THERE SHOULD BE NO IDLE DOLLARS

in Creston Valley after the Victory Loan

Reasons of THRIFT, of SAFETY, of SALEABILITY, should impel every citizen to put Every Dollar he has and Every Dollar he can Save into Victory Bonds.

Victory Bonds bring 5 1-2 per cent. interest; Banks give only 3 per cent.

Victory Bonds can be converted into Cash on short notice. Banks will advance loans on the security of Victory Bonds at a moment's notice. Bonds will probably bring more than par very soon.

Victory Bonds are the best means of saving money there is. Buy them on the instalment plan, paying for them either in five months, or under the bank instalment plan in ten months.

Estimate how much you require to keep you during the next year and buy Victory Bonds up to the balance of your income.

You'll never regret it.

If YOU have already Bought Victory Bonds Do it again on the Instalment Plan The Banks will help you

Let's Finish the Job

YOU have bought Victory Bonds with all the cash you have and all you can save in the next five months. You can buy still more bonds. You SHOULD buy more—for reasons of profit and patriotism.

Go to your bank or go to any Victory Loan salesman and ask for a bank instalment card.

Fill out the card and a regular application form. If you have a bank account write out a cheque for 10 per cent. of the bond when you sign the application. If you have no bank account sign the undertaking-to-pay-cash form.

In every case you MUST call at the bank not later than November 15th, sign the bank's own card, and complete the first payment.

Only Bearer bonds can be bought under this plan, but these are readily convertible on completion of payments.

If in doubt see any Victory Loan canvasser.

Bad Breath? Don't Be Offensive Removes the Cause

Follow This Advice and Your Breath Will Soon Be Sweet and Pure

The bad part of Bad Breath is the fact that nearly every case shows considerable trouble from indigestion, belching gas, bloating, piles or some form of stomach misery. Oftener than not a pimply face, a sluggish, constipated condition is the true cause of many a man's failure in life.

By aiding digestion and building up the weak muscles of the stomach and bowels, DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS completely overcome constipation and all forms of stomach illness.

"I was terribly run down with stomach trouble that arose through neglected constipation," writes Mrs. P. D. Quigley, from Washburn, P.O. "I simply couldn't half digest my food. I had dreadful headaches, piles and yellow muddy skin. The effect of DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS was phenomenal. I have gained in weight, have a clear skin, no more headaches, I eat well, sleep well and enjoy my meals."

There is no need to be in failing health when cure is so sure, so easy, by taking Dr Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c per box, at all dealers. REFUSE A SUBSTITUTE.

Pembroke blew out a column of smoke and regarded him thoughtfully.

"No," he admitted, "you weren't precisely in the same class, from the European point of view. I happen to know something about the family. This Miss Challand must be one of the Norfolk Challands; all poor as Job, or Lazarus—or whoever it was that was so rotten poor—and proud as Lucifer. The Westbrookes are an old county family, too. Chuck it all. That's my advice to you."

But Ruggles scarcely heard this admonition, for he was in the grip of a sudden inspiration that had fallen upon him like a bolt from the blue. It was a wonderful thought, and inspired by the disinterested kindness which had been so spontaneously offered him in his hour of need. Many a homeless and ill-treated dog has been similarly inspired by sympathy from the casual pedestrian; and it has happened that the dog has followed its protector home and later laid down its life in defense of the family or goods of the one to whom its allegiance has been offered. Ruggles leaned forward, his eyes bright and a flush on his lean cheeks.

"Say, doctor, you're going out there to the Balkans to work for the Red Cross. Can't you take me with you? I don't know anything about the job, but I'd manage to make good."

Pembroke took his cigar from his lips, and his keen eyes first examined the eager blue ones looking into his own, then ran over Ruggles's lithe, well-made figure, lastly resting on the boy's flushed, earnest face. What he saw appeared to please him, but he hesitated a moment before answering.

"Our corps—or at least my unit of it—is full," said he slowly. "There's not a vacancy left." Then, seeing the crood of disappointment that the statement produced, he added reflectively: "Still, it might be managed somehow, if you really want it so badly. I could take you on as my orderly."

"That for mine!" cried Ruggles.

"There wouldn't be much in it for you," said Pembroke. "Small pay and a good chance of dying of fever or cholera, or possibly a piece of shrapnel. I fancy I'll be rather in the thick of things."

"You won't have to get out a search warrant to find me, if you are," Ruggles answered.

"No—considering what I've seen of your methods, I don't believe I would."

"Say, doctor, I don't give a hang about what I draw," said Ruggles eagerly. "I've got a little money, and I'll pay my own way out, if you like. All I want is to get away from here and do something that's worth while."

"There's no trouble about either of those things," Pembroke answered. "But you see, Ruggles, it would mean that you would be my personal servant. You'd have to look after my things, and turn to at any time at any job that might happen to come along. How does that strike you?"

"Me for it!" said Ruggles fervently. "I guess if I can try on shoes all day long for any bum with a little money that comes into the shop, it ain't going to turn my stomach to clean the boots of a man like you that's looking after wounded soldiers."

Pembroke laid down his cigar and leaned back in his chair.

"Well," said he, "in that case you're on. Meet me with your duffle at the Gare de Lyon at nine o'clock tonight."

CHAPTER X.

It was a bitter cold night in midwinter, with a fierce gale driving in from the Black Sea. The intense darkness was alternated by periods of vivid light, as the moon cut its way like a silver scimitar through the hurrying masses of snow-filled clouds.

All about the swamps of Derkos and on the ragged line which ran beyond Tschataldscha, the Ottoman army was making its last stand. There were no camp-fires, for there was little to burn and nothing to cook. There was a dearth of everything of which an army stands in need—pure water, food, shelter, clothing, and, worst of all, faith; the last a greater loss to the host of Islam than all the rest.

Plague-stricken corpses rotted in stagnant pools; plague-stricken soldiers, soon to become corpses, wallowed in ditches calling vainly on the Prophet to relieve their distress. To some of these on the outer lines their God sent swift repose in scattering volleys of rifle fire from the opposing trenches when the moon burst from the black, billowing clouds and the flanking heights of the Istrandja Dagh gave a sense of direction to the fire.

Not far behind the outer line was a little Turkish village, where had been stationed a caracol, and here in the crude barracks Pembroke and Ruggles toiled and labored with the sick and wounded brought in from the firing-line. In this improvised field hospital a few lives had been saved, and from its windows streamed the only light to be seen for miles, barring the bright and warning rays which flashed across the sea from the coast light on Kara Burun, which in peace or war must remain fixed and constant, without reference to the rise or fall of Islam.

An orderly came in, saluted Pembroke, and delivered a verbal message. Pembroke turned to Ruggles.

"The colonel's going to visit the outposts and wants me to go along," said he. "I've got all I can swing to here. Hop on my pony and tell him I sent you in my place. If you see many sick lying about, ask for a detail to bring them to the hospital. Pick out the ones that seem to have some show."

"All right, sir," said Ruggles, and went out into the court, where a shaggy pony was hitched to a blasted pomegranate tree in the shelter of the inner wall. He mounted and rode toward headquarters, where he fell in with Colonel Hamid Pasha and his staff, who were already in the saddle and about to start on their round.

"Is that you, Pembroke?" asked the colonel, in excellent English.

"No," answered Ruggles, "I'm Doctor Pembroke's orderly. He couldn't leave, so he sent me in his place."

"Very well," said the colonel, and gave the order to march.

The little cavalcade turned to face the wintry blast which swept down gusty and freezing cold from the snow-clad steppes. The outposts were visited in turn and the party soon found itself on the extreme left of the line, where the Turkish trenches were less than the distance of a pistol shot from those of the enemy.

The sentries were inspected, and the party was about to withdraw, when the moon, which had been for the last half-hour obscured, bored through the flying cloud mass and blazed down to flash from the bayonets of a dark body of men swarming up the slight declivity toward the Turkish trench. The colonel raised himself in his stirrups.

"Halt!" he cried. "Who goes there?"

It was the first warning of the assault, and his challenge came too late. Although the famished and exhausted Turks roused themselves, prepared to defend their position with the stubbornness of their race, their scattering volley was unavailing. The trench stopped the rush no more than a ditch dug in the sand might stop the rush of a breaking wave. It was bayonet work and quickly over, when the enemy poured on up the slope in open order.

For a handful of men like the colonel's staff to try to check that raging flood was impossible, was suicidal. The colonel gave a sharp order to retreat. But even as the words left his mouth, his Arab reared, plunged, and fell, pinning its rider beneath him. It is possible that Ruggles alone saw this, for the others were already in flight. The Bulgarians were almost upon them, the moonlight was glancing from their bayonets, and their savage cries were rent by the gusty wind, but hampered by their heavy acouterments and ankle-deep in the sandy mud, their progress was slower than it seemed. Ruggles saw, or thought he saw, a forlorn hope of saving Colonel Hamid Pasha.

He flung himself to the ground and, still holding the reins of his pony, he sprang to the side of the old man, who was struggling to free himself. But even as he reached him the pony screamed, tore itself away, and dashed off into the darkness. Ruggles, light of foot, might have saved himself even then, but some instinct stronger than his fear of death held him fast. He stooped over the colonel, gripped him under the shoulders, and dragged him to his feet.

Though theoretically a noncombatant, Ruggles, like Pembroke, carried a revolver, as amongst the Bulgarians were many who were no respecters of the Red Cross, of which Christian corps, as Ruggles saw it, the agents were in no way bound to suffer martyrdom at the hands of some shaggy swineherd from the heights of the Kopagnik Mountains. So, as the rush bore down upon them, he began to fire.

Beside him, Hamid Pasha drew his sword, and almost as he did so, the two were in the thick of it. The brilliant moonlight glistened on the silvery head of the old Ottoman as he towered above his squat assailants, and blazed on Ruggles's golden head, as the pair, almost emblematic of East and West, stood side by side desperately defending themselves against the frenzied foresters from the beech woods about the Shipka Pass. The next instant a heavy bank of cloud swept across the face of the moon, and the struggle went on in Stygian darkness.

Presently Hamid Pasha fell, and Ruggles found himself astride his prostrate body, a rifle in his hand, stabbing, parrying, lunging with the bayonet. A madness seemed to have possessed him. He was conscious of neither pain nor fear, though wounded in many places and surrounded by enemies who gave no quarter even to the dying. But it was a thinking, reasoning madness, an ancient inheritance, perhaps, from Berserker ancestors.

No Equinoctial Storms

Scientists oppose the widely held belief that storms always occur at the time of the autumn equinox. The equinox may or may not be coincident with stormy weather, which can reasonably be expected to occur in some parts of the world at any time. The theory that it always does is relegated to the same class as those notions that rain on Easter presages rain on seven succeeding Sundays, a stormy St. Swithin's Day means 40 days of bad weather, and that lumber made from a tree felled in the dark of the moon will become worm-eaten.

Largest Statue in World

It is reported from Japan that there is being carved there the largest statute in the world. It is a recumbent effigy of Nichiren, a Japanese patron saint, cut from a natural granite rock on a hillside in the Island of Ushigakubi, or the "Cow's Head," in the insland sea of Seto. This stone image, it appears, will be 240 feet long, 60 feet longer than the sleeping Buddha at Segu, Burma, and considerably larger than the Sphinx in Egypt.

Scotland Going Dry

Minister Says Country Will Vote Prohibition in Spring

"Scotland is going dry next year," according to Rev. Dr. J. H. Jowett, who sailed on the Adriatic for England recently, after preaching a month in his former church at the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church, New York.

"It will surprise many," he said, "that I make the assertion that Scotland next year will vote to go dry, for I do not believe it is realized here how far the temperance movement has progressed in the British Isles. A country which has prohibition will become eighty per cent. more efficient than one which has not, and the drink-ridden countries across the sea will have to follow in the footsteps of the United States or fall behind in the economic race."

Keep Fit For Success In Life

BY DR. A. B. BABCOCK.

You can take your boy and out of him make anything you like if you can get him under good self-discipline. All roads are open to the man who is strong and fit. Uncle Sam took "our boys"—those slab-sided, stooped, hollow-chested youths—and made of them vigorous, well-developed, well set-up and courageous men. Take the right way! Train yourself and your children to take proper exercise, drink plenty of water and keep the system clean. Your doctor will tell you that anything from a common cold or headache to the most serious illness may result from the absorption of poisons in the intestines.

The first principle is to keep the system clean. Occasionally see that the boy or girl, as well as yourself, has an internal bath. It may be with castor oil or a tiny pill of May-apple, aloin and jalap, which is sold by druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

If a cold starts with a cough and it persists, then some local treatment for this condition should be taken. A well-known alterative extract which has been on the market for a great many years, and which has been highly recommended by thousands of users, is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic compound is composed of an extract of roots and herbs, without alcohol, and has a soothing effect upon the mucous membrane, allays the irritation and at the same time works in the proper and reasonable way, at the seat of the trouble—the stagnated or poisoned blood.

Australian Premier Says Empire Will Hang Together

A despatch to the London Daily Mail from Sydney say that in a speech at Brisbane, Premier Hughes said that when he was recently in South Africa, General Botha had said to him: "If you call to us across the ocean we shall come to you. We look upon you as the outpost of the Empire. You stand between us and that outer world of thousands of millions which hems us about. If you fall we fall; if we call you we know you will come."

Premier Hughes continued: "So it is with New Zealand and Australia. Those who touch us touch Canada. Those who touch Britain touch us."

Faint and Dizzy Spells.

Weakness and Shortness of Breath.

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by the faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensations, weak, sinking, all-gone feeling, choking sensation, etc.

Many men and women become rundown and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy if they would only pay some attention to the first sign of heart weakness.

No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes:—"I have used on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and find they have done me good. I had those fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, and would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up in bed. When walking too fast I would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully as I have improved very much."

Price 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

To Men Who Live Inactive Lives.—Exercise in the open air is the best tonic for the stomach and system generally; but there are those who are compelled to follow sedentary occupations, and the inactivity tends to restrict the healthy action of the digestive organs and sickness follows. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills regulate the stomach and liver and restore healthy action. It is wise to have a packet of the pills always on hand.

Walked 95 Miles in One Day

One of the most remarkable pedestrians ever known is probably Edward Payson Weston, who walked in one day from Philadelphia to New York, a distance of ninety-five miles. He left the City Hall in Philadelphia at five minutes after midnight, and reached the City Hall in New York at 11.35 p.m. A year later he walked over the same route he had walked forty years before, beating his own previous time by many hours, and going 1,300 miles in 24 days 20 hours. The Japanese industry of making buttons, scarfpins, shirt studs, cuff links and the like from sea shells brought from the Indian Ocean, the Philippines and the South Sea islands, has made mighty strides these last few years, says Gas Logic. THE NERVOUS SCHOOL CHILD

Needs Rich, Red Blood to Regain Health and Strength

Many children start school in excellent health, but after a short time home work, examinations, hurried meals and crowded school rooms cause their blood to become weak and thin, their nerves over wrought and their color and spirits lost. It is a great mistake to let matters drift when boys and girls show symptoms of nervousness or weak blood. They are almost sure to fall victims of St. Vitus dance, or drift into debility that leads to other troubles. Regular meals, out-door exercise and plenty of sleep are necessary to combat the nervous wear of school life. But it is still more important that parents should pay strict attention to the school child's blood supply. Keep his rich and red by giving Dr. Williams Pink Pills according to directions and the boy or girl will be sturdy and fit for school. The value of Dr. Williams Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mrs. Pearl G. Harrington, Kingsville, Ont., who says:—"I have often felt that I should write you and let you know what Dr. Williams Pink Pills did for me. At the age of thirteen I was afflicted with St. Vitus Dance. The trouble became so severe that I had to be taken from school. I was given medical treatment but it did not help me, in fact I was steadily growing worse. Then a friend advised my mother to give me Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which she did, with the happiest results, as the pills completely cured me and I was again able to take up my studies and attend school. Again about three years ago I was attacked with nervous prostration and once more took Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and after using five boxes was fully restored. I cannot praise these pills too highly as I believe they will cure any case of St. Vitus dance, or restore anyone who is weak, nervous or run down.

You can safely give Dr. Williams Pink Pills to the most delicate child, or take them yourself with equally good results when you need a blood tonic. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 5 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Novel Bolshevist Scheme

Tolstoi's Country House To Be Kept As A Public Memorial

The Bolshevist Government has a somewhat Gilbertian scheme for the disposal of Tolstoi's country house, Yasnaya Polyana. The property is nationalized, and is to be kept up as a public memorial of its late illustrious tenant. As, however, the greater part of the house was destroyed last year by Bolshevist brigands, the Commissary of Art has assigned 175,000 roubles to its reconstruction.

The Tolstoi family have been invited, on condition of becoming Government officials to rent their own property from the State and occupy the house!

In view of the shortage of British coal for export purposes, it is reported that French scientists and industrialists are endeavoring to supply power by harnessing the tides. For several years French scientific men have declared that this was no fantastic dream, and already considerable data on the subject have been collected. In order to apply these theories to the test of practice, a small scientific company has been formed to carry out experiments at Ploumanach, on the Cotes du Nord.

The Last Call

It is a duty, it is a previlege, it is a fine opportunity for profitable investment and it should be a pleasure for every person in the Valley who has any cash at his or her disposal to invest it in Victory Bonds.

It is possible that this year the appeal does not carry with it the same direct incentive that prompted the hard work and generous response on the part of our citizens during the period when the war was in progress; but while the need may not today be so directly apparent as during the fateful time when the result of the great conflict seemed to hang in the balance, in reality the urge should be just as insistent as it was during those days of distress and uncertainty.

It cannot be too strongly pointed out that this is a national movement, for great national ends in which Canadians of all shades of opinion upon other matters, are cooperating. Only by complete unity of aim on the part of all who are directly concerned in the work and with the generous support of practically the entire public can the ends in view be obtained; injury to the country at large and to each and everyone of us must follow even a partial failure. Self-interest self respect and self-protection combine to urge a great popular movement in support of the loan.

What, for instance, would be the position of the Creston Valley farmer and fruit grower did this loan meet with failure? The sale of our fruit and other products depends largely upon the oapacity for their purchase by the people of the Prairie Provinces, who in their turn rely mainly upon the sale of their wheat. Without the establishment of credits for the purchase of grain and other foodstuffs in Great Britain not a bushel in excess of the amount required for home consumption could be sold abroad this year. Under such circumstances it is not difficult to imagine what would happen to our fruit markets. If for no otner motive, self interest should impel the Creston Valley to stand solidly behind this loan.

The money is also needed for capital outlay on shipbuilding, and for other big national undertakings which form part of Canada's industrial reconstruction programme, for the establishment of the necessary credits for the purchase of grain, foodstuffs, timber and other products—and it will all be spent in Canada.

We need hardly again call attention to the fact that a very large proportion of the funds thus obtained are necessary to carry on the various plans for re-establishment in connection with our obligations to our returned soldiers. The country's revenue will be about $250,000,000 this year and the outlay will run to nearly $700,000,000, of which some $350,000,000 will be required for distribution among our veterans.

For these reasons alone, entirely apart from the attractive return and the safety of the investment, Canadians should look upon this loan as their final patriotic effort in financing their country over the war, and act accordingly—as they acted when their country called upon them for financial assistance on previous occasions.

This is the wind-up. Let us finish the war with a clean record!

Ted Mawson, who has been working at the Paulson camp for some time, left on Sunday for Creston.

Mrs. L. E. McGonegal and children were Cranbrook visitors last week, and while there were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Belanger.

Harry Rymell arrived home last week after spending the past six months at the coast.

C. R. Paulson of Spokane is a business visitor here this week.

Fred Sodarkie arrived here a few days ago, and is again employed at the Paulson camp.

Nels. and Tom Ramstad, who have been working at the Paulson camp for some months, left here on Tuesday and are leaving shortly for the old home in Norway. Their many friends here wish them a pleasant trip and a speedy return.

A dance will be held at the Kitchener Hotel on Saturday, Nov. 15th. All are invited.

E. Repsomer of Creston was a visitor here between trains on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. France and family moved here from the prairie on Monday and are making Kitchener their home in future.

Messrs. McKowan and McGonegal, who are in charge of the Victory Loan canvass at Kitchener are meeting with splendid success. The loan closes tomorrow and from all accounts the Kitchener purchasing will compare favorably with any point in Kootenay.

Nearing $50,000

Up till yesterday noon returns at Victory Loan headquarters showed the sale of bonds to be still a few thousand under the $50,000 quota fixed for the Creston Valley. Some outside points have not made final returns as yet and when these are all in it is felt sure the $50,000 will have been secured. The bond sale this year shows that buyers of the $50 and $100 bonds have not been nearly so numerous as last year. 10 o'clock Saturday night sees the close of the loan and prospective buyers of either small or large bonds are asked to bear the closing date in mind and buy early.

Successful Whist

The Parish Hall was crowded to capacity for the Women's Institute whist and dance on Tuesday night, there hardly being table room enough to accomodate the card players. The winners at whist were Misses Ruth Smith and Frances Lyne, and M. J. Boyd and Mr. Richardson of Lister. The quilt that was raffled was won by little Miss Mary Goodwin. Lunch followed cards, after which the floor was cleared and dancing was indulged in until 2 a.m. The quilt raffle produced $20, while the intake from admissions was almost $70.

CANADA'S FUTURE DEPENDS ON LOAN

Steady Employment and Prosperity Hangs on Victory Loan.

Canada's future prosperity depends to a great extent upon the success of the Victory Loan. No country can exist upon trade within its own boundaries. Canada counts on the trade with Great Britain and other allied countries to keep the flood of good times in the country.

The surplus products of the farm and the factory find their way across the seas. The revenue of the farmer and the manufacturer is dependent on this trade relationship being sustained. The employment of many hands depends on the orders that come to the firm. The pay envelope only comes with steady employment.

Great Britain and overseas countries are still desirous of continuing trade relations, but, overwhelmed with war expenses, they must be given credits for the time being. The farmer and the manufacturer must be paid for their products and manufactured articles in cash. Therefore, Canada must finance the proposition to keep the tide of commerce coming this way. But in order to have the money on hand to do this great thing, Canada must borrow from her people.

The Victory Loan offers bonds to subscribers paying 5½ per cent. interest. The guarantee behind the bonds makes them an absolutely safe investment. Victory Bonds are accepted as collateral at any bank, and can easily be turned into money at a profit. It is then to the interests of every Canadian to subscribe for all the Victory Bonds he can, for it is profitable, it is patriotic, and it is necessary for the continued prosperity of the country.

CANADA NEEDS MONEY

War Expenditures Still to Be Met From Proceeds of Victory Loan.

The war is over and won; but Canada's main expenditures for war will not be complete until well on into 1920. The $610,000,000 raised last year has all been spent, $400,000,000 having been largely devoted to soldiers—to maintaining them, bringing them home, providing the necessary medical services, training them. Most of the balance of the loan was lent to Great Britain to enable her to buy our surplus products. And money is still necessary — for soldiers, for providing markets, for our surplus products, for the needs of reconstruction. And that is why another Victory Loan is necessary. Canada still needs money, and needs it badly.

A Good Investment.

Speculation is one thing. Investment is another. The majority of citizens want an investment, not a speculation. And they want a safe investment. Victory Bonds fill that requirement as does no other investment. Because behind every bond there is the national wealth of Canada—a wealth so great that it staggers the imagination.

Canadian Bank Clearings.

That Canada is well able to support the Victory Loan is clearly shown by the Canadian bank clearings for the current year. They indicate that the year's total will exceed $15,000,000,000 compared with $13,776,000,000 in 1918. And the year's total clearings should be three times those of 1909.

Must Subscribe More.

Dividing the people of Canada into three classes — the comparatively poor, the moderately wealthy, and the very wealthy — it would seem that if contributions to the Victory Loans constitute service to the nation, the moderately wealthy class is barely doing its share. Of the money subscribed to the Victory Loan 1918 two hundred and seventy-one million dollars were in bonds of $5,000 and under, ninety-four millions in bonds of between $5,000 and $25,000, and three hundred and one millions in bonds of $25,000 and over.

Be true to yourself. Buy Victory Bonds.

You did it before. You can do it again. Buy Victory Bonds.

Canada pledged her last man and her last dollar. Redeem that pledge in Victory Bonds.

If the fighting were still raging you wouldn't hesitate to buy Victory Bonds.

To make the Victory Loan a success is a national obligation. It may be that you are the deciding factor.

If you are concerned about the future welfare of Canada, buy a Victory Bond and make it a sure thing.

Don't forget the future of your children. Lay a good foundation with a Victory Bond.

Education in New World Era

The world upheaval occasioned by the Great War is having its effects not only upon politics and political institutions, finance, trade and commerce, and economics in general, but also upon all social and moral relations. While the great struggle was in progress, and the need for bringing every ounce of power and every item of resource to bear to achieve victory became more and more evident, people began to say that the old world would never again be the same. This, in fact, became a trite saying, and many who made use of it hardly realized just how true it was and how great was the revolution taking place in the world, and which was affecting every phase of individual, community, national and international life.

Remarkable and far-reaching as have been the changes brought about in political life and institutions—and here in Canada we are only now beginning to realize just how great the change has been, and just beginning to get a glimpse of other and perhaps greater changes which seem impending—in finance, trade and commerce, in science and invention, the greatest change of all has taken place in the sphere of social conditions.

The insistent demands of Labor for a new place in the social order; the almost world-wide sweep of the movement against the perpetuation of the legalized liquor traffic; the insistence upon greater attention being paid to the health and physical well-being of the people, more especially of the boys and girls—the need for which was so startlingly exposed by the examinations conducted by the army doctors in connection with the recruiting of the immense armies which modern war called for these things are even more significant of the new era upon which the world has entered than are those which have to do with what in the past we have been taught to regard as the more material things.

And in the laying of the foundation for, and in the development of, this new social order, the most thoughtful men and women have come to recognize that no one institution will be called upon to play a larger or more important part than the public school and higher institutions of learning throughout this and all other lands. In every progressive country [illegible] is receiving the serious attention of the most public-spirited and far-seeing statesmen and [illegible]

[illegible] has found expression in the most sweeping educational reforms of the last half century or more, and the appropriation of positively staggering sums of money, even at a time when the Old Land is faced with a tremendous national debt and taxation has reached heights hitherto undreamed of.

In Canada a general awakening in regard to matters educational is in evidence in almost every Province, and is most noticeable of all in the Provinces of the West and in old Quebec. The change which is taking place in the latter Province is, perhaps, most significant of all, and has in it all the elements that may yet lead to a closer union between Quebec and the other Provinces and help to eliminate those causes of friction which in the past have so greatly retarded our national life.

One of the most promising movements so far as Canada is concerned was the convening of the recent National Conference on Character Education in Relation to Canadian Citizenship, which was held at Winnipeg October 20-22, and which was attended by representative men and women in all walks of life from every Province of the Dominion, and at which inspiring and instructive addresses were delivered, not only by prominent Canadians, but by leaders of thought from the United States and Great Britain.

So important does the writer of this column consider this great National Conference to have been at this stage in Canada's history, that he proposes to devote some space to its deliberations in future articles.

School Lands in Manitoba and Saskatchewan Withheld From Sale

Through the intervention of the Soldier Settlement board, school lands in Manitoba and Saskatchewan aggregating 432,000 acres, have been witheld from sale by auction in order to be made available for settlement by returned soldiers. Arrangements have been completed to advertise these lands, 2,700 quarter sections in all, for sale by public auction this fall. The lands are situated in the Winnipeg, Brandon, Ashern and St. Rose de Lac districts in Manitoba, and the Canora, Wadena, Prince Albert and Wakaw districts in Saskatchewan. They were selected because of the fact that in these districts crops this year were good and increased settlement is particularly desirable. The provincial governments concurred in the sale.

y is Chosen
Premier of Ontario

Toronto.—E. C. Drury is to be the next premier of Ontario, succeeding Sir William Hearst. Mr. Duy was the unanimous choice of the Farmers of Ontario and Labor representatives in the new legislature, at a joint conference at the U.F.O. headquarters.

It is understood that the meeting was very harmonious and that there was an indication of the two groups pulling well together in the house, though both the U.F.O. and Labor will retain their group feature to a considerable extent.

Premier-elect Drury said that the new government was practically completed, that all the portfolios had been allocated, and that the government would be ready on short notice to take over the reins from Sir William Hearst and his ministers.

The policy of the United Farmers so far as it has been definitely agreed upon is outlined in an address given by Mr. Drury after his selection. In this he stated that one of the first acts of the new government would be to carry out the mandate of the people of the province on prohibition, as declared in the recent referendum vote, and Mr. Drury expressed himself as in complete sympathy with this mandate. He pointed out that the U.F.O. had waged war on special privileges, and this policy would be continued, he said:

He intimated that the new government would not stand for any class legislation.

In his address, Mr. Drury said he realized that the bed upon which he had been placed is likely to have more thorns than feathers in it. "I do not, however, entertain any fears regarding this situation," he said. "It is true we may be lacking in experience, but the situation is not one which calls for the fine arts of the politician."

The new leader added:

"It is too early to speak of our legislative program. We have not yet been called upon to form a government, and it would be unwise to anticipate. We can, however, lay down certain broad principles which must and should govern us in the matter. Our war in the past has been waged on special privilege.

"We are not at this time going to abandon the principle of justice and fair play which have actuated us in the past.

"If we are called to power we must stand for no class legislation of whatever kind. Our legislative program must be framed for the benefit of every just and honest and legitimate interest in the province. If in the carrying out of such a program the unjust and dishonest interests get in the way, so much the worse for the latter."

War on Illiteracy

An Americanization bill to wipe out illiteracy in the United States, was reported on favorably by the senate labor committee. The bill would appropriate $12,500,000 a year.

The Sugar Shortage

Licenses to Export Sugar Cancelled By Canadian Trade Commission

Ottawa.—No export licenses of sugar from Canada are being issued, and old contracts which called for the shipment of sugar to the United States have been cancelled by the Canadian trade commission, it was learned. Export of sugar along the border points, which has been permitted to some extent in the past, has also been stopped, despite the many hundreds of requests for sugar being received by the trade commission.

At the office of the commission it was stated that if care is exercised by the consumers, there is sufficient sugar in Canada for domestic use, providing there are no strikes or transportation tie-ups.

Canada is one of the best situated countries in the world in this respect, it was stated.

Held Prisoner by Ice

Aviators Will Try to Rescue Man Frozen In

Winnipeg.—To rescue a man frozen in in the north country without supplies, Capt. Cuffe, late of the R.A.F., one of the local aviators, and J. D. Perrin have left by airplane.

J. B. Tirrell, a well-known geologist and consulting engineer for a mining company, who has been surveying holdings in the Rice Lake district, as a result of the early freeze up has been held prisoner in the north land.

The lake was so frozen round the edges that several attempts made to get boats in proved unsuccessful.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky, but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.

A Unique Move

Commercial Travellers to Use British Warships

London.—British commercial travellers and the representatives of business houses are to be permitted passage aboard every British warship leaving the country for abroad.

This, according to Sir Hamar Greenwood, under-secretary for home affairs, who made the announcement before the association of British chambers of commerce, is "a move unique in the history of the empire."

Proportional Representation

Winnipeg.—A bill providing for proportional representation for Winnipeg will be introduced in the next session of the provincial legislature, it is stated. Winnipeg would be the only district affected, as the city constituencies are the only ones for which there are more than one member.

Italy Appeals to United States

London.—Diplomats here assert that another strong appeal has been addressed to the United States by Signor Tittoni, Italian foreign minister, regarding the Fiume situation. It is added that the British and French governments are using their good offices to ease the rather critical situation.

Turkish Question For New Conference

Entente Representatives Are Persuaded U.S. Will Not Voluntarily Accept Mandate

Paris.—The entente representatives in the peace conference apparently are persuaded that the United States will not voluntarily accept any mandate in the Near East, and it now seems assured that the Turkish question will not be touched by the present peace conference, but will probably be taken up by another conference to be held within a few months.

There is much speculation as to where the conference for the division of Turkey is to be held. It will probably not be in Paris. The suggestion of Geneva has not met with great favor, as it is not regarded as a good place for a winter conference, and it is believed that Turkey must be disposed of before spring.

To Relieve Distress

Preparations Being Made in U.S. to Cope With Strike Situation

Washington. — The government, confronted with the refusal of the miners' organization to call off the strike of a half million soft coal workers, has moved swiftly to protect the people from great distress.

First of many steps to deal with a situation admittedly critical probably will be these:

"Ample police or other protection for miners willing to remain on the job as urged by President Wilson.

"Revival of the fuel administration, armed with full war-time powers to prevent hoarding and profiteering.

"Allocation and distribution of coal to homes, railroads and industries.

"Efforts to bring the strike to a speedy end through mediation.

"The government, however, will make no effort to bring about indictment of officers of the United Mine Workers of America, who called the strike, on charges of conspiracy to reduce production of a necessary product.

Sugar Rations to Candy-Makers

Washington.—Rationing of sugar to manufacturers of candy, soft drinks and the like is soon to be suggested by the sugar equalization board, a house war investigating committee was told by Herbert Hoover, former federal food administrator. This step by the board, Mr. Hoover said, resulted from the fact that "raw sugar has risen beyond the point where it can be bought advantageously for the housewife."

Germany May Not Hand Over Ships

Berlin.—The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says semi-officially that the reply of the German government to the note from the supreme council at Paris, demanding the surrender of German ships sold to Holland during the war, will probably be in the negative. The note will declare that the government is unable to endorse the legal arguments of the entente that the sale of these ships, which are now in German waters, was invalid.

Canada Wants Place On Governing Body

Washington.—Canada has filed a formal protest against the proposed composition of the governing body of the international labor office to be established under the League of Nations. The point at issue is regarded by the Canadian delegation here as of the greatest moment. It involves the right of Canada, by reason of her industrial importance, to name one of the members of the governing body rather than to take her chance of election as one of the nations of lesser importance, from the industrial point of view.

The international labor office (which will be controlled by the governing body), forms part of the permanent organization created to further application of the labor principles embodied in the peace treaty.

Its governing body is to consist of 24 members. Twelve will represent the governments, six will be selected by the employers' delegates to the international labor conference, six by workers' delegates to the conference. Of the twelve government representatives, eight will be nominated by the members of the conference which are of chief industrial importance.

The remaining four will be nominated by the other government delegates to the congress. The governing body will consist of 24 members, comprising which eight nations are of industrial importance and therefore empowered each to name a representative on the governing body.

The organizing body of the labor conference has reported in favor of the following:

United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Japan, Switzerland and Spain.

If German delegates are admitted to the conference, Germany, by reason of her industrial importance, will be entitled to a seat on the governing body, and Spain being at the end of the list will cease to be numbered among the eight.

Now the position taken by Canada is that she should rank as one of the eight nations of "chief industrial importance." And to that end has deposited a protest. The Dominion government holds that she is entitled to be so regarded on the grounds:

(1) Of population.

(2) Of relative industrial importance.

When the council of the League of Nations convenes, and this is expected shortly, Canada's protest will be one of the first questions for education.

Alleged Evasion Of Immigration Law

Claim that Hutterites Get Into Canada By Automobiles

Winnipeg.—Finding it a difficult job getting into Manitoba from the United States by train, Hutterites, it is alleged, are trying to outwit the immigration authorities by entering in automobiles. Reports to this effect were submitted at a meeting of the central branch of the Great War Veterans' association, with a result that a resolution was unanimously passed calling the attention of the federal government to the matter and urging it to take immediate steps to see that the regulations prohibiting the entry of Hutterites into Manitoba were not evaded in what was described as this astute way.

To Solve Fiume Question

France and Britain Are Again Trying to Bring About Settlement of Problem

Paris.—Efforts of France and England are again being brought into play to bring about a solution of the Italian-American difficulties over the settlement of the Fiume problem, according to the Liberte.

The newspaper reports that the American opposition to the modified Italian proposals is unchanged and that the response of Secretary of State Lansing is in the negative.

Premier Clemenceau received Foreign Minister Tittoni.

To WithDraw British Troops

London.—Andrew Bonar Law, government leader in the House of Commons, announced that the government was arranging with France and Prince Feisal, son of the King of the Hedjaz, for the immediate withdrawal of the British troops from Syria and the assumption of the duties of occupation by the French and Arabs, pending the conclusion of the peace treaty.

Heavy Potato Loss in Manitoba

Winnipeg. — Manitoba has sustained a loss of about 2,800,000 bushels of potatoes, frozen in the ground, which at market prices today, $1.25 per bushel, means a loss of $3,500,000 and represents a loss of from 30 to 40 per cent. of the entire crop. Dealers say there will be a serious shortage in the province this winter.

Argentina to Hand Over Hun Ships

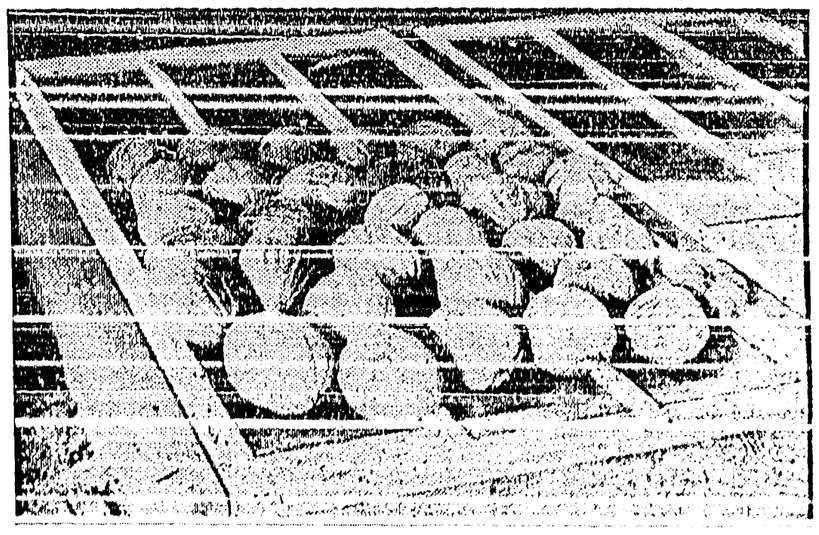
Buenos Ayres.—The six German merchant ships which took refuge in Argentine ports during the war will be delivered to the allies in good condition. This decision is the result of diplomatic negotiations extending over several months to determine the fate of the interned steamers.

Navy Must Retain Strength

Beatty Says Nation Would Fall to the Ground Unless Sea Force Is Maintained

London.—Earl Beatty, the new first sea lord, speaking here, declared that while public economy was essential, our vast lines of communication were as important as before the war, and the navy was our insurance for maintaining them. The League of Nations was a pious hope for relieving us of some of that insurance, which he hoped might be fulfilled, but the navy made us into a strong man armed, and without it the Empire would fall to the ground.

Melons Grown in the West



George Merrick, head of the Merrick-Anderson company, who for years before the war and ever since has been a most earnest advocate of greater production, is very proud of the fine muskmelons which he grew this year at Old England, near Selkirk. He believes that in years to come a very large proportion of the market gardening for the city of Winnipeg will be done in the light, warm, sandy soil in the region near the town of Selkirk, where conditions are very favorable. The picture shows samples of the melon crop of this season, said to be equal to those of Montreal.
