THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XIII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1921 No. 17

West Creston

Traffic to Creston is by boat at present, the high water putting the ferry out of commission at the end of the week.

Miss Tot Dunn of Creston is holidaying with old friends here, and is a guest of Mrs. Tompkins.

Mrs. Jack Stephens arrived on Monday afternoon from Tacoma, Wash., and is quite taken with ranch life in the Corn Creek section.

Old friends will extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Peterman, now resident at Kitchener. The stork left a fine new daughter on the 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moores left several days ago for Coleman, Alta., and will probably make their permanent home in that town.

Mrs. O. C. French, who was a Cranbrook visitor a few days last week, returned on Sunday.

The public works department has made another commendable move in putting Joe Stephens and a small crew at work removing the driftwood and other debris that has been accumulating under the twin bridges for the last six years.

Matt. Moores, who has been a patient in the hospital at Michel, is expected home about the end of the month.

Canyon City

Canyon City was deserted on Victoria Day, the exodus being due to the school picnic which was held at the Schimmerhorn camp that day, and which attracted a large attendance of both children and parents. There was a busy afternoon at games and sports and a bountiful supper topped off with ice cream in the evening.

Miss Bessie White of Winnipeg is a visitor with old friends at Canyon City at present, the guest of Mrs. Witherhead.

Mrs. Jas. Bateman of Calgary arrived a few days ago to join her husband at the ranch here.

Mrs. Waldie of Fernie is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wearmouth.

John Wood of Birchbank was a week-end visitor with the family here, returning on Tuesday.

John McRobb, L. Moberg and Mart. Nelson are now working at Galloway, where they have a contract for taking out cedar poles.

Arrowsmith brothers are busy at present loading out cedar posts at the siding, part of the winter's timber cut at their ranch at Arrow Creek.

Poles are now being placed for the new telephone line, which will give a phone service to the Samuelson and Wickholm ranches.

Mr. Samuelson is busy at present on a small contract he has with the government improving the old bush road which he has had to put up with getting to and from his place in the past.

$100.00 REWARD

A reward of $100 will be paid anyone furnishing information that will lead to the discovery of the party or parties guilty of setting out, or administering poison that caused the death of horses belonging to the undersigned, on May 23, 1921.

GEO. LEADBEATER
JOHN GRAHAM.

A Season Ticket Saves Holder $5

If bought before noon on Thursday, June 9th, a season ticket admitting the holder to all the seven programmes of Creston's six-day Dominion Chatauqua, may be purchased for $3, while a children's season ticket may be had for $1. To these prices must be added the amusement tax, which in the case of adult will be another 30 cents, and 10 cents on the child's ticket.

In other words, Chautauqua offers you the very finest entertainment to be had in the way of music, drama and lectures at an average price of 30 cents per program for grown-ups and 10 cents for children—provided you buy a season ticket.

At no time within the last fifteen years could any of the talent that will appear here be heard for less than half a dollar, while such attractions as the Coffee Miller Players in "The Rivals," and the Lieurance Symphonic Orchestra could not have been heard at anything less than $1, to say nothing of the equally high class Scotch Canadian Concert Company, the Bell Ringing Quartette and the Dixie Girls.

The 1921 Chautauqua season opened at Victoria last week and it is most gratifying to read in the daily press that the Chautauqua lecturers, which include the well-known Canadian divine, Rev. Jas. L. Gordon; Agnes Laut, Lethe Coleman and Judge Alden, are all handling practically every day subjects in a fashion that is making them equally as popular as the exceptionally high class musical features of the 1921 campaign.

The Bell Ringing Quartette and Miss Agnes Laut's lecture on "Canada at the Crossroads," are the opening day features at Creston, and judging by the crowds that are being drawn at other points it is a certainty that those who hear the first day programme will come back for all the others, so that the wisdom of buying a season ticket is at once apparent. To pay single admission to even the night performances alone will cost $5, and a season ticket purchased after 3 p.m. of opening day will be at least $3.50, while single admissions to all the performances would entail an expenditure of not less than $8.

Within a few days you will get a copy of "Chautauqua Talks," which deals fully with the different items on the programme, and the talent that will present them. In the meantime bear in mind the dates, June 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, and appropriate at least sufficient to buy a couple of adult season tickets and one, two or three as the case may be of the children's season admissions. Entertainment of this standard has never been offered you before at this price. Show your appreciation of the twenty citizens who are guaranteeing Chautauqua by buying season tickets. Six days of this sort of recreation is just the tonic all need to get off to the right start in the busy season about to open.

Season tickets will be on sale Wednesday, June 1st, and the transportation committee have arrangements complete to have plenty of autos available to carry season ticket holders at outside points to and from Chautauqua at rock bottom rates.

In Memoriam

In ever loving memory of Laura May Evans, wife of S. T. Evans, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Edmondson, who died at Revelstoke Hospital, May 24, 1920.

She is gone but not forgotten;
Never shall her memory fade.
Sweetest thoughts shall always linger
Round the spot where she is laid.

Ever remembered by her husband, mother and father.

BIRTH—On May 19th, to Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Peterman, a daughter.

BIRTH—On May 23rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Sam McNeil, a daughter.

BIRTH—On May 24th, at Mrs. Payne's maternity hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Smith, a son.

Erickson

Rev. H. Varley will be here for English Church service in the schoolhouse, at 10.30 a.m., Sunday, May 29th and a good turnout is hoped for.

The stork had quite a busy time of it here the latter part of the week, leaving a son with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lockhead on the 20th, and a daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Jensen, on the 21st.

A big crowd is expected here on Friday night next when the new Staples Fruit Company warehouse will be housewarmed at a dance under Women's Institute auspices, the proceeds to go to the fall fair funds. The very best music has been secured, and the lunch will be equally excellent. Dancing at 9 o'clock.

E. Munn of Yahk spent a couple of days here in the middle of the week, the guest of his cousin, Ray McKelvey.

W. G. Boyd of Crawford Bay, until lately a resident here, passed through one day last week, to Fort Steele, where he purchased a team of work horses.

Deer are reported unusually thick this season, and quite the tamest they have been for some time. Frequently a half dozen of them can be seen in the neighborhood of the Haskins ranch, and occasionally they browse out along the main road.

Geo. Leadbeater and John Graham each lost horse by poisoning this week, under circumstances that do not look good to them and a reward of $100 is offered for information that will lead to the discovery of the parties who were responsible for the poison being around within reach of pasturing horses.

The House On Mercy Street

By Florence Kerigan

Miss Angela set her finger on a tingly little bell, and at once the throng of boys who were whooping madly up and down the hall and in and out of the rooms of the house on Mercy Street, came together in the living room and settled down to listen to the afternoon story.

They just adored Miss Angela. From the time she rented the little house and turned it into a clubhouse for the rough, tough dirty little boys of the neighborhood, they loved her. They exhibited her to their rough, tough, dirty friends with pride, and gradually became less rough, and less tough, and washed their faces now and then.

On that particular afternoon, when the soft air blew in the open window and made her fair hair stand out from her head like a misty, golden halo, and shook the faint perfume out of the bowl of lilacs on the table, she announced that she was going to tell them a story of knights and fair ladies and the spring. She settled herself in the seat of honor, and swept the circle of faces with her brown eyes which Abie Rabinowitz said were "just like these here, now, pansy flowers, ain't they?"—brown eyes which smiled at them all, from Abie to the mysterious, well-dressed, perfect-mannered Jack who came in every day to play.

Then, very simply and dramatically, she told the story of Sir Galahad and the Holy Grail, and all her hearers listened spellbound. And when it came to an end, they sat silent for a moment, then clamored for another.

Next, she told them a rollicking Irish folk-talk that made them laugh, and followed it with others until a factory whistle told her it was five o'clock and closing time for the clubhouse.

They found their hats and trooped out, but Miss Angela remained, and her shoulders drooped with sudden sadness.

That morning she had received a letter saying that she would have to leave the dear little house on Mercy Street, as the landlord wanted it for one of his friends. She had at once called up several influential men and tried to interest them in a campaign for establishing a community clubhouse to carry on the work begun, but without result. One of the men, John Davenport, told her frankly, that he was decidedly against such work—that the poor of the city could rise if they wished, without such waste of money. Still, with a heavy heart Miss Angela fought the thought of giving up her boys.

On Friday afternoon the boys were grouped about the piano singing a few favorite songs when a man's figure stopped in the doorway.

Miss Angela recognized the clear-cut, rather stern face of Mr. Davenport, and wondered what had brought him there. At the same instant Jack cried, "Dad!"

"Jack, what are you doing here?" The man's voice was well under control, but Miss Angela could see that he was very angry.

Jack stepped out bravely. "Dad, I'm sorry it had to be this way—but Hannah wouldn't let me come when I asked her. And they were having such fun! I get so tired playing by myself, Dad! Here we have the grandest times! Mickey Mulligan—that's Micky over there, has a sister and two rabbits and some white mice, and his father sings the funniest songs. And Abie Rabinowitz lives at a jeweler's store and his father let me look at some stones just like those of Mother's."

"Why, it's preposterous!" gasped Mr. Davenport. "I'm surprised at you, Jack. You, wth all you have and all you are, coming here like this and playing with dirty ragamuffins!"

Jack squared his shoulders. "I haven't a thing. I haven't a mother to sing to me or smooth my hair or make me little cakes like Jimmy Casey's mother does, and I have no rabbits or cats or even a puppy—why, I've never even had mumps or measles! And I can't sing like Romolo Galaccie, or paint like Olaf Nels. I've just got a lot of old money that won't buy the things I want!" His lip quivered suddenly. "I love them all so much and—and—I never loved anybody before!"

"Old money that won't buy what I want!" The words struck deep, and made him think of the sweet wife money had not been able to hold—of the happiness that money had not brought him—of the mansion which held everything but love and joy.

Micky Mulligan stepped to Jack's side. "If ye please, he's a good guy even if he is a swell, and we like him, sorr."

"Suppose you boys go outside and play," in a softer tone. "Miss Sheridan, will you tell me about this business?"

Miss Angela drew up a chair for her guest, and told him the whole story of the club and what she tried to make it stand for and the love of it made her eloquent. Her enthusiasm was infectious and at the end of an hour he was making plans with her for a larger club that would broaden into athletic activities. She shook her head, sadly.

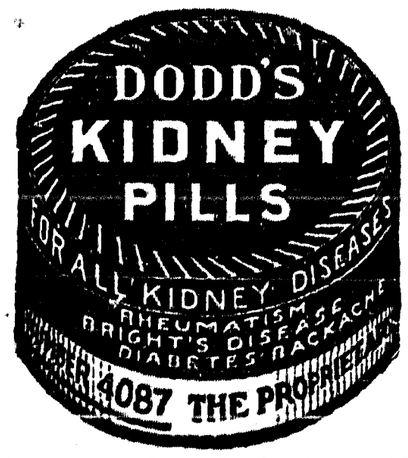
"We're not all millionaires, Mr. Davenport."

"Don't you understand? I want to do it with you. You must count me in on it. Why, I wouldn't take a million dollars for the way these boys treat my son and the happiness they and you have given him. So, I'll see an architect tomorrow and we'll have a regular clubhouse right in this neighborhood!"

In spite of her protestations, he carried out his purpose and formed a habit of dropping in during their play hour and showing her the latest plans and talking over new things he had thought of.

Then, one day, he brought some new plans for her inspection. "Don't you think," wistfully, laying them before her, "that you could make a home out of one of these for you and me and a lonely little boy that never loved anyone before?"

Miss Angela promptly became very rosy and confused, but her answer must have been satisfactory, for some months later, the boys all met for a feast of ice-cream and cake on a very joyous occasion. And they presented her with a solid silver spoon bought with their own savings from Abie Rabinowitz's father who was a jeweler.



Another Hen Breaks Record.

A hen owned by T. N. Mitchel, of Byron Central, Mich., laid double-yolked eggs every day for three weeks and then produced an egg that weighed six ounces and measured nine and five-sixteenths inches around the long way and one-half inch around the centre. It contained two yolks besides perfect normal sized egg.

A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less unsteady.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of a breakdown begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make the heart beat strong and regular, brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

Mrs. James Perry, Retlaw, Alta., writes:—"Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two boxes of your pills. I took them a few days and my, what a change there was in me, and when I had taken the two boxes I felt so much better I quit them. Now I take them at intervals, and am fine although 72 years of age."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Why The Complaint.

Leaders of the Welsh miners protest against the use of troops which they term violence. Anything more violent than threatening the country with starvation by tying up all trains and stopping industries is hard to imagine.

Worm as Thin as Straw.

Samoa boasts a seaworm of extreme slenderness, like a fine straw, which is eaten like the oyster, both raw and cooked.

Lord Fisher's "Light Cruisers"

Chancellor Did Not Specify Size of Light Craft.

A characteristic story of the late Lord Fisher, and his capacity for getting his ideas carried out while at the Admiralty during the war, was told by Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Tudor at a meeting of the Institution of Naval Architects.

One day early in the struggle, when it was believed that the conflict would not last very long, Admiral Tudor said Lord Fisher came into his room and told him he had just had a long conversation with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who had agreed to the building of light craft up to light cruisers to any extent. The Chancellor of the Exchequer had not said how big the light cruisers were to be, so Lord Fisher said, "We will build two whoppers with 15-in. guns, big enough to knock any German light cruiser off the sea." This was the origin of the Furious, the Glorious and other ships of that class.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Kiever.

Vancouver, B.C.—"I am pleased to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a lot of good. I can now walk about without the aid of a support and feel real strong again. A nurse advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and it is certainly helping me. It seems like Heaven to be relieved after months of pain."—Mrs. H. W. Baker, 2874 10th Ave. West, Vancouver, B.C.

Albert Co., N. B.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and they have done me a lot of good. Since then I have been able to do my housework and I have a lot of work to do as we live on a farm. Seeing your advertisement in the papers was what made me think of writing to you. I hope this may help some one else."—Mrs. Wm. B. Keiver, Upper New Horton, Albert Co., N. B.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

German Prison Camps.

The Leipzig trials of German offenders may not bring many convictions or heavy penalties, but the evidence taken in London in respect to prison camps shows that the prosecutions are serious. Accounts given by former prisoners provoke indignation, but only confirm the statements of Canadian prisoners who have passed through some of these camps.—Vancouver Province.

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no night so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance.

When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little-ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrups was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH NEEDS GREAT CARE

When the Blood Becomes Watery a Breakdown Follows.

Every woman's health is dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? Of course all these symptoms may not be present—the more there are the worse the condition of the blood, and the more necessary that you should begin to enrich it without delay. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a splendid blood-building tonic. Every dose helps to make better blood which goes to every part of the body and brings new health to weak, despondent people. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are valuable to all women but they are particularly useful to girls of school age who become pale, languid and nervous. There can be neither health nor beauty without red blood which gives brightness to the eyes and color to the cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Jos. E. Veniotte, West Northfield, N.S., who says: "For several years I was in a bad state of health. I was pale and nervous, my appetite was poor, and I suffered from weakness, headaches and a feeling of oppression. I got so nervous that I was afraid to stay in the house alone. All this time I was taking medicine, but it only did not help me, but I was growing weaker. Finally I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using six boxes I felt much better. I had a better appetite, slept better and felt stronger. However, I continued taking the pills for a couple of months longer and now I am feeling as well as ever I did. I give all the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and hope that my experience may be of benefit to some other weak woman."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Last Of The "Sennet"

Royal Navy Men Have to Give Up Wearing Straw Hat.

London saw seamen of the Royal Navy in their straw hats at Lord Fisher's funeral last July. Now comes the announcement that the Admiralty has decided to abolish the "sennet," as it is officially called. At home, the uniform blue cloth cap is to be worn, with the white cap-cover in summer, on the occassions on which the sennet hat has hitherto been worn, and sun-helmets will be supplied to men serving in ships and establishments on foreign stations. With the passing of the sennet or straw hat there is removed almost the last feature of the picturesque dress of the sailor at the time when uniform was first established. This was in 1857, but the dress then ordered had been the unofficial or irregular uniform of seamen for many years before that, and was directly associated with the Napoleonic wars. In these earliest regulations for seamen's uniform the hat was ordered to be black or white, according to climate. The black hat or tarpaulin was abolished 40 years ago, and when, 10 years later, the round blue jacket was also abandoned, there disappeared from the seaman's kits the two articles by which he was most familiarly known—the "tar" and the "blue-jacket."

Two Winter Fairs

Regina Holding One In November And One In March.

A winter fair comprising two sections, one to be held in November, the other in March, will be conducted in Regina in the coming season, according to a decision reached at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Exhibition Association.

In November, when the first section of the fair is to be held, there will be the sheep and swine show, and the calf-feeding competition. The second section of the fair will be held in early spring, probably in March, and will include the stallion, fat cattle and poultry shows.

In addition to carrying out this scheme, an effort will be made by the Fair Board of Regina to establish a circuit of spring fairs, to be arranged with Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and other towns.

Making Use Of Kaiser's Stables

Buildings Attached to Royal Palace Converted Into Public Library.

The stables of the former Kaiser, which were erected in 1900, and are attached to the royal palace have been converted into a public library. The main or street front is 305 feet long and the front facing the Spree is 578 feet. The style of the structure is renaissance. Sculptures of horse tamers and ancient warriors are ranged along the upper front. A fountain is set in the wall at each end. The horses were kept in two stories of the river wing, with the carriages above. In the imperial times the stables were open to visitors daily from 11.30 to 1.30. Admission was 25 pfennigs. A small historical museum on the carriage floor contained the sledge on which the Great Elector pursued the Swedes across the Kurische Haff, and numerous historical carriages.

Tiny Frills Adorn The Taffeta Frock

By Marie Belmont.

Charming gowns are developed from taffeta in all the fascinating shades that are found in this lovely silk. This model is cut from a mauve changeable taffeta. The skirt emphasizes the bouffant side effect which is now quite fashionable. It it elaborated with small frills of the silk that are festooned about its ample folds. The long-waisted bodice fits the figure snugly. Old rose ribbons form the cuff bands of the small puffs. At the waistline is a cluster of flowers tied with old rose ribbon, whose long ends stream downward beyond the hem of the skirt. The large hat is trimmed with red and green currants.

Brave In Patches

Many Men Show White Feather in Trivial Things.

"There are odd inconsistencies in physical courage, too," says a writer in Punch. "I know a V.C. who can't bring himself to bait a hook with a worm, he shudders so; and you all remember Phil May's picture of the circus hand who took refuge from his wife in the lions' den. I myself am moderately brave—I have been downstairs with only a poker to investigate noises in the night—but nothing would get me on to the back of a horse. Another man will have a tooth out without gas; but ran twenty miles rather than make a public speech. Even the brave are brave only in patches."

In all infantile complaints that are the result of the depredations of worms in the stomach and intestines Miller's Worm Powders will be found an effective remedy. They attack the cause of these troubles, and by expelling the worms from the organs insure an orderly working of the system, without which the child cannot maintain its strength or thrive. These powders mean health and improvement.

Give the Children a Chance

An essential part of any national health policy is the instruction in the principles and practice of hygiene of the great mass of the people. In this as in other spheres of human affairs ignorance is the chief curse. We are only now, as knowledge grows, becoming aware of the immeasurable part played by ignorance in the realms of disease. It is hardly too much to say that in proportion as knowledge spreads in a population, disease and incapacity decline, and this becomes more evident as the gross forms of world-wide disease are overcome. As in the individual, so in the community, knowledge is the sheet anchor of preventive medicine—knowledge of the way of health, knowledge of the causes and channels of disease, knowledge of remedy.

Every child born in Canada should have an opportunity of starting life in sound physical health, of growing to maturity in and through the healthful exercise of its powers and then of continuing to live in good health under wholesome conditions until the full course of life is run. Towards that end the Red Cross calls upon all intelligent men and women to join the Crusade for Good Health and to join the Red Cross which can do more for the country in peace than it was able to accomplish in war.

More Cups for 1921 Fall Fair

The directors of Creston Valley Agricultural Association have decided to try mid-week for this years' fall fair, and have named Wednesday, Oct. 5th, as the date. Since its inception the fair has always been on a Saturday, but this has not been satisfactory in that the exhibits had to be taken home the same night or wait until Monday for removal, to say nothing of the fair night dance, which in the past had to wind up at midnight—or thereabouts.

In addition to the Col. Lister cup for the best pen of one male and three females in the poultry class, two other new cups are already offered. C. O. Rodgers has given one which will be awarded to the resident of Lister showing the best collection of vegetables of not less than six different varieties, it being stipulated that there shall be at least three entries or no first prize awarded.

In addition to this strictly Lister feature Chairman Hayes of the prize list comuittee has written Hon. E. D. Barrow, head of the Land Settlement Board, suggesting that the department donate a reasonable amount to be used for prizes in competitions open to Lister citizens only.

Manager Bennett has notified that the Bank of Commerce will again donate a silver cup, which will probably be offered in the cattle class. Another very attractive special prize is a silver boquet vase which is donated by Henry Birkes & Sons, the well known Vancouver jewelers.

Secretary Walmsley has been active the past months in the hunt for special prizes and those already donated are considerably in excess of the 1920 list, and there are still more to hear from, which assures that the awards in all departments of this year's fair will considerably excel the showing in the 1920 prize list.

Canyon City

Road boss Harris was here last week with men and a couple of teams, doing a bit of excellent grading on the school-house road.

Guy Browell and Peter Burns have joined up with the logging crew Tom Hickey is operating for the Land Settlement Board mill at Lister.

Spraying kept most of our ranchers busy last week. Messrs. Pochin and Searle are the only ones owning power sprayers, but working in co operation with their neighbors they have been able to spray practically every orchard here. Apple prospects are about 50 per cent. better than last year.

Strawberry planting has been quite heavy here this year. Huygens & Van-Ackeran have set out 7000 new plants, and A. D. Pochin has also been quite a heavy planter in this line.

The heavy wind the fore part of last week blew up several bush fires in the neighborhood of the mill and the G. Davie ranch. The mill crew was busy all Monday morning looking after these blazes.

C. Cleave has improved the appearance of his house by putting on a new coat of paint. If the authorities would now provide him with a road to his property everything would be fine.

Tom Crawford had quite a busy two days of it here making repairs to the phone line after Sunday's very heavy blow.

Chas. Bliss is a Canyon resident just at present, having the contract of fencing the Ben Long ranch.

Mr. Banks, who has worked at the mill here for the past few years, is now in charge of the edger at the sawmill at Lister.

Timber exports at present are entirely of ties, which are going almost direct from the saw into the cars. There is no movement of lumber as yet.

Otto Johnson was a Duck Creek visitor on Monday last, moving Axel Bergen to that point. Otto thinks next to Canyon City Duck Creek is about the Hyliest spot in the Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Huscroft, the Valley's newest newly weds, spent part of their honeymoon here on a visit to George's sister, Mrs. L. Faulkner.

Due to much labor and a considerable outlay of hard cash Mr. Vance has his ranch—the old Kifer place—looking about as skookum as any place in the Canyon district.

Tom Mawson may have deluded some into imagining he is Scotch on the strength of his performance at the Burns night concert in January, but he can't fool folks hereabouts that he is a Swede on the merits of his entertainment effort at the Swedish night on May 6th. But he is none the less unique as a citizen; he owns neither an auto or gramaphone.

THE
Its Peace Time Work

"Peace hath her victories,
No less renowned than War."
—MILTON

The peace time problems and work of the Red Cross are greater by far than all that confronted its organization, all that it accomplished during the war. In British Columbia today the necessity of this work, which the Society is pledged to carry on, is obvious.

Red Cross Public Health Nurses The training and maintenance of an adequate number of Red Cross public health nurses for service in the rural districts and far-flung pioneer sections of this Province is a work which is now actively occupying the attention of the Society. Towards this end, arrangements were concluded with the authorities of the University of British Columbia whereby a Red Cross Chair of Public Health is now established and being maintained. The course is a Post Graduate one, and the Society has appropriated a sum of Fifteen Thousand Dollars towards defraying the expense. Already ten of these nurses are placed and being maintained. In time it is hoped that each centre will be able to support its own nurse, and thus extend the service without added expenditure.

Emergency Service and Outfits In sudden disaster by fire, flood, wreck, on land or sea, who will help—who will pay? Here the Red Cross does not temporize, but proceeds at once to the scene with doctors, nurses, workers, food, clothing, tents, blankets, and whatever else will tend to mitigate and relieve suffering and distress. Disaster may not overtake your town, village or district for years, yet it may happen tomorrow, and THE RED CROSS WILL BE THERE.

Stockmen Elect Last Year Officers

607 tons was the total cut of hay on the flats last year, according to the figures compiled in connection with the annual meeting of Creston Valley Stockbreeders' Association, which was held in Mercantile Hall on Saturday afternoon, and which attracted an attendance of about thirty members. The hay cut for the 1919 season was just over 2500 tons. Last season there were 122 hay cutting permits granted, of which 109 were taken out, but of this latter number only 58 were actually made use of, making the average cut about 11 tons per permit utilized. Returns made to the Association show there are 1473 head of cattle owned in the Valley and 293 horses.

The annual meeting was presided over by J. W. Dow and passed off without incident. After the minutes of the last annual meeting and the auditor's report on the year's business had been adopted without discussion, the election of officers was proceeded with, the following being chosen to handle the Association's affairs for the next twelve months:

President—J. W. Dow.
Vice-President—C. O. Quist.
Secy. Treas.—Guy Constable.
Advisory Board—John Spratt, A. D. Pochin, J. H. Webster, J. F. Rose, C. Sutcliffe.

Messrs. Dow and Constable were favored with election by acclamation. Mr. Quist had a lead of one vote over C. Sutcliffe for the vice presidency, while F. H. Jackson and F. K. Hurry were tailenders in the vote for members of the advisory board. Col. Lister, M.P.P., was placed in nomination both for president and the advisory board but gracefully declined.

In a few brief remarks after the election of officers Col. Lister complimented the Association officers on the way they handled the situation last season, the soldier farmers at Lister particularly appreciating the treatment they had received. The colonel called attention to the legacy the stockmen of the Valley had in the flats hay area, and felt sure that if all interested would fully co-operate with the Association this heritage could be still further developed to everybody's advantage. Col. Lister had found the association's policy in the past had been for the greatest good to the greatest number and looked forward with equal confidence for the coming season.

Before adjournment was taken Secretary Constable announced that the new rules and regulations of the Association were now being printed and would shortly be distributed to all members. He also drew attention to the new Brand Act regulations that provide that all cattle running on the crown range must have the braud registered. In the past the registering of brands had not been compulsory.

Creston Keeps Up Winning Streak

By defeating Wynndel by a 9 to 7 score on Sunday afternoon, the Creston baseball team notched its fourth consecutive victory of the season, having disposed of the same team handily two weeks ago and in the interim had slipped wins over Copeland and Erickson.

The visitors showed decided improvement over their former appearance. In fact about the only handicap they worked under Sunday was a lack of grit and determination to win. Wynndel always supplies a good bunch of backers and individually the players were at least equal to their opponents, but the three-run lead Creston got in the opening frame seemed to take the heart out of them and their play throughout was considerably below what they are equal to.

Ken. Dewar started in to do the heaving but after being nicked for three tallies in the opener he retired in favor of Ogilvie, who gave a good account of himself for the next seven innings, while Dewar's work at short was exceptionally fine. Wynndel arrived minus a backstop and Harold Gobbett was pressed into service at that position and had a good day of it. He has quite a fine peg to bases, but s just a trifle slow in getting into action. Don. Dewar at third base was another visitor whose play should have special mention. He was fast and accurate in the field and was quite as prominent in the hitting.

For Creston Avis at short was particularly noticeable amongst fielders, with Arthur Gobbett at centre sharing the day's honors with him, while Taylor went seven innings without getting into much troule except in the seventh, when Wynndel staged a batting rally and before it was ended three counters had been chased across the pan. The players and score:

The freewill offering was $6.

Why "Auto-Shoes"?

We figure that any automobile casing has a right to be called a "tire"—whether it's good, bad or indifferent. And we agree with the opinion that an exceptionally good casing deserves a distinctive name.

Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" are miles better in performance than ordinary tires. That has been proved to our satisfaction. So we think it's a good idea to identify such unusual mileage givers by an easy-to-remember name—"Auto-Shoes."

The main purpose of the name is to help you to get cheaper mileage. The guarantee behind Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes" insures that you get it. If necessity for adjustment should ever arise you will find that you will get satisfaction without trouble or red tape.

They are the principal advantages that go with the name Ames Holden "Auto-Shoes." Drop in and let us show you the tires themselves.

The annual children's picnic and sports day was held at the rock quarry Atbara, on Sunday, this year's outing being timed so as to make it an Empire Day celebration as well. A programme of races of all descriptions was gone through by the youngsters. The elder boy's race was handily won by Pedro Cherbo, while Sidney Rodgers was the winner in the egg and spoon race, and Robert Tuohey got home first in the boys race, under ten years. Swings had been put up and the youngsters, under the care of Miss Stocken, all enjoyed a good time with plenty to eat. The married women's race was quite an easy victory for Mrs. Whitesides, with Mrs. Lombardo second, and Mrs. Rodgers a very poor third. In the married men's race B. Whitesides got home in front, with R. McMasters not far behind for the second prize. The sports were very much appreciated and enjoyed by the visitors who were there in motorcars. During the day Victor Grundy lent variety to the outing by catching a five-pound char at the steel span. The committee in charge wishes to thank all who took part in making the sports a real success.

May 24th was observed here with a dance under Social Club auspices at the schoolhouse in the evening, which attracted a good crowd both of citizens and visitors.

Rev. H. Varley will hold his next service here on Sunday, June 5th, and will follow it with a service the first Sunday morning in July. Both services will be at 10.30, with a children's service scheduled for 10 o'clock.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Friday nights are decidedly quieter at present due largely to the fact that Conductor Balment is off the way freight run at least until the cooler weather of early fall.

Provincial police Vachon, accompanied by Mrs. Vachon and the children, were here on Sunday, on a motor trip through to Kuskanook, being about the second car of the season to make the journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Loasby and Mr. and Mrs. Brewis were at Creston on Sunday evening. Mrs. Dennes visited the metropolis on Friday, and Mrs. North was looking up friends in the same town on Saturday.

Ideal weather conditions prevail here at present, and if the growing season is maintained at the present standard S. Pascuzzo should about have strawberries for shipment by the tenth of June.

Alice Siding

Road foreman, T. Harris, has a a couple of teams and a crew of ten men at work on the roads between this point and Wynndel, widening out some of the narrower places, ditching and generally improving the highways. Alice Siding, in common with other Valley points, has the best travelling to town just now that this section has known of late.

Section foreman Nicholls has quite an extensive extra gang at work on the C.P.R. line through here this week putting in new ties.

Dick Smith has been busy of late at slashing operations on the ten acre place he purchased just north of the former Pease ranch. He has about an of it already under cultivation.

John Johnson, sr., of Wynndel, is now a resident of Alice Siding. He took possession of the part of the Dr. Wells ranch, which he lately purchased from Mrs. Cockle, last week.

Stockmen were busy here last Thursday and Friday when the cattle were moved from the flats into the mountains, until after high water. About 150 head were included in the roundup.

Will and Henry Vaness now claim to be in the lead in the school gopher killing campaign, with over two hundred of the rodents disposed of. Reg. Smith and Everard Constable, however, are running them a close second, and with the contest still one month to go, any one may win the money.

Chas. Sutcliffe was able to make Creston for the first time in a month on Friday, and on Saturday was re-elected to the advisory board of the Stockbreeders Association. Alice Siding made quite a clean-up in the election of the Association officials, Messrs Constable, Webster, Spratt and Sutcliffe capturing four of the eight places on the roster of officers and directors.

Join the Red Cross

When the Great War ended—yes, even before the joyful news of the signing of the Armistice—the statesmen and thoughtful men of all countries turned their attention to a consideration of the gigantic problem confronting civilization in the repair of the awful damage inflicted on the world. It was not the material damage so much that was the cause of deep concern, for, given time and money, destroyed cities, towns, industrial establishments, railways, mines and home buildings could be restored.

The real problem were the people themselves. With millions of the world's most able-bodied and virile young men killed, or maimed and weakened for life; with millions of women hopeless nervous wrecks as a result of the strain and hardships and sorrows through which they had passed; with millions of babies and young children under-nourished during the most vital years when wholesome food and plenty of it should have been forthcoming; and with the mental view of everybody far from normal, in many ways distorted, what, all thoughtful men and women asked themselves, of the future of the race, mentally, morally, physically? And if the race is weak in these respects, what of the State itself, because, after all, a nation is just what its people are. It is not wealth, or great industries, or large cities, or famous buildings that make a nation, but the people themselves.

The war had made vividly clear some things which a quarter of a century of peace might not have revealed with so much impressiveness. The war had given us a revelation, for it may fittingly be called a revelation, of the relative worth and ability of the ordinary man and woman. During the war the ordinary soldier, seaman and airman stuck to their duties and did them with a courage and endurance which have never been surpassed. The spirit of the race had not decayed. But the war had revealed also the shockingly poor physical condition of a great proportion of the men in all countries. In the alleged progress of civilization, in the organization of industries, in the development of big business for creating and controlling wealth, regard for the intrinsic worth of human life—of men and women in good health living and working under wholesome conditions—had been to a large extent neglected.

Think of the significance of these figures: During the last year of war, the number of men called up to the army in Great Britain was 2,425,184. Out of every nine men, three were fit and healthy, two were in infirm health, three might be described as physical wrecks, and one as a chronic invalid with a precarious hold on life. Since that was the physical condition of men at their most vigorous age, what would be the condition of health among the women and children? In other countries the examination of the men called to the colors revealed conditions somewhat similar. In Canada, with all her advantages of open spaces and outdoor lives, of the 362,605 draftees under the Military Service Act, 181,229, or about one-half, were found to be unfit for full service in the field. Even without war the races seemed to be heading for physical deterioration and disaster.

As a result of these shocking and altogether alarming disclosures, when the Covenant of the League of Nations was drafted, Article XXV. was inserted which binds every nation joining the League to encourage and promote a national Red Cross Society having as purposes "the improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world." The Red Cross was selected for this important work because of its international character, its splendid organization, and its wonderful record during the war.

It is the profound conviction of those who are impressed with the importance and possibilities of the ideals expressed in the Red Cross programme as above outlined that their realization is possible through the endorsement and support which universal membership in the Red Cross alone can give. Widespread and popular membership in the Red Cross is, therefore, the necessary condition of success in its Peace-time programme.

To attain that universal membership, a world-wide enrolment campaign is being held this year. The dates in the three Prairie Provinces of Canada are June 5 to 11. Membership in the Red Cross involves an annual fee of one dollar for adults, and of twenty-five cents for boys and girls under 18 years of age, but this is the only—and incidental—financial aspect of the membership enrolment campaign.

It is the intelligent interest, the active sympathy, the whole-hearted support of all people in a nation-wide, yes, world-wide, Crusade for Good Health that the Red Cross desires, and to assure this it asks every man, woman and child to join the Red Cross during the week of June 5 to 11.

Following all previous wars, the Red Cross with its work for the time being completed, fell into a state of disorganization. When the war drums sounded in 1914, the Red Cross had to undertake all the work of home organization before it could begin its work for the soldiers in the field. Now, however, while carrying on its great Peace-time programme for the welfare and betterment of all mankind, it will be maintained fully organized, efficient and ready to act should Canada ever again be called to arms.

The Red Cross demonstrated that it was worthy of support during the war. Having now highly resolved to dedicate itself to the task of carrying out the obligations imposed upon it in the Covenant of the League of Nations, it can be trusted to faithfully endeavor to render real Peace-time service to Canada and its people. Therefore—Join the Red Cross.

Fire Protection in Finland

Government Compels Every Building To Have a Ladder.

Finland takes more precautions than any other nation to protect itself against fire. Indeed, it is a nation of fire-escapes, for by government enactment it is compulsory for any building or dwelling to be provided with means by which the occupants can escape in the event of an outbreak of fire. Ladder-making for domestic use is one of the country's most profitable industries. From the most palatial to the lowliest every home in the country must have its ladder reposing against the wall on the outside or lying along the ground within easy reach.

The government regulation, which makes it obligatory upon the owners of every building to provide it with a ladder, is an old one, and is an echo of the days when the houses and towns of the country were entirely of wood. Modern building construction of stone and brick has made no change in the law.

WHEN BABY IS SICK

When the baby is sick—when he is cross and peevish; cries a great deal and is a constant worry to the mother—he needs Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are an ideal medicine for little ones. They are a gentle but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Philippe Payen, St. Flavien, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been a wonderful help to me in the case of my baby and I can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Alberta Erecting Wireless Station

Will Be Tallest and Most Powerful in Province.

With six aeroplane hangars already erected on the High River government aerodrome field in Southern Alberta and with the office building completed, the tenders for the erection of the most powerful wireless station in the province and the workshops have just been received, and it is expected that work will start on these projects within the next two or three weeks.

The wireless station will be able to send messages to Vancouver and over the Pacific coast, and will be taller and more powerful than any yet erected in this province. The pole will have been erected within about ten days.

The six hangars now completed on the field are modern Bessemer hangars, which were brought over from France, where they were used by the Royal Air Force during the war. Each of them will accommodate about three aeroplanes.

Disturbing Element.

A well-to-do Scottish woman one day said to her gardener:

"Man Tammas, I wonder you don't get married. You've a nice house, and all you want to complete it is a wife. You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife."

"Quite right, missus, quite right," said Thomas, "but he didna keep his job long after he got the wife."—The Watchman-Examiner, New York.

Good Canadian Citizens

Scandinavians Are Hardworking and Intensely Patriotic.

A most gratifying feature of Scandinavian settlement in Canada is that it is almost wholly agricultural, and in the west they will be found in the richest and most progressive districts. While retaining their national individuality, their customs, language and religion, they are Britist in sentiment and intensely patriotic, as their fine contribution to Canada's army evidenced. With an inherent realization of their own worth, they stand, without embarrassment, upon their own feet, and are absorbed as Canadians without losing their individual qualities. Clean-blooded, thrifty, ambitious and hardworking, they are of the best of Europe's contribution to a pioneer nation.

DIET NOT EVERYTHING IN KEEPING HEALTHY

Your table may be loaded with food digestible and wholesome, yet you don't get strong. What's the trouble? The liver is lazy, stomach is overloaded, the bowels are not active. Relief is quickly supplied by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They make weak sickly people strong and well because they keep the system clear of impurities. Those who regulate the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills don't have indigestion or constipated headaches, they feel enlivened all over, because their system is kept in smooth running order. To revitalize and stimulate your whole being, to shake off lethargy and tiredness, nothing compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which certainly bring good looks, good spirits, good health. 25c all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

The Oil for the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

Why Rain Melts Rocks

Due to Carbonic and Nitric Acid In Water.

When we see great boulders of hard rock such as granite, it seems almost incredible that rain has the power of melting them.

In rain there are two things in addition to water which assist this wonderful process. These are nitric acid and carbonic acid, and these are formed in the rain when the oxygen and nitrogen become charged with electricity as so often happens during thunderstorms.

Of these two acids that slowly eat their way into the rocks, perhaps carbonic is the more important.

By its action it gradually melts the hard granite upon which the rain falls and so transforms it, first into sandstone and afterwards into sand.

Of course this process is a very slow one, but it goes on with a wonderful certainty.

These two acids in rain are even more important in their relation to life, for carbonic and nitric acids form part of the food upon which all plants live.

The University of Calcutta has 26,000 students, the largest enrolment of any university in the British Empire.

The Poor Man's Friend.—Put up in small bottles that are easily portable and sold for a very small sum, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil possesses power in concentrated form. Its cheapness and the varied uses to which it can be put make it the poor man's friend. No dealer's stock is complete without it.

Old Fort Ellis and Sioux Indians

Crossing the Plains to Fort Carlton
Summer 1875.

By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

On looking over my last article it may be that my readers will be left with the impression that Chief Factor Archie McDonald was a tyrannical, unjust man, but this was by no means the case. You, however, must understand that Hudson's Bay officers in charge of districts at this time had practically absolute powers. Truly, Canada had taken over the country, but her jurisdiction for all practical purposes ended when you left Fort Garry (now Winnipeg), and in the great realm of the Northwest the H. B. Co. ruled supreme. They had jails at many of their head posts, with handcuffs and leg irons for unruly servants, or law-breaking Indians, and they used them when required. Give absolute authority to any man and he is apt to become more or less of a despot. Shortly after leaving the Hudson's Bay service in 1883, and being at that time in poor health and circumstances, Mr. Archie McDonald was exceedingly kind and helped me to get a start on my own account.

To resume our trip across the plains. The rate of progress daily was governed by that of the loaded carts, whose squeals from wooden axles could be heard for miles, in spite of constant applications of grease. From twenty to twenty-five miles daily was a fair average and one must know that the ponies subsisted entirely on grass, as oats were unknown in the wilds. Consequently the men would start with the carts very early in the morning, while the bourgeois and us clerks would have breakfast much later and easily catch up with the train for dinner. Ahead of the party rode Chief Guide Jeune Homme, generally with me by his side, thirsting to imbibe all the plainsman's lore possible, and sometimes the other clerks were with us. Armed guards had to be set nightly, and the horses watched very carefully, for stealing was rife, and no doubt our large brigade was spied upon from time to time by scouting Indians. The prairie was covered with fresh buffalo sign and the guide's opinion was that a large herd was just to the south of us. In fact a few old bulls were sighted by our riders, but Mr. Ewen would not allow any hunting for fear of laming or injuring the horses, and this much to the disgust of we youngsters who were all anxious to shoot a buffalo.

About the tenth day out we met a small war party of Saulteaux coming in from the great plains to the southwest, en route to Fort Qu'Appelle. They met us all marching on foot, with drums beating, their headmen rigged out in scarlet cloth, paint and feathers galore. There was the usual shake hands and a smoke, then small presents were handed to them by Mr. McDonald and, in return, we received a welcome supply of tender young buffalo meat just killed the day before. They had no carts, only travois, that is the lodge poles, two of them lashed on each side of a pony, a parchment laced across behind the horse and on this robes, dressed buffalo leather, dried meat and pemican were piled, even their large split eared dogs were laden in the same way. With the exception of a violent windstorm that made things lively for a while, nothing of importance happened until we reached the south branch of the Saskatchewan, and here we had some fun in crossing the river, there being no ferry. We made rafts of the large wooden cart wheels over which buffalo parchments were laced securely, and in the centre of these rude craft were placed the women and children, all baggage, freight, etc. Swimmers were the motive power, and I could not say how many times I crossed the river. The large band of ponies were left to the last and Jeune Homme and I took them across, he explaining that on no account must we allow them to circle, but keep them going in a direct course, the remedy if one turned being to splash water in their faces. All went well but it took several days before the whole outfit was safely across. Another day's travel took us to Fort Carlton, which, unlike Ellis, was situated in the valley of the North Branch, close to the river, we arriving there without the loss of a pony or a pound of freight, much to the satisfaction of Chief Factor Lawrence Clark who ruled supreme over the Saskatchewan district with Carlton as headquarters. The fort was much on the same plan as Ellis, but in better order. This fine establishment was burnt in 1885 by accident, as the Mounted Police and Volunteers were evacuating it, after the defeat at Duck Lake.

I was detailed to lend a hand in the trading store and daily my erstwhile companies left for their various destinations. Some days after my arrival a packet arrived by canoe from Cumberland House (down the river), and that evening I was summoned to the office, where, in addition to Mr. Clarke, was Inspecting Chief Factor Robert Hamilton. They informed me there was a pressing vacancy at Cumberland, and they were considering changing my appointment from Mackenzie River to that point, but they would like to hear my views. It was all one to me, and so I told them, and it was then decided that I go down the river on the first opportunity. Mr. Hamilton, who came from Peterboro, Ont., and was an old friend of my father's, gave me much wise and kindly advice as to my future in the service where he had spent practically his life time.

Several weeks passed in very pleasant company as Mr. Clarke had a lovely daughter and there were several other ladies at the fort. Picnics, duck shooting and boating were the principal amusements and we, as birds of passage, were not asked to work very hard. A York boat arrived from up the river, and I received orders to embark next morning. The crew were Red River half-breeds and I took up my place in the stern sheets after saying good-bye all round. We stopped at Ft. La Corne for a short time, one Geo. Goodfellow was in charge, and I did not think then we would have stirring times together later on, but that, to quote Kipling, is another story. Drifting at night and occasionally rowing in the daytime, four days took us to the mouth of the Big Stone River, which empties out of Cumberland Lake into the Saskatchewan. A short pull against a strong current took us up to Cumberland Lake, which is quite an extensive sheet of water, and in a few minutes more we were at the wharf of the old historic Cumberland House which, it is said, was the first post established by the Hudson's Bay Company on the Saskatchewan River. Here ruled supreme Factor Horace Belanger, a French-Canadian, a man of great girth and jovial temperament, very widely known and much liked. He was a half-brother of Letellier de St. Just, at one time Lieut.-Governor of the province of Quebec.

Russians Sent Back To Canada

Russian Soviet Government Refused Them Admittance to Country.

New York.—Russians from Canada who attempted to return to Russia on the steamer Baltinger, have been refused admission, and have been forced to return to Canada, according to a cablegram received at the office of "Soviet Russia" in New York. The message was sent by Maxim Litvinov, representative of the Russian Soviet Government at Reval, and is dated May 17.

The message reads:

"The steamer Baltinger with a number of Russians from Canada arrived at Reval, but on account of our refusal to admit the passengers into Russia, was compelled to take them back. Give this fact the widest publicity, warning Russians against any attempt to reach Russia without passports vised by a Soviet representative."

Fix Time Limit For Disarmament

Allies Demand Reduction of German Army By June 30.

Berlin.—The time limit for disarmament by Germany is fixed absolutely as June 30 in an allied note presented to the German Government. The note which concerns execution of the recent ultimatum, demands that the organization of the German army of 100,000 be brought into conformity with the peace treaty by June 15, superfluous munitions and unauthorized fortress equipment surrendered by May 31 and all arms in possession of civilians by June 10.

Germany is required to endorse by May 30 the list of munition factories authorized by the Allies, and stop the output of unauthorized factories. The note further deals with the question of police and demands a reduction in all classes of police to a total of 150,000 by July 15.

Swedes Lower Cost Of Production

Wage Earners Resist Effort But Start Has Been Made.

Stockholm.—An effort to reduce wages and cost of production to the present lower level of prices is being resisted by Swedish wage earners generally, but a start has been made in the wood pulp and cellulose industry where wages have been lowered 15 per cent.

One of the largest electrical companies has also come to an agreement with its operatives for an adjustment to a lower basis.

Old Time Engineer At Age Of 76 Goes Back To Work On C.N.R.R.

"Although I am now past seventy-six years of age I am working every day, for Tanlac has put me back on the job after I had given up all work and didn't think I could ever get well," recently said C. L. Skinnick, 520 Maryland St., Winnipeg. Mr. Skinnick has spent the greater portion of his life on the sea, being Chief Engineer on several of the largest ocean liners plying the Atlantic. Twenty years ago he gave up the sea, and is now employed as stationary engineer by the Canadian National Railway.

"There is one thing I hope I never have again," he went on, "and that is rheumatism. It simply had the best of me and I was practically helpless. It had started four years before and I was so crippled up I couldn't do a lick of work. My knees were actually as stiff as boards and of mornings I had an awful time trying to get clothes on; why, the pains nearly killed me. My appetite went back on me and I got so I didn't want to eat a thing. I didn't know what a good night's rest meant and I was as weak as a baby.

"But it's all over with now, thank goodness. Tanlac has simply made a clean sweep of all my troubles and I feel like a man made all over again. Those pains have all disappeared and so has that stiffness and I am eating hearty and sleeping fine like I used to years ago. I take pleasure in speaking a good word for Tanlac. It has certainly done great work for me."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggist everywhere.

Lloyd George Says Britain Must Support Treaty

Premier Will Make No Retraction From Statements Regarding Silesia.

London.—Mr. Lloyd George issued a statement reiterating the British attitude toward the Upper Silesian question expressed by him in his recent speech in the House of Commons and disclaiming responsibility for the "distorted reports in the French newspapers."

In the course of the statement, Mr. Lloyd George said: "The fate of Upper Silesia must be decided by the Supreme Council and not by Korfanty."

He continued: "Children of the treaty cannot be allowed to break crockery in Europe with impunity. Somebody must place a restraining hand on them; otherwise there will be continual trouble.

"Great Britain," he added, "cannot consent to stand by while the treaty her representatives signed less than two years ago is being trampled upon."

The prime minister's statement began as follows: "I adhere to the statement I made in the House of Commons on the subject of Silesia. Naturally, I can only accept responsibility for what I actually said and not the truncated and distorted reports in the French newspapers. The almost unanimous approval given by the United States and the Italian, as well as the British press to the sentiments I then expressed, shows that the great nations who stood by the side of France in the war mean to interpret the treaty of Versailles fairly."

Crowds Jeer London Radicals

Meeting Broken Up By Cheers For King and Queen.

London.—The temper of the people toward the Communists who were permitted to preach their doctrines here unhindered, was shown by an incident in Trafalgar Square the other day.

After the strains of the "Red Flag" had been started at a Communist meeting, a former officer, wounded so badly he could scarcely stand, stood up in front of the crowd numbering several thousand, and called for cheers for the King.

The response to his appeal was ear-splitting. This so enraged one of the women members of the Communist crowd that she rushed upon the officer and cuffed him roundly. Therefore he called for three cheers for the Queen, the Prince of Wales and finally for law and order.

This broke up the meeting.

May Get Share Of First Payment

Canada Entitled to Portion of Reparations Money.

Ottawa.—A small proportion of the first German payment on reparations may come to Canada. The payment of 150,000,000 gold marks made, will, it is stated here, be applied to the cost of the Allied army of occupation. As Canada contributed a small number of men to the army of occupation for a short time immediately after the armistice, she may be the recipient of an amount partially to cover her expenditure.

Soldiers Take Places Of Women Clerks

Government Offices in Rome Taking On Disabled Men.

Rome.—The Association of Soldiers disabled in the war has invaded the offices of the state railways throughout Italy, with the object of preventing women from continuing their work.

At meetings, in which men clerks participated, it was decided to continue the agitation until all of the 5,000 disabled men who had applied for posts had been substituted for women clerks in government offices. The agitation is spreading.

The disabled men propose that only such women clerks should be retained in Government service as can prove that they are compelled to earn a living and can find no other occupation.

U. S. Objects To Salmon Treaty

Declare It Would Benefit Canadian Fishermen Only.

Washington.—The pending treaty between the United States and Great Britain to regulate sockeye salmon fishing in the waters of British Columbia and the state of Washington would operate to the benefit of the Canadian fishermen and the injury of United States fishermen, the senate foreign relations committee was told by Governor Hart, of Washington, and Senator Jones, of the same state.

The witnesses declared that the treaty would regulate fishing only in part of Canadian waters, while it would restrict fishing in all Washington sockeye waters. Governor Hart said the state of Washington had enacted new laws, which would protect the salmon.

Danger Point in Fruit Prices

The danger point in fruit prices is reached when the nett returns received fall below the cost of production.

This year there is every reason to expect a considerable drop in fruit prices as compared with 1920, and in order to keep well above the danger point fruit growers must reduce the cost of production. Unfortunately this is a difficult matter.

Labor is only slightly lowered. Spray material shows no reduction in price, and there are such big carry over stocks of paper, boxes and other supplies that fruit packages will cost nearly as much as in 1920.

It seems certain, therefore, that the margin of safety between success and failure will be slight, and it is apparent that the danger point can be avoided only by the most careful judgment in selecting a marketing agency.

We have the marketing connection, and the ability to secure for you the highest obtainable prices. In addition, we have perfected a system of prompt payments without pooling, which guarantees that you will receive what your produce sells for unreduced by amounts to cover pooling or other unlooked for losses.

It is obvious that you cannot afford for this 1921 season to pass up the opportunity we offer you of securing the highest prices foe your produce.
