WORK TO MAKE BEST EXHIBIT

DECORATOR TO HELP COMMITTEE

Two Hundred Twenty Dollars to Finance, Already Raised by B. of T.

By dint of hard work of the committee, Jas. Comption, W. K. Brown and Walter Jackson, and the efforts of the Board of Trade and the thoughtfulness of the ranchers in saving their best produce, Creston's exhibit to go to the Dry Farming Congress which is to be held at Lethbridge on October 10-26, is going to be a prize winner. Nothing is being left undone in the knowledge of the board to make the display the best advertisement this district has ever had. Harry Leonard, an experienced decorator, has offered his services, and was appointed at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade, Tuesday evening to accompany the exhibit committee to Lethbridge to assist in making the display as attractive as possible. To further impress upon the interested parties at the congress the virtues of Creston as a fruit district, it was decided that 12 boxes of apples should be sent with the exhibit for free distribution. These apples are to go only to those who are looking for a place to locate.

To defray expense of staging the exhibit and expenses of committee $220 has been subscribed to date, most of which has been collected by the finance committee.

All articles for the exhibit must be on the way next Monday and be in place on Thursday when the exhibits will be judged.

Among the other things taken up by the Board of Trade was the adopting a resolution favoring the creation of a Minster of Mines for the Dominion, owing to the great increase in the industry in the past few years and whereas the duties in the province are now being adopted by a member of another department. This resolution is being adopted by many of the Boards of Trade in the Province.

An expression of satisfaction was also drafted to be sent to the Premier for the prompt action of the government in surveying the flats for the purpose of determining the possibility of reclamation, and expressing the belief that the reclamation is desirable and feasible.

Thanksgiving Day Rifle Match

A meeting was held last evening by members of the local rifle men, and it was decided to invite several outside teams to take part in the Thanksgiving day match.

It is proposed to give a silver cup to the winning teams and several individual prizes. A canvass for donations will be taken up by members of the local committee among the public spirited men, and private individuals, the committee solicits your hearty support. The Review has opened a column for donations which will be published in their weekly issue.

HERE AND THERE

The order reducing the size of United States currency and national bank notes by one-third and completely revolutionizing their designs, will be issued by Secretary MacVeagh in a few weeks. There is no question now that the change will be made. The designs for the new bills are being completed. The designs of each denomination of every bill will be of the same general nature. The new currency will measure six by two and one half inches as compared with the 7.28 by 3.04 of the present notes. It will require eighteen months to make the change complete.

The World Baseball Championship series is being played this week. The contestants are the New York Nationals and the Boston Americans.

Kaslo is so much in need of a dentist that the Kootenaion has written and published a long editorial calling attention to the need of a tooth carpenter there. One lady in the town has advanced the theory that there is a conspiracy to prevent a dentist from going to Kaslo. This is a serious condition and an investigation should at once be instituted. It is also darkly hinted that Nelson is at fault. Sly knocking on the part of the strawberry centre is hinted at, and the editorial goes as far as to say, "Generally when it comes to a business matter, Nelson will jab a bayonet into Kaslo quicker than a wink," Naughty Nelson.—Rossland Miner.

Over 1,100 cases of B. C. fruit were sold at auction Sept. 25. in Calgary, Alberta, by McCallum & Co., auctioneers, on behalf of the C. P. R. The car load consists of 680 cases of peaches and 510 of plums. The attendance was large and the supply was soon exhausted. Prices for peaches averaged 30 cents a box and the plums realized an average of 36 cents.

Pat Burns, the cattle king, one of the "Big Four," who guaranteed and helped to make successful the "stampede" at Calgary, has shown his appreciation of his country's history by subscribing five hundred dollars to the Canadian monument to General Wolfe, to be placed over the grave at Greenwich.

Italy and Turkey have arranged for peace, but Turkey is to have no rest for Montenegro has declared war on the nation and it is thought that other of the Balkan states will follow the lead.

Breaths there a man with a soul so dead,
That is not, this week, a baseball fan?

Chicago capitalists are negotiating the purchase of the Bull River Power Plant and the Cranbrook Electric Works.

The W. C. T. U. held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Dr. Henderson, Thursday afternoon Oct. 10. The program for the ensuing year was arranged. It was decided to call a meeting of all the children of Creston and vicinity in Bunce's Hall Saturday Oct. 19, 3 p. m., to organize a Band of Hope. Mr. Goodwin and Mrs. Dow were appointed superintendents. We beg the assistance of the parents in this work. A paper was also read by Mrs. McMann on "Our Brave Sailors" which was very interesting.

Obituary—Bartholomew

Mrs. Susannah Bartholomew, a resident of Creston for the past four years, on Monday, September 7, departed to her long prayed for rest. For two years she has born with Spartan courage the pains of a cancer which resulted in her death.

The deceased was 65 years old on the 22nd of last month, was born in Birmingham, England, where she lived until coming to Canada six years ago livin Winnipeg for two years, with a son, her husband having died six years previous.

The funeral will be held Saturday at two o'clock. Services will be held both at the house and at the grave by Rev. Fred Carpenter.

Mrs. Bartholomew leaves three sons and a daughter to mourn for her, Alfred B. Bartholomew, of Nelson, James Bartholomew, of Winnipeg, and William Bartholomew of Creston with whom she has been making her home. The daughter is in England. A. Bartholomew is here to attend the funeral.

Costly Road to Continental

The wagon road from Porthill, Idaho, to the Idaho-Continental mine, which is now completed to within three miles of the camp, when completed will be the most substantially constructed highway in the northwest, conservative estimates placing the cost at $65,000, more than $3000 a mile. The thoroughfare is being constructed with a view to operating large capacity motor trucks over it for transporting ore to the railway at Port Hill and it is believed that eventually it will be utilized for a railway line, as the grade is less than two percent at the steepest part.

The Idaho-Continental company has had plans and specifications perpared for a 300-ton daily capacity concentrating plant, the equipment for which has been ordered through the purchasing department of the Almalgamated Copper company at Butte, Mont. The machinery is to be delivered at Porthill by November 1, when it is believed the the wagon road will be open, and will be taken in and installed as rapidly a possible. Shipments will probably be forwarded from the mine as soon as the road is in operation, as a considerable quantity or high-grade ore is blocked out and ready for extraction.

A. Lindley has on display in the Creston Realty office a potatoe grown on his place weighing 6 pounds 9 ounces.

To Discuss Distribution At Apple Show

The fifth National Apple show in Spokane this fall is expected to accomplish one thing in particular which will be of great value to the growers throughout the Northwest. This will be the launching of a thoroughly organized movement to solve the problem of distribution.

To secure the result a conference of growers, city and country bankers, transportation men and business men will be held in Spokane during the apple show, November 11 to 19. In

TRANSDOMINION AUTO ARRIVES

USES TACLKE TO ASCEND HEAVY GRADE

Runs on Flat Lands to Kootenay Landing—Ferries to Nelson

By means of a block and tackle to make the steep grades on the road between Cranbrook and Creston, and by use of the railroad track where there is no road, Thomas W. Wilby, who is on a "pathfinding" automobile trip across the Dominion, and who will be the first to cross Canada in an automobile, arrived in Creston at three o'clock last Saturday morning having left Cranbrook at three the preceeding afternoon. Mr. Wilby left Halifax on the transcontinental tour the 27th of August and arrived here after 39 days of travel over various kinds of roads many of which were just as difficult as this last stretch. Accompanying him on his arrival here were F. V. Haney of St. Catherines, Earl Wise of Regina and Walter Halsall of Cranbrook.

Mr. Halsall acted as guide for the tourists from Cranbrook to Yahk, accompanying them in his own car to that place, where the party was to have been met by Guy Lowenberg of Creston, vice president of the Canadian Highway Association, but who, owing to some misinformation, understood that Wilby would remain in Winnipeg to attend the Canadian Highway convention which is in session this week, was out of the province and could not keep the appointment.

The journey from Cranbrook to a point near Yahk was made in good time but just before reaching Yahk the automobile became mired and about an hour was lost in getting the machine on its way again. Then a steep grade was encountered in which a block and tackle had to be used to pull the car up the ascent. The machine weighs over two tons and as the leverage on the rigging was necessarily large, the car was pulled up the hill at a very slow rate, as Mr. Wilby termed it, "inch by inch" and much time was lost.

From Yahk to Kitchener the journey was made on the railway track as the government road has not yet been completed through this section. As darkness had fallen big risks were assumed. At several places the switches and frogs in the track caught and tore the tires of the car.

This side of Kitchener another steep hill covered with shale rock was encountered and the block and tackle was again brought into use. After this was passed good progress was made as the road is in a fair condition though a trifle narrow for such a big car. At Erickson the party, not having a guide, headed toward Canyon City but when nearly down the Goat river hill the error was discovered and the machine was backed out.

The car left town Saturday morning at 11 o'clock flying a Creston penant which was proposed at the request of Fred Little, who with R. Walmsley acted as host for the tourists during their short stay here, accompanied by CHAPTER I.

Captain the Honorable Fred Scribner had never found himself in a worse temper. He had just wasted a glorious spring morning on a fruitless visit into the country to see his aunt, the Lady Mary Scribner, who lived alone at Scrivner Tower a beautiful estate a few miles from Pinner. She possessed a large income, though no one save her bankers and her lawyers knew the amount. She employed some twenty or thirty servants on the estate, and kept the same number of cats and dogs, her sole companions. She was very old, very withered, very eccentric; was generally to be found dressed in rags, and possessed no interest in life save her animals and her flowers.

The Honourable Fred was her only male relative, and she confessed that one day he might inherit Scrivener Towers and the major portion of her income. But sometimes he reflected bitterly that probably the dogs and cats would receive the larger share.

He entered his rooms in Half Moon Street; flung himself before the bureau and commenced to tear open an accumulation of letters. Bills, all of them, that was why they had not been opened; he knew the writing on the envelope of each one; bookmakers, stockbrokers a couple of tailors, a florist's and a jeweller's. A gentle hint from a famous restaurant that the manager would be glad to receive his cheque for certain suppers and dinners—which had been eaten but not paid for. And a letter from Mr. Aaron Roberts, reminding him that the interest was due on a promissory note for a thousand pounds of last June.

Scribner leaned back in his chair, consigned the unpleasant documents to the waste paper basket, and reflectively sucked an Havannah cigar.

It was just his beastly luck! That was all he could find to say. No man ever had such vile luck as he. If by chance he ever backed the winner the odds were it got disqualified; whether he dabbled in Kaffirs or Rhodesians, Rubber or Oil they always dropped the moment he touched them.

He opened the Daily Mail, glanced at the list of quotations from the Stock Exchange and picked up the receiver of his telephone; Rubbers could not go much lower; now was the time to buy again. He was just about to call up Messrs Francks, Robbins and Cutter, when he remembered the account reposing in the waste-paper basket, and the one for previous settlement overdue. He had already promised a cheque; his credit was pretty good still, but Jimmy Francks was an old friend of his, and it was not quite playing the game to risk letting the firm in for further amounts. Besides, he reminded himself, he had his pride to think of.

His pride! He laughed derisively and flung his cigar into the grate. He was flinging half-a-crown away, but the beastly thing would not draw—his luck again. He cursed himself, Rubbers, Kaffirs, women—he almost swore at his aunt. It was extraordinary how she held on to life. He could not remember her age, but he knew it must be somewhere in the seventies. Well, there was only way out of his difficulty, marriage. His aunt had suggested two ways, hard work and matrimony. A man in the Thirteenth Lancers could not work; the woman he wanted to marry was engaged to his friend, the lucky man—old Jimmy Francks, who started life in a lawyer's office without a penny, ran away on board a tramp steamer, returned home with a few hundred pounds, and on the Stock Exchange turned them into thousands.

Scribner yawned, played with some luncheon, then putting on an immaculate morning coat and silk hat strode into the sunshine of Piccadilly. It was the height of the season, the famous thoroughfare was a whirl of motor-cars, carriages and gaily dressed women of all nations. A torrent of wealth poured continually from the Circus to Hyde Park, from Hyde Park to the Circus.

Scribner watched it flow, the while smiling bitterly. How could he give up this life, how could he give up his regiment, his friends? And the race course, the polo ground, the restaurant, the pretty women? It was absurd. His aunt—he dared not allow himself to think of her.

He turned into Bond Street; there was only one thing to be done. He hated doing it, for the man was becoming positively offensive; taking more liberties even than he allowed his tailor or his man-servant. Yet he could not do without Aaron Roberts, for he began to be a little afraid lest one day Aaron Roberts might say he could do without him. Just as he passed the Dore Gallery he ran straight into Jimmy Francks and his future wife, Iris de Fontaigne.

Just his luck again; he had an absurd feeling that they both knew whether he was bound, for he stood right outside Aaron Roberts' office, and the man's name seemed to shriek his business in bold letters on a great brass plate.

Hello, where are you off to? Francks laughed good humouredly.

Oh, having a stroll in the sunshine, Scribner replied. But he looked at Iris and held her hand a moment longer than was necessary. Iris de Fontaigne was described by her enemies—and what pretty girl is not possessed of them—as unusual, flamboyant. Her friends acclaimed her beautiful, and as if to verify their judgment her portrait had already decorated the walls of the Academy, and the studies of famous artists. Sculptors had moulded her in clay and chiselled her in marble. For she possessed more than prettiness or face, something more than a figure so perfect in its lines as to invite comparison with the great Greek ideals. Nevertheless, it must be admitted that she was unusual; rather of the gipsy type; her hair was very dark, and it never required curling pins or irons. Her skin had known the kisses of the wind and sun; her eyes a deep blue; a sensitive nose, a mouth full, red-lipped.

She was dressed in a fashionable short, tight-fitting frock, which suited her, while it emphasised her rounded yet slim, tall figure; her long, narrow feet were encased in shoes and stockings, which matched the colour of her dress; in her ears a quaint old-fashioned pair of earrings.

Jim has given me a motor-car, for my very own. I'm learning to drive, you know, she said, gently disengaging her hand. Not only her face, but her whole being seemed to exude the joy of life; she was bubbling with happiness. Scribner could not take his eyes off her.

Repartee in Politics

If the name of the victim of this story were published, it would create a sensation from the Atlantic to the Pacific, not to say from the Great Lakes to the Rio Grande. In short, if the name were known, the gentleman in question would have seven duck fits, and the remainder of the population of the United States would lean madly into laughing hysterics. However, the victim is a man high in national politics and prominent in the staring public eye. He had befriended the hero of this narrative, and had bound him to him with hoops of steel. An exigency of politics required signal service from the lesser light, and the great man sent for the other and said to him:

I am your friend. I have made you what you are. For my sake go out into the countryside, and do thus and so.

The lesser light, having consulted his own interests and the opposite faction in the party, journeyed forth all right enough, but what he pulled off in the aforementioned countryside was in direct contradiction to his instructions. When he returned to the place from which he had started, he called at the offices of his powerful friend, but was received by a subordinate, who said:

My boss thinks that you have treated him very badly in view of all his past friendship for you, and he will not receive you. Furthermore, he wishes you to send back to him the autographed photograph which he gave you.

The man, thus rebuked, hurled himself into a taxicab, dashed into his humble dwelling seized a large stub pen wrote an inscription across the picture, and sent the photograph back to its giver. The inscription read thus:

Received without solicitation—returned without regret.

Do It Quickly

We (Australians) look to Canada with the greatest admiration; we know that intense as our loyalty is, that your loyalty is just as intense, just as undoubted; we think you may adopt some other method than ours in your wisdom, and it is not for us to speak a word to you in matters that so closely concern you, but I think we have a right to say in Australia after what we have done that whatever the empire has got to do, or is willing to do, to strengthen the hands of our motherland, ought to be done quickly.—Sir George Reid at Toronto.

He Got It

Oh, said the manager, in the interview with Timkins, what I want is a reliable clerk for the weighing room. One who knows what's what. Do you understand?

Timkins nodded.

You know your weights and measures table of course, went on the manager. You might just run through them now.

Fifteen ounces make one pound—began Timkins.

Go in and start at once, cried the manager, with a grin of satisfaction. You're the man for me!

Tommy (at a concert, watching soprano singing aria and conductor waving baton)—Ma, what's that long-haired man hitting at her with that stick for?

His Mother—He isn't hitting at her.

Tommy—Then what is she screaming about?

This section is almost mountainous, remarked the pedestrian to his companion as they trudged along a country road one summer's day, carrying heavy grips.

Yes, it's a bit hilly, said the farmer a few minutes later as he drove his guest from the station in the big buckboard

Nice rolling country this, observed the automobilist to his chauffeur as they whizzed by in a big touring car.

Gee, what a flat, uninteresting region, thought the aviator, looking down as he sailed over it in his majestic biplane.

Do Animals Swank?

The delightful story of Brer Rabbit and Brer Fox will help us to answer this question in the affirmative. As a matter of fact, animals undoubtedly do swank, and the domestic ones when made pets of, will give themselves as many airs and graces as a girl in love.

It is this characteristic that renders so many of them amenable to training. The writer has known a rat in a stable to lie on its side and pretend to be dead. When turned over with the foot it has instantaneously become very much alive and scooted for all it was worth.

An old horse employed in farm work would pretend to be very lame when put on the milk-churning, which necessitated his going round in a circle, but directly he was taken off he would, metaphorically speaking, frisk like a kitten.

The Irish terrier and the collie are terrible swankers. They will put up with any amount of petting, but directly the victim is off his guard they will not hesitate to nip.

Everybody is familiar with the phrase, playing possum, meaning of course, lying low, or pretending. This extraordinary little animal, if attacked, stretches itself stiff upon the ground. You may beat it, throw water upon it, and all but kill it, yet when you have turned away in the firm belief that it is dead, the little imposter will jump up and scurry to safety.

It is common knowledge among sportsman that a partridge will flutter just ahead of dogs or men, pretending to have a broken wing, till she has lured them away from her babies. Then she rises and sails home like the wind.

No Longer a Luxury

What's the trouble?

There's a tramp at the door with a motor automobile. Wants to know if we can give him an old set of tires.

It is eighty-three years since the first horse-drawn public omnibus ran in England; the first public motor-bus ran eight years ago.

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now however the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to cause car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded whether with grain, coal lumber or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

WOULD SCREAM FOR HOURS WITH ECZEMA

Baby Dreadful Sufferer. Could Not Keep Him from Scratching. Every Joint Affected. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and He Is Well.

"Enclosed find my son's photo and I feel by writing these few lines to you I am only doing my duty, as my son was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At the age of two weeks he began to get covered with red spots on his legs and groins, which mother thought was red gum or thrush; but day by day it grew worse until every joint and crevice were affected and baby started screaming for hours day and night; such a thing as sleep was out of the question. I took him to two of Sydney's leading doctors; one said it was one thing, the other did not think it so serious; one ordered ointment for rubbing in, the other a dusting powder. I followed their prescriptions for over four months and still baby kept getting worse. I could not keep him from scratching so great was his agony.

"When he was five months old I tried the Cuticura Remedies and I am very thankful to say my baby is to-day free from all his suffering. His groins were bleeding when I started and other parts affected were the lower part of his body under the knees, arms, in the joints, eyebrows and neck; but after using Cuticura Ointment I began to see a difference and in one week's time, along with the bathing with Cuticura Soap baby was nearly cured. "Enclosed find my son's photo and I feel by writing these few lines to you I am only doing my duty, as my son was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At the age of two weeks he began to get covered with red spots on his legs and groins, which mother thought was red gum or thrush; but day by day it grew worse until every joint and crevice were affected and baby started screaming for hours day and night; such a thing as sleep was out of the question. I took him to two of Sydney's leading doctors; one said it was one thing, the other did not think it so serious; one ordered ointment for rubbing in, the other a dusting powder. I followed their prescriptions for over four months and still baby kept getting worse. I could not keep him from scratching so great was his agony.

Gents,—A customer of ours cured a very bad case of distemper in a valuable horse by the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT.

Yours truly,
VILANDIE FRERES.

A local painter worked three months on a painting. He spent a good deal of money on models, but the finished product justified all his expenditure and all his time. Everybody told him so when the picture was exhibited. Everyone but one. This lady, whose opinion he valued most, was the one he took to the exhibition with him. I can hardly wait, she bubbled. Which is your picture? This one, he told her—and waited. She studied it in detail. What is it called? she wanted to know. Wood Nymphs. How silly of me to ask! They're so natural. Why, anybody would think they were really made of wood.

Jack—What did her father say when he entered the room and found his plump daughter sitting in your lap?

Tom—He remarked that I had taken a great deal on myself.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is compounded specially to combat dysentery, cholera morbus and all inflammatory disorders that change of food or water may set up in the stomach and intestines. These complaints are more common in summer than in winter, but they are not confined to the warm months, as undue laxness of the bowels may seize a man at any time. Such a sufferer will find prompt relief in Dr. Cordial.

Fitting Subjects

Casually, by chance unsought, they met in the railway carriage. He was a young man, beardless; his companion a hoary oldster.

So you are a teacher? remarked the talkative veteran. I'll wager you had to pass a pretty stiff exam.

Yes, indeed! replied the instructor of the young.

And what were the subjects? inquired the inquisitive passenger?

Well, we were examined in psychology, integral calculus, mathematical astronomy, polemic divinity, metaphysical analysis, and Greek, Latin French and German versification.

[illegible] what position were you striving?

Teacher of the infants, sir.

During the past financial year Glasgow's tramways carried 270 million passengers and took nearly $5,000,000 in receipts.

Regularity—

of the bowels is an absolute necessity for good health. Unless the waste matter from the food which collects there is got rid of at least once a day, it decays and poisons the whole body, causing biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches. Salts and other harsh mineral purgatives irritate the delicate lining of the bowels. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills—entirely vegetable—regulate the bowels effectively without weakening, sickening or griping. 25

The Better Way

A lady, who was sitting in the middle of the stalls at a matinee and was wearing a regular floral avenue of a hat, was politely asked to remove it, but she somewhat rudely refused. At last the nuisance became intolerable, and various uncomplimentary remarks were heard all round her. A gentleman, reprimanding a youth near him, who had given vent to a particularly sarcastic remark, said, so that he could be heard by all around:

If you only knew what you were talking about you would hold your tongue; that lady is a friend of mine, and has not long recovered from a serious illness, which has left her quite bald.

With a vicious jerk the offending hat was removed to disprove the fiendish assertion, and the view of the stage was not impeded any longer.

To Fit the Crime

For a scolding wife the branks and ducking-stool were formerly regarded as infallible correctives. Not more so, however, than the method employed by a Saltzburg burgomaster, who sentenced a woman convicted of virulently abusing her husband, to stand in a public place, and for six hours every day for a week direct a torrent of violent objurgation against a straw effigy fashioned to represent her spouse. Not a minute's respite was her tongue allowed; the briefest silence being sharply punished by a stinging cut from a whip wielded by an official who stood at hand to see that the sentence was duly carried out.

No Approval

A Sheffield merchant, whose daughter had married a man, with whom it proved she could not get on very well, was much surprised some weeks later to see the young lady return home again with all her belongings.

The old man listened very attentively to her story, and then went to his desk and wrote a note to his son-in-law which he gave to his daughter, assuring her that her husband would receive her kindly after this.

The pair, on reading the letter, found in it the following notice:

Dear Sir,—Goods that have been selected of one's own free will at my establishment are not taken back again.

The young couple laughed and were reconciled.

IT'S THE FOOD
The True Way to Correct Nervous Troubles

Nervous troubles are more often caused by improper food and indigestion than most people imagine. Even doctors sometimes overlook this fact. A man says:

"Until two years ago waffles and butter with meat and gravy were the main features of my breakfast. Finally dyspepsia came on and I found myself in a bad condition, worse in the morning than any other time. I would have a full, sick feeling in my stomach, with pains in my heart, sides and head.

"At times I would have no appetite for days, then I would feel ravenous, never satisfied when I did eat and so nervous I felt like shrieking at the top of my voice. I lost flesh badly and hardly knew which way to turn until one day I bought a box of Grape-Nuts food to see if I could eat that. I tried it without telling the doctor, and liked it fine; made me feel as if I had something to eat that was satisfying and still I didn't have that heaviness that I had felt after eating any other food.

"I hadn't drank any coffee then in five weeks. I kept on with the Grape-Nuts and in a month and a half I had gained 15 pounds, could eat almost anything I wanted, didn't feel badly after eating and my nervousness was all gone. It's a pleasure to be well again."

Summary Justice

On the arrival of the judge who had convened a court in one of the towns of Arkansas circuit, it was found that no pens, ink, or stationery had been provided. Having expressed himself with due forcibility, his Honour took some money from his pocket, and was about to hand it to an attendant, when he paused. There was a high-fee lawyer in the well of the court, who at that moment was heard to remark, Well, I've seen some pretty bad courts, but this—well, this is the limit. The brow of the judge darkened. You are fined five dollars for contempt, sir! he said. Hand the money to the attendant. While to the latter he said Now, David Bryan, just you step out quickly and get the articles required and if there is anything left over you can hand this gentleman his change.

A rustic, who did odd jobs for the village blacksmith, asked leave of absence for the following day, which was granted.

During the morning his employer noticed him, dressed in his Sunday best, coming down the road from the direction of the church, sheepishly followed by a woman who kept about two paces to the rear, on the opposite side of the road.

Jerking his thumb over his shoulder in the direction of his companion, and at the same time indicating her with a movement of his head, the yokel solemnly ejaculated:

COULD NOT STAND OR EVEN TURN IN BED—LEGS GREATLY SWOLLEN

All Doctor's Medicine Failed—Cure Effected by Use of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Again this great medicine has triumphed over kidney diseases of a severe type. From a bed of suffering and helplessness Mrs. Walsh was restored to health and strength by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Kidney pains in the back tortured her. Dropsical swellings had set in and she had no reason to hope for cure, since the doctor's medicine failed to even relieve her. Read what the husband says about this remarkable cure.

Mr. Thos. D. Walsh, Pictou, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago my wife took to her bed after suffering for a long time from kidney pains in the back. She was not able to stand on her feet or even turn herself in bed. The doctor's medicine was no benefit whatever, that we could see. Sometimes her legs would swell considerably. Reading about a woman in similar condition being cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, we purchased two boxes and when these were used she was able to sit up. With three more boxes she was restored to health and doing her own housework.

As for myself I also found these pills all that is claimed for them. I give this statement in order that others may obtain the same ease from suffering as that experienced by my wife and myself."

The Rag Dealer's Scales

When a son was born to the head of a certain family in an Ohio town, the proud father went out of the house to borrow a pair of scales. Just as he dashed out of the gateway, he ran into a rag dealer, who was calling at the top of his lungs:

Any rags, any bottles, any—

Look here! exclaimed the excited parent. Come into the house. I want you to weigh something for me.

The man did as requested. The pink mite was tied up in a towel and hooked on to the scales.

Six pounds! cried the nurse.

Six pounds repeated the disappointed father.

The rag dealer smiled. Don't let that worry you, my friend, said he. Then is the scales I buys by. I guess the kid weighs ten pounds, maybe a little over that.

Turning the Tables

In some cases counsel receive answers to questions that they had no business to put, which, if not quite to their liking, are what they justly deserve. The following story of George Clarke, a celebrated negro minstrel, is a case in point. On one occasion, when being examined as a witness, he was severely interrogated by a lawyer.

You are in the minstrel business, I believe? inquired the lawyer.

Yes, sir, was the reply.

It not that rather a low calling?

I don't know but what it is sir, replied the minstrel, but it is so much better than my father's that I am rather proud of it.

The lawyer fell into the trap.

What was your father's calling? he inquired.

He was a lawyer, replied Clarke, in a tone that sent the whole Court into a roar of laughter as the discomfited lawyer sat down.

For three solid hours the captain had been lecturing his men on "the duties of a soldier," and he thought it was time to see how much they had understood of his discourse. Casting his eyes round the room, he fixed on Private Murphy as his first victim.

Private Murphy, he asked, why should a soldier be ready to die for his country?

Sure, captain, he said, pleasantly, you're quite right. Why should he?

Bang! went the rifles at the manoeuvres. Oo-oo screamed the pretty girl—a nice, decorous, surprised little scream. She stepped backward into the surprised arms of a young man. Oh, said she, blushing. I was so frightened by the rifles. I beg your pardon. Not at all, said the young man. Let's go over and watch the artillery.

You must have had a terrible experience, with no food and mosquitoes swarming around you, said a friend to the shipwrecked mariner who had been cast away upon a tropical island.

You just bet I had a terrible experience, he acknowledged. My experience was worse than that of the man who wrote, "Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink." With me it was bites, bites everywhere, but not a bite to eat.

A Russian smuggler was shot recently by Cossacks just as he was crossing the Austrian boundary, not far from Czernowitz. The body fell across the frontier, the head in Russian territory, the trunk on the strip of neutral ground which forms the frontier, and the legs in Austria. No one is competent to deal with the removal of the body, as it fell in different countries. It was still lying, at the time of writing, unburied, the head guarded by Cossacks, the rest by Austrian gendarmes.

Write for the "Concrete Book"

IN Canada, where the winters are long and cold, houses must be solid and substantial. No "gingerbread frills," such as distinguish California bungalows, can be permitted. Canadian homes should be built to defy wind and cold, to keep warm inside when it's thirty below out-doors.

IT is because Concrete, of all materials, best withstands wind, water and cold, that it is fast becoming popular with Canadian home-builders. Concrete houses are warm in winter, requiring less coal for heating; they are cool in summer. A Concrete house never needs repairs; because, instead of decaying, it actually grows stronger with time and exposure to the elements.

VERY attractive architectural effects may be obtained with Concrete, especially for houses in the country, where the rough concrete surface harmonizes with its surroundings.

SINCE it never requires repairs, the first cost of a concrete residence is its last cost; and it is cheaper, for this reason, than any other kind of home.

NOT only is Concrete the best material for house-building. It may also be used in scores of other ways around the home and on the farm. For each of these purposes it is the best material known.

IF you haven't investigated the use of Concrete around the home and on the farm, write now for our free book, which tells all about the mixing and placing of Concrete, and describes hundreds of practical uses for it. Just say "Send me your book" in a letter or on a post card, and the book will be sent you absolutely free.

Almost every fruit district in the province has had its fall fair; but as yet we have heard nothing of Creston's Apple Show. If anything is going to be done it is time we are about it to avoid losses by freezing when the weather becomes colder. The pressure of preparing an exhibit for the Dry Farming Exposition at Lethbridge is practically over and the big rush of the shipping season is past, so the present time seems most opportune for promoting the show.

The Board of Trade has taken the initiative in the matter of the Dry Farming exhibit but it does not seem its place to start the fruit fair although the business men of Creston will undoubtedly give the apple show their hearty support. A joint meeting of the farmers and fruit grower's organizations would seem the best way to get the show under way. This should be called as early as possible, say next Friday at the regular meeting of the Farmers Institute.

Creston should most certainly have a fall fair. Where ever Creston Fruit Growers have exhibited they have captured first prizes, but many who have just as good apples cannot well take them to outside fairs. Much of value can be learned at a local fair and the majority of ranchers would be stimulated to give their fruit more careful attention.

The Creston Apple Show should become an annual event and it would be well to have it come as nearly as possible on the same date each year so that Creston's name and the date would appear in the government pamphlet announcing the fall fairs.

Some of our long winter evenings would be greatly enlivened if all the singers in Creston would cooperate in making the new choral class a success. A literary and debating society, a band, and a dramatic club would also help to make us forget that we are not blessed with city advantages [of entertainment and instruction.

To Discuss Distribution At Apple Show

speaking of the plan, W. T. Day, president of the Day & Hanson Security company and chairman of the apple show board of trustees, said;

"The Northwest as an apple-producing district has gained the favorable attention and recognition of the world It is now incumbent for us to go still farther.

"What we propose is a conference during the apple show to be participated in by the growers city and country bankers, transportation men and business men to try to throw some light on the question of distribution. Competent authorities declare there is no danger of over-production of apples. But we must get a system of distribution perfected, and if the apple show can be of service in this regard it will be performing a great work.

"The orchardists and buyers themselves have no fear of over-production and men who are informed as to conditions hold the same opinion. The conference planned should be of great value to the apple industry of the Northwest. It will bring together men representing all phases of the work, and the problems of distribution and financing should be clarified to a great extent as a result."

The trustees have determined to place the apple show on a permanent footing, and have named a board of governors containing representatives of every apple district in the northwest as well as Governors Marion E. Hay of Washington, Oswald West of Oregon, James H. Hawley of Idaho, Edwin L. Norris of Montana, and the lieutenant governor of British Columbia,

H. C. Sampson, a man widely known throughout the Northwest, has been elected vice president and general manager of the show and has started active preparations for the event. Mr. Sampson has attained marked success as a business man and is thoroughly conversant with the Northwest apple industry.

Educationally, the apple show this year will be made exceedingly effective and beneficial. Over and above the advantages the growers will receive from personal contact with other growers who are successful, no pains will be spared to bring expert and practical knowledge to their notice. All that has been accomplished in the perfection of spraying apparatus, and, in fact, all kinds of orchard machinery will be there for display and demonstration.

Going still farther into the field of education, it is the plan of the trustees to show how much greater returns can be had by the utilization of orchard by-products. They would like to have an evaporator on display, a jelly plant, a cider plant and any oth- things which make use of the by-products. And the amusement features also will not be lost sight of in the general plan of making the apple show more useful.

Robin Hood Flour Is Different

If, Madam, we could take you right into our Model Bakery at the Mill, where all our tests are made, you would see exactly what we mean when we say, "Robin Hood Flour is Different."

You would see how favorably it compares with other flours in respect to color.

Its superior quality would be plainly visible to you.

You would quicker realize why you are to add more water than usual when using it.

The bigger loaf made by it would lie before you. Seeing it, you would note its closer texture—no waste. Tasting it, you would admire its finer flavor.

In short, you would surely decide that you ought to start using Robin Hood Flour right away.

But, Madam, if you cannot come to our Bakery, we can help you to have better Baking Results of your own.

Use Robin Hood Flour yourself, and prove that what we claim for it is true.

DUCK CREEK NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arrowsmith of Creston were down driving on Sunday.

Joe Wigen and Frank May were out hunting last Friday and brought home with them a deer.

Monrad Wigen shipped a car load of potatoes this week.

At a meeting held at A. W. Masons on Saturday evening last it was proposed that a club be formed for the purpose of putting vim into social life at Duck Creek. After an animated discussion it was decided that the club be called "The Duck Creek Social Club" Temporary officers were elected as follows; A. W. Mason, president, M. Wigen, treasurer, T. Butterfield, secretay. A committee of four were appointed to draw up rules for the club during which time a recess was called. During recess an impromptu concert was given by, A. W. Mason, solo, Annie Laurie, Misses Amy and Emma Johnson, duet, The Last Rose of Summer, which was very sweetly rendered after which Miss Phoebe Butterfield brought down the house with "The Old Folks at Home" The chairman again called the meeting to order and the rules were adopted as drawn up. Mr. Butterfield kindly put his house at the disposal of the club for next Saturday evening when they not find a suitable place to meet. After the meeting was over a couple hours of dancing was indulged in the music being supplied by the Duck Creek orchestra, after which the happy party dispersed.

Frictional Losses

Have you - as a motor owner - ever considered what a large percentage of power is wasted in overcoming the friction of the working parts of the motor?
Prof. J. Goodman estimates that from 20 to 40 percent of fuel is wasted in overcoming friction.
Happily this waste can be greatly reduced by a due observance of the laws of friction and lubrication.

TRANSDOMINION AUTO ARRIVES

USES TACKLE TO ASCEND HEAVY GRADE

John Williams, who guided the party across the flat meadow lands down the Kootenay to the Landing.

The trip is being made in the interest of the Canadian Highway Association which is organized for the purpose of arrousing sentiment for good roads throughout the Dominion. Had the tone been postponed until next fall, much less difficulty would have been met with in this vicinity as the highway will probably be complete throughout the length of the Crows Nest Pass.

Mr. Wilby has made a transcontinental auto trip through the states going from New York to San Francisco and from there down into Mexico and then back up into the state of Washington. He says that although the roads are in a better condition in that country, traveling is more pleasant in Canada as the hotel accomodations as a rule, are better here than there.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Cheeky

A gentleman had been dining with his wife in a restaurant, and when his bill was brought to him, remarked to the waiter:

Waiter, one item is wrong here. We didn't have three plates of soup. We only had two.

DANGER PERIOD OF WOMANS' LIFE FROM 45 to 50

Interesting Experience of Two Women—Their Statements Worth Reading.

White Oak, Ont.—"At Change of Life when doctors could do no more and I was given up by my friends, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to the front and did wonders for me. I had been having female troubles for years, my head troubled me severely at times, I had bearing down pains and backache and I was very anæmic from excessive flowing. I recommend your Compound highly and do all I can to advertise it as a genuine woman's medicine." — MRS. SYLVESTER MANNING, White Oak, Ontario.

The Case of Mrs. Kirlin.

Circleville, Ohio.—"I can truthfully say that I never had anything do me so much good during Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Before I had taken one half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life."—MRS. ALICE KIRLIN, 358 W. Mill St., Circleville, Ohio.

The Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. At such times women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

On the Upper Orinoco

Are you aware that nearly a thousand miles of navigable inland waterways of the Upper Orinoco River in South America are entirely undisturbed by commerce, except such as may be carried in an occasional canoe or lancha? The lancha is simply a light scow or flat-bottomed boat, fitted with a single mast, from which, however, an enormous sail can be spread.

When the summer trade winds blow from the Atlantic good progress upstream is often made but for the return trip the mast and sails are stowed away, and the force of the current is depended upon, aided in the dry season by the use of poles or oars. If the westerly winds have set in, of course, it can sail back as well, and at times a little craft may be seen with sail set, tacking down stream in the teeth of an easterly wind, but this is sorry work.

More picturesque and speedier than the lancha is the 'bongo,' or large dugout, one half of which is sheltered by a wicker or palm-thatched canopy, and a sight never to be forgotten in the passing of a bishop or faithful 'padre' with his Indian boatman, making a round of parochial calls, requiring, perhaps several months' almost constant travel. The instant this craft is recognized the steamer or lancha slackens speed, and when the padre glides alongside he solemnly blesses the voyagers, then thankfully accepting such contributions as are offered him, and exchanging a courteous farewell, resumes his solitary way.

It Will Cure a Cold.—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve the bronchial passages of inflammation speedily and thoroughly and will strengthen them against subsequent attack. And as it eases the inflammation it will stop the cough because it allays all irritation in the throat. Try it and prove it.

A Trap Which Failed

Mr. J. Johnson Abraham in his book, "The Surgeon's Log," describes a peculiar adventure at Port Said.

Sounds of music were heard from a house, and as if at a signal, says Mr. Abraham, the decrepit chariot stood still, my guide got down, and suggested I should go in. I thought rapidly and then followed him. It was queer, and I wanted to know. He led the way upstairs into a large room, where several men were playing roulette. None took any notice of me, but apparently the bank was having a very bad time of it. Everybody was winning. The music from the automatic piano was deafening. I looked on silently for some time, and then made a move for the door. An oily-looking Greek intercepted me.

Won't you try your luck? he said.

No, I'm not drunk enough, I answered.

He shrugged his shoulders and I passed out. On the stairs I paused and then stole silently back. The music had ceased and all the confederates who had been playing so feverishly and winning so much had ceased also, and were preparing to resume the siesta my advent had so fruitlessly interrupted.

How a Cross Was Won

A French reporter encountered in a little village of the South of France a gardener, who wore pinned on his clean Sunday blouse, the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. Naturally, the newspaper man desired to know how he got it. The gardener, who like many of his trade, seemed to be a silent man, was averse to meeting an old and wearisome demand, but finally he began:

Oh, I don't know how I got it! I was at Bazeilles with the rest of the battery. All the officers were killed, then down went all the non-commissioned officers. Bang! bang! bang! By and by all the soldiers were down but me. I had fired the last shot, and naturally was doing what I could to keep off the Bavarians.

Well, a general came and says he, 'Where's your officers?'

All down, says I.

Where's your gunners? says he.

All down but me, says I.

And you've been fighting here all alone? says he.

I couldn't let 'em come and get the guns, could I? I says, and then he up and put this ribbon on me, probably because there was nobody else there to put it on.

The Judge's Explanation

The average juryman is not very well versed in the fine distinctions of the law. On those he needs instruction from the Judge. It must have been a very obtuse juryman, however, to whom the case was not perfectly clear after listening to the following explanation by a Judge in the Far West:—

Gentlemen, he stated, with admirable lucidity, murder is where a man is murderously killed. The killer in such a case is a murderer. Now, murder by poison is just as much murder as murder with a gun, pistol, or knife. It is the simple act of murdering that constitutes murder in the eye of the law. Don't let the idea of murder and manslaughter confound you. Murder is one thing; manslaughter is quite another. Consequently, if there has been a murder, and it is not manslaughter, then it must be murder. Don't let this point escape you.

Self murder has nothing to do with this case. According to Blackstone and other legal writers, one man cannot commit felo de se upon another; and this is my opinion.

Gentlemen, murder is murder. The murder of a brother is called fratricide; the murder of a father is called parricide, but that don't enter into this case. As I have said before, murder is emphatically murder.

You will consider your verdict, gentlemen, and make up your minds according to the law and the evidence not forgetting the explanation I have given you.

Public stocks stood in the Strand, London, so late as 1826.

Not Disturbed

Two spiders who dwelt in different parts of a church one day chanced to meet and got into deep conversation, and asked one another where they lived.

I live under the pulpit, said No. 1, and every week I always think I shall be getting killed; the parson bangs his hand down, and I have to get into the smallest corner I can find for fear of getting squashed.

Oh, said No. 2, you ought to come and live with me. I never get disturbed from one year's end to another.

Why, where do you live? asked No. 1.

I live in the poor box.

How Did She Know

Mrs. Blinkers—What! Going? Why?

Servant—Please mum, when I cum yesterday you gave me the keys to your trunks and drawers, and chests and jewel-boxes to keep for you.

Mrs. B.—Yes, I did that to show that I could trust you. What is the matter?

Servant—Thur don't one of 'em fit.

His Working Clothes

Ellenborough was once strangely posed by a witness a labouring bricklayer, who came to be sworn.

Really, witness, said the Lord Chief Justice, when you have to appear before the court it is your bounden duty to be more clean and decent in your appearance.

If it comes to that, said the witness, I'm every bit as well dressed as your lordship.

What do you mean? said his lordship, angrily.

Why, said the labourer, you come here in your working clothes, and I'm come in mine.

WORK AND WORRY WEAKEN WOMEN

New Health and Strength Obtained by the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard-working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a home; every girl in offices, shops and factories, is subject to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible and to build up her system to meet any unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. Nothing can keep the blood in this condition so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves restore the appetite, bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep their strength and keep disease away by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Or if a breakdown has come unexpectedly they can obtain new health through this same medicine. Mrs. M. Thomas, Iver Street, Toronto, says: "For several years I was almost a constant invalid, unable to do my housework and spending much of my time in bed. My nerves seemed worn out and I was so run down that all my friends thought I was in a hopeless decline. I was as pale as a corpse; I was so bloodless that if I cut my finger it would not bleed; my limbs were swollen far beyond their usual size. At the least exertion my heart would palpitate violently, and I frequently had fainting spells. I was under treatment by good doctors, but it did me no good. Then one day my husband brought home some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. They seemed to go to the root of the trouble, and in the course of a few weeks the improvement they were making was quite plain. Gradually as I continued taking the Pills the swelling of my limbs disappeared; the weak spells came less and less frequently; my appetite greatly improved, and finally I was completely cured and able to do my housework with ease. Later, my daughter Alma seemed to be troubled with anæmia, and we gave her the Pills with the same good results."

Why suffer in any way when you can begin curing yourself to-day with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Deserved to be Sacked

There is a large lumber operator in Maine who on occasion personally superintends the crews breaking up log jams in the river. Once, it appears, the spruce log on which he was standing slipped and threw him in the water under the logs.

One of the crew, a French-Canadian who had seen the accident, immediately went to the rescue and succeeded in getting the operator on land. The latter merely grunted his thanks, and nothing was said about the mishap.

After a day or so the Frenchman grew anxious, for he had thought of a great reward. Approaching the lumberman he said, I—I see you fall in, m'sieur, and I run queek, to pull you from ze wataire before you drown ch?

Yes, snapped the lumberman, you did; but if you'd been attending to business as you ought to have been you wouldn't have seen me fall in!

You must not see him any more,
She heard her mother say.
And though she might her fate deplore
She promised to obey.
I must not see you, sir, she cried,

Why, then, the thoughtful youth replied,
We must turn out the light.

She does not see him now.

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN

RAILWAY OFFICIALS SAY GRAIN IS GOING OUT QUICKLY

It is Stated that there are Plenty of Cars as yet Available, and Farmers are Delivering Grain so Promptly that there is Little Delay in Loading.

Winnipeg.—The fine threshing weather of the past week has caused a big stir in the movement of wheat to the lakes from all parts of the west. Although now nearly three weeks behind the normal record, there is every evidence of prompt removal of the grain with very little fear of congestion, according to the railway freight staff in departments of the various railroads. There are plenty of cars in waiting and the farmers are sending their grain so promptly, both to the platform and to the elevators that there is very little delay in loading.

There has been little or nothing done in the matter of shipping a part of the crop through Duluth in order to get it to the seaboard without delay, but it is understood that during this week, when the shipping is in full swing and the estimates can be taken in the different districts as to the volume to be moved, some sort of arrangement will be made by which Duluth will handle the surplus of the eastbound grain. The farmers are working night and day at the platforms, and the break is about even with last year as to the platform loading. The elevators are pouring their golden treasures directly into the cars and the returns so far this year show that this method of disposing of the crop is as popular as ever.

On October 1 the three provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, on the C.P.R. lines, loaded 597 cars of grain.

Last year on the same day 384 cars were loaded, an increase of 213 cars.

156 of these cars were loaded by the farmers direct and last year only 56 cars were loaded from the platform in the output of the days.

It is difficult to state just which method is the more popular, as the districts and roads have to be considered in getting the grain to the nearest point of transportation.

The output of Manitoba from September first up to Oct. 1, this year was 299 cars, out of which 161 cars were loaded from the elevators.

Last year, during the same period, there were loaded 167 cars, 138 from elevators and 29 from the platform.

In Saskatchewan this year up to October first, 1,855 cars were shipped.

The figures show all the way through a bigger month for September this year than last, and although the Manitoba demand has fallen off there is a big increase from the district around Saskatoon.

Up to Oct. 1, the C.N.R. have loaded and unloaded under orders 1,161 cars at the elevators and 1,879 cars at the platform stations along their lines.

As most of this demand comes from Saskatchewan there is every reason to believe that the output from this province will far surpass the estimate of the most optimistic.

The officials in charge of the transportation of the grain on all the roads through the agricultural districts of the west are most optimistic over the ease with which the crop will be moved.

Unlike work in previous years, the threshing operations have taken place in sections. Where these operations were furthest advanced there the cars were placed in greatest numbers.

JUDGE REFUSES TO FIGHT

Decision of a German Court of Honor is Ignored

Berlin.—Judge Knittel, who has been challenged by Captain Kammler to fight him, has declined the invitation without assigning any reasons.

It will be remembered that in a recent trial for libel the court decided that Judge Knittel was justified in declaring Captain Kammler a malicious imbecile, and that in consequence Captain Kammler was obliged by a military court of honor to challenge Knittel, who besides being a judge, is an officer of the reserve.

Much curiosity is felt as to the next step to be taken by the court of honor, and whether it will proceed to force Judge Knittel to sever his connection with the army on the ground that he has refused to permit himself to be shot at.

Would Protect Eskimos

Ottawa.—Dr. Stefannson is expected in Ottawa within a few days to report to R. M. W. Brock, of the geological survery, on his discoveries in the Coronation Gulf. Dr. Stefannson is the discoverer of the Blonde Eskimos in that new region and is desirous of keeping civilized people away from them for fear that disease will be taken in and wipe them out.

Dr. Stefannson was engaged by the American Museum of Natural History and the geological survey of Canada, to make the trip. His reports promise to be exceptionally interesting and useful.

NEW OFICE FOR FOSTER

Suggested as Canada's Diplomatic Agent in London, England

Ottawa.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster, who is again on his way back to England, for another two months' stay there, on imperial business, may have his headquarters established there permanently. Mr. Foster is slated to fill the office of Canada's imperial minister as proposed in Premier Borden's scheme for a more direct representation of Canada in imperial affairs at London. It is understood that the suggestion has been directly made to him that he become Canada's diplomatic agent and general representative in London with a salary of $15,000 per year.

The present scheme is to extend the scope and importance of the High Commissioner's office by giving it semi-diplomatic and advisory or consultative functions in relation to the imperial government. As successor to Lord Strathcona, whose retirement may be expected next year, Sir Hugh Graham and Sir Edmund Walker have been mentioned, but, under the new proposals, Mr. Foster, by reason of his political experience and training and aptitude for the larger problem of politics has undoubtedly superior claims for the post. He would act as the medium for the exchange of confidential information on matters of state, affecting the interest of the mutual interests of Canada and Great Britain, whether in relation to trade or defence and would have in London an advisory and consultative capacity. This proposal was broached by Premier Borden in London, last July, and is part of the government's permanent policy.

As a preliminary to Canada's representation in London steps are now being completed for the purchase of a site for a magnificent Canadian office near Westminster Abbey and adjacent to the houses of parliament. Work on the new building will be begun next year. To further suoplement the proposed salary of $15,000 for Mr. Foster, an official residence with allowances in the way of living expenses is suggested.

Whether or not the minister of trade and commerce will accept the position is not known. He is greatly interested in the work of his life here and likes political fighting in the commons. But it is stated on good authority, that several of his colleagues are anxious to have him take the London position and it is significant that he has been kept for the last few months well in training for it. By the end of November, this year, he will have spent four months out of this year in London and next soring as Canada's travelling ambassador he is going to Australia on trade matters.

Hon. Mr. Crothers would prefer his place as minister of trade and commerce to the labor portfolio he now holds.

Diamonds from the Hudson's Bay Country

They remained in the country all summer and must have struck it rich from the length of time spent there.

Fargo, N.D.—Nearly 10,000 young men, students in Fargo's colleges, and high schools, will leave before the end of the week to take the place of laborers in harvest fields of North Dakota. Many members of the Fargo Commercial Club will also go to the fields.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Sept. 25.—For the third week in succession the weather over our prairie provinces and North Dakota and Minnesota has broken into a three days' spell of showers and rainstorms, putting a complete stop to farm work and threshing. A correspondent situated near the centre of the province of Saskatchewan writing to us under date the 21st inst., says: Just as every threshing machine was getting into full swing, after about five days of dry weather, it commenced to rain on Thursday evening and rained all night, and on Friday it was very wet with heavy and light showers all day, and is still at it raining lightly. Everything is soaked. If it should clear up to-day or to-morrow there will be no threshing before Friday or Saturday of next week. Evaporation not so rapid now, short days and cool. Serious check to farmers and transportation companies. The weather did clear up in the west by Sunday and in the east here by Monday. It came much colder with the clearing and brought a slight trace of snow at one or two western and northern points, as the last of the rain passed off. There have been several degrees of frost over night at some westerly points and a few late fields of wheat will have been slightly damaged, and a good deal of late oats and barley which are not cut yet; but we do not look upon the frost damage as likely to cut much figure on this year's crop, it has been so long in coming, and the great bulk of all the grains was so much better grown and matured this year. Along with the colder and clearer weather there has been some good stiff breezes blowing from the north and west, and these have done so much in drying out the stooks that several places report threshing commenced again today. This last storm drifted down into North Dakota and Minnesota and it was very wet in these states on Monday and yesterday, the rain turning to snow in the northern parts of these states. The weather forecast is now fair and cool over all the spring wheat country, and if rain will only keep away, threshing will go ahead and a heavy movement on the railways will follow at once. The weather in Alberta and western Saskatchewan has not been so seriously unfavorable as in eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba and some headway has been made in threshing in the further west, and it has resulted in a fair increase in the number of cars passing Winnipeg. In the last three days 960 cars of wheat have been inspected at Winnipeg. The high average quality of the crop is seen in the grading, as an illustration, yesterday's inspections are as follows, viz.: 3 cars 1 Hd; 217 cars 1 Nor.; 136 cars 2 Nor.; 31 cars 3 Nor.; 5 cars No. 4; 2 cars No. 6; 2 cars Feed; 31 cars No grade; 19 cars Rejected; 4 cars Red Winter, total 450 cars. The no grade cars are all of the higher grades but out of condition, tough or damp, not a large percentage considering the weather, and the anxiety of farmers and threshers to get ahead with the threshing. The 19 cars rejected are all good wheat but have too much admixture of oats, barley or ragweed, etc. The Nos. 4, 6 and Feed are old crop. In regard to the markets, the unsettled weather in America, delay in the movement of our western crop, large export demand from Europe, and very satisfactory demand for flour in all the milling centres in the United States, have all tended to keep the wheat markets firm and steady, amidst the bearish sentiment which undoubtedly prevails in the American speculative markets, and in face of very bearish statistical changes in visible stocks and moving supplies. There has been during the week very narrow fluctuations in prices, until today the outlook seemed to change somewhat and a decline of about 1c. took place in most markets from the closing prices of yesterday, but the only decided change from a week ago is a decline of 3c. in Chicago September wheat. In other markets and months the changes compared with a week ago are irregular, some being ½c. higher and others ½c. to 1c. lower. There seems little doubt that somewhat lower prices will follow should the weather in America and Europe become quite settled and remain dry and favorable for a few weeks, for in that case there would be an immense movement of wheat from first hands, for with favorable weather the movement of wheat eastward over the Canadian and United States spring wheat country would only be limited by the carrying capacity of the railways. Other influences of an easing tendency have also begun to show themselves, such as a lessened demand for export and a slackening of the flour demand in the United States, together with the development of the statistical situation. Last week the United States visible supply increased 3,453,000 bus. against an increase of only 74,000 bus. a year ago. The total U.S. visible is now 30,132,000, bus. against 51,150,000 bus. a year ago, but only four weeks ago the amount was only 18,664,000 bus. against 48,247,000 bus. corresponding date last year, and an increase of only about 3,000,000 bus. last year, whereas the increase this year is about 11,500,000 bus. The world's shipments last week were 14,688,000 bus. against 11,200,000 bus. last year and the total amount on passage is now 39,904,000 bus. against 33,642,000 last year. The European visible supply last week was 74,808,000 bus. against 82,200,000 bus. a year ago but in regard to these figures we would point out that last year the wheat crop in the United Kingdom and western Europe was good in yield, early harvested and in splendid condition so that it moved early and freely. This year conditions are nearly the reverse, for the weather from July to mid September has been disastrously wet this year, so that harvest has been protracted, a good percentage of the crop is spoiled for milling, and comparatively little of it can come to market until the frosty winds put it in condition for threshing. The reports of the growing crops in the Argentine and Australia are favorable. The acreage under wheat in the Argentine is estimated at 5 per cent. larger than last year, and in Australia about the same as last year.

Our Winnipeg market continues to experience a good demand for cash wheat, but trade is quite restricted by the delay in the movement of the new crop. It is giving exporters and others who have engaged to load at Fort William, a good deal of trouble and probably some loss, as they are not prepared with the grain to load. Several vessels have been switched to Duluth and cargoes procured for them there. Up until today comparatively high prices have been paid for wheat past Winnipeg available for immediate loading into boats, but the increased receipts of the last three days and the anticipation that the real crop movement is now about to begin, together with an easing off in export demand, has caused the prices to drop sharply today. Speculative trading in future deliveries is of small volume. To-day's closing cash prices are: 1 Nor. 90½c; 2 Nor. 88½c; 3 Nor. 86½c; Alberta Red Winter No. 1, 90½c; No. 2, 88½c; No. 3, 86½c; Futures closed October 89⅞ ⅞; December, 84⅞c; May, 89⅝c.

Oats—

The oat market is strong and higher caused by lack of supplies and continued good demand from eastern Canada for immediate delivery. Compared with U.S. prices for oats our prices are abnormally high. Owing to the long spell of unfavorable weather new oats will be very late in being threshed and the short sellers for October delivery are in a very unenviable position. To-day's cash prices are 2 Can. West. 46c; 3 C.W., 43c; Ex. 1 Feed, 44c; 1 Fd., 43c; 2 Fd., 40c. Futures closed October 39½c; December, 34½c.

Barley—

There is a better demand for barley and prices are 3c. up on the week. To-day's prices are No. 3 53c; No. 4 47½c; Rejected, 43c; Feed, 43c.

Flax—

The flax market keeps firm with a fair demand. To-day's cash prices are No. 1 North Western Canada, 160c; No. 2 Canada Western, 154c; No. 3 Canada Western, 145c. Futures closed October, 156c; December, 154c.

All prices mentioned above are on basis delivery in store Fort William, Port Arthur and Duluth.

THE HOME RULE BILL

AN EARNEST PLEA IS MADE FOR FULLEST DISCUSSION

Editor of the Manchester Guardian, Although an Ardent Home Ruler, Urges the Government to go Slow, and to be Ready to Offer any Reasonable Compromise.

London.—There is a possibility of the rift between the Government and the Labor party widening.

Ramsay MacDonald has made the pledge that the Labor members would vote against the Government unless votes were granted to women, but it is doubtful if he could carry his party with him.

On Thursday the motion for a location of time for passing the Home Rule Bill will be considered.

The Westminster Gazette's parliamentary correspondent says it is the intention of the Government to pass this bill through the House of Commons before Christmas, and that there is no disposition on the Liberal side to criticize the drastic measures of closure necessary for putting through the debate on the bill.

On the other hand, it is significant that, in a speech at Manchester, C. P. Scott, proprietor of the Manchester Guardian which exerts the most powerful force among British Liberal newspapers, and himself an ardent Home Ruler, made an earnest plea that the Government should go slow and grant the fullest discussion of the bill and be ready to offer any reasonable compromise.

They were threatened, he said, with resistance amounting to civil war.

It was better that the bill be dropped altogether if the Government did not mean to enforce it when it became law.

HORRORS OF CUBAN ASYLUM

Men and Women Patients in Institution in State of Squalor

Havana. — Dreadful conditions among the Cuban insane confined at the National Asylum at Mazorra near this city are disclosed in a report published in El Mundo.

Upwards of 2,000 men and women from all parts of the island are kept in the institution in a state of frightful squalor, and hundreds among them are nearly naked, without beds or chairs, and provided with insufficient food of the poorest quality says the report.

The condition of the women patients is declared to be even worse than that of the men.

All classes of insane people, except the most violent, are said to be herded together in foul courts.

It has long been known that conditions at the hospital were bad, but the real state of affairs was unknown.

At the beginning of the second intervention of Cuba by the United States, the place was found in a similar condition.

After reconstruction by General Wood, it was again reorganized and remodelled at great expense by Col. Greble, of the United States Army, and at the close of the period of intervention it was in all respects a model institution.

Immediately thereafter most of the costly improvements were destroyed, says the report, and the whole institution was allowed to go to complete ruin

Many startling pictures accompanied the report in the newspaper.

RANCH INQUIRY COMMISSION

Newly Appointed Body Will Settle Problem Between Rancher and Homesteader

Winnipeg.—The new ranching investigation commission, instituted by the Dominion Government last month, to which Geo. S. Pope and Clarence F. Graham, of Winnipeg have been appointed commissioners, has commenced preliminary organization and will soon start to put on active work of collecting evidence and data.

The commission has been appointed for the purpose of dealing with the ancient strife between the cattle rancher and the homesteader, a question that has for many years been the most difficult that the United States government has had to deal with in the Western States, and which has proved almost as great a problem in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The commission is expected to give a definite answer to whether grazing lands can continue to be set aside for the sole use of the cattle ranchers in Alberta and Saskatchewan, to the exclusion of homesteaders and set a definite time for the extension of the grazing reserves and of existing grazing leases from the Dominion land department.

G.T.P. INSTAL TELEPHONES

All Dispatching Will be Done in This Way When Road is Equipped

Winnipeg.—Telephones will soon be installed for train dispatching throughout the entire system of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The start for this system was announced recently and the first section to be equipped with telephones will be that between West Fort William and Superior Junction. This is, of course, but a beginning. It will not be long till the whole main line is equipped and as soon as that is done the entire train dispatching of the service will be standardized with latest railway operating installations.

U.S. Ships for Canadian Wheat

Port Arthur, Ont.—American steamboat owners and operators are making inquiries through their agents as to the number of cars of new wheat crop coming into Port Arthur and Fort William terminals, and it is not improbable that there will be a large number of American freighters assigned to the grain carrying traffic between now and the close of navigation.

Birds Invade a Bedroom

London.—Thousands of migratory birds passed over Dover yesterday, flying south, and no lower than sixteen hundred feet. They afterwards found in a bedroom of a house on the sea front, having entered by a half-open window.

U.S. LAND LAWS

Senator Smoot Says Bad Laws One of Reasons for Immigration to Canada

Salt Lake.—United States Senator Smoot attacked the land laws in an address before the International Irrigation Congress.

Ever since 1906 the provision of our land laws have proven exceedingly burdensome, said the Senator. Although these laws are inadequate and work injustice, the administration of the laws is responsible largely for the burden put on the homesteaders. American settlers are emigrating by the thousands to Canada, and this proves that there is something wrong in our laws that should be rectified. The speaker declared congress had awakened to the needs of the settler and that he expected to put a stop to the exodus to Canada.

At the last session of Congress, he continued, more laws were passed liberalizing land laws than all the other congresses during the last ten years. Heretofore regulations have made it almost impossible to obtain homesteads within the forest reserves, but a law passed at the last session of Congress, I believe, will result in turning most of the twenty million acres of forest reserve lands into a agricultural homestead. National reserves should be utilized according to our present needs. I believe to conserve for unborn generations is wrong. Australia, Portugal, Persia, Guatamela, Mexico, and Canada were among the foreign nations represented at the Congress.

Grain Growers' Guide Answers Manufacturers

Winnipeg.—The Grain Growers' Guide has issued the following statement in reply to the offer of the Canadian Manufacturers association for a conference with the farmers on closer trade relations with Great Britain. The western grain growers have repeatedly declared for an increase in the British preference and eventual free trade with the motherland. If the Canadian Manufacturers association is prepared to assist the grain growers towards this end there is no doubt but that the grain growers will be glad of the assistance of the manufacturers as they realize that the manufacturers have great influence in tariff making. Free trade with the motherland would reduce the cost of living to every Canadian and bind closer the greatest overseas dominion with Great Britain.

Every loyal Canadian will be glad to know that the manufacturers association is not opposed to lower taxes on British imports. If the manufacturers association is prepared for a conference with the producers to assist in securing free trade with Great Britain in ten years, it will be a welcome message to every western grain grower.

Decrease in Homestead Entries

Ottawa.—Canada's remaining homestead lands in the west have begun to show evidence of depletion in regard to their availability and attractiveness for new settlers. The settlers now going in, though even more numerous than last year, are taking up in the aggregate more of the land by purchase than by homesteading. The most accessible free land districts were taken up by the rush of homesteaders during the past decade. For the first seven months of the year the number of homestead entries made in the western provinces has totalled 22,707 a decrease of 1,245 as compared with the first seven months of last year. Homestead entries in Manitoba for the seven months totalled 1,848, an increase of 309. In Saskatchewan, the entries for the seven months totalled 11,699, a increase of 1,246. In Alberta the total this year was 8,874, a decrease of 307. British Columbia homesteads taken up during the seven months totalled only 180.

New Wireless Rates for Canada

Ottawa.—Negotiations have been proceeding between the naval service department and the telegraph companies with the result that the rates for wireless messages which were decided upon last July at the International Wireless Congress held in London, will go into effect on November 1, next, instead of July 1, 1913. It was decided at the congress that they would only be available from the date of the signing of the agreement, but this has been waived and negotiations with the telegraph companies have been so satisfactory that Canada will benefit from November 1. Among the new rate adoptions will be the sliding scale from Belle Isle to Montreal, and the 40 cent rate for a wireless between land and ship will be reduced to 25 cents a word. There will also be a general use of the cable count on ten-word messages.

Manitoba to Mexico Road is Being Projected

Bemidji, Minn.—In a bulletin just issued by J. M. Wiley on the construction of a Canada to the sea railroad to be known as the Mexican Gulf and Manitoba, shows that the report that surveys actually are under way was correct.

Beginning at Baton Rouge the line is to come directly north striking Minnesota at Leroy, continuing to Minneapolis, then north to Princeton, Brainerd and Grand Rapids, Mallard, Alida, Bagley, Clearbrook and on to Winnipeg

It is believed that the surveying parties now at work in this stretch of the proposed line are working in harmony with the Minneapolis and St. Louis, which road it is believed will begin actual construction to the border line within the next few months.

Queen Victoria's Diary

London.—The diary of Queen Victoria, from the age of 13 until her marriage, will be published in November by John Murray, who says:

This diary will reveal the intimate domestic side of the Queen's life when a girl.

Exceedingly interesting are the records of her conversations with Lord Melbourne, who gave the Queen her first lesson in statesmanship.

The book will also contain sketches drawn by the Queen when a girl of well known people of that time. The diary has been edited by Lord Esher.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON II.—FOURTH QUARTER FOR OCT. 13, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Mark vii, 1-13. Memory Verses, 5, 6—Golden Text, Rom. xiv, 17.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Taking up the incidents between the last lesson and this one we note that because they did not consider His wonrous works, such as the feeding of the thousands, they were amazed at His stilling the storm and walking on the sea. That was Israel's trouble all through, and it is ours; we do not consider, or if we do it is ourselves or our circumstances or people and not Him who should occupy all our thoughts (vs. 52, Heb. iii, 1; xii, 3). In chap. vi. 53-56, what a multitude of sick folks gather unto Him, see the streets in the villages filled with them, all hoping that He would pass near enough for them to touch the border of His garment; how beautiful to read that "as many as touched Him were made whole.

Then follows the great discourse on the bread of life, the bread which came down from Heaven, even Himself; and His reply to the question, "What shall we do that we might work the works of God?" In considering His reply remember that believing means receiving (John i, 12) or committing oneself unto Him (John ii, 24). I am continually helped by John vi, 57, "As the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father, so he that eateth Me even he shall live by Me." Also verse 63, The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life." To many even among true believers, He and His words are still hidden manna of which they have not yet tasted the sweetness or having no spiritual appetite they loathe the heavenly food. They have life, having Him, but not abundant life.

There were many in His day, as there were also in the days of the prophets and as there are in our own time, whose religion is wholly outward, simply a matter of externals, of outward forms and ceremonies—they are referred to in verse 6 of our lesson in quotation form Isaiah. Let us hear two quotations from the prophets concerning them. "This people draw near Me with their mouth and with their lips do honor me, but have removed their heart far from Me, and their fear toward Me is taught by the precept of men." "They come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them, for with their mouth they slew much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness" (Isa. xxix, 13; Ezek. xxxiii, 31). In addition to what our Lord said about them in this lesson He said elsewhere. "All their works they do for to be seen of men." "Ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within are full of extortion and excess." "Ye outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within are full of hypocrisy and iniquity" (Matt. xxiii, 5, 25-28). These are the men who, in the lesson for today, find fault with Christ and His disciples for not practicing the many outward washings of their religion. There are multitudes of such formalists still who are very religious, but it is all outward, and they know not the true God, who searcheth hearts (1 Sam. xvi, 7; I Chron. xxviii, 9; Jer. xvii, 10; Rev. ii, 23). In II Tim. iii, 1-5, we read that the end of this age will be characterized by a form of godliness without any power, and truly it is already visible enough and tending to a greater manifestation of the same.

Inasmuch as it was foretold that it would be so, we are not surprised at it, and rejoice that He cannot fail nor be discouraged (Isa. xiii, 4), but the question may well search us. Am I real in my life, living before God rather than men and studying to shew myself approved unto God (II Tim. ii, 15; 11 Cor. v, 9). Our Lord desires a holy people, a people meet for his use (1 Peter, i, 15, 16; II Tim. ii, 21), but the cleansing must be inward, by His spirit and His word applying the blood (Ps. ii, 10; Rom. xii, 2; John xvii, 17; Eph. v, 25, 26). This matter of defilement by unwashed hands is briefly and decidedly disposed of by our Lord in these words, "To eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man" (Matt. xv, 20). In Matt. xv, 11, and verse 15, of our lesson we learn that what cometh out of the mouth, not that which goeth into the mouth, defileth a person, for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh, and out of the evil heart proceedeth all evil deeds and words (vs. 20-23; Matt. xii, 34).

No mere outward religion is of any eternal value, but may be of some benefit as far as this present world is concerned. The great cry of today about the uplift of the race, the Christianizing of nations, making an end of war, etc., is all from the proud, foolish heart of man, without any reference to the great Prince of Peace, who alone can bring peace. All here human effort as well as all people who are not God's planting must be rooted up, overthrown, broken to pieces, and He who created all things by His word shall bring peace on earth by His word. He will speak peace. His word will do it, as it will also slay the wicked (Ps. lxxxv, 8; xlvi, 9; Isa. xi, 4). Only by his word and His spirit revealing Himself can He give peace to any individual, but to any one thus receiving Him He becomes peace indeed, life indeed, eternal redemption.
