HOW COMOX-ATLIN VOTED BY INDIVIDUAL DISTRICTS

Final Figures are Now Obtainable—In the Two Districts North of the Skeena, Duncan Ross Was the Man—The Three Districts South of the Skeena Gave Majorities for Clements

Final figures regarding the election in Comox-Atlin have been summarised by Returning Officer F. G. Dawson as the following statement shows. It will be seen from the figures that Atlin and Skeena districts both gave a majority for Duncan Ross, Ross's main gain being in the city of Prince Rupert itself where his majority over Clements of 171 is less than a score of votes below Clements' majority of 188 for the whole constituency. Some may see evil omen for Ross in the figures showing his Atlin majority of 23—the hodoo or skidoo number—but superstition aside, neither Atlin nor Skeena district has anything to hang the head about in the fight for the Liberal Cause for Comox-Atlin. Following is the official summary:

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 21st.—A painful sensation has been caused here by what is believed to be an undertaker's blunder. Just prior to the burial of the cremated remains of the late David W. Trotter of Long Beach, Cal., at the local cemetery, it was discovered that the casket containing the ashes bore the label of Mrs. Ophelia Parrington, aged 82.

It is believed that the caskets of two different persons became mixed, each going to wrong destinations. The obsequies were stopped until the Long Beach undertaker can be communicated with.

Canadian Coinage This Year is Short of the Ancient Phrase—The Mint's Error.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—A great deal of comment has been created by the disappearance of the words "Dei Gratia" from the Canadian coinage this year. This applies to the silver ones only. Next year's coin will have the stately and ancient motto restored.

The fault for the omission lies with the British mint authorities. The dies were prepared in England and there the mistake was made. Because of the urgent need for dies they were accepted. The 1912 coins will revert to the ancient usage.

PRINCESS ROYAL GOES SOUTH WITH FULL LIST OF YUKON OLD-TIMERS

Frank Manley, George De Lion and Two Hundred Other Well Known Yukoners Going Out for the Winter---A Merry Scene on the Wharf This Morning

To the many old time Klondikers in Prince Rupert today, the passenger list of the C. P. R. Princess Royal this morning was of particular interest. Lining the steamer's side as she lay at the wharf were hundreds of passengers leaving the Yukon for the season, and amongst them old timers here counted many familiar faces.

Millionaire Frank

One conspicuous figure on board was that of Frank Manley, the man who ran the Manley Hot Springs Hotel at Fairbanks during the gold days, and one of the best known of the men north now. He has the reputation of being worth millions. He reached the Yukon from Mexico where he had cleared himself effectually of a charge of murder laid against him. He is as well known in Mexico as in the Yukon.

A Good Loser

Running the Hot Springs looked to be a profitable business, but Frank lost $200,000 on that venture. However, he grew a garden of vegetables and flowers there that was the envy of the whole North. He had a lay-out of lavish luxury with swimming pools, and every appurtenance in keeping. After leaving Fairbanks he went to the Iditarod, and has just pulled out from there with the reputation of having made "a pot of money." Frank hailed his friends here with warm good cheer today. Peter Black of the Central Hotel, Jarvis McLeod of the Customs Department, Max Heilbroner, J. H. Rogers of the Steamship Agency, were hailed by him.

Real "Old Timers"

Other prominent old time mining men on the Royal were Bill Scouse, once partner with Pete Black on "15 Eldorado," an unassuming many now worth many thousands of dollars. His brother Tom was there too, also a miner of '97. Doc. Raimer was there from Fairbanks, and Charlie Burchler, "the sunbeam purser" of the Northern Navigation Company, Hollis Looney, Bill Harding, Nick Torella, Pilot Schafer of the White Pass Company, Robert Milvane of the Russell King Outfit, Milvane and McLaren, Commodore Barker of the Northern Navigation Company Mrs. Charlie Vifquin, on her way to New York, Horace McKay, Fishery Inspector, and amongst many others last mentioned but not least George De Lion, famous in the days of the Villa De Lion across the Yukon where the "Marjorie" took her crowds of passengers.

Every Berth Full

To the true old timer every name has its associations and there were many, many more. This is the Royal's second last trip for the season, the water in the Yukon being freer than usual of ice just now. Every available berth was booked there being altogether some 220 passengers from Skagway southbound.

OUR NEW FEDERAL MEMBER SAYS HE WILL LOOK AFTER RUPERT

Mr. H. S. Clements Given an Enthusiastic Reception at the Conservative Smoker Last Night---Optimistic Prophecies Were Made About Canada's Future

With the McIntyre Hall about two-thirds full of staunch Conservatives and other citizens interested Alderman Clayton opened the smoker held last night to welcome Mr. Clements, the newly elected member for Comox-Atlin.

"It was desirable that before he went to Ottawa Mr. Clements should get to know the faces of his supporters and be able also call them each and all by name," said the Chairman amid applause. "Therefore this smoker."

The speaker went on terms of flowery eloquence to describe the resources of Prince Rupert particularly touching on the "hardy fisherman who after casting his net under the shimmering starlight draws forth in the daytime the glittering, silver-sided spoil of the mighty deep." (Cheers).

Clements Can Cook

Mayor Manson opened his address with amusing references to the launch trip taken by himself and Mr. Clements to Bella Coola—when Mr. Clements had proved able "to cook for the bunch." The Mayor had greatly enjoyed many meals cooked thus by Mr. Clements, though he had to wash the dishes afterwards. (Laughter).

Protection Plan

Referring to the recent contest the Mayor remarked that the victory achieved under Mr. Borden was a most significant one. It brought Canada in line with the plans of the great leader in Britain—Joseph Chamberlain—(Cheers.) It would lead to Canada and the British colonies coming in line with a system of protection. (Cheers). The old country would appreciate the advantage of the great scheme, and it would soon be realised. (Cheers).

A pianoforte selection followed Mr. Manson's address during which refreshments were served.

"Mr. Speaker's" Brother

Mr. Sproule, brother of the newly appointed Speaker of the House, was present and on the call of the chairman took the platform. He expressed his pleasure in addressing an audience in the great constituency of Comox-Atlin. He had seen much of the district while travelling with the new member, and "the estimable gentleman whom the citizens had selected to rule the coming city of Prince Rupert."

"Salt of the Earth"

He told how the hearts of the Conservatives down below had been cheered by the results coming in from the far away districts of Comox-Atlin—surely the salt of the earth was there. (Cheers from the grains of said salt in the hall).

Bee in His Bonnet

An amusing comic song and recitation followed by Mr. Martin and then the chairman called on Dr. Traynor, of Kitselas, to take the platform. He congratulated Mr. Clement on this victory saying that he never should forget how he felt when he heard the results at Kitselas.

Farmyard Interlude

Mr. J. G. Weston gave some farmyard imitations including how the Conservatives crowed on Election Day and after the results were out. Mr. Weston's imitation of catching a bee was exceptionally good. He caught the insect in Alderman Clayton's bonnet.

Several amusing songs followed, by Mr. Martin and other popular singers, then after a prelude in the shape of a selection on the bagpipes Mr. Clements was introduced by the chairman.

The New M. P.

Mr. Clements who was received with enthusiasm said he was pleased to see all, both Liberal and Conservative. He was proud as a Canadian that not a single elector he had met in Comox-Atlin had been desirous to sell his franchise.

Didn't Like Rupert Once

He admitted that when he first came to Prince Rupert in the early days he looked at the rock and timber about and did not see how a city ever could be made here. Now having seen something of the interior resources of the district, he was assured of Prince Rupert's prosperity. Prince Rupert must become a very great city indeed, and during his term at Ottawa he would while not neglecting every other portion of Comox-Atlin—make a point always of advancing the interests of Prince Rupert. He did not feel sore at the adverse vote he met in Prince Rupert but realised that his workers here had found forces against them that they had not anticipated.

Referring to Premier R. L. Borden, he said: "There is no one man more capable of leading the party in power in the Dominion of Canada than R. L. Borden." He would ever have the best interests of the Dominion at heart. Without wishing to say anything to offend any Liberal he did not see how any Liberal could possible have supported the reciprocity pact. He thought any Liberals supporting that pact must have voted simply for party reasons.

Wants the Liberals

If Liberals would now line up with the party in power they would find Canada better governed than it had been for fifteen years.

Gov't. and G. T. P.

He belittled the Liberal Government saying that the Grand Trunk Pacific was the only great enterprise ever entered on by the Liberal Government in the interests of Canada. The fortunes of Prince Rupert depended upon the G. T. P. and the Conservative party were not opposed to the

ATTEMPTED TO MURDER PURSER CHAS. GUPTILL

Foreigner Attacked Him With a Double Pitted Axe at Skagway and He May Die as a Result—Robbery the Motive—Posse Now in Hot Pursuit of the Miscreant

News was brought south by the Princess Royal this morning that just as she was pulling out of Skagway discovery had been made of a brutal attempted murder and robbery there. The victim is Charlie Gupill, purser of the Alaska Steamship Company, and the motive for the crime was evidently robbery as the purser was believed to have upwards of $3000 on him, the amount represented by bookings for the steamer Dolphin belonging to his company.

At the time the Royal pulled out, all that was known was that a foreigner had attacked Guptill with a double-bitted axe doing him dreadful injury, and the first news was that he had died within a few minutes. Later information obtained through enquiry made at Juneau where the news had been wired was to the effect that the purser was still alive, and that hopes were held out for his recovery. The money was believed to be all in the hands of the miscreant who escaped, but was being closely pursued, and had probably been captured by the time the Royal reached here. No further news of the matter had reached Rupert by wire up to the time of writing.

The injured man, Charlie P. Guptill, is a very well known in the present day north, though he was not an old timer of the Klondike days. He is very well spoken of all around, and the attack on him is arousing considerable feeling amongst those who have had to do with him in travelling north.

CHINA IS AWAITING RESULT OF NEXT BIG ENGAGEMENT

First Decisive Victory Either Way Will Have a Far Reaching Moral Effect on Chinese People—Big Battle is Expected at Any Minute

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Pekin, Oct. 21.—The fate of the Chinese Empire is now trembling in the balance awaiting the result of a decisive victory for one side or the other.

It is now apparent that the Imperial Government knew of the new victory of the rebels at Hankow twenty-four hours before it became public. The Imperial commander in chief is now within one hundred miles of Hankow, and it is expected that another and more decisive encounter between the opposing force will take place in the near future.

The climax and success of the revolutionists seems to hinge on the result of the first big encounter, as the moral effect will be far reaching.

DAILY EDITION. SATURDAY, OCT. 21

"THE FIRST GREAT BETRAYAL"

It is not to be expected that any political leader selecting a Cabinet can please all his followers. But Mr. Borden in his efforts to secure a ministry of all the talents seems to have been more than ordinarily unfortunate. Tory Toronto, the headquarters of Conservatism in Canada, seems to be very much torn over his Cabinet selections. The selection of Mr. W. T. White—probably the ablest and strongest of all the new ministers, is being made the subject of bitter protests.

The Toronto Telegram, whose ultra violent Conservatism is almost a byword has come out in open attack and is asking the Ontario Conservatives to defeat Hon. W. T. White and Hon. Frank Cochrane at the forthcoming by-elections. The introduction of the French Nationalist and clerical representatives into the Cabinet is the ground of the Telegram's bitterest ire. In an editorial entitled "The First Great Betrayal" it says:

"If Hon. R. L. Borden and the Borden Government have any real friends in Ontario, these friends will set to work and defeat Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. W. T. White in any constituency to which they may appeal in this Province.

"The question for Ontario Conservatives to decide is whether they will strangle the advisers who have subordinated the R. L. Borden Premiership to clericalism and corporationism on the occasion of the first betrayal of the people.

"Or will the true friends of the Borden Premiership hesitate to strangle the worst enemies of that Premiership and give these enemies time to strangle the whole Conservative party and deprive Canada of the fruits of as noble a victory as a free people ever won?

"The defeat of Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. W. T. White in Ontario constituencies would bring Hon. R. L. Borden face to face with the quality of the folly which he has accepted as wisdom, and teach Mr. Borden that the voice of Ontario does not necessarily speak in the accents of Sir William Mackenzie and J. W. Flavelle & Company."

Of course the Telegram's attitude is ureasonable. The Telegram did not object to Mr. Borden obtaining the assistance of clerical and corporation allies in its hydra-headed campaign. Why should it object to either the clerical party or the corporations securing representation now victory is obtained?

It is an interesting speculation as to how the Telegram—which is the unofficial mouthpiece for the Orangemen of Ontario—will take the proposed elevation of Dr. Sproule to the Speakership. Will it take it with praise and thanks as a recognition of the Orange party, or will it condemn it with bitterness as a Machiavellian scheme to rob the Orange party of its ablest mouthpiece in the Commons, in preparation for the time when the Manitoba school question will be re-opened in the House by the clericals.

The Telegram's attitude will give the cue to Ontario Orangeism. It is at a moment like this that the opinion of a newspaper, giving the direction to public opinion, means much to a political party.

PASSING COMMENT

The iniquitous state of law administration in the Chilcotin country is a direct result of putting the Attorney General's department and the license administration into politics. Even if we cannot attain high political ideals the administration of justice should at least be kept out of the swill-tub of party spoils.

Mr. George H. Perley, the late chief Conservative Whip and now a member of Mr. Borden's Cabinet, is the first native born American to hold Cabinet rank in the Dominion Government. He was born in New Hampshire in 1857.

Mr. W. J. Bryan, the champion "also ran" of the United States politics, in a recent religious address spoke strongly against gambling:

"During the three campaigns when I ran for the presidency I always advised my friends not to bet.

"And," he added, amid a shout of laughter from the audience, "they always appreciated the advice after the election."

The News regrets it did not print this story early in September.

He is said to have the old time shift that made his brother famous and can hit hard.

Another Great Story

THE DAILY NEWS READERS HAVE ANOTHER TREAT IN STORE FOR THEM

The News has received so many letters of appreciation from its readers for its enterprise and judgment in securing the serial rights of Captain Clive Wolley's great story, "The Tenderfoot's Wooing," that it has gone still further.

The News has secured the serial rights for Louis Tracy's Great New Story

"The Pillar of Light"

and will start the story very shortly

Louis Tracy is the greatest writer of fascinating adventure stories in England.—His plots are vigorous.—His characters are lifelike. There is not a dull paragraph. His stories are models of good English too. . . . .

What The Pillar of Light Is

The "Pillar of Light" is a sea story of love and adventure. As you may guess the "Pillar of Light" is a lighthouse. The story concerns the romance of Stephen Brand the lighthouse keeper and man of mystery. It is a story of heroic deeds in many lands. It will hold you to the very last word and delight you all the time. In the end you will see the greater meaning of the title "The Pillar of Light. : : :

This story is exclusive in British Columbia to the Daily News and its readers. See that you get the story from the start by having your name entered on the Daily News books as a subscriber.

PEANUT FARM FOR PROFITS

Plant Peanuts Instead of Potatoes and Put Pence in Your Pockets.

A farmer named Cleveland Roberts of Feeding Hill, U. S. A., has raised a remarkable crop of peanuts during the past season that proved profitable as well as an interesting experiment. Early last spring he invested in a pint of unroasted peanuts—60 peanuts in all, count 'em—at one of the local stores, and planted them on his farm, with such success that he sold his crop of four bushels to Henry J. Perkins at a price that shows that native-grown peanuts are as profitable as potatoes.

The pint of peanuts was planted in a light soil in the same manner that one plants potatoes, one peanut being placed in each hill. The crop was cultivated in the same way as potatoes, several hoeings being given to keep down the weeds. When harvest time came Mr. Roberts was surprised not only by the size of the crop, but also by the size of the peanuts. Many of the shells contained six large, perfectly-formed peanuts and there were large quantities of the humped-back, double-jointed variety.

Mr. Roberts kept the largest peanuts and will exhibit them at the Suffield fair. He is convinced that profitable crops of peanuts can be raised in Feeding Hills as well as in Virginia, and will plant a larger amount next season.

BIG MOTOR SHIPS TO CROSS OCEAN

Big New Vessels Building to Have Oil Engines Installed in Them—To Supersede Steam Vessels.

Predictions are now being made by the heads of many of the great shipbuilding firms throughout the world that this year will show a very great advance in the use of oil engines as the motive power for ocean-going vessels. So rapidly has been the progress made that many believe that within two or three years ships without funnels or boilers will be making the trans-Pacific and trans-Atlantic passages. With this method of propulsion the speed of the vessel can be increased and a far smaller amount of room taken up by the machinery than with the boilers and engines of the ships of today.

The Continent, and not Great Britain, has taken the initiative thus far in this important matter. Only one vessel of size to be equipped with oil engines is at present being built for registration under the British flag, although it is stated that a London firm of ship owners is about to place an order for a vessel of about 6,000 tons.

Two vessels to be fitted with oil engines are being built for the Danish East Asiatic Company, while a 8,000-ton motor boat is nearing completion for the Hamburgh-American line, and two oil liners are under contract for the Brazil service of the Hamburg-South American Company. A five-masted bark of 3,272 tons burden is building at Bordeaux, which will be provided with internal combustion engines.

The desirability of the employment of such engines for the propulsion of large vessels was the subject of discussion not long ago at a meeting of the British Institute of Naval Architects in London. One speaker said that he knew of 250 ships which were fitted or to be fitted with Diesel plants.

Messrs. Pearson & Gard who are interested in the black sand deposits at Cape Fife are in town. They are going over to their diggings on Saturday.

Rather fewer passengers than usual left for the south by the Rupert yesterday, the exodus of citizens who prefer to miss Rupert's bright frosty days, being at an end for this time.

BUILDING A BIG PULP MILL

Some Day a Network of Them Will Overspread Our Own Country

Though deferred by the failure of the reciprocity agreement to obtain ratification, the time will yet come when the Northern British Columbia will become a great pulp and paper making country. Many thousands of square miles our hills are covered with timber growths suitable for conversion into wood pulp. Indeed a pulp mill would be a boon to settlement, making it possible for the settler to spend the first season and subsequent winters in clearing his lands at considerable profit to himself.

A Big New Mill

In Northern Ontario which has a considerable physical resemblance to Northern British Columbia, several large pulp mills have been erected recently to cope with the demand for news print in Canada, which grows by approximately 40,000 tons each year.

One of the largest of these is at Spanish River, the entire town of Espanola being peopled with employees of the company. Espanola is quite an up to date town, with electric light, water plant and sewerage system. The pulp mill has a daily capacity of 140 tons, drawing its pulp wood from an area of 6,000 square miles which was granted to it as a concession by the Ontario Government. By husbanding the pulp area, the company will be guaranteed a practically continuous supply of pulp wood for ages to come.

Developing Water Power

A correspondent of the Toronto Globe who recently visited the town says he was struck by the excellent adaptation of the mill to its natural advantages. One of the most striking physical feature of the place is the rock formation which supplies nature's immovable piers for the company's dam. The dam, which is built in an arched position, rests upon immense rocks which project from each side, the proglem of handling the surplus water being overcome by the use of drop-logs and sluice-gates. The area of flooded land created by the raising of the water at the dam to a 60-ft. head has provided a booming-ground for the storage of all the business of the river, which as a number of other companies are operating, is quite exteasive. The plant under construction will utilize 12,500 h.p. and the electriccal development amply provides for this and leaves a surplus of between 2,000 and 3,000 h.p.

Economic Operation

The buildings have been carefully designed in order to secure the minimum ratio of operating cost. Similarly the plans of every building have been drawn with a view to ecoonomical expansion in the future. Many of the operations from the handling of the rough timber to the despatch of the finished product present labor and cost savings devices which are unique.

The slashing department, with its simplicity of design, has reduced the cost of taking timber from the water, sawing it into two-foot lengths and storing, to fifteen cents per cord, including all machinery maintenance charges.

Profitable Business

With a practically unlimited market for paper, with the prospect that "something has got to be done" despite all promises and theories to allow the American consumer to purchase our pulp, with great pulp timber areas and unlimited water powers, Canada seems likely to dominate the pulp business in years to come. After the pulp development has ceased in Ontario, and the Panama Canal brings British Columbia closer to New York than Ontario is now, the pulp industry will probably prove to be one of the greatest wealth and prosperity makers in the last best West.

FIFTY YEARS AGO IN B.C.

Mr. Thos. Deasy, One of the Real Old Timers, Tells of the Days of the Old Colony

Whenever a man, still in the prime of life, has the opportunity to look back over the vista of half a century spent in the Province of British Columbia, many scenes pass through "memory's storehouse," some sad, while others appear as in the land of dreams, filled as they are with recollections of happy days 'mid laughing throngs, many of whom have crossed "the great divide," and will be seen no more on earth.

Back in '59

Imagine a number of families, wives and children of Crimean veterans, breasting the Fraser River so long back as 1859. The old Hudson Bay steamer Otter was then considered "a fast and commodious passenger boat," and we romped along the deck, after a six months' voyage on a sailing vessel. New Westminster was our destination; but it was decided that another spot on the Fraser River should be our first camp, and we were taken to a piece of prairie land called "Derby." Shortly after, the government decided to move the soldiers, and their families, to the ground now occupied by the penitentiary, a short distance above New Westminster, and the work of clearing commenced. In a short time a large barracks, officers' quarters, storehouses, soldier's homes, and other conveniences were constructed, all of which have gone, today, like many of those who occupied the place at that time.

Only Two are Left

Of our passenger list on the steamer Otter, but two of the officers and crew, men and women remain. Fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers—all gone on another journey, never to return. In 1864, we, the Sunday school children, were taken on an excursion to Port Moody. At that time there was one mill operating there—nothing more. The wonderful change, from the vast forest, to the large and thriving city of Vancouver, can only be realized by one who has seen the magic city grow, apparently in a night. During the same year, the soldiers were disbanded, and many left for "Merry England," embarking on the old man-of-war, "Chameleon." We remained, and when the seat of government was removed to Victoria, in 1869, went there on the government steamer "Sir James Douglas." Few are left, who made that trip, and the steamer has gone to the "boneyard."

In Old Victoria

Victoria was a small city, with few substantial buildings, and our first home was in the old pagoda-like brick structures, where the palatial Provincial Government buildings now stand. In the early days, before Confederation, the whole country was ruled from "Downing Street." We had representatives—some appointed by the government and some elected. Red tape and sealing wax were affixed to documents, as they still have things in England. Electric lights, telephones and other inventions, we knew nothing of. It was quite a treat to see gaslight in Victoria—the only place that could afford a gas plant.

Waterworks on Wheels

Water was brought into Victoria in barrels, on two wheels, and dispensed at the rate of ten cents per bucket. A brick building was then considered something unusual to construct. The old steamer, Beaver, was then plying the harbors and bays surveying the waters. Esquimalt was the stopping place for the British men-of-war on the coast, and it was not unusual to see several of the wooden ships at anchor there. Hundreds of bluejackets would come ashore, making things lively in the towns of Esquimalt and Victoria.

Exit the Old Colony

Confederation, and "Carnarvon Terms," were introduced and carried to a final settlement in 1871. The construction of a railway and the building up of Vancouver followed. New Westminster burned, and afterwards rebuilt. Nanaimo, with its coal mines, attracted attention and commenced shipping to outside ports. The whole country commenced to settle up and the colony days were at an end.

It is very seldom that the residents of British Columbia now have the opportunity to hear Reminiscences from the Old Guard, the men who have remained and are now waiting "till the shadows are a little longer grown." Some of us have seen every city and town grow, out of the bush. We lived in British Columbia when flour was worth fifty dollars a sack. Where palatial steamers now ply, we have considered a rowboat, or a canoe, sufficient to travel up the rivers and along the coast.

Gold Was Plentiful

When the golden bars were being brought to the only two towns, people thought little of the sixpence, and small change that would always find its way into the pockets, or the iron banks of the children. The "shilling," and the "florin" would be used to purchase small commodities and nothing less was accepted over the counters. Cariboo was pouring its wealth into Victoria and New Westminster. We thought the mines would never be exhausted, and the miners were lavish with the money they took from the ground and expended so freely.

We have traveled up along the Fraser River; seen the towns and cities spring up along the line of railway; watched the few of the old pioneers pass away, year by year, and the thousands of new settlers take their places.

Still on the Frontier

During the past two years we have again taken up the work of "pioneering." In another growing city, where the railway will bring in its thousands and thousands, there are springing up communities, with the latest appliances and conveniences. Over in the adjacent islands, we have viewed the natural resources that will be opened up. It may be our good forture to travel from West to East on the greatest of transcontinental railways. What a revelation to those who look back on the dog team and hand sled. How the faces of the departed thousands we once knew so well, appear to us, betimes, and bring recollections of events that have passed down to history. The ranks are thinning out; but the work of the pioneers of British Columbia can be seen in many of the now out-of-the-way places that will soon be opened up. Their "footprints will be effaced," but, like the Roman legions of old, they stood by the country of their adoption, in heat and cold—through trials and tribulations—until the few now know that the "blazed trail" of long ago leads thousands of the residents of other climes to a land where they will enjoy both contentment and prosperity.

= THE COSY CORNER =

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

HARD LUCK

He had a prophylactic bent,
And led a sterile life,
Had hygienic children and
A sanitary wife.
Lived in a fumigated house
And wore aseptic suits,
Ate germicidal food and smoked
Denicotined cheroots.

His milk was always pasteurized,
He drank denatured water;
He ne'er forgot to swat the flies,
Mosquitoes he would slaughter.
He screened his doors and windows and
His office disinfected;
Against microbes of every kind
He felt himself protected.

He exercised; he slept by rule
And times his every breath;
His health was excellent and he
Defied disease and death.
His plan was admirable, no doubt,
But darn the measly luck!
He went and got run over by
A ten-ton power truck!

Mayor Has Returned

Mayor Manson returned in the "Rover" yesterday from Bella Coola where he has been with H. S. Clements, the new member for Comox-Atlin, who is studying the needs of the riding before going to Ottawa.

"Black Devil" Back

The black auto about which Alderman Newton used to "fulminate thunder" is back in Rupert, but the Hazelton trails seem to have worked havoc with its gear. It is being repaired at the Rupert Marine Depot.

Boat Note Due

No official advice as to which G. T. P. flyer will lay off first for the season is to hand yet at Mr. McMaster's office, but Mr. McMaster is informed that the date for the single steamer service to commence is November 1st.

Trail to Woodworth

Eight men are engaged building a pack horse trail to Woodworth Lake today. The original trail was traversed mostly by surveyors and it was a rough trail. Many more will now have the opportunity of seeing the beautiful waterfall which is situated not far from the outlet of Woodworth Lake.

Warning to Gun-men

Chief Owens, of the Provincial Police Force, is posting notices today that all game and birds on Kaien Island are preserved, and that any one found shooting them will be prosecuted. The notice is published in English and in Montenegrin.

Lunch was Late

Anxiety was felt last right when the Rupert Marine launch Wolverine delayed her home-coming from Metlakatla where she had been assisting at the repair of the Queen Mary. A search party in another launch sent out at midnight found the launch all right, but delayed by threatened fog. Both launches got back at two a.m.

GOOD NEWS INDEED

When Oil Burners are Fitted to G. T. P. Flyers Schedule May Give Them a Ten a.m. Start from Rupert.

In passing, mention may be made of the probability that when the G. T. P. boats return next summer fitted with oil burners instead of coal fuel, the time saving will be so great that the boats will be able to leave Rupert at ten a.m. instead of eight a.m. as at present. The change will be welcomed most by everybody who likes breakfast at home before starting on a journey.

FOUND LITTLE BOOTS

Mark Spence's Lost Luggage Strews Beach with Human Interest Salvage.

Salvage operations near the scene of the wreck of the Queen Mary resulted yesterday in the discovery of a photograph of a nice looking Indian mother and five little ones presumably the family of Mark Spence, the hero of the lost grapes and oranges. Another sorrowful little bit of jetsam is a tiny pair of baby boots with neat little red uppers which Mark was taking to a tiny tot at Masset. There is a pretty silk handkerchief, too, but no grapes or oranges were discovered. Several cases of gasoline have drifted ashore, but not by any means all that drifted away. There was a dance given at Metlakatla last night, and rumor hath it that Mark Spence was there himself, greatly enjoying oranges the origin of which is shrouded in mysetry.

BLIND MAN'S MONOPOLY

Massage is Exclusively Done by the Blind in Japan

The blind in Japan have a monopoly of one employment, massaging. No person with sight is permitted to massage as a profession in Japan.

The profession of a masseur is a very honorable one, and the polite Japanese take care that the greatest courtesy is shown their afflicted brethren.

Although the blind Japanese follow other means of livelihood, the great majority follow the vocation which their kindly law has marked out, hedged about with consideration and made so profitable for them.

Reflections of a Bachelor

Girls only tell little fibs about their suitors so as not to have to tell bigger ones.

A woman can make herself believe her husband's politeness is devotion.

Sometimes a man's explaining problems to the children doesn't muddle them very much more about them.

You might impress the joys of heaven on children by making them believe it's all school in the other place.

construction of the G. T. P. but rather to the method of its construction. They were in favor since the people were to own a large share in the G. T. P. that they should own and run it all as a public concern without the aid of any company.

Will Be Investigation

There would be investigations of the G. T. P. and of other concerns of the late Government. Electors must remember that they would have to exercise patience before they could expect to see any results for Prince Rupert of the return of the Conservatives.

Post Office Building

Mr. Clements realised the needs of Rupert and pledged himself to see that substantial post office and other public buildings fit to serve the city for at least ten years should be erected—Comox-Atlin should have an appropriation of at least three times that of any eastern constituency.

Referring to the agricultural possibilities of the district he declared that not a cent's worth of farm produce need be imported from over the line.

Better Freight Service

He would endeavor to further improvement of the freight service by water so that the produce of the farms at Bella Coola might reach Rupert fresh from the soil.

Loves Liberals

He invited Liberals to come into the Conservative field, telling them that he felt convinced that they would be well content by so doing. He expressed the greatest confidence in Finance Minister White—a former Liberal—and a man of whose abilities Mr. Clements had the highest possible opinion. Mr. Clements concluded by thanking his audience most cordially for their reception of him, and sat down amidst cheers—and "He's a jolly good fellow" sung by the audience standing.

In a few closing remarks Alderman Clayton suggested that a central Conservative Association at Prince Rupert would help the whole constituency to help itself and the Dominion.

A programme of songs followed.

AT THE THEATRE

The Williams Co. Promise a Grand Farewell Performance Tonight.

Every night this week the Williams Comedy Comapny at the Empress Theatre have put on a better play than on the previous night. Tonight they intend to exceed even the splendid and convincing romance they offered in "Dora Thorne" last night.

They have selected for their farewell perfomance the well known comedy drama "Master and Man," in which Mr. Dave Williams has made a reputation by his masterly performance of the old Irish servant Jerry. Miss Pinkie Mullally who has made so many admirers here by her charming personality and talents will take the soubrette part of Chick. Theatre goers will remember some of the amusing passages between Chick and Jerry.

A crowded house is expected for tonight, the company having made hosts of good friends for themselves during their stay in town. "We are all anxious to show our gratitude to our Prince Rupert friends by making tonight's performance a great success, and we are hoping to return to you again next year," said Mr. Dave Williams on behalf of his company this morning.

UGLY CHARGE

Waiter on Well Known Boat Charged With Assaulting a Little Girl.

Samuel Hogg, a waiter on board the Prince John, is under arrest by the Provincial Police today charged with having indecently assaulted a little girl passenger on board the boat near Masset. The case will probably go to Masset for preliminary hearing.

PRINCE GEORGE LATE

Fog delayed the Prince George somewhat on her run this week, and she was not due to arrive till 3.30 this afternoon. A wireless message brought the information that Sir William White, of London, is on board, making a trip to visit the railway, in which he is heavily interested. He is accompanied by Captain Nicholson.

TO RAISE MONEY FOR MINING

Mr. H. N. Wright, of Hazelton, to Make a Trip to London—Is Owner of Some Excellent Prospects.

Hazelton, Oct. 20.—H. N. Wright, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Vancouver, will leave Hazelton, as soon as the management at Vancouver can send someone to take his place, and will go direct to England. His mission will be to raise funds for operations in which himself and associates are interested. He will also take with him options on some properties to put before people in London. All of these propositions referred to are close to Hazelton.

Mr. Wright is said to be interested with P. J. Jennings in the Hazelton Nine Mile Mining Company. Mr. Wright also recently bought the Amargosa group of claims on Rocher de Boule. This was a cash deal and Mr. Wright is the sole owner. The group is near the Trimble-Pemberton property, now bonded to John F. Cowan, of Salt Lake City, for a quarter of a million dollars.

WHAT SAYS MOTHER?

Airmen Like to Load up Their Machine with Youngsters

There is a growing tendency In Europe to load an areoplane with children instead of grown-ups when an attempt is made to establish a new passenger record.

Children do not weigh as much nor take up as much room as grown-ups, so of course more can be taken.

On the other hand, should an accident occur the children would be sacrificed to the aeronaut's desire to break the passenger record.

Children very often have less fear than grown-ups and enjoy the sport immensely.

TELL THE YOUNGSTERS

London Coronation Police Had Candy Given Them All Day

The huge squads of police detailed to guard the coronation parade in London were given sticks of pure chocolate and bags of candy "drops" as the mainstay of their rations.

Strange to say, this diet was recommended by the chief of police surgeons as the very best for a hard day's work in the sultry weather.

Safe it is to say that the little English children for that day, at least, wished devoutly to belong to the police force.

SOMETHING WRONG

Most Marvellous Feat Ever Yet Accomplished by a Plumber

It may be that the feat attributed to the pumbler in the subjoined anecdote is impossible outside the realms of the imagination, but within them it is a singularly pleasing achievement for everyone but the family on whom it was practised.

"You're wanted," said the small boy.

"Who wants me?" demanded the plumber.

"Number 137—the house you've just come from."

"Do they think I can work all hours of the day?" retorted the plumber.

"You'd better come," persisted the small boy stoutly, "or it'll be too late. Ma's got hysterics, and pa's gone nearly mad, and—"

"Look here, sonny," asked the plumber, "what's up?"

"Well, I think you've connected the wrong pipes, or something," replied the boy. "Anyhow, the chandelier in the parlor is spraying like a fountain, and the bathroom tap's on fire."

Bert Maxwell, the Giants' Southern League recruit, has raised nearly $3,000 for "Scotty" Walker, the Atlanta shortstop whom he hit on the head with a pitched ball this last season, putting Walker out of the game and necessitating a serious operation. When Maxwell was a member of the Atlanta Club he and Walker were bosom friends and even after Bert went to Birmingham, with which club he was playing when the accident occurred, they remained chums whenever the two teams were in the same town together.

A woman has done a big day's shopping when she has spent a tenth as much on it as on her car fare and luncheon.
