It would appear that the solution to the problem might be a special "Gravel Truck Tax" to offset the costs of windshield damage to ICBC and its customers in the Fraser Valley.

S. WELSH, Aldergrove

Let's talk about this composting issue

Editor, The Star, Sir,

According to senior staff of the City of Abbotsford, "if the zoning is in place, permits are obtained, construction is done properly, there is nothing we can do. If the structure is up, there is no recourse."

The message from Environment B.C. is equally discomforting. They say "odour complaints are very difficult. We haven't had a lot of success in dealing with odour complaints."

At a recent meeting of Council, Mayor Ferguson suggested a nuisance bylaw. We very much welcome good intentions, but the record in other communities suggests this may have little impact.

The GVRD has only now taken strong action - after 25 years of complaints. Only after 3,000 complaints. A recent GVRD news release states that "extensive cooperative efforts" involving local residents and government have failed to eliminate the problem and that Money's has failed to implement the odour control measures recommended in 1990.

A member of council has told us that council does not have the authority at this time to require installation of filters and scrubbers. The operator at the 2315 Lefeuvre Rd. site has said he does not intend to voluntarily install such equipment. If council doesn't have the authority, and the operator will not do it, how can we anticipate anything but a stalemate?

We have heard the complaints, the frustration and the anger of the residents of South Parallel, Langley and Surrey. We also know that in the SW area of Abbotsford there has for several years been an awareness of bad air from the operations in the vicinity of Huntingdon and Lefeuvre. Some evenings the air from those sites gets so disgusting that people have to close their windows even three miles away.

We can hope that the operator at 2315 Lefeuvre will do better. We can hope that Mr. Hung Do will choose to be a responsible member of this community. However, since he doesn't even live here, why should he? It won't affect the air he or his children breathe. Why should we expect he will be anymore willing to do it right than Money's? Even Money's initially promised there would be no foul odours outside the walls of their buildings.

In spite of the record of composters elsewhere, and in spite of the odours emanating from the South Parallel site and the Huntingdon/LeFeuvre Rd. operations, our observation is that our local government is willing to continue on this path.

Our wish is not to discourage investment in our community. We recognize that it is beneficial, and we welcome it. At this time, however, we feel that these two composting companies, (on South Parallel and on LeFeuvre) which have not been permitted to do business in Langley, now are being given every consideration here. Local taxpayers who have invested their time, finances and energies, on the other hand, are feeling ignored.

We have been told by some members of council there was a lack of sufficient information as to the implications, when they made the initial decisions concerning the South Parallel and Lefeuvre sites. We certainly understand that this does sometimes happen, without any harm intended. Now there is a realization that these operations can be enormously troublesome.

Wouldn't it be prudent therefore to examine this situation more completely, before councillors pass amendments making it easier for these operations to carry on their business? Why rush further into something that is already a major dilemma both here and in other communities?

If councillors want to avoid the protests we have seen in Surrey and Langley, this would be the time to pause and evaluate the situation. It could save our community a great deal in terms of staff and council time, as well as other resources, including finances.

Rather than travel further on what could be a difficult road both now and in the future, we urge council to defer any decision concerning the amendments. We believe the citizens of Abbotsford have a right to be involved in the present process.

We suggest therefore that a committee be established to examine the implications of composting for Abbotsford. Currently there are individuals at both the provincial and municipal government levels who have some responsibility and considerable knowledge regarding composting. These would be helpful on the committee. Abbotsford council should be represented. Also the operators of these sites. Further, we would want an adequate number of affected members of the community to sit on the committee. Because of his growing experience with this issue and his ability to deal both with government and the community, we suggest that Richard Danzinger might be asked to assemble such a committee and possibly give direction to it.

We thank council for listening to our concerns last week. Now we ask council to put in place a process that will protect the property values and lifestyle of Abbotsford citizens.

ART MARTENS,
Coalition for Clean Air

Let's hear it for "Lord Jim"

Editor, The Star, Sir,

After three terms on Township council, I can honestly label Jim Godfrey, Township administrator, with one phrase: saving money on the people's behalf!

Don't take my word for it, ask the Fraser Institute, a right wing fiscal think tank; Jim won the local government award for his budgeting system, "Challenge, change and the bottom line", #1 in the country! Rumour has it, you couldn't order a pencil without justifying a savings for the people of Langley.

Perhaps you could ask other administrators in the GVRD. Jim was a leader in their association, and again rumour had it, Jim could have taken the regional manager's job after he retires some time this year. Incidentally, he did save the ratepayers of Langley millions of future dollars by putting his foot down on the GVRD and negotiating a new deal for the Township's sewerage charges. I sit on the GVRD Sewer, Drainage and Air Quality Committee, and the staff chuckle every time Langley's name is mentioned, because they know that the region is going to give something else up. Last month they took over a $2-million debt owing to the Northwest Langley treatment plant. Thank Jim for that too.

Who else could you ask, perhaps the people from the following groups:

The Planning Institute of B.C. - our Langley Tomorrow survey received a planning award for creating a community based on what the residents who live in it think.

The Agricultural Land Reserve board - our Langley Rural Plan serves as a model for the province. It helps to protect our farms and the people who own and work on them.

The national Active Living program - Langley was only one of five chosen in Canada.

The people involved with public private partnerships - currently a signed deal with the private sector to build four rinks in Northwest Langley. This could save Township taxpayers 6-8 million dollars.

The Long Term Financial Plan Committee - a group of citizens that presented policies which drive the financial resources of Langley for 20 years and beyond, based on user pay, risk, efficiency in service delivery, new growth funding itself and many other strong fiscal principles.

The Growth Management Task Force - another award from the Planning Institute of B.C. based on a number of planning principles and building complete communities.

Staff using the Innovation Fund - $130,000 has been loaned to different departments for staff to implement innovative ideas, again which save the Township money.

People involved with TIPS - over 100 ideas have been submitted to make the community run more efficiently.

There are many more task forces and community members which are grateful for Jim's input.

Jim Godfrey served the Township of Langley as an administrator for some 16 years. Jim is perhaps one of the most dedicated persons whom I have ever met. He is committed to the people of Langley to a fault, maybe his own health has suffered because of it. He works a minimum of 60 hours per week and is available by telephone virtually 24 hours a day. He lives, breathes and sleeps the business of this community. I am certain that he loves this community. He has helped to mold new people in our organization, and even assisted to guide reluctant councillors like myself to understand the meaning of the majority of council.

I support Jim's move to Whistler, he has accomplished much in Langley and will leave the community with a clean financial bill of health. Whistler, despite all the press and glamour will have to join the 21st century now, and try and catch up with Langley. You see, it's not the money and glitter that make up a community, it's the people, and deep down Jim Godfrey is one of Langley's people.

STEVE FERGUSON,
Councillor, Langley

Arts boost

Editor, The Star, Sir,

It was with great interest that I read in the Aldergrove Star your proposal that a concert series be organized and presented in Aldergrove. From such a modest beginning, the very successful community concert series has for years brought the best to people in hundreds of small centres.

In recent years many leading musicians have travelled through out Canada performing for local audiences in rural communities. The enthusiastic reception they receive has indeed compensated for the less than ideal facilities.

Congratulations on your commitment to your community. Support and promotion at the local level are essential to the development of a strong arts component in our lives. Then, indeed we can say the arts are alive and well in Langley.

Editor, The Star, Sir,

Just want to thank you for your leadership in the music and arts in Aldergrove. The Music Society at the Secondary School greatly appreciates all you have done and are doing on our behalf. Your generosity has been a benefit to many. Thank you so much.

THE CHALLENGE

Wear the brightest of umbrellas,
Put a smile upon your face;
The rain is taking up residence,
It's not going anyplace;
Carry that brilliant splash of colour
As that wet comes pouring down,
And just keep on a-smiling,
That stuff won't heed your frown;
No point in sighing as you wish
For the summer sun,
A change of seasons is ahead
Before summer's re-run.

ALR. Furthermore, whenever urban recreational uses are located in close proximity to agricultural lands, the likelihood of conflicts between the users of the recreational facilities and surrounding farm operators, particularly in regard to smells, noise, spraying and damage to farm property, increases dramatically."

Aldergrove Elks spokesman, Tom Miller said they are waiting to see what comes of the GVRD's appeal to the ALC, and if that fails he "hopes there will be a great uproar. I don't know any reasonable person who wouldn't be in favour of it." Elks began the plan for the miniature farm, with bunkhouses for 48 children at the perimeter, in 1991. They restored the Shortreed cabin, drilled a new well, and put a new roof on the old farmhouse, which would be occupied by a caretaker, hired to look after the farm and animals.

Abbotsford's planning director, Richard Danzinger told The Star that he was "stunned by the bad news" letter, especially at this late date in the process. GVRD Parks spokesperson, Wendy Dadalt said they were also surprised, and the GVRD intends to file an appeal. MLA Mike de Jong is currently out of town on government business, but neighbouring MLAs John van Dongen and Richard Coleman said they would pursue the matter on his behalf.

Coleman met with Langley Township mayor John Scholtens, Monday morning, and both men told The Star that the ALC's decision made little sense. "They only need two hectares, and the benefits outweigh the 'urban sprawl' complaints -- I don't see the impact," said Coleman. "The Elks have a number of these camps, but this would be the first in the Fraser Valley area."

Scholtens worried that "this will be an ugly precedent" in that it "calls into question whether designated parklands will be allowed to become parks." He cited the GVRD's ongoing purchases of Fraser River frontages, some of which are farmlands, which will eventually be consolidated into a regional park along this side of the Fraser. "When the GVRD put the parking lot, toilets and trail at the Hassel heritage house, at Two-Bit Bar, did they get the land commission's permission first? That's farmland, two acres surrounded by cornfields." Scholtens said there were many other similar cases throughout the township.

"The ALC's 'raison d'etre' is to preserve farms," said Scholtens, "but if they take that to the 'nth' degree on everything, they're out of touch with reality."

Worried residents take compost to committee

ALDERGROVE - A large number of residents turned up at last Wednesday's meeting of the Aldergrove Revitalization Committee, to express their concerns, and ask questions about mushroom composting facilities under construction at 2315 LeFeuvre Road. The facility operators have signed a covenant with the Agricultural Land Commission, which allows them to compost growing medium for four mushroom farms, some of which are in Langley Township.

Abbotsford city planner, Richard Danzinger told the crowd that the facility could be in operation by November, and in response to concerns from residents, council has proposed a nuisance bylaw to deal with any odour complaints.

Several residents complained that, while the facility will be in the land reserve, it is immediately adjacent to a residential subdivision that's more than 30 years old, and less than a mile from downtown Aldergrove. An Abbotsford developer is also planning a 160-unit subdivision development nearby, inside the 210 acres of Abbotsford adjacent to Aldergrove that's never been part of the land reserve.

Art Martens said they supported farming and wanted a positive solution for all parties, but warned that if the composting facility fouls the air, "We'll have to launch a class-action suit for the loss of our property values." He said neighbours have had no complaints about any of the bonafide farms currently operating there, but the experiences with both The Answer and Money's industrial-scale composting operations have not given them confidence that government is able to control emissions.

In related news, Danzinger told ARC that the 210 acres abutting Aldergrove town are designated urban reserve in the new official community plan. There is no intention of creating a major shopping area, although subdivision of 7,000 square foot lots was likely the typical size that'll be allowed.

Danzinger said, "Money's is not interested in an Abbotsford location, because they're afraid of replicating the situation they have now in Surrey on the Langley border." Chilliwack mayor John Les has welcomed a move to that area, and Danzinger added that the BC Supreme Court ruling, banning mushroom composting in Langley Township, "is currently under appeal."

ARC has asked Township council to consider writing Abbotsford council, suggesting that site-specific zoning bylaws for composting be drawn up, as current bylaws permit the land use in all of Abbotsford's rural areas. The committee also asked the Township to work on local traffic problems, and a new official community plan for the Langley side of Aldergrove.

Cannons objections put to board

ABBOTSFORD - Three neighbours in south LeFeuvre Road have made one of the first formal complaints with the province's new Farm Review Board. The gripe is with the propane cannons used by the H. Grewal blueberry farm at 202 LeFeuvre.

In the letter, dated Sept. 24, Ernst Steckler, Roger and Anne Clapham, and Charles Wiebe said the cannon, used to frighten away birds between July 9 and August 29, was operated "in a manner which is not in keeping with acceptable farm practice."

The complainants questioned whether there are standards for "allowable noise levels" and observed that "no government body is willing or equipped to measure them." They also asked that the board's filing fees policy be modified.

Peace painting travels around the globe

By KURT LANGMANN

ALDERGROVE - Nasrin Gjero is a Danish citizen who's travelling the world with a painting to promote world unity. She brought the canvas to MLA Rich Coleman's office Monday, to have Coleman and Mayor John Scholtens add their dabs of colour to the painting of the world being held up by 19 hands.

Inspired by last year's world conference in Denmark, Gjero started out with the support of her hometown mayor, in Holbaek city. Soon she had Danish education minister, Ole Vig Jensen and the Queen of Denmark onside, and she's travelled since through Europe, Asia and Canada, gathering support from officials wherever she stopped.

Each participant chooses their colour: green for hope, yellow for light and red for love, and dabs a spot of the colour onto any part of the globe in her painting.

"Next are Greenland and India," said Gjero, adding that it won't be complete until she's visited Africa and Australia. She said the episode that got her going on the project was the news of the difficulties faced by Bosnian refugees when the war in the former Yugoslavia broke out. "I cried that night when I saw on the news that some people were against taking in the refugees."

She said the significance of the 19 hands lies in her faith, but this is not meant to be a painting aimed at any denomination. "We are all flowers of the same garden."

Double-curbs send people flying

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

ALDERGROVE - Vince Ferrante, owner of Lady Bean Cafe at 271 Street and Fraser Highway, has become livid about the incomplete roadwork along 271 Street and the Township's unwillingness to do anything about it.

Many people, including Ferrante, his cook, and several seniors attending Kuts and Kurls Salon, have tripped on the 'extra curb' that runs along side the existing curb. Last week his wife tripped and tore ligaments in her leg.

When Ferrante contacted the Township regarding the incomplete repaving of the road, he was transferred from department to department, and no one really knew what was happening with the road. Someone told him the item was in the budget for 1997.

Wayne Randell of Township Operations Department, however, said the repaving of the road is 'being considered' for the 1997 budget, which has not yet gone before council.

He said the Township is waiting with the road's 'final lift' for development along the road to be finished.

"We have to wait until development along the street is complete, because further development usually means the road has to be torn back up." he said.

"If this was the only road problem we had in the Township, I would be happy to fix it tomorrow."

In the meantime residents using the street are reminded to be careful when stepping on or off the sidewalk and getting in and out of vehicles.

Anyone with complaints can call the Operations Department at 532-7306.

Kenwoods sell family business in Aldergrove

By KURT LANGMANN

ALDERGROVE - Gary and Louise Kenwood have sold their business here, but they are keeping their home here and will continue to contribute to the community. Gary is also now on contract as a senior consultant with Pacific Regeneration Technologies Inc., the new owners of Reid, Collins Nurseries Ltd.

The 40-acre treefarm and greenhouses at 2396 - 272 Street will become PRT-Reid Collins Nursery, effective Nov. 1, and the new general manager will be Reg Renner, the current manager of PRT-Ladner Nursery. The sale also included another five acres in production across the road, as well as another 12 leased acres nearby. However, none of the 24 permanent jobs will be affected, and there will still be the need for about 55 or more seasonal workers, said Kenwood.

"Pacific Regeneration is a good outfit," said Kenwood. "It also provides a better scope for staff to move upward. They want to expand their forest seedlings output, and they're very interested in our 'native plant' program. I'll be involved in the same business, as a senior consultant assigned to specific projects."

About 60 percent of Reid Collins' production is silviculture, mostly on contract with the forest ministry and logging companies. Their output of over 9-million seedlings, such as Douglas fir, is a substantial part of the 220-million seedlings required every year throughout the province.

The other 40 percent of the business is supplying native plants and landscape material such as ornamentals. Kenwood said that the ornamental aspect is likely going to be phased out altogether, partly because there are so many other ornamental growers, but mostly because the native plant demand has grown by leaps and bounds.

These native plants include dunegrass, ferns, Oregon grape, maple trees, wetland aquatic plants and many other varieties -- and all are grown from seeds, spores and cuttings collected in the field. "Sometimes, when an area is developed for housing, we can go in and take live plants, but this opportunity is rare. It's desecrating one area for the benefit of another. So we've become very good at collecting seed and growing from them, even with varieties the experts say we should have difficulty with," said Kenwood.

"It's something we started in the late '70s, early '80s, and it never caught on at first. We had to throw much of it away in the early years, because it wouldn't sell, but it's really taken off in the '90s."

It's becoming popular with backyard gardeners, who wish to plant more natural groundcovers. Reid Collins wholesales the native plants to all the major nursery retailers in this area. However, the most lucrative market has been reclamation projects, where companies are required to replace natural growth after major projects have been completed.

Reid Collins' native plants have been used by Suncorp at their oilsands developments. Highland Copper has been another major buyer. When rail lines were twinned in Banff and Jasper Parks, Reid Collins' staff went in first to collect seeds and cuttings, which grew the native plants that have been replanted alongside the tracks. Forest companies have also started using groundcovers supplied by Reid Collins.

One of Kenwood's proudest achievements was winning a five-year, $425,000 contract with the city of Seattle and Washington state, for native plants surrounding their new secondary sewage treatment plant. The 25 acre site on the oceanside, called West Point, involved growing all manner of indigenous plants, from dunegrass to Douglas firs. Thanks to the landscaping, the treatment plant is not visible, except from the air, and allows for park trails around the facilities.

"This was very complicated and we needed a lot of lead time, but it was a great opportunity. We have found a unique niche in the market, and PRT is going to expand it," said Kenwood. Presently, for example, they are shipping 50,000 ferns and 80,000 salal plants annually.

PRT has eight nurseries in B.C. and one in Alberta. Kenwood started out on leased property on Ross Road, moving on to Langley and Ladner, before finding his permanent location in Aldergrove in 1981. He started Reid Collins with a partner in a consulting firm, before buying sole ownership in 1986.

"PRT is a B.C.-based company... (and) the acquisition of Reid Collins is consistent with PRT's strategic plan to expand the company's nursery capacity in western Canada through acquisition or expansion of existing facilities," said Kenwood. "Reid Collins brings to the PRT Nursery Group qualified and experienced staff together with substantial production facilities, and we expect the merger will add significantly to the capabilities of both companies."

Gary and Louise Kenwood are well-known here for their contributions to Aldergrove Rotary Club, Girl Guides and the Chamber of Commerce, among other endeavours. While Gary's career change may take him across the country and around the world in coming years, the couple intend to keep their roots in Aldergrove.

Otter 4-H enjoys community support

By CHRISTINE MORRIS

LANGLEY – Another year has come to an end in the Otter 4-H Lamb & Swine Club.

We went to three fairs this year; Haney Ridge Meadows Fair, Chilliwack Fair and the PNE. We did really well at all of them. The PNE was the last fair we attended this year and probably the best out of them all. We spent six nights in the bottom of the Pacific Coliseum (dormitories) and had busy days tending our livestock and interacting with the public.

We want to thank all of the people who bid on or bought our market animals at the PNE auction. We greatly appreciated their support. The buyers were: Britco Meats, Fletchers Meats, Ennis Meats, Gilbert Farms - Joe Gilbert, Otter Co-op, Janet Jackman, Stan Jones Logging, Bonetti Meats, Sandy Robley, Keg in the Country, John Craig Construction, R.B.S. Gourmet Butchers, Wright's Logging, Newcourt Farms, Cummings Contracting, Garde Gardom and Preston Chev-Oldsmobile.

Our sincere thanks to all the above buyers and hope to see you at next year's PNE.

Dunbar links this town to the world

ALDERGROVE – The Aldergrove Seventh-day Adventist church has selected Michael Dunbar as local coordinator for an inter-continental satellite program called Discoveries in Prophecy. According to Dunbar the program will be the largest evangelistic meeting ever held in North America.

Airing by satellite from Orlando, Florida, October 5 to November 9, the program will be sent by downlink to an estimated 5,000 churches in the United States, Canada, Europe, Brazil and 68 locations in Central America. The speaker for the 25-night series, Beyond 2000, How to Thrive in Tough Times, is Mark Finley of Thousand Oaks, California. Finley is heard locally, Sunday mornings on the program It is Written on BCTV.

Dunbar said a similar program called Net '95 also originated from Tennessee in October 1995.

"Many were skeptical regarding the use of a satellite for an evangelistic meeting," he said. "However, with 676 churches participating in the initial program, it turned out to be a remarkable success.

"The opening night attendance in churches and halls across North America was 66,165 by actual count," he continued.

The Aldergrove Church has installed a downlink system in preparation for the Discoveries in Prophecy lectures.

Organizers expect an opening night audience of over 125,000 people in churches and halls around the world.

Dunbar said the public is invited to the meetings which will be held at the Aldergrove Seventh-day Adventist Church at 26245–28 Avenue, beginning each evening at 7:30 pm. He added that baby-sitting will be provided, at no cost, beginning each evening at 7 pm. Call the church at 856-5830 for more information.

Locals in all club drags

MISSION – Four classes of racing competed Sept. 29 for a fun day of drag racing at Mission Raceway Park. In the Pro class, a pair of Richmond drivers met in the final. The 1932 Plymouth of Larry 'Elvis' Tremblay defeated one of the hottest drivers around, Martin Rachel. Tremblay's big block Chevy-powered 1932 Plymouth had a good .518 reaction time, compared to the Rachel '78 Malibu's .534. Tremblay's 10.684/122.81 on a 10.67 dial-in defeated Rachel's 10.72 breakout (10.73 dial-in).

In Modified, Aldergrove's Derek Wood got his first ever Mission win. His 1962 Chevy II had a .543 reaction time coupled to a 11.179/114.78 mph (11.12 dial-in) to win over the 1979 AMC Spirit of another Richmond driver Garry Kelly, whose numbers were .530, 12.297/110.61 mph on a 12.18 dial-in.

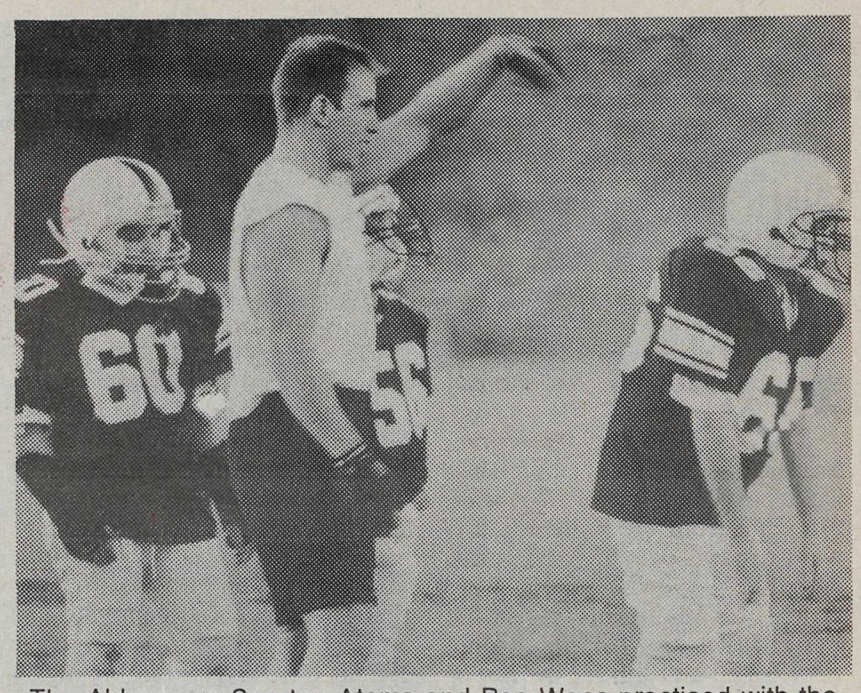
The final Drag Racing event for the 1996 on October 5 and 6 will feature the regular E.T. Bracket Classes, the Canada Engines Super Shifter Class for stick shift cars and the Coke/Lordco Super Quick series. Racing gets under way 9 am both days with time trials and qualifying on Saturday and eliminations Sunday.

Fraser Downs has grand day

SURREY – The grand opening of Fraser Downs, formerly Cloverdale Raceway, on Saturday, October 5, will be the greatest British Columbia harness racing event since the track's first race card on New Year's Day in 1976.

The opening will celebrate $2.4-million worth of improvements, including a track expansion from 1/2 of a mile to 5/8 of a mile.

The Fraser Downs grand opening will commence with pipes, drums and a parade of dignitaries. Gates open at 5 pm. Ceremonies begin at 6 pm with post-time at 7 pm. Due to the significance of the event, the entire race card will be broadcast "in the clear" (where a decoder is not required), on the Anik F.2 satellite, Channel 15.



The Aldergrove Spartan Atoms and Pee Wees practised with the Simon Fraser Clansmen on a beautiful Thursday night. The Spartans were invited to practise and learn offensive and defensive skills. Jets ground Spartans boys

ALDERGROVE – Richmond Jets overcame the Aldergrove Spartans 18-0, in Atom Division Minor Football action, Sunday in Aldergrove.

On offence the Spartans had little success against the tough Richmond defence, managing only one 1st down. Greg Warhurst 7 carries for 33 yards and Justin Beamer 3 carries for 10 yards led the way for Aldergrove.

Again the defence played a strong game for Aldergrove, giving up only 3 T.D.'s, despite poor field position and being on the field most of the game. Linebackers Nicolaus Knudsen and Travis Vandenberg led the way for the Spartans with 7 tackles each. Others with strong performances were Jimmy Grange and Darcy Bone, 4 tackles apiece, Justin Beamer 3 tackles, Josh Weissbock, Mike Gibson, T.J. Utu, Kane Staden, Greg Warhurst, and Bobby Miskenack all with 2 tackles each.

The Spartans next game is 10 am Oct. 6 against the North Surrey Lions at Bear Creek Park in Surrey.

Reserve keeper backstops Regents for another win

LANGLEY – There was a battle of undefeated teams at Noel Booth Park on Saturday afternoon, as the Aldergrove Regents took on the Langley 86ers. After a tie at the recent Langley tournament, both teams were looking for a win to determine first place in league play, and it was the Regents who prevailed with a 2-0 win. After a near flawless outing last week replacing regular netminder Justin Lemieux, reserve keeper Jamey Zornow came in at the half for the ailing Lemieux and preserved the shutout. Coach Rick VanLeersum noted the steady work of Zornow "Having two outstanding keepers is a real bonus in this league."

Once again the midfield made a significant contribution to the victory. Stew Fotheringham was tireless in his role of marking the oppositions "big guns", and William Folstad was dominant in his center mid-field role, scoring a goal and setting up the second marker by Adrian Etchell.

Coach VanLeersum was delighted by the hard work of his entire team. "We had outstanding efforts from every player today. Colin Gaetan and Grayden Krause had super games at their outside half positions, and again Steve Povey and Mike Parson did the job on defense. Although he didn't score today, forward J.D.Smid played extremely well and kept the opposing defense honest with his strong runs on net. I was very proud of our Aldergrove lads today. Hard work and discipline on the field is paying off for this team."

Rebels tracked down by Wolverines

ALDERGROVE – The Rebel boys Division 12 soccer team met a strong Abbotsford Wolverine team in action at Brown Road Park and came up on the short end of a 3-1 game.

The Rebels led off the scoring 5 minutes into the game, when Devin Erickson launched a beautiful shot from the right side that went up and over the defenders and the keeper toward the far post. Peter Matterson was in the right spot to tip it in. The game went back and forth for the rest of the half, getting a little rough at times. The Wolverines put one off the post, then the Rebels put one over the net on a penalty shot. Keeper Shawn Colvin made a good stop, but the rebound went right to a Wolverine player for a clear goal.

The Wolverines picked up the pressure in the 2nd half and almost scored on a scramble out front, but keeper Ryan Brightman made a great save. Several of the Wolverine shots went wide or over the net, with one finally going in on a penalty kick. Jamieson Ducolon, Lukas Burns and Ian Cassells hustled to keep them at bay. Ryan Hamman and Curtis Bolam tried to rally the Rebels offensively, but the bigger defenders stopped any advances. A tough bouncing shot eluded the keeper for the Wolverines' 3rd goal. Next action for the Rebels is this Saturday at H.D. Stafford at 1 pm vs the Langley Outlaws.

Dolphins win again over Abby Stars

Casey Brown and Aimee Yorke provided all the scoring for the girls with three goals apiece. Strong play was provided by Janice Graham, Sarah Titley, Shana Sasyniuk and Dawn McLaren, as the girls played the entire game without any substitutions.

This Saturday the girls will try to defend their unbeaten streak at their home park in Aldergrove. After the game, the girls will be out raising money for their team by holding a bottle drive. Please help out by providing any spare pop bottles or cans that you may have available to help out our young players.

Bantam As take win and tie

by JOHN PARLEY

ALDERGROVE - The Wilway Lumber Bantam A hockey club played their Mission counterparts on September 25 and 27, winning the first game 6-4 and skating to a 1-1 draw in the return contest. Eric Strandt scored the first goal on a high shot from the point. Lucas Fransen scored the second Bruin goal on a perfect centering pass from MacKnee and Cassibo. Tommy Martin deflected in a relay from Smith and Windle for goal number three. Mission jumped into a 4-3 lead early in the third, only to have Matt Roberts, assisted by Mike Roberts and Chris Colonval, knot the count with only three minutes left in the game. I appeared the game would end this way except that the Bruins took a penalty with 2:04 left on the clock. Swing into action Mike Roberts! Mr. 100% chased a loose puck into the Mission end and deftly chipped the puck past a frustrated Bourne in the Mission net. Half a minute later it was Mike again, finishing off a spectacular rush by wristing a high shot into the Mission net. Two shorthanded, unassisted goals in 40 seconds – awesome!

The return match on Friday in Mission turned out to be a close checking, defensive battle. Tom Martin deflected a Steve Schulz point shot past the Mission goalie for the lone Aldergrove score. It was Martin's second big goal in two games. Final score 1:1.

Ice Chips: The Bruins continue to improve, reflecting the good practices the coaches have put together and the players attitude and effort at the practices... The Wilway Lumber boys outplayed Mission in both games but mistakes and lack of finishing on scoring opportunities cost the Bruins... Well, that is what the exhibition season is for... The defensive corp is responding; the Bruins have surrendered only 10 goals in the last five games!... The Bruins will out Saturday on a bottle drive – call Don at 856-3296 if you require pick-up before or after this date... Get your tickets early – The Aldergrove social event of the year is nearing: the ever popular annual Halloween Dance will be held on October 26.

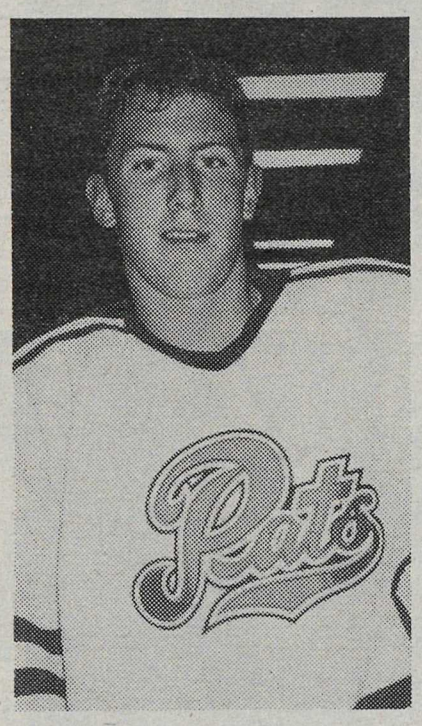
Hometown boy makes the cut

By DEBBIE WATERS

ALDERGROVE – Dean Arsene is a 16 year old I have had the pleasure of knowing all his life. He is a kind, considerate, caring young man, whom you would be glad to have as a son, brother or friend.

Dean has lived in or very close to Aldergrove for 16 years. He attended Shortreed Elementary, Betty Gilbert Elementary and until recently, Aldergrove Community Secondary, having achieved A or B Honor Roll standings throughout grades 8, 9 and 10. He is now attending school in Regina, Saskatchewan and plays hockey with the Regina Pats of the WHL. This is one step further to completing a dream of Dean's, to play professional hockey.

Dean is a dedicated athlete, having played hockey with the Aldergrove Minor Hockey Association from age five (Tyke) until the end of his first year Bantam. He played his second year Bantam with the Abbotsford Minor Hockey Association, where the opportunities for greater challenges were available to him. He also played baseball with the Langley Allstars when they won the Canadians Nationals in Coquitlam and then the team travelled to Florida for the Big League World Series.



Dean Arsene

In January 1996, Dean was listed by the Regina Pats and given the opportunity to make a move. He was invited to their Rookie camp and Main camp. In August 1996, the family drove out to Regina, where Dean attended the three day Rookie camp and came through in the top 15 of 95 players. Next was the Main camp with the competition even tougher. The team was comprised of 16-20 year olds, with many veterans, an NHL draft pick and definitely some of the elite players from all across the country. Dean never lost his focus, worked hard and disciplined himself. The end result was well worth the time and effort this young man has given over the years. He made the team. Congratulations, Dean.

I'm sure it was very difficult for Dean's extremely supportive, dedicated and caring immediate family members, Dennis, Donna and Darci, to leave their 16 year old son and brother so far away. However, I know they are all very proud of Dean's accomplishments thus far, and only wish the best for him. With his will and determination, there is no doubt in my mind he'll do and be the best he can be.

To Dean: I wish, from the bottom of my heart, only success and happiness in your journey through life, wherever it takes you.

(Editor's note: Mrs. Waters, a teaching assistant at Betty Gilbert Elementary, has been a friend of the Arsene family since the day they met at pre-natal classes.)

Fencing finds a home here

By KURT LANGMANN

ALDERGROVE - Lynn Chornobrwyw is a soft-spoken and gentle woman in her everyday life, but when it comes to her love affair with the ancient art of fencing, she is a passionate promoter and teacher. She's also the 1983 Ladies Modern Pentathlon World Champion, a competition that includes fencing as one of its disciplines.

Now in her third year of teaching the sport at Maple Ridge, she has taken on a new challenge: launching and teaching a new club at Aldergrove Secondary School, twice weekly. The B.C. Fencing Association, consisting of over 500 members, is fully sanctioned by the Canadian Fencing Federation, and participants are insured against accidental injury.

However, accidents aren't going to happen if participants follow Chornobrwyw's instruction, and she also brings all the gear required to the classes. Kevlar jackets and pants, helmets, gloves are provided, along with the foils, epees and sabres used.

Cheri Bob, a local parent, is co-sponsoring the fencing club because she wants to see local equestrian fans being able to compete in all the events of pentathlons. However, many people are caught up in the romance of the sport, and some of the ten people who've already registered with the club are not involved in horse competitions.

"They're welcome to come, too," said Bob.

"It'll be great fun to have more fencing competitors," agreed Chornobrwyw, who is ready to teach everyone from beginners to advanced national team level.

They've started out modestly, meeting in the school cafeteria, but agree that a hall with wooden floors and high windows would add some of that Douglas Fairbanks flair. But, one step at a time...

They have set a series of three twelve-week sessions, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Cost per session is $70 for once-weekly and $100 for twice-weekly, plus a $15 annual membership with B.C. Fencing Association. Sessions will run Oct. 1-Dec. 17, Jan. 7-Mar. 25 and Apr. 1-June 17. For information, call 856-3666.

Reid on top

CLOVERDALE – On September 29, Leslie Reid of Langley was back competing in North America at the prestigious Devon Horse Show held in Devon, Pennsylvania. Leslie placed third in the most difficult dressage competition the Grand Prix and the equally difficult Grand Prix Freestyle which is ridden to music. Leslie was riding her talented 14 year old Dutch warmblood stallion, Seafox, and is sponsored by Placer Dome Inc.

Reid's score in the Grand Prix was a strong 62.267% and an impressive 66.167% in the Freestyle. This qualifies her for the Volvo World Cup Dressage Canadian League Final at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto, Ontario on November 12 and 13.

Warriors gain momentum

ALDERGROVE – The Aldergrove Warriors, boys U-15 Soccer Gold Division, have improved their season to 3 wins and only a single loss by defeating the Richmond Wolves 5-2 during last Saturday's soccer match.

The game started out at a slow pace with each team testing the others defence. Well into the game, Richmond struck first with a fairly lucky goal that bounced off two Aldergrove players before coming to rest at the foot of the Richmond striker with nothing but net to shoot at. Before the half the Warriors tied up the game after some pretty three way passing to forward Attila Balint, who buried the ball into the Richmond net.

From the start of the second half, the Warriors took over. The entire team found their wind and their confidence and controlled the game quite handily. Soon the Warriors were rewarded for their hard work with a nice goal headed in by Ryan Craig after a nifty corner kick play by Brent Smirfitt and Ryan Sasyniuk. Attila got his second goal by rushing the net during a nice centre pass from Sean Palke.

The Warriors' fourth goal was netted by mid fielder John Rahe who picked the corner after some good ball control from our forwards. Attila rounded out the scoring for the team and got his hat trick by deaking out two or three defenders and shooting the ball pass the goal keeper on his short side. Late in the game Richmond scored their final goal on a penalty shot just outside the 18 yard box.

After 2 great saves by keeper Mark Morrison, the defence was unable to clear the rebounds and allowed a Richmond forward to put the ball in. Defensive players Steve Lang and Kevin Rochon played a great game as did mid fielder Ross Dickinson who had one of his best games of the young season. All the boys played hard and were rewarded with a well deserved win.

Chuck out myths, says fire chief

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

LANGLEY - District Fire Chief Larry Kydd would like to dispel some long standing myths regarding the Township Fire Department and how it operates.

Firstly, there is no 'Aldergrove Fire Department.' Fire Hall #3, located on 272 Street, is one of seven in the Township.

Secondly, the staff are not 'volunteers,' they are paid on call, which means the 166 fire fighters are called when needed and paid by the hour. There are also 12 full-time staff members who take on the role of 'supervisor' and deal with investigative and administrative duties.

The level of training in the Township fire department is excellent, according to Kydd, and is in fact considered a leader in training for combination departments.

There is one part of the fire fighters job that can be considered pure volunteerism, and that is their participation in training and upgrading skills. Township fire fighters put in a minimum of 150 hours per year of evening and weekend training without pay, and most of them also have other jobs.

But their work is not all fighting fires, in fact Kydd said that aside from the mushroom barn fire two weeks ago, there have not been any newsworthy fires in Aldergrove for about two years.

Fire fighters, who have the same type of first aid training as ambulance attendants, very often assist the ambulance service and can provide rescue services.

Fire crews also conduct routine safety inspections of businesses and, when asked, inspect private homes.

So, What actually happens when someone calls 911 about a fire?

The 911 system has been enhanced and now automatically matches the call to an address (except calls from cell phones), and routes the call through the Surrey dispatch centre. Then the appropriate hall (#3 in Aldergrove) and the individual fire fighters are paged.

Kydd said that fire crews, when paged, snap into action and arrive at the hall within two minutes, because all of them live in the central Aldergrove area. Once at the hall, they gear-up and head out, usually within two minutes, and arrive on scene within about a total of seven to eight minutes, depending on the distance to the emergency.

The District Fire Chief, usually first on the scene, does a quick survey of the situation and sets up a plan to be implemented as soon as trucks arrive.

Some statistics: the per capita cost of the Township fire department was $34 in 1995, compared with $77 in Surrey and $114 in Vancouver. The per capita fire loss in 1994 was $40.64 in the Township, $57.94 in Surrey, $31.71 in Vancouver and $92.95 in Abbotsford (a figure inflated by the Abby Arsonist).

To become a fire fighter in the Township, a candidate has to be physically fit, reasonably aggressive (able to take control of a situation), and have a minimum grade 12 education. Candidates must also go through extensive interviews, have a criminal record check, and in general be 'beyond question'.

Kydd, as a closing statement, would like to say that although fire rates are generally down, human error is still the largest cause of fires.

"Most fires these days are caused by humans doing 'dumb' things, or just not thinking about what they are doing," he said. "Fires are not usually caused by the radio being left on, and in most cases are preventable with a little common sense."

Beware of the silent killer

TORONTO – The Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs and First Alert, a leading manufacturer of home safety products, are urging Canadians to be on the look-out for a "silent killer" that could be lurking in the home - carbon monoxide.

"Carbon monoxide poisoning is a serious threat," said William Hewitt, president of CAFC. "No one is immune to CO, and some, such as infants, seniors and those with heart or lung conditions are particularly vulnerable."

CO is emitted by fuel-burning appliances when they are not properly vented or maintained. Common sources include furnaces, collapsed or blocked chimneys, or vehicles left running in attached garages. Because many of today's homes are tightly insulated to trap in winter heat, even a small CO leak can linger and become dangerous.

Safety Stars saved lives

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

LANGLEY - The Township Fire Department has been around town in search of 'Safety Stars', and there is no shortage of people and organizations that qualify. There are 12 Stars in Langley, all of whom have gone beyond the call of duty when it comes to fire and life safety.

On Wednesday, October 9, Stars will be invited to participate in fun fire-related activities at Hall #3, and then treated to lunch at McDonalds.

In Aldergrove there are some special recipients including Janice Scheer, an Early Childhood Educator, who teaches at Small Beginnings Preschool.

Scheer, and coworker Carolyn Lyster, teach a health and safety unit, including fire safety, which focuses on the eight fire safety rules as set by the National Fire Protection Association.

These rules are: stay away from hot things that can hurt; tell a grown-up when you find matches or lighters; stop, drop and roll, if your clothes catch fire; cool a burn; crawl low under smoke; know the sound of the smoke detector/alarm; practice an escape plan and; recognize fire fighters as helpers.

The rules are taught by using positive play situations, conducting monthly fire drills, visiting the fire station, and by sending information to parents to help reinforce the ideas in the home.

But, the most important thing in teaching the fire safety rules is the follow-up question, Why?

"We tell the children not to play with matches, but also ask them why they shouldn't play with matches," Scheer said. "The reason is that they could get burned or start a serious fire, in which they might get hurt."

Scheer is pleased to have been chosen as a Safety Star, and happy that the preschool's teachings are recognized as being important to the community.

Two other Safety Stars participated in putting out an RV that was in flames, and awakening the family in the house next to it, before anyone was injured.

Terry Tollefsen and his son Barry Johnson were driving along 32 Avenue, near Parkside, when they noticed the fire and, thinking 11:30 p.m. was a little late for someone to be burning something, they decided to get closer for a second look.

When they got closer, they realized the RV was on fire, and hearing no sirens, and seeing no one around, they went into action.

Johnson used the garden hose to douse the flames, while Tollefsen banged on the home's front door to wake the residents.

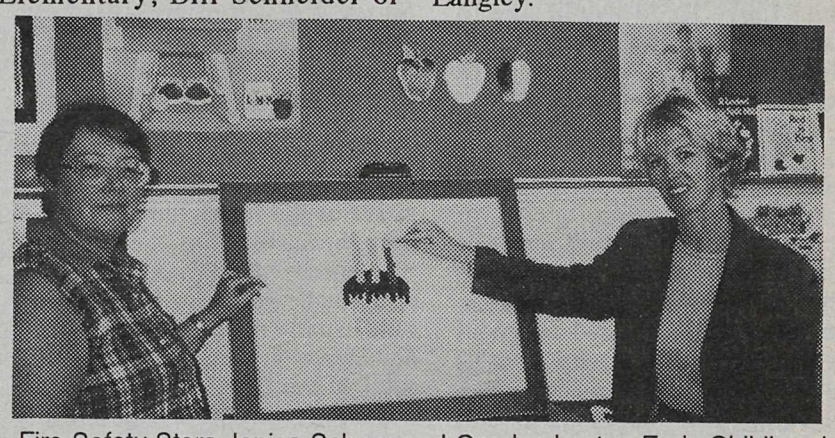
With help from someone inside, Tollefsen used a wrench to remove the propane tanks from the RV. Then they hooked the vehicle up to a pick-up truck and pulled it away from the house, the vinyl siding of which had already begun to melt from the heat.

Johnson managed to put the fire out before the fire department arrived on scene, to the point that when the door was opened, water poured out. He also hosed down the side of the house.

Tollefsen said he feels 'neutral' about the event now, but did feel pretty good that night, having done what needed to be done.

Johnson said he wasn't nervous during the ordeal, he was just 'putting out a fire.'

Other Safety Stars in the Township include: Bob Groeneveld, of the Langley Advance; Irene McKaig, of Murrayville Elementary; Bill Schneider of Benjamin Moore Paint; Peter Davies of Canadian Tire; Gail Allen Orangewood, involved with housing development; Nona Cudmore, with Guides; Constable Sharon Cooke, involved with public service; Keith Coster of Trinity University; and Rotary Clubs of Langley.



Fire Safety Stars Janice Scheer and Carolyn Lyster, Early Childhood Educators at Small Beginnings Preschool, demonstrate that only adults are allowed to light candles.
"Whose job is it to light the candles on the birthday cake?" they ask. "And whose job is it to blow out the birthday cake candles?" The children always come up with the right answers to both questions.
Scheer was chosen as a Safety Star for her work in childrens' education and, for her efforts, she has been invited to participate in fun fire-related activities and lunch, including an awards presentation, at McDonalds on Wednesday, October 9, 1996. The selection of Safety Stars coincides with Fire Prevention Week, October 6 to 12, 1996. -Monique Galazka photo

Stay close by and pay attention when cooking. Unattended cooking is one of the most common causes of fires. Clean grease from the stove and flue. Keep combustibles — such as curtains or drapes, clothing, packaged foods and trash — away from stoves.

Taking care of the fire and water damage

By FRED VAN HUNENSTIJN
CAMBRIDGE BUILDING SERVICES

While fire and water seem to be unlikely companions, the truth is that if there has been a fire, there is almost always plenty of water involved. At first, this water is necessary and friendly in that it stops the fire, but as soon as the fire is stopped, the water becomes the new enemy. Sure, you may be able to just suck it up with a wet-vac, open a few windows and wait for things to dry out but after a day or so the real trouble begins.

Pictures in frames can become wrinkled, doors and cabinets delaminate and warp, tiles can buckle and furniture can stain expensive carpets - and those are jut the things you can see! What you can't see is the microbial activity made possible by the excess humidity.

Mould and mildew spores are always present but do not become active until temperature and humidity conditions are right - such as after flooding. If you decide to hurry up the drying process by turning on the heat, you also hurry up the microbial activity and things will get smelly fast.

But don't despair, there are ways to dry out structures and contents correctly while at the same time maintaining healthy indoor air quality, free of mould and mildew odours and airborne disease. Companies and people who do this work are known as Restoration Professionals, and the good ones will have extensive training and certification by the Institute for Inspection Cleaning and Restoration Certification.

IICRC certified technicians have been trained to inspect and evaluate the situation using sophisticated moisture and humidity measuring instruments. They can advise you as to the extent of the problem and get your home or business back in operation quickly. In fact, today, many structural materials are being dried rather than replaced saving everyone time, money and inconvenience.

Choose a trained professional and benefit from their knowledge and experience.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

The huge crowd of kids and parents who came to Parkside's grand opening on Monday had this happy lad to thank for all the chicken. After years of putting up with portables and renovations and additions, the work is complete and everyone has a nice classroom of their own -- although PAC president Vern Elliot said the 430 kids are already using it to capacity, and portables might be back next year. -Kurt Langmann photo

Local teachers have made a difference

LANGLEY – On October 5, local teachers join 18 million colleagues around the world to celebrate World Teachers' Day. This day has been designated by UNESCO as a day to give teachers recognition for the work they do. Within the classroom and in the community teachers contribute to the well-being of society.

Throughout the world, teachers' organizations are working with others to improve conditions and standards in education. "Teachers feel a professional and social responsibility to be advocates for quality public schools. They want to ensure that all children have equal access to the educational programs and services they need," said Teri Sobo. president of the Langley Teachers' Association. "Higher levels of education raise the standard of living and benefit everyone in a society."

A teacher's commitment and influence reach beyond the walls of the classroom. Many teachers are active outside the hours of their instructional days. Through their volunteer involvement in extracurricular activities at school and in community or service groups, they use their skills to instruct, organize and inspire.

In Langley's public schools teachers are well qualified to give instruction in every area of the curriculum. They know how to support a range of learning styles; they know how to meet a variety of learning needs. They design opportunities for all students to develop social, intellectual, physical and artistic skills. Together with colleagues, support staff and parents they are dedicated to making classrooms safe, happy and interesting places of learning for all children.

"Each one of us can think back and remember at least one teacher who had a positive influence on our lives," said Sobo.

Schools get the "spirit"

VANCOUVER – Secondary school students from all over British Columbia are gearing up for the first annual School Spirit Week from September 30 to October 3, presented by BC School Sports and sponsored by the BC Dairy Foundation. Students at Aldergrove, Abbotsford and Langley high schools join 45 secondary schools by participating in a spirit-generating week of activities designed to improve school spirit and foster a sense of community. Activities planned include theme days, staff-student challenges, sporting activities and pep rallies.

Here is the first in what we hope will become a regular feature of the Aldergrove Star — Student submissions from our local schools.

Otter Elementary School

Otters run to help cancer victims

By SONJA FEDDES, Gr.5

Langley - The weather was perfect Friday, September 20, 1996 when all students from Otter Elementary went out to run in the 16th annual Terry Fox Run. The morning started out by one of the staff members, Mrs. Gordon, leading the school in a lively warm-up. The kids, teachers and parents ran 1158 laps around their field (386 km).

Grades one, two and three ran for half an hour and grades four, five, six and seven ran for 45 minutes.

Even the Kindergarten's ran a lap. Some grade threes were so enthusiastic that they ran for 45 minutes as well. Together, Otter raised $397.16 for cancer research.

Langley - People participate for the Marathon of Hope to try and find a cure for cancer. Terry Fox is the one who started a run... a run across Canada. He put his needs behind others' needs. Even in pain, he kept going. Tery Fox was a true hero!

Music society starts with wealth of ideas

By KURT LANGMANN

ALDERGROVE - A new music society is off to a promising start after a handful of talented people committed themselves to developing a local series of shows and concerts for all tastes. With this interest, a formal application to create a registered non-profit society will be filed at the next meeting, and election of officers will be called.

Bruce Strongitharm, president of the Aldergrove Community Centre Society, has proposed a joint fundraiser at the centre, featuring TQ's Dinner Theatre. This will likely be the very first presentation, and tickets will be available at $30 once the date is confirmed.

This writer suggested that classical and choral ensemble concerts would be appropriate for the winter season at the Aldergrove United Church, while a variety of popular music would lend itself to a spring-summer series at the outdoor Kinsmen Bandshell. Concerts and fundraising dances could also be held in local community halls.

Kim Brandt and Debbie Ball thought a festival at the bandshell and park, also featuring local artists' displays and demonstrations, would be fun to arrange for the summer. Brandt will also investigate application to the local of the Musicians' Federation for subsidized performances by area professionals.

Aldergrove Mall manager, Jan Varty said that patrons of special events at the bandshell would be able to park on the mall lot across the street, and joint promotions with the mall would be possible. Varty and another Festival Days member, Burt Mazerall, suggested that a 'battle of the bands' could be held at the bandshell, with the prize of being the band hired for the Festival Days teen dance in June.

Jamie Gifford and Alexandra Wood have proposed a medieval-themed afternoon tea concert, with an ensemble performing baroque music, early in the new year. Susan Westmacott is working on a Valentine-themed concert, with piano and four singers, and Steve Franklin has proposed a big-band dinner and dance. Community halls, ranging from 100 to 200 capacity, include Kinsmen, Elks, Bradner, Jubilee, Coghlan, Patricia and Mount Lehman.

Joanne McLaren and teacher Marty Summers of Aldergrove Secondary, along with Poppy teacher Mike Molloy, will present a joint choral concert with their award-winning students, during the Christmas season. Concerts with their jazz bands will also be planned for the United Church.

Langley Community Chorus, Aldergrove Choral Group, Fraser Valley Bluegrass and the teens involved with Aldergrove Kofi Hows are other local resources who will be invited to perform here. Local country, rock, folk, jazz and other popular musicians will be sought out, and the society will aim to pay some sort of honorariums to those who play at the open air bandshell. Dance and theatre performances are another aspect of the society's interest, although there is a definite lack of venue. However, the high school could be rented for this sort of event.

On a sadder note, Pat and Edith Prozesky called to say they couldn't attend the meeting on behalf of the Aldergrove Seniors' Choral Group, as Pat was ill, but they were in full support. Pat Prozesky passed away the next day. A service is being held Oct. 3, 11 a.m. at Aldergrove United Church, and The Star would like to convey the community's sympathies to Edith and the family and friends of this longtime volunteer and music lover.

Another meeting will be called shortly and other ideas and proposals are welcomed. For information, call Kurt Langmann, 856-8303.

Natural health centre a beaut

ALDERGROVE - A new centre for natural health arts got off to an auspicious start, Saturday, when chiropractor Gabrielle Lacelle opened her heritage themed new building, Coastal Health Arts. The one-storey structure, across from the Post Office at 27233 - 29A Avenue, is already in use by Dr. Lacelle and associate, Dr. Darren Allen. There are plans to bring the talents of a massage therapist into the fold, and one-third of the building is set aside for the naturopath that Lacelle hopes to attract to this community.

"The vision is that Aldergrove and surrounding communities would be provided with a variety of natural health care services, in the context of the Coastal Health Arts building," said Lacelle.

"Presently, two-thirds of the building is designated for chiropractic offices. Within that context, I envision broadening our services to include radiology, orthotics, postural screening, and general health education programs."

Lacelle added that, "Our team also collaborates with the Langley School District, particularly Aldergrove Secondary School, providing onsite training for high school students wanting to develop skills in the workplace, and to be exposed to natural health care services and professions. It is our hope that exposure to various natural health care professions for young persons in our community would foster interest for possible career choices."

Born and raised in Cadillac, Sask., Lacelle first pursued a teaching career and performed community development work in Saskatoon and Toronto. She completed her masters of education at the University of Toronto, and worked for the Canadian Council of Churches, before enrolling in the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College in 1981. After graduation in 1985, she completed a locum service in Aldergrove and "decided it was the type of community in which I wanted to work." She began her practice on Feb. 1, 1986 at 272 Street and 29 Avenue, and as of Saturday, moved her practice to her new building.

Her associate, Dr. Darren Allen is also from Saskatchewan, being born and raised in Regina. He studied physiology at the University of Saskatchewan, earning his bachelor's degree, and completed his studies at Western States Chiropractic College in Portland, Oregon. Dr. Allen, "adjusts the full spine and extremities, using low force and high amplitude manipulation."

The new building, designed with input from the Aldergrove Revitalization Committee, is the work of architect Mike Gregg and his team at Willson, Gregg & Associates, and contractor Douglas Benstead and Benstead Construction.

Coastal Health Arts can be reached by calling 856-0333 or fax: 856-0817.
