THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 6, 1920 No. 23

Erickson

J. H. Schofield, M.P.P., of Trail, was a visitor here a couple of days last week, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Long.

F. V. Staples is a business visitor at Grand Forks again this week, having got back from there for the week-end—and to umpire Sunday's baseball game at Creston.

The first of the 1920 cucumber crop was in evidence on Saturday, when the S. Fraser ranch had a crate of them for Creston consumption.

Leslie Timmons is now a daily visitor at Creston, where he has just taken the position of shipping clerk at the Fruit Growers' Union.

Rapid progress is being made on the Erickson Water Community irrigation system. A four-horse ditcher plow was put to work at the end of the week and as all the pipe for the system is now on the road there is every indication that some of the ranchers will have the water available to help along this year's crop.

Construction on the new Fruit Growers' Union warehouse is making rapid progress, and from present appearances will be ready for use well before the end of the month if the roofing material gets here on schedule.

The C.P.R. telegraph crew was here last week running the wires into the station and installing the necessary instruments and other fixtures. Just who the new agent will be is not announced.

While not as heavy in any line as a year ago the express shipments out of Erickson are at present the heaviest of any point in the Valley, averaging around 150 packages a day.

Vancouver Province: Mrs. Evah McKowan of Cranbrook, author of "Janet of Kootenay," which appeared last year, is spending a holiday in this city and Victoria. Her new novel "Graydon of the Windermere," is to appear this autumn and will be, like her former work, a romance laid in a typical British Columbia setting. Possessing artistic as well as literary skill, Mrs. McKowan hopes to draw the cover design for her volume, that it may harmonize more perfectly with her conception.

The first regular meeting of Erickson Local of the United Farmers of B.C. attracted the attendance of all the members as well as some new material who were duly enrolled as members of the organization. Considerable important business was put through, among the items being a resolution to write Lister, Canyon, Creston and Wynndel locals to see if they they are favorable to a general meeting of the five U.F. branches in the Valley at which such matters as irrigation, roads, schools, etc., could be discussed and arrangements made for united action in such matters. It was also decided to hold fortnightly meetings—every other Friday night.

Lister

Lister last week welcomed back another benedict in John Johnston who was married at Vancouver on July 16th, to Miss Jean Clews, who has just recently arrived in Canada from Newtonmearns, Scotland. The groom got back on Tuesday last and is busy fixing up his new house in anticipation of Mrs. Johnston's arrival any day now.

W. E. Mitchell of Sydney, who has spent the past three weeks here on a visit to his father, the genial storekeeper, left for home on Monday, going via Spokane.

Close to 200 tickets have now been sold for the raffle of the home knit shawl which Mrs. Filmer has donated the Ladies' Auxilary of the G.W.V.A., the proceeds to go to the piano fund.

The ladies tried out a whist and dance at the school on Saturday night, but the sultriness of the weather kept the attendance down to a very low mark.

Notices were posted at the rock house on Tuesday that the dining hall will be closed on and after August 7th. A dozen or more steady boarders will be compelled to try their hand at batching it.

Walter Scott left the fore part of the week for Alberta, where he will help harvest 1920's bumper crop in Alberta. He is visiting at Medicine Hat for a few days on his way east. Jas. Olarke is another Listerite who has also taken his departure for the prairie harvest.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Aspell left a few days ago for Vancouver, and expect to make quite an extended stay at the coast.

Fred Weston is the latest to move into residental quarters, and is now making home on his ranch on what is known as the high road.

The excessively dry weather has temporarily put a stop to ploughing operations, and about a 48-hour sod soaker of a rain will be needed before breaking operations can be resumed.

Lister is at last equipped with a postoffice of its own, which opened for business on Tuesday morning, in a building on the Chalmers lot about 100 yards from the schoolhouse. Miss Nellie Chalmers is in charge and spent a few days at the Creston postoffice at the end of the week getting acquainted with the run of postal duties. The mail still comes via Creston. As yet no authority has been given to issue money orders but it is hoped this convenience will be available shortly.

The new postal service was most happily inaugurated, one of the first pieces of mail to be handled being a military decoration for "Tiny" Milner, who is at present receiving the felicitations of the men in this regard.

Mr. Lye, the motor truck driver, a recent arrival from Cardston, Alta., is expecting to occupy his new and permanent home in a few days.

Cranbrook is entertaining a Listerite this week, in the person of Harry Brown, who left for the East Kootenay metropolis a few days ago. T. C. Phillips is also an absentee—on a trip to Calgary.

W. T. H. Smith is making weekly calls on residents here, supplying them with fresh-killed mutton, which retails at 35 cents a pound.

Canyon street north is beginning to take on quite a business section appearance now. In addition to the Beattie Oatway drugstore R. Lamont's new office is nearing completion, while last week carpenters took the 25 per cent. tilt to northward out of the Rose & Timmons office as well as lowering it a matter of a couple of feet, thus giving it a sidewalk-level entrance as well as greatly improving its outward aspect.

Canyon City

Hon. John Keen of Kaslo, local M.P.P., was a visitor in the Canyon City section on Sunday, taking a look over the area to be irrigated by the water users' association, who are now only waiting the government to come through with their end of the deal before starting construction.

BIRTH—At Private Hospital, Cranbrook, on July 23rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Swanson of Wasa, a daughter.

Miss Muriel Knott has been re-engaged for the oncoming term which makes this year's teaching staff complete, Miss Corbett having been also re-engaged before the close of the term.

Messrs. Lelliott and Geo. and Ted Mawson are the first to have any luck at this year's fishing at the Canyon. On Monday night one of the party landed a six-pound char as part of the evening's catch.

Martin Nelson and Frank Swanson were here for a few days last week from Birchbank, where they have been working this season.

Bateman & Pepperdine, who recently bought the F. H. Jackson ranch, are busy at work erecting a new barn. They recently purchased a horse from R. Lamont of Creston.

W. Butler is making headquarters at Erickson at present, where he is working on the new Fruit Growers' Union warehouse.

Mrs. Tom Hickey has returned to Nanton, where she is packing up the household effects preparatory to moving back to Canyon.

Erection of the one-room addition to the school has not commenced as yet, although the trustees have everything in shape so far as they can go. Something definite from the education department is expected any day now.

The motor trucks that have been running night and day on the log haul for the past two months, are having an overhauling this week, in consequence of which the mill is shut down for a few days.

Strawberry shipping at this point has been the lightest in years—little more than half an average yield being harvested. Unless rain arrives raspberries are also likely to be much lighter than a year ago.

The blowing of the mill whistle about 10 o'clock Monday night brought out many of the mill crew as well as all the neighbors to fight a bush fire that for some unaccountable reason broke out in the neighborhood of the Strong ranch. The prompt arrival of the fire fighters andoubtedly saved considerable destruction of property.

S. A. SPEERS.

West Creston

Mrs. F. Tompkins is a visitor this week with her sister and other friends at Bonner's Ferry, Idaho.

Mrs. Chas. Meakin is expecting a visitor this week in her sister, Mrs. Jackson, of Wellington, B.C. It is possible, too, that her mother and another sister from Nova Scotia will spend the early fall months with her.

Geo. Seymour was on fire patrol work in the Lister and Huscroft sections last week, while Jim Long was laid up tonsolitis. Ten miles of the trail through to the Western Belle claims have now been completed.

After about two weeks when it was only possible to get to Creston by the boat route, the water receded sufficiently on July 26th to make vehicle travel possible.

The last of the month saw timothy hay harvest under way, and a good yield is reported by all—about three tons to the acre.

Messrs. Plunket and C. Bliss of Huscroft's, were West Creston visitors the fore part of the week, looking over a couple of ranches with a view to buying.

Haying on the flats will be the latest this year that any old timer can recall. With the water still in evidence it is bound to early in September before the mowers will be busy.

It is expected that work on the erection of the new school building will commence just as soon as the haying season is over, and the building pushed through to completion this fall.

Frank Tompkins reports that this year's high water got very few of the spuds on the four acres he has planted to potatoes on the old Davis place. Since the 26th of July the Tompkins garden has been helping supply the demand for new murphies at Creston and elsewhere.

Wynndel

Mrs. O. F. Payne left on Saturday morning to join her husband on the prairie.

T. W. Davies left here in his car on Monday en route for Coleman, Alta., expecting to spend the night at Cranbrook.

Quite a crowd from here took in the baseball game at Creston on Sunday, and report it the finest game of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitt-Brooke spent the week-end at Balfour, guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Male.

J. J. Grady has completed all his improvements, and now has one of the finest looking residences in the district.

The swimmers have now deserted the pool by M. Wigen's mill, owing to the weeds. Winlaw's channel is now the lively place in the evenings.

Both mills are now running to capacity, and certainly Wynndel is now the busiest spot in all Creston Valley.

E. Uri has this week started work on the erection of his new house.

The Winlaw mill is sawing Matt. Hagen's cut of logs, the lumber from which will be used in the erection of his new house.

M. Wigen has more business booked than his plant will handle, and in consequence has the Winlaw mill sawing the balance of his logs.

Paul Hagen is sojourner at Halcyon at present, where he is taking the baths for a cure for his rheumatism.

The outside pickers are now all away and Wynndel is quite its old time self once more.

Vic. Johnson was a visitor at Kootenay Landing, Sunday, where he was trying out the fishing. The sport was poor, his catch being three big squaw fish, which he thoughtfully gave away.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Fruit Growers, Attention!

The toil, struggles and vicissitudes that have beset you in the past trying to unite and organize as an industrial class, so as to become strong in united effort and to be able to supervise your own business is about to be put to its final test so as to see if you will stand pat or scatter.

The Staples Fruit Company is a concern that will put you to this test. If Mr. Staples will be frank and open with you (which he does not have to) he would tell you that he is sailing under false colors, and that his company is on the payroll of the so-called Mutual Brokers or Nash houses, one of the most powerful and perfect organized corporations in Canada, for the control and handling of the farmers' and fruit growers' products.

If you think, Mr. Farmer, that this corporation is employing one of the smartest, shrewdest, and keenest live wires in your community to get your business so that in the end you may be benefitted by his business capacity, then why in the name of common sence did this corporation bid this same man away from you, when you had him employed to build up your own business organization for your own benefit, and practically doing all your business with this corporation; him watching over your affairs and working for your interest.

If your skull is too thick for the reason of this move to penetrate it then you will be a party to assist in breaking up your own but yet feeble organization, and our community fruit growers will fall back in the old rut of disorganized independent, selfish struggle.

A pat on your back, hypnotized look in your eyes, a whisper in your ear, "business incapacity"; here's 25 cents a box more for your fruit, one cent a pound more for your vegetable products, and I venture to predict that twenty five per cent. or more of our fruit growers and farmers will fall to the temptation.

Do you know, Mr. Farmer, what I would like to do with you, if you succumb to this temptation, so the emancipation of the farmers can be set back another ten or fifteen years? I would like to have a placard put on your front and back bearing the following inscription: "Here goes a human derelict, drifting independently amongst you in your community life, caring nought with whom he combines and to whom he becomes a menace.

Mr. Washburn took his quid of blackjack from his mouth and shied it at the drooping ears of old Moll. It stuck midway between, where it stuck like a tenacious horsefly. With a dexterous flourish of the whip he dislodged it, and with a chuckle and shake of his carroty mop, resumed:—

"'Course that was what I was workin' for. I'm a wonderful eater myself, an' I do love Ma's creamed chicken; so when she lit in on me that there way, I was so tickled with the manner I'd managed things that I had to get busy bucklin' old Bess's hamestraps together so's ma wouldn't see me grinnin'.

"'I doubt like sin if they'll appreciate it, ma, says I as I climbed into the democrat.

"'I can't help it if they don't,' she comes back at me; 'I'm goin' to do my part, an' you be goin' to do yours which is to get them folks here on the tick of seven,' says she."

Here Mr. Washburn consulted a big, loud-ticking watch, and with a muttered something sat up straight.

Simultaneously the old team woke up and broke into a shambling trot that carried the complaining vehicle around another curve at a merry clip, and there swam into view the settlement of Lookup.

Far back along the road the driver had pointed it out to his visitors from the pinnacle of a high hill, and they had seen it nestling like a bed of white daisies in the heart of a green valley bordered on the one side by a wide lake, on the other by hills veined with white watercourses. Now they saw that what had looked like daisies on a bed of green were really houses built of unpainted lumber; twenty or thirty of them resting on the slope of a big hill. In front lay the deep water, warm in the sapphire glow of a setting sun. Back of the houses climbed the hills tinged with variegated glories of color: green melting to lemon-yellow, slate-grey blending to bronze, while high above, where the timbers thickened, a hazy sheen of purple and amethyst hung suspended like the lid of a great bowl, a picture of indescribable grandeur upheld by unseen hands.

"That there's Lookup," shouted the driver over his shoulder, above the Gatling-gun reports from the loose spokes in the off hind wheel; for the sleepy sorrels, scenting a [illegible] feed of hay and oats not far off, had broken into a stiff canter and were taking the slope like a pair of [illegible].

As he spoke they rounded a slight curve in the white road with a speed that threatened to overturn the decrepit democrat. As they passed the first house of unpainted boards a pair of husky dogs crept out and with ruffled neckbristles and bared teeth [illegible] them off.

Farther on, a big St. Bernard bounded across the road straight in front of the [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible] deep barks of welcome, and as they passed the general plain dwelling of Lookup, canines of all kinds and descriptions sprang forth to voice their welcome or protest.

"Sled dogs," explained the driver; "couldn't do without 'em up here."

He shook the "lines" and yelled to the team, and with a flourish of their sorrel tails, the aged horses leaped forward like chargers eager for the fray, straight into the heart of a big tamarack grove through which the grey road twisted.

In the cool shadow of this miniature forest the lights were pale and subdued; purple, yellow, and opal, scintillating so faintly as to be scarcely discernible through the shaggy screen that rested above a flooring of pale-green moss.

Then, as the road curved once more, they dipped into a wide green open, with the big lake sleeping before it and the big forest-crowned hills sweeping beyond it.

In the very heart of this open stood a long, wide, homey cabin of logs, and alongside of this cabin, with a jerk of his elbows and a "Whoa, thar, old gals," Pa Washburn drew up with a flourish.

"This here is our place, an' you're welcome to it an' all it holds," he cried heartily. "S'posin' we light."

Suiting the action to the words, with one bound he sprang free of the rig, and before the girl could think, she found herself lifted in a pair of strong arms and deposited gently upon the spongy sward before the cabin door.

She laughed and shook herself like a spaniel who had been unexpectedly treated to a ducking in the water he was born to love, and turned a flushed face towards her uncle, just in time to see that dignified gentleman being treated in a like manner. As he was placed gently beside her, he turned with a half-amazed, half-injured expression towards her.

"God bless my soul," he muttered, "Edna, dear, it's like living in the prehistoric days. I haven't been lifted in this fashion since I used to play with by brother Bill in the haymow on the old home-farm. Gad! I wish you would drop a hint to our strong-armed friend there that I can't stand those dip-the-dip stunts. My old rag of a heart is fluttering yet."

Just here there emerged from the cabin a woman of matronly aspect whose plump, bare arms were smeared with flour and whose big, good-natured face fairly beamed with welcome.

"Well, you little dear, you," she cried, planting a motherly kiss on the pink cheeks of the girl. "I know you're 'bout dead tired out, and like as not hungry as a new-weaned calf. Come along in and get some supper; do."

"Ma," introduced Pa Washburn, "this here is Mr. Dayton, who is the young lady's uncle, and Mr. Dayton, sir, this here is my Missus, best woman in Lookup, best cook in Ontario."

"How do, sir," beamed Mrs. Washburn. "Come along in, you and the young lady. I'll bet you're nigh starved to death, and supper's ready and waitin'."

CHAPTER V.

Daddy Farney lay asleep in the arms of the only mother he had ever known. His grave rested at the foot of the spreading oak on a tiny eminence which sloped to a swift-running brook. All about him, as he slept, swept the murmuring song of tree and bush and water. Low above the forest the fleecy clouds hung like the petals of a great lily; the winds blew fresh and sweet after the storm. Peace reigned after the war of tempest, and very peacefully reposed the veteran trapper of the Northland, whose spirit had ridden out—as he had hoped it would—on the wild storm horses.

Beside the new grave sat the lad for whom had passed the one being in the world upon whom he had depended.

His elbows were on his knees, his hands pressed his thin face. His sunken eyes looked straight before him, into an unfathomable infinity of [illegible].

A [illegible] breeze winnowing up [illegible] bearing with it the [illegible] sob stretched his arms above the mound. "Daddy, [illegible]," he sobbed, then sinking on [illegible], "Daddy, I [illegible] I'm lost [illegible] I did it [illegible]."

[illegible] picked up his rifle and turned towards the path to the cabin.

Swiftly he walked until the log home showed through the clearing, then his pace became slower, and to the gaunt hound that met him on the path and raised sad eyes to his, he spoke. "Purp, I can't jes' go in thar, not yit. I can't do it."

The dog whined and wagged his tail, then, turning, trotted back towards the house. The lad followed, haltingly, like one who was weary after a hard trek through an unbroken waste. From the trees all about the cabin the song birds were trilling their lullaby songs to fledglings hidden somewhere away in the sweet-smelling foilage.

Suddenly the boy paused on the path and held up his head in a listening attitude. Then across his grief-drawn face there swept a look that almost glorified it.

Winner in Butter Contest

Results of Dominion Education Butter Scoring Contest For May

Saskatchewan wins first place in the Dominion education butter scoring contest for the month of May, is the information received by P. E. Reed, dairy commissioner for the province. The province also tied with Manitoba for second place.

Four creameries in each of the nine provinces of the Dominion are entered in the contest, the scoring being made on samples sent in each month from May to October inclusive. Two Saskatchewan creameries received the highest possible scores for workmanship. The Cudworth branch of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries scored highest with 97 points, and the same company's Birch Hills tied with the Crescent Creamery company of Winnipeg for second place, with 96 points out of 100.

Newspaper Costs Still Mounting

The cost of the white paper on which newspapers are printed mounts steadily upward. The increased price which went into force on July 1st represents an added expense for Candian publishers of not less than the huge sum of eight million dollars. In December, 1916, the price of newsprint was $36 a ton. Early this year it was $80. The new price is $110 a ton—an increase of $74 over the price prevailing up to 1916 — more than 205 percent. For the last quarter of this year the price will be $130 a ton, 261 percent over the cost price of four years ago.

Emigrants from Britain

Every Part of Canada Will Benefit From the Influx

Every part of Canada is to benefit by the influx of Imperial ex-soldiers who are coming to the Dominion to settle on farms under the special scheme decided upon by the Imperial and Dominion governments last year. Those aleady selected by the Dominion representatives, W. E. Scott, former deputy minister of agriculture, British Columbia, and Russell Wilson of Saskatoon, will bring about a million dollars in cash, said Mr. Scott, at Halifax from the Cunard liner Caronia en route with Mr. Wilson to Ottawa where they will make an official report.

Of the thousands of applicants about 700 have been found suitable, during the stay in England of Messrs. Scott and Wilson. They are not the professional army officers type of men Mr. Scott said, but mostly were civilians before the war. They are sound and adaptable and come from York, Nothumberland, Wales and Scotland, the best agricultural sections of the Old Land, and Mr. Scott declares they will adapt themselves to conditions here and make ideal farm settlers and citizens.

That Canada should get as many of this mass of settlers as possible is Mr. Scott's opinion, as Australia and New Zealand are going to send agents there this fall for the same kind of men and will offer big inducements.

The two agents did not get a good slice of bread since they left Canada, they declared, Britain and many other parts of the world being short of wheat. Therefore they say there will be big prices for all the food produce Canada can export for years to come.

ECZEMA IN RASH CUTICURA HEALS

On Face and Head. Itched and Burned. Disfigured.

"Last year I became affected with eczema. It started on the cheeks in a rash, and the water spread and made my face sore all around the ear and partly on my head. The skin was very sore and red, and the breaking out itched and burned so that I could hardly help scratching. My face was very disfigured.

"Then I used a free sample of Cuticura. It helped so I bought three cakes of Soap and one box of Ointment, and my face was healed." (Signed) Miss Martha Berger, Spanaway, Wash., Feb. 11, 1919.

It is a hard job these hot, sultry days to bend over a washboard or turn a hand washer. A MAYTAG Multi-Motor washer, with a powerful, light, compact, half horse, air-cooled engine built right in as a part of the washer is one thing above all others that should be in every home where there is no electric current. To Reclaim Half Million Acres

Inundated Areas in Albeta and Saskatchewan to be Drained

Forty reclamation projects involving 400,000 to 500,000 acres of land are planned in Alberta, and surveys are being conducted to determine cost and means of bringing water covered areas into agriculturally useful surfaces. Among the lakes which will be drained will be Sullivan Lake, near Wabamum, Chip Lake, Cygnet Lake, near Entwhistle, and certain low lying stretches in the lesser Slave Lake. The scheme will embrace inundated Saskatchewan areas and east of Prince Albert, and 1,000-mile tract between the Carrot and Sskatchewan Rivers will be surveyed this summer.

Belgium's Recovery

Country's Exports May Exceed Imports Before End of Year

Belgium is making rapid recovery from German depredations committed in the world war. At the close of the war 2,000 kilometers of railroads, 1,800 bridges, 600 kilometers of canals, telegraph, and telephone systems and a third of the factories of the country had been destroyed. Recovery has been proceeding steadily since the armistice, and Emil Franqui, the Belgian minister of state, writing in the magazine of Wall Street, states that the railways, telegraphs, and telephones have been almost entirely repaired. The canals are navigable and many industries have been revived. Already coal production is a little higher than in 1913, reaching 105 percent of pre-war output in the month of April last. Textile and wool production are gradually being restored to normal and plate glass works are in full operation. The progress has been slower in the steel construction plants.

Exports, he added, to Holland, France, Italy and Germany surpass imports from those countries. The balance with England is slowly but surely readjusting itself, and from the present indications it appears probable that before the end of the year Belgium will export more than she imports.

In Japan straw is converted into bags for grain, shoes for the feet, raincoats for the body, roofs for the houses, paper mats, screens, beds, and numerous other articles.

Emigrants Flock To the Dominion

European Invasion of Canada Assuming Large Proportions

The publicity department of the C. P. R. states that the great European invasion of Canada has been experiencing since shipping was released is very general and drawing immigrants from a large area. Every continental country, ally and neutral is contributing its quota to the growing stream.

A steamer sailing from European points for the Dominion is crammed to capacity and the class of Canadian settler was never higher nor of a better type. The vessels of the C. P. R. alone handled 26,126 passengers in April and May, and of this total 15,350 avowed their intention of settling in the Dominion and making their future homes here.

Sores Flee Before It.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which acts like magic. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy, as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

Forgotten

Memory of even the most important episodes in contemporary history is remarkably short. Six years ago last Monday Archduke Francis Ferdinand was murdered by Prinzip, a fanatic whose act played into the hands of the junkers and militarists of Germany and Austria and furnished the pretext for the greatest war of all time. Yet few people and few newspapers commented on the anniversary. The date had been almost completely forgotten and it is doubtful if ten persons in a hundred could have recalled the names of the actors in this prologue to the great tragedy. —Ottawa Citizen.

Brute Centenarians

Elephants are perhaps the longest lived members of the animal kingdom, averaging between 100 and 200 years. There are records of elephants living 350 years. Most naturalists allow the whale about the same length of life as the elephant. The camel comes third, averaging about 75 years. The average life of a lion and a tiger is 40 and 25 years respectively.

THE MAN WHO WINS

Is Always Full of Life and Energy—Failures are Weak and Bloodless

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women, plump, rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, low-spirited or unhealthy, try Dr. Williams Pink Pills and note their speedy, beneficial effect.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Tractor Seeding Mark

352 Acres in One Day Sets a New Record

What is said by motorized farming authorities to be a record in light tractor seeding has been accomplished by a Manitoba farm worker. James E. Tyrer seeded 135 acres of flax in one day, using a light tractor drawing two 12-foot double-disc drills. His combined acreage with that of two other men for the same day was 352 acres.

The average acreage seeded in a day with the same equipment is from 40 to 50 acres, according to the ranch manager. Tyer is 23 years old, and lives at Treesbank, Han.—Manitoba Free Press.

DANDRUFF SOON GETS YOUR HAIR

Let "Danderine" check nasty scurf and stop hair falling out

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After several applications all dandruff usually goes and hair stops coming out. Every hair in your head soon shows new life, vigor, brightness, thickness and more color.

Merely A Boiled Egg

If You Don't Know How to Boil an Egg This Will Explain

There is a great difference in eggs—some cling to the shells more than others. "Hard boiled" eggs should not be boiled; they should be cooked below the boiling point for twenty to thirty minutes, and will be more digestible (the albumen is not hardened) and will peel more easily. However, the egg should be dipped in cold water for a few minutes before removing the shell and this does away with the last bit of difficulty. Hurry and "boiling hard" to get a hard-cooked egg makes most of the trouble. It takes a little time to do anything well—even cooking an egg in the shell, which sounds like the last word in simplicity.

Canada's Fleet Due in September

The Naval Fleet, consisting of a cruiser, two destroyers, and two submarines, which the British government has presented to the admiralty, are expected to come out in September. Commander Hose, who recently went to England to supervise the taking over, has asked that a number of other officers be sent across. The ships are now being overhauled and got in readiness for service. They may be quartered at Halifax in summer and Esquimalt in winter. Commander Hose is likely to succeed Admiral Kingsmill as director of the Canadian Naval Service.

An Inch of Rain

Cranbrook dirtrict had a rainfall of just about one inch the middle of last month. While the downpour was thankfully received by the farmers of that section, and the hope expressed that similar soakings would be forthcoming fortnightly, little more was rurally thought of the occurence.

In the city itself, however, the arrival of so much wetness in such a short period of time—just about an hour—started sundry citizens figuring out just what an inch of rainfall accounts for in various ways. Among the meteorological master minds was Editor Sullivan of the Courier, whose deductions in this respect are interesting—and if you don't believe them you are quite at liberty to take the measurements and refigure the whole matter on the first opportunity that presents itself. Says the Courier, in part:

"An inch of rain means that there has been precipitated on each acre no less than 100 tons of water. The year 1920 is notable in a weather way for the excessive rainfall in various parts of the country, a fact that set one person fond of figures to preparing a few statistics on what an inch of rain really means. The writer took for his example East Kootenay, which is far from being dry (when it rains). It is estimated that a single inch of rain descending on East Kootenay means that more than 5,460,000,000 gallons of water have been precipitated and would be standing on the district in an aqueous blanket if there were no drainage. The weight of an inch of rainfall would be about 22,800,000 tons.

"The above figures are formidable enough, but they pale into insignificance when the annual precipitation of East Kootenay is considered. The annual average rain fall is 22 inches. If this amount of water were confined where it fell there would be almost 120,000,000,000 gallons of water over the district's surface.

"It is estimated that in a century enough water falls on East Kootenay to bury it beneath a lake 370 feet deep, containing 24 trillion gallons, and weighing a mere trifle of 200 billion tons."

Perhaps the most pertinent observation of the whole article is contained in the sentence, "A rainfall of one inch, if it could be conserved in its entirety, would supply the citizens of Cranbrook for at least nine days—the exact time a camel can go without drinking."

Curious Creston citizens would, indeed, be grateful to the Courier if it would be explicit in stating if the nine-day period alluded to would be as for 1920, or for any year ante dating the legislative going dry of the province. With precise information on this point local statisticians could, doubtless, evolve some statistics that temperance orators could use to excellent advantage in the forthcoming plebiscite campaigning. Native sons can readily recall when the emulating of the camel was neither the ambition or an accomplishment of the average Cranbrook citizen.

The Right to Happiness

The star chamber session of the Russian soviet are relentlessly unveiled in "Right to Happiness," the Universal photodrama of modern Russia which comes Monday, Aug. 9, to the Peekin Theatre.

The spectator sees the "comrades" and cohorts of the two principal Russian agitators in the chamber of deputies in Petrograd.

Silk hatted envoys arrive from Berlin. They leave an issue of gold with the money lusters and retire, confident of the support of the Russian radicals.

A girl skips lightly into the room, leaps to the marble rostrom and inflames the smouldering brains of the "comrades" by her creed of violence. Then she leaves Petrograd for New York as an envoy of destruction from leaders of the radicals.

How she finds her sister living in splendor in New York and how the whole fury of her heart is directed against her own father, who is known to her only as a stone-hearted money king, forms the theme of the unusual film drrma.

Dorothy Phillips, star of "The Heart of Humanity," rises to dramatic heights in a dual role in her latest starring vehicle, "The Right to Happiness." She is sensationally tempestuous as Sonia the little comrade of the reactionaries and fastidious and self-centered as Vivian, her twin sister, daughter of the money lord.

Keeping Them on the Farm

At a convention held recently in the province of Quebec and attended by a large number of the clergy, farmers and officials of agricultural societies it was decided to start a general campaign to promote the love of agriculture in rural districts and discourage the exodus of the farming classes to the cities.

The last annual report of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs tells the same story that has been recorded in that volume for some years past of a decline in rural population and an extraordinary increase in the population of cities, towns and villages.

Crop statistics for the three Western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta for this year show a marked decline in the number of acres seeded as compared with last year, while in one of these essentially agricultural provinces, Manitoba, approximately one-third of the total population is to be found in the city of Winnipeg.

The condition of things thus disclosed is a terribly serious one for Canada. For some years now it has engaged the thought of public men and students of economics, and those interested in social problems; but, as yet, no one appears to have discovered a solution of the problem which, however, must be solved in the interests of all. It is a problem, the solution of which must not be left to governmental bodies alone, but one in which every individual citizen must, in their own interests, take a hand.

Many causes are alleged as being responsible for this exodus from the country to city. Some say it is the loneliness, the isolation of country life, the lack of those conveniences and comforts to be found in the cities, the distance from doctor, druggist, dentist and nurse in times of sickness and accident. Others allege it is the increasing difficulty in securing competent farm help both for the field and the home, and the consequent drudgery and hard work imposed on the farmer, his wife and children, and which, in the case of the latter especially, induces them to leave the farm. Still others say that the real cause, which is in a large part responsible for these other conditions, is the fiscal and economic policies of Canada which are designed to encourage and develop manufacturing activities in urban centres and which by their encouragement of commercial and financial business lead to the payment of good wages and large salaries in the cities and towns while the farmer has to struggle along under the burden of necessities and at [illegible] his product in the [illegible] markets of the [illegible] Finally, it is argued, people [illegible] the ease of living [illegible] generation [illegible] the close [illegible] of the m[illegible] of work, and [illegible] city life [illegible] with the long [illegible]

RUSSIA REFUSES TO CEASE WAR ON POLAND

CALLS IT A ROBBER WAR

Lenine Blames Britain and The League of Nations For Trouble

London.— Refusal of the Russian Soviet government to cease war against Poland at the behest of Great Britain is contained in a Moscow wireless despatch. The refusal also constitutes an appeal to the workers and peasants of Soviet Russia and the Ukraine. It is signed by Premier Lenine, minister of war, Trotsky, the foreign minister, Tchitcherin and Kurski, commissioners of justice and says:

"The British government addressed a proposal to us, July 11, to cease war against Poland and begin peace negotiations with Poland and other border states, promising that the Polish troops would be withdrawn and in case of an armistice being signed will locate a frontier marked last year at the peace conference .

"In the same note it was proposed that General Wrangel and his Crimean shelter should not be touched. To all this we, the council of peoples' commissaries, arrived at refusal. If England had desired this they would have stopped supplying Poland with munitions and money.

"Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, places it upon the League of Nations, in whose name he is making the proposal, but Poland enters into the composition of this league—Poland, who commenced a robber war against us.

"All the members of the league, especially France, England and the United States are bound hand in hand in this provocatory war of Poland against Russia and the Ukraine.

"Our refusal of hostile mediation does not mean that we have altered our policy towards Poland. Moscow more than once has proposed peace to Warsaw, and if she will now appeal to us directly, peaceful relations will be established between Russia and Poland, sooner, better and more substantially in this way."

The communication says the real frontiers which the Soviet government will establish with representatives of the Polish people will be east of the frontier marked out by "the Imperialists in London and Paris, who are equally inimical and hostile to the workers of Poland and Russia.'

The communication declares: "Desires to receive an honest peace and an honest frontier and find in the person of Russia a brotherly neighbor, it is necessary that the Polish people should seek it."

Demonstration for Prince of Wales

Dramatic Scenes Enacted at Adelaide On Departure for Tasmania

Sydney, Australia.—The Prince of Wales has sailed for Tasmania. Extraordinary scenes of enthusiasm occurred when he departed from Adelaide. On Saturday the prince rode horses in several races at that city. He won the five-furlong sprint in the time of one minute and eight seconds.

Of all the demonstrations that have occurred in Australia, none was more dramatic than that when the prince addressed 6,000 women war workers. He asked them to treat him as a comrade, the same as the diggers have done.

As His Royal Highness left the hall he passed through cheering, weeping, flag-waving rows of women.

Secure Best Prices for Wheat

Don't Rush to Sell, Says Toronto World to Farmers

Toronto. — "There need be no great hurry to rush to sell under the prevailing conditions," is the advice of the Toronto World to Canadian farmers in regard to their wheat. "For the next three weeks," says the World, "the bulls and bears will be sending out contradictory reports of the yield, of blights, or rust, of the grain unripened, perhaps frozen wheat. In spite of all this the indications are of a big yield and high prices.

"And the farmers of Canada have better transportation in the way of railways, train equipment and a merchant marine, the best we ever had, than have the farmers of the states. We can sell and deliver wheat to them better than they can compete with us in Europe."

Irish Will Negotiate

London.—The Sinn Feinn and the British government are prepared to discuss if they are not already discussing a basis of probable settlement of the Irish question, according to a statement recorded by the Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent.

The alarming increase of violence in Ireland, the correspondent says, is frightening the responsible leaders of the Irish Republican party, many of whom appear to be inclined to listen to any generous offer from Downing street, but it is understood the home rule bill, now being considered by parliament, must first be shelved before the leaders will enter into negotiations.

Russell to Remain in Durance

No Clemency to Winnipeg Strike Leader in Immediate Future

Ottawa.—A formal application for clemency, it is stated, has not yet been made in the case of R. B. Russell, chief of the Winnipeg strike leaders, who appealed without success to the Imperial privy council against his sentence of two years' imprisonment. While no official announcement has been made, it is not considered likely that there will be an exercise of clemency in the immediate future.

To Raise U.S. Railway Rates

Interstate Commerce Commission to Be Asked for Substantial Increase

Washington.—Freight and passenger transportation in the United States are to bear a substantial portion of the rate to be asked by the railroads of the interstate commerce commission to offset the $600,000,000 added expense caused by the labor board's wage award, it was anounced by A. H. Thom, general counsel for the association of railway executives.

TO PROSECUTE DEFAULTERS OF INCOME TAX

PROSECUTIONS SIMPLIFIED

Wilful Defaulters of Federal Tax May Find a Rude Awakening

Ottawa. — Revenue from income taxation this year is expected to total $40,000,000. While this is not in excess of last year, it is attributable to the fact that the measure of excess profits is not nearly as large now as was the case in 1919 when the collections were based on the last year of the war.

An amendment made to the act this year simplifies the prosecution of defaulters and it was announced today that there will be extensive prosecutions of delinquents, failure to make a return and the subsequent registration of a notice to the party is sufficient proof under the new act to secure conviction.

Winnipeg.— A special despatch to the Free Press from its Ottawa correspondent reads:

Wilful defaulters from federal income taxation may find a rude awakening from the slumber of security into which a recent lull in prosecution has rocked them. Even now the office of commissioner of taxation is preparing a long list of the prescribed and police court proceedings throughout the Dominion will be varied during the coming weeks by prosecutions against other than ordinary offenders against the law. In the past prosecutions have been fraught with some difficulty and expenses, witnesses were required. Under the amendments to the act passed last session, however, a registered letter is sent to the defaulter notifying him to make his return If he fails to do so an affidavit is made out to the effect that the return has not been made. The fact of registration coupled with the affidavit is all that is required for prosecution and witnesses are not required. The chief reason for the lull in prosecutions recently is the fact that the department has been awaiting the facilitation mentioned. Now it can and will go ahead. The person found guilty is subject to two penalties. In the first place delay beyond the prescribed time in putting in returns subjects him to an additional impost of 24 percent of his assessment. In the second place he is subject to the penalty imposed for wilful default.

Will Secure Grave Photos

Ottawa.—Emphatic denial is given to a statement appearing that no more photographs of soldiers' graves would be supplied to relatives owing to a shortage of funds At the militia department it was explained that a Canadian photographic staff is still maintained overseas.

Every Canadian grave in France and Belgium is to be photographed and copies of the photograph in each case will be sent automatically to the next of kin through military headquarters at Ottawa.

Britain Leads in Shipping

Total Tonnage Exceeds the Amount Under Construction in United States

London.—Total tonnage now building in the United Kingdom exceeds the amount under construction in the United States by 1,672,000 tons, according to returns published by Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The aggregate amount now under construction in Great Britain is 3,578,000 tons, the highest amount ever recorded.

Much comment has been aroused in shipping circles this year by the figures, says the London Times But, it adds, the failure of the United States to maintain its lead in ship building was expected since the intensive construction there was chiefly a war measure.

Privy Council Decision Settles Matter

Remaining Strike Leaders Will Call Off Appeals Now

Winnipeg. — The decision of the privy council in Russell's case will be accepted as disposing of contemplated appeals on behalf of the other convicted Winnipeg labor leaders, it was intimated by James Law, secretary of the defence committee. Mr. Law said he had no word as yet from Mr. Trueman or from his London agents, but accepting the press report on the case as accurate, he intimated that there would seem to be no advantage in entering further appeals, which would of necessity have to be argued along lines similar to the Russell appeal.

Germany to Remain Neutral

Berlin.—An official statement was issued declaring Gemany's complete neutrality in the situation arising from the hostilities between Russia and Poland. The statement was signed by president Ebert and Minister Simons.

MAY APPOINT NEW MINISTER IN LONDON

CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVE

Some Difficulty May be Found In Filling the Position Now Occupied by Perley

Winnipeg.— A special despatch to the Free Press from its Ottawa correspondent reads:

No confirmation of the report that the status of Canada's federal representative in London is to be changed and that Sir George Perley is to be replaced by a resident minister, can be secured here for the reason that the premier is in Montreal, and there is nobody left behind who will take the responsibility of affiliation or denial.

The rumor is by no means new, in fact it has been current ever since Sir George Perley made it known over a year ago that he desired to retire from the high commissionership and return to his business in Canada.

The position appears to be about as hard to fill as that of Canadian representative at Washington. It differs from the latter in an important respect. It is essentially a trade position, which the other is diplomatic. The man upon whom the choice falls for the Washington position may find himself at any time in full charge of the British embassy.

Sir George Foster's name has been mentioned many times for the London position, but Sir George is not a young man any longer, neither is he a man of very considerable means, and youth and means are both required to grace the position. For the Washington position, Sir Robert Borden, Hon N. W. Rowell, Mr Lloyd Harris, and Mr C. A. McGrath have all been mentioned in authoritative circles here It is believed that the two first may be eliminated from the speculation entirely, though it is realized that Mr. Rowell in particular is eminently fitted for the position.

Theatre goers, who will readily recall Miss Dorothy Phillips in the "Heart of Humanity," will hardly fail to see this screen favorite in another super production, "The Right to Happiness," which will be at the Peekin on Monday night, Aug. 9th.

Postmaster Gibbs had an assistant for a few days the latter part of the week when Miss Nellie Chalmers was on the staff—getting acquainted with postal work prior to taking charge of the new postoffice at Lister, which opened for business on Tuesday.

Lister has now a postoffice of its own, and citizens sending mail matter to that point should now attach a three-cent stamp to their letters. For the present, at least, Lister mail will be handled via Creston, leaving here immediately after the sorting of the noon mail.
