EASTERN CAPITAL FOR CONTINENTAL

$150,000 TO BE USED IN DEVELOPMENT

Good Road Is Being Built --New Machinery to Be Installed

Work is being started on an extensive scale on the Idaho Continental Mining Company's property near Port Hill. Pres. A. Klochman has interested eastern capital in the mine and $150,000 have been advanced with which to develope and carry out the work on the property. New machinery will be installed as soon as the road from Port Hill to the mine on which a crew of about 75 men are working is completed. The highway is being prepared for auto trucks in the summer and large capacity ore sleds in the winter.

The capital is to be used for equipment, which will consist of a 300 ton daily capacity concentrator, a hydro-electric power plant, a 12 drill compressor plant, a sawmill and the buildings necessary to house the machinery and furnish accommodations for the employes. The sawmill will be taken in as soon as the wagon road is open and will be placed in operation immediately preparing timbers for the structures.

At a recent meeting of the stock holders of the company a ten year contract with the International Smelting & Refining Co., which is to handle the entire output of the mine was made.

The Idaho Continental company group consists of 20 claims, developed by a mile of underground workings to a depth of 500 feet. The mine was operated on an extensive scale for a brief period several years ago and shipped 1200 tons of high-grade silver-lead ore, which proved especially uniform tn quality and consistent in value.

The property was examined recently by Frederick Burbidge of Spokane, formerly general manager of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan; Reno H. Sales of Butte, Mont., chief geologist for the Amalgamated Copper company, and Fred T. Greene, formerly with the Amalgamated company, but now general mining engineer in Butte, and their reports agree on an estimate of $1,000,000 net of ore in sight above the 500-foot level.

English Excursion Will Not Come This Way

Word has been received by P. B. Fowler, secretary of the Board of Trade in reply to a telegram inviting them if possible to come through the Crow's Nest Pass, that the British Business Mens Excursion cannot change the present itenery. This section of British Columbia will therefore not be visited.

D. J. Black who has been working at the C. P. R. station in the absence of R. M. Reid returned to his home at Cranbrook Saturday.

A. Burn Murdock of Edinburough leaves Monday for the Coast. From there he will tour the Rockies and then go to the Niagra.

HIT AND MISS

Wonder if it is because so many water pipes are freezing and bursting that there is such a water shortage this month.

The Scotch in this vicinity are evidently more patriotic than other British subjects, judging from the number of thistles growing where the English rose might be blooming.

The circus that visited Creston on Tuesday lost one of its camels at Proctor. A good many more of the animals must have been lost before Proctor was reached if the show ever had in its possession what was pictured on the bill posters.

Last week the Nelson News reported that the wind had blown ashes from the live volcano in Alaska into their city. Creston witnessed the same phenomenon but the ashes (?) which blew into our office had not felt the heat of a volcano for at least several thousand years.

Eve tempted Adam into hard work with an apple. Creston ranchers are trying to cajole themselves out of hard work with the same kind of fruit.

A cow, probably delegated by the other bovines that are permitted to range through the streets to protest against the complaint that was directed at them in last weeks Review, walked boldly and with threatening mean, in at our office door yesterday afternoon. It is a common occurance for subscribers angered by something printed in the paper to confront the editor with their trouble, but never before has one been known to have met with by such a visitor.

HERE AND THERE

Nelson tax rate was struck at the last meeting of the city council. It is to be 37½ mills on the dollar on land and 2 mills on 50 per cent of the improvements. This tax is estimated to produce $64,829.

Grand Forks is to be Division point and to have joint terminals of the Canadian Pacific and Kettle Valley railways. The construction of a ten-stall roundhouse and machine shops and a union depot is to start immediately at the cost of $200,000.

The Consolidated Company's shares have jumped from $52 to $72 in two weeks according to an account printed in the Rossland Miner. It is expected that the shares will reach par within a few weeks. The overdraft of over a million dollars which existed a few years since will be entirely wiped out.

The survey for the railroad from Trail to Metalline, Washington to connect with the Idaho & Washington Northern has been completed. Construction will probably be started at an early date.

The Panama Canal conference is now session at Calgary. The commercial value of the canal to Canada is the topic of discussion.

John McNeil, government road foreman at Kaslo was fatally injured by a rock falling from a heavy blast, last Friday dying a few hours later.

Pear blight, sometimes known as fire blight is invading the Okanagan country The apples are the most seriously affected. The remedy applied is to cut on the affected branches about a foot below the diseased part, keeping the knife sterilized so that contagion may not have access to the clean wood.

Circus People Held Here

Because they were requested to preform without their dinner, a number of the Cole Bros. Circus people struck before the show here on Tuesday. All but five were persuaded to return to their work. These five, had not passed the immigration inspection as they had been bonded through with the circus when it left the States. Constable Gunn detained them here until today when he took them to Kootenay Landing where they were met by the Immigration inspector from Waneta, the point of entry for the circus. He will see that they are either deported or fulfil the requirements of immigrants. The circus company was bonded to the amount of $250 a person to see that all its employes returned to the states after the tour thru Canada.

EXHIBIT TO GO TO LETHBRIDGE

GOOD OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLICITY

Growers Organizations to Accept Offer of Board of Trade

That Creston valley is to be represented by a large exhibit at the Dry Farming Congress to be held at Lethbridge, Alberta, in October is now assured. At the special meeting of directors of the Fruit Growers Union, the Fruit Growers Association and the Farmers Institute last evening, it was decided to send a good exhibit under the terms made by the Creston Board of Trade which has offered to stand the expense connected with the the display,

Although this district specializes in fruit, it was the idea of the meeting to make a general display, and the ranchers are asked to save good specimen sheaves of timothy and grain, for the coming event. It is desired to put on everything that grows well in the district to attract the attention of the people attending the congress, who are interested in other things besides fruit. As most of the fruit in British Columbia is raised under irrigation and therefore barred, Creston can easily put on a top exhibit as far as this province is concerned.

This Seventh International Dry-Farming Congress is to be the world's largest gathering of farmers and the cooperation of the local ranchers with the Board of Trade in the staging of a good exhibit, means one of the best publicity moves Creston has made.

All farmers are invited to attend the congress. Invitations have been sent to every nation in the world to send delegates. The congress will be formally opened on Monday, October 21, 1012, at 11 a. m., by His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, for the government of Great Britian; and Honorable James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States.

Masonic Grand Lodge

John M. Rudd, of Nanaimo, was elected grand master of the Masonic order for the jurisdiction of British Columbia at the annual convention which opened at Vancouver, June 20. Two hundred and forty-two members were in attendance when the Grand Lodge was called to order by the retiring grand master, F. J. Burd. Arthur H. Skey, of Kamloops, was re-elected as deputy grand master, William Henderson, Victoria, was chosen senior grand warden, and M. Stark, of Vancouver, junior grand warden, Dr. W. A. Dewolf Smith, Westminster, was re-elected grand secretary and H. H. Watson, Vancouver was again chosen grand treasurer, T. Mitchell, Vancouver, was also re-elected to the position of grand tyler.

On the afternoon, June 22 the delegates were given a banquet by the Vancouver lodge.

S. A. Speers was the delegate representing the Creston Masons. Dr. Corsan of Fernie was appointed D. D. G. M. for this district.

There is one other matter, he said, I didn't like to mention before for fear you should imagine I was forcing your hand. Now I can speak freely. It relates to your daughter. When I lent you that money I quite expected to have the privilege of calling myself your son-in-law, I have not yet had had anything definite from Miss Haredale; in fact, I am afraid she dislikes me. But things can't go on like this and you promised to put in a good word for me. I daresay you will think it strange, but I have set my heart on this marriage. It will be well, perhaps, to let your daughter know how things stand. I fear she doesn't comprehend the position I hold. Tell her yourself.

There was no mistaking the ring of command about the last words.

Certainly Sir George promised. I will do so without delay. I can't for the life of me understand May's position in the matter. Almost every girl in the country would jump at the chance of being Mrs. Raymond Copley. And with her extravagant notions May must marry a rich man. But leave it to me, Copley. Come over after dinner this evening, and see if we can fix this thing up once and for all.

Sir George returned to Haredale trying to feel on good terms with himself and elated with the turn things had taken. But strive as he might he could not disguise that he had done wrong. He could not still the voice of conscience. However, he was relieved to hear from his butler of the departure of Brown on receipt of a telegram which had been brought to Haredale to him. The man had made certain promises. He would call again later in the day, but had left his address in case Sir George wanted to write to him. It was very correct and very discreet, no one was any the wiser, nobody had guessed about this black disgrace, and in the fullness of his heart Sir George wrote a short note to Brown enclosing a cheque. He was sealing up the envelope and putting a stamp on when May came in.

She was fresh from her ride. Her eyes were sparkling and her cheeks glowing. There was something in her gay abandon and her clear light of innocence that jarred upon Sir George. Why should she have none of this trouble? he asked himself. Why should she be outside of it all? And to some extent she was the cause of the mischief. But for her Copley would never have lent Sir George any money, but for her he would never have found himself in the clutches of Absalom & Co. This was all as specious as his other moralizing and it never occurred to him for a moment that he had fallen into a trap set by Copley. What he wanted was some one to vent his anger upon.

Where have you been? he asked irritably. I have been having a conversation about you with our friend Copley. He wants to know—"

He already does know, May said coldly. I thought I had made that quite clear. And I shall be glad if you will not allude to this again. It is most distasteful to me.

Sir George brought his fist with a bang on the table.

You are a fool, he cried. I beg pardon, but I can't think of any other word. You don't seem to realize what obligations we are under to Mr. Copley. Do you know that if he liked he could turn us out of the house to-morrow? Do you know that even this morning he has saved us from a great disgrace? And he has done all this out of affection for you. I can assure you that Mr. Raymond Copley is not the mas to be played with.

My dear father, May protested, why this violence? I don't in the least want to play with Mr. Copley.

Oh, this is no joking matter. You ought to be proud to think that a man like that is ready to lay his wealth at your feet. Now, I want you to realize that if you treat him in this way any longer he will very likely teach you a lesson. It is no use beating about the bush. We are in his hands. And, therefore, you must marry him.

Must, my dear father. Surely—"

Oh, I am not going to listen to any more. I won't argue with you. You are either going to marry Mr. Copley or I wash my hands of you altogether. I will not be ruined for the mere whim of a girl. Now you quite understand me? If this thing isn't settled to-morrow, this is no place for you.

CHAPTER XXXI

An Ultimatum

It was a cruel shock to the girl. She had never heard her father speak like that before; indeed, she would not have deemed him capable of such harshness. For many years May and her father had been the best of friends; indeed, their relationship had been more like brother and sister than anything else. She had shared in Sir George's pleasures, she had known most of his troubles, and generally had been allowed to do exactly as she pleased. And if she had her proper sense of pride, it was Sir George who was mainly responsible for it. He had never forgotten that he was the master of Haredale Park, and that the family had lived there three centuries and more. He had always spoken his mind freely to May on the subject of newcomers and interlopers. He had declared that no matter what his neighbors might do not one of them should ever cross his threshold; he had apparently despised these new rich from the bottom of his heart. It seemed only the other day that Sir George had spoken most contemptuously about Raymond Copley. A few months before and he would have laughed to scorn any suggestion on Copley's part to become one of the family.

We need not envy them, my dear, Sir George had said over and over again. After all, money is not everything. Of course, one has to be agreeable to these people in the hunting field and when one meets them at neighboring houses, but, thank goodness, we need not go farther than that. You won't have much when I die, but so long as you marry the right sort of man I shall be quite content with your choice. I can trust you, I know.

These recollections crowded into May's mind as she stood face to face with her father. It struck her almost with painful force that she was making his acquaintance for the first time. She could not seem to know the man. This was another Sir George Haredale of whom she had not the slightest knowledge. He looked hard and sullen and met her eye with difficulty. May hoped he would have the grace to be ashamed of himself that this was an outburst for which he would apologize presently.

Do you quite understand what you are saying? she murmured. I hope I have not mistaken you, father.

You have not mistaken me at all. Sir George said sullenly.

Then I am to understand that it is your wish that I should become the wife of Mr. Raymond Copley.

I thought I had made it quite plain. You are so set upon this match that your mind is thoroughly made up and unless I marry this man I am no longer to consider Haredale Park as my home.

Sir George nodded. He had not the courage to put it as plainly as that.

I will try to be calm, May went on. But this has been a terrible shock to me. Even now I can hardly believe my ears. Do you mean to say that if I refuse Mr. Copley I am to be turned out of my house and home?

Don't be dramatic, Sir George murmured

I didn't know that I was. I only want to have a clear understanding. Oh, the thing is monstrous. You cannot realize what you are saying. And if you have no sort of feeling for yourself or me, just try to realize what our friends will say. We know many people who would decline to be on visiting terms with Mr. Copley. We know lots of houses where he could not go. Even if I were fond of the man and could meet your wishes, it would be a long time before certain of our neighbors forgave me. And what will you say to them when you meet them racing, or hunting, or shooting? Do you suppose this thing can be kept quiet? Do you suppose everybody won't know why I left home? Do you believe for a moment that common gossip will not say that you turned your own daughter out because she refused to marry a man whom you declined to call upon for months after he came here? I know such things happen in the case of boys, but I never yet heard of a father in your position who sent his daughter away because she refused to sell herself to a person whom she both disliked and despised.

Specialist Did Skin Trouble No Good

Very Itchy and Disfiguring. Got a Little Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Cured.

"For two summers I suffered with skin trouble on my arms, and on my legs from my knees down. My arms were badly disfigured, and I kept them covered. It came like the hives, and was very itchy. I consulted a specialist, who gave me medicine, as well as an ointment, but seemed to do no good. It was beginning to appear on my face.

"I got a little Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap. The first touch of Ointment seemed to relieve, and before the Cuticura Ointment was finished I was cured. I have not the least sign of trouble. I think it would have spread over my whole body if Cuticura Soap and Ointment had not cured me. I am delighted with them, and do feel pleased to think I have something I have confidence in. I tell all my friends about them, and I think Cuticura Ointment is the best I ever saw." (Signed) M. J. Boddy, 73 McCaul St., Toronto, Dec. 22, 1910.

Cold-Sore Began to Heal With First Use of Cuticura Ointment.

"Cuticura Ointment cured a very bad cold-sore that gave me hours of severe pain and loss of sleep. I tried lots of other remedies but nothing did me any good till I tried Cuticura Ointment, and from the very first application it began to heal and now there is not even a scar left. (Signed) Mrs. W. Boyce, Mermaid Farm, P.E.I., Jan. 8, '11.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded the speediest, safest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp troubles, of young and old. Although they are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each may be obtained free, from the Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 97 Columbus Ave., Boston, U. S. A.

Settled by a Widow

A buxom and winsome widow decided to continue her late husband's business (wholesale meat purveyor), and appointed a confidential and reliable man, one John Jinx, as her manager. John, though an astute and clever business man, could neither read nor write. The widow partly cured him of the latter defect by teaching him to write "Settled, John Jinx," when giving a receipt for accounts paid to him.

The business improved and prospered, as likewise did the amatory feelings between the widow and John, the latter fruitifying in a proposal and acceptance of marriage. After the usual preliminaries the ceremony took place, followed by an adjournment to the vestry to complete the legal formalities.

The necessary particulars were duly entered in the marriage register and happy John, somewhat blushing, took pen in hand and clearly and unmistakeably wrote as his signature in the register, "Settled, John Jinx."—Tit-Bits.

A Queer Book-Keeping System

It's curious to observe says a Maryland man, the manner in which many illiterate persons prosper. I once had business that used to take me at intervals to a certain place on the eastern shore. On one occasion I went into a store there, the proprietor of which could neither read nor write. While I was there a man came in—evidently a regular customer.

I owe you some money, don't I? he inquired.

The storekeeper went to the door and turned it around so that the back was visible.

Yes, said he, you owe me for a cheese.

Cheese! exclaimed the customer. I don't owe you for any cheese.

The storekeeper gave another look at the door.

You're right, said he. It's a grindstone. I didn't see the dot over the "i" in the middle.—Lippincott's Magazine.

An Ancient Roman Custom

By the customs of our country, if any person under prosecution for a capital crime did not appear, an officer was sent to his door in the morning to summon him by sound of trumpet, and the judges would never pass sentence before so public a citation. So tender were our ancestors in any matter where the life of a citizen was concerned.—Caius Gracchus.

ABSOLUTELY SAFE FOR LITTLE ONES

Mrs. Nellie Steeves, Hill Grove, N.B., writes:—"I know Baby's Own Tablets are an absolutely safe medicine for little ones and they are the only medicine I would give a child without first consulting a doctor." The Tablets are guaranteed by a government analyst to be absolutely safe and free from opiates and narcotics and cannot possibly do harm—but always good. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Had Left His Glasses

He stumbled up the steps and pushed open the door, says the New York American and stood confronting his wife, who held a telegram in one hand.

"Here's news," she said sternly, that has been waiting for you since 7 o'clock.

He braced himself against the hat-rack. He—I've left my glasses in town. He—

Well, I see you have brought home the contents.

Griggs—Do you believe there is anything in palmistry?

Briggs—Well-er-yes. I believe if a young fellow can get a pretty girl to give him her hand he can tell the name of her future husband.

The Voices of Birds

The voices of birds are more varied and musical than those of any other creatures in the world. Even the rooster has a tuneful crow.

The cat tribe roars and mews and hiss; that is all. But the birds!—is there an end to their powers of vocalization? They can chirrup, chip, caw, whip-poor-will, whistle, cuckoo, hoot, howl, cackle, crow, like crickets, mew like cats, talk like human beings, cry like babies, squeak like cart wheels; in fine, beyond their own extensive repertoire of musical and unmusical sounds, they can imitate all creation from the voice of man down to a creaking barn door!

ANTEDATES BABYLON

Arizona Relics Indicate a Very Ancient Civilization

Still another "oldest city in the world" has been discovered. When T. Hewitt Myring found vases in Peru in ruins which were said to be 7,000 years old it was imagined that the remains of early civilizations had been pushed as far into antiquity as they would ever go. But A. Lafave, a mining engineer, has found the relics of a town in an Arizona tableland near Phoenix, which he insists are at least 10,000 years old. The buildings are on a level stretch of country where neither silt nor wash was possible and yet the ruins were covered with ten feet of prairie dust which the discoverer claims required ages to accumulate.

The buildings of sandstone show great architectural skill and in the walls were found a box of cotton bolls and a sealed jar of corn, both well preserved. The Arizona climate does not permit the growth of cotton in the present age, so Mr. Lafave assumes that sufficient time must have elapsed since the cotton which he found was grown to have wrought a complete change in the character of the country. This period he also gauges as something like 10,000 years.

He is satisfied that the ruins are older than those of Nineveh or Babylon. He believes that the race which built this town was possessed of a high civilization from the abundance of artistically wrought pottery and that it subsequently was broken up by internal dissentions and possibly degenerated into the cliff dwelling people.—Chicago Tribune.

No sir; I'll tell her so at once.—Fliegende Blatter.

Careless of Him

The late Gen. F. D. Grant used often to tell on memorial day a funny story about Bull Run.

A soldier, he would begin, had a scar on his face.

Where did you get that scar? they asked him.

At Bull Run, he replied.

What? they cried incredulously. What, shot in the face at Bull Run? How could that be?

Well, replied the soldier, it was like this. After I'd run four or five miles I got kind of careless and looked back.—Detroit Free Press.

One Line of Reasoning

Why should I buy stock in your mine?

Why, we're right next to the Skinned Cat, which is producing fabulous wealth.

Yes, and I live in a boarding house which is right next to a millionaire. But that doesn't make me worth anything.—Washington Herald.

There is no poisonous ingredient in Holloway's Corn Cure, and it can be used without danger of injury.

A Poster Effect

I never see Hotcake with coat, vest and trousers alike. His vest never matches his trousers, and his coat seldom matches his vest.

Here's the way it is. He has a blue suit, a green suit and a gray suit. Every morning he shuffles 'em all up and deals himself an outfit for the day.

Cause and Effect

Madam, I am just out of the hospital and—

Don't tell me any such story as that. You are the same man I gave a piece of pie to not two weeks ago.

Yes, dat was just 'fore I went to de hospital.—Los Angeles Herald.

There are now 251 "infant care stations" open in 165 towns of the German Empire. One effect of their establishment has been to reduce the percentage of bottle-fed babies from 60 to 35 and to decrease infantile mortality from 8.4 to 4 per cent.

The Only Fear

New Merchant—How big an "ad" would you advise?

Advertising Man—That depends on how many tons of customers your store floor will sustain. You wouldn't want 'em to break through into the cellar, of course!—Puck.

A Household Medicine.—They that are acquainted with the sterling properties of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the treatment of many ailments would not be without it in the house. It is truly a household medicine and as it is effective in dealing with many ordinary complaints it is cheaper than a doctor. So, keep it at hand, as the call for it may come most unexpectedly.

Little Bobby—Say, Willie, is ma lookin'.

Little Willie—No. What 'y goin' t' do?

Little Bobby—Take out de goldfish and let 'em play with the cat.—Monitor.

Percy—I always wanted to join the army.

Corp. Gore—Why didn't you?

Percy—Well, mother wouldn't let me. She said I'd surely get shot in the first battle, as I was such a daredevil. So now I'm a ladies' tailor.

HOT FLASHES.

Women in middle age often complain of hot flashes. They are at that stage of life—when their delicate organism needs a tonic and helping-hand which only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can give them. Many women suffer needlessly from girlhood to womanhood and from motherhood to old age—with backache, dizziness or headache. A woman often becomes sleepless, nervous, "broken-down," irritable and feels tired from morning to night. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, ask your neighbor about

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

MRS. J. IMHOF, of 321 S. Bentalon Street, Baltimore, Md., says: "I wrote you about nine months ago, telling you of my condition. I have a fine baby girl—she weighed nine pounds when born. She is my third child and the strongest of them all. My suffering was only for two hours. I took several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of Dr. Pierce's Smart-Weed. I never had a well day before I took your medicines. I was surprised how well I felt—could eat—was always hungry, and never had a sick stomach. The nurse who was with me said the medicine was wonderful because I got along so nicely after having had so much trouble before. She intends to recommend it to all her suffering patients. Everybody is astonished at me because I only weighed 102 pounds before and now I weigh 135. I have had several ladies come to me and ask about Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am willing to recommend it to all who suffer and want help. If any want information I will be glad to give it to them."

1912 PRIZE CONTEST FOR FARMERS

This contest is along the same lines as the one which was so successful last year, except that there are three times as many prizes, and therefore three times as many chances for each contestant to win. Every farmer in Canada who uses "Canada" Cement is eligible to compete. The conditions are such that large and small users of cement have equal opportunities to win a $50 prize.

The contest is divided into three classes, and there are first, second, third and fourth prizes ($50, $25, $15 and $10) in each class.

CLASS "A"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who use most "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912.

CLASS "B"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send photographs of the best concrete work done with "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912.

CLASS "C"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send the best description, telling how any piece of concrete work was done with "Canada" Cement. (Entries for this prize must be accompanied by photographs of the work.)

In addition to thus being divided into classes, so as to give small users of cement an equal chance with those who use more, the Contest is also divided into nine divisions, one for each province. So you see you need only to compete with the other farmers of your own province, and not with those all over Canada.

Don't think that because you have never used cement, you cannot win a prize. Many of last year's prize winners had never used cement before they entered the Contest. We will send you a free book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," that will not only help you in the Contest, but will tell you everything you could want to know about the use of cement on the farm.

Don't delay, but send us your name and address to-day and get this free book and full particulars of the Prize Contest right away.

SAMPLE MARKET FOR GRAIN

How it Will Work Against the Best Interests of the Farmers of the Canadian Northwest

The efforts of the dealers in wheat and other grain to establish a sample market in Winnipeg are being made by men who desire and who appear to be determined to regain the control of the grain trade they held for many years, but which they have now lost. Selfish motives are the prime moving principle that govern all the steps they are now taking. Let us examine the true inwardness of the matter.

There are only about seventy-seven days from the time the crop commences to move, in the fall of the year, until the close of navigation at the head of the Lakes. The grain crop of Western Canada is taken from Fort William and shipped across the Great Lakes by boat to the eastern markets. After the close of navigation the grain grown in the west which has not gone across the Lakes by boat must necessarily go by rail routes to the Atlantic ports either around the north shore of Lake Superior or through the United States.

Under the proposed system of sampling, every carload of grain passing through Winnipeg on all the different lines of railway will be subject to a wait of twenty four hours, except Sundays and holidays when the wait will be twice that long.

The plan of those in favor of a sample market is that when a carload of grain arrives in Winnipeg a sample is taken from it and sent up to the Grain Exchange and the grain disposed of on that sample. Immediately after it has been disposed of the railroad is notified and the car sent forward to its destination which may be East to Fort William, Eastern Ontario or the Maritime Provinces, or to points in the Western Provinces, where the grain is used for local consumption. Thus every car arriving in Winnipeg would have to remain in the railway yards until the grain was sold. This would mean a delay of at least one full day.

The delay in transit of cars arriving in Winnipeg on Saturdays would be much longer, as the samples taken from cars arriving at eleven o'clock or later on that day would not reach the grain exchange in order to be disposed of before it closed for that day, because on Saturdays the exchange closes at one o'clock. Therefore the samples from the cars arriving in Winnipeg at eleven o'clock and also every car arriving between that hour and the hour of opening of the grain exchange on Monday morning would have to remain in Winnipeg until Monday evening. That is, on Monday afternoon the orders for forwarding of cars to their destination would begin to pour in to the railway companies, and all the cars which had arrived after eleven o'clock on Saturday morning would not start to move until late Monday afternoon.

It is of the first importance, in fact it is imperative, that cars should reach their destination and be unloaded without delay, and returned west for another shipment. Anything that would tend to prevent prompt unloading should be guarded against.

Such is the plain statement of the scheme of a sample market as proposed by the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. As a specimen of presumptuous selfishness it has seldom been equalled. It is nothing short of a barefaced attempt to hold up the farmers of the West through the manipulation of their market, for the benefit of the dealers—the middlemen—who always try to get the lion's share of anything in sight. They are always on the spot, and want the opportunity a first choice affords them to clean just what they want. The remainder, not desired, is allowed to pass on to the Lakes.

The ring have rosy visions of fat commissions from Eastern millers, who cannot attend the sample market and get a first choice. The ring will be able to clean all the best grain in the sample market. The remainder will go forward and be sold by grade.

But the general market will be injured by the average quality of, say, No. 1 Northern deteriorating in proportion to the quantity of the very best wheat which will be taken out of the whole crop on the sample market and the farmer will receive a less price on his crop.

French Birth Rate

According to statistics issued, the birthrate of France during the last year was more deplorable than ever, and the number of deaths exceeded the births by 34,869, representing that loss of population. The birthrate was the lowest ever recorded being only 742,114.

On the other hand, France compares favorably with her neighbors in the matter of marriages, which numbered 307,788, being rather more than in 1910. Divorces are increasing, the number last year being 13,058. Another interesting point is that France has more old people than any other country.

His Gain

Patient (a sportsman who has been badly roppered)—But hang it all, doctor, since the accident I've gained two pounds!

Doctor—Ah, but you forget the amount of shot you received in your back.—Tatler.

A Sudden Finale

At a mass meeting in a small country town refreshments were distributed to keep the audience in a good humor. The first speaker rose after the noise had ceased to some extent and began his speech by saying:

The old hall is full to-night, but here his voice was drowned by the confusion. When it had subsided he began again by saying:—

The old hall is full to-night.

We neared for a phenomenal effect and a thick voice in the back of the hall said slowly and deliberately:—

So is old Bill Horn.

The meeting then broke up.

Provision for Deduction

Nation characteristics are suggested by this story.

A certain gentleman complained to three friends—an Englishman, a Scotchman, and an Irishman—that his servant broke a great deal of china.

The matter-of-fact Englishman gave the short bit of practical advice, Dismiss him!

Take it out of his wages, spoke the thrifty Scot.

Objection to that course was made on the ground that the wages were less that the amount of the damage.

The Irishman at once came to the rescue with, "Thin raise his wages."

A Real Test

Passerby—What's the fuss in the schoolyard, boy?

The Boy—Why, the doctor has just been around examinin' us an' one of the deficient boys is knockin' th' everlastin' stuffin's out of a perfect kid.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Many people think that ostrich farming is confined to South Africa, but it seems the bird thrives amazingly in New South Wales, although it is not yet extensively bred. There are at present some half-dozen ostrich farms in New South Wales, and the experience gained proves that the change has produced an improvement on original types, due no doubt to the climatic conditions under which the birds are bred. One New South Wales ostrich farmer, who is also a manufacturer of feather goods, unhesitatingly declares that the plumes of his flock are the finest in the world.—Westminster Gazette.

The Prussian city of Godesburg will spend nearly $1,000,000 to build a municipal slaughter house.

Her Yearning

Little Marjorie Louise leaned on her grandma's knee and gazed into space with a particularly soulful expression.

Oh, grandmother, she burst out, suddenly, I just long to grow up and be a big lady and have corns!—Harper's Bazaar.

What do you do during the summer months? inquired Yorick Hamm.

I go to some resort, answered Hamlet Fatt, and act as a professional guest at garden parties of the new rich.—Kansas City Journal.

Alike, Yet Different

Mrs. Youngbride—My husband is very determined; he never gives up.

Mrs. Kicsefist (sadly)—Neither does mine.—Boston Transcript.

He (moralizing)—After all, man is weak. She (coyly)—In union, there is strength.—Boston Transcript.

She had engaged a maid recently from the country and was now employed in showing her newly acquired treasure over the house and enlightening her in regard to various duties etc. At last they reached the best room.

These, said the mistress of the house, pausing before an extensive row of masculine portraits, these are very valuable and you must be very careful when dusting. They are old masters.

Lor' mum, she gasped, gazing with bulging eyes on the face of her new employer; lor' mum, who'd ever 'ave thought you'd been married all these times!

Rare Roman Coins

Coins buried for 1,600 years came to light at Dompierre, France, when a farmer was levelling his yard. These date from the Gallo-Roman period and number about 2,800. Of these some 2,000 are silver and the rest bronze. They had been buried in an earthernware vessel placed in a stone built hiding place. As to the silver coins, these are in a very good state of preservation and are fine specimens, but the bronze coins suffered much from the air. A number of rare pieces were found in the collection coming from the reigns of some obscure Roman emperors of the late period. The oldest coins date from the Emperor Trajan (63 to 117 A.D.) and the most recent from Diocletian. It is thought that the coins were buried about 315 A.D.

Cultivation Under Glass

A Swiss professor of agriculture has been experimenting with cultivation under colored glass and finds that ordinary transparent glass gives the best results. Orange glass forces the plants, but hurts the fruit; violet glass increases the quantity of fruit, but lowers its quality; red, blue and green glass is positively injurious.

Maid—Of course, he's such a nice young man; he likes all the girls.—Fliegende Blatter.

New Species of Elephant

The ancient proverb, "Always something new from Africa," receives fresh illustration from the reported discovery in that country of a new species of elephant. It is known to the natives as the water elephant, and a herd of five of them was seen on the shore of Lake Leopold II. by one of the explorers sent out by the Paris Museum of Natural History. Compared with the known elephants they seemed much smaller, with shorter trunks, longer necks and no tusks. Before more minute examination was possible the animals plunged into the lake. An account of this new discovery is given in La Nature.

Minard's Liniment, the Lumberman's Friend.

What He Wanted Him For

Mark Twain did not cherish a fondness for the average office boy. He had an idea that the genus was insufferable, and invariably when the humorist sallied forth into some business office there was immediate armed hostility between him and the boy.

One day Mark went to see a friend at his office, and the office boy on guard, in icy tones, said:—

Whom do you wish to see?

Mark mentioned his friend's name.

What do you want to see him about? came next from the boy.

Mark Twain immediately froze up and then with a genial smile he said:

Tell him, please, I want to ask his hand in holy matrimony.

Time Nothing to Him

At a recent dinner at which several members of the legal fraternity were present, a well-knawn jurist declared that the useless questions used by young lawyers when cross-examining their first witnesses, reminded him of the answer given to a convict.

A street laborer, he said, was digging just outside a State prison. One of the convicts called out from his cell: Say, what time is it?

The man kept on digging and did not reply. Finally after the prisoner had repeated the question two or three times the laborer looked up at him and remarked:

What do you care? You aren't going any place.

DOCTOR'S SHIFT

Now Gets Along Without It

A physician says: "Until last fall I used to eat meat for my breakfast and suffered with indigestion until the meat had passed from the stomach.

"Last fall I began the use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and very soon found I could do without meat, for my body got all the nourishment necessary from the Grape-Nuts and since then I have not had any indigestion and am feeling better and have increased in weight.

'Since finding the benefit I derived from Grape-Nuts I have prescribed the food for all my patients suffering from indigestion or over-feeding and also for those recovering from disease where I want a food easy to take and certain to digest and which will not overtax the stomach.

"I always find the results I look for when I prescribe Grape-Nuts. For ethical reasons please omit my name." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

The reason for the wonderful amount of nutriment, and the easy digestion of Grape-Nuts is not hard to find.

In the first place, the starchy part of the wheat and barley goes through various processes of cooking, to perfectly change the starch into dextrose or grape-sugar, in which state it is ready to be easily absorbed by the blood.

The parts in the wheat and barley which Nature can make use of for rebuilding brain and nerve centres are retained in this remarkable food, and thus the human body is supplied with the powerful strength producers, so easily noticed after one has eaten Grape-Nuts each day for a week or 10 days.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

BIG THEATRICAL STARS

At the Walker Theatre During Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition

For the two weeks beginning July 8th, in which are the dates of the Industrial Exhibition, July 10-20, at Winnipeg, the beautiful Walker Theatre will offer its patrons two very superior attractions. The first will be the well-known comedienne, Henrietta Crosman, in her most successful play, "The Real Thing," and the second attraction will be "The Spring Maid," which, on Thursday, July 11 will begin an engagement covering nine nights and three matinees.

Henrietta Crosman is one of the most magnetic and brilliant stars on the dramatic stage and her latest play, "The Real Thing" gives her exceptional opportunity to display her talents and charm. Her role is that of a bright and fascinating woman who saves her sister from developing into a dowdy and a drudge. Her little sister has let herself go after marriage and soon finds that her husband is seeking solace elsewhere. Jess Lorraine, however, takes the young sister in hand and establishes peace in the household. There is any amount of good, clean comedy in the story, and Miss Crosman may be trusted to bring it out in full force.

"The Spring Maid" is one of the big European and American light opera successes of the day. When it was presented in Winnipeg at the Walker Theatre early in the season just over, it scored tremendously, as it tells a delightful story, is full of clever dialogue, its music is sparkling and haunting, particularly the famous "Day Dreams" waltz, and it is lavishly staged. It will be presented at the Walker again during Fair Week by exactly the same company, including that wonderful fascinating and clever little prima donna comedienne, Mizzi Hajos. The only change in the cast will be the addition of Frank McNaughton, the celebrated English comedian, who will have the leading comedy role. There are seventy people in the company.

These two attractions, so widely different and so very superior, should afford ample entertainment to all visitors to the Winnipeg Exhibition who are out for good dramatic and musical fare.

Modern Morals

This latter day or new morality is too lax for me.

The speaker was Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth millionaire. He continued:

This new morality, which seems in its tolerance rather to encourage than to oppose wickedness, reminds me of a lad in my Sunday school class.

Now, Tommy, I said to this lad one Sunday afternoon, now, Tommy, what must we do before our sins can be forgiven.

We must sin, Tommy replied.—Detroit Free Press.

Kill the Cut-Worm

Farmers at this season of the year should watch for the appearance of cut-worms, and should lose no time in ridding their fields of this pest immediately upon their appearance. The following remedy is recommended by several agricultural departments:

Sugar, 2 to 3 pounds.

Mix thoroughly and dampen slightly with water and spread over the section where the worms appear.

The other day a man went into a store to buy a saw. He saw the kind he wanted and asked the price. It was $1.65 the dealers said.

"Good gracious," said the man, "I can get the same thing from Timothy Eaton for $1.35."

"That's less than it cost me," said the dealer, "but I'll sell it on the same terms as the mail order house just the same."

"All right, you send it along", said the customer, "and charge it to my account."

"Not on your life," said the dealer. "No charge accounts. You can't do business with the mail order house that way. Fork over the cash."

The customer complied.

"Now two cents postage and five cents for a money order.

"What——"

"Certainly, you have to send a letter and a money order to a mail order house you know."

The customer, inwardly raving, kept to his agreement and paid the seven cents.

"Now twenty-five cents express."

"Well, I'll be———!" he said but paid it, saying, "Now hand me that saw and I'll take it home myself and be rid of this foolery!"

"Hand it to you? Where do you think you are? You're in Creston and I'm in Toronto, and you'll have to wait two weeks for the saw."

Whereupon the dealer hung the saw on a peg and put the money in a cash drawer.

"That makes $1 67," he said. "It has cost you two cents more and it has taken you two weeks longer to get it than if you had paid my price in the first place."—Ex.

SIRDAR PERSONALS

Mrs. T. Hoffman returned to Sirdar from Cranbrook where she has been ill for the past 3 weeks.

The old time prospectors from Summit Creek are very busy doing their usual assessment work.

Mr. Peterson of Ymir, (better known as "Pete the packer") was in town Wednesday and Thursday.

The Stark Brothers and Mr. William of Creston went through Sirdar a few days ago with a large supply of provisions and tools making for Summit Creek where they have Joe Knoll very busy putting up buildings and improvements on their claims there.

NOTICE—$10 reward for the information of the person who poisoned a better dog than himself. My Dog Punch. William Morris,

Mr. J. L. Quaife purchased the old Burton launch from Eddy Doalan and has had it completely remodeled and a different engine put in.

Mr. Williams of Creston had brought from Boswald to Sirdar a new launch solid oak hull, four horse power engine price $2 50. Eddy Doalan is engaged to remodel it.

Fishing is as good as ever at Sirdar, Trout and squaw fish being very plentiful.

A writer in the Tecnical World says that the ordidary ugly, warty toad is the greatest of insect destroyers. It is estimated that a toad is worth $14 per year to the farmer by reason of the destructive bugs and other insects that he destroys,

The amount a toad will eat is astonishing. A large specimen has been known to eat 100 rose beetles at a single meal; another toad ate 77 centipedes for his supper one evening; another, 55 army worms at one sitting and for another, 65 caterpillers made one meal; another seemed to enjoy 86 flies fed to him in ten minutes. He will sit at the door of an ant's nest and with his long, hard quick tong snip up every one of the insects.

Government Bulletins

The Division of Entomology of the Experimental Farms Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has recently issued a bulletin by Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, on "The Control of Insect Pests in Canada."

An account is given of the history of the war against insect pests have invaded the country as it has been gradually opened up and cultivated. The manner in which the Dominion and Provincial governments are endeavoring by legislation and other mean to prevent the introduction of insect pests into Canada and the increase and spread of those pests already here is described An interesting summary of the various lines of work undertaken and carried on by the Division of Entomology at Ottawa is given and the general public will no doubt be surprised at the many problems which come within the scope of the Entomologists who are called upon to deal with insects in their relations to all the varied activities of man; insects attacking man's possessions and infesting houses, attacking domestic animals and finally affecting the health of man. All insects, however, are not injurious and the work of the Entomologist includes bees and beekeeping and the and the study of parisitic and other enemies which may be of assistance in obtaining control of insect pests.

Copies of this publication, Bulletin No. 9 (Second Series). may be obtained from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

AMONG THE RANCHERS

NOTE—Whereas it is only possible for fruit magazines and publications to cover the field of fruit raising in a general manner, the Review has installed this department in which ideas derived from actual experience by ranchers of this locality, shall be printed, thus making the subject matter of direct interest to this valley's fruit growers.

A few weeks ago a letter was printed in one of the Cranbrook papers asking the following question: "Can a man make a living on five acres?"

A stranger to Cranbrook, judging from the reply published a week later would realy doubt the possibility, at any rate he would be led to believe the question quite debateable. One letter asked if the question included man and family.

Can a man make a living on five acres?

What would the person who asked that question think of this? Produce to the amount of $1200 was raised and sold from one acre in a single season. The crop was composed of tomatoes and cucumbers, and of course the acre is located in this valley.

A. Lindley, who has the figures to show, was thus well repaid for the time and labor spent on but one acre of his ranch in 1910. Last year was an off year for tomatoes and therefore he did not do so well but by present indications this seasons crop will be a record breaker. Mr. Lindley expects a much larger crop than ever before. The plants are in fine condition. This early they are carrying tomatoes from 2½ inches in diameter in size to the blossom. The plants were set out 2 feet 6 inches apart in the rows, with the rows 4 feet from each other. The roots, already, of the different plants which run parellel with, and about six inches below the surface of the ground, nearly meet in the rows.

When he came to Creston a few years ago, Mr. Lindley knew nothing of farming. The first years experience was a dear teacher. His tomatoe crop was spoiled by excessive cultivation. Being ignorant of the way the roots grew he plowed too deep thus spoiling his plants. Now he makes it a practice to cultivate at least once a week from the time the land was plowed which is as early as possible in the spring, until the growth of the vines prevents, cultivating lighter each week as the plants mature so as not to injure the roots.

He is now beginning to trim back the tops of the plants which makes the lateral branches develope and become more fruitful, and prevents the vines from getting over tall. This work requires some judgement for the removal of two much foliage may permit the tomatoes to burn in the sun.

Soft, moist soil is reached, even in this dry season, by drawing back only about three inches of the fine dust mulch which is made by so much cultivation. On some parts of the land moisture comes to the surface due to what is sometime called sub-irrigation caused by water seeping from Goat mountain.

It is Mr. Lindley's intention this year to install a small canning plant to handle the second rate tomatoes which would othewise be a loss, after shipping the best of the crop fresh. From the 4300 plants he is growing he expects there will be about two tons of cull tomatoes, This amount will fill from 1000 to 1500 cans which can be sold at from 12 cents a tin up.

The difference that the growth of clover makes on the productivity of the soil is well demonstrated on this ranch, Where the clover has been grown and plowed under, the tomatoe plants are far in advance of those grown where there has been no clover.

Mr. Lindley believes he has discovered a new cure for the cut worms. They have troubled but very little and he thinks it is due to the use of fertilizer from the hen house which seems to kill the pests,

Tells of the Wonderful Benefits Obtained From

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Like many another Newfoundlander living far from doctors, Mr. Stone feels unbounded gratitude for the benefits obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

For years he had suffered from a congested condition of the liver and kidneys, with headaches, backaches, pains in limbs and body. Words fail to describe his sufferings as well as the gratitude he wants to express for the cure.

Mr. Alex J Stone, West Point, Nfld., writes:—"I suppose you thought I had forgotten all about you when I got Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but I haven't. You must excuse mistakes, for like many Newfoundland men I have not much education, but I want to thank you many times for your medicine.

"I cannot tell you what I suffered from liver and kidney derangements, indigestion and constipation, nor can I find words to express how much good this medicine has done me. I feel better than I have for five years and have given some of these Pills to friends, who tell me they have done them a wonderful lot of good. I want to express my heartfelt gratitude for the benefit derived from the great medicine."

Death Roll of Alps

The number of fatalities due to mountain climbing in Switzerland has rapidly increased during recent years. According to an authentic compilation, ninety deaths were due to mountain climbing in the Swiss and Italian Alps during the year ended December 1, 1910. To the above figures must be added eighty serious accidents, four of which had fatal effects. The causes of the accidents were ascending mountain peaks without a guide, landslides, defects in the halteseil (rope) and sudden setting in of fogs. For many years the English have had the greatest number of victims to lament. This year, however the Swiss are at the head of the list, followed by the Germans, English, Austrians and Italians respectively. Consular Report.

Extermination of Rats and Mice

If it were generally known that there is no trouble to rid a house, barn or building of rats and mice by the use of Gillett's Lye, it is doubtful if the article could be made as fast as it would be used for this purpose alone. The process connected with using it is very simple, the plan being to sprinkle a little of the article in and around the holes made by these pests in floors, partitions, etc. In addition to this it is well to use a thin piece of board about a foot square, or even smaller, and make a complete circle of the Lye on the board about a quarter of an inch deep, and inside of the circle place some meat or cheese. In endeavoring to get at the bait the feet of the rats and mice will be burned and the whole colony, whether large or small, will immediately disappear from the premises.

The plan is worth trying, but the good kind—Gillett's Lye—should be procured. Refuse the many cheap imitations and substitutes.

The Most Ancient Map

After some controversy about the age of various maps that have come down to us from ancient time it has been finally determined by savants that the oldest is in the form of a mosaic in a Byzantine church at Malaba, in Palestine. It is about 1,700 years old and purports to be a map of a part of the Holy Land.

Stamp With Key Tag

A request on a key tag to return the same through the mails should it be carried away by mistake does not always accomplish the desired result, as it requires the buying and placing of a stamp. To add to the chances of a key and tag being returned, an Indiana hotel man has patented a tag which carries a postage stamp under a little celluloid disk. The disk, which protects the stamp against wear or defacement, is pulled off and thrown away when the key is deposited in a mail box.

Pills for Nervous Troubles.—The stomach is the centre of the nervous system, and when the stomach suspends healthy action the result is manifest in disturbances of the nerves. If allowed to persist, nervous debility, a dangerous ailment, may ensue. The first consideration is to restore the stomach to proper action, and there is no readier remedy for this than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Thousands can attest the virtue of these pills in curing nervous disorders.

CHIEF OF THE JURY OF AWARDS

Prof. W. H. Fairford Chosen as Chairman of the Judges of the Dry-Farming Exposition

Lethbridge, Alta.—Prof. W. H. Fairfield, Superintendent of the Dominion Experiment Station on the easterly outskirts of Lethbridge, has been selected by the Canadian Board of Control as chief of the jury of awards for the International Dry Farmed Products Exposition, October 21-26th next.

Prof. Fairfield is one of the best known and most successful experiment farm directors in Canada, and in the growing of wheat, oats, barley, corn and alfalfa he has years of study and has produced wonderful results through rotation of crops. He ranks as one of the greatest practical demonstrators of modern agriculture in Canada and he is a recognized authority on all matters pertaining to crops, tillage and seed. He is a graduate and former member of the faculty of Colorado Agricultural College.

The Ultimate Victim

The grocer stood in his little store;
He had washed his windows and swept his floor,
And he said, I wonder who'll make a roar
On the cost of things this morning.
No odds what's wrong, and no odds what's right,
My load of worry is never light,
For somebody comes in and wants to fight
On the cost of things each morning.
These fresh-laid eggs, do you understand,
Were bought and bargoned from hand to hand
And the price went up as the eggs went—and
I am blamed for that this morning.
This flour, this sugar, this bag of salt
They came by routes that made prices vault,
For the cost of things this morning.
The people rage and papers howl,
The reformers shout and the voters growl,
And the housewife's face wears a bitter scowl
When she orders things each morning.
Producer, railroad and middleman
Each makes the product pay all it can—
And the folks put me in the roasting pan
For the cost of things each morning.

Understood the Language

An Indianapolis public school teacher some time ago, she relates, received in her room a small boy from the Kentucky-Tennessee borderland, and she set about teaching him the intricacies of addition. She found he could run up or down a column of figures readily, but she could not make him understand how to "carry" from one column to another when the total was more than nine.

Finally the teacher called on one of the little girls in the class and told her she would give her a dime if she could make the newcomer understand the process. Next day the little girl called to claim the money.

How did you make him see it so quickly? inquired the teacher.

Oh, I told him when he got a number of two figures to put down the one on the right and tote the other across, and he knew what I meant right away.—Indianapolis News.

In the treatment of summer complaints the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

Chinese Rice Paper

Chinese rice paper has no rice in its composition. The curiously brittle, pure white material used for the marvelous drawings of Chinese artists is manufactured from the pith of a tree peculiar to Formosa. The first paper was not made of raw cotton nor by the Chinese. Rag paper was made in Arabia more than ten centuries ago and the crusaders brought the industry to Europe, where the first paper manufactory was established in the last years of the thirteenth century.

Cumbersome Money

One of the largest and most cumbersome forms of money is found in Central Africa, where the natives use a cruciform ingot of copper ore over ten inches long. It is heavy enough to be a formidable weapon.

Light and Plant Coloration

Although it has long been known that the reduction or the absence of light may have a profound effect upon the life of a plant, authors of botanical text-books have not been very precise in defining "darkness" with relation to plant growth. For this reason it is impossible to compare very closely the work of different experimenters. In most experimental dark rooms there is some light. The character or the degree of darkness in such a room cannot be defined in terms of the light rays that are present or absent. Jean Friedel proposes as a standard of physiological darkness a test with very sensitive photographic paper.

In a report before the Paris Academy of Sciences he describes a zinc box with quadruple walls allowing perfect ventilation with absolute exclusion of light. Plants grown in this lightproof chamber were compared with others grown in a regular botanical dark room; test papers in the zinc chamber were not at all affected, while those in the dark room showed decided effects of light, although no light was here discoverable by the eye.

ST. VITUS DANCE IN YOUNG CHILDREN

A Striking Example of its Cure By the Tonic Treatment

St. Vitus dance is the commonest form of nervous trouble that afflicts young children, because of the great demand made on the body by growth and development, and there is an added strain caused by study. It is when these demands become so great that they impoverish the blood, and the nerves fail to receive their full supply of nourishment, that the nervous debility which leads to St. Vitus dance begins.

The remarkable success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing St. Vitus dance should lead parents to give this great blood-building medicine to their children at the first signs of the approach of the disease. Pallar, listlessness, inattention, restlessness and irritability are all symptoms which early show that the blood and nerves are failing to meet the demand upon them. Here is proof of the power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to cure this trouble. Mrs. J. W. Towns, Oshawa, Ont., says:—"At the age of eleven my daughter was attacked with St. Vitus dance, and despite all we did for her the trouble grew rapidly worse. Soon she was scarcely able to walk, her body and limbs jerked and trembled so, and she was quite unable to feed herself. When she would lie down she would be unable to rise without assistance. As nothing was helping her I wrote a friend whose daughter had been similarly affected, and she advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which had cured her child. I at once got a supply of the Pills, and even the use of the first box seemed to show an improvement. By the time five boxes were used she was completely cured and has had no return of the trouble since." Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Man as Quadruped

A prominent German biologist maintains that man made a serious mistake when in his development he made a biped of himself. He contends that the backbone structure of man was designed for a horizontal position and that many of the ills which he is subject to are due to this departure.

The Cautious Race

DIVERSIFIED FARMING

Millions of Dollars Sent From Productive Districts to all Parts of the World for Foodstuffs, While Farmers Raise Wheat.

The interest in the diversified farming campaign which is being conducted by the Canadian Board of Control through its publicity bureau at Lethbridge, is spreading throughout the western provinces of Canada and is attracting the attention of the world at large.

In a special report of over 7500 words, published on May 27th in the Daily Consular and Trade Report, issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington, D.C.U.S. Consul-General Jones, of Winnipeg, devotes considerable space to the necessity for diversified farming throughout western Canada.

"Western Canada" says the report, "presents the peculiar anomaly of a wonderfully productive country importing most of its food products. Although the prairie provinces have a most productive soil, capable of producing nearly all kinds of farm products, they have not been able for the past 10 years to supply the demands of their population, as the single purpose of the western Canadian farmers seems to be to produce as much wheat as possible.

"No statistics are available showing the enormous importation from the United States and eastern Canada of food products, but most of the poultry and eggs used in western Canada come from the eastern provinces and the United States, and the largest section of western Canada faces a dearth of dairy products. During 1911 the milk shortage became so acute that the border states of the United States were called upon to supply the deficiency. It is estimated that the imports of milk for the city of Winnipeg alone between November and February averaged $45,000 a week in value. The United States was also called upon to supply potatoes, for although these are the most productive crops in western Canada, they were not raised in sufficient quantities to meet the demand. With a population of 1,700,000 western Canada is not producing enough to supply its immediate needs. It depends upon outsiders for millions of pounds of bacon and mutton, and for weeks at a time the market has been supplied with chilled mutton from Australia and frozen mutton from Prince Edward Island.

"During 1911 the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba produced 11,141,207 pounds of butter, valued at $2,573,671 and 660,725 pounds of cheese valued at $84,691. These provinces also produced 14,044,000 bushels of potatoes, valued at $6,303,000; 247,000 bushels of turnips and other vegetables, valued at $2,931,000; 2,429,000 tons of hay and clover, valued at $5,892,000, and the province of Alberta produced 15,000 tons of sugar beets, valued at $75,000.

"While western Canada has been able to meet the demands of its people for beef, the disappearance of the great cattle ranges will soon force the importation of beef."

In quoting the livestock receipts at the packing houses at Winnipeg from the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, Consul-General Jones points to the steady decline and the rapidly increasing prices. He points out that only 85,000 hogs were shipped to the packing house last year, as against 145,000 three years ago, while the price has gone from around $6.85 to $8.85 per hundred pounds. The receipt of sheep last year increased from 13,000 over the previous year, but there was no increase from the western provinces, the additional sheep having been brought from Minnesota, and the price averaged $4.89 for the season.

The Dry-Farming Congress will devote several sessions at its great meeting October 21-26, to the discussion of ways and means to bring about the production of foodstuffs for local markets, not alone for Canada but in the western portions of the United States, in many of which states similar conditions are confronting the rapidly increasing population.

Prognostic

Champ Clark, at a banquet in Washington, was talking about certain election prognostics.

It's as simple as the nose on your face, he said. It's a mere matter of arithmetic. In fact, in its striking mathematical aspect, it reminds me of Lungge's case.

Poor Lungge was in a bad way.

Tell me the worst doctor, he said. I can bear it.

Well, the doctor answered gravely, your disease is far advanced, and I fear you are not long for this world.

How much time do you give me, doctor?

I give you, if all goes well, two years, no more.

Dear, dear. Two years! And how long do you give my wife, doctor?

Your wife? Why there's nothing the matter with your wife. Her health is superb.

Yes, I know, and how long did you say you give her?

Why, without hesitation, I can give your wife twenty-five years.

Twenty-five years! The sick man closed his eyes, and a beatific smile played over his pale lips. Twenty-five minus two—twenty-three. Thank heaven for twenty-three years of peace.—Washington Star.

No Chewing Gum Famine

The United States derives practically all of its 6,500,000 pounds of chicle annually imported (for chewing gum) from Mexico and Central America. Evidently tropical South America would also afford a large supply. Only one business man in Lima appears to deal in chicle gum. He stated that he always had about five hundred pounds, more or less, in stock. His selling price is 4.50 soles $2.189) per arroba (twenty-five pounds), or seventeen soles ($8.27) per quintal of one hundred pounds.

His supply comes from the department of Piura in northern Peru, where large quantities are said to be produced. He was unable to give exact figures as to the amount of production, but stated that he knew of shipments of one hundred quintal lots having been made from Piura, and that he believes that the supply is still abundant.

The gum is used here and in the department of Piura by makers of straw hats for giving a certain color and shine to the straw. It is also used as a varnish of an attractive yellow cream color for renewing so-called Panama hats.

I say those last corrections seem never to be finished. A plague upon the weeds! Every day when I walk in my own little literary garden plot, I spy some and should like to have a spud, and root them out. Those idle words, neighbor, are past, remedy that turning to the old pages produces anything but elation of mind. Would you not pay a pretty fine to be able to cancel some of them? Oh, the sad old pages, the dull old pages! Oh, the cares, the ennui, the squabbles, the repetitions, the old conversations over and over again. But now and again a kind thought is recalled and now and again a dear memory. Yet a few chapters more, and then the last; after which, behold "finis" itself comes to an end, and the Infinite begun.—From Thackeray's "De Finibus."

HUGE EQUIPMENT PROGRAMME PLANNED BY CANADIAN ROADS

Railways Have Made Large Appropriations for New Equipment, but Manufacturers Find Orders Exceed the Capacity of Their Plants.

Ottawa.—Reports made to the board of railway commissioners of Canada by the Canadian Pacific Grand Trunk, Canadian Northern and Great Northern Railways of new equipment ordered by them and now actually under construction, disclose a huge equipment programme. The figures given do not include equipment for which appropriations have been made, but not ordered because of difficulty in finding manufacturers, American or Canadian to undertake construction of new equipment in the near future. All of the roads represented state through their officials that they are in the market for much more equipment than that included in the figures here given, but that the Canadian shops are away behind in filling their orders, which far exceeds their capacity, and that similar conditions obtain among the United States manufacturers.

We have appropriated $19,000,000 for new equipment, but cannot find manufacturers who will take our money, is the way General Manager Leonard of the Canadian Pacific puts it. The Canadian Pacific reports that it has the following under construction now:

11,593 box cars, of which 7,080 are being built at its own shops in Montreal; 2,000 at Hammond, Ind.; 2,000 at Hegewisch, Ill.; 513 at Detroit, and that all are to be delivered between now and October. It has under construction 665 stock cars, of which it is building 465 in Montreal and 200 have been ordered from Halifax; 244 refrigerator cars being built at Montreal; 411 coal cars at Montreal, 42 tank cars being built at Detroit and 158 cabooses being built at Montreal.

It also has under construction 52 passenger locomotives, 120 freight locomotives and 35 switch locomotives at Montreal.

The Grand Trunk reported that it has under construction 2,000 box cars by the Canada Car and Foundry Co. at Montreal; 250 refrigerator cars at Amherst, N.S.; 1,000 box cars by the Western Steel Car and Foundry Co., at Hegewisch, Ill.; 1,000 coal cars by the Pressed Steel Car and Foundry Co.; 250 automobile cars by the American Car and Foundry Co., at Detroit; 250 refrigerator cars by the same company at its Chicago works, besides 10 passenger locomotives at its Montreal shops.

The Great Northern Railway Co. reports that it has under construction 25 locomotives at the Baldwin Locomotive Works, and 1,500 box, 250 refrigerator and 1,000 ore cars under construction by the Haskell and Barker Car Company.

The Canadian Northern reports that it has under construction 1,911 box cars and 132 flat cars and 61 locomotives, all being built in Canadian shops.

This road also reports a large number of new round houses and other improvements in the west now under construction. Reports have not been received from the numerous smaller roads, but it is estimated that as much more equipment has been ordered by them.

STRATHCONA NOT TO RETIRE

Aged, But Not Infirm, High Commissioner Out for Re-Election on H.B. Board

London.—Lord Strathcona is one of the members of the Hudson Bay board who retires by rotation this year.

There was expectation in some quarters that he might wish to leave the duties of governor to some younger hands but it is understood, however, that yielding to the desire of the whole board will offer himself for re-election at the forthcoming meeting.

Richard Burbridge who also retires will offer himself for re-election thus continuing the association of the company with the Harrods Stores of which Mr. Burbridge is managing director.

There is no confirmation here of the rumored resignation of Hubert Burbridge, sale commissioner at Winnipeg.

Sir William Whyte, George Galt, and A. M. Nanton of Winnipeg, have after much consideration, accepted service as the Canadian commissioner in an advisory capacity.

In order to retain the fur trade, despite the increasing competition, the Hudson's Bay Company is constructing new steamers for service in Athabasca and the Slave rivers.

The company also acquired a majority interest in the Nascopie steamship company for Niab and Labrador, the straits and Hudson bay posts.

The Crown authorities still have before them the new charter to provide means for additional capital expenditure on buildings at Calgary, Vancouver, Vernon, Kamloops and Yorkton.

LEAVING FOR HUDSON BAY

Joseph Tyrrell and Prof. Stewart to Inspect New District

Toronto.—With a view of locating a harbor for Ontario at Port Nelson, Joseph B. Tyrell, accompanied by Prof. L. B. Stewart, of the University of Toronto, who will act as surveyor and Ellis Thompson, the geologist will leave Toronto for Hudson Bay. In order to decide upon the best location for the ten miles of shore granted the province by the Dominion Government it will be necessary to survey the entire estuary, which will necessitate a great amount of preliminary work, and, owing to this, no date could be set by the party as to their probable return. If possible a portion of the five-mile strip south from the Nelson River will also be surveyed.

BOOK ROOM FOR WEST

Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba Request Branch House

Winnipeg.—At the Methodist conference which closed here a recommendation of the memorial committee was endorsed asking the general superintendent to call the western book committee at an early date and go into the whole matter of establishing a book room in the west similar to the ones now established in Toronto, Montreal and Halifax.

It is understood that both Saskatchewan and Alberta have made similar requests.

The conference which has just closed will always be memorable in view of the death of Principal Sparling of Wesley college during the sessions.

The meetings have been cordial and business-like throughout.

Vancouver's Population

Vancouver, B.C.—Greater Vancouver, not including North Vancouver, and New Westminster, has a population for 1912 of 175,424, according to figures which have just been published by the Henderson Publishing company, publishers of the city and provincial directories.

London.—Italy has agreed to a conference of the powers for the settlement of the war with Turkey, according to a despatch to the Daily Express from Rome. If Turkey is willing an armistice will be speedily arranged.

TWO COURSES FOR BRITAIN

In Naval Matters Supremacy Must be Kept at all Times or Lost Forever

London.—Lord Charles Beresford in a letter to the press strongly criticizes the policy of reducing the British naval strength in the Mediterranean and argues that the adoption of the programme which he submitted three years ago, estimated to cost $640,000, would have prevented the present crisis.

Lord Charles said: "The government having apparently determined virtually to abandon the naval defence of the Mediterranean, what the nation must decide and decide quickly, is whether or not it will permit the weakening to the breaking point of what is the main link in the defence of the Empire.

He contends that the general strategical position has now as it objective neither France nor Russia, but another foreign power and that power alone.

He holds that the proposal that English responsibilities in the Mediterranean should be devolved upon France is a gross and palpable admission of weakness, adding:

There are two courses open to the country; one is the maintenance of the naval supremacy of Great Britain; the alternative is to resign our naval supremacy, but give up the colors of the Empire and rely upon the system of alliances which has always proved disastrous and which will prove equally fatal in the future.

The navy, he goes on to say, is under-manned, 20,000 short of the number of men required to place it on an effective footing.

The Daily Express announces a report whose source of information, it asserts are undoubted, that the government will alter its policy regarding the Mediterranean, having been convinced by Lord Kitchener's stand against the weakening of either the land or the sea forces.

WRITERS EXPLOIT NORTH

Will Attend 50th Anniversary of Bishop Grouarf at Lesser Slave Lake

Edmonton.—Accompanying J. K. Cornwall, M.P.P., who has left on his annual tour of inspection of the Northern Navigation Company, are two well known Edmonton writers who will exploit the literary possibilities of the new settlement of the north.

The writers are Mrs. Arthur Murphy (Janey Canuck), and George B. Fraser, formerly of the Alberta Homestead.

Mrs. Murphy will stay over at Grouard for the celebration to be held at that town on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake on June 29, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of Bishop Grouarf's ordination.

In the annals of the northern land the event will rank as one of the greatest historical interest in the development of the hinterland as synchronized with the career of the venerable bishop and missionary who has devoted his life to the promotion of civilization and the cause of his church on the frontier.

Many scores of Edmonton people and many sons of the church from all portions of the Dominion will congregate to do him honor on June 29 and among them will be Bishop Legat.

Will Build Concrete Pier

Vancouver, B.C.—The Canadian Pacific has started work on a new concrete pier in the centre of its wharf system here. The pier will be the finest of the present harbor, and will cost in the neighborhood of $750,000.

To Represent Ontario in the West

Toronto.—The appointment of a man to represent Ontario in the west and keep the fruit growers advised of the state of the market is engaging the attention of the department of agriculture, and the announcement was made that such an official would be appointed. Following the lead of British Columbia which has a man in Winnipeg, Ontario will have one on hand this season.

FUTURE PLANS OF G.T.P.

From Fort William to Prince Rupert by End of Next Year

Montreal.—Mr. E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Grand Trunk railways will start this week on an official tour of the system going to Chicago and on to Winnipeg.

The president will then proceed over the Grand Trunk Pacific as far as the end of the track, leaving the inspection of the Pacific coast section to later in the season.

During an interview Mr. Chamberlin made the following announcement:

"Unless labor difficulties prevent it, the Grand Trunk Pacific railway will be laid from Fort William to Prince Rupert by the end of next year.

"One year later a friendly company will have completed the Vancouver branch from Fort George down the Fraser to British Columbia's present chief seaport, while Mr. J. D. McArthur at the head of another friendly company will have reached the Peace River country, about 350 miles from Edmonton, Alberta.

"One year after Montreal and Prince Rupert are united by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company's rails, arrangements for carrying through freight on the Grand Trunk Pacific steamship service will be established, between Prince Rupert and a port in the Orient."

President Chamberlin says that ship masters assure him that in sailing from Prince Rupert about 2 days will be saved from the Vancouver route.

Mr. Chamberlin made an estimate of the amount of grain the G.T.P. would probably haul out of the prairie country this year. Against 18,000,000 bushels brought out last year, he believed that the figures this year would be nearer 30,000,000.

Speaking of the crop, he said that although he had not received late intelligence he was convinced that with good weather conditions the crop for 1912 should reach at least 250,000,000 bushels.

Mr. Chamberlin said he had been following the cement controversy and he claimed blame could not be laid on the back of the railroads. The trouble was the lack of accommodation on the lakes. The president is of the opinion that the Grand Trunk Pacific has been exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Donaldson, as vice-president and general manager west of the great lakes.

He does not make much noise, he said, but he is a very able man and I think he will make a record amongst the big railway men who have been in the west.

Later on, said Mr. Chamberlin, as the railway grows another manager will be appointed down here as well as for the Atlantic division, but at present he would look after the matters here himself.

Jail for 20 Years

Moose Jaw, Sask.—When the notorious Erickson, of Tompkins, 40 miles west of Swift Current, stood in the dock to receive sentence for the manslaughter of his two and a half year old stepdaughter, the prisoner wilted under the withering lash of the justice, who sentenced him to the penitentiary for 20 years. His Lordship Chief Justice Wetmore said that it was the worst case in his judiciary career, and he had not even read of one for cruelty and horrible details to match with the present case. The tiny infant had been made the accused's football on all possible occasions, and for faults that no child was responsible for had to receive the most frightful punishment.

WILL ASSIST SETTLERS

COLONIZATION SCHEME FOR BOTH EAST AND WEST

The Duke of Sutherland Has Formed a Strong Canadian Board for Project That Will Supply Ready-Made Farms for Britishers in Ontario and the West.

Montreal.—The Duke of Sutherland's land colonization scheme will take effect in eastern as well as western Canada, and will be the biggest thing of the kind ever undertaken in the country by private enterprise.

In the course of an interview here his grace said:

I have organized what is to be known as the Imperial Colonization corporation of Canada, with a capital of $2,000,000. In order to interest others as well as myself in this immigration scheme I have formed a strong Canadian board for this company and intend also to form a strong English board. The duties of the former will be purely those of management, and those of the London board will consist largely of the selection of the immigrants.

The company will buy up large tracts of land and will cut them up into small ready-made farms, very similar to the ready-made farms of the Canadian Pacific railway. These will be sold to British immigrants on easy terms whereby they will pay for them in the form of rent.

"The company will be run on a strictly business basis, with this difference from the ordinary commercial company, that profits are to be limited to 6 per cent. Any profits over and above this will go automatically to further the objects of the company.

As far as eastern Canada is concerned, we shall begin most probably in eastern Ontario, and our aim will be to prepare ready-made farms, probably on land already under agriculture. These farms will be from five acres each upwards, and will be located within easy reach of large towns, the idea being to make them largely market gardens for the supply of urban populations. I find there is a great need here for just this kind of farm, and we have many farmers in England who excel at the work and who would be only too glad to get on a farm of their own in Canada.

His grace stated that the Canadian board would be formed of Sir William Whyte, president; the Duke of Sutherland and E. J. Chamberlain, vice-presidents; Sir Edmund Walker, Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Henry Pellatt, J. S. Dennis, A. M. Nanton (Winnipeg), J. A. M. Aikins, K.C., M.P. (Winnipeg), W. Nesbitt and C. C. James, (Toronto).

Big Shipment of Cattle

North Portal, Sask.—The second portion of the annual shipment of cattle for the Matador Land and Cattle company, consisting of 1061 head of cattle, passed through here recently. It required 28 cars to carry it and was destined for Waldrek, Sask., and are to be put on the companies ranch there. Mr. Somerville, their manager, was in charge. Inspector J. C. McMurtry journeyed to Harvey, N. D., and inspected them and so prevented delay at this point.

Inland Revenue Increase

Ottawa.—Canada's inland revenue during May aggregated $1,784,872, an increase of $200,000 over the corresponding month last year. Revenues on liquors totalled $26,759, and on tobacco, $170,000.

CANADA FOR INVESTMENTS

Such Opportunities Not Offered Anywhere Else Declares Hon. W. T. White

Ottawa, Ont.—At the luncheon given by the Dominion government at the Chateau Laurier to the visiting British financial and business men, Hon. G. H. Perley, acting prime minister presided and proposed the toast of "Our guests", in a neat speech of welcome.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in seconding the toast referred to the inauguration of the British preference fifteen years ago. He expressed regret that visits of this kind had not been commenced earlier for he was certain it would bear fruit. If full advantage had not been taken of the Canadian preference, Canadians were not to blame. He hoped that the present trip was an evidence that the British manufacturers have commenced to realize how great are their opportunities in Canada.

Hon. W. T. White, in replying to a toast to the Dominion told the visitors that Canada's total trade this year will pass the billion mark, while immigration figures will exceed half a million. He assured them on his responsibility as minister of finance that while occasionally bad investments have been made in Canada, there is no country in the world where the opportunity for profitable investment is so good.

Mr. White expressed the firm conviction that many of these present would live to see Canada's population exceed the present population of the British Isles.

BACK TO CANADA

Over 100 Families Leave East in First Colonist Train of Kind

Manchester, N.H.—Nearly five hundred New Englanders representing over one hundred families in Massachusetts and New Hampshire leave here on June 26 for the Canadian North west never to return.

This is the first colonist train from New England in the "back-to-Canada" movement, recently instituted by the Canadian Government.

The train will go direct to Prince Albert, Sask., and from that city the colonists will be sent to various towns in Saskatchewan, Alberta and points farther West. Amenee Cleroux, lecturer for the department of the interior at Ottawa, will be in charge of the colonists.

They will represent prosperous families in Deerick, Manchester, Hooksett, Suncook, Concord, Frankland, Laconia and other New Hampshire cities.

SEEK PRAIRIE MARKETS

Ontario Government Will Aid Fruit Growers of Province

Toronto.—No time will be lost by the Ontario department of agriculture in arranging to keep Ontario fruit growers posted concerning the prairie markets. "It is the expectation to appoint a man this summer" said W. B. Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture. "He will look up markets, keep in touch with conditions, and keep in touch with the shippers at this end."

THREE EMPERORS TO MEET

George, Nicholas and William to Settle on Policy of Peace

St. Petersburg.—Czar Nicholas is preparing another important pronouncement on world peace. It is understood that it will be issued to the powers after the conference of the three emperors, which semi-officially announcement says will take place in July or August at Kiel. The Kaiser, King George of England and the Czar of Russia meeting to discuss as the heads of the three most powerful modern empires, a basis of lasting peace, will give an event to history more famous possibly than the meeting of the three emperors a century ago which emphasized only a pause in the European war.

Million for Double Tracking

Vancouver, B.C.—It is announced that the Great Northern had appropriated $1,000,000 to build double tracks between Vancouver and Westminster, 12 miles. It is practically certain that over this line the Canadian Northern will make its entry into Vancouver.

Winter Wheat in Alberta

Lethbridge, Alta.—Precipitation to date has been eighty inches this month. Grain is progressing favorably all over the south. In Spring Coulee and Cardston districts winter wheat will be in head this week and should be ready for cutting about the last week of July.

Central West to Benefit Most

Winnipeg, Man.—That the significance of the Panama Canal for the commercial interests of the Central West is gradually gaining recognition is indicated in a comprehensive write-up on this subject in the current issue of Winnipeg Once-A-Week. Among other things it is pointed out that even at the present time the Canadian prairies are exporting nearly 200,000 bushels of wheat yearly, and this in spite of the entire inadequacy of railway facilities to handle the available traffic. All this, says the correspondent, means much to Vancouver and to British Columbia; but it means far more to the Prairie Provinces—to their agricultural and industrial development — to the growth and expansion of their commercial centres—and consequently to the increasing importance of Winnipeg as a distributing centre for farm implements and every kind of manufactured product.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, June 12.—The feature of the week has been the June crop report of the United States Government issued on Monday last. This gave the acreage, not previously announced planted to the various important crops, the condition of the growing crops on June 1st, the indicated yield per acre and estimated total production, based upon the ratio of the average condition on June 1st, to the final yield in the five years, 1906 to 1910, as reported by the correspondents and agents of the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Agriculture. The condition of winter wheat June 1st is reported as 74.3 compared with 79.7 one month ago, and 80.4 one year ago, indicating a yield under new system of 363,000,000 bus., compared with 430,656,000 bus. last year. The acreage is 25,744,000, compared with 29,162,000 acres last year. Spring wheat acreage is given as 19,201,000, compared with 20,381,000 acres last year, being a decrease of 1,182,000 acres. Condition 95.8, compared with 94.6 last year. Estimated total production of both winter and spring wheat 628,000,000 bus. compared with 621,338,000 bus. last year. The trade construed the report as very bullish, especially on the winter wheat, as it is thought further deterioration has taken place since the first of the month, and that a still more bullish condition must be looked for at harvest. Spring wheat figures were in line with general expectations, and of course marks the highest prospect that that country has had in its spring wheat production. Taking the average decline in crop conditions between the June report and harvest the indications can suggest nothing else but a moderate wheat crop this season in the United States, as the present estimated production of 628,000,000 bus. will suffer further reduction between now and the final harvest. For a few days previous to the issuing of the report the trade generally was in a waiting mood, and values were steady, but the day after all markets had a quick advance. Later, with reports of rains in the South-western states, the advance in American markets was lost, so that for the week they closed slightly lower. The Winnipeg market closed 2½c higher on the July, and ¼c on the October deliveries. Conditions in the Canadian West are considered very satisfactory. With the exception of one or two places in Alberta rains have been copious, and the weather at present is warm, which with the frequent showers makes excellent growing conditions. World crop conditions are generally favorable, although there are complaints of too much rain from parts of Russia and also the Western part of Europe. There is growing evidence that the reserves of native wheat in France and other Western European countries are fast approaching exhaustion. Argentine will not be a heavy shipper again this season, but India continues to export freely. Black Sea may export freely should prospects for the new crop become distinctly favorable. The uncertainties, however, of European harvests, leads us to believe that present price levels are on a healthy basis. World's shipments for the week were larger than anticipated, being 16,800,000 bus. of which Russia furnished 2,984,000 bus., compared with a total of 9,968,000 bus. previous week, and 12,512,000 bus. in 1911. Other statistics do not show much change, but inclined to be bearish.

The Winnipeg market shows a nice advance, mostly brought about by the tightening up of the July delivery. Stocks of contract wheat at Fort William and Port Arthur are getting small, which makes speculators wary about selling short. Cash demand is fair for all grades, with offerings scarce. Export enquiry has improved. Farmers, after seeding shipments, are on the increase, but with the warm weather quite a few cars are arriving at the terminal elevators in a heated condition. Today's cash prices are: 1 Nor., $1.06¾; 2 Nor., $1.04; 3 Nor. 99¾c; No. 4 wheat, 88¾c; No. 5, 75c; No. 6, 63¾c, Feed, 58c; No. 3 Alberta Red Winter, 97¾c; No. 4 A.R.W., 89¼c.

Oats—

The oat market has advanced about 1½c for the week. There has been a good demand for extra 1 feeds and low grades, but offerings are scarce. To-day's cash prices are No. 2 Canadian Western, 45c; No. 3 C.W., 43c; Ex 1 Fd., 45c; 1 Fd., 44c; 2 Fd., 41c.

Barley—

Buyers still out of the market, and no prices are quoted.

Flax—

United States crushers have been after our flax this week, and in the absence of heavy shipments it has been easy to bid prices up. To-day's prices are: 1 North-western, $2.13; [illegible]

All prices quoted above are based on delivery in store Fort William and Port Arthur.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XIII.—SECOND QUARTER, FOR JUNE 30, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Comprehensive Quarterly Review—Golden Text Matt. v. 17.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Lesson I.—The appearances of the risen Lord, 1 Cor. xv. 1-11. Golden Text, Acts ii, 32, "This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we are all witnesses." Always emphasize the gospel as set forth in this lesson and remember that everything depends on a risen living Christ, the same Jesus who lived on earth as a poor man, now at the right hand of God in the place of all power and still a real man, the Son of Man, waiting for the time to return and bring His kingdom.

Lesson II.—The use of the Sabbath Mark ii, 23 to iii, 6. Golden Text, Mark ii, 27. "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." Consider the daring pride of man in judging the Lord of the Sabbath for using His own Sabbath, but they knew Him not and judged Him to be a mere man like themselves, yet a great teacher. He made so manifest their hypocrisy and formality and religious pride that they determined to kill Him.

Lesson III.—The appointment of the twelve, Mark iii, 7-19. Golden Text, John xv, 16. R.V., "Ye did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you," that ye should go and bear fruit." Mark the words, "Unto Him with Him, that He might send them forth to preach and to have power" (verse 13-15). He Himself is the great and only center, and apart from Him there is no fruit nor service nor anything worth mentioning.

Lesson IV.—The beatitudes, Matt. v. 1-2. Golden Text, Matt. v. 8. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." What a blessed time it will be on the whole earth when the principles of this sermon are lived out. Meanwhile, as heirs of the kingdom, we should manifest these principles in our daily life, true poverty of spirit being the foundation of all, such a self renunciation that He may be seen in us.

Lesson V.—Poverty and riches, Luke vi. 20-26; xvi. 19-31. Golden Text Luke xii. 15. "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." This is part of a discourse similar to the sermon on the Mount and illustrated by the story of the rich man and Lazarus. There is no life apart from Christ, and true riches are found only in Him.

Lesson VI.—The law of love. Luke vi. 27-38; Rom. xiii, 8-10. Golden Text Rom. xiii, 9. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." In 1 Cor. xiii we are taught that without love nothing counts, not even giving away all we have, and our bodies to be burned. The only pattern of love is the love of God in Christ, and He expects us to love others as He loves us.

Lesson VII.—The old law and the new life, Matt. v, 17-26. Golden Text, Rom. xiii. 8. R. V., "He that loveth his neighbor have fulfilled the law." The law of God is holy and just and good, but because it is so perfectly holy no mere man can keep it, and the one thing it does for us is to shut our mouths and bring us all in guilty before God, and then we are ready to receive the righteousness of God as a free gift.

Lesson VIII.—Truthfulness, Matt. v. 33-37; Jas. iii, 1-12; v. 12. Golden Text, Eph. iv, 25. R. V., "Putting away falsehood, speak ye truth each one with his neighbor, for we are members one of another." The tongue is not our chief trouble, but the power back of it, and when it is set on fire of hell (Jas. iii, 6) it does give a sample of hell on earth. Let the Prince of Peace, the Lord of Glory, control it, and all will be well.

Lesson XI.—Hypocrisy and sincerity. Matt. vi. 1-18. Golden Text. Matt. vi, 1, R. V., "Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them, else ye have no reward with your Father who is in heaven." The word to Abraham is still in force, "I am the mighty God, all sufficient; walk before me and be sincere" (Gen. xvii, 1). Not as pleasing men, but God, must be our motto (1 Thess. ii, 4).

Lesson X.—Hearing and doing. Luke vi, 39-49). Golden Text, Jas. i, 22 "Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving your ourselves." All who truly receive Christ are saved fully, freely and forever by His finished work, and that alone, but all such must prove before men the reality of the new life by walking in the good works prepared by God for them (Eph. ii, 10; Tit. ii, 8).

Lesson XI.—Christ's witness to John the Baptist. Matt. xi, 2-19. Golden Text, Luke vii, 28. R. V., "Among them that are born of women there is none greater than John, yet he that is but little in the kingdom of God is greater than he." When the kingdom comes the least in his glorified body shall be greater than John was in his mortal body, and John himself will be greater than ever before.

Lesson XII.—The penitent woman, Luke vii, 36-50. Golden Text, 1 Tim. i, 15, R. V., "Faithful is the saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners." Even such as she was can find a place in His kingdom, but such as self righteous Simon cannot enter. Behold this woman so occupied with and devoted to Jesus Christ that she is oblivious to all else!

Cement Plant for West

Montreal.—A million dollar cement plant at Medicine Hat is under consideration by the Canada Cement company as a step toward meeting the demand for this commodity in the great west.

Nelson Spencer, mayor of Medicine Hat, was in town a few days ago. He stated that he made this trip east to confer with F. P. Jones, the general manager of the Canada Cement company, in regard to the proposed enterprise and said his visit had been so successful that as a result Mr. Jones would be in Medicine Hat about Dominion day to get things started.

On an average Great Britain yields thirty bushels of wheat per acre under each crop.

Provincial Display

The provincial display of British Columbia will be one of the most attractive features of the big Dry-Farmed Products Exposition at Lethbridge next October, reservation having been made by Deputy-Minister of Finance and Agriculture W. E. Scott for 100 lineal feet space and a depth of at least 20 feet.

Writing Chairman J. W. McNicol of the Exposition Committee, Mr. Scott says that it is planned to bring to Lethbridge one of the finest exhibits ever gathered in Western Canada of an extensive and diversified nature, the feature of which will be the fruit grown without irrigation and specimens of the timber for which the province is famous The fruit exhibits will probably be sent from here to Chicago and New York land shows and it is expected that fully a carload of choice apples will be collected for this exhibit.

"Our exhibit will be made more with the idea of showing the resources and potentiality of our provinces than for competion," says Minister Scott. "We do not have in view the competing for prizes offered for dry-farmed products exclusively, because we have only a very limited territory in which the precipitation is less than 20 inches. But much of our fruit and some of our vegetables are grown by dry-farming methods, and we desire the world to see what we are producing, and we certainly feel that we shall win the merits of praise of all delegates to the Dry-Farming Congress."

R. N. Winslow, horticulturist of the Department of Agriculture, is arranging to collect an unusually large exhibit of fruit and has advised all commercial organizations in various districts of British Columbia to make a display and will personally supervise the gathering of the fruit exhibit.

Below we give several hints for killing the common—all too common—house-fly, which not only carries typhoid but also tuberculosis, dysentery and many diseases.

1 Fly poison, not dangerous to human life—1 dram bichromate of potassium dissolved in 2 oz. of water. Add a little sugar and expose in shallow dishes.

2 To clean a room of flies, heat a shovel and pour on 20 drops of carbolic acid.

3 Pyrethrum powder dampened can be molded into cones. Dry they will burn slowly on a dish, the fumes will stupefy the flies and they can be swept up.

"One fly killed in June may mean millions in September."

"A fly in the milk may mean a baby in the grave."
