VOL. XIV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1922 No. 3

Generous Public Works Program

Wm. Ramsay of Nelson, provincial public works engineer for West Kootenay, who was here on an official visit last week, has completed plans for extensive road and bridge improvements in the Valley area, provided the appropriation for this effort this year is as generous as requested. While he is hopeful the annual grant will be adequate nothing definite can be obtained until Hon. Dr. Sutherland, the new minister of public works, assumes office at the end of the month, and has time to investigate this feature of the department's operations.

A new bridge is to be put in over the Goat River on the Mission road, and the structure will be a substantial one, and put in on the K.V. right of way unless immediate word is received that the Great Northern will again be using the abandoned roadbed.

The appropriation for hard-surface road construction will not be less than last year, and it may be even more generous in view of the fact that the Ottawa authorities have approved of the highway already built and the 40 per cent. of the cost guaranteed by the federal authorities should very shortly be paid over to the provincial treasurer. If the Dominion 40 per cent. is utilized during 1922 funds for the completion of at least two miles of this high class highway will be at the disposal of the engineer.

With approximately two feet of frost in the ground Mr. Ramsay appreciates the difficulty there will be this spring getting the main roads in shape when the frost goes out, but plans are already made for an early start with drags and graders at all points so that the same good travelling may be available this spring as was the case a year ago.

An early start will also be made to complete the road diversion at the Simister hill, which was commenced late last fall but had to be abandoned owing to the earlier-than-expected arrival of winter weather. Mr. Ramsay has also assured that attention will be paid to the board of trade's request for a six foot railing on the ferry. At present the side guards are only five feet and some of the cattlemen hesitate to bring stock across until a six-foot railing is placed on the scow.

When seen by the president of the board of trade Mr. Ramsay stated that if the Idaho authorities succeed in having the north and south auto tourist road routed via Bonners Ferry and Porthill, undoubtedly his department would provide a first-class connecting link from the international boundary to Creston. In fact, if it were desired, and the traffic warranted it, he saw no reason why the old K.V. roadbed should not be utilized for such tourist highway. About two years ago Mr. Ramsay walked the right-of-way from Porthill to Creston and a rough estimate would be $3000 a mile to make that route the finest kind of an auto road.

Erickson

M. R. Palmer has the lumber on the ground for the erection of a combined residence and retail store on Main street which, we hear, will be occupied as a shoe repair shop.

Miss Telford left the latter part of the week on a visit to friends at Vancouver and coast points.

W. Percival of Yahk was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dodds.

Tuesday was the biggest apple shipping day of the year, when about 300 boxes went out in the heated car. As indicating the need for increased station accommodation it might be noted that this quantity of fruit filled the waiting room and agent's office to capacity—the freight shed not being usable in the cold weather.

Staples Fruit Co., Ltd., have taken into stock this week a car of fertilizer, for which quite large individual orders have been placed by Erickson ranchers.

J. M. Craigie got back from Cranbrook on Monday where he had been visiting his son, Eric, in the hospital at that point, and who is getting along nicely, and expected home in about a week.

Five of the seven acres of the J. W. Spence ranch has just been sold to Mr. Bean, of Red Deer, Alta., who has been on a visit here for some time with his brother-in-law, H. Brownrigg. This is the improved acreage of the place, on which he will erect a house almost immediately.

Eric Craigie, who left on Feb. 12th to take a job in the mill at Wycliffe had the sad misfortune to lose his left eye while at work the second day after starting on the job. A knot from a board he was putting through the trimmer did the damage, and he was immediately rushed to Cranbrook hospital where the injured eye was removed the following day.

Lister

Peter McKay, who has been working at Kimberley for almost the past seven months, is spending a few days this month at his ranch here.

Rev. R. H. Roper was here on Sunday morning to take the Methodist church service in connection with Pastor Knox.

Mrs. A. W. Brain spent a few days at Cranbrook last week visiting her husband who is still a patient in the hospital there, and whose condition remains much the same as ever.

C. H. Phillips was a business visitor at Cranbrook and Kimberley a few days last week.

A Sinclair, F. Bagshaw and Gus Charleson left a few days ago for Kimberley, where they have taken work in the mining operations at that point.

Harry Vernon akd Sam Lazachuk are busy moving the small houses which they puechased from the mill-site to their permanent new locations.

Jos. Bell and M. Williams were at Cranbrook early in the week for a district G.W.V.A. conference with Messrs. Drinnan and McNeil, the provincial and dominion secretarys of that organization.

Some of the settlers are taking on contracts to slash and burn land along the main Creston-Lister road, and at $30 an acre are making pretty good wages on the job.

January report of Lister school is as follows: Division I.: Senior Fourth: Attendance—Jenny Chalmers. Rank, Murielle Millington, Ernest Stevens, Jenny Chalmers. Junior Fourth—Attendance—Clara Little. Rank—Clara Little. Ronald Brain. Senior Third: Attendance—Frances Malthouse, Cora Frampton, Doris Millington, Jack Jory. Canyon City

Pruning operations have commenced in this section, with the John Wood ranch the first to make the start.

Evangelist Roper preached at the Methodist service here on Sunday aftnoon. Seven of the converts he made at the two weeks' revival at Creston were residents of Canyon City.

Tom Hickey, who is on the road buying furs for a Calgary firm, was a week-end visitor at his home here, having just come in from a trip through the Windermere country.

Mr. Sheen, who has retired as engineer at the mill, and is going away on a combined pleasure and business trip, has sold his ranch property here, next the McInnes place, to Alfred Nelson who, we hear, is going extensively into livestock.

Norman Craigie of Creston is a permanent resident here now, being Mr. Sheen's successor as engineer at the mill.

The mild weather the last two days of the week took away much of the sleighing and in consequence log hauling has been less speedy, though frosty weather since has partially saved the day.

Mr. Austinstad, who has been millwright here for the past three years, has resigned his position and left for Vancouver a few days ago.

Saturday night's session of the United Farmers was a practical business meeting throughout and among the moves decided upon was a request to the Dominion government that Canyon City be given rural mail delivery, or if this is not practicable at this time that a postoffice be opened here. The provincial government will also be asked to regrade road leading in from the schoolhouse to Calgary Heights from the school, or else provide a diversion that would be even more satisfactory as it would pretty well do away with the grade complained of. The meeting threshed out the question of having the couple of hours of sociability at the close of the regular sessions, and by quite a good majority vote it was decided to continue this most enjoyable feature. The new entertainment committee selected consists of Misses Jessie Hickey and Annie McRobb and Messrs. Young and Huygens.

Wynndel

Wynndel Athletic Club had its first dance of the season at the Clubhouse on Saturday night. It was a most successful affair, and the entertainment committee is to be congratulated on their effort. The music was by Andestad brothers jazz orchestra and was of a very high order. The floor was crowded all evening, and it was with regret that the dance was brought to a finish about 3 a.m. About $10 was netted the club treasury.

Misses Bliss and Messrs. Barraclough and West of Creston were visitors here on Saturday, taking in the big dance, and all appear to have thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Don't forget the Sunday School concert in the Clubhouse on Friday, March 3rd. A fine programme has been arranged, and a good time for all is anticipated. Prices are right at adults 35 cents; children under 15 25 cents, and everybody welcome.

Mrs. T. Sadler, who has been at Coleman with her daughter, who has been very sick, returned home on Thursday, her daughter's health, we are glad to say, has very much improved.

Dr. Henderson of Creston was here on a professional visit on Sunday.

Wynndel Athletic Club holds its meeting every Wednesday evening in the Clubhouse. All those interested will be very welcome, and as the membership charge is but $1.50 a year, the club would like to sign up all the young fellows in the community. Ladies are also admitted at 50 cents a year. Come and see us. The club offers you something worth while.

The United Farmers are having a dance in the Clubhouse, Saturday night, February 25th, at 8 o'clock. Gents 50 cents, ladies please bring refreshments. Ladies not bringing lunch will be charged 25 cents. Everybody welcome.

Keep your eyes open for the announcement of the Athletic Club hard-times dance on Saturday, March 11th. Full particulars later.

M. Hagen has had a team and man working on filling in the pier of the bridge over Winlaw's channel with rocks, so that high water will not carry the structure away.

Ken. Dewar is again working on his barn, and is determined to complete it this time.

The Co-Operative Store shareholders had their annual meeting in the small schoolhouse on Saturday night, at which officers for 1922 were elected and the year's business mapped out.

West Creston

The Sunday freeze-up following the thaw of two days previous has saved the day for the fuel haulers. More wood has been marketed from West Creston this year than for at least half a dozen seasons past.

J. Bliss is the last of the East Creston haymakers to finish feed hauling. He took his last load home on Saturday from the Reclamation Farm.

West Creston loses a good citizen in the departure at the end of the week of Frank Tompkins and family for Porthill, where he intends to make his home in future. He has been in charge of the Reclamation Farm for the past four years, and was immensely popular with all who knew him.

The snowfall in the hills is very light this year, and unless a great deal more of it comes soon there is not much likelihood of high water on the flats this season.

Mrs. C. C. French left the latter part of the week on a visit to friends at Grand Forks.

The rumor that the Great Northern is to re-lay steel on the K.V. line is not taken seriously here. It would seem one of the main reasons for again operating is to get the ore trade from the Bayonne mines, but if this is the case the most likely thing would be to build a line on the west side of the river and tap the mines direct.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Government Liquor Store

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—Referring to your editorial of February 10th, under the above caption, the impression of many who voted on the question understood that the Government would control Liquor down rather than up.

More-over there are many in this vicinity who do not want to be implicated in the sale of liquor, though they voted for Government control.

Again, there were many who voted for Government control who were not heads of families and who were not responsible for the moral welfare of the rising geneaation; and it is on behalf of these that we demand British fair play.

As to your criticism of the letter to the Womens' Institute we wish to state that they acted entirely on their own good judgment with their resolution before them, which was to oppose a liquor store being placed in Creston. The important matter is not so much who were the Citizens Committee, but rather the issue they have taken up.

As to the Citizens Committee, this was organized for the purpose of opposing a resolution which we feel would not have been for the best moral interest o the community.

We appreciate your reference, as to the usefulness of a citizens committee, and we wish to assure you, and your readers that our one aim and purpose is to help build up a better moral community, and a nobler citizenship.

Citizens' Committee.

Will Put 6-Foot Railing on Ferry

There was a fine turnout of members for the February meeting of Creston Board of Trade on Tuesday night last, which was in charge of President Hayes. The feature to quite an accumulation of correspondence was the large number of enquiries regarding Valley lands, as well as for business openings in town—among the latter being one from a dentist in Montreal, who is desirous of permanently locating in Creston, and another from a wholesale hay and feed concern in Alberta that has designs on establishing a branch here.

For the annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern B.C., which meets in Nelson this week, C. O. Rodgers and Major Mallandaine were selected as delegates, and the latter along with ex-president Bevan and secretary Garland were named a committee to draft resolutions to submit to the gathering. The president and Messrs. Bennett and Garland were selected to name the board's standing committees for this year, and on request of the Ratepayers' Association Mr. Garland was chosen as the board's delegate on the enlarged Ratepayer's Association executive which, among other things, will likely be tackling rural municipilization for Creston Valley at a very early date.

Correspondence from Bonners Ferry Commercial Club indicated that a considerable stretch of the north and south road from that town to the Canadian boundary will be put down this year and it was intimated that to ensure that this U.S. tourist highway would be routed via Porthill it would be needful to have something definite on the B.C. authorities intention to build a good connecting highway from Creston to Porthill, otherwise the road might be diverted via Eastport and Kingsgate. As both Dr. King, former minister of public works, and Engineer Ramsay had previously assured that the necessary connection would be given from Creston, Mr. Ramsay will be written to asking for a confirmation of these conversations. $100 was voted to defray Creston's share of the expenses of issuing literature and operating the Southern B.C. and Sunny Southern Alberta Tourist Association, the headquarters of which is at Fernie.

A resolution that brought out a very full and frank discussion was one submitted by Major Mallandaine, which requests that the provincial government re-establish the former office of assistant government agent at Creston. Mr. Mallandaine pointed out that the office building and equipment is still here and that the new official would be kept quite busy collecting trading licenses and poll tax, issuing motor and big game and trapping and shooting licenses, officiating as deputy mining recorder, issuer of marriage licenses, as well as deputy asseesor and collector for the Valley area. With such an official here much better service in some of these lines would be given, and that divested of many of these odd jobs the provincial police officer would be able to devote a great deal more of his time to the work of game warden particularly.

Kitchener

Mr. and Mrs. Robilard of Canyon City were Kitchener visitors on Sunday.

Mrs. E. Driffil spent the week-end at her home in Creston.

Rev. J. A. James of Creston was here on Sunday for the usual fortnightly Presbyterian service.

T. Campbell of Canyon City was a between-trains visitor here on Sunday.

Misses Laura and Ellen Andeen returned on Sunday from spending the week-end at Cranbrook.

Mrs. McGonegal and daughter, Vera, spent a few days last week with friends at Creston.

J. Langlois was a business visitor at Erickson on Friday.

The Saskatchewan Legislature

The Legislatures of the three Prairie Provinces meet in session, as a rule, about the same time each year, but while those of Alberta and Manitoba are still in session at the time of writing, Saskatchewan's law makers have completed their labors. At this time, to an even greater extent than is usually the case, members of the Legislative Assembly in all three Provinces are confronted with many of the same problems, and it will be a matter of some interest, therefore, to follow the course pursued by the several bodies in grappling with the difficulties which confront them in common.

Foremost among the problems which demanded attention at Regina, and which likewise call for consideration at Winnipeg and Edmonton, is that of finance. In other words, devising ways and means whereby a sufficient revenue can be raised to meet necessary expenditures, or, on the contrary, so reducing expenditures without seriously interfering with efficiency in administration and without neglecting the needs of the country, as to bring the Provincial budget within the total of revenue obtainable.

In the Prairie Provinces, Provincial Treasurers are badly handicapped when it comes to increasing revenues as the instruments for so doing that are available to them are few in number and limited in their operations. Unlike the older Provinces, the Prairie Provinces do not enjoy ownership and control of their natural resources, nor is there that accumulated wealth in this new country which is to be found in the older settled parts of Canada and which through succession duties and corporation taxes is made to yield a substantial Provincial revenue. Ontario, for example, is reported to have profited to the extent of $4,500,000 from succession duties alone this year, where as the amount so obtainable in Saskatchewan is a mere bagatelle.

It was natural, therefore, that the Saskatchewan Legislature should again and most vigorously voice a demand for the transfer of the natural resources of the Provinces to the local Government, and the sister Prairie Provinces can be depended upon to join in the demand. Such a transfer must soon be effected if a serious financial situation is not to become acute, and a still stronger feeling of irritation against the older Provinces develop because of a sense of the injustice now suffered by the West.

Nothing startling in the way of augmenting the revenue was considered in Saskatchewan; rather an attempt was forecasted of endeavoring to reduce expenditures to the lowest possible point consistent with efficiency and proper administration. The idea of imposing a Provincial income tax has not met with favor in Saskatchewan in view of the fact that it would mean a triple income tax, such taxes being already levied by the Dominion and city and town municipalities.

A second outstanding problem which demanded attention at Regina, and is also to the fore in the Provinces to the east and west, was the proper enforcement of the prohibitory liquor laws. Demands were made on the Government to abandon the present Saskatchewan Temperance Act and to revert to the policy of restricted sale of liquor by the Government itself. To all such demands the Government and Legislature turned a deaf ear, and the view prevailed and was overwhelmingly sustained that every effort should be put forth to give the Act a fair trial. The result was the passage of numerous amendments all designed to further strengthen the Act and close the loopholes through which the lawbreaker could escape and the bootlegger practice his many and devious devices.

By resolution the Legislature reaffirmed its position on the Customs tariff by demanding a general lowering of duties on article of prime necessity to the agricultural producer. Unquestionably there was much force in the contention of D. H. McDonald, of North Qu'Appelle, that, inasmuch as the tariff is subject to Federal jurisdiction and control exclusively, the Legislature was going outside its domain in passing upon it, and in taking such a stand he occupied sound constitutional ground. However, the tariff is no longer a partizan question in Saskatchewan, but is now regarded purely as an economic issue. As such the present Saskatchewan Legislature, like its predecessors, felt that it should, as the only body entitled to speak for the whole Province, officially declare its views inasmuch as the tariff undoubtedly has a direct and profound effect on the agricultural prosperity of the Province. The declaration for tariff reduction was, therefore, dealt with in the same spirit and from the same economic point of view as the demand for lower freight rates. Entrusted with promoting the welfare of the Province, the Legislature spoke the mind of the people on these questions.

Taken as a whole, the session was uneventful. An unusually large number of Bills were considered, but these, for the most part, were for the purpose of amending existing statutes as experience in their administration had demonstrated to be necessary. Unlike preceding sessions, there was no officially organized and recognized Opposition party. Nevertheless, there was close watch maintained upon all Government legislation, constructive criticism offered, and the necessary and effective spur provided to keep the Government careful in its handling of public business.

Child Welfare Nurse Accompanies Mixed Farming Special Train

A new feature has been added to the mixed farming special train now touring Alberta. The Public Health Department of the Alberta Government has sent a child welfare nurse of the department, to join the staff of lecturers on the train. This nurse will give lectures on child welfare work and will also examine any children presented to her with respect to general physical condition. She will be prepared to discuss any matters of health which may be suggested by the audience on the train. The special train has been meeting with wonderful success.

Canada Offers Advantages

Needs of Dominion for Increase in Population is Shown

Sir Augustus M. Nanton, of Winnipeg, speaking at a Canadian gathering in London, said that one of Canada's greatest needs was an increase of population. He regretted there was so little mutual trading between Canada and the United Kingdom, Canadian products, he said, came to the British Isles in very meagre quantities.

The action of the United States in increasing her tariff against Canada, said Sir Augustus, rendered the time never more opportune for Great Britain to capture Canadian trade.

A suggestion that British manufacturers should establish themselves in Canada with branch plants from which to handle world trade was made by Sir Augustus. These plants would give some of Britain's unemployed population work in the healthiest climate, and this arrangement would to some extent lighten the drain on British coal.

It was an error, said the speaker, to think that immigration would take care of itself. He hoped that the governments of both countries would work together to prevent the foreign element in Canada increasing by an undue percentage.

Sir Augustus said Canada ought to have adequate representation in London, with the staff there properly housed.

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy, blustery weather which we have during February and March is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them in the house. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep its stomach and bowels working regularly. This will not fail to break up colds and keep the health of the baby in good condition till the brighter days come along. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville ,Ont.

Presiding at a conference of poor law guardians in London, the Duke of Devonshire, former governor-general of Canada, pointed out that there was no established poor law, as such, anywhere in Canada. He advised Canadians never to allow such a condition to grow up in their country that would entail the institution of poor law administration.

The Duke said that a considerable proportion of the population in Canada owned their houses, and this contributed greatly to the welfare and prosperity of the Canadians.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practised medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alterative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Norris Government Wins Out Over Its New Land Policy

Winnipeg.—So far from coming to grief over its new land policy, the Norris Government in the legislature won out with an ease that was not expected by even the most sanguine of supporters.

The Talbot amendment for special consideration for municipalities affected was thrown out by 37 to 6, and the Dixon amendment condemning the Government for its past policy of leniency in connection with contracts was defeated, 34 to 9.

The resolution proposed by Premier T. C. Norris provides for foreclosure on lands in the event of arrears of principal and interest not being paid within six months. The Premier had previously stated, however, that cancellation in six months for arrears of principal would be drastic action, and he again suggested that the resolution should be modified in such a way that it would apply to arrears of interest only and that returned soldiers should be among those exempt.

Hon. H. T. Johnson, attorney-general, moved an amendment giving effect to these changes, and the debate was adjourned.

Alberta Moderation League

Edmonton.—A delegation representing the Moderation League of Alberta met Premier Greenfield and members of the Alberta Cabinet to ask that the Government take into consideration the sale of seven per cent. beer by hotels and other places, and that the sale of hard liquor be placed under strict Government control.

He Gained Twenty Pounds in a Year

That's Why This Man Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. Carl Boutelier of Mason's Point After Four Years Suffering Took the Advice of a Friend and Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mason's Point, Heart of St. Margaret's Bay, N.S.—(Special).—"When I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I was twenty-three years old and weighed 105 lbs. In one year I gained 20 lbs." This is the statement of Mr. Carl Boutelier, a well known and highly respected resident of this place. It is one more addition to the great mass of evidence that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest of all kidney remedies.

"I was laid up for four years with kidney trouble." Mr. Boutelier states further: "One day a friend advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and I made up my mind to give them a trial. I used just six boxes in all."

The road to health lies through the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well all the impurities are strained out of the blood. But if they are weak and out of order the impurities stay in the blood and disease is sure to result.

Ask your neighbors if Dodds Kidney Pills do not make strong healthy kidneys.

Soil Drifting Problem

Wheat Growing Should Be Abandoned For Mixed Farming

Winnipeg.—Until farmers in districts where soil drifting is prevalent will abandon wheat growing to the exclusion of mixed farming, the task of keeping drains open will be almost impossible, and as a means of forcing a change in methods farmers should be charged with the expense of such repair work. H. A. Bowman, head of the reclamation department of the Provincial Government, stated in a statement presented to the minister of public works.

The report points out that under these conditions it is impossible to carry on repair work with horses, and no machine to do it has been invented.

Mr. Bowman also recommends legislation to control the load which can be carried on gravelled roads by motor trucks.

For Return of Natural Resources

Planning Preliminaries for Appointment of Arbitration Board

Regina.—A dispatch to the Leader says that probabilities now point strongly to the appointment of a commission or arbitration board to make a full accounting as a preliminary to the return to the western provinces of their natural resources. The King Government readily concedes the equity of the western claims. The question, however, is one of terms. It will be necessary to value the lands which would be turned over and those which have been alienated and to ascertain what Federal administration has cost. Moreover, the subsidy question will come up for determination as to whether it should be continued to the full extent after the return of the resources. There are various other aspects of the case.

Persia to Have Air Mail Service

Will Save Fourteen Days Between Cairo and Bagdad

Washington.—Mails from the U.S. via Cairo to Bagdad and points in Northern Persia hereafter will be transported by aircraft under an agreement authorized by the U.S. post office department with British postal authorities. The new service will save 14 days or more between Cairo and Bagdad, the official announcement says, and the rate will be 15 cents an ounce additional expense to the postal rate.

Nervous Breakdown

COULDN'T SLEEP NIGHTS

To those on the verge of a nervous breakdown the following symptoms present themselves; nervous headaches, a feeling of depression, fitful, disturbed, restless and unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with frightful dreams, avoidance of crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too, and on the first signs of any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown do not wait until your case becomes hopeless, but get a remedy that will at once quieten the nerves, strengthen the heart and build up the entire system.

This you will find in

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. M. Damgand, Young's Cove Road, N.B., writes:—"I was bothered very much with my heart and nerves; had nervous headaches and dizziness, could not sleep at nights, and my appetite was all gone. I was on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better and would advise anyone who has nerve trouble to take them."

Cattle Feed Scarce In North Dakota

Serious Condition In Southwestern Part of State

Fargo, N.D.—Fifty per cent. of the cattle in the drought-stricken counties of the southwestern part of North Dakota will die before spring if feed relief is not secured, according to advices received by the state agricultural college here.

County agents are considering a drive of cattle to the bad lands northward, where the range is better. A foot of snow on the ground, combined with entire lack of feed under the snow makes it almost impossible for cattle to exist. Efforts are under way to provide some means of relief.

Grain Growers Will Enter Political Field In Saskatchewan

Regina.—The following resolution on entry into provincial politics was passed by the Saskatchewan Grain Growers Association at their convention here:

"Whereas we hold it to be the duty of all citizens to interest themselves in all matters of government and to express themselves by the exercise of their franchise in elections; and whereas for effectual expression they must group themselves according to the principles and purposes they hold in common; and where as while facilities have been provided for expression of our common principles federally, no such provision has been made provincially; therefore, be it resolved that this convention favors taking the necessary steps to provide for the organization of the supporters of these principles and objects for provincial election purposes."

That the Parliament of Canada should immediately re-establish the Canada Wheat Board for the purpose of handling the 1922 crop of Canada and future crops until normal conditions again prevail, and that the board should be under the direction of the chairman and vice-chairman of the original wheat board, was a further resolution which was virtually unanimously accepted by the delegates.

Shareholders Agree To Absorption

Willing to Accept Offer of Bank of Montreal

Montreal.—The Bank of Montreal shareholders at a meeting here ratified the proposition placed before them by the board of directors to take over the Merchants' Bank of Canada.

The meeting also sanctioned an increase in the capital stock of the Bank of Montreal of not more than 60,000 shares, as may be necessary to enable the exchange to be carried out according to the terms of the purchase.

The Merchants' Bank shareholders voted to accept the offer of the Bank of Montreal last Wednesday. The Merchants' Bank was compelled to seek a purchaser when its reserve was impaired by bad loans.

The Bank of Montreal will give one share of its stock for two of Merchants and $10 a share for $1,550,000. The deal requires only the sanction of the minister of finance to become complete.

Date For Consistory

Rome.—Pope Pius has not yet announced his decision regarding the next consistory, but it is still believed that his first consistory will occur in April or May, when the new cardinals already decided upon by the late Pope Benedict will be created. It is not expected here that any new American cardinals will be created at this consistory.

At Greenwood it would appear, strangers and newcomers have to be good rustlers socially if their desire is to get their money's worth at entertainments of the everybody-welcome-at-so-much-per person sort in that town. In fact the situation has become so chronic that the Ledge is constrained to enter a timely protest, after this fashion: "Greenwood cannot hold a successful dance without depending upon those who come from the surrounding country. Yet when these people take the trouble to come to Greenwood to enjoy themselves the Greenwood dancers should show a little courtesy to their visitors by dancing with them and not sticking to one click. At the dance on Friday night there were several visitors who did not get a dance with a Greenwoodite and several visiting gentlemen did not receive an introduction to any of the Gaeenwood ladies.

At Kaslo Methodist Pastor Hughes is demanding that the city council refuse to accept from the provincial treasurer the $440 which constisutes Kaslo's share of the first four months' profits on government control of the liquor business in B.C. As it is specifically provided that this money must be spent equally on hospitals and schools naturally the cleric's motion has not been seconded so far as we learn. Should, however, the public conscience at the north end of the riding become so Hughes-ized as to render acceptance of the "liquid" assets inadvisable, here's hoping John Keen will see to it that Creston has first call on the unclaimed funds. With the prospect of having to this year add another teacher to the public school staff and possibly make the local high school a two-room affair, we fancy the Creston conscience would hardly be as delicate as that reflected by Pastor Hughes. And after his court of revision experience we feel sure that at least Assessor Ferguson will concur in these sentiments.

In connection with local orchard grafting operations from this time forth another orchardist calls attention to the fact that it is high time some considerable attention was given to top working into the real late winter varieties of apples. At the present time with a Valley orchard planting of approximately 100,000 almost bearing trees at least 53,000 of these are of three varieties—Wagner, Wealthy and McIn-Red. What is wanted badly is more Rome Beauty, Black Twigg, and such late keepers as these. In the marketing of fruit it is found that many merchants are in the market for carloads of apples which will supply their needs for a whole year, and to satisfy them it is necessary to have a quantity of the real late varieties for spring selling. As at present constituted the Valley orchards are away short when it comes to supplying apples for after-March retailing, and unless this deficiency is remedied the marketing problem can hardly fail to be aggrevated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Government Liquor Store

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—Please permit me space to reply briefly to your editorial in the Review of February 10th, re a Government liquor store, commenting on the action of Canyon Local of the United Farmers and Creston Women's Institute in passing resolutions against the establishment of a Government liquor store in Creston.

I do not think that with the Canyon United Farmer local action was taken under any mistaken idea that the people of Creston Valley, in October, 1920, voted either "wet" or "dry," but rather for Government control.

When Premier Oliver was addressing Creston people he was asked if he was willing to state how his government proposed to control the sale of intoxicating liquor. His answer was, that it was too soon to say—the matter was under consideration. Yes, I think, that was just it; too soon.

The people of British Columbia did vote "dry" a few years ago, and I believe that those voters who helped to roll up the majority you speak of did so because they were fed up to the point of disgust with Moderation League propaganda. Every big or little whiskey-running, boot legging episode was given a prominent place in most of our daily and weekly papers, and hashed and rehashed until the people came to think it might be better to have a restricted sale under government control.

Don't make the mistake, Mr. Editor, to suppose the people voted 'wet," at least not intentionally; these same people, I am confident, had no idea that the government meant to degrade their official usefulness by turning bartender, and open up a place in every town, village and hamlet.

As one of the derelict Citizens Committee who went into nearly every house in Canyon with the opposition list canvassing signatures against the establishment of a Government liquor store in Creston, I will state that I went into homes where I did not expect they would sign, for I knew by discussion a year ago that they would and did vote for government control, believing at that time it was well nigh impossible to enforce the prohibition "dry" law, and that it might be a good move to see what this government control would do, and so when I produced my list and explained my business fully, expecting to be told there was nothing doing, I was met with, "Give me the pencil; let me sign quick," and altogether the readiness to sign was a surprise.

Now, Mr. Editor, what made these people, according to your view-point, change their minds. Well, I am satisfied that by the reception I received from the actual residents and taxpayers of Canyon, and these signatures amounted to sixty as against half a dozen refusals, that these same people did not vote "wet" a year ago. If the government of B.C. thinks so, they will live to see their mistake. To think that voting for government control meant "wet" is certainly a mistake. The people are not so radical as to believe in the public ownershiy and operation of not public utility, but a curse that, until recent years, has been conducted under private ownership and management. The only argument that I have encountered in favor of the establishment of a Government liquor store in Creston is that it would be good business from a financial standpoint.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918 Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Local and Personal

The ladies of Holy Cross Church already have preparations under way for a bigger and better 17th of March celebration, which will be in the shape of a whist drive and dance in the Parish Hall.

Capt. Venus and Ted Mawson were at Cranbrook on Tuesday for a G.W.V.A. conference, which was addressed by Messrs. McNeill and Drinnan, the Dominion and provincial secretaries of the Veterans organizations.

Miss A. Comfort, whose resignation as teacher of the primary room of Creston school took effect on the 15th, is succeeded by Miss Verreau, who arrived from Vancouver on Thursday and took over the work the following day.

Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Crosthwait will be hostesses at a silver tea at the Bennett home on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 25th, from 3 to 5.30 under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church, to which all the ladies are invited.

Staples Fruit Co., Ltd., loaded out a straight car of apples here on Tuesday containing a little better than 700 boxes of Delicious and Jonathan. The estimate is that hardly 1000 boxes of last year's apple crop now in the growers' hands.

Mrs. Dow and Mrs. Henderson are at Trail this week attending the spring meeting of the Kootenay presbyterial, which is in semi-annual session in the smelter city. Mrs. Dow will go on to Summerland for a short visit before returning.

The Grand had a fine house on Wednesday night for the first 1922 appearance of Charlie Chaplin, who made a tremendous hit in "The Kid." The next attraction is "Conflict," which will be screened here on Wednesday, March 15th.

Notice to Delinquent Co-Owners

Regarding the Sullivan Group of Mineral Claims

Notice is hereby given that I, John A. Sullivan, co-owner with M. J. Dyer, Hannah E. Larson and Charles Hanson, or any person to whom they may have transferred an interest in the following claims: Canadian Copper, Golden Copper, Yellow Metal, Diamond Cross, Larson, Sullivan and Alice, recorded at Nelson by me, unless the said M. J. Dyer, Hannah E. Larson and Charles Hanson, or any person to whom they may have transferred an interest within the period of ninety days from this notice, pay to me the sums shown herewith, said sums being due for work done on, and expenses incurred in connection with, the development of the above-mentioned claims, as follows:

M. J. Dyer, $76.00.
Charles Hanson, $35.00.

for this year's assessment work, from 1920 to 1921, on said mineral claims, together with all costs of this advertisement; and for the years' assessment work from 1918 to 1921, on said mineral claims, together with all costs of this advertisement.

And further take notice that unless these sums are paid within the time above stated your interests in the said claims will become vested in me, your co-owner, who has made the required expenditures on said mineral claims, under Sections 28 and 48 of the Mineral Act.

Dated at Kitchener, B.C., December 27, 1921. J. A. SULLIVAN.

are always to be had here. In meats nothing quite equals 'Shamrock' products.

P. BURNS & CO., Ltd.

Eskimo Pie, the very latest confectionery creation, at Norris Bakery this week. This is ice cream in a chocalate coating, put up after the fashion of a chocolate bar, and is certainly a rare treat.

Invitations went out the first of the week for the Masonic at-home on Friday evening, March 3rd, in the Parish Hall, with cards to start at 8.30 precisely. Caterer Norris is putting on the supper, and the music for the dance will be by Mrs. Foreman and Alex. Lidgate.

To-night's Red Cross benefit concert at the Grand Theatre commences at 8.30 prompt, and an admission fee of 25 cents has been fixed for children under 8 years of age. The programme is the best local talent affair ever gotten up in Creston, and will certainly be too good too miss.

The biggest entirely local effort in the banquet line will undoubtedly be the Women's Istitute spread in the Parish Hall on Tuesday night, which will be open to the husbands of the Institute members—which number in the neighborhood of 75 at present. Supper will start at 6.30.

Rev. R. H. Roper closed his two weeks' revival meeting campaign in the Methodist Church on Sunday, the edifice being crowded to the doors to take care of the crowd out to hear his final address. In the neighborhood of 21 conversions are recorded as a result of the special meetings.

A sleighing party of about eighteen young and middle aged citizens made the trip to Sirdar on Friday night, where they were unexpected guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loasby, and the best evidence thet can be offered as to the fine time they had is that the crowd did not get home until almost 6 a.m.

Lent starts on Wednesday next, and during its seven weeks' duration there will be a series of special services in Christ Church, included in which are Tuesday afternoon services for women, the first of which will be at 3 o'clock, March 7th. For Ash Wednesday the service will be matins and Holy Communion at 10 a.m.

J. J. Smith, manager of the Mason & Risch Piano Co., Nelson, was here on a business trip at the end of the week. He states that the firm's piano trade last year was fully equal to 1920's business. Just now the firm is having a clearing out sale of gramphones at which exceptionally fine prices are offered on these machines, as will be noted by the adyt. elsewhere in this issue.

At the height of her screen career, Priscilla Dean will be seen at the Grand Theatre, on March 15, in "Conflict," the Universal-Jewel feature produced by Stuart Paton. In the role of Dorcas Remalie, Miss Dean enters the story as a pampered child of wealth, who, in accordance with her father's will, is sent to live with an uncle in Big North Woods. Complications of the most dramatic sort enter her life.

Creston was in the grip of another north-east gale Tuesday night, all day Wednesday and during most of Wednesday night, with the mercury registering 1 above zero on Thursday morning. The blow seems to be over now and yesterday climatic conditions were quite normal. Although wintry conditions have prevailed since at least the middle of December local weathermen promise no relief until at least the middle of March.

L. W. Humphrey, of Nelson, West Kootenay's Farmer-Labor M.P., was a Creston visitor on Monday and Tuesday, having a conference with the party executive on Monday afternoon, as well as meeting the citizens generally on Tuesday. Monday night an informal reception was tendered him in Speers Hall, which was attended by all shades of political opinion, and a real fine time was spent with speeches and music, and a lunch supplied by the ladies.

There was a large turnout of growers at the annual meeting of Creston Fruit Growers Union, Ltd., on Thursday afternoon last, the chair being occupied by President W. V. Jackson. Mr. Morrison of the Growers Sales Agency, Calgary, was present, and gave a timely talk on fruit marketing conditions generally throughout 1921, and assured that while the Valley pack of apples continued to show improvement there is still some distance to go before perfection is realized. The election of officers resulted in the choice of Guy Constable, president; W. V. Jackson, vice-president; and Jas. Compton, W. H. Mather, W. Truscott, W. G. Littlejohn and A. D. Pochin, directors. Formal announcement was made of the resignation of Manager Loveday, which took effect at the end of January.

They had been great times—wonderful times—these weeks spent in the freedom and harmony of the Arthurses' household. Mr. and Mrs. Arthurs—Uncle Fred and Aunt Lilian, as she now called them—had opened their hearts and their home to Beulah from the first. Indeed, the girl was often conscious of their gaze upon her, and at times she would look up quickly and surprise a strange, wistful look of yearning in their eyes—a look that they tried very hard to hide from her. They wanted to leave her free to live her own life—to shape her career, for a time at least, wholly in accordance with her impulses.

And such a life as she had lived! Arthurs had at once placed a horse at her diposal, and with a fierce delight at the leap she was taking through conventions she swung her light leg over the saddle and sat to place like any man. Although born and raised on a farm, horseback riding was to her something of a novelty, and the assumption of the masculine position was a positive epoch in her career. How the people of Plainville would have been scandalized if they could have witnessed her shocking familiarity with a horse! She thought of an English girl who had been cut by the good society of Plainville because she dared to ride a biped instead of a mermaid. And she laughed in a wild exultant freedom, while the wind whipped her hair about her shoulders, and she felt her mount firm beneath her as they cantered across the brown foothills.

Such hills they were! In her native plains they would have been mountains of themselves, wonders of Nature to point out to strangers and to hold in a kind of awe across the country-side, but here they were foothills, mere fragments dropped from the trowel of the Builder as He reared the majestic Rockies behind. And though she often in the early morning, or at sunset, or when the moon was full and white, feasted her eyes and her soul on the cold splendor of the mighty range it was to the warm brown foothills, with their stubbling of little trees and their solemn warts of grey-green rock, that her heart turned with something of human affection. At first Uncle Fred, or Aunt Lilian, or, a little later, one of the two cowboys rode with her on her expeditions, but her prairie sense of direction quickly adapted itself to her new surroundings, and she soon learned to keep a keen eye for the precipitous cut-banks that drop sheer from a level plain and lie as unsuspected in the saffron sunlight as a coyote among the ripened willows. There were quicksands, too—spots where the water sprang from the hillside in a crystal stream and in a few yards soaked into the kneady earth as in a sponge—but all these places were fenced; even in Alberta, where cattle grow like rabbits on the range, the paving of sink-holes with beef steers is an expensive expedient. So Beulah quickly got her foothill sense, and in a week was riding, care-free and exultant, across the ranges as her heart listed or her horse preferred.

One morning, just as the first grey of dawn mottled the darkness of her chamber, Beulah heard her door open, and through the uncertain light she discerned Arthurs gently entering with a rifle in his hand. She sat up, alert, but not afraid; the tingling health in her veins left no place for fear and suffered no foolishness on the part of her nervous system.

"What is it, Uncle Fred?" she whispered.

"H-s-h," he cautioned. "You know we have been losing calves with the timber wolves? Well, there are two of the murderers just across from the corral. I thought you might want to see them."

In an instant her feet were on the floor, and, hand in hand, she and Arthurs stole to the window. At first her eyes could distinguish nothing in the darkness, but by following Arthurs' index finger she at last located two gaunt, shaggy creatures a little way up the hillside beyond the corral, and a couple of hundred yards from the house.

"However did you know they were there?" she whispered. "You must have cat's eyes. I could hardly see them when you pointed them out."

"Not cat's eyes, Beulah," he answered. "Just rancher's eyes. I heard the horses snorting, and I fancied there were visitors. Now, will you take first shot?"

"Oh, that would be a shame. They would get away, and besides, I might kill a horse."

"Well, won't press it this time," said Arthurs, "because I have a little personal score to settle with these fellows. I guess I have about five hundred dollars invested in each of them."

The wolves were moving leisurely about on the hillside, showing no disposition to run away, but apparently afraid to approach closer to the ranch buildings. Arthurs leaned his rifle across the window sill and took steady aim, while the girl held her breath with excitement. Then there was a quick flash, that shut the scene momentarily from their eyes; the next moment they saw one of the wolves leap into the air and fall, a sprawling mass, upon the ground, while the other darted with the speed of a greyhound toward the neighbouring bushes. Arthurs followed him with a bullet, but even so fine a marksman could have found him only by chance in that uncertain light.

"Well, I guess there's a widow in Wolfville this morning," said Arthurs, as he leisurely threw the discharged cartridge from the barrel. "My apologies, Miss Beulah, for this somewhat unconventional call and the interruption of your beauty sleep."

But Beulah was standing, wrapped in admiration. "Oh, Uncle Fred," she exclaimed. "You're just wonderful. If I could only shoot like that!"

"It's all a matter of training," he told her. "Of course, you must have good eyes and steady nerves, but you have those already. The rifle is yours whenever you want it, and all the ammunition you can carry. There's just one stipulation—for the first week shoot only at foothills, and, remember, aim low."

So Beulah became a rifle enthusiast, and it astonished her how rapidly she improved in marksmanship. With a little instruction from Arthurs and the cowboys in the matter of sighting and holding her weapon, she developed quickly from a stage of dangerous uncertainty in her gunnery to one of almost expert accuracy. Then she made of the rifle a companion on her horseback excursions, to the destruction of gophers, rabbits and even a badger and a coyote It was a brave day when she rode into the corral with a coyote strung across her saddle.

The river near by teemed with trout, and the girl soon caught the fascination of the angler Mrs. Arthurs had a pair of high rubber boots, which she used when she herself went whipping the blue water, and, anchored in these as far out as she dared go into the gravel-bottomed stream, the girl laced the cold current back and forth. And the wild exultation of her first bite! The fish darted up and down stream, pulling out line faster than she could reel it in, and Beulah, in her excitement, waded deeper into the stream as she followed the quivering line. But mountain streams are treacherous; one step too far plunged her into twenty feet of water, and the next moment she was spinning round and round in the current. She had learned to swim a few strokes in the creek on her father's farm, and her meagre skill now stood her in good stead, for she was able to keep afloat until the current threw her against a gravel bar that jutted into the river. She dragged herself ashore, very wet, and of a sudden, very frightened, and sat down on the warm stones. It was here that she recorded another resolution; she would learn to swim—not a feeble stroke or two, but to be master of this river which had so nearly mastered her. "I will do it," she said. "I will swim it across and back, if it takes till December, and—bur-r-r-rh—it's cold enough now." Then it occurred to her that there was no better time to start than the present. She looked out a place where the current was not too strong, and where there were no treacherous rock-splits in the bottom, spread her wet clothing to dry in the sun and for an hour fought the cold current at its own game.

It is not recorded how it came about, but Arthurs passed the word among the ranch hands that a certain stretch of river bank was sacred from all intrusion.

But it was in the life of the home, even more than in the joyous freedom of the out-of-doors, that Beulah found her great delight. The Arthurs, she knew, were wealthy—many times richer than her father, who passed as a wealthy man among the farmers of Plainville. But with the Arthurs wealth was merely an incident—a pleasant but by no means essential by-product of their lives. They lived simply, but well; they worked honestly, but did not slave; and in all their living and working, they shed a kindliness and courtesy that communicated itself to all with whom they came in contact. The cowboys, Beulah soon discovered, were as unlike the cowboys of fiction and of her imagination as a Manitoba steer is unlike his Alberta brother; they did not carry revolvers, nor swagger in high boots, nor rip the air with their profanity; and their table manner reminded her of George and Harry Grant, and the Grants were outstanding examples of right living in the Plainville district. And Mrs. Arthurs, gentle and kind in all her doings, and yet firm and strong and calm, she was—such a woman, Beulah told herself, as her own mother might have been, had her soul not been crushed under a load of unceasing labour.

But, most of all, it was to Fred Arthurs that the heart of the young girl turned. Whether he sat over his desk at his letters, or dispensed hospitality at his table (for all who passed up or down the valley, as a matter of course, stopped for a meal at the Arthurses), or cantered across the foothills, or shouted behind his lagging herds (such shouting as it was, fit to split the canyons!), or played ball with the boys in the evening, or discussed theology with the travelling missionary, or philosophy with his book-worm neighbour from across the river, or read poetry with his wife on the Sunday afternoons, or sang with his great voice in the mellow, yellow eventide, or—most of all—when he looked at Beulah with his fine eyes, and she caught the mirrored reflection of the hunger in his soul, she felt that here was a man who had lived his life to the uttermost and would go on living it through all eternity. She only half guessed what his thoughts toward her were—she did not know that Fred and Lilian Arthurs had at last agreed that they could do better than leave their wealth to charity, and that a new will was soon to be drawn—but to her he seemed pure gold and a gentleman to his last gesture. And she vowed one night that if ever she met a single man like Fred Arthurs she would marry him although all the canons and conventions of Christendom stood between them.

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to constipation than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system poisoned by impurities.

If you would get away from the myriads of ills which result from constipation, it is only necessary to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18 St. Amable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"This is to certify that I was troubled for years with constipation and tried all kinds of medicines without relief. At last my husband suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they have given me more relief than all the medicine I have taken during the last fifteen years. I may also add that I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles with excellent results."

Dye Old Curtains, Sweater Or Skirt In Diamond Dyes

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new, rich, fadeless colors into her worn garments or draperies even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your material will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods.

Spring Not Far Behind

The continued mild weather prevailing in the Pacific coast province has induced gardeners and seed men to place on display seed packets for spring planting.

Excellent for Croupy Children.—When a child is suffering with croup it is a good plan to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It reduces the inflammation and loosens the phlegm giving speedy relief to the little sufferer. It is equally reliable for sore throat and chest, earache, rheumatic pains, cuts, bruises and sprains. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is regarded by many thousands as an indispensable of the family medicine chest.

IMPERIAL MICA AXLE GREASE

An old standby with farmers and teamsters. Even if it contained no mica it would still be a good axle grease—but the mica makes it better, because it fills in and smooths up the microscopic roughness of spindle and hub, enabling the grease to wear longer and do its work better. Use only half as much as of ordinary grease. Comes in sizes from 1-lb. tins to barrels.

IMPERIAL EUREKA HARNESS OIL

Equally well known and a great favorite. Puts new life in old harness and doubles the life of new harness. Fills the pores of leather, protecting it from the effects of dust, sweat, moisture and heat. Keeps harness strong, flexible and new looking. Prevents cracking, breaking of stitches, and reduces repair bills. Sold in convenient sizes by dealers everywhere.

MRS. MINA RABER,
Aurora, Ill.

"A short time ago I was one of the most nervous and miserable persons on the earth, but thanks to Tanlac I'm well and happy now," said Mrs. Mina Raber, 446 Farnsworth Ave., Aurora, Ill.

"It was just about two years ago that I began to be distressed after every meal I had awful smothering spells at times and my heart beat so irregularly that I often thought I wouldn't live through the attack. Headaches were the bane of my existence and I shudder even now when I think of them. My back hurt me, too, and it was just agony for me to bend over and straighten up again.

"Tanlac has done for me far more than I ever expected and I'm like a different person altogether. In fact, I'm in perfect health now. In my opinion, Tanlac is the best medicine under the sun."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Nice Nest Egg

Considerable Western Grain Still Held Over From Last Harvest

Western Canada still has a sixty-eight million dollar nest egg left over from the 1921 harvest, as the tally of grain stocks held in elevators west from the head of the lakes shows, in a recent analysis of the Board of Grain Commissioners. This takes no count of course of grain still held out by farmers, which is reaching shipping points very slowly. The approximate total value is $68,032,252. In store at Fort William and Port Arthur are 31,659,926 of all grains, an increase in the week of 106,845.

TREAT RHEUMATISM THROUGH THE BLOOD

Liniments and Rubbing Only Give Temporary Relief

Rheumatism is a trouble extremely difficult to get rid of. If a tendency to rheumatism is established in the system it makes itself manifest by a return of the acute pains with every spell of bad weather. This is why so many people think the trouble is due to cold or damp. The fact is known, however, to medical men, that with the appearance of rheumatism there is a rapid thinning of the blood; and that the rheumatic poisons are only expelled from the system when the blood is restored to its normal condition. This means that to drive rheumatism from the system it must be treated through the blood, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been very successful, as they build up and enrich the blood, thus easing the aching, swollen joints, and benefitting the health of the sufferer in other ways as well. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have satisfactorily used this medicine is Mrs. James Gillan, Charlottetown, P.E.I., who says: "For three long months I suffered terribly from rheumatism. I was so bad that I could not do my housework, and even to attempt to walk caused me agony. I spent a great deal of money on liniments and medicines without getting the least benefit, and my condition was pitable. At this stage my attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking this medicine, and shall always praise the day I did so. Before long there was no doubt that I had at last found something that would give me relief. I gladly continued using the pills with the result that I am now as well as ever I was, able to do my housework and care for my children. Since that time one of my daughters fell into an anaemic condition and was obliged to discontinue going to school. I gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and now she is as healthy a girl as there is in the city. You may be sure I lose no opportunity in praising this medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dainty Chiffon Evening Frock

By Marie Belmont

Beaded chiffon dance dresses are strongly sponsored in Paris, and very youthful, airy affairs they are, with the beads applied in cunning little loops.

Of all white chiffon with crystal bead loops, the above frock is essentially created for the spring dance. The bodice is built on straight lines, with the beads extending halfway down. The soft crushed girdle is finished with little bead loops, and from it at either side chiffon drops down below the hem line and extends up again to the girdle.

An infinite variety of color is offered in beaded chiffon frocks. The inspiration above is repeated in coral, citron green and lemon yellow.

Mother, Quick! Give California Fig Syrup For Child's Bowels

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

John Keen Dead

Just as we go to press this (Thursday) afternoon, word comes from Kaslo of the death of John Keen, who passed away early Wednesday evening. Deceased, while not in the best of health for some months, was not thought to be seriously ill until about Christmas time, and the trouble has since been diagnosed as cancer of the liver. Deceased was a native of Surrey, England, and was 78 years of age. He had been a resident of Kaslo since 1893.

The late John Keen was well and widely known in Creston since 1916, in the fall of which year he was elected provincial member for this constituency, and made frequent visits to all parts of the Valley in connection with his constituents' interests, ever since, his last call being early last summer. Although a staunch Liberal, Mr. Keen enjoyed an immense personal popularity with all classes in this district, and in his passing Creston Valley has indeed lost one of its best friends.

The funeral takes place on Sunday at Kaslo, and at least two of the members of the Valley Liberal Association will be in attendance.

BOAR FOR SERVICE

Imported Registered Chester White Boar, White Rock No. 2328, for service. DAVIE, Canyon.

Here's Your New Suit!

Our first instalment of Spring Suits for men and young men has just arrived, and the prices (quality considered) are very low:

Blue Serge Suits—$28.50. Tweed Suits— —$35.00
Brown Worsted Suits — — $35.00

These Serges, Tweeds and Worteds are such exceptionally fine quality and tailoring that the most fastiduous will find o.k, Models are mostly of the single button effect for young men, and conservative styles for business and dress wear.

A Representative of the House of Hobberlin will be here THURSDAY, FEB. 23rd with a full range of samples of the newest Suitings, taking orders for Made-to-Measure Clothing, with every suit of which goes the Hobberlin guarantee: "Satisfaction, or your money refunded."
