CRESTON EXHIBIT ATTRACTS CROWD

BEST GENERAL EXHIBIT FROM B. C.

Committee Could Have Sold Car-Loads of Apples

"No, Creston did not get the district prize but her exhibit most certainly attracted the attention of the crowds at the Dry Farming Exposition" said C. O. Rodgers yesterday when he returned from Lethbridge where the Dry Farming Congress and Exposition is being held. H. S. McCreath also returned from Lethbridge yesterday and both he and Mr. Rodgers tell of the many compliments Creston received for her exhibit.

Saskatchewan won the blue ribbon prize of the exposition, the shield presented by the bankers of Lethbridge valued at $650; the Spokane Chamber of Commerce won the district prize (the only prize for which Creston competed), a fine silver cup.

Mr. Rodgers said that the people here did not realize what they were up against when they entered the district competition. Spokane had in her exhibit minerals and various specimens of wood, besides the large samples of grains, fruits and vegetables, probably acquired from all over the state of Washington and part of Idaho. Many of the other exhibits cost thousands of dollars. Yet in spite of this Creston's exhibit with its boat made of apples, arranged by Harry Leonard, and with its display of richly colored fruit, and fine vegetables, grains and grasses, attracted the attention of thousands, and left an impression which will spread Creston's name abroad.

Creston undoubtedly had the best general exhibit in the British Columbia building. This was admitted by prominent people of Nelson which carried off a special prize, and by the officials in the Departments of Agriculture of the various provinces. The Board of Trade had also secured a very favorable situation for the display in the booth at the entrance of the building which had to be passed by all going in. It is rumored that the prize obtained by Nelson was given by a citizen of Nelson and that it did not pass through the hands of the directors of the Exposition at all.

Creston's exhibit is now to go to Chicago although it was thought at first that part of it would be used at the Spokane Apple Show which is to be held during the first of next month. Owing to the quality of the apples and other things exhibited, it was almost demanded by the Minister of Agriculture the exhibit go to Chicago as a representation of British Columbia produce. However this will be a good thing for Creston as her name will go with the exhibit.

Mr. Rodgers said that Creston could not have chosen better men to handle her exhibit. He said that the committee, composed of W. K. Brown, Walter Jackson and James Compton, is doing splendid work. They are on the job all of the time, giving out the circulars on this district and telling of its resources. Part of the time while there Mr. Rodgers assisted the committee. A large number of boxes of apples were sent to Lethbridge for free distribution to interested parties. At first the committee gave out whole apples but the demand grew so rapidly that they were forced to quarter them. A rumor spread through the crowd at the Exposition that Creston gave away three carloads of apples in one one day.

The Prairie people seemed to almost rave over the apples. They continually asked the committee why they could not buy such apples there and had a representative of Creston Fruit Growers Union been there to take orders he could have sold all he could supply. People offered big prices for the boxes on display.

Taking all into consideration, although Creston did not win a prize which she could easily have done had she entered for competition some of the things which were sent down but, which were used in her own exhibit, (her swede turnip and many other things were larger and better than those taking the prizes), the move in sending the display was a decided success from a publicity point of view, and as both Mr. Rodgers and Mr. McCreath put it, "It was the best advertisement that Creston has ever had."

The English billiard game, played in W. H. Johnson's new billiard hall last Saturday between Mr. Johnson and W. G. Thompson of Cranbrook for a purse of $50 was easily won by 38 points by Mr. Johnson in spite of the handicap of 100 in favor of his opponent, out of 600 points, 600 being the game. The game was interesting because the men were playing an even game without the handicap until about 300 points were scored on both sides, although there were few brilliant plays or long runs made. Mr. Johnson then with the three longest runs made in the evening, 19, 24 and 27 points, forged to the front and in the last hundred took the lead. Mr. Johnson mainly potted the ball or used the in-off, while his opponent played a fairly strong game of billiards. Mr. Johnson, although an easy winner usually plays a much better game and his failure to keep up to his standard was probably because he had the responsibility of the order of the house on his mind.

Obituary—Howarth

There passed away in our community on Monday, Oct. 21st, Mr. J. H. Howarth, who for the past three and a half years has been engaged in the Jewelry business in Creston. He was born in Lancashire, Eng., in the year 1830. He came to Canada in 1854 settling for a time in St. Johns, N. B. Leaving there a few years later he started business in Pembroke, Ont., where he married in 1895, Matilda Morrison. He was also in business in Perth, Ont., for a number of years but went back to Pembroke, again from which place he came West and since then has been in business in Kamloops, B. C., Slocan, B. C., Nelson Alberni, B. C., and latterly Creston. In all places he has been held in the highest respect for his sound principles and honesty.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and six children, James Howarth of Kamloops, B. C., Wm. Howarth of Anaconda, Montana, T. E. Howarth of Weyburn, Sask., with whom Mrs. J. H. Howarth resides; Mrs. J. E. Tatterall, Slocan, B. C., Mrs. O. H. Sanderson of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Miss Howarth, who was living with her father since he has been here.

The pall bearers were, Messrs F. Rose W. Watcher, G. Cowan, J. Blinco, O. P. Wisler and G. M. Gunn. The Rev. P. C. Heyman, conducted the funeral services.

Farmers Institute Adopts Resolutions

A number of important resolutions were passed at the regular meeting of the Farmers Institute last Friday night. A resolution was drafted endorsing a move of the government in making cheap loans to the farmers, and another requested that the government do not give a bounty on iron and steel and that a duty be not levied against wire for the manufacture of fencing which now comes in free. A resolution asking that something be done to enforce the Noxious Weed Act which does not seem to have the desired effect in the Kootenay valley. After the business meeting was over T. M. Edmonson took the floor explaining the value of a municipality.

CALGARY HERALD LAUDS CRESTON

LIKENS VALLEY TO GARDEN OF EDEN

Representative of Paper Visits This District Then Writes of It

In the issue of the Calgary Herald of October 5, there appeared an article so well written and so laudatory of this district that we decided reprint the same to show our readers the impression which the Creston valley gives to strangers. The article is written by a representative of the Herald, who spent several days in the district. There were write-ups also of Nakusp and Windermere but they were very brief so it is evident that Creston stands highest in the mind of the writer. The article follows.

When the calender of time gives way to the millenium be not surprised to learn that here, in the nook of the mountains, was the original homestead alloted to those common forebears of mankind, the historical and Biblical Adam and Eve.

What greater claim could ancient Egypt or southern Europe have had upon the fancies of mankind when he was looking for a location for his first home? Verily this is the Garden of Eden of the past, present and future!

According to the geographer, 40,000 acres of superb fruit growing land constitute that section of the map of south eastern British Columbia, which is known as the Creston district. As far as it goes, no one can contest the veracity of the geographer's statement. But it is grossly inadequate! Who, reading from it, could tell that here lies one of the most beautiful of fertile valleys that rest upon the bosom of the continent?

Bisected by navigable waters in which course the finest fish of inland streams walled in by the great mountains so heavily timbered, adjacent to lakes of wondrous beauty and favored with soil and climatic conditions which are approached in few other regions—such is Creston Valley!

Under the new order of things that has taken hold of the prolific lands of eastern British Columbia, Creston is pre-eminently a fruit producing country. Ten years ago there was probably not an orchard in the entire length and breath of this, the largest area of arable land in British Columbia. Today, within a couple of miles of the last important centre on the Crow's Nest line of the C. P. R., upwards of 1,000 people are being supported in comfort—many in affluence—on the products of the soil. Hundreds of tracts of land that quite recently were buried under heavy timber are now the sites of bearing orchards and of embryo orchards. It is a new country with the soil of progress assuredly set upon it and with a future that only an elastic mind can conjecture.

Beyond natural beauty, climate and soil there is another mighty factor which is now asserting itself in the making of Creston district. Creston is the farthest east valley in the west Kootenay, where ideal fruit is grown. It is south and

You don't say that when you buy a diamond ring worth ten pounds and pay thirty for it. I sell you money that's all, I sell it you cheap. I'm charging you nothing for the information I've just given you. He moved towards the door. I'll write you out a cheque; you can tear up the old note and sign the new one at once.

Scribner stopped him. I suppose he said with an assumed laugh, when I announce that I am engaged to be married—

And the marriage settlement is signed.

You will be good for ten or twenty thousand pounds, eh Roberts? The moneylender nodded, he waited with his hand on the handle of the door.

Who's going to stop Francks' wedding? Scribner whispered. Not you?

You mustn't ask me that, Sr. Scribner, Roberts said softly. But surely you know that old Samuel Saintsbury is very keen to have Mr. Francks as a son-in-law? His only daughter is getting on in years now; still she ain't bad-looking. I suppose you know that, when he was seventeen, Mr. Scribner was articled to Mr. Saintsbury? The law wasn't his line, and so he ran away.

But—

When the Honourable Fred Scribner stepped into the sunshine of Bond Street again there was a cheque for a thousand pounds in the breast pocket of his coat, and Mr. Roberts was locking up in the safe a promissory note for three thousand pounds.

CHAPTER II.

Well, you are satisfied?

Jim Francks was standing in the drawing-room of his flat in Mayfair. It hardly resembled the flat of a bachelor; it was furnished simply but with exquisite taste; the furniture was covered in chintz, chintz curtains hung upon the window. The carpet was purple, the wall-paper green; the few pictures water-colors, bought for their beauty, not for their signatures. There was a profusion of flowers, but the only photograph in the room was the photograph of the woman he loved. It stood in a plain, silver frame beside a large bowl of roses, and Jim held the woman herself in his arms.

You are satisfied? he whispered again, as he pressed his lips to hers.

How can I answer—you've robbed me of my last breath.

It's good to be a robber, he smiled.

It's good to be loved, she said laying her cheek against his. Satisfied? Oh, my dear, it all seems too good to be true. I get dreadful little spasms of fear every now and then, almost of terror. The two days that must elapse before I'm your wife will seem like two years. It seems impossible that mere men and women were meant to be as happy as we are.

Jim laughed and again held her in his arms. Twenty years ago I set out in search of happiness, the Never-Never Land. I ran away from the stuffy office where legal red tape was strangling me; I was only a kid, but I swore to find E Dorado. Even then I knew the first step towards it was money, that meant freedom. I never looked back, Iris;! I fought, I won my way step by step, and the first thing I got was freedom, and that was splendid, and then I made money, that was good too. And then a miracle happened. By jove, it happened just in time. I almost fancied myself in love with the wrong woman, but I met you. We did not know each other, we hadn't been introduced. The moment our eyes met we knew, didn't we?

She nodded, and ran her fingers through his short crisp hair.

Well, he continued, I found money and I found freedom, but the greatest thing in the world was love. No one can rob us of that, dear; you have nothing to fear. In about forty-eight hours you'l belong to me and away we go, far away alone together. Lord it's wonderful.

She gave him her lips again. My man, she whispered. I haven't a care in the world now. Mother's so happy, even Reuben, poor little Reuben understands. How good you've been to us all, Jim.

You wait, he said softly. I've got an idea I can cure Reuben—by jove we've left the poor beggar waiting outside in the car. I suppose I musn't keep you any longer, but I shan't see you again until—the day.

Take care of yourself, she whispered, if anything should happen—

You silly child, he laughed, kissing away her fears

They had spent the day motoring down to the Grange, a large old fashioned house Francks had bought about forty miles away from London on the North Western line. It was to be their home, and they had spent the last six months in furnishing it and laying out the grounds.

It does seem a deuce of a time to wait until Friday, Francks confessed, still keeping her prisoner. I think I must see you to-morrow, Iris. Why on earth shouldn't I?

We're very silly she smiled, but I should feel happier—

There was a knock at the drawing-room door. Francks' man servant was discreet. Can I speak to you a moment, sir?

Francks stood with his back to the window. Yes, go ahead.

The man cleared his throat a little awkwardly, and glanced at Iris and waited.

What is it? Francks asked impatiently.

You're wanted a minute, please sir.

Good Lord, Francks laughed, it sounds as if I were a ticket-of-leave man with the police after me. Out with it, Burnby who on earth wants me? I told you I was engaged.

I know, sir, the man coughed apologetically, it's some mistake, perhaps. If you'll come into the hall a minute—

Francks shrugged his shoulders, stretched out his hand, took Iris's for a moment. Forgive me, dear, a builder or paper-hanger or some such idiot.

He left the room with the servant, closing the door behind him. Who the deuce is it, Burnby? he cried impatiently Why the deuce didn't you send him away. I told you—

He stopped as he saw a police constable standing just inside the door.

The man saluted, then took a slip of paper from the breast of his tunic and handed it to Francks.

What on earth's this? He opened it, read it through, looked at the constable with a puzzled frown. I don't understand.

The man passed his hand across his mouth. He was far more perturbed than Francks. A summons, sir, he said huskily. It ought to have been served before. There was some mistake, we tried to find you at Amersham.

Amersham — a summons! Jim Francks laughed, unfolded the paper and read it again; then a frown knit his brows, very slowly the expression on his face changed. He read the slip of paper over three times.

To appear at Glass Street Police Court on Thursday the fifteenth. There is some mistake. What the devil does it mean? His good humor had vanished, he spoke angrily. This is some trick, some joke.

The constable fumbled with the handle of the door. It ain't any joke, sir. You'll just have to put in an appearance, that's all. Good morning, sir.

He let himself out of the flat quickly with a sigh of relief. Francks did not see him go, he was staring at the blue paper in his hand, reading it over for the fourth time. There was no mistake, it was a summons to appear at Glass Street Police Court on his wedding day.

His wedding day! He laughed, then checked himself quickly. It was no laughing matter. The charge was a serious one.

Of course it was a mistake. It could not be a trick, there was no one who would play such a foolish one on him. A long time passed, and he stood quite still in the hall, looking at the strip of blue paper. Almost unconsciously, automatically, memory was carrying him back, he was searching the past.

Considerate Judge

Judges were very considerate in the old days. Lord Brampton in his Reminiscences, relates a story illustrating this.

Baron Martin, a famous English jurist of the old school, whose native leniency and sense of fun often placed him at the mercy of the very men he was trying, was once about to sentence an old offender charged with a petty theft.

Look, said the Baron, with an assumption of severity; I hardly know what to do, but you can take six months.

I can't take that, my lord, it's too much, said the prisoner respectfully but firmly. I can't take it. Your lordship sees I didn't steal very much after all.

The Baron indulged in one of his low, chuckling laughs before replying.

Well, that's verra true; ye didn't steal much he said. Well then, ye can tak' four months. Will that do—four months?

Nay, my lord but I can't take that either, was the reply.

Then tak' three.

That's nearer the mark my lord, the prisoner said, approvingly. But I'd rather you made it two, if you will be so kind.

Verra weil, then, tak' two, said the judge with the air of one who is pleased to have done the right thing at last. And mind, don't come again. If ye do, I'll give ye—well, it all depends!

Truly British

Perhaps few stories of battles so thoroughly illustrate the true British spirit and way of doing things as the little incident of a reconnaissance before the Battle of Ulundi, of which Lord William Beresford was the hero.

The British were almost led into a terrible trap, and discovered the danger only just in time. They turned to retreat, and the Zulus poured in a volley which brought down the grey horse of a mounted infantryman. His rider fell head foremost. The rest thought both man and horse were killed at first, but the former soon struggled to his feet, with his face covered with blood and dazed with his fall.

Lord William Beresford, seeing what had happened, pulled up, and in the face of advancing hosts of yelling savages, within easy range, quietly trotted back and told the man to mount behind him.

With a cool courage scarcely second to Lord William's the man refused, noble fellow that he was, preferring the certain sacrifice of his own life to the probability of destroying his preserver.

The reply was admirable, terse, and telling. The savages swarmed closer and closer, bullets rattled around them; the two who lingered were almost within reach of the assegais, and Lord William said:

Get up or I'll punch your head!

The man obeyed and rescuer and rescued escaped.

A DOCTOR'S TRIALS

He Sometimes Gets Sick Like Other People

Even doing good to people is hard work if you have too much of it to do.

An overworked doctor tell his experience:

"About three years ago as the result of doing two men's work, attending a large practice and looking after the details of another business, my health broke down completely, and I was little better than a physical wreck.

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation, loss of weight and appetite, bloating and pain after meals, loss of memory and lack of nerve force for continued mental application.

"I became irritable, easily angered and despondent without cause. The heart's action became irregular and weak, with frequent attacks of palpitation during the first hour or two after retiring.

"Some Grape-Nuts and cut bananas came for my lunch one day and pleased me particularly with the result. I got more satisfaction from it than from anything I had eaten for months, and on further investigation and use, adopted Grape-Nuts for my morning and evening meals, served usually with cream and a sprinkle of salt or sugar.

"My improvement was rapid and permanent, in weight as well as in physical and mental endurance. In a word, I am filled with the joy of living again, and continue the daily use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and often for the evening meal."

"The little pamphlet, 'The Road to Wellville,' found in pkgs., is invariably saved and handed to some needy patient along with the dilicated remedy."

"There's a reason."

To Lure the Cat

I was coming home rather late from the theatre the other night says Robing Goodfellow, and as I was quiet as I walked down beneath the trees in our modest surburban road. Then, quite suddenly, I came upon a romantic little scene in the front garden of one of the most respectable of the villas.

Beneath two tall trees a fire of sticks had been lighted, and over it bent the shivering forms of two young ladies in evening dress. I noticed to my surprise, that one of the ladies had a frying pan in her hands, and an appetising smell of bacon rose into the air. I wondered whether these two products of city civilisation were playing at the simple life; but the next day I found the incident had a more prosaic explanation.

The favorite Persian cat had been missed during the evening, and at length had been located in the upper boughs of one of the trees. All blandishments failed to persuade her to come down, and yet her owners refused to lock her out for the night. At last they remembered that she would always make her way into the kitchen in the morning and sit sniffing at the frizzling bacon, and they decided to fry some bacon at the bottom of the tree to attract her.

After half an hour over the fire the ruse succeeded at the cost of two bad colds.

Very Considerate

Well, said the superior person, that seems to be the general impression that prevails among the masses.

I'll have you understand, sir, that I am not one of the masses.

I know that, yawned the self-satisfied one, getting up. I prefixed the 'm' merely out of consideration for your feelings.

BABY'S BEST FRIEND

Baby's Own Tablets are baby's best friend and the mother's greatest aid. They cure constipation, simple fevers, break up colds, expel worms and regulate the stomach and bowels. Concerning them Mrs. Napoleon Pelletier, St. Marcel, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and simple fever for both my little girl of three years and my boy of four months and have found them entirely satisfactory and always keep them in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Here Willie, cried the boy's father, everybody will be calling you a little glutton. Do you know what that is?

I suppose, replied Willie, it's a big glutton's little boy.

That's arrant nonsense, said Mr. Henpeck, about there always being room at the top.

Oh, his wife sarcastically replied, when were you up there to see?

No More Asthma. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy sounds the death knell of this trying trouble. It stops the awful choking and painful breathing. It guards against night attacks and gives renewed ability to sleep and rest the whole night long. Much is claimed for this remedy, but nothing but what can be demonstrated by a trial. If you suffer from asthma try it and convince yourself of its great value.

It was simply a question of veracity between us, said the oldest inhabitant. He said I was a liar, and I said he was one.

Humph! rejoined the village postmaster. That's the first time I ever heard either of you telling the truth.

Do you think it is possible to make an airship absolutely safe?

Sure, replied the mechanician.

How?

Disable it before it gets a chance to leave the ground.

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now, however, the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to ensure car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded, whether with grain, coal, lumber, or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

Eczema 25 Years Cured by "Cuticura"

Mme. J. B. Renaud Montreal

Leg Like Raw Flesh from Knee Down

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, 'Try them, if you like but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeled from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches.

"I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuticura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. [illegible] Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuticura wrought and I always recommend it most highly as a sure and economical cure for skin troubles." (Signed) Mme. J. B. None of His Business

A surgeon describes a remarkable case of a patient's confidence in his medical advisor.

When I was a student in London I had an Irish patient with a broken leg. When the plaster bandage was removed and a lighter one put in its place, I noticed that one of the pins went in with great difficulty, and I could not understand it. A week afterwards, on removing the pin I found it had stuck hard and fast and I was forced to remove it with the forceps. What was my astonishment in making an examination, to find that the pin had been run through the skin twice, instead of through the cloth.

Why Pat, said I, didn't you know that pin was sticking in you?

To be sure O! did, replied Pat. But I thought your honor knowed your business, so O! hilt me tongue.

Tommy—Can you eat nuts, grandma?

Grandma Oh, dear, no. I haven't any teeth.

Tommy Well look after these till I come back from school.

Customer—That coat I bought of you yesterday is full of moths.

Dealer—Well, what do you expect for 50 cents—butterflies.

Doesn't your choir sing at the price on any more?

No; several of the prisoners objected on the ground that it wasn't included in their sentences.

Miss Pasay—You may sneer at pet dogs, but they're faithful, anyway. I'd rather kiss a good dog than some men.

My Kingdom

Down by the shining water well
I found a very little dell,
No higher than my head.
The heather and the gorse about
In summer bloom were coming out,
Some yellow and some red.

I called the little pool a sea;
The little hills were big to me;
I made a boat,
For I am very small.
I made a boat, I made a town,
I searched the caverns up and down,
And named them one and all.
And all about was mine, I said,
The little sparrows overhead,
The little minnows, too.
This was the world, and I was king,
For me the bees came by to sing,
For me the swallows flew.

I played there were no deeper seas,
Nor any wider plains than these,
Nor other kings than me.
At last I heard my mother call
Out from the house at eventfall,
To call me home to tea.

And I must rise and leave my dell,
And leave my dimpled water well,
And leave my heather blooms.
Alas, and as my home I neared,
How very big my nurse appeared,
How great and cool the rooms!

SUCCESS OF WINNIPEG PERMANENT EXPOSITION

Industrial Bureau's Big Display of Industries and Natural Resources Attracts Thousands

Community advertising has been adopted so generally throughout West-Canada, that the subject is one of general importance, and methods successfully carried to completion are of absorbing interest to many Western Canadians.

No other city on the American Continent has a finer or better equipped permanent exposition, featuring industries and the Natural Resources of the country, than has the city of Winnipeg. This big permanent and free exposition, conducted under the auspices of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau, was started last Spring and during the past six months, Commissioner Chas. F. Roland estimates, has been visited by 700,000 people. In addition to the fifty-four exhibitors of local industries, there are now 24 districts of the West, which have secured space and are advertising their communities in this exposition. The places represented at the present time in this handsome and conspicuous edifice on Main Street, are:—Brandon, Man.; Portage la Prairie, Man.; Regina, Sask.; Saltcoats, Sask.; Dauphin, Man.; Melfort, Sask.; Souris, Man.; Yorkton, Sask.; Melita, Man.; Prince Albert, Sask.; Emerson, Man.; Oak Lake, Man.; Camrose, Alta.; Selkirk, Man.; Moose Jaw, Sask.; Birtle, Man.; Lemberg, Sask.; Virden, Man.; Lacombe, Alta.; Swan River Valley, Man.; Vermillion, Alberta.; Swift Current, Sask.; Estevan, Sask., and Battleford, Sask. In addition to these there are handsome and costly exhibits of the Natural Resources of the West, by the Dominion and Manitoba Provincial Governments and the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern railways.

With this splendid representation of farm, forest and mine of the Canadian West, arranged in attractive form in easily accessible and central position in the metropolis of the prairies, its value as a factor in the settlement of the country cannot well be over estimated, and so popular has the Exposition become as an adjunct to local methods of publicity, that the Industrial Bureau are now completing extensive additions to the floor space. This will accommodate a number of exhibits of "Made in Winnipeg" goods and will provide another opportunity for a limited number of ambitious communities to secure space.

In Winnipeg, the gateway city of the West, all the year round will be found visitors from all parts of the World, in search of opportunity in the many attractive forms this land of promise presents. In the permanent exposition that city has exactly what it needed to arrest the immediate attention of the stranger. Indeed this "temple of opportunities" as it has been called, is usually one of the first places the sightseer visits in Winnipeg. Here the visitor may catch, almost at a glance, a good idea of the sort of city Winnipeg is, and what sort of country lies between the capital of Manitoba and the Rocky Mountains. Here he will obtain information, maps, photographs and actual products of the soil of the district in which he is interested, perhaps thousands of miles away. Specific information may be obtained on enquiry, and the railways represented will show how the district may be reached or a tour of inspection conducted in, the best possible way. If such a visitor is interested along industrial lines he has before him ocular demonstrations of what is being done locally and will be told of opportunities offered in his particular line. This sort of investigation, which previously might have taken days, can be conducted with the aid of the Bureau's Exposition and staff in a few hours, and reliable information secured regarding sources of supply and raw material, transportation facilities, freight rates, trade possibilities, and in short all manner of information pertinent to his enquiry, under one roof and obtainable without effort on his part.

Of course the building has other uses, combining instructive displays of "Made-in-Winnipeg" goods, museum and art section and numerous meeting places, including a large Convention Hall capable of accommodating 4500 people and other features of local interest, and it is indeed, becoming the public forum and centre of civic life in Winnipeg.

Here, visitors from Western Canadian points are also made welcome, for it is the belief of the Winnipeg Industrial Bureau that the development and progress of Winnipeg are closely identified with that of the great agricultural West.

New Trans-Pacific Steamships

All Trans-Pacific records are expected to be broken when the Canadian Pacific Railway puts into service its two new steamships, the Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia. The Empress of Russia was launched a couple of weeks ago at the yards of the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company at Glasgow, Scotland, and as a result, will be the first of the two new vessels to feel the swells of the Pacific. In the meantime, while the vessel is being completed, much discussion is heard among traffic men as to just what effect the new boats will have on Trans-Pacific shipping. Canadian Pacific officials themselves believe that the introduction of the new boats into the service between Canada and the Orient will mark a new epoch in traffic on the Pacific. Certain it is, however, that whatever other results are felt, all present records for fast voyages between Canada and Japan and China will be considerably lowered. The Empress of Japan at present holds the record for the fastest voyage the Pacific, having made the distance between Vancouver and Yokohoma in 10 days, 10 hours, and 4 minutes, and between Vancouver and Hong Kong in 17 days, 10 hours and 16 minutes, inclusive of stops. The Japan however, has only a contracted speed of 18 knots on the measured mile and 16 knots on a sea trip, while the new Empress steamers are designed for a speed of 20 knots per hour. This great advantage in speed will undoubtedly mean a big reduction in the duration of a Trans-Pacific voyage, and in fact, some shipping men are of the opinion that the Empress of Russia will cut almost 24 hours off the Empress of Japan, Vancouver-Yokohoma.

ONLY ONE WAY TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It Must Be Treated Through the Blood and the Poisonous Acid Driven Out

The twinges and tortures of rheumatism are not due to cold, damp weather as so many persons suppose. Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood. This is a medical truth which every sufferer should realize. There is only one way to cure rheumatism—it must be treated through the blood. All the liniments and rubbing and so-called electric treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism, and the sufferer who tries them is not only wasting money, but is allowing the trouble to become more deep-rooted in the system and harder to cure when the proper remedy is tried. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the new, rich blood of health, and in this way drive out the poisonous acid which causes rheumatism. Thousands of instances of cures might be given, among which is the following one. Mrs. G. R. Dulmage, Cherry Valley, Ont., says: "I was attacked with rheumatism which gradually grew worse, until I was confined to my bed. For about two weeks I had to be shifted and turned in bed as I was utterly unable to help myself. I was under the doctor's care and so far recovered that I was able to get up and move about, but the trouble still remained in my system. If I put my hands in cold water, or if I went out in the evening or in damp weather the trouble would return, and for four years I thus suffered from rheumatism, until I began to think it could not be driven from my system. Finally I gave up all other medicine and began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using them for a couple of months I was completely cured and have not had a twinge of rheumatism since. I can recommend the Pills to anyone suffering from this trouble."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Will you be one of the 108 farmers who will receive our Prize Contest checks?

THERE will be twelve cash prizes in each of the nine provinces (108 in all) in the 1912 Prize Contest for Canadian Farmers. The 1911 Contest was so successful in awakening interest in the use of Concrete on the farm, that a second contest, in which three times as many prizes are offered, was decided upon for this year.

The Contest this year is divided into three classes, "A," "B" and "C," and there will be four prizes in each class. (First prize, $50; Second prize, $25; Third prize, $15; Fourth prize, $10.)

Thus there are three $50 Prizes, three $25 Prizes, three $15 prizes, and three $10 Prizes, for each province.

DESCRIPTION OF CLASSES

In Each Class there will be First, Second, Third and Fourth Prizes ($50, $25, $15, and $10) for Each Province.

CLASS "A"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who use most "Canada" Cement on their farms in the year 1912.

CLASS "B"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send photographs of the best concrete work done with "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912.

CLASS "C"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send in the best description, telling how any piece of concrete work was done with "Canada" Cement. (Entries for this prize must be accompanied by photographs of the work.)

Don't think that you must use a large quantity of cement in order to win a prize. The quantity of cement used does not count in Classes "B" and "C." Many of last year's prize winners used very little cement.

When you enter the Contest, you have a chance to win a cash prize of $50 as well as the certainty that you will add a permanent improvement to your farm. If you haven't a copy, be sure and ask for our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." It will not only suggest many improvements that you can use in entering the Contest, but will tell you all about the use of concrete on the farm.

Just write your name and address on the attached coupon, or use a postal card, and we will send full particulars of the Prize Contest and a copy of "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" to you absolutely free.

WHAT'S AT THE BOTTOM OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

There are many causes at the bottom of an attack of kidney trouble,—over-eating, over-drinking, heavy colds,—these and other causes often cause illnesses such as kidney trouble, gall-stones, kidney-stones, gravel, lumbago. But no matter what is at the bottom of the disease, there is now a sure and safe cure, one that acts quickly and without fail. That remedy is Sanol, which is already well-known to the medical profession of Canada as well as to thousands of sufferers from the disease named above. One Winnipeg lady who is well and widely known, was cured of Gall-stones by SANOL after suffering for 12 years. So grateful was she, that she has sent to us a large number of people to be relieved of similar complaints. We do not care where the reader of this paragraph resides, we can give him or her names and addresses of people in his own town and locality who have been cured by SANOL. We will also give the name and address of the lady referred to, whose complaint had troubled her for such a long period, and who is now completely cured.

SANOL is manufactured only by the SANOL MANUFACTURING COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD., 977 Main Street, Winnipeg. For sale by all druggists or direct from the manufacturers at $1.50 per bottle.

Behind and Before

The patience of the sergeant-major was well nigh exhausted. The recruits in the riding-school were hopeless. It seemed as if none of them had ever had any previous acquaintance with a horse.

One of them seemed, if possible, worse than the rest. He had a persistent habit of turning his head round to have a look at the rear of his fiery steed. The sergeant-major had already remonstrated with him, but to no avail.

Look here, my son, he roared. Have you never seen a horse's tail before?

No, sir, came the smart and prompt reply. I have always seen it behind!

Poor old Jones! He had a windfall last week.

A windfall? Then why do you say poor Jones.

Well, you see, he's an aviator.

They kept it for the sake of the donor—on no other account would it have been given house room. Of course, it was a perfectly respectable bird—occasionally; but on Sunday evenings, when young Mr. Saintly paid his regular visit, it was deemed advisable to cover Polly with a cloth.

Recently, however, Mr. S. took advantage of the half holiday accruing to him through the Shops Act, and made an extra call on the Wednesday. As he was ushered in Miss Mary Goodley dexterously threw the cloth over Polly's cage. Greetings over, there ensued the usual awkward pause, which was broken by a squawk from the covered cage.

Well, I'll be everlastingly blessed, said Polly. This has been a thundering short week!

A good story is told about a certain notorious malefactor, which is calculated to make newspaper reporters uncertain and uneasy as to their ultimate fate.

The criminal had been sentenced to death, and the last penalty of the law was about to be enforced. As he stood on the scaffold while the final arrangements were completed, he shook hands with the governor of the gaol, the chaplain, and even the hangman; but to the newspaper man who was present he simply nodded, nonchalantly, saying:

east of Kootenay lake, and by virtue of this location is some twelve hours closer to the eastern markets than any other district. In fact, most other sections are twenty-four hours later in delivering goods to the big centres of the east. In the handling of perishable fruits it is readily apparent that twenty-four hours is a big margin in time.

Creston town itself is as yet only the business centre for the rich area surrounding it. While not incorporated, many of the homes and business houses in the town and near it have running water from the mountain streams, and a movement is now afoot to seek incorporation and make possible the establishment of a sewerage and water system for everybody. An excellent water power site capable of producing some 3,500 horse power of electrical energy may soon be improved to bring light and power to the section. When these objects are accomplished the district of Creston will be one of the model communities of the Dominion, for the climate and elevation (1,500 feet) are wonderfully conducive to excellent health.

Sages of the fruit lands say that a fruit ranch is what you make of it. Given first class soil and fair weather all else depends upon the rancher. Certain records already established by industrious men would seem to indicate that all things are possible, and the general results establish that fruit farming is a lucrative business. A third class of men who take to fruit growing alter the situation. They are the retired folks; men who have tired of wheat growing on the cold prairies; men from all walks of life who see in the healthy valleys of the west a comfortable resting-place in which to spend advancing years. Many of this class having money, improve it and cultivate it at will.

The rank and file of recent day settlers into this new Eden have come to make the most of opportunity. That they are succeeding is verified by the thousands of acres of land that have been transformed from wilderness into orchards. The growing of large fruits has not attained a position which commands consideration in the world of commerce. Yet there are many ways in which the industrious man and woman can improve idle hours. For a few suggestions along this line a visit to Creston is well worth while.

To plant an orchard and wait idly by until it is ready to produce fruit is a costly procedure. Out this way the folks don't wait. They are alive to the demand for small fruits and vegetables. The same ground that is nurturing incipient fruit-bearing trees is also busy raising bumper crops of tomatoes, onions, celery, corn, potatoes, strawberries and a host of other things that have a ready and remunerative market value.

In the Creston district this year over 150 tons of tomatoes have been grown and marketed at prices averaging 4½ cents a pound for the ripe article and 1½ cents per pound for green. Four thousand plants set out on one acre of land have yielded 15½ tons of ripe and green tomatoes. In four days this same patch yielded 2½ tons of ripe and 5 tons of green tomatoes. Another rancher who improved the non-bearing years with vegetable growing, in one year sold $1,100 worth of cauliflower, cucumbers and ripe and green tomatoes. Of this amount he estimates that $750 was net profit. Another rancher at Erickson, one mile from Creston, took six tons of ripe tomatoes off 2,000 plants this year and will also ship two tons of green ones off the same patch.

A Farmers View of Financing the Farmers

We all know that the power behind the dynamo, which produces the basic substance that goes to feed humanity and maintain activity in all industries is the farmer. The lubrication which in our modern vivilization is required to make this energy carry the heaviest load and the wheels of industry to revolve smoothly is finance, money. Expend or contract the application of this and the pulsation up or down will be felt through our whole national fabric.

Realizing the great advantage attained by having a sufficient supply on hand of this lubrication—money many of our present day noted men have to some extent become what we may term, capital mad, and in the general clamer to posses it have overlooked to apply the required quantity and quality on the bearings of this hush power behind the dynamos—The Farmers—which we recognize as the prime generator of the comodity—Money. It is felt and acknowledged by all, that the products of the farms is not up to the demand or the distribution is falty, hence the fundamental cause for the high cost of living.

To fully realize the difference in the productive ability between two farmers, one with and the other without this comodity—finance—it is essential to have been an observer at close quarter, or better still to have passed through the experience of both.

Such person should be most useful in assisting the government when framing foundation for laws, intended to supply this wants—that of financing the farmers.

As the conditions are different in each of our provinces they should all have a voice in this counsel, so that such laws could be enacted that will operate to serve the tiller of the soil in all our provinces.

Another guide, fully as important is the aquaintance with laws operating in other countries relating to this subject and having proved their merits or demerits and with such a combination of information our government should be able to make laws worthy the imitation by others in financing the farmers.

O. J. Wigen.

The sixth anniversary and Thanksgiving service of the Creston Methodist church will be kept Sunday, Nov. 3 when the Rev. A. E. Smith, B. A., of Nelson will preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Special music is being prepared by the choir for both services. On Monday evening the ladies will serve the hot dinner from 6 to 8 p. m., and an excellent program is under way which is expected to be about the best yet given by local talent. Don't forget the date, Nov. 3 and 4.

Robin Hood Flour Is Different

If, Madam, we could take you right into our Model Bakery at the Mill, where all our tests are made, you would see exactly what we mean when we say, "Robin Hood Flour is Different."

You would see how favorably it compares with other flours in respect to color.

Its superior quality would be plainly visible to you.

You would quicker realize why you are to add more water than usual when using it.

The bigger loaf made by it would lie before you. Seeing it, you would note its closer texture—no waste. Tasting it, you would admire its finer flavor.

In short, you would surely decide that you ought to start using Robin Hood Flour right away.

But, Madam, if you cannot come to our Bakery, we can help you to have better Baking Results of your own.

Use Robin Hood Flour yourself, and prove that what we claim for it is true.

We supply the flour-quality. We give the guarantee. It is up to you to get the benefit.

Have you asked your grocer about our Money-back-guarantee yet?

Women's Franchise

To the Editor of the Creston Review
Sir,

You very kindly published a letter from me a short time ago, and I shall be very grateful if you will again allow me to trespass on your space.

I hoped to hold a Women Suffrage meeting in Creston either last Saturday or one day this week, but the person to whom I wrote about engaging the Hall did not receive my letter and the date consequently had to be postponed until Thursday next, October 31.

Meanwhile may I, for the benefit of those who (I am told) are anxious to know "what it is all about," explain briefly why we want the Vote and why we ought to have it.

We want the Vote for three essential reasons:—

1. Because it involves the recognition of women as human beings.

2. In order that we may play our part adequately in the life of the nation and may secure the direct representation of our point of view (too long ignored) in the control of legislation.

3. To safeguard the interests, social and industrial, of women and children.

We ought to have the Vote for these same reasons, but also because:

1. "Taxation without representation is tyranny," and we pay taxes, yet we are allowed no voice as to the spending of the common funds.

2. "All just government rests on the consent of the governed," yet we have no share in framing the laws we are called upon to obey, nor in choosing the men who are to frame them.

3. The only classes of the community who are deprived of this symbol and privilege of citizenship, the Vote, are convicted criminal, certified lunatics, paupers, children and - - - women so that women are by law classed on a level with the morally depraved, the mentally diseased, the socially unfit, and the physically helpless; and whereas a criminal may reform and so may regain his status of citizenship, a lunatic may recover, a pauper may grow rich, and a boy may become a man, and each then recieves political recognition, yet a woman, even when she is unassailably moral, brilliantly intellectual, a selfsupporting member of the community, and physically sound, is never considered fit to record her point of view as regards the welfare of the state and the race.

4. In view of the rapid influx into this country of a very large foreign elemement from every corner of Europe, there arises an urgent need for an increase in the British-born electorate if this country is to become true to the traditions and ideals which have made our Empire what is today.

5. No human being is good enough or wise enough to be allowed entire control over any other and no class is good or wise enough to have absolute control over any other class, yet we have here the whole of one sex subject to the whole of the other sex, and we are faced with this anomaly, that the ruling sex is not, as one might have supposed, the more moral, the more law-abiding, the more sane half of the nation but it is the very one that contributs the largest percentage of inmates to our prisons and lunatic asylums, the half that drinks the most, swears most and generally gives most trouble to the authorities, it (practically) has the privelege of appointing,-with well-known results.

So that women are living still under a social and legal system which had it origin in the dark ages of savagery and which is responsible for many grievous injustices, from which they suffer primarily but which have their adverse effect also on men.

This is a state of affairs in which no woman with any selfrespect can acquiesc, once she realises the facts, and with which no man, once the truth has been brought to his knowledge, can be content to allow.

On this tour of organisation, I have found the feeling throughout the country quite extraordinarily unanimous in favor of this long over-due reform which the Political Equality League is urging. I believe Creston Valley is not behind the rest of the country in sense of justice, public spirit, and progressive courage, and that the women and the present electors will be as eager as I have found them eslewhere to support this vital and just cause.

I am, Sir
Yours etc.
Dorothy Davis
Organising Secretary of the B. C. Political Equality League.

One Mistake

Giles, said De Whizz to his chauffeur before he started on his motor run, have you oiled the machine thoroughly? Yes, sir; I have filled the spring cups and the engine reservoir, and I have greased the cornet-a-piston and the pluribus unum, the exhaust pipe, the muffled tread, the thingumbob, the rimamerig, and both the hot boxes. Are those all the parts you have oiled Giles? Yes, sir. You have forgotten the most important place of all. Take the can and squirt a few drops of oil on the license number, so that the dust will collect on it and make it hard to read. Always remember to lubricate the license number, Giles.

MANITOBA S.S. CONVENTION

The 1912 Convention the Biggest and Best Yet Brandon, November 20th to 22nd.

Preparations are well under way for the Thirty-third Annual Convention of the Manitoba Sunday School Association. It is to be held in Brandon, November 20-22. The railways will carry delegates at single fare for round trip. It will be necessary to secure a certificate from each road travelled over and when signed by the General Superintendent, will entitle the holder to a free return ticket to their respective homes.

The committee have been fortunate in securing the services of Rev. W. A. Brown of Chicago as the chief speaker. He is one of the strongest men on the Sunday School platform in America.

Prof. L. L. Henry of Chicago, will have full charge of the musical part of the program.

In addition to the outside talent, between forty and fifty of the best speakers and experts of the province both ministers and laymen, will take part.

Some of the leading features of this great gathering will be a number of luncheons—one a Business Men's luncheon at noon hour,—a program of addresses, papers, and music will follow each of these—a street parade, a great choir of children's voices. Rallies and an Installation service.

This annual gathering has grown in numbers and influence to such proportions that it is one of the greatest delegated bodies meeting in Western Canada. An inspiring and helpful time is assured all who attend. For full information address W. H. Irwin, 62 Scott Block, Winnipeg.

FEARFUL HEADACHES

STOMACH BAD, NO APPETITE, WAS LOSING WEIGHT AND STRENGTH

Wonderful Change When Health Was Restored by

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Headache is a symptom and not a disease in itself. It acts as a danger signal to warn you of serious trouble.

By reading Mr. Donneral's letter you will be satisfied that there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a means of building up the system and removing the cause of headaches, sleeplessness and indigestion.

Mr. Charles Donneral, Kleinburg, Ont., writes: "I wish to communicate to you the great cure which I received from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. For over two years I suffered from fearful headaches, my appetite was always poor, and the stomach bad. I took medicines from physicians, but the headaches persisted, and I was rarely free from them.

"Reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I began using it, with little idea that I would be benefited. I had become thin and weak, and the very first box helped me, and with continued treatment I have been cured and feel like a new man. The headaches have disappeared, my appetite is good and digestion excellent. I write this letter in hope that other sufferers from headache may use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and be cured."

A More Serious Matter

Judge Giles Baker, of a Pennsylvania county, was likewise cashier of his home bank. A man presented a cheque one day for payment. He was a stranger. His evidence of identification was not satisfactory to the cashier.

Why, judge, said the man, I've known you to sentence men to be hanged on no better evidence than this.

Very likely, replied the judge. But when it comes to letting go of cold cash we have to be mighty careful.

Night after night the famous footballer solemly walked the bed-room floor, bearing in his arms the youngest of his family. Instead of improving, the affliction with which he was bothered became worse, the hours of his night-watch increasing rather than diminishing.

One night, in the middle of his perambulation, he calmly awakened the missus.

My dear, he grumbled, if the captain of our team saw me now, I'll wager he'd give me a good slating.

For what reason? asked the good lady sleepily.

Because I've lost all control of the ball, came the reply.

A purchaser of a riverside property asked the estate agent if the river didn't sometimes overflow its banks.

Well, replied he, it isn't one of those lively streams that are always coming up to their beds.

HAD BAD SORES FOUR YEARS

Zam-Buk Has Healed It!

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices, and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"One of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks, I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city, whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day, when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscess, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

Mr. Justyn, said the editor, looking over a new reporter's story of a political meeting, in this writeup of yours you say resistless waves of applause from the audience fairly overwhelmed the speaker. Look at the absurdity of that figure of speech. How could a resistless wave of applause or anything else come from an audience?

It could come from a sea of upturned faces, couldn't it? insisted the new reporter.

A prisoner on his trial, in answer to the charge pleaded 'Not guilty.' The jury found the charge proved and in passing sentence the judge said: 'Ye're not only guilty, but ye come here and tell lies, saying ye're not.

The prisoner who followed next for trial was doubtless influenced by this and supposed it would be well for him to take another course, so he pleaded Guilty, in an almost self-satisfied voice.

Oh ye're guilty, are ye, said the judge, and come here to brag about it, do ye?

Gratitude

A little girl was weeping bitterly in the street, greatly to the concern of sympathetic passers-by. At last a benevolent old gentleman approached the little maid, and patting her on the shoulder inquired what was the matter.

I've lost a penny, sir, was the reply given between sobs. The old gentleman promptly thrust a hand into his pocket and brought out a penny, which he handed to the little girl.

She looked at him askance for a few minutes, and then remarked in a tone more of sorrow than anger, Oh, you wicked ole man, so 'oo had it all the time!

HISTORICAL PICTURE FILMS

Reproducing Stirring Scenes on Canada's Early History

The stirring times which occurred between the early French settlers on the island of Montreal and the warlike Iroquois who were settled on the island, were vividly rehearsed at Johnson's Point this week by the British American Film Company of Canada, who has taken up camping quarters on this ancient Indian Reserve, for the purpose of reproducing the historical scenes of two hundred years ago when Montreal was but a little village defended by a few Frenchmen against the constant onslaught of the bloodthirsty Indians of the Iroquois tribe who looked upon the French settlers as usurpers and were determined to wipe them out if it were at all possible. It was the story of the gallant defence of Dollard des Armeaux and his sixteen heroes retold in realistic form at Johnson's Point only a short distance from the actual spot where this thrilling episode took place in 1660. The hundreds of real Indians, relics of the Iroquois tribe were present in full warpaint armed with ancient weapons of various kinds, particularly the arrows, some poisoned. The announcement of the approach of the Indians in the thousands was quietly taken up by Dollard who asked for volunteers to set forth on their death journey to intercede the attacking tribe, and repulsing them until each one of them was dead. Sixteen volunteered and the signing of the register was a pathetic scene before the little church at Montreal, demonstrating that they were ready to sacrifice their lives to save the village. Thus they set out and twenty miles from Montreal erected a stockade, awaiting the coming of the Indians. They were joined by forty three Algonquins who were a friendly tribe to the Frenchmen and together they defended the stockade to the death. The approach of the Indians was realistic and made spectators feel creepy but were happy to know that it was a civilised country. The war-cry of the attackers sounded and resounded like a death knell on the little defending band. Once, nay, twice were the Indians gallantly repulsed with little loss to the defenders, but the friendly Indians lost courage and deserted their comrades and joined the attacking force. Flaming arrows and spears and poisoned arrows were flying in many directions towards the stockade and it was a real wonder how everybody escaped injury in such a realistic performance. The last stand was great but disastrous to the heroes. The defenders prepared a gun for discharging on the attackers and it was rammed tight with powder. When hoisting it to the top of the stockade it fell back and exploded with terrific force killing most of the little band. In the meantime the stockade caught fire and it was a most thrilling sight. The burning of the stockade, the falling of the gate, and the great ourush of hundreds of Indians to finish those surviving was a repetition almost lifelike to what actually occurred, and the scalping was a completion of a scene which was heartrending, but fine from a stage point of view. The Indians danced round in great jubilation at the destruction of the French. But this is only one of the stirring incidents that will be depicted for the moving picture patrons by this company. The pictures will be unloaded very shortly and theatre goers will have an opportunity of realising to the full the defence of the early settlers of Canada and the stand they made against the bloodthirsty Indians.

Driven by the Sun

Sun heat has been successfully used to raise steam in an engine in Egypt. The sun-power plant and engine are the invention of Mr. Frank Shuman, of Philadelphia. The heating apparatus consists of 572 boxes of sheet-iron, each 3 feet square, framed in stout wood and covered with two sheets of glass, separated by an air space of one inch.

All these are mounted on trestles, facing due south, with a surface of 5,000 square feet exposed to the sun's rays. Further heat from the same source is concentrated on the boxes by 6ft. mirrors, and a temperature of 450 deg. Fahrenheit, more than double boiling-point, can be obtained in this way.

The sun power engine is adapted for use in tropical climates, where the cost of fuel exceed 10s. a ton.

Time-Saving Idea

He was a cashier in a West end business house, and his fortnight's holiday had just ended. As he entered the office on the Monday morning, his fellow-clerks rose to greet him; but he held up his hand for silence, and before anybody could say a word he distributed among them a number of neatly-printed little cards, reading thus:—

Thank you!

Yes, I had a splendid time.

Oh, walking fishing, golf and so forth.

Yes, had quite a lot of rain.

Hard to tear myself away? You bet. I ought to. I'm feeling fit as a fiddle.

Jeannie—Is that so, John?

John—Jeannie your teeth are like the stars.

Jeannie—How do you make that out, John? I can quite understand my neck being like a swan's and my eyes like diamonds, but how do you make out my teeth are like the stars?

John—Why, Jeannie, it's just because they come out at night.

Backache Means Your Kidneys Want Help!

The kidneys are among the most important organs. They are most subject to periods of depression, imperfect action and lowered vitality. Invariably, they give warning, in the form of backache, headache, pains in the joints, etc. Wise people, careful of their health, act quickly when any of these symptoms appear. Careless or easy-going persons often permit a slight affection of the kidneys to grow into acute or chronic kidney trouble, ignoring the plainly-given warning of unhealthy kidneys.

The Question

Suppose Bessie, (the teacher was trying to explain the meaning of recuperate) suppose your papa has worked very hard all day; he is tired and worn out, isn't he?

A reporter was once interviewing a famous English international footballer, and asked him how he liked being a professional footballer.

Immensely, he replied.

No, he replied, not well enough for that.

But why? asked the reporter.

Because they're lasses, said he with loud laughter.

THE CROP ESTIMATE

SEPTEMBER RAINS WERE THE CAUSE OF SOME DAMAGE

A Little Early Yet for Final Estimates on Total Extent of Crop, but the Average Yield is Expected to be Higher Than Last Year. Little Damage From Frost.

Ottawa.—A bulletin issued by the census and statistics office covers the crop condition in Canada for the month ended September 30. It states that during this month wet weather continued to prevail over most parts of Canada, especially over the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. At Sept. 30, large areas of grain both in the east nad in the west were still either uncut or were exposed to the wet in stook. Much damage has been caused by sprouting and in the north-west provinces second growth has in numerous instances caused uneven ripening and consequent lowering of grade. Frost during September in these provinces did some damage, but as a rule only late crops including flax, were seriously affected. In parts of Southern Ontario the ground is so wet that many farmers have abandoned the sowing of the fall wheat for next year.

The estimates of the yield published a month ago could only be regarded as of preliminary value, because in consequence of the bad weather and late seasons harvesting operations had made so little progress.

The new estimates of yield obtained from correspondents at the end of September confirm generally the previous estimates for most of the crops, but inasmuch as very little threshing had been possible and large areas of the grain were still unharvested, it is feared that the final estimates after completion of the threshing, may turn out lower than the figures now given. For spring wheat the estimated production is 188,816,600 bushels, as compared with 189,904,500 bushels last year.

For fall wheat the estimate is 16,368,700 bushels, compared with 26,014,000 bushels last year, the total estimated wheat production being therefore 205,685,300 bushels as compared with 215,918,500 bushels in 1911 a decrease of five per cent. The yield per acre is 21.08 bushels for all wheat as against 20.77 bushels last year.

Oats show a total production of 381,502,000 bushels, compared with 348,585,600 bushels last year, the yield per acre being 41.39 bushels, compared with 37.75. Barley is estimated to yield a total of 400,395,100 bushels compared with 400,631,000 bushels last year; the yield per acre 31.00 bushels against 28.94. The total production of rye is 3,036,000 bushels against 2,688,800 bushels in 1911, the yields per acre being respectively 20.75 and 17.41 bushels of oats, barley and rye. Increases in total production as compared with last year represent percentages of 9, 8 and 15.

FATHER VAUGHAN IN WEST

Noted Cleric Gives Utterances to Characteristic Advice

Moose Jaw.—The Rev. Father Bernard Vaughan, S.J., was in Moose Jaw recently and interviewed on his impressions of the west, said:—

"To my way of thinking there never was a land more ready to give a living wage to anyone who is ready to give in exchange an honest day's work. My advice to Old Countrymen coming out here in the future will be: Leave your eye-glasses at home, and your knickerbockers and your hypercriticism and your superiority, put on a pair of overalls, pull off your coat roll up your sleeves and put your back into your work till you are through with it. Then instead of being all in, down and out, you will come out on top and will become a useful member of an enterprising community, and not at all a bad advertisement for the Old Country."

Mounted Men Underpaid

Ottawa.—Demands from new settlements throughout Western Canada for detachments of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police become more insistent as western development proceeds and the demand exceeds the supply. The force at present consists of 656 officers and men, which is forty-four below the strength, the full strength being 700. Despite an average recruiting of 15 men a month the club is scarcely able to hold its own on account of the unavoidable waste from dismissals, deaths, term expirations, etc.

It is stated that a considerable number of men have been recruited in the old country recently but that a large proportion did not come up to the requirements. The rate of pay in the R.N.W.M.P. in comparison to wages in the west is said to be too low to attract recruits.

Welland Canal Enlargement

Ottawa.—The Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals has returned from a tour if inspection over the Welland Canal.

While it is well known that the Government intends to hasten the construction of this work, it is realized that owing to a lack of information which is necessary for specifications it will be impossible to let any contracts until next spring.

Engineers are now at work, however, taking bearings and securing the required information.

Next year will see the commencement of the actual construction work, there is every reason to believe.

Crow's Nest Miners Threaten to Strike

Calgary, Alta.—Failing to get their claims for yardage submitted for arbitration, the miners in the employ of the Crow's Nest Coal company, numbering 2,100, have politically declared they will continue negotiations no longer, but will go on strike. Notice to this effect has been served on the company and, the miners claim ignored by the company. The president of the union has issued the statutory notice to strike, and a board on industrial disputes has been asked for in an application to the minister of labor.

CHRISTIANIZE THE ESQUIMAUX

Anglican Clergy Won't be Influenced by Stefansson's Views

Montreal.—Great enthusiasm was aroused at a meeting of the Board of Management of the Anglican church in Canada by speeches of Bishop Stringer of the Yukon and Rev. C. E. Whitaker of Mackenzie River in regard to the much talked of tribe of blonde Esquimaux recently discovered in the Coppermine river and Coronation Gulf districts, within the Arctic circle.

Doubt has been cast upon the evidence of the existence of this tribe, but proofs of the most convincing character were laid before the meeting by the bishop and his colleague, including an actual photograph of some of the very people concerning which much discussion has recently arisen, thus confirming the statements of Mr. Stefansson of the tribe.

Referring to the alleged recommendation of Mr. Stefansson that all influences of civilization, including Christian ministrations, be kept away from these people the bishop told of the marvellous transformation of character that has followed the missionaries' work among other tribes of Esquimaux.

A very few years ago they were given up to thieving, licentiousness, murder, polygamy asd infanticide.

Now they are living lives that would be creditable to any Christian congregation.

Bishop Stringer stated that he was satisfied that many of the statements accorded to Mr. Stefansson in the press did not emanate from him. He also declared that at the present time one of his clergy, Rev. W. H. Fhy, accompanied by twelve Christian Esquimaux from Mackenzie Delta, are on their way to the Coppermine district and the natives are all travelling at their own cost.

Conference on Grain Situation

Ottawa.—Arrangements were made recently for a conference between the Railway Commission, the Grain Commission and representatives of Western railway lines to be held in Winnipeg to settle the question of railway facilities for the sample market, which is to be established in the Manitoba capital in connection with the grain situation.

Prof. Magill, chairman of the Grain Commission, was in Ottawa today and completed arrangements for the conference.

The date is not yet fixed but will probably be the latter part of November, when the Railway Commission has completed the adjourned sitting of the freight rate inquiry. At the same time the board will hold a number of sessions in the West.

Prof. Magill also took up with the Trade and Commerce Department a number of questions with a view to facilitating the rapid movement of the crop.

He reports that grain is moving rapidly and is of a high grade. They are hopeful that there will not be a blockade, and he reports that the railways are doing everything possible to handle the enormous crop which is pouring into Fort William and Port Arthur.

Work on the new Government owned elevator is being rushed as rapidly as possible, and it will be ready in time to help handle the crop of 1913.

Heart Rending Suffering

London.—Considerable bodies of Servian troops have been sent across the Bulgarian border to join the Bulgarian army, says a despatch from Nisch.

Describing the terrible condition of the hospital at Tushi, a Podgritza correspondent says that a hundred wounded Turks are lying around half naked, awaiting treatment. The floors are covered with putrid medicinal dressings. The Turkish doctors are apathetic, doing nothing.

The Cettinje correspondent of the Daily Mail tells of crying need for first aid societies. He says the hospital arrangements at Podgoritza are very bad. There is no proper sanitation and operations are performed in the crudest manner after days of delay with no preliminary dressing.

It is thought probably that the fighting will cease for a few days, the southern army having suffered heavily.

A constant stream of wounded adds the correspondent, has arrived in the last three days, which proves the struggle to have been desperate and costly. The official figures of 1,000 killed and wounded probably is an under-estimate.

AIRMEN SAVED BY HELMET

Falls Sixty Feet and Lands on His Head, only Slightly Shaken

London.—Cyril Foggin, a pupil at the Eastbourne Aerodrome, had a remarkable escape from death yesterday.

He fell with his machine from a height of sixty feet, and escaped with nothing worse than a shaking. He owes his life undoubtedly to his safety helmet.

Mr. Foggin was flying well in a light monoplane when the machine side-slipped and fell. It was completely wrecked, and the spectators rushed forward expecting to find the airman dead. He was not even stunned, and only complained of a slight headache.

Mr. Foggin said afterward that he pitched forward and his head struck the front of the machine. The helmet which he was wearing was deeply dented.

The airman attributes the accident to his unfamiliarity with the type of machine.

Whale as Pilot

Edinburgh.—Seafaring men on the firth of Forth are greatly interested in a whale, about 10 feet long, which has taken up its quarters in the upper reaches. When an approaching ship sounds its siren the whale proceeds down the Firth, swims round it, and finally proceeds it until its destination is reached.

London.—Captain A. C. Weigall, M.P. for the Horncastle division of Lincolnshire, has been making a tour of the constituency on horseback.

SESSION IN JANUARY

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT MAY BE DEFERRED

The Rumor is Current That the House Will not Meet Until January, and Report That Hon. F. D. Monk Will Resign Before the House Meets is Again Revived.

Ottawa.—A meeting of the cabinet council was held recently and when it was over it was stated that the date for the assembling of parliament had not yet been fixed. Delay in the announcement has led to the revival of the rumor that the house will not meet until January. It is probable, however, that no definite decision has yet been announced. The report that Hon. F. D. Monk will resign before the house meets has been revived. The report naturally is connected with the consideration of the naval question, it being asserted in home quarters that the minister of public works desires to have the proposal to grant an emergency contribution to the Imperial Exchequer submitted to a plebescite of the Canadian people.

It is stated that the proposal which Premier Borden will submit to his cabinet is the immediate contribution of thirty million dollars and the repeal of the Laurier naval act. This will constitute the temporary policy of the government, the permanent policy to be brought down a year later. Whatever truth there may be in the report that Mr. Monk may retire would appear that there is something under the surface that is delaying the announcement of the date of the opening of parliament.

In both political and official circles the impression is gradually growing stronger that there is at least an even chance that parliament will not convene till January. A decision to defer the opening until a later date will be pleasing to the majority of western and maritime members, many of whom have within the past couple of months expressed the desire that there should be no November session with a long recess over Christmas and New Years, which makes it necessary for them either to take a long trip to their homes or remain in Ottawa with nothing to do for a period of three weeks.

HARVEST HANDS NEEDED

Farmers Believe Vast Crop Will be Garnered by End of October

Winnipeg.—Harvesters are coming in, said J. Bruce Walker, but not in as large numbers as I would like to see. Saskatchewan is very much in need of men, and at Saskatoon the farmers are paying as high as $4.50 and $4.75 per day. It seems that in every point in Manitoba farmers are short of men, and are offering a uniform price of $3.00 per day. At Virden 100 men are needed, and a loud hue and cry comes from Morden, Manitou, Pilot Mound, Killarney, Deloraine, Carman, Elm Creek and Treherne.

The rate of one cent a mile in Manitoba will be in effect until the end of October, and the one-half cent rate will be effective to points further west until the 25th. Even the small number that have responded to the call will help to solve the vexing question of the gathering of the grains before the frost comes, and with continued dry spell the farmers are quite sure that there will be very little left of the vast crop by the end of October.

In the agricultural districts around Saskatoon the demand for help is greatest. At this point as high as $4.75 a day has been offered and yet the farmers declare they cannot get sufficient men.

Men, Women and Children Struggle in Big Flood

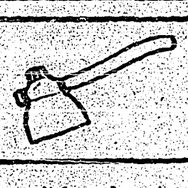
Rome.—A waterspout passed through Castellamare, on the southern coast of Sicily, yesterday evening devastating the town in a few minutes.

The streets were covered with water to a depth of four feet. Houses collapsed, and the open spaces were filled with men, women and children struggling in the flood. Some of them were drowned and others rescued, with difficulty. A number of persons lost their lives through being buried in debris.

Troops were sent from Trapani to assist in restoring order and providing shelters for the survivors.

The exceptionally dry weather in northern Italy has been followed by numerous forest fires. An area comprising nearly 100 square miles is reported to be in flames near Savona.

The Doom of the Turk



By THEODORE H. BOICE

NOW the turkey's days are numbered, and he won't have long to wait,
For the proclamation's issued fixing our Thanksgiving date.
At the end of this October there will be a royal feast,
And we'll hear a cry for turkey from the highest to the least.

There'll be pumpkin pie and fixin's down each eager throat to toss,
There'll be many palate ticklers and the tart cranberry sauce,
And there'll be a lot of dainties some will feel inclined to shirk,
But not one of all the eaters will decline a slice of turk.

There'll be children, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts,
With the turkey on the table as the object that enchants,
And if they are still as hungry as on feasting days before
They'll not stop at one good serving, but will pass their plates for more.

There'll be trouble for the carver, though he tries to do his best,
When too many call for drumsticks and too many want the breast;
There'll be frequent calls for "stuffing" in the most persuasive tones,
And before the feast is ended there'll be nothing left but bones.

So get ready, Mister Gobbler, and get ready, Mistress Hen,
For Thanksgiving day is coming, and you'll see your finish then.
Now, at last, your days are numbered, and you won't have long to wait.
At the end of this October you'll be smoking on the plate.

Commissioner Withdrawn

Ottawa.—The department of trade and commerce has decided to withdraw A. W. Donley, its trade commissioner in Mexico, and for the present at least no successor will be appointed.

Lack of business between the Dominion and Mexico is given as the reason for the withdrawal. It is stated that the continual disturbances in Mexico and the additional fact that the Mexican steamship line formerly plying between Vancouver and Mexico and subsidized by Canada, has been withdrawn, have been responsible for the dropping off in Canadian trade.

Mr. Donley, who is a Simcoe man, has held the position as commissioner for the past 10 years. For the present at least the interests of Canadians in Mexico will be looked after by the British consul.

GOLD FOR PASSERSBY

Old Man on Paris Street Asks Them to Help Themselves

Paris.—An old man in the Boulevard de Bonne Nouvelle yesterday approached passersby with a handful of gold and silver, and begged them to help themselves.

The money is for the poor, he said; take what you want. The persons thus addressed did not wait to be asked twice, and soon the old man had distributed some $100.

He would have continued his distribution but for the arrival of a policeman who asked the old man to follow him to the police station. There it was found that he was a rich proprietor at Chaumont-en-Vexin, and a harmless lunatic.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 9.—A stimulating influence has come into the grain situation since a week ago in the actual outbreak of hostilities between the Balkan states and Turkey, and the fear that this action may precipitate a general European conflict. The latter event would be a calamity too terrible to contemplate, and in face of it, what the markets might do would be of comparatively little consequence to most of us. It is to be hoped that if the conflict cannot be stopped through the friendly intervention of the great powers working harmoniously together it may be confined to the Balkan peninsula and the combatants immediately concerned. If the conflict remains within these bounds its influence on the grain markets would likely be little more than the spurt it has helped to give to prices in the last few days. Since this day week the United States markets have advanced 1⅛c. to 2⅛c., the largest advance being in Chicago December wheat. In our Winnipeg market the advance has been 3⅛c. on the October delivery and 2c. on the other months. The very large movement of wheat in the United States during the past two months has not resulted in the big accumulation of visible supplies that has been looked for. Since the 1st of July to date the primary receipts of wheat in the U.S. have been 109,365,000 bus. compared to 76,961,000 bus. in the same period last year, an increase this year of 32,404,000 bus. and yet in that time the U.S. visible has increased only 9,280,000 bus. while last year in the same time there was an increase of 32,836,000 bus. There have no doubt been many holes for the new crop to fill up, and there has been an unusually good flour demand in the U.S. in the last two months, which has caused the milling demand to be large and there has been an export demand beyond what was expected, which has been partly, at least, caused by the great delay in western European wheat getting to the mills, owing to the very unfavorable harvest time. Thus the big movement of the U.S. new crop has gone elsewhere than into the visible supply, but the well known large size of the crop, together with the promised abundance of our western Canadian crop, caused speculative operators in the U.S. markets to keep on selling for future delivery even after prices had declined freely, with the consequence that the market has been heavily oversold. The gradual recognition of the fact that the visible supply was not increasing commensurately with the large wheat movement and the war development coming to a head at the same time, have arrested the bearish sentiment in the markets and given an upward turn to prices. Whether the strength thus imparted to the trade will become permanent and continue to advance prices is uncertain because while there have come certain changes into the situation, these do not change the fact that the United States, Canada and Russia have been fortunate this year in producing unusually large crops of wheat of average good quality, and that they have only yet made a beginning of disposing of their surplus to the export market. The delay in these large crops pressing on the world's markets has been caused principally by the delay through unfavorable weather in the finishing of harvesting and the progress of threshing in the U.S. and western Canada's spring wheat area. The weather over this part of the world has been more favorable during the past two weeks than previously, although in the last four days it had been partly, though not seriously unsettled, and the work of threshing and hauling the grain to the country depots has progressed, and railway movement shows a large increase. In the last five days there have been 4342 cars of wheat inspected at Winnipeg; in the same five days last year the number was 2770 cars. The average quality continues high and the percentage of tough or no grade cars is on the decline. Today the United States Agricultural Dept. issued their October report, giving among other information, the estimated yield per acre of the U.S. spring wheat crop. The yield is put at 17.2 bus. giving a total yield of 330,390,000 bus. against 300,000,000 bus. at September 1st. The winter wheat crop, estimated on Aug. 1st, was 389,942,000 bus., so that the total U.S. wheat crop is estimated at this date as 720,332,000 bus. against the final estimate of 621,338,000 bus. for the crop of 1911. Last week the U.S. visible supply increased 1,025,000 bus. against an increase last year of 3,989,000 bus. and the aggregate now is 32,633,000 bus. against 56,698,000 bus. a year ago. The European visible increased 5,020,000 bus. compared with a decrease last year of 700,000 bus. and the total is now 77,988,000 bus. Last year the total was 82,400,000 bus. The world's available supply of breadstuffs according to Bradstreets, increased last week 10,936,000 bus. compared with the increase of 5,753,000 bus. a year ago. The world's shipments last week from exporting to importing countries were 14,688,000 bus. against 11,024,000 bus. a year ago, and the aggregate amount of wheat on ocean passage is now 38,688,000 bus. against 32,064,000 bus. a year ago. These statistics, with perhaps the exception of the U.S. visible supply statement, can be taken as very bearish and should the result of the general world's movement of wheat during the next few weeks be on the same lines, the probability is that whatever views as to prices speculative buyers may develop, the commercial value of wheat for this season is somewhere around the level of present prices. Along with ample supplies of wheat actually on hand or about to come on the markets, we must keep in view the new crops now growing. The Argentine and Australian crops are growing well under favorable conditions but their critical periods are during the next six or eight weeks, in two months the earliest districts will be harvesting. The crop outlook in India is favorable, and the seeding of the new winter wheat in the U.S. is well advanced under favorable conditions.

Our Winnipeg market has had quite a spurt through the war scare and apprehension of another spell of unsettled weather coming to further delay movement. October is beginning to slip along and October shorts have been getting very uneasy. Shippers and exporters have a great deal of vessel space engaged to load at the lake ports during this month, and all the wheat is needed. This has caused our market to be stronger than the U.S. markets, in face of a large increase in wheat receipts. The shorts have really been the means of advancing the prices through their efforts to cover their short sales, and a good deal of trade has been evened up in this way and the short interest lessened, and unless further strength comes from outside, today's prices are likely to ease down again. Today's cash prices are 1 Nor., 92¼c; 2 Nor., 90¼c; 3 Nor., 88⅛c; No. 4 wheat, 82½c. Tough wheat is 6c. under straight grade. Alberta Red Winter No. 1, 91c; A.R. No. 2, 90c; A.R. No. 3, 88c. Futures closed October 92c; Nov., 90⅞c; Dec., 87⅞c; May, 92¾c.

Oats—

The oat market continues firm with good demand, owing to scarcity. The new crop oats will be late in coming along freely and shorts in October oats are liable to be squeezed. The stock of 2 C.W. oats at Fort William and Port Arthur is only 29,711 bus. against 298,294 bus. last year. Today's cash prices are 2 C.W., 42c; 3 C.W., 39c; Ex. 1 Fd., 41c; 1 Fd., 39c; 2 Fd., 37c. Futures closed Oct. 40⅛c; Nov. 36⅛c; Dec., 35⅛c.

Barley—

Receipts of barley are fairly large and demand is good Prices are No. 3, 55c; No. 4, 50c; Rejected, 45c; Feed, 45c.

Flax—

Receipts of flax are also liberal and the quality very satisfactory. The demand is only fair and the price tends to ease off some. Today's cash prices are: 1 N.W. Canadian, 152c; 2 Can. Western, 148c; Rejected, 120c. Futures closed Oct. 150c; Nov. 148c; Dec. 139½c.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IV.—FOURTH QUARTER FOR OCTOBER 27, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Mark vii, 31 to viii, 10—Memory Verses, 34, 35—Golden Text Mark vii, 37—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, where He had comforted the mother's heart and honored and commended her faith, He returned to the sea of Galilee, a journey of forty or fifty miles, but nothing is said of the journey. How little we think of His long walks from one part of the country to another. It is easy to travel in our day, and there is a vast amount of it done, but very few do it on foot and for Him, yet I do know some missionaries who are very like Him in this respect. Verses 32 to 37 of our lesson are recorded only by Mark and tell of the healing of a deaf and dumb man. Some are dumb because they cannot speak and others are dumb because they will not speak.

It is sometimes wise for those who can both hear and speak to be as if they were both deaf and dumb (Ps. xxxviii, 13). Too many are dumb because they do not feel constrained to speak. Their remedy may be found in Ps. xxxix, 3; Ezek. iii, 27; Jer. xx, 8, 9. If any are inclined to plead slowness of speech or the inefficiency of youth they be helped by Ex. iv, 12; Jer. i, 7-9. All need that which our Lord commended in Acts iv, 31! All may come unto Him, and He knows at once a right way for each. His way with this particular man was unique, but it must have been the right way for him. He took him aside from the multitude. He often takes us aside that He may cause us to hear or see or know something He could not otherwise teach us. It is blessed to be taken aside with Him. I like the verse which says that we should live together with Him (I Thess. v, 10). We have read of many being healed by touching Him or the hem of His garment, but see His fingers on this man's ears and tongue, and instantly he could hear and speak plainly. Was the power in His touch or in the words "Be opened," or in both? More important for me to be able to say that He hath touched me and hath spoken to me, and taught me to say "He hath done all things well."

Just here Matthew records that He went up into a mountain and sat down and great multitudes came to Him bringing the lame, blind, dumb, maimed and others and cast them at His feet, and He healed them, and they glorified the God of Israel (Matt. xv, 30, 31). When Israel came out of Egypt there was not one feeble among their tribes, and when the kingdom comes the inhabitant shall not say, "I am sick." There shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain. They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them nor any heat (Ps. cv, 37; Isa. xxxiii, 24; xlix, 10; Rev. vii, 16; xxi, 4). Do you wonder that Jesus told them of such a kingdom as He fed them and healed them? What can we think of those who know of such a kingdom and are doing nothing to make it known to others who might be glad to become inheritors of it if they only knew about it and knew how to become heirs to it?

Returning to the record in Mark, we read that the multitudes had been with Him three days with nothing to eat, and some had come long distances so He had compassion upon them and said to the disciples, "If I send them away fasting they will faint by the way." Did He really care and does He care if we are faint and weary? Oh, yes, He cares; I know He cares. It matters to Him even about sparrows, and He clothes the lilies. The disciples seem surprised at His remarks and ask: Whence can a man satisfy these with bread here in the wilderness? Well, that depends upon the man. An ordinary man could not, but who is this man? Had they forgotten that so recently they had taken food from His hands to more than 5,000 people and had seen Him control and subdue a great storm? Yes, it is the old story of Ps. lxxviii: "They forgot His works and His wonders that He had showed them. They said: Can God furnish a table in the wilderness?" Having ascertained that they had seven loaves and a few small fishes, He took them and gave thanks and broke them and gave to the disciples to set before the people and they did all eat and were filled.

He took what they had and used it as on the former occasion, though He might have rained it from Heaven (Ps. lxxviii, 24). The poor widow had a pot of oil, and He multiplied that. Another widow had a little meal and oil and He multiplied that. He can create out of nothing, but He seems to love to take what we have and increase it. He wants it all given over to Him, as these and the lad gave all into His hands, as He Himself gave up all for us. He has provided a full and complete eternal redemption which He freely gives to every one willing to receive Him. Then He asks those who have received Him, and to whom He has given all, to forsake all that they have that they may become His disciples (Rom. vi, 23; John i, 12; Luke xiv, 33), to be used by Him as He will. He is all fullness, the fullness of the Godhead bodily, and we may be filled by Him for the benefit of others (Col. i, 19; ii, 9, 10).

Several erroneous statements were made in last weeks Review which we desire to correct and to apologize for to these concerned. Instead of a son being born to Mr. and Mrs. W A. Pease, the child came to Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan who are residing with Mr. Pease. Mr. and Mrs. Erickson of Cranbrook were visiting their daughter Miss Erickson and her aunt, Miss Dobbin who have been living in the Mallandain residence for several weeks, instead of the parties stated last week. The real estate transfer mentioned last week was not that of Capt. FitzGerald but rather of his brother R. O'B FitzGerald.

The renovation of the Methodist church will, on the arrival of the new pews which are looked for this week, be completed. There is a new cork carpet on the platform and aisle. The woodwork has been stained and varnished, the walls tinted a beautiful green and the ceiling a pleasant cream with a boarder of timber stained amber. The whole building presents a pleasing appearance and good taste.

The Masquerade dance to be given under the auspices of L. O. L. No. 2095 promises to be the event of the season. Good music has been secured, Guy Browell being the violinist and Mrs. Attridge, accompanist. The price of admission has been set at 75 cents each which includes the supper. Further announcements regarding prizes etc., will be made on posters later.

Notice of Municipality Meeting

To the Editor of the Creston Review,

Dear Sir:—

As it was unaminously decided to hold a Municipal meeting to enquire further into the matter of municipalization, permit me if you will to state that the said meeting is to be held in the Mercantile hall on the evening of Saturday Nov, 2 nd. There has been a lot of information gleaned from one source and another as to Municipal government and the developement of Hydro electric power and everybody in the district is invited to at end this meeting, Yours truly,

T. M. Edmondson.
