Canyon City

Public school inspector Calvert of Nelson was a visitor here on Thursday last conferring with the trustees re increased school accomodation. It had been thought another room would be needed at the school, but on going into the matter with him it was decided to make the present accommodation suffice for another term.

Dr. Rutledge, V.S., of Cranbrook, was here early in the week, taking his monthly look-over the Company stables. They are intending to log heavier than ever this year and are on the lookout for several good work teams.

Fire warden Jim Long recruited a crew of about ten men from this section to handle the fire near Camp 3, which broke out afresh the latter part of the week. The men were paid off on Tuesday.

Lieut. Hall's flying machine still decorates the field near the mill where it was wrecked a couple of weeks ago. In a statement made to the coast papers he claims that the engine is the only part of it worth salvaging.

For the convenience of the residents at the soldier settlement area as well as other citizens A. D. Pochin is embarking in the auto livery line. Early next month he announces that he will run a jitney twice a week between Lister camp and Creston.

Mr. Miggott, who has been stable boss for the Company the past three months, is returning to Maple Creek, Sask., this week. He had his place there sold on crop payment plan, but as there doesn,t happen to be any crop this season he is returning to again take possession.

Geo. Strong is getting busy this week on re-painting the school, and Penson & Willson are expected in a few days to start on the new flooring. Both jobs will cost about $200.

The water supply question is at a standstill. Engineer Hodsdon will be here as soon as he finishes the Arrow Creek irrigation survey, and it is thought a week or ten days will be sufficient to do the work here.

It is reported that the first drawing for locations on the soldier settlement area was made on Saturday, when forty 20-acre plots were drawn for. With the exception of a couple of men all are well pleased with what they got and are anxious for the board to start stump pulling and cultivating operations on them. A power stump puller came in a few days ago, along with a couple of Cleveland tractors and cultivating equipment.

At Pentieton the police get a rake off of 15 per cent. for collecting the road tax. Persons who pay no other rates are liable for the road assessment.

At Pentieton the irrigation ditches and reservoirs are dry and if no rains are forthcoming soon the fruit crop will be materially smaller than early season estimates.

Naval Pageant In Old London

Symbolizing Role of British Sea Services in War Were Five Miles of Craft.

London. — The important role played by the British sea service during the great war was commemorated by a naval pageant on the Thames, the day marking the fifth anniversary of the historic mobilization of the British fleet. Plans for the event, while giving recognition to the allied and associated powers laid stress on the fact that this was a purely British occasion and the Union Jack and the banners of St. George, St. Patrick, St. Andrew and St. David predominated in decorations along the riverside. Tower Bridge was the point selected for the start of the five-mile procession.

On account of the fact that the space beneath the Thames bridges is somewhat limited it was impossible to include the large vessels in the pageant, but the procession lost nothing of interest on account of this. King George's royal barge was in service. It was built more than 200 years ago for Queen Mary by King William and was richly ornamented with crimson and gold.

In planning the celebration, efforts were made to symbolize the development of Great Britain's naval power and typify the connection between the navy and the mercantile marine.

The procession, which was marshalled at the Tower Bridge at 4 p.m., spread out five miles and when the head of the line reached Chelsea, and as it turned with the tide the tail of the procession was just leaving the starting point. As it moved along the Thames the huge bank holiday crowds which lined the embankments swarmed on the bridges and perched upon railings and roofs of houses and in trees on both sides of the river gave the pageant a tumultuous greeting.

The progress of King George in the royal barge was marked by particular attention. His journey up the river was greeted with progressive roars of cheers on both banks, the noise culminating in an explosion of applause as the barge shot into the Cadogan pier at Chelsea, opposite Battersea Park, where the King disembarked and was received by the [illegible] and civic officials.

After King George landed he took the salute of the passing boats, while standing under a gorgeous [illegible] prepared by the League of [illegible]. The bridges, the embankments and the houses along the [illegible] were lavishly decorated, the latter painted various[illegible] green, red, white, and blue, [illegible] a vivid contrast with the muddy waters of the river. Numerous bands along the shore made [illegible] spersing the national airs with such wartime favorites as "Tipperary" and "The Long, Long Trail," while choruses stationed here and there sang rollicking sea chants.

The procession was a brilliant one as a whole, being commented upon by many witnesses of this and other similar celebrations as probably surpassing in beauty and variety of effects any marine pageant of modern times.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed for ever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces.

They act speedily and thoroughly, and the child to whom they are administered will show improvement from the first dose.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heel footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Almost Always Due to Weak, Impoverished Blood.

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two reasons. The great mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root of them, namely poor and improper blood. Either bloodlessness or some trouble of the nerves will be found to be the reason for almost every ailment. If you are pale, suffer from headaches, or breathlessness, with palpitation of the heart, poor appetite and weak digestion, the cause is almost always bloodlessness. If you have nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is run down, exhausted nerves. But run down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same.

This accounts for the great number of people, once in indifferent health, pale, nervous and dyspeptic, who have been made well and hearty by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; for no other medicine ever discovered is so valuable for increasing the supply of rich red blood and giving strength to worn out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit from a course of the splendid blood builder and nerve tonic.

If your dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Caught At Last.

A father said to his pretty daughter one morning:

"What time did you send that young Simpson home last night?"

"Oh," replied the girl, "I don't think it was very late."

"Why, father?"

"It must have been close to midnight!"

"Didn't you send him out the back door and hurry off to bed when you heard me coming in?"

"Oh, I must have been in bed for hours when you came in."

"You heard me, then?"

"Yes. You woke me up."

"And you had been in bed for hours?

"Uh huh!"

"That certainly is funny!"

"Why?"

"Because when I went to light the lamp I nearly burned my hands off on the hot chimney."

Far East As Field For Canadian Trade

Offers Many Opportunities, Not In Any Particular Thing, But Generally.

Vancouver, B.C. — China and Japan present a big field for Canadian trade, declared Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, on his arrival here, after an extended tour in the Orient in company with Mr. Logan, San Francisco, chief of the foreign exchange department of the bank, and Mr. Holt, Vancouver, manager. During the tour, they made an exhaustive examination of commercial conditions and prospects.

"The whole East offers very many opportunities for Canadian trade; not in any one particular thing, but generally," said Sir Edmund. "There is one important point that I must emphasize, however, and that is that there is no trade to be obtained without a systematic campaign being instituted to capture it. It needs a fight to capture the citadel of the East, but it is well worth taking."

Agriculture Makes a Net Gain of 15,553 Men.

Ottawa. — Up to the present 273,444 members of the Canadian army have completed the demobilization questionnaires which were issued by the Department of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment. Accessions to professional and general occupations number 20,409, there being, on the other hand, 12,708 men who desire to leave these occupations. # Rumania Must Observe Terms Of Armistice

Paris. — Nicholas Misu, of the Rumanian peace delegation, was summoned before the supreme council which gave him a communication for his government, saying that the Rumanian ultimatum to Hungary cannot be recognized by the peace conference and calling upon the Rumanians to live up to the armistice terms.

Misu said that the Rumanians were taking back supplies which German Field Marshal Von Mackensen took from them, but this explanation did not alter the decision of the supreme council, which was unanimous.

While the French hitherto apparently were inclined to regard Rumanian occupation of Budapest favorably, it was evident at the last council meeting that they have changed their position since the Rumanian ultimatum and are now heartily in accord with the British and United States position which the Italians have been supporting consistently.

It was made clear at the meeting that the Rumanian ambitions would cut off the communications of Central Europe and make it impossible to control the situation.

The text of the Rumanian ultimatum reads as follows:

"The Rumanian supreme command makes the following conditions upon which it will accept the cessation of hostilities requested by the Hungarian government.

"The Rumanian supreme command will give up the occupation of all Hungary if the Hungarian supreme command agrees to deliver all material of war of every kind which remains in possession of the Hungarian troops and state.

"Equipment of all kinds needed for an army of 300,000 men must be handed over along with the following: 50 per cent. of all the rolling stock which still belongs to Hungary, according to the records of the Hungarian state; 50 per cent. of all the material which exists in Hungary and is used for the construction and repairs of rolling stock; 200 touring cars; 400 motor trucks in good condition; 30 per cent. of all livestock animals of all kinds which exist at present, according to the records in Hungary."

Rioting At Liverpool

Soldiers Charged Mob With Bayonets and Distant Shots Are Heard.

Liverpool. — Troops at midnight charged with bayonets and dispersed a crowd of persons outside St. George's Hall. Several of the soldiers were beaten with axe-handles by the mob. At the same time, firing was heard in the Scotland road district. Details of the trouble there have not yet been received.

The clash outside of St. George's hall resulted from an attack on a sentry by rowdies who endeavored to take away the sentry's rifle. The sentry fired his gun in the air and a squad of troops responded and charged the disturbers.

Many U. S. Shopmen On Strike

Movement in the Unauthorized Walkout From Railways Still Spreading.

Chicago. — Leaders of the Chicago district council of the Federated Railway Shopmen's union said that 725,000 was a conservative estimate of the number of shopmen on strike throughout the country and that the movement was still spreading. They declared violence would not be countenanced by the organization and so far as they knew no mail trains had been interfered with.

Resign From Police Union.

London. — The loyal police of Birkenhead, across the Mersey from Liverpool, have unanimously resigned membership in the police union as a protest against the latter's action in calling a strike. The men comprise about half the Birkenhead police force.

This is the first instance of loyal police in any of the strike areas [illegible] repudiating the union.

U. S. Lecturers Are Classed As Intruders

British People Would Settle Their Affairs Themselves.

London. — Answering a question in the house of commons as to whether the government considered informing the U.S. citizens here for a prohibition campaign that "the British electors prefer to settle their domestic questions for themselves," Edward Shortt, secretary of home affairs, said:

"I am disposed to agree with the suggestion that the British people can settle this matter for themselves, but, as I have stated, I do not think this step by the government necessary."

Exemption Cases

New Judgment Has Important Bearing on Legality of Orders-in-Council.

Montreal. — A judgment which may have an important bearing upon all exemption cases under the Military Service act, in that it questions the legality of an order-in-council cancelling exemptions which have been duly and legally granted under the letter of the act, was handed down by Judge Leet in the case of Lafard vs. Senecal.

It is indicated in the judgment that it may be necessary to rehear most of the cases. The judgment says that no order-in-council could abrogate penalties imposed under the Military Service act and likewise should not be allowed to cancel exemptions granted.

Britain's Thanks

Formal Reception Given Military Leaders and Others for War Services.

London.—Marshal Foch of France, the allied chief in command, and various military and auxiliary services of Great Britain that served in the war, were given a formal vote of thanks by the house of commons. The vote included mention of the British women's organizations.

The formal thanks of the government is part of the recognition given for war services. King George made known his recommendation for titles and large money grants to a number of the commanding officers of the land, air and sea forces.

Japan Respects Chinese Sovereignty.

Tokio. — Viscount Uchida, the Japanese foreign minister, is a statement, declares that Japan does not intend to claim any rights affecting the territorial sovereignty of China in Shantung. He promises that the Japanese troops will be withdrawn immediately an arrangement is concluded with China. Japan, moreover, the foreign minister's statement adds, is considering the establishment at Tsing Tao of a general foreign settlement instead of a purely Japanese settlement.

Training Canadian Wives.

London. — British wives of Canadian soldiers going out to settle in the Dominion now number 30,000. The movement initiated by the Khaki college to give special training to these for Canadian life has been remarkably successful.

Ferdinand Offered Doubtful Honor.

Berlin. — According to a Vienna despatch to the Zwoelf Uhr Blatt, the counter-revolutionary Hugarian government has offered the Hungarian throne to King Ferdinand, of Rumania.

Invite Foch to U. S.

Paris.—Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the allied armies during the war, is reported by the Echo de Paris to have been invited by the United States government, as well as several organizations in that country, to visit America.

Police Favored Strikers

Sensational Testimony Added To Evidence In Case of Seditious Conspiracy.

Winnipeg. — Direct evidence that the city police stood by and watched the strikers, on the first day of the strike, while they deliberately maltreated citizens on their way to work, trespassed and destroyed property, was given at the trial of the eight strike leaders by A. A. Riley, of the Canada Bread company. Denial that the citizens' committee of one thousand was a "capitalistic concern" and that it was formed for any other purpose than endeavoring to continue the operation of public utilities during the strike was also tendered by Edward Parnell, of the Speirs-Parnell Baking company, at the morning session. Sandy Cuthbert, of the city street commissioners' department, also told of threats that had been made if he did not quit work. He stated that one of the strikers, an Austrian, and a former employee of this department, had threatened to kill him.

R. B. Graham, crown prosecutor, was the first witness called at the afternoon sittings of the court. He stated that the police were permitted to remain on duty by the strike committee but could have been called out at a moment's notice and that at the outbreak of the trouble in Winnipeg they were not subservient to the orders of them, but rather the strikers.

A. A. Riley, manager of the Canada Bread company, gave evidence that he had no notice of the strike until about 2.30 p.m. the first day of the strike. That evening, said the witness, an organized gang, two truckloads of "strong-arm men," came from down-town under the leadership of a man named Winters, whom witness believed was organizer for the carpenters. These men forcibly entered the building, shut off the machinery and prevented the men from working.

"In response to a call by telephone for aid, a police officer came," said witness, "and as we entered the building Winters came out. Speaking to the officer he said: 'We've cleared the last —— —— scab out.' The policeman replied: 'That's fine.' Turning to the policeman, I said: 'This is pretty tough luck; they've done some damage,' and he replied: 'I know, but the people are not going to stand for your business to be carried on like this you know.'"

Europe May Never Recover.

"These four years of mad destruction may have struck a blow at Europe's prosperity from which it will never recover. Some of the greatest of the Dominion statesmen have expressed their conviction that the result will be a permanent change. They foresee a great and increasing migration from Great Britain, and, indeed, from all the war-tortured countries, of people fleeing from national bankruptcy in a region haunted by evil dreams. From such a migration they anticipate the building-up of huge communities in still unsettled lands, which will give a new orientation to the world's future history. Canada, South Africa, Australia will take the place in this war which was taken by the West after the Civil War in America."

Cannot Come in a Day.

A new order must come, but no old order dies in a day. The vast seethe of war is still in Europe's mind. The out-croppings of imperialism, grab and conquest at Versailles are ebullitions that must subside. Europe must accept the spirit of the League of Nations in sincerity and good faith or perish. That is the great thing. The wording is secondary.—Saturday Evening Post.

Report Bolshevik Success.

Stockholm. — The Social Demokraten reports that Archangel is in the hands of the Bolshevik, who, it says, have succeeded in cutting the connection between the Murmansk and Archangel coasts.

Entrance To League.

Santiago, Chile. — The Chilean senate unanimously approved the entrance of Chile into the league of nations.

U.S. Takes Action To Stop Profiteering

Strong Tariff Resolution

Text of Resolutions Submitted to the National Liberal Convention.

Ottawa. — The full text of the tariff resolutions submitted to the national Liberal convention was as follows:

"That the best interests of Canada demand that substantial reductions of the burdens of customs taxation be made with a view to the accomplishing of two purposes of the highest importance: First, diminishing the very high cost of living which presses so severely on the masses of the people; second, reducing the cost of the instruments of production in the industries based on the natural resources of the Dominion, the vigorous development of which is essential to the progress of our country.

"That to these ends, wheat, wheat flour, and all products of wheat, the principal articles of food, farm implements and machinery, farm tractors, mining, flour and sawmill machinery and repair parts thereof; rough and dressed lumber, gasoline, illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils, etc., net twines, and fishermen's equipments; cements and fertilizers, should be free from custom duties, as well as the raw material entering into the same.

"That a revision downwards of the tariff should be made whereby substantial reductions should be effected in the duties of wearing apparel, and footwear and on other articles of general consumption (other than luxuries) as well as on the raw material entering into the manufacture of the same.

"That the British preference be increased to 50 per cent. of the general tariff, and the Liberal party hereby pledges itself to implement by legislation the provision of this revision when returned to power."

Troops Refused To Obey Orders

Mutiny Caused Polish General To Resign Command.

Berlin. — A despatch to the Vorwaerts from Bromberg, province of Posen, says it has been learned that the real reason for the resignation of General Musniki, commander of the Polish troops in Posen, was that there had been sanguinary mutinies of Polish troops in Posen, Gnesen and Warthe, and also at the front.

Entire companies and even battalions, the despatch says, refused to obey orders and maltreated their officers. In the Warthe camp, officers, who endeavored to have resort to arms, were shot dead or were badly wounded.

The reason for the disturbances is given as growing discontent on the part of the soldiers at the Russian system, which Musniki introduced.

French Food Plan Is Success.

Paris. — The plan recently adopted by the French food ministry to reduce food prices is working successfully in some of the French cities. At Havre eggs have been reduced from $1.20 per dozen to 60 cents, onions from ten to five cents per pound, and potatoes from four to two cents per pound. The reductions in some foodstuffs vary from 20 to 50 per cent.

To Sell Airplanes.

London. — The Central News says it learns that the minister of munitions has contracted for the sale of 700 aircraft engines and a great number of airplanes for Canada and the United States.

Aviator Drowned.

Winnipeg. — Thomas H. Billman, flight lieutenant, R.A.F., who recently returned from overseas, was drowned while swimming near Myrtle, Man. He is a son of Col. T. H. Billman, of this city.

Ira Stratton Resigns.

Winnipeg. — Ira Stratton, president of the Manitoba Civil Service association, has resigned.

Washington. — Anti-trust suits against the great meat packing firms were announced by Attorney-General Palmer as the first concrete development of the government's campaign to reduce the high cost of living.

Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy, who have been pictured in the investigations of the federal trade commission and before congressional committees as a great commission in control of food products, are to be hauled again before the federal courts by special prosecutors. The evidence in hand, Attorney-General Palmer declared, indicated "a clear violation of the anti-trust laws."

While he was announcing prosecutions of the packers, Attorney-General Palmer was unleashing his special agents on a country-wide trial of profiteering and food hoarding. These prosecutions come under the food control law.

All United States attorneys were instructed to ferret out food hoarders, and libel them under federal law.

Another major development of the day was the making public of the federal trade commission's report on the shoe industry investigation. This report charges that the high price of shoes is due to excessive profit-taking from every dealer in the trade. Packers, tanners, manufacturers and retailers all shares in the blame. The report was placed before Attorney-General Palmer.

The Order Of Merit

Lloyd George Receives Token of Appreciation From the King.

London. — King George has conferred upon Premier David Lloyd George the Order of Merit as a sign of his appreciation of Lloyd George's war services. In a letter to the premier, dated Buckingham Palace, August 5, announcing the award, the King says:

"My Dear Prime Minister:

"Honors and rewards to officials of the army, navy and air forces having been submitted to parliament, I feel that my people will share with me regret that it is not possible to express the nation's grateful recognition of the persistent services rendered by the prime minister, both in carrying the war to a victorious end, and in securing an honorable peace. To rectify somewhat this omission, and, personally, to mark my high esteem, it gives me great pleasure to confer upon you the Order of Merit.

"Believe me,

"Yours very sincerely,

(Signed) "GEORGE, R.I."

Prince Will Visit Quebec.

Quebec. — His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, will stay four days in Quebec City after he lands here on Thursday, Aug. 21, about five o'clock in the afternoon. He will proceed directly to his specially reserved quarters at the citadel, where he will be received by the official representatives. The following day the official reception will be held at the parliament buildings, where addresses of welcome will be presented by Sir Lomer Gouin and Mayor Lavigueur. The prince will remain in Quebec until Sunday the 24th inst.

Queen Victoria Statue.

Victoria, B. C. — The Prince of Wales is to be invited to lay the corner stone in connection with the mounting of the statue of Queen Victoria in Parliament Square. The Harrison liner Historian is bringing the statue to this city. The monument is of bronze and will be mounted on Swedish granite. It was carved in England before the war, but shipment was prevented by the breaking out of hostilities.

Kaiser's Trial in London.

London. — The allies have altered their decision to hold the trial of the former German emperor in London, Andrew Bonar Law, government leader, announced in the house. He said no action in the matter could be taken until the German peace treaty was ratified.

Will be Missed

Announcement last week that Alex. Smith is not returning to take charge of Division II. of Creston public school has, invariably, evoked the remark, "I am sorry to hear it," and in the sentiment THE REVIEW thoroughly concurs.

In half a dozen years, at any rate Creston has not had a tracher that gave the community such excellent all-round service as Mr. Smith so unostentatiously rendered throughout his two years residence here.

As to his ability as a teacher his best reference is the scholars he had to handle and the parents of these same boys and girls. With them he was a guinea gold—every day in the year. And if further commendation of this sort were necessary it is only necessary to refer to Inspector Calvert's last report in which that official unqualifiedly pronounces him the best teacher on the staff.

But, possibly, Mr. Smith's most commendable characteristic was his willingness to be something more ahan a mere expounder of the three R's, as it were. After school hours, on Saturdays and even during summer vacation he was never too busy to undertake anything in the interests of the school boys, and that the general deportment of many of these youngsters is much the better for his two-year stay here is everywhere admitted.

Amongst the grown-ups he was the same likable sort; a man among men, and always willing to do his bit in a public way. Mention is due his handling the emergency hospital during the flu epidemic last fall. At the request of a committee of citizens he took charge of conduct of that institution bringing order out of a chaos amongst the volunteer women workers that was in a fair way to seriously hamper the good conduct of a very necessary institution.

The old axiom that you can't keep a good man down renders it unnecessary to wish him well in his new location, yet none the less genuine is the regret that he is leaving the Valley at a time when it most needed the help of a teacher and citizen of his calibre.

While on this topic it would be remiss on our part not to pay similar tribute to Miss Ross and Miss Kane, two other members of the staff who will not be with us this term. In the two ladies and Mr. Smith undoubtedly Creston had a trio of teachers who both as instructors of the young idea as well as citizens it will be indeed hard to replace.

Doubtful Delay

So far as this part of B.C. is concerned Sir Robert Borden's decision to effect a cabinet reconstruction on the instalment plan is giving those policically inclined something to think about while busy on the daily round of common tasks along with the weather, the crops and the sugar shortage.

The special reason for West Kootenay's continued interest in the pending cabinet re-arrange- [illegible]

Meanwhile it is announced that Hon. Martin Burrell would not retire just yet. In this connection Sir Robert observed that when Mr. Burrell should resume or consent to go the portfolio now held by him would go to a member from British Columbia [illegible] toria in as minister of agriculture, and having thereby removed the coast menace in cabinet representation, and again recalling that it is the mines portfolio that Mr. Burrell relinquishes, all the outward and visible signs are the more assuring that it is R. F. Green, the West Kootenay member, that the Dominion premier is likely to have his eye on when the time comes to inscribe the time-honored R.I.P. on the political career of the present member for Yale.

While the policy of making haste slowly in scrapping cabinet material and replacing it with most likely new material may have its advantages in the old line governments, it is not so certain that this safety first plan is the wisest at this stage of Canada's political history.

Last session a dozen Unionists bolted the party on account of its tariff policy. Recently a national convention has witnessed the open return to the Liberal fold of a number of the dissenters, while, doubtless, the rest of them are a bit uncertain as to the quality of their Unionism. With a special session of parlidment due to open early next month the predicament these semi-Unionists are in is not hard to realize—an unfortunate situation they could have more intelligently met were they informed of the personnel of the administration they must perforce back or buck during the brief but merry life that seems assured for the Dominion powers that be.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Likely Site

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—Judging from the lack of suggestions for a site for the Soldiers' Memorial through your columns it looks as though there is not a great deal of interest being taken in the matter.

To get the ball rolling, so to speak, I would like to make a suggestion. To my mind the best spot would be on the wide strip of road immediately north of the Speers' store, between the Creston Hotel and the track—or possibly a little further north.

There would be room enough to build an "island" several feet above the road, the walls being of well-chosen boulders, the whole being filled in with soil, levelled off and planted to grass; a sprinkling attachment installed to ensure the grass being always kept green, and flowers could be grown in the crevices. This would act as the setting for the monument proper, which would be placed in the centre.

Viewed from all sides, especially from the town and depot, it would always present a pleasing and restful appearance.

Should it be possible to have the Prince of Wales dedicate the site, as you suggest in a recent issue, it would be just as handy for him to reach as the site you suggest as his car would most likely be toward the rear end of the train, and even if he did have to travel a few more steps no doubt the pleasure would be his and the honor would sure be Creston's. Let's hear from someone else. A. D. POCHIN.

A Wrong Impression

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—In conversation with a number of the land settlement at Canyon City I was surprised to be told that there is an impression among the returned soldiers who have located here that they are not welcome in Creston.

This impression, which is certainly a mistaken one, should be corrected as soon as possible. It may be that some unfortunate citizen of Creston has in some way managed to convey this impression to one or more of their number, but for the good name of the town, and for the sake of cordial relations between the returned men of this Valley and the remaining residents it is important that any misunderstanding of this nature should be cleared up, and that the soldier settlement should be assured that far from the people of Creston feeling any objection to the soldier settlement they are glad and proud to have the returned soldier as near neighbors, and wish to extend to them a hearty welcome, and to have as much of their presence and company as possible—and to give them every assistance in their power. At this stage in the Valley's development surely union between its parts is most important; any friction is to be deprecated—as tending to weaken the Valley's reputation. I hope that you will do all in your power through your widely read paper to correct the false impression that has, unfortunatey for Creston, gained ground among our most valuable class of citizens. # Everyone Busy at Kitchener Again

A centre that has come back in quick time and has the earmarks of remaining and developing is Kitchener. Five years ago, when the C.P.R. removed agent Burgess and locked up the depot it looked as if the town would have to depend on its splendid fishing and tourist hotel to keep its memory green, but to-day the place is quite a hive of industry in all lines of forest products, while its mining resources are also in a fair way to bring it further renown, while the fishing is still excellent—if one goes far enough up stream.

The possibilities in the timber line will be best understtood when we state that a conservative estimate of standing timber in that district is not less than 300,000,000 feet, the greater part of which must be handled through Kitchener.

At present there are two concerns operating in that line. Cranbrook Sash & Door Co. have a sawmill and camps working full shifts on their limit near Meadow Creek, while the Paulson people with E. McGonegal in charge have a full complement of men taking out posts, piling and logs—the latter being handled by the Sash & Door Co. mill.

This mill has a capacity of 35,000 feet a day, and this month has started on a cut that will keep the sawdust flying for many months, provided there is the usual ample snowfall for logging operations. At present the mill is running on a cut of ties with the daily shipping of these in the neighborhood of 600. There is an excellent demand for lumber, all mills in the Kootenay being well supplied with orders, many of which are from Eastern Canada.

In the mining feature the greatest activity is at Thompson Creek where Geo. Young has about ten men developing the claims of the B.C. Iron Co., where a vein of iron of good width and already showing considerable length has been uncovered. The ore is of exceptionally high quality and if the diamond drill reveals a depth that the experts anticipate is there Kitchener will certainly be on the map as an iron producer.

Sullivan & Larson are busy on a group of three copper and gold claims about three miles west, at which they have just erected a new bunkhouse, while at Leadvijle, Scott Price is getting in shape to drive a tunnel in one of a trio of claims that are heavy to lead with a showing of zinc. The government has just spent about $300 in clearing out about 30 miles of old trail and building a couple of miles of new road into the Whitegrouse country, which should expedite transportation for those operating in that district.

Within a year Kitchener has equipped and opened a brand new one-room school, which affords a much-needed and appreciated educational facility. The building is 32 x 24 feet and is on a good site of almost an acre. The C.P.R. let the trustees have it at the rather reasonable price of $200. In the building of the school the government was not quite as generous, as their total grant was just sufficient to buy the land, leaving it up to the parents to and others to finance the purchase of the lumber, etc., and pay for such labor as was not voluntarily contributed. The authorities at Victoria, of course, supplied the seats and some interior equipment, but dances and entertainments are still being given to pay the janitor and to get a little money wherewith to paint the structure and improve the appearance of the grounds. For this year matters will be simplified as a school tax of $250 has been levied on the district to provide running expenses. This year's board of trustees is made up of Geo. A. Hunt, B. Johnson and Jas. Frame, with Chas. Crawford installed as janitor.

Still more activity is noted here in the letting to Geo. Hunt of the contract for the Goat River Crossing road diversion. This is a little over a mile of new road construction which will reduce the grade at that point from almost 30 to 7 per cent., and should certainly increase motor traffic through here once it is in good travelable shape. Mr. Hunt has a crew of fifteen men at the work, with a cook and camp on the spot to accommodate the crew. At least four bridges will have to be put in, one of which will attain a length of 90 feet. The work will cost almost $8000.

The fishing is excellent as to quality, but but you have to go up stream a few miles to get the big ones in quantity. So far this year there has not been the usual lists of outsiders whipping the streams, but with the advent of cooler weather they will be along. With Mr. and Mrs Johnson in charge of the hotel visitors find themselves right at home—with the same high class accommodation and excellent fare that has always characterized the house still much in evidence.

Fishery inspector Robinson is endeavoring to rid the west arm of Kootenay Lake of part of its supply of suckers and squaw fish, using a dreg seine and the help of a crew of four men.

The Courier states that it cost the government $15,000 fighting forest fires the Cranbrook district last month.

Between New Denver and Kaslo the huckleberry harvest is in full swing. The fruit is reported unusually large.

Kaslo has experienced a change for the better, seemingly. So large are the crowds flocking to the houses of worship that the council is compelled to put in a new sidewalk leading to the Anglican and Methodist churches.

"Pinch a little at the toe, sir?" asked Ruggles solicitously, for the gentleman whom he was serving was furnished with rather well-developed pedal digits (which is to say bunchy toes) from having padded barefoot over the Kopaonik Mountains in his youth. "Let me stretch that out for you, sir. Take but a minute, and believe me, you will find it very comfortable."

"How mosh — dem shoon" asked the swarthy gentleman.

"Twenty-five francs, sir," Ruggles told him.

"Too mosh. I gif you zwenty."

"Oh, we never change our price, sir," said Ruggles, smiling up at him pleasantly. "It's not the way business is done in America, and this is an American company that we represent here."

"Jess — I know," grunted the customer. "I am American myself — of Chicago. I go now by Belgrade to fight dose Osmanlis (Turks). I am of ze reserve corps. Captain, y' understand? All right. Gimme dose shoes. Dey look all right."

"Very good, sir," said Ruggles. "Will you take them, or shall I have them sent?"

Darthea heard no more. The Balkan gentleman had risen and was being escorted by Ruggles to the desk, while Miss Challand, missing her niece, descended to find Darthea clinging to the newelpost and staring wildly in the direction of the cashier's desk.

"My dear!" cried Miss Challand. "What is the matter? Are you ill?"

"I feel — I feel —" Darthea began; and then, catching sight of Ruggles scribbling off his salescheck and knowing that he might turn at any moment, she said hurriedly, "I want some air. Let's go out."

Miss Challand noting the dilated pupils and curiously congested look of Darthea's cheeks, lost no time in getting her to the door.

Once in the open air, Darthea appeared to breathe more freely.

"What is it, dear?" asked her aunt solicitously.

"Oh, — just the smell of that horrid shop," Darthea answered. "Never mind the shoes now. Let's go home."

"Very well. But what was it that [illegible] Miss Challand [illegible] "Not in love, I hope," she demanded.

[illegible] Darthea [illegible] hands. "I only felt [illegible] felt ill for a moment. Let's walk. It's not raining hard, and I'd like the air."

"Your feet will be sopping," objected her aunt, "and your shoes—"

"Oh, bother my shoes!" exclaimed Darthea, so sharply that her aunt gave her a quick, sidelong look filled with apprehension. She had never known her niece to give way to nerves, and Darthea certainly did not look ill. On the contrary, her eyes were bright and had a peculiar hard expression that Miss Challand had never seen in them before, while on her cheeks, usually of a delicate pink, there was a flame which attracted the attention of passers-by. Miss Challand was worried and perplexed.

"My dear," said she, "I believe you have fever. Your face is crimson."

"It's nothing," Darthea answered shortly. "Coming in from the fresh air into a stuffy place like that always makes me feel a bit stifled. I don't take exercise enough, I fancy."

Miss Challand reflected that the atmosphere of the spacious shop of the Walkeasy Shoe Company was certainly not lacking in ventilation, even though laden with the aroma of fresh leather and the usual odors of scent and clothes and other things pertaining to a crowd of people of any class. She decided to herself that Darthea must be overtired as the result of long hours spent before her easel, for the girl was a hard worker, and Miss Challand was glad that the next day was to be Sunday and hoped that the weather would permit of their programme for spending the afternoon in the open air. She reflected also that Ruggles always seemed to exert a cheerful influence upon her niece, and as the air appeared to be growing less heavy and the clouds breaking up, Miss Challand encouraged a similar atmospheric change in her own kindly soul, sufficiently with its burden of care.

CHAPTER V

To awake in the morning with a cool, fresh tingling of the skin, and the sense of strongly renewed energy of mind and body; to turn drowsily and rest for a moment and feel the vital impulse gathering to meet the shock of another day and to master it; to see the bright sunshine flooding the open window and listen to the birds singing outside; then, as fuller consciousness arouses from its period of repose, to spurn the couch and to leap forth ready and eager for that which the day may bring forth. Such were the sensations of Ruggles as he bounded out of his little iron cot, stretched his arms above his head, freed his muscles from the constraint of eight hours with scarcely a change of position, and felt the gathering exhilaration "as of a giant who rejoiceth to run his course."

It was Sunday, and as Ruggles gasped from the contact of the cold water from his big bath-sponge, he was in two minds as to how he should spend his morning — whether to attend service at the English church and walk down afterwards as far as the river with Miss Challand and Darthea, or to look up Lorenz, who had not put in an appearance at the store the day before and who he feared might possibly be ill. He decided in favor of the latter, as he was to see Darthea in the afternoon, and, while he had no particular liking for Lorenz, he felt sorry for the man, whose disagreeable nature made him a recluse and who had no friends in Paris, so far as Ruggles was aware.

This solicitude for Lorenz was quite uncalled for. As a matter of fact, the saturnine Austrian had, with the sanction of Mr. Durand, crossed the Channel on Friday night and by special appointment spent an hour on Saturday morning in consultation with the European general manager of the Walkeasy Shoe Company of America. This interview resulting entirely to his satisfaction, he had returned immediately to Paris.

Ruggles dressed with care and went down to the little dining room for his petit dejeuner. Beside his plate was a letter addressed in Dar[illegible] English hand. Ruggles opened it at once, fearing that something might have occurred to prevent Darthea from walking with him in the afternoon; in which supposition he was quite correct, for the note read as follows:

Dear Mr. Ruggles: This afternoon, on entering the shop of the Walkeasy Shoe Company to make [illegible] purchase, I was surprised to discover that you are employed there as a clerk and to see you in the act of serving a customer.

I do not know how your social distinctions may be drawn in America, but among English people of the class to which my aunt and I belong, it is not the custom to admit on terms of intimacy persons engaged in such forms of occupation as your own proves to be.

I do not wish to seem unkind, and I acknowledge fully the obligation which led to our acquaintance and the great service which you so pluckily rendered me. But what I am quite unable to forgive is your having deceived Miss Challand and myself in regard to your station of life, which you led us to believe was one which corresponded to our own. This deception has led to social relations which otherwise could never have existed between us and which must be hereafter discontinued.

Yours truly,

DARTHEA WESTBROOKE.

Ruggles laid down the letter with the glow all gone from his face. What had the girl supposed him to be, anyhow? A Vanderbilt or an Astor? Had she thought that, if he were rich, he would have taken her aunt and herself around Paris on the tops of trams and busses?

Being totally unable to understand, he came to the very natural conclusion that Darthea must have thought him guilty of having tried to sail under false colors and to give her aunt and herself the impression that he was a person of considerable importance in the world of trade. He remembered having once hinted that he hoped shortly to be entrusted with a position of responsibility which might make it necessary for him to live in Vienna, and he reflected that after such a statement it must naturally have been disappointing to her to find him trying on shoes.

Darthea, after all, could scarcely be expected to understand that a man might be fitting customers one day and occupying the proud position of manager in a similar store a week later. Artists were always impractical folk, and Darthea was an artist. She had very evidently jumped to the conclusion that he had been exaggerating his business importance with the idea of trying to impress her. She was really not to be blamed, the more so as the mere fact of her being so upset over finding him engaged in trying on shoes showed that, in her opinion, such an occupation was unworthy of him. After all, very likely she was right, and he had been abusing his talents in remaining for so long a time a mere salesman.

Ruggle's face cleared, and he took a gulp of his cafe-au-lait. He decided to call on Darthea immediately after luncheon and explain his position, trusting to her friendship and sense of fairness to forgive him for having kept her in the dark as to his actual work, and to tell her of the expected change in its character. Meanwhile, he would look up Lorenz.

Lorenz lived in a little hotel in Neuilly not far from the Porte Maillot, so Ruggles took the "Metro," changing at the Etoile. Going directly to Lorenz's room, he knocked at the door. "Entrez," came a voice from within, and Ruggles entered. The young Austrian was in his shirtsleeves and apparently engaged in packing a small black trunk. At sight of Ruggles, he straigthened up, with a startled expression on his saturnine face.

"Hello!" said Ruggles. "Moving?"

"Yes," Lorenz answered, "I am moving." A tinge of color came into his sallow cheeks, and he glanced sharply at his fellow clerk. "I do not like it here," said he, in a rather sullen, half-defiant voice.

"It ain't much of a place," Ruggles admitted, glancing out of the unwashed window into the slovenly court on which it opened. "I couldn't stand an inside room. You don't get enough air, and they make such a racket with their pails and things. Where are you moving to?"

"I am going to live with some relations," he muttered, as if begrudging the information.

Wireless Telephony In Night flying

Test Carried Out During a Recent Night Flight from Kenley to Paris.

London, England. — The extraordinary value of wireless telephony for directional purposes in connection with aircraft has been emphasized recently in its relation to night flying. It often happens that in daylight inter-communication between planes, or between wireless stations and aircraft is unnecessary, but in flying across country at night the use of the wireless phone will become more and more efficacious.

Some details are now available of a test carried out during a recent night flight from Kenley to Paris. This in no way constitutes a record, but is nevertheless interesting as indicating what is being done as a matter of routine. Wireless telephony has now been definitely adopted as a means of ground to air communication and vice versa, on the London-Paris route, and the test in question was made with one of the first machines on this service fitted for the purpose.

Communication was opened as soon as the Handley Page had obtained height and, after speaking to the ground station, the receiver was turned in and speech was very clearly heard from Kenley. The officer conducting the test emphasizes in his report, speech, quality, and strength, and states that he easily recognized the voice as that of an officer known to him. To a distance of about 35 miles the strength of signals was so great that speech from the machine could be clearly heard at Kenley with the receiver laid upon the table. At 50 miles it was still distinct and constant and was heard until the aeroplane was crossing the channel and was in touch with Marquise, the first ground station on the French side.

On the return journey conversation between the machine and Marquise was again picked up at Kenley, and the latter station itself was in communication with the machine 30 minutes before it landed.

One of the recent developments in this connection is the production of an aeroplane set which can be converted within a few moments for transmission of either voice or Morse signals.

Take heed of the first stumble, for it is ominous; and at best there is a good step lost. — Benjamin Whichcote.

Massacre Of Jews By Russians

Troops Surrounded Part of Odessa and Not a Soul Escaped Their Ferocity.

London. — A massacre in the Jewish quarter of Odessa, carried out by troops of General Gregorieff, which are occupying that city, is reported in advices received by semi-official Polish sources. The Jewish quarters were surrounded by the troops, it is declared, and a massacre was begun from which no one escaped.

The entire quarter was for three days and nights in the hands of the Russian soldiers, the advices stated.

The Jews of the Ukraine and Bessarabia, it was added, have proclaimed a mourning period of fourteen days.

Effect Of Tariff Changes On Fruit

The Fruit Commissioner's Branch of the Department of Agriculture has made a statement to the effect that apples are not affected by the recent tariff changes. The only change in fresh fruits is the removal of the war tax. Fresh tomatoes and fresh vegetables are same rates as formerly, with the exception of the removal of the war tax. As to potatoes, when imported from a country which imposes a customs duty on potatoes grown in Canada, the tariff is as follows: British preference 12½ cents, intermediate 20 cents, and general tariff 20 cents per bushel.

The Pathos Of Devastation

France Had Visible Aspect of Having Been Bled White.

France's loss of manpower is one of the obvious things. Six months after the armistice there were women conductors upon the street cars, women working about the railroad yards, women everywhere in the fields.

France had a visible aspect of having been bled white. Men along in the forties could be seen in soldier uniform and everywhere there seemed an actual shortage of human power. It is sad to remember that during the war the population of France, quite aside from all military losses, showed a decrease of 800,000 —800,000 more deaths than births.

I traversed the whole distance of the French front. The pathos of that devastated territory is beyond words, the all but homeless people camping in wrecked buildings with windows screened with paper. Patient peasants toiling northward with scanty furnishings for the home they hoped to return to were poignant sights when one had come fresh from the regions toward which they were going and knew that no roof stood in all the land.

Small but Potent.—Parmalee's Vegetable Pills are small, but they are effective in action. Their fine qualities as a corrector of stomach troubles are known to thousands and they are in constant demand everywhere by those who know what a safe and simple remedy they are. They need no introduction to those acquainted with them, but to those who may not know them they are presented as the best preparation on the market for disorders of the stomach.

Would Burn Zeppelins.

Coblenz. — Germans in charge of twenty-four Zeppelins near Berlin, have threatened to burn them rather than deliver them to the allies as required by the peace treaty, according to information obtained by the American army authorities here,—it was learned. The Zeppelins are of 25 tons capacity and can fly from Berlin to San Francisco, according to German sources. Several were built to carry forty persons.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentry, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Telegraph Statistics.

The number of land messages handled by telegraph organizations in Canada in the year ended June 30, 1917, was 11,817,517, as compared with 10,835,936 in 1916. Cablegrams numbered 1,081,956, as compared with 1,134,905 in 1916. Employees in the service of telegraph organizations numbered 7,100, of which 3,996 were male and 496 female operators. Other officers and employees numbered 2,608. Salaries and wages amounted to $3,278,450, as compared with $2,898,230 in 1916. The aggregate of salaries and wages in 1917 was equal to 77.2 per cent. of operating expenses ($4,243,950), as compared with 68.9 in 1916, as stated in the Canada Year Book.

Coal Strike Affect Threshing

Regina, Sask. — Hon. C. A. Dunning has telegraphed Hon. G. D. Robertson that the coal strikes in Alberta have caused a serious shortage of coal and that unless steam coal is available quickly, many steam threshing outfits will be idle.

Livestock Prices Are Normal

Cattle Purchase By Manitoba Government Is Now Delayed.

Winnipeg. — As the result of information received by Hon. Valentine Winkler, provincial minister of agriculture, purchase of cattle by the government from the farmers of Alberta will be considerably delayed. A wire received from one of the provincial agents at Calgary stated that at the present time the cattle market was normal and that prices were being well maintained. The message continued by saying that the farmers of Alberta were counting considerably on the government hay scheme and that many of them were holding on to their stock in the hope that they would be able to carry them through the winter as a result of the government's assistance.

It is conservatively estimated, however, that seventy-five per cent. of the stock south of the Red Deer river will have to be sold, the telegram adds. It is not expected, however, that the farmers will commence to sell for at least a month.

LEMONS MAKE SKIN WHITE, SOFT, CLEAR

Make This Beauty Lotion for a Few Cents and See for Yourself

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to whiten the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way: Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well, and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

Germany May Release Russians.

Paris. — Marshall Foch appeared before the supreme council Saturday afternoon in connection with the discussion of the Russian prisoners. The condition of the Bulgarian army also was taken up. The council decided to inform Germany that all restrictions on the movement of Russian prisoners held in Germany have been lifted. Germany may now release such prisoners. There are between 200,000 and 250,000 Russian prisoners in Germany.

Western Canada Coal Fields

British Columbia and Alberta Have Wonderful Natural Resources.

Fernie, B. C. — The three international board members of the United Mine Workers of America, who are here from across the border in an effort to settle the strike of coal miners in southern British Columbia and Alberta, are tremendously impressed with the great coal resources of this province. The three men are Samuel Ballantyne, of Iowa; Samuel Caddy, of Washington, and William Dalrymple, of Oklahoma. These men are thoroughly familiar with coal fields in every portion of the United States and are students of European conditions in relation to coal production and coal markets.

What has particularly impressed the Americans visiting this field is the fact that in this southeastern corner of British Columbia there are more than 1,000 acres of proved coal lands carrying billions of tons and that the percentage of high grade coals is far in excess of any other bituminous coal field on the American continent, if not in the world.

Strength Of Canada's Wheat Commends It

Weak Wheats of England Require Mixing With the Strong Wheats of Canada.

The baking strength of Canadian wheat is what commends it the most to the English trade. The weak wheats of England require mixing with the strong wheats of Canada. As long as the Dominion produces wheat that will answer this purpose, just as long will Canada's wheat be popular with the English miller. There is only one way in which Canada could weaken her reputation for the production of wheats of high baking strength, and that is by the individual grower shifting his attention from the recommended and well-known varieties of Canadian wheat to unknown sorts which have not been thoroughly tested and their baking strength established, according to a recent statement by the Dominion Cerealist, C. E. Saunders, Department of Agriculture.
