AT CASCADE CITY.

Several Hotels and Business Houses Already There.

WILL BE A GOOD TOWN.

Ample Accommodations on the Route--Contractors Are Preparing to Open Up.

As the work on the line of construction between Robson and Cascade City gets more thoroughly under way, the contractors, Messrs Mann, Foley Bros. and Larson, are gradually letting contracts further out. This is done as fast as the tote road is completed from point to point. At the same time it is the policy of the contractors to concentrate as much labor as possible on the part of work already let out. Nevertheless there seems to be great attraction to workmen for work far out—"distant fields look green"—and there are many who are foolishly tramping to the end of the work and waiting for new outfits to commence, when they might be at work near Brooklyn, where workmen are in demand.

However, interest in likely points located in the interior continues to grow, and at present many are looking to Cascade City as a place that will be good for some time to come. A correspondent of the Brooklyn News writes that there are now two hotels running, with five more building. Several general stores and a good dry goods store are among the other businesses represented. While business generally is none too brisk, there is a good deal of freighting going on. Two stage lines run through there and twenty four-horse teams pass the city daily. Lots on Main street are selling from $800 up, and on side streets they bring $300 and $400. Lots can be rented for $10 to $20 per month. Appearances indicate that Cascade City will be overdone.

The railway contractors have let a contract for a warehouse, although the main supply depot will continue to be at Brooklyn. They have also ordered the construction of a hospital. Freighting from Bossburg costs $15 per ton. Donald McLeod, purchasing agent for the contractors, started Wednesday evening for Cascade City, where he will arrange matters for the reception of stores.

Those who take the overland route to Cascade City will find good accommodations along the route for stopping over night for both man and beast. There are at present seven or eight hotels in operation and all of them appear to be doing a good business. A townsite has been laid out at Gladstone, where S. J. Wiseman has a hotel, and where there will also be a good general store. Four miles this side of Gladstone there will soon be another townsite at the meadows. This is said to be the entrance to the Burnt Basin, a rich mineral district. It is also to be the terminis of the proposed extension of the Sheep Creek trail from Rossland, the building of which is being considered favorably by Gold Commissioner Kirkup of that city.

A number of Brooklyn people are noticed in business along the line, and our energetic citizens are constantly reaching out for their share of the business. For the last ten days the forest fires have been very troublesome, but Monday night's rain has put out many of them and has also laid the dust, which was getting to be many inches deep.

THE NEWS has made arrangements for the sale of the paper in Cascade City, where its many friends can secure it weekly of C. W. Hill, news dealer.

HAVE A MODEL CAMP.

J. G. McLean & Bro., Erecting Log Buildings.

One of the most popular firms of contractors in railroad work in this section is that of J. G. McLean & Bro. In proof of this is the fact that sub-contractors and individuals are always anxious to secure work under them. As noted in last week's NEWS, this firm secured a three-mile contract about 26 miles out, and have been busy for some time in getting established and ready for business.

This contract, like most on this line, consists largely of rock work, including two short tunnels. This means that there is several month's work ahead for at least 200 men. Accordingly most substantial quarters have been established, the buildings being of logs. Six four-horse teams are kept busy constantly hauling supplies and merchandise for the camp, each team making two round trips weekly. The outfit of McLean Bros., is one of the most complete on the line and of itself represents an investment of $8,000. An idea of the expense of maintaining such a camp may be had when it is remembered that hay at that point costs the goodly sum of $60 per ton.

Another Road Hotel.

H. W. Cotton has this week completed a commodious road house 18x24 feet, with eight good rooms and a kitchen attached. The place is located about six miles out, and teamsters are glad to rest there after the long up-hill trip. Mr. Cotton's enterprise is the growth of his business originally started a few weeks ago under canvas. He reports much trouble of late in fighting forest fires.

FOREST FIRES OUT.

This Week's Rains Were a Great Benefit.

For the last several days the heavens have been open intermittently and welcome rains have fallen, laying the dust in good shape and making the roads passable for the long line of teamsters constantly passing back and forth.

For a couple of weeks or more the forest fires in all directions have been growing more and more troublesome and dangerous, until they were becoming a serious problem to freighters, prospectors and men on the construction. At night Brooklyn was surrounded by a glittering circle of flames which lit up the mountain tops on both sides of the lake. Far up and down the lake the smoke was so dense that navigation was seriously impeded. Now, however, much to the relief of all, the fires are all out and everything is now plain sailing up and down the line, and out on the construction work.

Porcupine Hotel.

J. H. Bolan returned Thursday from a trip to his new road house, the Porcupine Hotel, which he has just opened with J. Ennis, another old hotel keeper. The house is located 12 miles out and is a commodious structure 20x36 feet, with a barn for 16 teams. The license has been secured, the house opened to business, and it is already doing a good trade. Mr. Bolan also states that everything is quite in the "blind pig" line.

Application for Liquor License.

We, the undersigned, King, McInnis & Co., intend to apply in 30 days' time to the gold commissioner for a liquor license for our hotel, located 14 miles from Brooklyn, on the wagon road to Christina lake. KING, MCINNIS & CO., Brooklyn, B. C., Sept. 3, 1898. 4t

A 500 KEG BLAST.

Largest Amount Ever Used in Railroad Work.

12,500 LBS. OF POWDER.

Occurred on Videen's Work, 12 Miles Below Brooklyn, and Displaced 40,000 Yards of Rock.

What is said to be the largest blast ever set off in British Columbia, was exploded Monday of last week on the construction line between Brooklyn and Robson, and consisted of 500 kegs of black powder, each of which weighed 25 pounds. Cases are on record where 100 or 200 kegs were set off, but as far as known Monday's blast broke the record.

The blast was exploded on Videen's contract, some five stations of which had been sub-let to J. Nelson & Co., men of wide experience in this work. The explosion took place at 9 a. m. and as a result over 40,000 cubic yards of rock were sent hurling down the steep mountain side to the lake. It took 17 men three days time to bring up enough soft earth to tamp down the 500 kegs when they were finally placed in the T in the short tunnel prepared for them. This will give some idea of the rocky character of the country. The blast was set off by electricity, and the place of operations was about 12 miles from Brooklyn and 6 miles from Robson.

As the powder was fired, the reverberations went echoing back among the hills for some minutes, and startled even the inhabitants of the ancient berg of Robson. The steamer Trail, which was about passing, was held for a few moments as a safety precaution until all danger was over.

Railroad men generally are talking about this great blast, but they will soon have an opportunity for telling a larger story, as Mr. Nel- is preparing to put 700 kegs of powder in another single blast.

SOME OF OUR MINES.

Active Development on Brooklyn Mountain.

A NEWS man, wishing to see for himself what the now well-known Brooklyn mine was like, made the trip to the property, which is located over five miles southwest of Brooklyn by a passable trail. Arriving at the top of the mountain the camp was found prettily located on the highest point in a grove of trees. With the owners, W. C. Toppock and W. S. Bate, a visit was made to the workings on the property. One shaft is down fifteen feet, and shows a well-mineralized vein of copper and silver with a lead four feet wide, which is most promising. At this point is where most of the work has been done.

At the farther end of the claim an open cut has been made showing a strong ledge full of mineral more than three and one-half feet wide. The values here are both in copper and silver, and there is every probability of improvement with depth. Both Coppock and Bate are determined to do sufficient work to prove the permanency and size of the vein and are laying their plans accordingly.

About two miles east of the Brooklyn group is a location called the Mountain Jack, owned by George Oleson, which has every promise of turning out to be a good property. Mr. Oleson will do some work on the claim this summer, and feels confident that he has a good copper proposition.

CONSTRUCTION NOTES.

There are now nine good stopping places between Brooklyn and Christina lake on the tote road.

Jack Hastings started out Monday to inaugurate operations on his contract, some 28 miles out towards the lake.

One tie cutter lost a lot of 400 ties last Sunday by fire, and several others had narrow escapes of a similar characier.

John Twohy's camp, two and a half miles out, is still short of help. Quite a number of men can get work there any day.

Contractor Olson has made a good start on the approaches to his 700 foot tunnel, some 23 miles out owards Christina lake.

Foss & McDonald now have 135 men on the pay roll, which is all they need at present. None of their contract is let out by stations.

Mr. Jordan, of Burns & Jordan, who have a mile and a half of rock work, was in town Tuesday. He stated that they now have over 200 men at work, but are still needing more. Their tunnel is 330 feet long.

A. C. McLean & Co. have been clearing ground for their second camp this week at Gladstone. They are said to have a two and a half mile contract there on the right of way.

On Monday the tote road had been built about 28 miles, leaving four miles more to reach the lake. The tote road camp was moved a couple of miles further on Thursday.

The remains of Andrew Scott, known as "Scotty," who was drowned near Robson some two weeks previously, were found there ast Saturdây, and upon authority of Coroner Arthur of Nelson, were buried at once, being very much decomposed. Scott was an employee of Contractor McHugh, whose men attended to the interment.

McPherson Bros. & Stout have just completed a pole road a mile long to the site of the new mill, which will soon be running at their second camp, twenty miles out.

Every boat now brings in a large contingent of laborers, who are soon absorbed by the different camps up and down the line. Several contractors have regularly employed agents in Brooklyn, to secure help.

STR. STICKEEN CHIEF SUNK.

Two Well Known Residents of Trail Are Probably Lost.

It is feared that Captain Nesbitt and Archie Shiels, formerly of the steamer Kootenay on the Arrow lakes, were killed in the wreck of the Stickeen Chief, which occurred a few days ago in the Yukon traffic. Captain Nesbitt was captain and Mr. Shiels was purser of the steamer. The wreck is believed to have been caused by an explosion of the boilers, for although 42 passengers and a large crew were on board none of them have been found and the only relic of the disaster so far recovered has been a little flotsom on which floated a dog. Captain Nesbitt was in a number of accidents while he was in the Arrow lakes and Columbia river service, but was never hurt, and was classed as one of the best steamboat men in the northwest. He was in charge of both the old Columbia and the Nakusp when they burned down, and was also in charge of the Nakusp when she was stranded, but in each case everybody on board was safely landed. His friends are hoping that he and Mr. Shiels have escaped the present calamity.

LATER—Reports say that the officers of the ilf-fated steamer were rescued.

CZAR'S TEN STRIKE.

Emperor Nicholas of Russia has surprised the entire world by making a proposal looking to the disarming in large part of all the nations of Europe, for the purpose, he claims, of making more secure a universal peace. He thinks the time is propitious for such a move and invites the powers to take part in an international conference for the purpose of securing the desired end. Coming from such a source and with such evident sincerity, the proposition of course has the immediate attention of the civilized globe. Especially is this so from the fact that another fearful conflict seemed imminent. The Peace Society, it goes without saying, heartily endorses the proposition, which has been its dream for many years.

At first thought there are many insurmountable difficulties in the way of the consummation of such an idea. While the press of Europe and America commend the Czar for his sincere endeavor for the promotion of a lasting peace, there is nevertheless, a prevalent idea that it is utopian in the extreme. The English press especially doubts the practicability of the scheme and points out its several weaknesses.

With Russia armed to the teeth, and apparently seeking a pretext for war with Great Britain over the Chinese question, it is no wonder that the proposition is a complete surprise to all diplomats and politicians. Whether, if preliminaries could be arranged, a treaty would be drawn up and adhered to that would secure the desired end, is a grave question. History shows that it only needs sufficient so-called provocation to break any and all treaties. Nevertheless, if the step is really taken, it will be a long one in advance. It is to be hoped that the Czar will give further evidence of his sincerity by making additional advances toward a general treaty of peace among the nations of the earth.

SEND IT ALONG.

Nearly every man, woman and child in busy Brooklyn has friends or relatives back east, on the coast or in other climes, who would be more than glad to learn something about this part of British Columbia, and especially about this town. To do this properly and satisfactorily would require more time than most persons have to devote to such a purpose.

But the NEWS, always on the alert for the best interests of Brooklyn, is willing to lend a hand to help out in such a worthy cause. Those who would like acquaintantances elsewhere to know in what kind of a place they are located, can have the NEWS sent to any address on this continent for 25 cents per month. We will attend to all the detail of addressing, wrapping and mailing—taking it all off your hands. A month's issues will give a pretty fair idea of the place. Send along your two-bit pieces and address to match, and we'll do the rest. If you think it's a good thing push it along.

UNCLE SAM could give the Dominion authorities pointers on expedition in establishing much needed post offices. An inspector was sent up the Yukon and established no less than twenty new offices. Some of them were completely organized in twenty minutes after the boat landed, post master appointed, commission issued, contract let for carrying the mails and all details completed and settled on the spot. If inspector Clum, who attended to the matter, had been as deliberate as Inspector Fletcher seems to be in regard to Brooklyn's pressing needs in this line, the Yukoners would be regularly served sometime on the next earth if not on this.

J. FRED HUME, our member in the legislature, has been honored with the portfolio of minister of mines by the Hon. Mr. Semlin in the formation of his new cabinet. But the chances now are that a general appeal will be made to the country within the next two months. What the result will be when the dice box is next shaken up is not easy to determine, but that it will be run on Dominion lines goes without saying.

GALLANT old Admiral Schley was Washington's favorite last week. When he passed through the different government departments, there was a great demonstration from the multitudes of clerks, and the ladies expressed their admiration by kissing the old sea dog over and over and over again. He probably thinks now that it was worth while to bottle up Cervera's fleet and then destroy it.

CONTRACTORS and others would do well to remember that there is a severe penalty for not putting out camp fires. They are raging on all sides of us at this time, on both sides of the lake and they cannot be from burning right of way, as that was finished some time since. In many cases, along the tote road teamsters and travelers have to go through a gauntlet of fire.

THE Turner organs on the coast have sent out the rumor that there will be another general election in the province sometime in October. This prompts the Opposition press to deny it with considerable vehemence. To a man up a tree, it looks as though neither party has enough of a majority to work satisfactorily in the coming legislature—notwithstanding the claims made.

DON'T you think your friends will be interested in the town where you are located—Brooklyn? If so, send them the NEWS and they'll get the whole story. It will cost only 25 cents for a month, and we'll attend to wrapping, addressing and mailing for you. Bring in your quarters, and we'll do the rest.

WITH silver comfortably above the 60 mark, and still rising, the whole Kootenay should take another start at once and will undoubtedly do so.

THE OBSERVATORY.

An enterprising youngster was distributing real large, green circus bills last week in town. Of course the show was the "best on earth" and everything in it was the largest of its class, no matter what the class. Nothing was said, however, about the pink lemonade and miscellaneous side show trimmings; yet it may be safely inferred they are all on deck, with a few other ingenious schemes to attract nimber dimes and quarters. The show was advertised to appear at "Revelstock," wherever that may be, on the 31st. Whether it did or not the Observer is uninformed, but it will wager that no one from busy Brooklyn was taken in by this modern imitation of P. T. Barnum.

✦✦✦

"Aunty" Leon was in the city this week, arranging to go out on her accustomed work of relieving distress on railway construction. Aunty is 53 years old, but as spry as many a younger woman. More than one laborer on the Crow's Nest Pass has grateful rememberance of her ministrations in one way and another. She is located for the time being at McPherson's saw mill and no doubt many a needy man will bless the day that she reached the 'Robson-Penticton construction line.

✦✦✦

Recently a self-advertised, "financier" in the British Columbia newspaper world, so the observer is informed, has been soliciting business in Brooklyn, for his idle presses. Still another gentleman in the same precarious line of trade has visited this busy berg on the same sort of a mission; but as far as can be learned, in neither case did the paystreak pan out to any appreciable extent. In fact, in one case, things were so "windy that results were in accordance. No doubt one reason for this failure to lure away trade from this city was the fact that Brooklyn's business men are well aware that anything in the line of Printing or office stationery can be supplied right here by the NEWS. And this is where Brooklyn's business men may be called level-headed. The more cash sent out of town for goods that can be had here, the less will there be spent right here. The NEWS man, in this connection, wishes the Observer to once more call the attention of our live business men to the fact, that he can supply ANYTHING needed in the printing line, no matter how large or small. And it will be the best printing ever turned out since the world began.

THE OBSERVER.

Steamer Changes.

The Lytton has been taken off the regular run between Brooklyn and Robson, in order to haul some 40,000 cords of wood to the Trail smelter, and do other general work. Captain Fossland of the Rossland, who is thoroughly familiar with the lower rive, now handles the Lytton, Captain Short of the Kootenay is now on the Rossland, and Captain Whitmore of the Lytton presides in the pilot house of the Kootenay.

The Illicilliwaet has taken the run of the Lytton and stops at all intermediate landings between Robson and Brooklyn. For several days the Myrtle B has not been on her regular run, and may be transported to Christina lake.

Wednesday afternoon while Officer DesBrisay was on duty and Officers Forrester and Humphrey were absent, an incipient riot was promptly quelled by Mr. DesBrisay taking a hand and promptly arresting D. Cuerielli, an Italian, the chief instigator of the trouble. He was tried before Justice Cooper the same day and got off with the light fine of $15 and costs.

Kootenay Laundry will call at the hotels for washing every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Nothing but first class work done. Work

Just as we go to press an interesting case is being tried before Justices Cooper and McGregor, in which Richard Crozier, who has been working for the contractors, is suing Mann, Foley Bros. & Larson for cash payment of $71.35 for wages, refusing to accept a time check. The outcome of the case will be of much interest to laborers and contractors generally, as it is one of the first to be tested under the "Kellie Truck Act."

COMING AND GOING.

A. J. Smith, of Kaslo, was doing business in town this week.

Henry M. Boss, who has been on a prospecting trip, returned to Brooklyn Sunday.

Made First Payment.

Mrs. H. Y. Anderson and Frank Fullmer of the Anderson House went to Nelson Wednesday evening to receive the first payment on the $150,000 bond on the Beatrice mine, located in the Trout lake district. Their many friends in Brooklyn and elsewhere will be glad to learn that the payment was made as agreed and that there will be no let up in the work of developing the mine by Mr. Frank Beer, who bonded it. There are now at least $30,000 worth of ore on the dump.
