THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1920 No. 19

Lister

This week it is H. Christiansen that is receiving the congratulations of the camp. A brand new baby son arrived on Saturday morning, Mrs. Christiansen being a patient at Miss Candy's marternity hospital at Creston.

The Dominion Day dance on Thursday night at the school under Ladies' Auxiliary auspices, was one of the most enjoyable of the season. There was a fine turnout, and a good financial response, which will go toward the piano fund.

A crew of men is busy this week laying the pipe line for a water supply for the camp. Water is being taken from the south fork of Floyd Creek and good progress is being made at pipe laying.

Everything is running well at the sawmill, and under the direction of mill superintendent Monk the cut of lumber is well up to expectations, both as to quantity as well as quality.

A new blacksmith shop is under constauction this week, on a lot almost opposite the store.

Walter Brown has just recently arrived from England and is making an extended visit with his sister, Mrs. D. Chalmers.

The Sunday school was closed down at the end of June and a vacation will be taken for the months of July and August.

Another meeting of those directly interested in the hay situation was held on Saturday night, when all arrangements were completed for cutting a supply for the residents off Kootenay Flats.

The annual school meeting is called for the schoolhouse on Saturday night. Trustee Bagshaw's term has expired and it will be necessary to elect a successor, along with an auditor

C.P.R. Supt. Maharg of Cranbrook, was a caller here on Monday, taking a look over the area. He was quite taken with the planting of potatoes on the experimental plot, surprised at the good showing of spuds on this year's breaking.

Friday evening saw a meeting of those interested in the organization of a local of the United Farmers of British Columbia, with J. McGee presiding. Among the speakers was Frank May, who gave some facts and figures on the U.F. organization. A. R. Swanson of Creston spoke briefly on the advantages accruing from having a branch of the organization. Some of the others who took a hand in expressing views in the matter were John Davis, N. Stones, Jos. Bell and Jas. Jory.

Mr. Dobbyn, who has been in charge of Lister school since its opening late last year, left the latter part of the week for Nelson. He will not be returning, having handed in his resignation to the trustees.

Frank May & Sons are busy now stacking their first cut of alfalfa this season, which is running to about 2½ tons to the acre.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Phillips and son motored over from Calgary, Alta., the latter part of the week, and spent a few days on their ranch here. Mr. Phillips states that the roads are considerably better than last year.

A new house is in course of erection on the Speery Phillips ranch here. It will be a six-room structure. While the carpenter staff of the L.S.B. are there they will also build him a new garage.

Mrs. Vincent Lidicoate has just returned from a week's holiday with friends in Cranbrook.

Pitfalls of a Big City

"Pitfalls of a Big City" is a truly remarkable photoplay. This William Fox production, which will be at the Peekin on Wednesday, July 14th, gives a wonderfully realistic picture of the seamy side of life in a great city. It is an interesting study of the world of thieves and pick-pockets and crooks in general, and as true to life as skilled hands could make it.

The director spent several weeks investigating slum districts and study the annals of crime, so that he might give a true version of this phase of life.

Gladys Brockwell, as the heroine, gives a remarkable portrayal of a woman crook who has resolved to be honest and who stands by her resolution despite every obstacle. The play abounds in thrilling situations, and carries a moral that all who run may read. It is a true morality play.

$6380 for School Use Next Term

$6380.00 is the amount the ratepayers will be asked to vote on Saturday night, at the annual school meeting, for the good and efficient conduct of the Creston high and public schools for the next twelve months. This was the decision of the trustees at a special meeting on Monday night, which was convened for the purpose of preparing the estimates for next year. Chairman Jackson presided at the meeting, and all the trustees were in attendance.

Including the cost of building and equipping the new high school which was opened last October, the total expenditure for school purposes last year was almost $8000—the new high school getting away with approximately $2700 of this amount. Another $3240 was required for teachers' stipends, while a matter of $665 was required to reinburse the janitor for services rendered throughout the year.

In connection with the school finance it is only fair to say that due to the ratepayers voting $1000 more than was originally asked and the receipt of a considerable amount of long in arrears taxes the board at present finds itself with better than $4000 cash on hand. Should the meeting be economically inclined and decide to put that surplus to work at once a vote of about $2000 will suffice.

No schedule of salaries was presented at the meeting on Monday night, though letters were read from Messrs. Smith, Pearce and Brousson in which they agreed to remain for another year provided a raise of 10 per cent. over last year's salaries is accorded them, and this the trustees have readily consented to. For the two lady teachers required, however, it is felt that better than a ten per cent. raise over last year's salaries will be required.

Saturday's Show

A rare combination of modern art and bygone arcadry will participate in the first showing in this city of "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" at the Peekin Theatre, Saturday, July 10th. True they will participate in spirit and in shadow only, but a person need not be present in the flesh to perform a certain function or execute a wonderful bit of art. This combination namely includes the master work of the beloved author. Bret Harte, whose "Outcasts of Poker Flat" in book form has shone brilliantly throughout these many years and now that it has been filmed will live forever. Added to this is the artistry of the famous star, Harry Carey, who depicts the role of John Oakhurst, the honest gambler in the story.

Bret Harte used to say "the critics saw a heap of things in my stories that I never put there." From all reports the picturization of "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" required additional scenes and atmosphere that, to be sure, Harte "never put there," but if the great author were alive today the producers feel certain that he would highly elated over the liberties taken with his brainchild by scenario writer H. Tipton Steck and director Jack Ford.

Wynndel

The dance at the schoolhouse on Saturday night while purely local was quite a success, all in attendance reporting a good time.

We were surprised to hear that Creston with the help of Wynndel lost out by the odd run at baseball at Nelson on Thursday last.

Alex. Cameron got back from his trip to Coleman on Tuesday.

Mrs. E. Williams arrived on Tuesday from Blairmore, Alta., and expects to make quite a stay here.

The strawberry harvest is now in full swing, and with the prevailing fine weather and an abundance of pickers the growers are likely to get their crop off in good shape. The first carload went out on Wednesday,

The new overhead irrigation systems were seen in action over the week-end, and the farmers claim it is the best thing yet, nature being the only thing to rival it.

Mike Callaghan and Pete Wallace returned on Sunday from Fernie accompanied by their sisters, who are on the strawberry packing staff at O. J. Wigen's.

Miss Alice Carr, the obliging "central" at Creston telephone office paid this city a flying visit on Tuesday.

The United Farmers meeting at the schoolhouse on Saturday night was rather poorly attended, and consequently very little business was transacted.

Mrs. F. Packman, who has spent the past month here with her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. F. Packman, returned to her home in Calgary on Sunday, but expects to make a return visit next month.

During this hot spell most everybody spends any spare time they have disporting themselves in the slough. The slough and the ice cream are the coolest things in town.

T. W. Davies, who a short while ago underwent an operation for appendicitus at Calgary, Alta,, returned on Saturday, and we are glad to note that he is again showing his oldtime health and good spirits.

Manager Allen of the Imperial Bank, Creston, was a business visitor here on Tuesday.

Erickson

Official announcement is made this week that the C.P.R. has decided to locate a station agent here permanently. Bids are now being asked among the employees eligible for the job, and it is expected the new agent will be installed by the 25th at the latest.

Work was commenced this week on the new Union warehouse, a small force of men having commenced excavation for the cement foundation pillars.

Mrs. A. G. Stevens of Wetakiwin, Alta., is here on a visit to her sister, Mrs. John Graham. Her daughter, Lillian, and Miss Hazel Walker, also of Wetaskiwin, are with her.

Miss Ruby Palmer of Regina, Sask., is expected home this week for the summer holidays.

The annual school meeting is called for Saturday night when it will be necessary to elect a new trustee as well as an auditor. R. B. Staples has had the latter position, while it is hoped Roy Telford will be reelected trustee to succeed himself—his three-year term having expired.

Norman and Eric Craigie, who are working in the Arrow Lakes section, were here for a few days last week, returning on Sunday.

The most ticklish phase of the irrigation system construction was successfully negotiated last week when the foot bridge to carry the pipe line over the Goat river near the Canyon was completed. A space of about 70 feet had to be bridged.

Miss Marion Swanson arrived on Friday to take charge of the Dominion Express office here until the permanent agent arrives. Shipping so far has been well up to last year's standard, when the lateness of the season is taken into consideration.

Kitchener

A benefit dance will be held at the Paulson-Mason store on Saturday night, July 24th, for Charles Lapointe, who lost his leg a few weeks ago.

Sirdar

Jack Cameron has the distinction of being the first Sirdar citizen to fare forth on a holiday trip in his own auto. With Mrs. Cameron they embarked for Cranbrook in their Ford last week where they will spend a week with friends.

Bon Whitesides is spending a few days this week at Cranbrook on a business visit. In his absence T. North is in charge of the yard engine.

Mrs. Whittier and family and Mrs. McGill were arrivals here last week, and will occupy the Aspey cottage for the next two months.

Rev. J. S. Mahood had quite a good turnout at the morning service at the schoolhouse of the Church of England on Sunday. It is the first time in half a dozen years church has been held here in the morning.

Misses Marion and Ruth Swanson of Creston, and Miss Stella Swanson Spokane, were calling on Sirdar friends a couple of days last week.

Fraser & Co., expect to have all the work on the new slip completed this week, and will leave immediately for Yahk where they will put in new coal handling equipment.

Despite the troublous times in Ireland Mayor Daly is easily the coolest man in town these days, as well as being quite the local Beau Brummell in his khaki Palm Beach suit.

Mrs. Jones of Kuskanook was here for church service on Sunday reports residents there enjoying 1920 potatoes as well as green peas. It will be a couple of weeks before new murphies will be available here.

Sid McCabe was a Cranbrook visitor a few days last week with Mrs. McCabe, who is now a resident of that city.

Mrs. McBurney and children of Cranbrook are visitors here at present, at the C.P.R. Hotel. Dick is also an occasional caller, having one of the passenger runs at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Proctor of Battrum, Sask., are visitors at Sirdar at present, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loasby.

Last week preved the hottest weather Sirdar has been favored with this year so far, but at that the heat had no effect on the enthusiasm of the local anglers who have been making nice catches of fish right along.

Although the flood period is supposed to be past Mayor Daly informs us that the water is still coming up—the water guage at the Landing showing a rise of one inch on Wednesday. Even in these dry times it can honestly be said that a water guage is about the only liquid container our mayor takes any special interest in.

CHAPTER II.

Daddy Farney was dying. He lay stretched on a cot of furs, his glazing eyes fastened to the tiny window covered with oiled mooseskin as though his last look would be on the sunlight he had always loved with a natural-born woodman's devotion. The peaceful expression very often seen on the faces of those who die from gunshot wounds cloaked the rugged hardness of the face of the man who had been a trapper for fifty years, and more or less a defier and violater of the law ever since he had been able to set a trap.

In the rack of deer-prongs close above his head rested his rifles, a long muzzle-loading one and a shorter repeater of modern design.

From the smokey ceiling, attached to pegs driven into the log scantlings hung haunches of dried venison and sides of pork. Although the month was May and the air outside balmy, in the crude fireplace a hickory log was blazing its ruddy tongues sending forth reflections that seemed to split unfriendly at the subdued glow of sunlight struggling through the [illegible]

[illegible] the foot of the cot, his child [illegible] was a boy of perhaps [illegible] years. His face [illegible] and [illegible], not unlike that other face turned towards the window; his [illegible]

[illegible] on the other hand [illegible] a glass and filled it with a dipper of water from the bucket.

"[illegible] had [illegible] a bed [illegible] so lonely

[illegible] up," whispered the wounded man [illegible] feel [illegible] the [illegible] lonely [illegible]

"Oh, Dad!" [illegible] ing and [illegible] agony of feeling [illegible] going to get all [illegible] bleeding [illegible] gone [illegible] do."

[illegible]

"Dad," cried the boy, "who did it, d'ye think?"

A faint smile flickered across the greying face.

"That's hard to say, son," he answered. He gave a long sigh and lay still, breathing in short, weak gasps. "What do you 'spose is keepin' 'em, son?" he whispered. "I gotta see Dorkin afore I cross over; I jest gotta see him that's all."

The boy went to the door and threw it open. A breath of fragrant, wood-scented air entered and brushed the drawn, clammy face of the dying man.

"Adder-tongues," he whispered, a smile flickering across his lips, "adder-tongues an' vi'lets—the blue birds will be twitterin' an' buildin' — the partridge will be strummin' on the ridges, rushes pokin' their green noses from the shallers. Gawd, oh, Gawd, how I hate to leave it all!"

The boy heard and gave a shuddering voiceless sob. His eyes sought the wide forest. "They're comin' up the trail now, dad," he cried. "They will be here right soon."

"Will they, son," returned the father eagerly. "Well, then, you go down an' meet 'em an' hold Willer outside thar with you awhile. I gotta see Dorkin alone."

"All right, Dad; another drink afore I go?"

"No, nuthin', nuthin', 't all. I've got the taste of new leaves an' woodblossoms in my mouth, Dannie. Maybe it'll last 'till I go. It's a heap better'n water. You slip along an' send Dorkin in here."

He lay, with eyes closed, as the woodsman entered. The sunlight had slipped away from the glazed window; the fire had died to a smouldering heap. Outside, a freshening breeze stirred the fir woods, as low in the heavens spread a widening canopy of cloud. Dorkin knelt besides the couch and lifted one of the old man's hands.

"Daddy Farney," he said sympathetically, "this is hard luck."

"It's comin' on to storm, ain't it, Dorkin?" asked the trapper, opening his eyes. "I fancy I hear them old trees a-grievin'."

"Yes, Daddy, it's going to storm."

"Wall, that's all right. I allers reckoned I'd like to pass out of this wild world I know so well was cryin'. It's better than havin' to trek across when the sun was on the leaves an' the birds were singin'."

Dorkin was silent.

"Let me have a look at the wound, Daddy," he said at length; "maybe I can do something."

"Look all ye like, but ye can't do nuthin'," whispered the trapper.

Dorkin gently unwrapped the clumsy bandage from about the wound, which lay low down behind the shoulder. The heavy soft-nosed bullet had gone clean through, leaving a gaping hole. One glance was sufficient for him to realize that there was no earthly help for the trapper. Gently he replaced the bandage, and sat looking down at the ashing face before him.

The trapper opened his eyes and fastened them upon Dorkin's face. "I want to speak to you 'bout Willer," he said. "I know you're a square man, an' when I go I want you to look arter her. Will ye do it?"

He asked the question with a directness that had always been a strong characteristic of him.

"Surely," answered Dorkin quickly, "if you wish it, Daddy."

"Wall, I do wish it. I wish it [illegible] anything else in the world, Dorkin. Go over thar and lift up that bearskin in the corner. You'll find a trapdoor an' under that door [illegible] a box. Just bring it here."

[illegible] sank back, utterly exhausted [illegible] Dorkin returned from [illegible] the order, his mind was [illegible] But upon the pressure [illegible] and land on the [illegible] the dying man drifted [illegible] to the present.

"[illegible]"

[illegible]

"[illegible]" [illegible] the trapper; "it's [illegible] I want to tell her about [illegible] to tell her [illegible] what will prove the [illegible] Dorkin. But I [illegible]

the woodsman. "Dorkin," he said, finally. "I've been a right bad man in my day, one way an' another—I've stole from the traps of other trappers, played hell with the rangers, fooled the government, done lots of things I ain't proud of; you know all that?"

Dorkin was silent.

Chinese Adopting English

An explorer who recently returned from China, states that wherever he went he discovered that the natives were beginning to regard the English people with greater favor than was usual in the past. In Chinese schools for some years past the Arabic numerals have been in use. The figures 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, are infinitely easier to learn than the cumbersome Chinese figures and as both are taught in the schools, it stands to reason that the young John Chinaman are going to favor the easier method. The Braille system is in use in China for the blind, who, owing to the prevalence of leprosy, are common in that country.

Antique Grain Will Not Grow

The stories about the germination of wheat and other cereals, found wrapped with ancient Egyptian mummies, are declared to be fictitious by the United States Department of Agriculture. French tests show that grain more than a few years old will not germinate. German tests indicate that when seeds are kept under ideal conditions, wheat, barley and oats may germinate up to eight or ten years, but few if any grains, are alive after twenty years.

Under A Handicap

Great Men Who Showed Little Ability in Early Life

That character and ability, like murder, will out in spite of handicaps, has been proved over and over again by history. For instance: Gladstone gave no evidence of unusual ability as a boy. Napoleon stood forty-second in his class at the military academy; but who ever heard of the other 41? Darwin, the scientist, could never master any language; his father accused him of being interested only in dogs, shooting and rat-catching, and said he would be a disgrace to the family. Henry Ward Beecher, as a boy, was a "poor writer, a miserable speller, with a thick utterance and a bashful reticence which people took for stolid stupidity. Grant had a dismal time as a tanner and a farmer, and found himself in distinguished military service.

Favorable Crop Reports

Reports Covering the Three Prairie Provinces Are Most Hopeful

Crop conditions through the prairie provinces indicate the best condition of grain crops at corresponding periods for any year since 1904, which year's June period has held the record as ideal, only being once approached in the season of 1912. Reports covering over 200 points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta show a much more encouraging situation than was the case in 1915, which was the west's bumper crop year. The general condition of wheat is excellent and in localities where the seeding was late the plants are healthy and vigorous. Nearly 50 percent of the reports show the crop to be a week or 10 days ahead of last year in development. The reports indicate 95 percent of the oat crop was seeded by the first week in June. A heavy seeding of barley is reported and a marked increase in flax. Most of this increased acreage is new breaking.

PALE AND WEAK WIVES AND MOTHERS

Can Regain Health and Strength Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Many women who had a good color in their girlhood grow pale and colorless when they become wives and mothers. When the fading color in the cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause will be found in the state of the blood.

Many causes contribute to the condition of the blood known as anaemia. Overwork in the home, a lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet—these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips, brightness to the eyes and lightness to the step. Dr. Williams Pink Pills are the great blood builder and nerve strengthener. They begin with the very first dose, and through a fair use make new blood that carries strength and health to every part of the body. The appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect and energy and ambition return. The case of Mrs. Wm. McNish, Abbott Street, Brockville, proves the value of Dr. Williams Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mrs. McNish says: "I was quite young when I married, and in raising my family I became all run down and a nervous wreck. I became so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without sitting down to get my breath. I slept poorly and at times my nerves would twitch so that I could not keep still, and I was in constant misery. I tried many medicines but they did not help me; indeed my condition was growing worse until one day a friend told me that she had been in a somewhat similar condition and had been cured by Dr. Williams Pink Pills, so I decided to try this medicine. After the use of a couple of boxes I felt they were helping me. My appetite was better and I slept better. By the time I had used half a dozen boxes I felt like a new woman, my health had fully returned and I could do my housework with ease. In view of what Dr. Williams Pink Pills have done for me I cannot recommend them too highly.

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Oh," he answered briefly, "nothing."

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JULY 9

Do it Better

Creston Valley Women's institute, with characteristic foresight, has already commenced laying plans for the annual convention of the institutes of Kootenay and Boundary, which will be held at Creston either in August or early in September.

Being their initial effort at entertaining visitors on a considerable scale naturally the ladies are counting the cost very carefully—too carefully, it would seem to The Review, if the itemized statement as presented to the May meeting is hoped to prove of sufficient revenue to handle such a gathering on a worth while scale.

In their roughly-drafted expense sheet an amount of less than $200 is suggested as being possibly sufficient, and probably will be if Creston is not going to provide anything different in the way of proceedings and entertainment that was in evidence at Kaslo two years ago, and at Nakusp last fall.

But it strikes us that if the Creston reputation in matters of this sort is to be maintained something bigger and better than has been should be the aim of the ladies; not only to uphold the best traditions of Creston in this respect, but also in the best interests of these annual conclaves.

Granted this is the institute's ambition it is at once apparent that if $200 would be required to swing an affair like they had at Kaslo, for instance, nothing short of $400 will suffice to put the 1920 convention at Creston over in right good style.

In the itemized statement as submitted The Review insufficient account has been taken of providing at least two first-class speakers who can appear advantageously at the convention sessions as well as at the banquet which, we understand, will be part of one evening's proceedings.

If these cannot be had of sufficient merit in B. C. there certainly is no dearth of them in Alberta, who would doubtless be pleased to have opportunity to visit a widely-advertised section like Creston under such happy circumstances. Outside of traveling charges the expenses of, say, two lady orators would not be excessive, and would be well worth the money both in the publicity they would be likely to give Creston Valley, to say nothing of the quantity and quality of the boosting visiting delegates would afterward exude if they are treated to convention proceedings and entertainment that would thus considerably eclipse anything that has been in evidence of late at these yearly get-togethers.

Creston citizens can be banked on for open-handed hospitality, and undoubtedly the institute will make sure that the regulation features of the convention are lived up to standard; all that is required to make the event an enthusiastically and long-talked of affair is a little first-class outside talent, in the securing of which we trust the detail of getting hold of even an extra two hundred dollars will not daunt an organization of almost a hundred active and resourceful members.

Supt. Maharg Inspects Creston

There was a fine turnout of members of Creston Board of Trade on Monday morning at a special meeting of the organization, which was called for the purpose of informally meeting C.P.R. Supt. Maharg of Cranbrook, and discussing with him a number of matters that the board has of late been pressing upon him for adjustment. President Constable occupied the chair, and after briefly welcoming him to Creston and expressing appreciation for the improved service he had provided by increasing the staff at the local depot, as well as erecting a permanent and serviceable auto unloading platform, outlined in some detail other matters which the town felt should be engaging the attention of the railway authorities.

In the matter of subway under the right of way at some point between Fourth street and the present level crossing, a personal inspection of the proposed subway area was made, and in presenting the matter President Constable pointed out that traffic at the station was now rapidly assuming proportions where it was felt that either the shipping facilities at the present depot would have to be moved to a site across the track or, failing this, a subway provided. Another matter presented was the connecting up of the stock yards with the C.P.R. or town water systems.

In replying to these Mr. Maharg was quite frank in stating that the providing of subways was a question that the railway company never undertook without a very thorough investigation, particularly as to whether the traffic really necessitated such a facility. While he had not checked the traffice figures for Creston and could make no definite pronouncement in that connection, it was apparent that he doubted very much if conditions as at present existing warranted any such undertaking. As to the stockyard water supply his attitude was very similar. Too, his experience had been that the piping of water to corrals of this sort had a drawback in that users were careless in the matter of shutting off the water and handling the supply, with the result that it was all too often let running or damaged in different ways that gave the company shipping yards that were at times unusable due to their flooded state. However, both matters would be looked into thoroughly and the board in due course advised as to what action had been decided upon,

Mr. Maharg introduced the matter of the unsightly condition of the lots opposite the station due to that area being used as a pole shipping yard as well as storage for lumber, posts, poles, etc. Not only was this contrary to the company's policy but it was decidedly dangerous. With the inadequate water supply available if a fire ever got started in that neighborhood there could be no telling what loss might be caused. He was hoping to be able to introduce a policy where by shippers of these commodities would store the timber in some other locality and only haul it to the C.P.R. yard when cars were available for shipping it.

During his stay Mr. Mrharg readily consented to make arrangements for the bringing of the Vancouver business men, who are on a tour of the Kootenay, for a four hour stay on Friday next. Instead of coming east by boat from Nelson that morning the proposition is now to bring the visitors cars on by barge to the Landing on Thursday night, and on Friday morning hitch them on to a through freight, getting them here about 9 a.m., in time te be shown over the Valley, and get away on the eastbound express at 1.30 the same day.

At the conclusion of the conference C. O. Rodgers of the board's transportation committee, Vice-President Bevan, Secretary Hayes, and H. W. Power of Mining Truth, Spokane, who was here on Monday, and Mr. Maharg, made up a motor party that had a look over Erickson, Canyon City and Lister sections, as well as making an inspection of the Compton ranch, Mr. Maharg getting away in his private car east at noon.

Canada And Its Future

With the celebration of Dominion Day, Canada completed the fifty-third year of Confederation and was launched out on another year of effort and, it is to be hoped, large national achievement. Judging by some standards the growth and development of Canada during the first half century since Confederation became an accomplished fact has been slow; measured by other standards it has been rapid. In all material respects it has been solid and the foundations laid permanent and good.

Those who incline to the view that our growth has been too slow, and who point to the difficulty of obtaining immigration, and even of retaining native born Canadians at home, resulting in a present population of but little more than eight millions of people, should not overlook the fact that geographically this country is so located and divided that it did not lend itself to great growth in population in the earlier years. Great natural barriers had to be overcome, and enormous expenditures made in order to lay the foundations upon which to rear a nation. Much of this work has now been accomplished, and the next fifty years should record developments which will place this country in the front rank of the world's great commonwealths.

Even as recently as fifteen years ago, the great Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, with their present population of approximately 1,500,000 had not been organized, while Manitoba was still in a pioneer stage of development, and the possibilities of British Columbia were but dimly guessed at. Fifteen years may be quite a span in a man's life, but it is but as a fleeting minute in the history of a nation, and the 2,500,000 people now west of the Great Lakes gives promise of a wonderful future.

Since confederation, Canada has accomplished some amazing things in a material sense. Always a great agricultural country, it has become a great manufacturing country, an important financial country, and now it is undoubtedly on the eve of a truly remarkable development of its enormous wealth of natural resources, a development which is to be made possible because of the growing needs of the world for those things which Canada can supply, and the fact that this country now enjoys the financial means to carry on such development.

With its great railway systems, the [illegible] its waterways, the [illegible] and [illegible] marine, its [illegible] all that [illegible] to make [illegible] century [illegible] wide [illegible] country [illegible] nation- [illegible] at rest [illegible] Canadians [illegible] antagonisms which have so often retarded our growth and divided our people into hostile camps.

While in some respects the Great War served to re-awaken these old antagonisms and create new divisions, Canada's splendid participation in the great world struggle for freedom has also served to arouse a real national spirit. Canada found itself and discovered its soul in that bitter struggle. The nations of the world also discovered Canada. The bitter and narrow political partizanship of former years has been destroyed, and Canadians are now determined to make use of their material strength and resources to develop those other things which make for the health, happiness, contentment and uplift of the whole nation, and the people who themselves constitute the nation.

Canada has entered upon its fifty-fourth year with a minimum of industrial unrest prevailing in its midst, and with the brightest of prospects for a bountiful yield from its fertile fields. It has succeeded in passing through the first two years of the so-called reconstruction period safely and with enhanced credit; its army of returning soldiers have been rehabilitated in civilian life; its trade and commerce is expanding; most important of all its people are more deeply interested than ever before in raising the standard of education, of creating better health conditions, of lifting the political life of the country on to a higher plane.

Canada has great opportunities and a great future before it. But it calls for the best in every individual Canadian to realize these things in their fulness. They demand a broad spirit of tolerance, a sympathetic appreciation of the rights and opinions of others, and hard work along productive lines by all. If such a spirit prevails, and is intensively cultivated, Canada is on the highroad to true greatness and abounding prosperity.

Asthma Victims. The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxyms of choking which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

Repatriate War Prisoners

Dr. F. Nansen, the Norwegian statesman and arctic explorer who is representing the allies in the repatriation of prisoners from Russia and Siberia, has reached an agreement with the international Red Cross and will leave for Russia by way of Berlin with a committee of Red Cross workers. Dr. Nansen will attempt to repatriate thousands of prisoners, including some Americans, before the severity of the Siberian winter sets in.

A Wonderful Discovery Cures Catarrh Permanently

Formerly doctors prescribed stomach treatment for Catarrh and Bronchitis. They seldom cured and catarrh has become a national disease. To-day the advanced physician fights Catarrh by medicated air. He fills the lungs, nose and throat with the antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone. It is easy then for Catarrhozone to cure. It contains the essences of pure pine balsams, reaches all the germs and destroys the disease. Every case of Catarrh, Bronchitis and Sore Throat can be cured by Catarrhozone. The dollar outfit lasts two months and is guaranteed to cure; small size 50c; trial size 25c, all dealers or Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Ought to Have Own Navy

Hero of Kut so Advises Canada in Address

"If you had started twenty years ago you would have had a respectable navy today." These were the significant words of Major-General Sir Charles Townshend, the hero of Kut, in a short address before delegates to the Dominion Council of the Navy League. He further expressed the opinion that the time has arrived when Canada should have her own fleet of ships as an instrument of self-protection and an aid to the Empire in time of war.

It was an expedient, he declared, that the Dominion of Canada should maintain her own navy. "The whole crux of the situation in Canada today is that she should create a fleet of her own," he said.

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE HAPPY CHILDREN

The well child is always a happy child—it is a baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are not well—they are in need of medicine—something that will set their bowels and stomach in order, for nine-tenths of all childhood ailments arise from a disordered state of the bowels and stomach. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, and thus drive out constipation, colic, indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the baby healthy and happy. Concerning them, Mrs. Albert Hamel, Pierreville, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. They relieved my little girl from constipation when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"I don't see why you stick to Dr. Forpor's church," chattered Mrs. Pflippe. "He's such a poky old preacher."

"He's just that," agreed her friend, Mrs. Fortysome, "but then, you know, the light from that rose window shines right over my pew and makes me look not more than 20 years old."

Manitoba Testing Wireless Telephone

Probable That Government Will Assume Control Over This Communication

Experiments conducted at the request of the Manitoba government with wireless telephone apparatus between Winnipeg and Portage La Prairie, 80 miles away, have been successfully concluded and a second step in the experiments is about to be taken, when conversations will be attempted between Winnipeg and Fort William, a distance of nearly 400 miles. The experiments are being taken with a view to testing out a proposed system of wireless to be installed in northern Manitoba.

Mining districts and fur marketing centers are far scattered and sparsely settled. Land wires are costly to install and to maintain owing to falling trees in the bush country. It is proposed to establish some dozen stations at central points in as many districts of the northland, and these will in turn be given communication with the outside by a station of larger power at The Pas, which will work with another similar station at Swan River, 250 miles south of the former place, and in the well settled portion of the province.

Should the wireless telephony prove successful it is probable that the Manitoba government will assume control over this form of communication, just as it has the telephones, and that the wireless will be incorporated in the government telephones system. In this way the government may be able to give service to many isolated points, notably in mining sections east of Lake Winnipeg which cannot now be reached by land wires.

May Regulate Export Trade of Certain Commodities

Ottawa.—A resolution supplementary to the production of an act to give the government power to regulate the exportation of any commodity produced or manufactured in Canada when circumstances call for such restrictions was introduced in the house of commons by Sir Robert Borden.

The prime minister explained that strong representations had been made that in the interests of the public, it would be necessary to restrict export of such articles as coal, sugar and newsprint. He asked parliament to postpone the usual discussion of the resolution so as to be able to permit the bill to be introduced forthwith. It would be referred to a select committee of parliament which would probably have some revision to make, and then the bill could be debated in the house in committee.

In reply to the objections of Jacques Bureau, Liberal member for Three Rivers, Sir Robert said that he hoped the select committee would find some way of meeting the emergency which had called for the bill, which would take out of the hands of the government the great responsibility involved in carrying it out.

Name British Objections

Marine Bill Would Prevent Use of Other Than U. S. Ships

Washington.—British objections to the enforcement of the new American merchant marine bill are understood to be based principally on two sections of the measure.

The first prohibits the carrying of merchandise in other than American ships between American ports via a foreign port. This would stop freight carriage between the United States and Alaska over Canadian railroad lines or in Canadian ships, which has grown into a business of magnitude.

The other section directs the president to abrogate all treaties which restrict the right of the United States to impose discriminatory duties upon foreign shipping entering American ports.

Plan to Keep Men on Farms

Montreal.—R. B. Sauvage, secretary of the United Farmers' Association of Quebec, announces that the institution will meet here to discuss what steps will be necessary for them to take in order to prevent men from deserting the farms and seeking work in the cities and also for the protection of those already engaged in tilling the soil.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

Cost of Living Still Going Up

Labor Gazette Reports A General Movement of Prices Upward

Ottawa.— The Labor Gazette reports that in prices the general movement continues upward, increases in grain, fodder, livestock, fuel, building materials and furnishings slightly more than offsetting decreases in eggs, milk, hides, textiles and in raw furs.

In retail prices the average cost of a family budget of staple foods in 60 cities was higher, rising to $16.65 at the middle of May, as compared with $15.99 in the middle of April, and $7.42 in May, 1914. The chief increase was in potatoes, which averaged $6.15 per bag, as compared with $4.78 in April. Sugar also advanced, averaging 21.7 cents per pound for granulated, as compared with 19.5 in April. There were slight increases in some meats, and in several of the other lines, with decreases in eggs and milk. Coal and coal oil were also upward, and rents averaging considerably higher.

Eulogizes Canada

Manchester Guardian Says Dominion Never More Attractive to The Emigrant

London.—The Manchester Guardian publishes a special Canadian number containing a message from Sir George Foster. He says:

"Canada welcomes every intimation of a renewal of interest and enterprise as displayed in the press and the business community of the Motherland in reference to overseas possibilities of which they have too long been neglectful."

The Guardian, editorially, says that nobody acquainted with the temper and aspect of the Dominion since the war can fail to partake of her optimism, nor, at the same time, fail to be impressed with the welcome moderation and sanity that characterizes it. There is no trace of the excessive booming so dangerous to her reputation in pre-war years, it says.

Continuing, the Guardian says:

"On the contrary, both provincial and federal governments together with such responsible bodies as the United Farmers, are showing genuine anxiety to secure that investor and immigrants are given reliable facts and figures, and that the operations of the speculator shall be discouraged Throughout the Dominion there is manifest an anxiety to be done with machine politics; the rule of the interests and the pull of the lobbyist; never, indeed, in her history, has Canada been a more attractive land to the immigrant with political ideas."

Turkish Capital to Be Under Allies

Internationalization of the Port of Constantinople Provided in Turkish Treaty

London.—Limited internationalization of the port of Constantinople and its inclusion within the zone of the straits is provided in the provisional terms of the Turkish treaty. This is disclosed by an official summary of the purisdiction provided for the inter-allied commission of control.

Granted its own flag, budget and separate origin, the commission by the lines of the boundaries fixed for the "zone of the straits," will have authority over a territory larger than some of the smaller nations of Europe. Made almost sovereign in itself, the commission is to be practically independent of the League of Nations, as stipulation is expressly made that should it find liberty of passage of the straits interfered with, it shall take such measures as may be deemed necessary to preserve the freedom of the straits.

The zone includes not only the Bosphorus, Sea of Marmora and the Dardanelles, but also three miles off shore from the mouth of the Dardanelles, and the Bosphorus and the Aegean Islands of Samothrace and Imbros, Tenedos and Lesbos. A land zone is also provided extending from 10 to 17 miles northwest of the Sea of Marmora and 8-28 miles southeast of it.

Its northwestern limit is partly common with the district of Smyrna, 55 miles southeast of the entrance to the Dardanelles. The zone also includes an area on the western side of the Gallipoli peninsula which Turkey concedes to Great Britain, France and Italy for war memorials and cemeteries.

To Preserve Peace

Organization of New International Body Under Way at The Hague

The Hague.—The conclusion of the jurists invited by the League of Nations to meet in this capacity for the organization of a permanent international court of justice opened its sessions here. The conference was inaugurated by Leonard Bourgeois, president of the French associated societies of Paris.

"The terrible lessons of the war," said the French statesman, "were necessary to make the peoples of the world understand that the basis of peace between nations did not lie in force." He declared that the proposed court would be a really permanent body, not merely a court of arbitration, and that it would render decision from which there would be no appeal. It would be necessary, he added, to have a strong organization to carry out the decisions which would be made in future by the body to be organized.

Would Compel Irish to Take Oath of Allegiance

London.—The house of commons has tabled proposed amendments to the Irish Home Rule bill, designed to prevent setting up a republican parliament in Ireland, by making it essential that all candidates take the oath of allegiance to Great Britain in order to qualify for office.

The amendments also provide that under certain conditions, the British viceroy of Ireland would be empowered to assume supreme legislative authority.

Sinn Fein sympathizers declared the amendments bore out their prediction that the government had a joker up their sleeve, adding that no Sinn Feiner would take the oath of allegiance.

Dublin.—A pitched battle occurred between a group of armed Sinn Feiners and British soldiers at Ballineen military camp, near Dunmanway, in which many shots were exchanged. The raiders were finally driven off. No report was available as to whether there had been casualties.

Dublin.— The new policy of the British government toward Ireland, soon to be instituted, involves the unconditional release of all Sinn Fein prisoners who have not been convicted, it is learned on good authority.

Big Profit in Shoes

Shoes Cost $9.75 and A Toronto Man Pays $22 A Pair

Ottawa.—In a judgment signed by commissioners W. F. O'Connor and James Murdock, the Board of Commerce finds the Manhattan Shoe Company of Toronto, "guilty of an offence against the Combines and Fair Prices act in that they sold to Robert Lachappelle a pair of shoes for $22, being a price higher than was reasonable and the board directs the company (K. N. and S. N. Saba) and "each of them to mark in plain and legible figures, on the sole of each pair of boots, shoes, slippers, pumps and other like articles which now are or may hereafter for the space of twelve months from this date be held for sale, or offered for sale, by them, or either of them, the price to the customer."

This case involves the purchase of a pair of shoes from the Manhattan Shoe Company on May 8 for $22. The shoes cost $9.25 a pair, at the factory and express, laces and box for the shoes brought up the cost to the Manhattan Shoe company to 9.75. The shoes being thereupon marked up up for sale at $14 per pair, but were actually sold to the complainant, on May 8 for $22.00.

The board will forward to the attorney general for Ontario a recommendation that the guilty party be prosecuted.

Co-Operative Stockyards Are Successful

Encouraging Report Submitted By Directors at Meeting in Moose Jaw

Moose Jaw.— That the first four and a half months' operations of the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Stockyards have been completed with entire success, came to light when the first annual meeting of the shareholders was held in the Livestock Exchange building, Moose Jaw. The director's report was most encouraging and showed a comfortable surplus after providing for certain organization and depreciation expenses.

A dividend will not be declared, it was decided, until the company had been in operation for a full year.

The meeting was very well attended and the president, J. H. Grayson, and the manager, Edward Evans, were highly complimented on the splendid showing made by the stockyards in such a short time they have been in operation. The retiring directors, Senator Willoughby, W. A. Munns, of Moosejaw; and Treffle Bonneau, of Willow Bunch, were re-elected.

The shareholders expressed themselves as particularly satisfied at the large quantites of stock reported as having been received from the neighboring provinces of Alberta and Manitoba, as well as from the eastern and northern sections of the province.

Many Strikes in May

Ottawa.—A return in the commons shows that in May there were 73 strikes, involving about 12,005 people with a time loss of 145,168 working days. In April there were 44 strikes, 6,629 people idle and 84,009 working days lost.

Would Select Indian Chiefs

Old System of Hereditary Council May be Done Away With With

Ottawa. — That the government should institue the selective system of securing councillors for Indian bands wherever possible, and that there should be a standing select committee of the house on Indian affairs, were the resolutions brought into the commons by the special committee, to amend the Indian act, whose report was tabled recently.

The committee was of the opinion that administration of the affairs of an Indian community or band by the hereditary council might be detrimental to the best interests and progress of the Indians.

It therefore recommended that wherever such a system now exists, the government should ascertain whether the majority of the male members of the band of the full age of 21 were in favor of the adoption of the selective system of choosing councillors, and if so that the provisions of the Indian act in this regard should be brought into operation as soon as possible.

MR. C. ROY PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

He States That They Relieved His Son of Bed Wetting and Himself of Bladder Trouble. — Ask Your Neighbor's About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thivierge Office, Bonaventure Co., Que., June 21st.—(Special). — "That Dodd's Kidney Pills have been successfully used by both old and young as a remedy for kidney ills is again shown by the statement of Mr. Clement Roy, of this place.

"I am glad to be able to say," Mr. Roy says, "that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved my little boy of bed wetting. They also helped my bladder trouble. I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy pure and simple. But bladder and urinary troubles come as a result of weak or diseased kidneys. The natural way to treat such troubles is to strengthen or help the kidneys.

Mr. Roy acted on this principle when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his own and his son's trouble. The satisfaction he got is voiced in his statement.

If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy for kidney ills.

There was a grand total of six newcomers to the Valley during June according to the official vital statistics—three each of girls and boys. Cupid has a showing of two weddings, and there was one death.
