Have Pleasant Time at L. O. L. Masquerade

Although stormy weather put a damper on the crowd who would have attended the Loyal Orange Lodge Masquerade Ball held last Tuesday evening, those who did go were well repaid for braving the elements, for a most pleasant time was had, and an unusual feeling of good humor permeated the guests.

John Gillard made the hit of the evening, costumed as an Irish washwoman. On his back was displayed a large sign reading, "I want Home Rule for Ireland." Mr. Gillard won the prize for having the best comic costume among the gentlemen.

The other prize winners were, for ladies' best fancy costume, Mrs. Sidney Poole, who made her appearance in the garb of a witch; for gentlemen's fancy costume, W. A. McBean, attired in the dress of the seventeenth century, and for ladies' comic, Mrs. J. M. Barton who came dressed as a squaw.

There were many costumes of quality and it was with difficulty that the judges made these decisions as to the best.

The music supplied by Mr. Browell and Mrs. Attridge was very good and much appreciated. At midnight a dainty lunch was served.

Advises Mixed Farming and Co-operation

That more mixed farming should be practised is the belief of A. B. Tweddle crop and labor commissioner, who has been spending some time in the valley gathering statistics regarding acreage under cultivation, amount in fruit trees, and the number of trees, also the number of people occupied in fruit raising. He says that life would be made much easier for the rancher who is short of funds and whose trees are not old enough to bear in paying quantities, if he would adopt a little mixed farming. Even on a small place, pigs can be raised to a good profit. In a poor year for fruit he says, many a man in the Okanagan, has been able to pull through with a good income from his pigs, cows and chickens He tells of one man who buys pigs on the prairies in the spring at a very low cost and fattens them on his own place then selling them at a tremendous profit.

Another thing that he urges is co-operative buying and selling. Although the small rancher cannot raise grain in large enough quantities to supply his stock he can get it quite reasonable through the ranchers organization. Many another district has found to its sorrow that it could not get along without co-operation. If the district is to prosper it is up to the ranchers to support the union through thick and thin. He says that a new district like Creston is bound to find it difficult to make such an organization run smoothly the first few years, but if it becomes a good fruit centre, it will be only because the ranchers have given the organization their hearty support.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. George Cartwright at Erickson, Thursday, Nov 14th at 3 p.m. Subject Textile Work by Mrs. Dow and Mr. Goodwin.

Woodrow Wilson, the democratic nominee, was Tuesday elected president of the United States by a large plurality.

A byphase of the recent election in the States was the success of woman suffrage in four states out of five where the constitutional amendment was submitted to a vote. The victory of women was complete in Arizona, Kansas, Michigan and Oregon, wnile in Wisconsin the proposal met a decisive defeat.

Communication

Creston, B. C., Nov. 6th, 1912

Dear Editor:—

As the question of how much power can be developed at Goat River Canyon and its worth, is being continually being brought before us, permit me to say that there is not less than twenty-five hundred, horse power and as to its value, at the very low price of $15 per horse power a year, it will be seen that exactly $37,500 would be the revenue derived from the said power each year if fully developed. $37,500, would pay the interest on exactly $750,000, or in other words three-fourth of a million dollars. We are not talking about developing the power just now nor have we any idea of allowing this to be given away, rather a large present when if we choose we could develope all the power there is there for $20,000. The fact of living on the Inter-Provincial Highway to be kept up by the government and the fact of having $400,000 of assessment from the railways and the fact that some of the very largest municipalities in Ontario only levy about $11,000 each year for their maintence, were some of the main issues which made the peoples municipal meeting such a huge success.

When they found out that they were paying out over $17,000 it caused a good deal of room for reflection. The Municipal business is now in the hands of men who will make things hum and I am so pleased that they so willingly have consented to so redeem their own homes from those who would destroy every vestige of their natural freedom.

Yours truly

T. M. Edmondson,

P. S. Since writing this letter I find the electrical experts estimate on this power is at the very least 3,000 H. P.

His Land Is Off The Market

B. H. Swanson of Vancouver bought a piece of land over in the Canyon City section of the valley three years ago, without ever having seen the place. This week on Tuesday and Wednesday, Mr. Swanson visited Creston for the first time, and looked over his buy. On Wednesday afternoon he dropped into the Review office to subscribe for the paper, and he expressed his delight at having secured the place, saying that when he made the purchase he did it for a speculation, but now the land is off the market. He returned to Vancouver for the winter but will come back to Creston early in the spring, when he will develope the place and make it his home.

S. Billingham, a representative of the Nelson News spent Wednesday and Thursday in Creston securing material for a write-up for the News. From here he goes to Cranbrook, Wattsburg and Bains Lake for the purpose of writing on those districts.

Calgary Herald Lauds Creston

In the issue of the Calgary Herald of October 18, there appeared an article so well written and so laudatory of this district that we decided reprint the same to show our readers the impression which the Creston valley gives to strangers. The article is written by a representative of the Herald, who spent several days in the district. There were write-ups also of Nakusp and Windermere but they were very brief so it is evident that Creston stands highest in the mind of the writer. The article follows,

The mountains take their name from Ptarmigan, or "white grouse" that inhabit the region in numbers. Blue grouse and willow grouse are to be found all over the district generally. To the west of the Summit creek country, thirty miles to the divide, is considered one of the best bear districts in southeast Kootenay, while the fishing on this creek is excellent for many miles. A good trail, the old "Dewdney Trail" from the Fraser river to East Kootenay, runs alongside the creek, making the fishing and hunting very accessible. Here rainbow and cut throat trout averaging from one to two pounds can be caught, while char scaling up to 15 lbs, are often recorded. Further south on Boundary creek to its source at the continental divide the grizzly bear has a home and some monsters turning the scale at two thousand pounds are often brought out. All the mountain creeks emptying into the Kootenay river at or near Creston abound with trout, speckled, bull, mountain and rainbow. As well beaten trails radiate from Creston to the well stocked game districts surrounding, it necessarily follows that Creston is an outfitting and starting point for the sportsman.

The famous Kootenay flats with its many sloughs and creeks winding their course to the Kootenay lake make a happy home for all kinds of wild fowl, Mallard, teal and snipe are the choice, while later in the year the big gray goose is a visitor.

From the scenic standpoint there is

MOVE FOR RURAL MUNICIPALITY

PETITIONS TO BE CIRCULATED

Believe Taxes Will Be Less Under Municipal Government.

The move for a rural municipality to be formed of the Creston district, was launched at a well attended meeting of ranchers last Saturday night, when it was decided by a large majority to have the gathering go on record as favoring municipalization, and to circulate petitions through the town and country, to be sent to the Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, stating that the land owners of this district desire to form a municipality in accordance with the statutes of the province.

According to the municipalities act, separate petitions will have to be circulated, one in the town site and the other in the rural districts. This gives the people of Creston the privilege of becoming a part of the rural municipality, or staying out of it without hindering in any way the organization of the outlying district.

Frank Rose acted as chairman for the meeting. The committeemen appointed to circulate the petition are George Huscroft, John Hobden, W. G. Littlejohn, Geo. Hobden, J. Hayden and A. D. Pochin. Mr. Rose opened the meeting by telling his reasons for wanting a municipality which were mainly based on the belief that municipality means less taxes with more to show for them in the line of more roads and improvements. He also spoke of the difficulty in securing an equalization of taxes under the present system, saying that with a municipality the assessment roll would be conveniently accessible to everybody in the district, under which condition equalization would be assured.

As one of the purposes of organization is the securing of the Goat River Canyon for a power site for the municipality, H. Newell Birch gave a well prepared paper on the uses of electricity and its advantages to this district.

T. M. Edmonson who has made a study of the municipal question for some time, occupied the floor most of the evening in explaining the advantages to be secured by municipalization, and presenting arguments in its favor. So fully did he cover his subject that, when an opportunity for friend or foe to the subject to present his views was given, no one had more to say. Among the points he brought out was the fact that money collected for taxes greatly exceeded the amount spent in the district, that is, according to information secured from government officials, the taxes in 1910 for Alice Siding, Creston Erickson and Canyon City school districts amounted to $17,020, while the expenditures the same year amounted to $15,081, and it was in this year that the greatest amount of work was done in the valley.

He told of Ontario municipalities where the average tax came to only

Quick, sir your answer? Will you keep your promise to my daughter, and so expiate the crime you committed twenty years ago; or will you ruin the other woman whom you pretend to love, and spend the best time of your life as a common felon in a convict prison? What use to you, then, the freedom you boast, the great wealth you have builded up, the famous and honorable name you have made—though you made it dishonorably!

Again there was silence. Francks seemed to be listening as if for some message from the room beyond. His head was bowed, the perspiration glistened on his forehead. Suddenly he looked up, unlocked the door and opened it wide.

Go, he whispered, before I take you by the throat and throw you out. Freedom, wealth, name, are as little to me as your contemptible threats, compared to winning the woman I love. Stooping down he picked up the summons from the floor, and tore it into a dozen pieces. That's my answer—Go!

He watched Mr. Saintsbury slowly leave the room. The drawing-room opened a few inches at the same time and Iris saw the lawyer, saw the expression on his face, and she crept back, seized with a nameless fear.

And Jimmy Francks slowly closed the dining room door; for he, too, was afraid, afraid to look at the woman he had held a few minutes ago so closely in his arms.

CHAPTER III

Jimmy Francks waited until the lift descended with Mr. Saintsbury, then he poured himself out a liquer brandy, and swallowed it. He waited a moment listening. He knew Iris was still in the drawing-room. She would keep her word and not go until she had seen him again—until he could persuade her that nothing had happened.

That nothing had happened! A queer, strained laugh left his lips, he checked it quickly, and taking out his case lit a cigarette and commenced to walk rapidly up and down the room. He wanted to be quite calm, to have himself under perfect control before he dared face the woman he loved. He looked at himself in the mirror over the mantleshelf, wondering whether his face showed any signs of the mental storm which had fallen so suddenly. He did not look quite himself, he realised that already there was a subtle change.

Again he laughed—fool to be afraid. Afraid of what? Of a doddering spiteful old lawyer who, by dragging up a youthful folly from a forgotten past, hoped to blackmail him.

A thief he had called him. An ugly word. Francks stood on the balcony and leaned out, looking down into the busy street. The evening sun still bathed the city in golden light; a few fleecy clouds drifted here and there; a ghost-like mist hovered in the East, waiting to receive the sun before he slipped into his bed.

Jimmy Francks squared his shoulders, and took a deep breath. If Saintsbury kept his threat and he, Jimmy Francks were arrested and sent to penal servitude! The idea was so absurd, that he laughed again and again as he stood on the balcony in the sunlight, looking on the world he had conquered the world which had already given him the desire of all men, and was going to give him even more.

The land of El Dorado; and this petty-fogging lawyer—who, if he chose he could buy lock, stock and barrel, body and soul—would rob him of it all.

Jimmy set his teeth, and cursed him. He could face prison, poverty, disgrace even, face them with a smile on his lips: for they would be all new experiences, new difficulties to overcome and conquer. But his downfall meant the ruin of the woman he loved better even than he loved life itself. He heard her voice calling to him from the drawing-room. He smoothed his hair, wiped his face with his handkerchief, and went to her.

I was beginning to get anxious, she said smiling at him. I heard Mr. Saintsbury go some time ago, and was wondering what had happened to you. She looked at him with perfect confidence, her faith robbed him of some of his courage.

Funny thing, isn't it, he said lightly. When a man is about to get married it seems to be everyone's wedding but his. Not only friends, relatives and tradesmen, but even the boy who happens to black his boots, and the waiter at the restaurant considers it their affair.

Iris did not reply at once. She made her lover sit down. He had thrown his cigarette away, she found and lit another for him. A slight shiver shook his body. It was impossible to deceive her. She knew that something was wrong. She sat on a cushion at his feet, resting her hands on his knees—waiting.

Yes, I'm a bit worried, he blurted out at last. It was nothing important, a mistake a young fool made twenty years ago. It will be all right tomorrow night, dear. I want you to go home now. You said you were dining out, you'll be late if you don't hurry.

Would'nt you rather I stayed with you? she whispered. I might help.

He did not reply, she remained seated at his feet. He longed for her to go, her presence made him afraid.

How long have you known Mr. Saintsbury?

He answered the question mechanically. For over twenty years. Then he felt a little warm hand folded inside one of his.

Jim, you must tell me what's happened.

He caught his breath. Nothing's happened—yet. Nothing's going to happen, he said rising suddenly, walking across the room and standing with his back to Iris. I wonder if anything did happen to me, he continued, speaking in a low hantering tone of voice, what you would do. I mean supposing just for fun, I turned out to be a great criminal, a thief, a murderer even, what would you do, Iris?

She did not move her position, she sat by the empty chair watching him. There was something reminiscent of the animal in her expression—of a faithful dog who cannot understand and cannot question, is only conscious of one thing, love and devotion to its master—the master who is its god, one who can do no wrong.

I shouldn't do anything, she said, after a moment's silence. What was it Ruth said to Naomi: Intreat me not to leave thee—for whither thou goest I will go; and where thou lodgest I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God, my God. Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried; the Lord do so to me and more also if ought but death part me and thee.

Francks folded his arms across his breast, his body trembled. I wish you were like other women.

Iris smiled. All women are like that, dear. Are you a great criminal, a great thief. She shook her head. I should only know one thing, that you were just my man, my king. Now will you tell me?

There's nothing to tell, he said hoarsely, and you mustn't question me. That fool Saintsbury came here digging up something from the past which I had forgotten, a silly youthful indiscretion. But it's all right, I'll see him tomorrow and settle with him. He turned and took her almost roughly in his arms. Good night, dear.

She clung closely to him. Nothing can ever rob me of you, Jim, not even this youthful indiscretion. She tried to speak lightly, but failed.

Nothing, he said firmly, looking into her eyes. Nothing but death.

She did not say another word. She had asked him and he would not tell her. He accompanied her down in the lift and saw her into the car and watched it drive away. Reuben de Fontaigne sat beside his sister, huddled up, a queer shapeless figure. He was below the average height, his body was crooked, his eyes set far apart; above them queer ragged eyebrows. The eyes themselves were generally veiled by long black lashes; but sometimes when dormant and undeveloped emotions stirred him, they grew [illegible] and bright and strangely intelligent, contradicting the usual expression of fear and cunning which his face generally bore.

Sorry to have kept you waiting so long, Reuben, Iris said, but Jim and I won't see one another again until we meet in the church.

I wish you'd never see one another again, he croaked. And then he laughed. Iris slipped her arm [illegible] the man all he had in the world, the only companion save his mother, and the only creature who loved him. His words hurt her, but she understood.

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby, and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out [illegible] she says 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'" (Signed) Mrs. G. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

How Careless

Jimmie Britt, not the pugilist, but the circus man, tells a story illustrating how soft-hearted and sympathetic some of the ringmasters are when the acrobats get hurt. The heroine of the story was a girl who did the four-horse act, the six-horse act, the trapeze, and the flying bar, for all of which she received the princely remuneration of forty dollars a week.

One day she fell forty feet from the trapeze and landing precipitately and ill-advisedly on her left wrist, broke the bone near the elbow. The ringmaster ran up and sympathized as follows, with certain profane remarks which are here excluded:

What in thunder do you mean by falling out of that trapeze? I'm a son of a gun if some of your stinks don't try to put a crimp into this show every time we lift the tent!

IN THE PANTRY OF ROYALTY

One Butler and Five Yeomen Take Care of the Silver and China

The pantries at Buckingham Palace consist of three large rooms on the ground floor, opposite the kitchens. In one is kept the silver in daily use, in another the china, and in the third the glassware is stored.

The three pantries are in charge of an official known as the pantry butler, who has five assistants, termed yeomen.

The duty of the pantry butler is to give out the silver, china and glass required daily for the royal tables and for afternoon tea; the pantry butler has also to see that all he gives out is returned to him after each meal.

The silver pantry is lined with mahogany glass framed cases, containing thousands of pounds' worth of silver plate. In one case there are two silver dinner services, containing several thousands pieces of plate. There are six hundred plates of various sizes several hundred silver dishes, hundreds of silver spoons and forks, and a most valuable collection of old silver drinking mugs. Two of the latter were in the possession of Queen Elizabeth and are reputed to be worth $50,000.

In another case are four silver tea services, one of which was a gift to Queen Mary from the German empress and is generally used at afternoon tea, which is served in the queen's private boudoir.

Overnight the pantry butler makes out the list of silver, china and glass that will be required in the royal dining room for breakfast, luncheon and dinner the following day, and his assistants put out on the tables in each pantry the required articles of table service which are taken to the kitchen and dining room after being inspected by the pantry butler.

The bulk of the royal plate is kept at Buckingham Palace, so when the court moves, a large quantity of it has to be taken to Windsor, Balmoral, or wherever their majesties may go.

The pantry butler is responsible for the packing of the plate, and it is always conveyed from one royal residence to another in his charge. The plate is packed in steel lined boxes made of oak, with iron bands. In the center of the cover of each are the letters "G.R.," surmounted by a crown. No china or glass has to be moved from Buckingham Palace, as a very large quantity of china or glass is kept in stock at all the royal residences.

The pantry butler is absolutely lord of his pantries, and none of the servants, with the exception of the pantry yeomen, is allowed to enter them without the butler's permission.

All the glassware used at the royal residence is of modern make, most of which now in use being purchased by the late king.

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows

The Glory of the Mountain

How beautiful is the life of the woods and mountains! It has been well said that a mountain is a mystery, especially if it be forest covered. What deep ravines and beetling crags does it not conceal, what rushing streams; and in the foothills are deep, silent pools, where grow the loveliest flowers, and where the deer come to drink, and sometimes a bear! On Passaconaway may be seen in the early summer that most beautiful of small wild flowers, the Mitchella; the petals are white at the outer edge, but toward the centre most delicately tinted. They cover the ground like a carpet, creeping among the ferns and mosses and the rich humus made of the fallen leaves of centuries. Then there is the Linnaea borealis, the favorite flower of the great naturalist Linnaeus, clinging to the moss with a complexion like a milkmaid; and oh! she is very, very sweet and agreeable. And you can find the chekerberry, the partridge berry, and the Indian pipe and the purple brunella, wild asters, and a host of other flowers.

Most glorious are the woods and mountains in the clear days of late September, when there has been a frost at night, just enough to show that the color fairies have been at work; then dark hemlock and white crag serve but to enhance the rich coloring. You may walk or drive for miles amid the most gorgeous colors in the most bracing air, and under the bluest skies, and see the granite peak of Chocorua glistening in the sunlight. It is hard to say when the mountains and woods are most beautiful at all seasons, even amid the winter's snows when snow shoeing and sleighing you go over the old routes once more, with the temperature below zero and the bright sun overhead.—H. Alexander Fussell in the Theosophical Truth.

Medical Women in Germany

It is stated that there are now 175 qualified medical women in Germany. They are distributed in the cities of Germany as follows: Berlin, 30; Munich, 7; Frankfort on the Main, 5; Hamburg, 3; Dusseldorf, Breslau, Karlsruhe, Heidelberg, and Bad Elster, each 2; while a number of other places have one each. Most of the women doctors in Germany practise as specialists, especially in diseases of women and children. During the last few years, according to the British Medical Journal, the chances of medical women have steadily become more favorable in Germany. They often secure posts in hospitals, institutes, and asylums.

George Ade Hears a Fable

The first time the Washington baseball team played Chicago this season, George Ade, famous for his fables in slang, met a friend in the street, who said:

Come on, George, and see this Washington team. It's a peach. It's a hummer. It's performance against Chicago will be so finished as the work of Jack Frost in a Georgia peach orchard.

That, said Abe, without cracking a smile, sounds to me distinctly like a fable in slang.

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now, however, the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform if shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to ensure car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded, whether with grain, coal, lumber, or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

Give England Siberian Climate

Great Britain is taking seriously the fanciful schem of Mr. Barker a Brooklyn inventor, to deflect the Gulf stream by a breakwater off the coast of Newfoundland. Newspapers are asking what the British government is going to do about it.

There can be no doubt, says the London Evening Press that serious trouble will follow any attempt to rob us of what little comfort remains in our wretched climate.

It is true England's loss will be a gain to a part of the British Empire, for Canada will get the benefit of a change in the Atlantic currents, but that is small comfort to Britons who will have to choose between a Siberian climate and emigration.

The plan which would cost about $200,000,000 is to build a breakwater 200 miles long on the eastern coast, thus deflecting the icy currents from Labrador. The Gulf stream would then be free to run north, conferring upon "The Mother of Snows," a radiant climate like that of France. The cold current would then turn south and refresh the parched shores of Africa.

Meanwhile England has the cheerful prospect of getting a climate like Labrador, which is in the same latitude.

An Irishman, passing a shop where a notice was displayed saying that everything was sold by the yard, thought he would play a joke on the shopkeeper, so he entered the shop and asked for a yard of milk. All right, sorr, said Patt. Roll it up; I'll take it.

A Revelation to the Unsuspecting

The hero of this story is a famous dramatic author. The plays he has written have electrified thousands of people, and he has mastered the art of making men and women laugh or cry at his own sweet will.

On one occasion a friend of his found him at his desk working on a new drama.

So you are writing a new play? asked the friend.

In reply the author confessed his sin.

No, he said, I am just remembering one from all those I have seen produced. It's easier.

Hostess (to one of the small guests)—Now, dear, will you have some bread and butter to finish up with?

Small Guest—No, thank you, I will have some cake to be going on with.

Excursions to Eastern Canada Via Canadian Northern Railway

Christmas fast approaches, bringing with it the thought of the folks back home and the wish to be with them once again, to share in their Yuletide celebrations. It may have been only last year since one returned, but still the magnetic influence of the old familiar hearth is making itself felt in a way that will not be suppressed.

Every Opportunity

Whether it be a trip to the East, South, or any other portion of the globe, every opportunity is at hand and open to all. As the weeks roll by new lines are being opened up all through the West. Settlers living in new towns, situated in outlaying districts hitherto beyond the pale of railroad development, suddenly awake and find within their grasp the transportation facilities, for which in many instances, they have been awaiting for years. The golden opportunity has arrived.

Today the Canadian Northern announces its twenty-second annual reduced excursion rates to the East, tickets to be on sale from Dec. 1 to 31 and good for return for three months. Extension privileges will be allowed at the end of this period if required, and stop-overs are permitted at most points en route.

Besides the offering of extraordinary cheap rates, the Canadian Northern is able to add another inducement to the intending traveller in the way of a choice of routes. These are as follows: Through Winnipeg—through Port Arthur—by way of Duluth and Chicago—or lastly via St. Paul and Chicago. To the old seasoned travellers probably either of the routes through the United States will appear the most fascinating. To those intending to go this way, it may be interesting to know there is no trouble to be expected with the United States Customs, as baggage is sent through without examination.

The Canadian Northern is also offering a considerably lower rate to the Old Country and Europe, which will show a great difference between that and the ordinary fare. Tickets are good for five months' limit and will be on sale from Nov. 10.

The company has a great reputation for its dining car service, working on the plan of pay only for what one orders, and has recently received a number of new diners of the latest pattern. The Canadian Northern also announces very low excursion fares for the month of December to the Central States, to such points as Duluth, St. Paul, Chicago, Sioux City, Des Moines and Omaha, so that many lonely homesteading bachelors from the States will have the opportunity of spending Christmas and three months at home.

OBLIGED TO QUIT BUSINESS

SO DREADFUL WAS THE SUFFERING FROM ITCHING PILES

After Twenty Years of Pile Torture Relief and Cure Came With

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

You take no risk and you make no experiment when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles. Many doctors still cling to the idea that nothing but an operation will effect a cure. But operations are expensive and dangerous, and often fail in their results. Some have been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment after operations had failed.

Dr. Chase's Ointment truly has a wonderful record as a cure for piles and all itching skin diseases. Here is a case which was reported recently:—

Mr. John P. Marshall, 14 Barnes road, St. John's, Nfld., writes:—"For upwards of twenty years I was troubled terribly with itching piles; at times so bad that I was obliged to lay up, unable to attend to business.

"I tried many treatments without benefit, until I accidentally read of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and found at last a cure by using this ointment. I only used one box and part of a second one when I was completely cured, and have had no return of the piles. That was eighteen months ago, and needless to say, I attribute this cure to Dr. Chase's Invaluable Ointment."

Many sufferers from piles have tried so many scores of treatments that they cannot believe that cure is possible. In order to convince the skeptical we are always willing to send a sample box free to anyone who encloses a two-cent stamp to pay postage.

Gall Stones Cured After 12 Years

A Winnipeg lady has been cured of gall-stones after suffering from that painful complaint for twelve years. She had taken many treatments and many remedies but each and all proved failures, until she took SANOL, the already well-known remedy for Gall-stones, Kidney-stones, Gravel, Kidney trouble, Lumbago and other diseases caused by uric acid in the system. It was a great victory for SANOL. So grateful was this lady that she sent a great number of her friends to us to be treated and in every one of these cases the results have been most satisfactory.

We are willing and anxious to supply the name of this well-known lady. We have also records of cures in every town and locality in Canada and we would be able to refer you to some of your neighbors for an opinion on SANOL.

This remedy is manufactured only by the SANOL MANUFACTURING COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD., 977 Main street, Winnipeg. For sale by most leading druggists or direct from the makers at $1.50 per bottle.

Western Manufacture

Our west is bound to be a great manufacturing field. In the first place there is the certainty of an enormous consumptive demand of the very best class there. The population is increasing rapidly, the production of the land is also increasing, and the people have the means to sustain a large per capital demand for manufactured goods. In the second place the west has water power and coal, and its means of transportation enlarged so that raw material from any source can be delivered at the factories. When the Panama canal comes into use Canada's western market will be brought within the range of British manufacturers' competition, and as the manufacturers of the western states are always to be reckoned with there, Canadian manufacturers will require to be very alert to meet the conditions.

"PROUD AND GLAD"

Because Mother Looked So Well After Quitting Tea and Coffee

A woman was almost distracted with dyspepsia and heart trouble.

Like thousands of others, the drug—caffeine—in coffee was slowly but steadily undermining her nervous system and interfering with natural digestion of food. (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the poisonous drug found in coffee).

"For 30 years," she writes, "I have used coffee. Have always been sickly—had heart trouble and dyspepsia with ulcers in stomach and mouth so bad, sometimes, I was almost distracted and could hardly eat a thing for a week.

"I could not sleep for nervousness, and when I would lie down at night I'd belch up coffee and my heart would trouble me. It was like poison to me. I was thin—only weighed 125 lbs., when I quit coffee and began to use Postum.

"From the first day that belching and burning in my stomach stopped. I could sleep as soundly as anyone and after the first month, whenever I met any friends they would ask me what was making me so fleshy and looking so well.

"Sometimes, before I could answer quick enough, one of the children or my husband would say, 'Why, that is what Postum is doing for her'—they were all so proud and glad.

"When I recommend it to anyone I always tell them to follow directions in making Postum, as it is not good to taste if weak, but fine when it has the flavor and rich brown color." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Plea for Women Police

San Antonio (Texas)—Six of the wealthiest and most influential women of this city, leaders in society, philanthropic work and women's clubs, have petitioned the mayor and city council demanding that women be placed on the San Antonio police force.

The petitioners not only demand that women be numbered among the coppers, but they also have picked out beats for the proposed new police women.

In setting forth their reasons for desiring women police, the petitioners declare such a departure in police affairs is necessary in the interest of public morals and for the prevention of crime against the youth of both sexes.

The signers of the petition further aver that the demand is made after a careful study of existing conditions and observations of the necessity of women on the force.

Although the names of only six of the foremost women of San Antonio appear on the petition sent to the mayor and city council, the women themselves say they could get 10,000 signers if necessary.

WHEN BABY IS ILL

When baby is ill—when he is troubled with constipation, colic, worms or cold; when his teeth are bothering him or when he is restless and cross and does not sleep well, give him Baby's Own Tablets. They are the mother's greatest aid in keeping her little ones well—thousands of mothers give their babies no other medicine because they knew the Tablets to be absolutely safe. They are guaranteed by a government analyst to be free from opiates and other harmful drugs found in so-called "soothing" mixtures. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Keep Screens From Rusting

Before putting screens away for the winter, give them a coat of kerosene. This will keep them from rusting. If they are treated in the same manner before being put up for the summer, you will have no trouble with mosquitoes, as this keeps away the tiny young insects, which are able to crawl in between the open spaces in the screens.

A Resourceful Scot

A Scottish tourist walking about the streets in Paris, some distance from the hotel, found he had taken a wrong turning, and to make things worse, he couldn't through ingorance of the language ask the way.

Then a happy thought struck him. By dint of signs he concluded a bargain with a fruit hawker for a basket full of gooseberries, and then, to the amazement of everybody, went about shouting:

Fine Scotch grossets! A penny a pun!

This went on for a while, till a fellow countryman rushed forward and asked:

Man d'ye think ye're in the streets of Glasca, that gang about like a madman crying grossets?

Ech! replied the hawker with a sense of relief, ye're just the man I was looking for. D'ye ken the way to the —— hotel?

A Subtle Rebuke

He was a wealthy youth, blessed with plenty of money, and a great number of people were ready to take it away from him. He lived in San Francisco, which city, according to reliable report, is as full of speed and action after dark as Ty Cobb is when he steals home with a winning run. One night the young man, full of check books and ideas, hired a string of forty cabs and hacks, and forming them in single file, led the procession down Market Street, the principal thoroughfare of San Francisco. His walk was slow, grand, and impressive, and the vehicles followed him at a snail's pace. It looked like a funeral of a pet dog or a Mohammedan.

Suddenly a policeman ran out and put about his neck strong but uncaressing fingers.

What are you trying to do? asked the officer of the law.

Why, said the leader of the procession solemnly, this town is dead and I'm burying it.

Whereupon they led him gently but quickly to the police station and showed him how to make a hole in his bank account.

A Misplaced "M"

Mrs. La Follette, wife of Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, tells of a country newspaper which in reporting the speech of her celebrated husband, intending to add as comment, "And the masses believed him," said instead, "And them asses believed him."

Speaking of that fish you caught. What about it?

I notice you modify its size to your various listeners.

Well, I never tell a man more than I think he'll believe.

Senator Borah is one of the sanest of the Republican Progressives in the Senate. He is a man of great legal ability and loves a legal argument. Also, he is one of the great debaters in the Senate and one of the few members of that body who have not been bluffed out by the brawny Bailey. He takes particular delight in clambering abroad that constitutional expert, heedless of his patronizing, his bullying or his sneers.

One of Borah's measures is a law providing for a bureau for children.

I assume, said the supercilious Bailey, that this bill of the Senator from Idaho is somewhat similar to that provision in the agricultural appropriation bill makes some sort of a similar arrangement for calves and pigs.

Exactly smiled Borah at the Texan. My bill seeks to have the government do for the children what it has already done for the calves and pigs.

Whereupon Mr. Bailey sat down heavily and became lost in Jeffersonian thought.

Another Verdict on New York

Soon after George Ade had put on his play "The Bad Samaritan," and had it swept off the boards by the condemnation of the critics and the disapproval of the theatregoing public, he hurled himself into a sleeping car and beat it back to his home in Indiana. As he stepped off the train one of his old farmer friends remarked:

George, I hear that your play failed in New York?

Yes, said Abe pleasantly, it failed, and I guess it must have been pretty bad.

That may be true, said the farmer, but what I don't understand is how in thunder New York ever found it out.

"SOME HA'E MEAT, AND CANNA EAT"

So Bobby Burns tersely describes the rich, but still poor, dyspeptics. But their case is not now so desperate as when Burns wrote. For the man who has the food now can eat without suffering for it, if he just follows the meal with a Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablet.

These remarkable tablets banish the troubles of the chronic dyspeptic—the man who is bilious—the sufferer from heartburn, gas on the stomach or occasional indigestion. You can eat hearty meals of wholesome food—and digest them, too—if you take Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets.

Compounded by expert chemists, after probably the best formula known to medical science, they are quick and certain in their action, giving prompt relief from all forms of stomach trouble, toning up and strengthening the digestive organs and bringing about permanent cures.

The Creston Review

Published every Friday at Creston, British Columbia, by the Creston Printing and Publishing Company, Ltd.

W. B. McCLURE - - Editor and Manager

The Review is the acknowledged advertising medium of the Creston valley, circulating in nearly one thousand homes throughout the Creston district and reaching out in a broad manner into other communities. Our advertising rates are based on the scale of the Kootenay and Boundary Printers' Board of Trade. Land purchase and land lease notices, $7 for statutory time. Display advertisements, $1 per inch per month; other advertising 10 cents per line first issue and 5 cents per line in succeeding weeks. Subscription rates $2.00 a year in advance. Our columns are open to contributions dealing in matters of local interest and the welfare of the community. Contributions must be brief and signed.

"Cooperation." The papers advise it, the officials talk it, social economists preach it; in fact "cooperation" has become the bye word of every class in the business world, but one.

The retailers are cooperating; they purchase their goods in common and agree upon a selling price. The wholesalers are doing it and have things much their own way; every class is cooperating, but one.

The ranchers have tried cooperation in a half hearted way, and like the Indian who having been told that an umbrella would keep him dry, plunged into a river to test it, they declare cooperation to be a failure without giving it a fair trial.

Cooperation is the order of the day. This is the age of cooperation, but the ranchers seem slow to profit by the example of those who have succeeded, and are loosing heart because cooperation demands a share of the profits, not seeing that their profits would go down were there no ranchers organizations owing to keen competition among themselves.

Wenanchee, Hood River and Yakima fruit districts have strong, prosperous cooperative organizations, which have men in the large cities who watch every condition of the market. Their organiaztions practically control the apple market.

Creston has its Fruit Growers Union but it is not getting the hearty support of all the ranchers as it should be. Possibly an idividual rancher can at the present time dispose of his produce at as good or better prices than the Union. Yet in time the competition of a strongly organized district will drive the individual rancher or small groupes of ranchers out of business, while the Uuion, in as large valley as this, if given the proper support at possibly a little sacrifice now, will grow to be able to compete with the other strongly organized districts and to even control the Prairie markets.

This is looking a long way ahead but the rancher who does not look a long way ahead is not the one who prospers. However it is not looking so far into the future—Say there are now only 60,000 apple trees in the valley and that in two years these trees will be bearing one box to the tree. Six hundred boxes fill an average car. Sixty thousand boxes will fill one hundred cars. Say in two more years these trees will be bearing two boxes to the tree, and that twenty thousand trees planted at later dates have just started bearing a box to the tree, it would mean one hundred and fourty thousand boxes requiring two hundred and thirty-three cars to ship them. However we know that there are more than sixty thousand trees in the valley, many of which are between five and ten years old, and that more than ten thousand trees are being planted each year and that the average yield is one box for each year the tree is old. Judging from this it can be safely said that the apple business will grow to an enormouse size in four or five years. The amount of fruit then grown will have to go farther than Crows Nest points to find a market and in order to dispose of it at all favorably the business will have to be in the hands of a strong cooperative association.

So the life of Creston as a fruit district depends on the strength of the Union and the strength of the Union depends upon the cooperation of the ranchers. The ranchers must work together for their own good as well as for the common good. Great things are in store for the fruit growers of this section provided they work together rightly. By reason of the acreage that can be put in fruit trees, this section can grow in production and power until it can control the Prairie markets. But cooperate or cooperation elsewhere will mean your downfall.

not to be desired that is not already here The mountains are massive and verdant In the huge timbers which deck their sides are found in abundance deer, cougar, bear, mountain goats and many other species of wild quadrupeds. The carefully cultivated valleys stand out in striking contrast to the forests primeval which run riot across the mountainous upper levels, great streams of pure water lend themselves to boating and to the king of sports of the section—salmon and trout fishing. From the viewpoint of scenery, of health, climate, location or industry Creston is, at least, one of the gardens of Eden.

Should the community be successful in its quest for incorporation and the subsequent installation of light, water and sewage facilities, Creston will at once come into its full heritage as one of the greatest valleys of fertile eastern British Columbia. Good transportation service is already obtainable between the Crow's Nest Pass and Nelson, but it will be only a matter of months until the traffic will warrant a double daily train service to connect at Yahk with the Spokane flyer to and from Moose Jaw. The Great Northern railroad from Spokane now runs two trains weekly into Creston.

In fruit growing, as in every other field of endeavor, there are failures. Since the raising of fruit has become an enterprise of growing magnitute and since large numbers of people have become associated in the work of fruit growing there has been consistently asked by prospective fruit ranchers the question: Does fruit growing pay? According to the thrifty folks new domiciled in the Creston district it does pay. It pays well if the grower knows how to handle his crops before maturity and to market them after it.

Outside of the specific instances detailed previously it is possible to strike a rough average list of returns from fruit ranching. The figures are quoted from average years in the surrounding districts, and are by no means the maximum which the hustler struggles for and frequently attains. Among the chief fruits grown are cherries, plums and apples, which provide the greatest remuneration. Under favorable conditions an acre of cherries will yield from $1,000 to $1,500. The approximate cost of cultivation and handling is thirty per cent or between $300 and $450 per acre per year. Plums, including prunes, give an average annual yield valued from $300 to $450 an acre net after the deduction of expences, in the matter of apples the returns are more greatly variable than in either of the foregoing fruits. A variety of causes are responsible, either for fluctuations in crops or in market values. Yet it has been established by the experience of many years that the grower can depend upon a net annual profit which will average well between $150 and $300 per acre net A concrete example of what is possible on a well handled fruit ranch is given by one rancher who has 17 acres of bearing apples, pears and plums. For the past six years these 17 acres have averaged a gross annual income of $400 per acre.

From such authentic figures it is patent that fruit growing pays when the work of cultivation is properly and thoroughly looked after. At Creston everybody says it pays and Creston is a representative fruit growing community of the best type. Here various varieties of soil, each suited to some particular branch of the industry are obtainable at different levels and at reasonable prices. The soil is free from alkali in most places and from hard gravel beds, and rock is not as prevalent as in many other districts in this section of the country.

Excluding the purely mercenary allurements of the country and considering the territory entirely as an ideal residential locality, Creston looms quite as large as it does on the horizon of the monetary viewpoint. The altitude is approximately 1,500 feet and the climate is such that the doctors indulge in fruit growing as a business and in medicine as a side line. In fact your correspondent found the community greatly distressed over the inexplicable accurance of two illnesses at the same time. History would inuicate that Creston is the fountain of good health.

MOVE FOR RURAL MUNICIPALITY

PETITIONS TO BE CIRCULATED

Believe Taxes Will Be Less Under Municipal Government.

$5.50 a head. He also said that these municipalities had given a bonus to the railroad for having entered their district, to sums between twenty and fourty thousand dollars, all of which is now paid.

The power plant question was also touched upon. It is discussed in an other column. The speaker expressed the belief that the telephone and water systems should become property of the municipality, saying that these utilities could be furnished the subscribers at lower rates.

Regarding the sewerage question in Creston, he read certain clauses from the act, stating that the district benefited only would have to be assessed, and that the step could be taken by Creston, therefore, without the interferance of the outlying districts.

Besides the taxes on real and personal property there are other sources of revenue, Mr. Edmonson said, that would go to the municipality. The C. P. R. and the Hotels would make up a great part of the funds, while the licensing of every business is in the hands of municipality. This revenue would decrease the taxes of the ranchers.

Communication

To the Editor of Creston Review.

Dear Sir:—

In last weeks paper I see an outsider has taken the wrong meaning of an item which was published in a previous issue of your paper and, which I sent in. In answer to same I would like to say three things. 1st. I am no news agent. 2nd. I was positive of what I said, and 3rd. My items are for Canyon City, and not outsiders.

I would also like to say that if anyone can prove that what I have said in any item that I have sent in isn't true, I will gladly apologize for it, in the meantime, if everyone (myself as well as well as others), would practice what the item referred to by "A Staunch Sympathiser" says, it would be very pleasant all around.

If "A Staunch Sympathiser" would analize the said item more carefully I am sure he would not feel justified in saying what he did.

Pick up any paper and look it over carefully and see if you can't find the same thing in print, I have seen it several times. It is an old adage and if practised by the people at large, then and only then will there be less scandal.

A Canyon City Correspondent.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World —Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the abdomen and a weakness there and often after meals a soreness in my stomach. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better and I can work with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM A. BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N. B.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Accelerating Brain Activity

In the early days of Wisconsin, two of the most prominent lawyers of the State were George B. Smith and I. S. Sloan, the latter of whom had a habit of injecting into his remarks to the court the expression, Your honor, I have an idea. A certain case had been dragging along through a hot summer day when Sloan sprang to his feet, with his old remark: Your honor, I have an idea.

Smith immediately bounded up, assumed an impressive attitude and in great solemnity said:

May it please the court, I move that a writ of habeas corpus be issued by this court immediately to take the learned gentleman's idea out of solitary confinement.

Advice From an Expert

George Washington Johnson stood before an avenging judge, and realized that all the evidence was against him. It was the same old charge. But, said the judge, with a perplexed frown, I don't understand, Johnson, how was it possible for you to steal those chickens when they were roosting right under the owner's window and there were two vicious bulldogs in the yard.

It wouldn't do you no good, jedge, foh me to 'splain how I caught 'em, replied the successful culprit. You couldn't do it if you tried it forty times, an' you might get a hide full of buckshot de ve'y fust time you put your laig ober de fence. De best way for you to do is to buy your chickens in de market.

Mr. Herbert Samuel, the Postmaster-General, is considering the advisability of issuing ready reckoners for post office clerks.

A Pleasant Purgative.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so compounded as to operate on both the stomach and the bowels, so that they act along the whole alimentary and excretory passage. They are not drastic in their work, but mildly purgative, and the pleasure of taking them is only equalled by the gratifying effect they produce. Compounded only of vegetable substances the curative qualities of which were fully tested, they afford relief without chance of injury.

TAKEN HOME ON A MATTRESS

How A Sufferer From Sciatica Found Permanent Relief.

Fierce darting pains, pains like red hot needles being driven through the flesh in the thigh, perhaps down the legs to the ankles—that's sciatica. None but the victim can realize the torture of this trouble, and many suffer from it hopelessly in the belief that it cannot be cured. This is a mistake; sciatica is a nerve trouble, and if the starved nerves are properly nourished with rich, red blood the trouble will soon disappear. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make just the new, pure blood needed to feed the sciatica nerve and drive out the racking pain. It has been proved over and over again that they can do this and we offer now the following additional piece of evidence. Mr. E. H. Pastorious, Harrow, Ont., says: "Some years ago I was terribly afflicted with sciatica, starting just in my hip and then extending through the leg to the foot. At the time I was attacked I was away from home and had to be brought home on a mattress in a spring waggon, and the agony of the trip was almost more than I could endure. Reaching home I was not able to sit up and remained in bed for six weeks. The doctor did not help me and I tried a number of medicines recommended by neighbors. I paid $5.00 a bottle for one preparation, but it was no better than the rest, and I began to think there was no cure for me. While suffering this untold misery Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended, and my wife got me a supply. In the course of a few weeks I began to feel better and could get around with the aid of a cane. I kept on taking the Pills until all the pain disappeared and I felt as well as ever I did. I have never had an attack of the trouble since, and although I am now 65 years of age I feel as vigorous as I did at 40, all of which I ascribe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you are suffering from sciatica or any nerve or blood trouble, begin to cure yourself to-day by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which will assuredly do for you what they have done for others, if you give them a fair trial. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Irish Compliment

He was an Irishman, and he had red hair and broad shoulders. Moreover, one glance at him gave you the impression that, as a nifty infielder in the whisky game, he had hung up a record for accepting all chances. A policeman, laying a heavy hand on one of the broad shoulders, began to make a few remarks about the necessity of a journey to the police court.

I don't care, said the Irishman, whether you take me before that judge or not. He's an old fool. That's all he is.

Do you really think he's a fool, asked the officer.

I think he's a fool, replied the prisoner, but I wouldn't like to take the chance of his feeling that way when you get me before him.

Cooking the Baltic Egg

In his hot letter to the King of Montenegro, Baron d'Estourelles de Constant accuses him of setting the world afire to cook his egg, for a second time. There is force in the borrowed figure. Montenegro can hardly furnish more than 50,000 troops by robbing the cradle and the grave, and a force so small cannot make much of a war. Far otherwise will it be if Servia, Greece and Bulgaria take the field with ten times as many men.

You're a fine little fellow, said the new pastor to the 6 year old son of his parishioner, at whose house he had arrived for tea. Won't you shake hands and let's get acquainted?

Nope, said the fine little fellow. Won't neither.

Why, asked the minister, have I done anything to displease you?

Yep, was the impolite response. Had to have my face an' hands washed just because you was comin'.

A well-known physician was examining a class of nurses. He described the condition of a patient and asked one nurse how much morphine in her opinion should be administered to the sufferer.

Eight grains, promptly replied the nurse. The doctor made no comment, and the girl passed on.

When her turn came again she appeared greatly confused and said to the examiner: Doctor, I wish to correct the answer I made the last time. I meant to say that one-eighth of a grain should be given to the patient.

Too late, remarked the physician without looking up from his question paper. The man is dead.

Oh, John, sobbed Mrs. John. I've done something awful and I'm almost afraid to tell you but I must! I made a most awful mistake this morning and sent your new dress suit to the rummage sale instead of your old one, and when I found out what I had done and ran over to get it back it had been sold

That's all right, Mabel, dear, said John amiably. I stopped in at the sale myself and bought it back for 35 cents.

No Raw Ones for Her

Rose Pastor Phelps Stokes was talking in New York about the untold good that had been accomplished during the summer by the various country week associations.

And how quaint, she said, were the comments of all those little slum urchins before the wonders of the country.

I once led a little East Side girl into a peach orchard, and, picking up a glorious peach from the grass, I handed it to her.

Eat it, I said. You'll find it delicious.

But she frowned and shook her head.

No, she said, haughtily. Oh, no, I never touch 'em till they're canned.

President Hadley of Yale was telling that it is a better thing to have written examinations of students instead of the oral ones, which were the rule of some years ago. He illustrated it thus:

Two gentlemen who were playing cards at a club recently were much annoyed by other members who stood behind their chairs and interested themselves in the game. Finally one of the players asked a spectator to play the hand for him until he returned.

The spectator took the cards, whereupon the first player left the room. Pretty soon the second player followed the example of the first. The two substitutes played for some time, when one of them asked the waiter where the two original players were.

They are playing cards in the next room, sir, was the waiter's reply.

How are you passing your vacation?

In an ideal way. I'm pleased nearly all the time.

That is rare. What is your method?

I spend two days in the country, then I'm glad to get back to the city. I spend two days in the city, then I'm glad to get back to the country. It's a great scheme.

Inadvertent Humor of Signs

Long before Dickens turned the limelight upon the Tooley Street sign, Carpets cleaned, advice given, furniture moved, and poetry written on any subject, the study of a city's signs has interested the strolling stranger, remarked a stopover tourist from the West.

How suggestive that sign of a couple of ice dealers we saw this morning in Georgetown, "Cool and High." And the versatality of his race was exhibited by an Indian in a sign over his shop on Ninth street, near the public library: Wood, Spaghetti, Coal and Olive Oil.—all the Italian curiosity.

You se da sign, was the Delphic response; I don't know now whether he had any or not.

As we neared the wharf, bound for Mount Vernon, my wife pointed to a great roof sign, over a large supply house: "Iron sinks; Wood Floats, it ran: Humph, she sneered contemptuously, we didn't have to come all the way from Indiana to find that out.

A novel adaptation of the automatic machine has been installed at one of the London railway stations. It is intended for people who make the station a rendezvous and run the risk of missing their friends. A penny placed in the machine brings a card and a pencil, and the message written, it is placed in the frame of the machine, and exhibited for three hours. The man who cannot keep his appointment is thus given a chance of making matters right with the other party to the arrangement.

Here, began a woman known to a writer in the Canadian Courier, here's an article in the evening paper on Women's Work for the Feeble Minded.

Her husband grunted—being in a reactionary mood. I'd like to know, he said, what women have ever done for the feeble-minded?

They usually marry them, dear, replied his wife, sweetly.

Eve a Ready-Made

There are three kinds of housekeepers, the homemade, the ready-made and the made to order. Of these the ready-mades are the most numerous, but the made to order are the most important. The homemades have existed for centuries, although not always. Eve was not a homemade. She was a ready made. Her first home in the garden was without tradition, precedent or a mother in law. In it Eve toiled not neither did she spin, and there is not the faintest suggestion that she ever offered anything but raw food to Adam. It is the made to order, or trained housekeeper, who can best meet living conditions to day.

An English tourist, who was telling an Irish peasant about the immense size of the British Empire, said:

Well, Pat, and do you know that the sun never sets on the King's domains?

No, your honor, replied Pat.

Well, such is the case, went on the tourist. But do you know the reason why?

Pat immediately answered: I suppose it is because Heaven is afraid to trust an Englishman in the dark.

A Classy List of Pies

The gentleman with a concave front and a large watch chain alighted from the train at a junction in a Western State and rapidly made his way to the dining room of the only hotel in the place.

What kind of pies have you here? he asked eagerly, of the kittenish old lady who stood at his elbow.

All four kinds, she replied, with an air of disdain.

What are they?

Open faced, cross bar, kivered up and the kind mother used to make, was the catalogue which she gave.

Going fishing?

Yep.

You don't seem very cheerful about it!

I'm not. You see I'm going with a fellow who has promised to take me where he always catches them.

Instead of "patching up" your house, repair for good with concrete

A FEW bags of "Canada" cement, some stone and sand and water, mixed and placed where needed, will make an old house look like new. What is more important, the improvements,—be they porch floor, foundations, steps, chimney-caps, or column-bases—are made to last. Time, wear and weather have no effect upon concrete, except to make it stronger.

Even if you have never used concrete, you can quickly learn how from our 160-page book,

"What the Farmer can do with Concrete"

Which we will send to you free upon request. It will show you how to build a concrete porch as well as how to use concrete for scores of other purposes around the home and on the farm.

POWERS ARE NERVOUS

EUROPEAN SITUATION CREATES A NERVOUS TENSION

A Congratulatory Telegram is Sent by Czar of Russia to Servia on Success of War—Taken as a Warning to Germany and Austria by the Triple Entente.

London.—In the present nervous tension resulting in the general European situation, extreme importance attaches to a telegram which the Czar of Russia sent to King Peter of Servia congratulating him that the Servian armies had been successful in Macedonia without the need of invoking assistance from the outside. No information has come as to the effect which this telegram, which was only made public at a late hour, has created in Vienna, but it may reasonably be surmised that it will be regarded as a most unpleasant and alarming demonstration. One has only to remember that but for German threats Russia would have mobilized against Austria when the latter executed her Bosnia Herzegovina coup.

Servia's territorial ambitions, now almost openly avowed are chief danger points in the relation of the great power. Austria will not tolerate a change in the status quo; Russia, by the Czar's telegram congratulating the Servians, practically approves and commends them.

A Vienna dispatch to the Daily Mail clearly states the Austrian position. The overwhelming success of the Bulgarian and Servian armies is not regarded as sufficient warrant for modifying the determination of Austria to maintain the status quo. Should it become evident, however, that the status quo can not longer be upheld, everything will depend on the attitude of Servia toward her Austria-Hungarian neighbor. This statement was furnished the correspondent on unimpeachable authority regarding the attitude of the dual monarchy toward he new situation created by the collapse of the Turkish army.

A message from Berlin says that while the German government has, of course, been very careful to refrain from any official provocative utterance concerning the Balkan situation, individually German artillery men sniffed openly, at the suggestion in London despatches that no better combination of circumstances could arise in favor of the triple entente of England, France and Russia to embark in war with Germany at a moment when Austria would not be able to offer Germany any assistance.

The situation was exactly the same a few years ago, it was pointed out when Austria seized the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina from Turkey. Russia threatened to interfere, and Germany was expected to come to Austria's assistance. England and France intimated that if Germany undertook to act, they would attack the Fatherland. Germany did mass troops on the Russian frontier and warn the Czar against intervention, whereupon England and France quickly subsided, and the Czar deserted by his allies, was compelled to hold his hand. This, said the Teutonic authorities, is what undoubtedly will happen again if the same situation arises, despite the Czar's telegram of congratulation to King Peter of Servia on his Balkan victories. It was agreed that the Nicholas message possibly was intended as a warning to Austria to keep out, but the Germans did not regard it as a warning which need cause them serious alarm.

CHOLERA DESTROYING HOGS

Objecting to Killing One Animal When it Sickens, Farmers Lose Heavily

Moose Jaw.—An outbreak of hog cholera would appear to have broken out in the province, especially in this district. Although it has been given other names, it seems certain that in many parts the sickness which has ravaged the herds, is none other than the decimating cholera itself. The authorities at Regina have been informed from several places. An inspector has been sent out but before his arrival in the affected territory, it has been too late to do anything. It seems that the farmers have grudged killing sickened animals with the result that whole herds have died off.

It is reported that some cases have been located in Saskatoon and many other places, but that the farmers refuse to admit that the mortality is due to cholera. Word has been received here, however that where the disease has been most prevalent it has been successfully diagonised as hog cholera by the authorities.

DRINKING CUP ABOLISHED

From Every Railway and Vessel in the United States

Washington, D.C. — Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh with one swoop has abolished the time honored public drinking cup from railroad cars, vessels and other conveyances operated in inter-state traffic, and from depots and waiting rooms of common carriers. This sweeping order against any drinking cup, glass, or vessel for common use, effective immediately, is in the interest of the nation's health and is a direct result of an investigation by the United States public health service, a branch of the Treasury Department, which holds the drinking cup to be a menace as a carrier of disease. A drinking cup, it is said may contain thousands of bacteria from disease-infected persons.

BLAMED FOREIGNERS

For Large Increase in the Canadian Drink Bill

Renfrew, Ont.—It is the people who come to us from all the nations of the earth that we blame for a large part of the increase of our annual drink bill in spite of our local option victory; also for the menace of the slum problem in our cities.

This extract from the annual address of the provincial president of the W.C.T.U., Mrs. E. A. Stevens, Toronto, was the dominant note in the proceedings this afternoon at the convention in session here. Mrs. Stevens dwelt at length on the import and consumption of spirits in Canada, the local option victories won in the province and the canteen question.

Col. The Hon. Sam Hughes received a considerable modicum of praise in the president's address for his action in regard to the abolishing of the canteen system.

Getting Little Real News

London.—The newspapers of England, which have a brigade of special correspondents as near the front as the rival army commanders will allow them to go, are angry over their poor showing, considering the immense expense. They find themselves paying for long dispatches containing state information and dramatic descriptions of places which the armies occupied the week before.

Punch hits the nail on the head by publishing a cartoon with the caption "The Freedom of the Press," and shows a war correspondent blindfolded and mounted on a blindfolded, hobbled horse. Two Balkan soldiers with fixed bayonets stand on each side of him while he is trying to write despatches.

The Bystander holds that the day of the war correspondent is over, saying:

Commanding generals have learned the lesson, taught by the South African war and the Manchurian war, that the war correspondent is a menace to successful strategy.

Taking Intervention

Rome.—A diplomatic representative of one of the Balkan states, a man noted for his statesmanlike qualities, was asked by a correspondent whether he thought intervention by the powers is at hand, and what welcome the intervention is likely to receive from the allies.

The chancelleries of Europe have been discussing that question for the last two months, he replied, but I don't think they are likely to come to an agreement before the Bulgarian army is under the walls of Constantinople. The Bulgarians will not enter Constantinople. The allies do not wish to add to the questions arising out of the war the very difficult problem of the Khalwifate and the Dardenelles. If when this point is reached European offers mediation we shall beg her to allow us to settle with the Turk alone

The children of the Berlin treaty have grown up and won by their blood the right to dispense with parental guidance. They know how to be discreet. If the powers really want to put an end to the war, they have only to compel the Port to proclaim autonomy for Macedonia.

WILL KNOW EXACT TIME

in Europe and America When Wireless is Established

Paris.—The exact time at a given moment, in America and Europe, will be established shortly by wireless telegraphy. About the middle of November it will be possible for the first time to establish with precision the longtitudes of America and Europe in their relation to each other by the exchange of wireless signals between the great station at Arlington, Va., and the Eiffel Tower in Paris and other European stations.

Commander Hough at the International Time Conference here declared that the observatory in Washington was now distributing the time with errors of only one-thousandth part of a second. Hitherto European and American time has been distributed by cable, allowances being made for loss of time in transmission, and the time has been re-adjusted only three times—in 1866, 1870, and 1872.

Getting Rich Through Mails

Ottawa.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, of the United States and Hon. L. P. Pelletier are uniting in a crusade against mail order sharks who are using the mails of both countries for fraudulent purposes. Get rich quick men are according to the post office authorities, increasing in Canada at a disturbing rate, many of those who have been driven out of New York, Chicago and other American cities, having turned their attention to Canada as a particularly rich territory for their line of endeavor. The matter has been taken up jointly by the heads of the post offices of the two countries, the American authorities are gladly co-operating in the effort to protect citizens of the Dominion from these fraudulent concerns.

TELEGRAPHS IN THE NORTH

Government Line to Port McMurray Progressing

Edmonton.—More than seventy-five miles of right of way of the Dominion Government telegraph line from Athabasca Landing to Port McMurray, a distance of 240 miles, have been cleared during the present fall under the direction of C. D. Currier, chief engineer, and J. F. Bennett, assistant who came into the city from the north. The line will be completed and in operation in about fourteen months.

C.P.R. HAS BIG INCOME

Gross Earnings in Nine Months Were $35,000,000

Winnipeg.—C.P.R. gross earnings in September were eleven and a half million dollars. Working expenses were seven and a third and net profits four and a quarter millions. Past nine months gross earnings were thirty-six millions; working expenses twenty-two and a half millions, and net profits thirteen and a half millions.

TO SHIP GRAIN SOUTH

ANOTHER OUTLET FOR THE REMOVAL OF CROP

It is Expected that the New Channel will Greatly Relieve the Congestion at the Terminal Elevators—Grain to be Shipped to Minneapolis Mills.

Moose Jaw.—Starting on November 8, grain will be shipped to Minneapolis and St. Paul at the same rate that it is now shipped to Fort William and Port Arthur.

This concession means much to Southern Saskatchewan, for grain will be shipped to the Minneapolis mills from here and from points east of here in large quantities. In short, this concession on the part of the C.P.R. will probably drain southern Saskatchewan and Alberta of its wheat, for navigation on the great lakes will soon be at an end, and then this will be a second outlet for the crop of the Canadian northwest.

Millions of bushels of grain, which otherwise would be shipped east to Fort William and stored there for the winter, will be sent south, and the terminal elevators will have a better opportunity to accommodate all the grain sent there which is too late for shipment east.

The car congestion is already serious in the southern portion of this province and in Alberta.

The C.P.R. has also announced a reduction of 15 per cent. in settlers' rates from the Pacific Coast states. This has been done with a view to obtaining more immigrants for Western Canada from the settlers resident on the Pacific slope south of the boundary.

Polish Feeling Awakens

London.—A despatch to the Daily Mail says:

For the first time since Napoleon's invasion of Russia a hundred years ago the White Eagle of Poland is raising its head and looking to the threatened conflict between Austria and Russia to free the Polish nation from the hated Russian yoke.

While the eyes of Europe are riveted on the battlefields of Thrace and Macedonia, a great national movement is spreading in Poland. It seems to unite all the Poles in common action for the possible outbreak of hostilities between Russia and Austria. The Polish nation numbers twenty-five million, of whom twelve million are Russian subjects, and over six million Austrian subjects. There are two million Poles in America.

The information upon which the correspondent bases the foregoing is somewhat slim, being to the effect that meetings are taking place all over Galicia with a view to removing the political differences existing between the different parties in Poland and between the Poles and Russians.

SUFFRAGETTE IS FREED

Miss Gladys Evans Has Had Punishment Enough, Holds Magistrate

Dublin.—Miss Gladys Evans, the militant suffragette, who was re-arrested October 23 for failing to report to the police, was discharged, the magistrate holding that the six days she had remained in jail was sufficient punishment

Miss Evans, who was sentenced August 7 to five years in prison for incendiarism, is out on license. After her release again today she declared that no matter how often she was arrested and punished she would not report herself to the police.

NEW SUFFRAGETTE PHASE

Australian Women Resist Law Against Long Hatpins

Sydney, N.S.W.—For wearing hatpins that protruded too far, most of them prominent in society, four women were convicted and fined today in a Sydney court. They went to jail rather than pay their fines, declaring they would not submit to iniquitous and unnecessary legislation.

The city authorities face a situation similar to that growing out of the suffragette demonstrations in England, as the women assert that if further arrests and imprisonment are ordered because of the hatpin ordinance they will declare a hunger strike in jail.

Coal Fields in North

Vancouver.—Malloch of the Dominion geological survey, Ottawa, who has just returned from the Ground Hog basin, a new coal field in the north, says:—

The field is hardly so extensive as at first supposed and is somewhat cut by faulting. There promises, however to be an enormous tonnage, available for mining if the coal can be described as an anthracite, picked samples running at 35 to 85 per cent in fixed carbon. One Vancouver company which is doing quite a lot of development will keep a party of workmen there during the winter.

Canvass of Volunteers in Vancouver

Vancouver.—In view of the possibility of a conflict in Europe, members of the volunteer militia in Vancouver during the last few days have been quietly approached with a view to ascertaining whether or not they are ready to go out to fight. The canvass of the men has been carried out in the quietest manner possible, much in the same manner it was done before the call ng of the colonial forces together at the time of the Boer war.

Heroism Honored

London.—The king has awarded the Edward medal (second-class) to Ernest Thackeray, who entered a man hole in a blast furnace at Scunthorpe, to rescue a fellow workman named Lightowler, who was overcome by gas. Lightowler was dead when he was taken from the manhole, and Thackeray was unconscious till the next day.

Bob Service Off to Balkans

Toronto.—Robert W. Service, author of "Songs of the Sour Dough," and other poems and stories of the Yukon and the west, is off to the Balkans in the hope of seeing some of the fighting between Turkey and the Balkan States. He will leave New York on Friday.

IMMIGRATION TO AUSTRALIA

In Seven Months 95,592 Went to Colony But in Same Time 45,623 Left

Ottawa.—According to official reports received here the Australian commonwealth during the first seven months of this year received 95,592 immigrants, while no less than 45,623 left the colony, thus showing a net gain in the immigration of only 49,969 during the period stated. Of the total arrivals 83,640 were British, the balance being composed of Germans, Italians, Russians, Greeks, Danes and a limited number of Asiatics and colored people. The activity of some of the Australian states in sending capable officers to Great Britain and the extensive circulation of the immigration literature, are in the main, responsible for the increased figures. All the third class accommodations on the principal lines of steamers leaving London for the Australian ports have been booked for several months ahead.

It is estimated that the present year will constitute a record as regards the number of immigrants landing in the commonwealth.

Calgary Seeks More Lines

Calgary.—Strong effort to induce the C.P.R. to construct a number of extensions which will in effect form a railway belt of the territory contiguous to Calgary, will be made by the Calgary board of trade. Following are the extensions and branch lines which the board will strive to have the C.P.R. build:—

A branch from a point at, or near Calgary to a point at, or near, Cowley and then south-easterly.

A branch from point at, or near Blackie, to a point on the Aldersyde-Lethbridge line, to a point on the Suffield-Kipp line, at or near township 12, range 15 west of the fourth meridian.

The extension of the Suffield-Kipp line in a north-easterly direction to a point near the mouth of Red Deer River to connect with the Swift Current-Bassano line.

Adopt Metric Carat

New York.—Fifty leading jewellers of the United States voted to adopt the metric carat as the standard of weight for diamonds. Under the new standard a carat will weigh 200 milligrammes; under the old its weight is 205 milligrammes. The international carat is in use all over the world, except in England, Holland, Belgium and the United States. A committee was appointed to ask congress to make it the only legal carat in the country.

Edmonton to St. Paul

Moose Jaw.—Next spring a through train between Edmonton and St. Paul will be put on over the Outlook branch which was opened last week. It will be a fast service and will shorten the time between those two cities by some twenty hours. Already the freight traffic over that branch is very heavy, over one hundred cars being received in one day from the north.

Offers a Third Cup

Chicago.—Sir Thomas Lipton will offer a third cup to be sailed for on the Great Lakes, according to announcement he made here at a luncheon given him by Chicago yachtsmen. The naming of the class in which the competition will be held, was left to a committee. Sir Thomas already is the donor of the Lipton trophy and the Columbia Yacht Club cup.

Railway Board Coming West

Ottawa.—The first autumn Western sittings, the Railway Commission has held within recent years will commence at Winnipeg November 11. The Board will also include in its itinerary Lethbridge, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Le Pas, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria. A sitting will be held in Fort William on the 8th.

Calgary Gets Valuable Collection

London, Ont.—The city of Calgary is to be the recipient of James Turner's famous collection of naturalist specimens. J. L. Moody of that city having purchased it from the London owners for the Calgary museum. The specimens of birds, animals and curiosities have been collected for the last half century.

Should Study Labor Conditions

Ottawa.—F. C. Wade, K.C., president of the Industrial Peace association, in an address before members of the board of trade advised a deeper interest and more study of the labor situation by the general public in Canada as one of the solutions of industrial difficulties.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct., 23rd, 1912.—The world's wheat market during the past week has been fluttering between the fear of the influence to advance prices on the part of possible developments in the European war, and the fact that abundance of wheat and other grain has been produced this year in Europe and North America, and the prospect that the next wheat crop in India and in the wheat growing countries of the southern hemisphere may also turn out large yields. For some days after the date of our last weekly review, there was a generally easier feeling in all wheat markets, and the strong market and sharp advance that took place from the 9th to the 14th inst., with its subsequent sharp reaction, was nearly passing out of mind. Yesterday and today, however a renewal of the war scare sentiment has developed and given prices another boost, and from the close of American and Canadian markets on Monday until the close of today prices show advances of 1½ to 2c. per bushel, and roughly they are 1c. higher than they closed this day week. Naturally in the present situation of things there must be thousands of merchants, millers and bakers, who desire to increase their holdings of the different grains and grain products they deal in. Such buyers are usually looking for a decline in prices before coming into the market to buy more than they need for immediate requirements, and this season many of them have doubtless held off, knowing that large crops had been raised and must come on the market sooner or later. The unfavorable weather in both Europe and America during August and September made great delay in the movement, and in the meantime the political situation in Europe broke down, taking most people unaware. It is scarcely more than two weeks since this happened, but the feeling of apprehension has been aroused, and it will probably wax and wane as the changing developments of the war situation are announced. In the meantime there has sprung up a largely increased demand for actual wheat by the legitimate trade and along with it increased speculative buying, and covering of contracts by shorts in the speculative markets, all tending to advance prices at present, but it will be well to remember that in spite of the war the production of grain and feed stuffs in the northern hemisphere this year has been unusually large in the aggregate, and provides a surplus above the year's requirements. Therefore, while we may see a more or less considerable advance in prices through sentiment caused by the war, or which is more likely a series of advances and declines as the war progresses, prices will in time come back to their commercial level as governed by supply and demand for consumption, and the evidence is that for some time to come the supply will be large and liberal. The movement of the crops has been delayed but in the United States and western Canada at least it is now in full swing. Visible supplies are increasing, but the shipping and export trade being so large the accumulation in storage centres is not so large as might be expected from the size of the movement. The primary movement in the United States since July 1st to date has been 137,073,000 bus. of wheat against 92,793,000 bus. in same period last year, an increase this year of 44,280,000 bus. and yet the U.S. visible supply is only 38,688,000 bus. against 61,815,000 bus. a year ago. Increase of exports of wheat and flour to Europe and the filling to some extent of depleted stocks in the domestic trade, accounts for this great absorption of the primary movement as compared with a year ago. Last week the increase in the U.S. visible supply was 2,251,000 bushels compared with an increase of 1,534,000 bus. a year ago. Our Canadian visible supply increased 2,224,000 bus. for the week compared to an increase of 483,000 bus. last year and it now stands at 11,428,000 bus. against 7,430,000 bus. a year ago. The European visible increased 3,486,000 against an increase of 1,200,000 bus. a year ago, and is now 81,660,000 bus. against 84,928,000 bus a year ago. The world's visible supply, according to Bradstreets, made last week the large increase of 11,284,000 bus. against an increase of 5,855,000 bus. a year ago; and stands now at 154,342,000 bus. against 175,643,000 bus. a year ago. The outlook for growing wheat crops and the seeding of new winter wheat crops in the various countries is good. In the Argentine and Australia the crops to be harvested in December and January are making good progress under favorable conditions. The month of November is liable to be a critical month on the crops in these countries as they are apt to run into drouth but so far the prospect is satisfactory. This week the International Agricultural Institute at Rome issued its estimates of the yield of the crops in the northern hemisphere for 1912 with comparison with 1911 as follows, in bushels, viz:

	1912	1911
Wheat ..	3,262,648,000	3,042,400,000
Corn	3,594,574,000	2,236,348,000
Oats	4,269,020,000	3,536,340,000
Rye	1,382,855,000	1,258,560,000

These figures include all world's crops except the Argentine, Australia and Chili.

In our Winnipeg market trade during the week has been active and demand usually good. The movement of grain from the west is now the largest on record. In the last seven days there have been inspected at Winnipeg 7034 cars of wheat against 5699 cars in same period last year. This means that there are over a million bushels of wheat per day rolling past Winnipeg, besides from 250 to 300 cars per day, composed of oats, barley and flax. The big movement has begun to cause accumulation in the terminal elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur. Last week there was an increase of 2,191,592 bushels of wheat at these points, and the total amount in store was 8,010,226 bus. against 5,898,110 bus. a year ago. The shipments were 3,877,051 bus. against 4,285,775 bus. same week last year. The percentage of No Grade, or tough wheat coming along is now much less than it was two or three weeks ago. To-day's cash prices are 1 Nor., 91c; 2 Nor., 88c; 3 Nor., 87c; No. 4 wheat, 83¼c; No. 5, 74c; No. 6, 63c; Feed wheat, 58c; No. 1 Alberta Red Winter, 91c; No. 2 A.R., 88c; No. 3 A.R., 87c. These prices are for cars just past Winnipeg, cars actually in store Fort William are worth ½c. to 1c. more. Futures closed Oct. 92c; Nov., 90⅝c; Dec., 87⅛c; May, 93⅜c.

Oats—

The receipts of oats are liberal and demand is good but not urgent and prices are about unchanged on the week. Today's prices are No. 2 C.W., 38½c; 3 C.W., 37c; Ex. 1 Fd., 37½c; 1 Fd., 37c; 2 Fd., 36c. Futures closed Oct., 38⅝c; Nov., 36c; Dec., 34⅛c.

Barley—

The barley market is a little easier under large receipts but demand is fair. To-day's prices are No. 3, 55½c; No. 4, 51½c; Rejected, 47½c; Feed, 47c.

Flax—

The flax market has suffered another decline of about 4c. on the week. Receipts are large and quality is good. Today's prices are No. 1 N.W. Canadian, 134c; No. C.W., 132c; Futures closed Oct., 132½c; Nov., 134½c.; Dec., 129c.

All prices are based on delivery in store Fort William, Port Arthur and Duluth.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VI.—FOURTH QUARTER. FOR NOV. 10, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Hos. vii—Memory Verses, 2—Golden Text, Isa. v. 1 (R.V.)—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

I am in doubt about this chapter being the one assigned for the world's temperance Sunday, but it is the one on the printed slip of lessons for the year, and we will find a profitable study by taking some statements from the whole book, which we must consider in order to understand this chapter. There being no memory verse, I have suggested verse 2, because our great failure as well as theirs is that we do not consider Isa. 1, 3; v. 12; xlvi, 19; Mark vi, 52. As to our own doings, they are the great hindrance and keep so many from turning to God (Hos. v, 4 and margin). As to the king, made glad by lies and wickedness, joining hands with scorners and giving himself bottles of wine (verses 3-7). Ahaz would fill the bill perfectly (II Chron. xxviii, 1-4, 19). Pride, drunkenness, rebellion against God, giving strength to strangers and unseious but manifest physical failure (verses 9, 10, 13, 14) are some characteristics of the drunkard set forth in these verses.

In verses 11, 16, we see reliance upon human help instead of upon God, and we are reminded of the many cures for drunkenness tried in homes for inebriates, when there is only One that can really deliver. He is always ready to have mercy and may be heard saying to the drunkard and to every sinner, "Thou hast destroyed thyself, but in Me is thine help" (vi, 6; xiii, 9). Israel, here called Ephraim, is spoken of in many ways and by many figures regarding their turning away from the Lord, and these words are true also of all sinners. "Destroyed for lack of knowledge, forgotten the law of God, left off to take heed to the Lord, have sown the wind and shall reap the whirlwind, have plowed wickedness and shall reap iniquity" (iv, 6, 10; vii, 7; x, 13). The cry of the Lord to the wandering ones to return to Him is heard in such words as these: "Return unto the Lord thy God, for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity. Take with you words and turn to the Lord. I will heal their backsliding; I will love them freely" (xiv, 1, 2, 4).

Two remarkable figures describing the professed people of God in their wanderings from Him are, "A cake not turned;" "An empty vine bringing forth fruit unto himself" (vii, 8; x, 1), suggesting the life that is right outwardly, but wrong on the other side, and also the life which seeks only its own happiness. Drunkards, opium fiends and such like are of all people, apt to be the most selfish and unreasonable and rebellious, counting all others foolish and mad, joined to their idols, and desiring to be let alone (ix, 7; iv, 16). Yet for even such there is deliverance if they will only turn to the Lord. Prophecy has become to me a fascinating study since I began to receive it as a light shining in a dark place—the words of the Holy Spirit by holy men, that we might know what God is doing and is going to do, written for our learning that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope (II Pet. i, 19-21; Amos iii, 7; Rom. xv, 4); since I have also found that He, Jesus Christ Himself, and His people Israel are the center of all the prophecy and that everywhere His and their glorious future is predicted as bringing blessing to the whole world (Acts x, 43; Rev. xix, 10; Isa. lx, 1-3; lxii, 1-3). In all prophecy He tells Israel plainly their sins, rebukes them, pleads with them, chastens them, but always tells of a glorious future, when they shall see evil no more, after they shall have truly repented and received their Messiah.

We might not have thought that Hos. xi, 1, had any reference to Christ. "When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my Son out of Egypt," if we had not read it in Matt. ii, 15. But everywhere there are such plain or hidden references to Him. See His and their glorious resurrection in chapter vi, 2, 3: "After two days will He revive us. In the third day He will raise us up, and we shall live in His sight. His going forth is prepared as the morning."

In the revised version that last clause is "sure as the morning." Rotherham translates it, "Like the dawn is His coming forth assured." And another translates it: "His coming is as certain as the dawn." It is perfectly in accordance with Heb. ii, 3; Heb. x, 37. "Though it tarry, wait for it, because it will surely come, it will not tarry." "For yet a little while, and He that shall come will come and will not tarry." In the context of these two and in two other places we have the four times repeated saying: "The just shall live by faith" (Heb. ii, 4; Rom. i, 17; Gal. iii, 11; Heb. x, 38). May we follow on diligently to know the Lord until we see Him face to face.

The words in Hos. xiii, 14; concerning death and the grave takes us to Isa. xxv, 8, 9, and on to 1 Cor. xv, 26, 54, 55; Rev. xxi, 4, when the last enemy, death, shall be destroyed and from such words as these I feel authorized to say that God hates death. What more important word could we have for our souls than Hos. xii, 6: "Turn thou to thy God. Keep mercy and judgment and wait on thy God continually." The message is not Hosea's, but the word of the Lord by Hosea, who was contemporary with Isaiah (Hos. 1, 1, 2).

May be Another Strike

Calgary.—That a strike of mine workers in the Crow's Nest district would result unless the operators and employees settled their differences over wages day shortly was the opinion expressed by Clem Stubbs, president of the district 18, United Mine Workers of America. The miners have made several ineffectual attempts to have the differences submitted to a board of arbitration. The Crow's Nest pass coal companies is the company involved and a strike would directly affect 2,000 miners in the district.

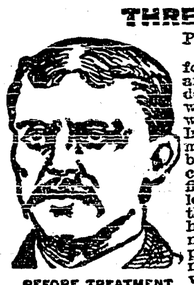
THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS



BEFORE TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

Communication

To the Editor Creston Review:—

If the writer of the Canyon City notes ap published in last weeks issue of the Review had used less slang and slurs and more common sense, it would have been greatly appreciated by a number at least in this community.

We cannot but think that the writer is not a resident of Canyon City, as no person would cast so many insuations upon a community of which he is a member, and if he is an outsider he is an outsider, he is not qualified to write for us, as his notes must be but fragments of malicious gossip at the best.

We hope to see no more unpleasant allusions in the Canyon City notes.
