MR. CLEMENTS GIVES PLANS FOR COMOX-ATLIN

COPIES OF THE DAILY NEWS PROVE CLUE TO HIS IDENTITY

DEAD BODY OF MAN KILLED ON WASHINGTON RAILROAD IS SUPPOSED TO BE P. J. CARRIGAN, THE PROSPECTOR, HAD MUSHED HERE FROM EDMONTON LAST AUGUST.

P. J. Carrigan, the lone prospector who a few weeks ago mushed it all alone from Edmonton to Prince Rupert, is dead, having met a tragic death on the railroad track near Kelso, Washington. Of that there is little doubt after reading a letter which arrived at The News office from Dr. Floyd A. Bird, coroner of Cowlitz county, Washington.

The dead man, who was struck by a train, was identified through having in his pocket a copy of the Prince Rupert Daily News and a clipping, both relating to the exploits of Carrigan as published in The News of Monday, September 25th. He is described by the coroner as a man of about 150 pounds, 5 feet 7 inches tall, with dark hair and clean shaven face. At the time of his death he was wearing a greenish blue suit and a gray mackinaw coat. The description leaves little doubt that the unfortunate victim of the railroad is Mr. Carrigan.

The clipping and copy of The News were the only things to fix his identity, as he was unknown in the vicinity of the accident. According to Carrigan's statements in The News office, he was a Newfoundlander by birth, and had relatives at Kodiak Island, Alaska. He was fond of the lonely life in the wilds, and while in the Grand Canyon of the Fraser River last August had rescued from drowning Jack Fountain and George Cook of Victoria.

MAYOR MAKES NO COMMENT

On Subject of City's Defeat He Is Silent—Says McMordie Case Will Take Its Course—A Wildcat Resignation Rumor Denied.

Mayor Manson had nothing to say this morning in regard to the city's defeat in the Supreme Court yesterday. Asked what he thought of the Judge's opinion of the strike period particularly, he declined to venture any comment.

Regarding the S. P. McMordie case, the Mayor said that this would come up before Council in course. He was not immediately concerned with it. City Solicitor Peters mentioned that the McMordie case was not nearly in shape to come before the Supreme Court yet, and would certainly not be heard at this sitting.

A wildcat rumor attributed to some one of the name of Manson—and not Alex. Manson—to the effect that the City Solicitor and City Engineer had both handed in their resignations yesterday afternoon was denied by the Mayor. "They have certainly not handed in their resignations to me," he said.

PUBLIC WORKS FOR COMOX-ATLIN

Mr. H. S. Clements Outlines to Vancouver Reporter All He Intends to Try and Get for Prince Rupert Next Session

PUBLIC BUILDING AND DRY DOCK

Will Also Advocate Improvements to the Telegraph and Mail Service, and the Establishment of Wireless Stations at Various Places Throughout the District—Will Try and Secure Dry Dock for Prince Rupert

Vancouver, Dec. 14.—Improvements to the present telegraph and mail service, the establishment of wireless stations at various places throughout the district, the erection of a public building at an important centre and the construction of wharves and dockyards are among the important projects that the member for Comox-Atlin, Mr. H. S. Clements, hopes to have submitted for consideration next session, according to his statements when interviewed today on his return from Ottawa.

Among other things he hopes to have a quarantine wharf built at Prince Rupert and to provide for the erection of public buildings at Courtenay, Port Simpson, Comox and Prince Rupert, also for a drydock at the latter place.

The despatch evidently refers to a second drydock for Prince Rupert, the subsidy for the G. T. P. drydock having been passed in the estimates of the late Government nearly a year ago.—Ed.

MADE ELOQUENT AND SYMPATHETIC APPEAL ON THE INDIANS' BEHALF

Rev. W. E. Collison in a Masterly Address Told of the History, Religion, Character and Deeds of the Indians—Has Been Brought Up Among Them and Has Faith in Their Future

Intensely interesting was the address delivered in the Presbyterian Church hall last night by Rev. W. E. Collison on "The Indians of the North Pacific Coast." Far too small an audience heard it. Born, himself, on the coast with Indian boys only as his playmates for his early years, Mr. Collison has the Indian tongues at marvelous command, and his illustrations of the power of expression in the many languages of the coast Indians well conveyed the fact that the coast races have sprung from no mean crowd of savages, but seem rather to have degenerated from a highly developed race.

Old Indian Legends.

Touching on the far-reaching "crest system" of the Indians, on their laws of succession, of marriage and of revenge in the early days, Rev. Collison held his audience in rapt attention for over two hours. He told the story of the totem pole with one or two of the familiar legends which the Indians hand down, one in particular being strikingly reminiscent of the Bible account of Jonah and the whale. Mr. Collison mentioned also that all the Indian tribes have in their legendary history accounts of the flood, only each tribe claims the survivors as its own members.

Slew Three Grizzlies.

Hunting stories Mr. Collison told, the great one being that of the chief who slew three grizzlies single-handed, the last one by clutching it with his wiry arms and legs so that it could not reach him vitally with tooth or claw, nor shake him off, he all the while gnawing his way into its windpipe. The hunter was found side by side with his trophies, the last bear dead, the chief all but gone from loss of blood, as the bear had scratched his back almost to ribbons. Rev. W. E. Collison saw the man, heard the story from his own lips and vouched for its truth as he had seen the scars on his back. Archdeacon Collison has the skull of the great grizzly given him by that chief on his deathbed.

The Indians' Appeal.

To repeat last night's lecture would take a whole paper. It was to the last degree full, varied and interesting. In his conclusion the Rev. Mr. Collison struck a fine note of appeal for the Indian races, anxious now after all their long history to become like the white men, whom they so aptly mimic. He spoke of the reserves, denying that they contain so much better land than that about them and pointing out that there is little chance of the Indians ever improving land to which they have neither individually nor in community any real title. "Would any civilized white man or group of white men do it?" asked the speaker. The Indians' appeal, concluded Mr. Collison, is for terms of equity now with the incoming white men whom he sees taking possession of his old hunting grounds and gardens. "Treat me like a man," he cries, "and you will have a good man, and a good citizen."

PRESBYTERIAN CLUB SUCCESS

Under Auspices of Club Men of Worth in the Missionary Work of the West Lend Their Presence and Voice.

Besides the splendid address by Rev. W. E. Collison last night in the Presbyterian Church hall, Fourth avenue, a very brief address was given by Dr. Tomlinson, another pioneer of the coast, whose experiences would fill a good sized book.

Dr. Tomlinson did not touch on his own knowledge of the Indians last night as the hour was late, but he is the hero of long canoe trips between the Naas and Skeena rivers before ever steamers plied these waters. On one such trip he brought his bride home to the Naas. His presence last night, with the speaker of the evening, is a credit to the energy of the pastor and organizers of the Presbyterian Club.

The vice president, Miss Mackenzie, presided very gracefully and a reading from Hiawatha and piano selection by Mr. Robinson were rendered during the evening. Rev. F .W. Kerr was present as a listener and introduced Dr. Tomlinson.

$2,000,000 DEFENSE FUND IS PRACTICALLY ALL SPENT

STATEMENT IS MADE CONCERNING M'NAMARA CASE BY SECRETARY FRANK MORRISON OF THE A. F. OF L. DARROW'S FEE WAS $50,000 OR OVER.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

New York, Dec. 14.—Not less than $50,000 was the fee received by Clarence Darrow for his services in defending the McNamara brothers in the Los Angeles dynamiting case, according to a declaration made here by Frank B. Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor and custodian of the McNamar defense fund.

Mr. Morrison also said that for days after the McNamara brothers' plea of guilty money for their defense was pouring in. The subscriptions were made before the pleas were entered.

Mr. Morrison said more than $200,000 had been subscribed and practically all of this had been spent. The money received by the committee after the pleas of guilty were made, he said, would be returned to the contributors, while the residue of the defence fund, if any, would be either sent back to the contributors or distributed pro rata among the unions contributing it.

DAINTY WORK DONE IN GAOL

Prisoner Valentine Stella Has Modelled in Chewed Bread a Whole Street Grading Outfit With Drills and Wheelbarrow.

Work of marvelous neatness considering the uncouth material used has been executed in chewed bread and a few chips of wood by Prisoner Valentine Stella, held on an assault charge in the city gaol. Repeated adjournments have caused this case to drag on for many days, and during the delay Stella has secretly contrived to pass the time by modeling with his dinner bread a full miner's equipment or street grading outfit for a wheelbarrow gang. All kinds of drills, crowbars and hammers, a pick, a mattack, a double bitted axe, a pointed shovel and a wonderfully neat wheelbarrow have been made by the prisoner. The work was not quite finished when discovered and confiscated by the police. Stella has repeatedly asked to be set to work, but this cannot be allowed under the circumstances of his case, which is still pending.

DAILY EDITION. THURSDAY, DEC. 14

"NOT A LEG TO STAND ON."

After a long and costy trial the city authorities have learned from the lips of a learned judge of the Supreme Court that which any humble citizen could have told them for nothing: namely, that "in point of substantial justice and common honesty they had not a leg to stand on" in refusing to pay the contractors' bills. Indeed, these were almost the very words used by Alderman Morrissey when he entered protest against the actions that City Solicitor Peters was urging the city to take part in.

"It will only cost the city three hundred dollars, and it's worth that to us to find out the law," declared an alderman. The city has learned the law; it would be interesting to know at what cost.

Mr. Justice Clement has had previous knowledge of the ways of Prince Rupert local authorities. He it was who tried the Prudhomme case, and his scathing words in issuing the mandamus to renew the license will be remembered. The same attempt to play petty politics with the public offices was apparent in both cases. The pity of it is that the ratepayers in both cases will be called upon to pay the bills.

It would be easy to write columns in scorn of the conduct of the Council, but columns of scorn cannot undo the past, and the Council is too near its end to be worth many words. All that is not worth bothering about is to see that for next year a new Council, composed of non-political business men, is elected to carry out the affairs of the city on a non-political basis.

The ideal form of civic government—the only form that offers scope for specialised administration under democratic control—is government by commission. That, even in a modified form, has been denied the citizens by the Provincial Government, who seemingly view with disfavor the possibility of a non-political city government. Until such time as a party of progress can revise the Municipal Clauses Act, there is nothing for the citizens to do but elect—if they can—a Council of non-party business men and run the city as far as our human deficiencies and failings permit on strictly business principles.

To keep itself above suspicion, The News has purposely refrained from mentioning the names of anyone or either mayor or council. In exhorting others to refrain from political distinctions in civic affairs, it is prepared to show the way.

The utter defeat, the shaming that the civic authorities have subjected the citizens to in their efforts to play petty politics with the contractors will not be made the occasion for bitterness or diatribes, but rather to urge the citizens to rally to the standard of a non-party civic administration.

With the exception of the grafters, there is no man in Prince Rupert, whether he be Liberal, Conservative, Labor, Socialist or Anarchist, but stands to gain by a progressive business administration, and to suffer by a continuance of machine rule.

Mr. H. G. Walker on a Trip to Build Up Vancouver Fur Mart.

The fur mart recently started in Vancouver by the merchants there who do not wish to see all the fur business and supply purchasing go to Seattle is being looked after by Mr. H. G. Walker. Mr. Walker was a passenger north on the Princess Mary, and goes on to interview the trappers on the Naas River by the Prince John. It is calculated that by keeping the traffic within the province the trappers will get much better prices and the Provincial merchants will keep $100,000 of supply business inside the province.

THE WAY OF AN OCTOPUS

Will Canada Stand for the Exploitation of Her Timber and Natural Resources as the States Have Done?

Charles Edward Russell has made for the Cosmopolitan a thorough investigation of lumber trust methods—he has followed the slippery trail of the lumber octopus literally from coast to coast—and he has the "goods." You will be surprised at his revelations—that the tremendous power of the trust, its brazen indifference to all but its own interests, its hold upon legislators, its highway methods of national pocket picking. It will be a great series of articles—vitally interesting to every one who has ever bought any part of a tree. The first article will appear in January. Subscriptions to Cosmopolitan will be accepted until December 10th at the special low rate to Canada of $1.50. Cosmopolitan Agency, box 851, Winnipeg.

The steamer Curacoa was scheduled to pass south for Seattle direct last night, and took a few passengers south with her from Rupert.

The Hilditch House Moving.

Alderman Hilditch's house is still stationary opposite Fourth street. Its mute appeal to the observer of "Vote for Hilditch" is the only moving thing about the unwieldy structure.

Important Committee.

Members of the Street, Works and Property Committee met in the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon. The Mayor was not present.

. . . . ITEMS OF . . . . SPORT!

Tom Longboat White Hope.

Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, is a halfbreed who aspires to become a white hope. Now Tom Longboat, the Onandaga "big chief," wants to leave the running path and enter the list of red-skinned white hopes.

Tom Longboat, according to Tom Flanagan, would like nothing better than to step over the ropes. Longboat has had the idea in his noddle for some time that it is a shining light in the fistic arena that he is destined to regain his standing in the hall of fame. Ihe has been after the manager of the National Sporting Club to fix up a bout for him that he might show the world that he is an all-round athlete and not just one of the great long distance runners of the decade.

Flanagan has heard the Indian talk so much of his prowess with the gloves that he says he is going to get hold of a "joker" one of these days and put him on with Tom for six rounds, just to satisfy the "Big Chief."

Two Young French Champions.

The Paris sporting world is jubilant over the appearance of two athletic phenomena who are expected to become world's champions. One of thes is Robert Laurentz, who, although not yet 18 years of age, his been the great surprise of the Anglo-French tennis tournament held here this week.

Laurentz won every single match in which he played, defeating such men as Doxon, Cordon, Smith and Lowe. It is probable that young Laurentz, whose game has developed remarkably in the last few months, will go to America to take part in the next open tournament. He is considered one of the speediest and hardest players seen on European courts in recent years. He has a puzzling service which is difficult to return. French enthusiasts declare that if he is so wonderful at 18 he is sure to become a world's champion before he attains his majority.

The other phenomenon is Carpentier, the boxer, who recently won a fight from Young Jacobs for the middleweight championship of England. Charpentier, too, is still under 18, and a middleweight, but he is tall and growing, so that it is probable he will eventually become a heavyweight. Sportsmen in France are already proclaiming him a white man's hope.

These victories have brought about an awakening in the sporting world in France, where until of late the more vigorous outdoor sports have been unpracticed. Now every French boy is aspiring to learn to box or play tennis in the hope of becoming a champion.

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

BATHE—OR, BEWARE

An Important Article From the Pen of Dr. L. K. Hishberg.

The hygienic purpose of a bath is cleanliness. Incidentally a bath may be tonic, sedative, refreshing or therapeutic. For a healthy person cleanliness is its real objective.

An important problem of modern hygiene is to remove the impression that seemingly clean skin is after all hygienically clean skin. Ashes, mud, dust, cinders, coal, paint, varnish and garden soil are often not dirt in a sanitary sense. Even the nursing infant would go unharmed from sterilized filth. But this offensive, telltale smut when under the finger nails and on one's linen is the red light of information. It indicates that a deadly and invisible foe flourishes there.

There are many bedizened denizens of the fashionable world whose shiny hands, manicured nails, enameled cheeks and scented skins, gloss over but do not destroy the deadly disease germ buried in the riot of cosmetics.

Normal individuals bathe regularly every morning. This is as it should be. During the rest of the day these same persons assume that the absence of the visible signs of dust and filth is excuse enough to neglect a hand and face bath. Just as many seem to think that washing one's hands beyond the point of seeming cleanliness is a waste of time, soap and water.

A clean body, a clean house, clean clothing, clean premises, clean streets and a clean city are all necessary, for dirt is never actually free of disease germs.

A bath in tepid water, about 85 degrees, with soapsuds, will clean the skin sufficiently for all purposes. Hot baths, either of the entire body or parts thereof, are valuable in bringing the blood to the skin. They thus prevent a threatened "cold" and even after infections. Exposure to cold after hot baths, however, will surely precipitate the expected disease. The hot bath when taken by virile, well persons, is harmless if followed by cold showers, needle sprays or a cold plunge.

The cold bath is a powerful stimulus to the nervous system. It "hardens" the skin and body against the effects of low temperatures. It makes the circulation adaptible to rapid atmospheric changes, and unquestionably has an exhiliarating influence upon depressed mental states.

Cold baths must be taken moderately and for short periods. is a long time. In the morning, is a lon gtime. In the morning, after muscular exertion, or after a hot bath is the proper time to take one. The skin must be warm at the time. Then a vigorous rub-down to make the circulation glow and dance will sound the reveille of the loafing body cells.

There are some objections to cold baths. Individuals who do not react, that is, who remain cold and pale afterward, should not take them. A cold bath in a cold room, or in wintry atmospheres, is conducive to pneumonia or tuberculosis. All baths should be delayed for two hours after meals. They are most beneficial before eating.

AN EIDERDOWN QUILT

An Experienced Housewife Tells You the Best Way to Wash It.

Shred some good yellow soap and boil it in water until it is quite dissolved, then pour it into a pan of warm water, when it will lather well. When lukewarm put in the quilt and squeeze it well with the hands until clean; then rinse twice in clean water, wring out, shake well and hang on the line to dry. While drying shake well several times, so that the down does not stick together. Choose a nice windy day, if possible, for then the quilt will dry quickly and the wind will make it beautifully soft.

Ink on the Carpet.

As soon as the ink is spilt cover stains with salt. This will absorb the ink and no trace of it will remain.

Favorite of the West.

No home in this western country can well afford to be without "The Family Herald and Weekly Star" of Montreal. It is particularly useful in western homes. The information it gives to the new settlers as well is worth hundreds of dollars a year. It is simply marvelous the amount of good instructive matter that paper contains each week. It well deserves it success. One dollar cannot be better invested in western homes than by ordering that great paper. A beautipremium picture entitled "Home Again" is also included, and it is well worth the dollar alone.

Prettily Plastered.

No, the heading does not draw your attention to another case of conviviality rewarded by a five dollar fine in the police court this morning. It refers to the new theatre being built on Second avenue. The plasterers are busy inside now, and the theatre will be a bright and beautiful place of entertainment before long.

WHALE OIL AND BUNCH GRASS

There Was Some Class to the Menu at the Yukoners Banquet to Dr. Alfred Thompson, M.P., also Flapjacks.

A couple of weeks ago when Dr. Alfred Thompson, M.P., member for the Yukon, passed through Vancouver, a host of old Yukoners in that city gathered together without political distinctions to do their old friend honor. They gave him a fine banquet, with all the trimmings.

Dr. Thompson is a brother of Mr. J. A. Thompson, of the Thompson Hardware Co., of this city, and a few of the menu cards have found their way north to the local Yukoners. They make good reading, and are reminiscent of the days spent on the trail.

The first item on the card is significently termed "The opening of Navigation," and the various items are honored with Yukon titles. There is Muckluck broth, LeBarge whitefish, Malamute tarts hot, Slush ice, with bucket of blood, aurora 23. Among the "Cold Storage Relice" are Cheechaco spuds, Yukon strawberries, bunch grass and whale oil, 60 below and flapjacks and "hooch."

The speakers included Judge W. W. B. McInnes, who presided, R. P. McLennan, F. C. Wade, George Black, Dr. Thompson, F. McAlpine, D. Donaghy, J. T. Wilkinson, Robert Lowe, Henry C. McAuley, and Dr. J. O. Chappell.

From all accounts the cheechacos and sourdoughs had a high old time.

Cosmopolitan and Dickens

CHARLESE DICKENS is still a "best seller." Publishers don't argue pro and con over his books—they just order a new carload of paper, oil the presses, and let them speed on. And it has been over forty years since, one morning when the yard was filled with scarlet geraniums and the breath of syringa was heavy in the air, the great author followed little Nell. Now that the centenary of his birth (February 7th), 1812), approaches and everybody is thinking of Dickens. We have secured several articles which will tell many things about him that have hitherto been unknown. In the January Cosmopolitan his son, Alfred Tennyson Dickns, will tell you some of his own personal recollections of the great novelist. Later, probably in February Mary Angela Dickens, his granddaughter, will give an intimate view of Dickens as she remembers him. In fact, in these and other articls on Dickens which will follow—fully illustrated, of been publishd of thee human—course—we shall aim to give you a more vivid picture than has yet the home—side of the great master, written by those who knew him best. Read the articles—they will surely arouse a new interest in the "best beloved" author in your library. Subscriptions to Cosmopolitan will be accepted until Dec. 10th, at the special low rate to Canada of $1.50. Cosmopolitan Agency, Box 851, Winnipeg.

For twelve consecutive months the 1-2-3 Liquor Store, at the corner of Sixth avenue and Fulton street, has carried an assortment of Wines and Liquors unequalled by any other house in British Columbia. And why should this not be so? We sell for cash and at rock bottom prices, and E. J. Maynard is always on deck with the glad hand and a happy smile. We lead, others may follow, but we have always presented a list that for genuine value and variety of goods has always earned the earnest appreciation of our numerous customers. Why pay freight, wharfage and carriage on hamper baskets which already cost at the least $1 to begin with, while the 1-2-3 Liquor Store offers a special discount of 10 per cent on all Liquors, Liqueurs and Wines, commencing the 18th day of December and continuing for the remainder of the month?

Lager Beer, from $1 to $3 per dozen.
Rye Whisky from 40c to $1.35 per bottle.
Bourbons from $1.35 to $1.80 per bottle.
Scotch Whisky from 40c to $1.80 per bottle.
Brandies from 40c to $3.75 per bottle. (60 years old.) and everything else in proportion.
