CREATIVE GIVING

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

A record of the private gifts, grants and bequests to the University

April 1970 - March 1971

THE UNIVERSITY THANKS ITS FRIENDS FOR THEIR CONTRIBUTIONS

The University owes much of its stature to private gifts. Research, special teaching projects, scholarships, prizes and bursaries have been supported by individual benefactors, alumni, firms, students, foundations and associations. Some of the major buildings on the campus, as well as a wide variety of other projects, serve as testimony to the generosity of those who helped to build UBC.

The basic support of the University is provided by fees and by the Province of British Columbia and the Government of Canada. The excellence of the education it offers, however, depends in part on financial assistance received from friends. Gifts have been made anonymously, directly, in memory of relatives, in honour of friends and by bequest. Many alumni and a number of other donors contribute annually. During the year benefactors donated $5,739,636.

The University is deeply grateful to those who have given such generous support and also thanks the many volunteers who have helped generate gifts.

This brochure does not include the names of those many donors to the Alumni Fund and the Three Universities Capital Fund. Provincial and Federal grants are recorded in other publications.

With twelve faculties, eight schools and seven institutes, the University's needs are many and varied. Support is welcome in every area of teaching, research and capital development; and money for the assistance of students is essential. As the needs of the University change over the years, we welcome the opportunity to discuss with donors the form their support might take. No gift is too small — and none too large.

THE UNIVERSITY RESOURCES COUNCIL

Enquiries: A. T. Adams, Executive Secretary, University Resources Council, The University of British Columbia, Vancouver 8, B.C. Tel.: 228-3917.

The cover shows Thea Koerner House, the graduate student centre at UBC, a magnificent and interesting example of private support for the University.

The original House (upper right), opened in 1961, was made possible by a gift through the Leon and Thea Koerner Foundation and is a memorial to Dr. Koerner's late wife. A $750,000 addition (lower left), opened in 1971, will be paid for by annual subscriptions by graduate students.

The centre, undoubtedly, provides one of the finest student facilities anywhere in the world.

THE UNIVERSITY WANTS TO SERVE YOU

The University wishes to express gratitude to donors in a variety of ways.

If you do not receive UBC Reports (published by UBC Information Services) or the UBC Alumni Chronicle (published by the UBC Alumni Association) we will be pleased to place you on the mailing lists.

You may wish to have information regarding a specific teaching or research programme, faculty or department; or the advice of one of our many experts useful in seeking sources of information or answers to problems.

The results of research conducted at the University are freely available and we are eager that they should be of the widest benefit.

A variety of excellent facilities are available to the general public for conferences, social functions, workshops and seminars. They cater for ten or a thousand persons and are backed by food, accommodation and programming services.

The magnificent site, the beauty of the campus and the varied activities of its community make UBC an outstanding place to visit. We will be happy to help you guide a friend or conduct a tour.

STUDENT CONTRIBUTIONS TO CAPITAL DEVELOPMENT AT THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

Students of The University of British Columbia are deeply conscious and appreciative of the support of the many friends of the University, but they are also proud of their own long tradition of contributions to the capital development of the campus. Through their organizations, the Alma Mater Society and the Graduate Student Association, students have put more than $5,000,000 into construction of badly needed buildings and athletic facilities. This $5,000,000 represents approximately 5% of the total capital development or 10% of the total Provincial Government contribution.

1928: This tradition of student giving goes back to 1928 when the students imposed a $3 levy on themselves, undertook various fund-raising activities and surrendered their "caution money" (a $5 deposit collected to cover damage to University equipment). The fund thus created — $25,543, a significant sum in those days — paid for the Women's Gymnasium, the first campus building credited to student initiative.

1937: By similar means the students raised $39,032 in 1937 for construction of the Stadium on East Mall

1939: and $78,900 in 1939 to build Brock Hall, which was to remain for nearly 30 years the centre of Alma Mater Society activities.

1941: Members of the Campus COTC waived their pay to raise $48,000 for construction of the Armory.

After World War II, with the campus population suddenly swollen, student projects became more ambitious.

1947: The students provided $367,000 for construction of the War Memorial Gymnasium.

1957: $325,000 to extend Brock Hall.

1959: $150,000 for campus residences at Place Vanier.

1962: The students contributed $185,000 to the Thunderbird Winter Sports Centre which the Alma Mater Society manages jointly with the University.

1968: They imposed on themselves another levy to raise $3,500,000 for their Student Union Building which is completely student-operated.

The most recent student contribution is a major addition to the Thea Koerner Graduate Centre, for which the graduate students are raising $747,000.

Tuum Est – "It is up to you" – is more than a motto at UBC. For the students it is a way of life.

Tony Hodge,
President.

UBC GEOLOGICAL SCIENCES CENTRE FUND

The Fund drive was launched on 20 January 1970. The proposed Centre will cost $4,030,000, the University's current commitment is $930,000. The goal for individual and corporate donors is $3.1 million.

As at 31 March, 1971 donors had pledged $1,830,437. Construction of the Centre commenced in September 1970 and is sufficiently advanced for use by students in the Fall of 1971.

The University is grateful to the outstanding team of volunteers working for the Fund.

UBC WILLS & BEQUESTS COMMITTEE

Period newsletters are sent to approximately 3,300 lawyers, trust officers, accountants, estate planners and others for the benefit of clients who seek advice concerning bequests to the University.

Since 1928 a total of 114 bequests have amounted to $19,404,154. In addition to this dollar amount a variety of bequests-in-kind have come to the University: property, books, paintings, artifacts, skulls and stamps. Forty-five people are also known to have made provision for The University of British Columbia in their wills.

In the past year the University received $1,242,000 in bequests designated as follows: scholarships in science and engineering; student aid; research, study and control of weeds in B.C.; bursaries, loans and scholarships in medicine; research for treatment and prevention of cancer; equipment for cancer research. The School of Librarianship and the Department of Nursing Education have also been recipients of bequests.
