THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XIV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1922 No. 17

Sirdar

Sheldon Parker left at the end of the week for Vancouver, where he intends to locate in future. Mr. Dobie is still on the B.C. government road gang here.

Jas. Wilson left on Tuesday last for Vancouver, where he will undergo further hospital treatment. He was badly gassed during the great war, and still suffers occasionally from its after effects.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodman are back from their trip to Tacoma, Wash., to which points they were called owing to the illness of their daughter, Miss Myrtle. She is now recovering nicely and will soon be able to return to her home here.

Mrs. T. Rogers and children were Creston visitors at the middle of last week, spending Victoria Day with friends at the metropolis.

Mr. Neil is now in charge of the yard engine, being a senior man in the service he replaces B. Whitesides, who has gone to Cranbrook to work.

Mr. Yager, who has been in charge of the depot in Mr. Goodman's absence, is now installed as night operator at Sirdar.

Santo Pascuzzo, who has been in indifferent health for some weeks past, was at Nelson a couple of days last week consulting Dr. Rose.

Mr. Dennes of Spokane, who has been here for a month on a visit to his son, Dick, returned on Thursday last.

The auto tourist traffic westbound has already commenced, and just at present averages about two cars a day at Kuskanook.

Mr. Neil, who is now in charge of the yard engine, expects to move his wife and family here for their permanent home. Until coming here he was running passenger between Kingsgate and Yahk.

E. C. Hughes has purchased a couple of lots on the Pascuzzo ranch, facing the government road, and already has the lumber on the ground for the erection of a residence.

The Ladies' Aid are rapidly completing all arrangements for their afternoon sale of work, candy, etc., and serving of light refreshments and supper, on Wednesday, June 7th, along with which will be the raffle of the embroidered bedspread, on which there has been a good demand for tickets. In the evening there will be a concert followed by a dance. As the road to Creston is now in the best shape ever, and with Geo. Johnson arranging for motor parties in that town, it is expected quite a number from the metropolis will be here for the affair.

Kitchener

Dr. Thompson of Ottawa, Ont., was a business visitor in Kitchener last week.

J. A. Crowe of the Kitchener Timber Company spent a few days at Nelson last week.

Mrs. Finlayson of Creston was a between trains visitor here on Sunday with Mrs. Davis.

Messrs. B. Johnson and Gregren spent several days last week at Spokane, returning home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fransen returned on Sunday, after spending a few days with friends at Wasa.

Canyon Unveils Soldier Memorial

Favored with ideal weather and a very large turnout of citizens as well as a fine showing of residents at other points in the Valley Canyon City on Wednesday evening, May 24th, unveiled its memorial to the late John E. Wood and Robert Smith—the two men from that district who paid the supreme sacrifice in the great war.

Although unique, none the less effective is the form of memorial chosen by the Canyon people, whose last token of respect unveiled on Victoria Day is in the form of two sycamore trees planted on either side of the school grounds, the trees being neatly fenced, and at the foot is a cement post into which is fitted bronze plates inscribed:

This tree was planted in honor of
JOHN E. WOOD,
29th Batt. C.E.F.,
Died of wounds, April 29, 1916.

This tree is planted in honor of
ROBERT SMITH,
M.M., lance corporal 10th Batt., C.E.F.
Killed in action, Sept. 2, 1918.

The gathering was presided over by C. O. Rodgers, manager of the Canyon City Lumber Co., Ltd., who, in his brief address, spoke feelingly of the two men, both of whom he had known well. He was followed by C. F. Hayes, president of Creston board of trade, who complimented Canyon on the fitting tribute paid the men in the trees and the tablets, as well as noting that the district was among the very first to unveil a memorial—and this despite the loss of one year due to the oaks, that were originally planted, failing to grow. Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., remarks were in similar strain. He felt that no fuller justice could possibly be done the memory of fallen men than was conveyed by the memorial Canyon had erected.

The unveiling was done by John W. Wood, in honor of whose son one of the trees and tablets were erected, while F. B. Turner of Creston, who also lost a son in the war, unveiled the other tablet.

In the unveiling addresses, delivered in stirring fashion by Revs. J. A. James and Father Bessette, the former emphasized some of the lessons that as a nation the war had taught or should teach, pointing out that it was due to the breadth of the British constitution and the liberty enjoyed by the people as a result of it that Britain and her colonies were able so readily and harmoniously contribute its full quota of men and means for the successful carrying on of the titantic struggle. Father Bessette's remarks were in like tenor, with the added request that as the soldiers who fell in France were co-partners with those fighting men who survived, in addition to keeping green the memory of the fallen it was equally the paramount duty of the citizens and governments to see to it that the returned men were given the consideration they had so magnificently earned.

The unveiling ceremonies were brighteued up at intervals by musical selections by the school scholars under Principal Kolthammer who had them render "O Canada," "Maple Leaf," "O God our help in ages past," as well as the doxology with which proceedings were opened. The closing feature was most impressive, the Last Post being sounded by R. Finlay of Lister, with many of the returned men of the district, who were out in uniform, lined up behind the standard carrying the school union jack.

Both of the men in whose honor the memorial is erected were well-known in Canyon City. The late John E. Wood, was a son of John W. Wood, a well-known Canyon resident, and he joined up with the 54th Battalion early in 1915. On the arrival of this corps in England he immediately transferred to the 29th Battalion in order to the earlier get to the front, and almost to a day within one year of his enlistment the word reached his home here that he had died of wounds on April 29, 1916.

Robert Smith came to Canyon about 1910, and in addition to working his ranch he was also employed for some time with the Canyon City Lumber Co., Ltd. He went overseas from Edmonton, Alta., to which city he went from Canyon for a visit before enlisting in the summer of 1916. He was not long in training in Canada before being sent overseas, and attached himself to the 10th Battalion, and was killed in action on Sept. 2, 1918—a little more than two months before the armistice was signed.

At their work and in the community life, both typified an excellent standard of Canadian citizenship and Canyon City is to be congratulated in so soon paying them a last token of respect in a fashion that while simple, yet in keeping with the character of the two men, and one that for many generations will stand out as a landmark in the life and development of Canyon City district.

Lister

Miss Norma Irvine of the school staff was a visitor to Nelson the week end.

A picnic was held in the afternoon of May 24th by the G.W.V.A. for the children in the Frank May field. Racing and games were indulged in until tea time when every one enjoyed a good supper of ice cream and cakes, etc.

J. Bird and F. Powers are busy again painting for L.S.B. a number of residences being finished too late last fall for painting.

There will be no meeting of the United Farmers this Friday evening as at the last meeting it was decided to have quarterly sessions throughout the summer.

About twenty local children managed to get in Creston to see the forestry car last Monday.

IV.

Winnipeg,
June 17th, 19—.

This has been a busy week.

Sunday morning we went to St. John's Cathedral. St. John's, in spite of its impressive name, is but a tiny place, no larger than our smallest village churches. It is built of native stone, and is surrounded by a quaint old graveyard in which I was glad to wander for half an hour after the service.

On Monday I went sightseeing, with Mary as guide.

She took me first to the City Hall. Architecturally it leaves much to be desired—it looks like a cross between a wedding-cake and a mosque; but I was interested in the pictures of the mayors, and I fell in love with the pretty little Council Chamber—it would be simply perfect for private theatricals.

We then went to the roof of the Union Bank, Winnipeg's highest building. I understand that in New York and Chicago there are office-buildings four times as high, but I am sure I do not wish to practise mountain-climbing in them—the Union Bank is quite high enough. But the view from the top was worth the dizzy feeling.

By this time it was noon, and with my luncheon I had another novel experience. I never heard of a "Dairy Lunch" at home—doubtless they can be found in the larger cities if one knows where to look for them—and to me it was an entirely new experience to act as my own waitress and newer still to hear my orders, paraphrased beyond recognition, shouted through a dumb-waiter to an invisible cook. One goes into the lunch-room, takes a tray and the necessary dishes from a counter, together with whatever food is already cooked, and then picks out a table for one's self. I was so much interested in the orders that were being passed on to the cook that I could scarcely eat my luncheon. Mary translated. "Ham and" means ham and eggs; "Pork and," pork and beans (an extraordinary popular dish, apparently); "Four poached on two," is two orders of poached eggs on toast. (Mary tells me that she once heard the last order given as "Adam and Eve on a raft," but I think that story was made up for my special benefit.) As I listened I had a vision of the staid head-waiter in the quiet hotel where we always stay when we go to London. I shall never be satisfied with a mere head-waiter again.

In the afternoon we took a tram to the City Park. It is about five miles from Main Street. One goes that distance on Portage Avenue—another of the old trails—and then crosses the Assiniboine River on a fearfully seasick pontoon bridge. The park, which is left as much as possible in its natural state, is really beautiful, although the trees are small and the grass is not like English grass. A home has been provided here for quite a good collection of the native animals. I saw several kinds of deer, wolves, foxes, buffaloes, badgers, bears and one heart-broken old eagle. The animals are all fairly tame and I got some excellent photographs. I have been afraid to admit it to the Arnolds, but I was disappointed in the buffaloes—by the way, only the pedantic call them bisons here. I expected to see majestic creatures at least as large as elephants, and what I did see looked very much like the badly foscussed picture that I took of some Highland cattle the first summer I had my camera. I went too close to the cattle, and as a result the heads and forequarters were about twice as big in the picture as they should have been.

And now for the most important thing that has yet found a place in my diary.

Each day since I reached Winnipeg I have read the "Situations Vacant" column in the various papers, and on Monday I saw the very thing I had been watching for.

"WANTED: At once, a working companion. Comfortable home for the right party. $20.00 per month. Apply to Mrs. John Fiske, Elba, Manitoba."

I wrote a letter of application and then went to talk the matter over with Mrs. Aronld. To my surprise and consternation she was horrified.

"A working companion in Canada is the same thing as a general servant in England," she said when the first exclamations were over. "The work and the surroundings will not be what you expect, and you will meet with disappointment and difficulty at every turn. What will your mother say to me if I countenance so ridiculous a project?"

"Mother knew what my plans were before I left home," I answered.

"But your mother does not know to what the realizing of those plans would lead. In the first place, you would lose caste . . ."

"I thought that caste was an unknown quantity in Canada," I interrupted, rather rudely, I fear. "At any rate, I came here for experience, and I am certain that I shall never learn to farm while I stay in Winnipeg as your guest."

Mrs. Arnold laughed.

"My dear Elinor," she went on, "Canada cannot compare with India in the matter of caste, nor even with England; but I think you will find that wherever there is poverty and wealth, employer and employed, there will be caste also.

"As to experience—well, you will probably get more than you bargain for. By the time you have done the washing, scrubbed the floors, cooked the dinner in a red-hot kitchen full of flies, and milked twelve cows, you may feel like going into the subject of scientific farming, but I doubt it.

"Of course there is just a chance that you may find a place that will suit you, but you are taking a big risk. Promise me that you will not post your application until you have consulted Mr. Arnold."

I promised. But what followed could scarcely be called a consultation, for Mr. Arnold only laughed at me. I hate to be laughed at, so, just the least bit annoyed, I started my letter on its way. Yesterday I received Mrs. Fiske's reply, in which she asked me to leave for Elba at once. As soon as I had read it I went to Mr. Arnold, and, fully convinced now that the matter was not a joke, he gave me a fatherly little lecture along the same lines as that delivered by Mrs. Arnold.

However, when Elinor Eliot makes up her mind it is made up to stay, and the only concession I would make was to agree to Mrs. Arnold's suggestion that Mary should go with me to Elba and stay with me until I was met by my employer. That one word "employer" makes me feel as if I were a lady's maid, but the deed is done and "England expects . . . etc." To be quite honest, I am awfully nervous.

The Arnolds have been so good to me and have made my visit with them so pleasant that it seems ungrateful to leave them in this way. Although they think it unwise of me to go to Elba, they have done everything they could to help me in my preparations, quite as if I were acting in accordance with their advice. It is such a pleasure to meet people who do not look upon a contrary opinion as an insult!

And of one thing I am sure. If my venture fails and I return to them, they will meet me with open arms and closed lips.

A Stitch in Time

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and acting upon his advice I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

Watch Your Brain

Take care of your brain. It is the most wonderful part of your body, and yet you take more care of every other organ. You exercise your limbs. You develop your muscles. You worry about your intestines. But you seldom bother about your brain. For example, you allow poisonous thoughts to enter it, as if the brain could thrive on poison. You would die rather than swallow a pint of cholera germs, but you permit deadly thoughts to injure the beautiful machinery of your brain. Keep your brain as clean as your body.—London Sunday Express.

Now She Doesn't Need The Doctor

WHY JOHN HAMILL PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

When He Found Them His Wife Found Relief. That's why he Tells Sufferers to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Marietown, Sask.—(Special).—Mr. John Hamill, a well known and highly respected resident here, is a firm believer in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I speak on behalf of my wife," Mr. Hamill says, when asked the reason why. "She has been ailing for years. I had doctors attending her but she didn't seem to get any better.

"At last I found Dodd's Kidney Pills and my wife found relief. She kept taking them from time to time. Now she doesn't need the doctor.

"Also since childhood Mrs. Hamill has been a sufferer from constipation. She found relief from that in Diamond Dinner Pills."

Nine-tenths of the ills that dog the pathway of suffering women come from diseased kidneys. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make strong, healthy kidneys.

"Fingerprints" of a Cow's Nose

New Method of Identification of the Bovine Family

According to a plan instituted in Minneapolis lately, more than 2,000 prints of cow's nose have been filed. William E. Peterson, superintendent of the official testing bureau of that State, says nose prints are as infallible as fingerprints, and that every pedigreed cow should be so registered.

The chairman of the International Association of Identification and editor of the Detective, said that the plan is receiving such favorable support in Minnesota, that it will become national.

"I have gone into the matter and I find that a cow's nose never changes," he said, "it is the same as with fingerprints. So many purchasers have been swindled by substitution of low grade stock for pure blooded, that the wise purchaser hereafter will look for a noseprint identification."

Could Hardly Move A Muscle For Ten Days

Winnipeg Man Was In Misery Day And Night From Rheumatism Before He Began Taking Tanlac. Hasn't A Twinge Left.

"When I started taking Tanlac I was almost down and out, but now I'm strong enough to do any kind of work," said Joseph A. Hughes, 1518 Magnus Ave., Winnipeg.

"Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism and for ten days I could hardly move, much less get out of bed. When I got up I was so weak and in such pain I just could hobble around. My back hurt continually and my arms and feet ached all the time. I had headaches so bad I could hardly see, could get but little sleep and was in misery day and night.

"But today I am well and strong and it's all due to Tanlac. I haven't an ache or pain in my body, feel fine all the time and have picked up several pounds in weight. I prize Tanlac above all other medicines."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

National Parks Value

The national parks in Canada last year brought $18,000,000 into Canada through tourists, according to an estimate given by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, given in the Dominion House of Commons recently.

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the stomach, liver and bowels they correct such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness and other internal disorders that the worms create. Children thrive upon them and no matter what condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in, they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.

The eating of sauerkraut tends to the prolongation of human life, according to some medical scientists.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

USEFUL FOR OVER 500 PURPOSES

Gillett's Lye can be used for so many purposes that their enumeration here would be impossible. For example, Gillett's Lye can be used for making soap, in washing dishes, also as a disinfectant. For softening hard water. As a means of removing grease and smoke stains. These are only a few of its many uses, but they serve to indicate what has made Gillett's Lye such a general household utility to-day.

A Tribute to Lloyd George

American Paper Commends His Work at Genoa Conference

Though the French extremists of the Andre Tardieu type may hold that his own words justify all their fulminations and all their charges against him; though they may think they have found new reasons to complain of the measure of support he has given French ideas and plans, the world at large will commend the British Premier's endeavors, and will see in the Genoa conference something more than a last desperate effort to save a bad situation. They will recognize it as an endeavor to realize on a carefully conceived and nurtured plan for the reconstruction of Europe; and whether Lloyd George fails or succeeds in his design, he will stand the higher in the estimation of men for what he has done.—Detroit Free Press.

Rules for Feeding Dairy Cattle

Sudden Changes in Feeds Liable to Cause Loss in Gains or Production

The Dominion Animal Husbandman sets down in No. 68 of the Experimental Farm circulars three very concise and explicit rules for feeding dairy cattle. The first is: Never overfeed; the second, Feed according to the individual needs and desires of each animal; and the third, Feed regularly both as to the hours of feeding and the character of the feeds. Relative to the last, the Animal Husbandman points out that sudden changes in feeds are liable to cause not only a loss in gains or production, but will often induce ailments such as diarrhoea, bloat, milk fever, etc., all of which are described in the circular with suggested treatment and remedies.

Nation-wide Fame—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Seeing Good in Everyone

We may, if we chose make the worst of one another. Every person has his weak points; every one has his faults; we may make the worst of these; we may fix our attention constantly upon these. But we may also make the best of one another. We may forgive, even as we hope to be forgiven. We may put ourselves in the place of others and ask what we should wish to be done to us and thought of us in their place. By loving whatever is lovable in those around us, love will flow back from them to us and will become like Heaven; and we shall become not unworthy followers of Him whose Eternal name is Love!—Dean Stanley.

Fur Farming

Sanitation and Cleanliness Are Essential for Success

In my last letter I told of the possibilities of fur farming and why it should be profitable in the west. I will now try to tell you how it should be carried on to have the greatest increase in your stock.

There are some very important things to consider in fur farming and the most essential are to get the very best stock to start with. Another is proper feeding and still another is the sanitary problems of your ranch, which if neglected mean failure to produce the kind of animal that brings the highest market price.

Wild animals in captivity are not subject to many diseases if sanitation is strictly enforced. To do this one must start early in the spring or as soon as it is advisable to go into the ranch and keep everything scrupulously clean in the pens and houses, and if the houses are sprayed once a week with creolin, using a fine spray, fleas will be kept away and you will not have to use anything on your animals. All feeding dishes should be first washed in clean water and then boiled and set in the sun until again used, and every dish used in preparing the food should be treated the same after it is used so that nothing will become tainted in the least. All food that is carried over from one meal to another should be protected from flies, etc., either by screens or in a cooler, and food should be fed as fresh as it is possible to procure it. It is true that some animals will eat food that has gone bad, but it is just as true that this food is not good for them and will sooner or later cause trouble. It is better to feed milk in the evening after the weather becomes hot and muggy, as it does not sour as quickly in the cool of the evening as it does in the sun of the day.—W. G. Church, Inspector.

RHEUMATIC TREATMENT

This Trouble Can Only be Got Rid of by Enriching the Blood

In no disease does the blood become thin so rapidly as in rheumatism. Not only does it become thin, but it is loaded with rheumatic poisons. Without proper treatment these poisons increase, the general health is undermined, the inflamed joints swell, and are very painful, and often the sufferer becomes crippled.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and enable it to cast out the rheumatic poisons with the natural secretions of the body, thus driving out the pains and benefitting the general health. Sound proof of these statements is offered by Mrs. George Stanley, Sparta, Ont., who says:—"For a number of years I was troubled with rheumatism, which at times was very painful. My general health was also affected, and I could scarcely drag myself around. I had been doctoring a good deal, but did not get any better, until one day my daughter brought me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time these were used I could notice a slight improvement, and I continued taking the pills until I had used about a dozen boxes, by which time I felt like a new person—and looked like one. I could do my work with ease, and have since enjoyed the best of health. I have since recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to several others who received the same benefit as myself."

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old-time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 2

Club Has Planted Much Wild Rice

President Mallandaine had a representative turnout of members of the Rod and Gun Club for the May meeting on Thursdry night last, at which routine business occupied much of the time of the session.

The committee in charge reported that they had planted quite a liberal supply of wild rice in the waters on the flats, and by the June meeting would be able to report as to the growth it is making, and Mr. Helmsing, the Kootenay Indian agent, wrote stating that the matters the club had drawn to his attention were under the jurisdiction of the provincial police, and they were ordered referred to Mr. McLaren for consideration and action.

C. H. Robinson of Nelson, the Dominion fishery inspector, wrote stating that certain resolutions passed by the club had been received but were too late to be taken care of this year, but they would be included in 1923 operations. He notified that the trout season will close on November 15th, and that for this season no trout under 8 inches in length could be legally caught.

Both the Cranbrook and Nelson clubs will be written to asking that the Creston club be furnished with copies of all resolutions passed by these organizations, assuring that Creston would return the courtesy, and in this way more uniformity of action be obtained.

F. W. Thomas was elected to membership, and announcement was made that the club will put on a dance on either the evening of June 30th or Dominion Day. A trap shoot will also be held on Saturday, July 1st (Dominion Day), and all who wish to compete should leave their names at Mawson Brothers' store. A supply of ammunition will be on sale at the grounds, and a full turnout of those handy with a rifle is hoped for.

Erickson

The McCabe bridge crew of Sirdar were here a couple of days last week, and during their stay built quite an extensive porch over the freight shed at the C.P.R. depot, in order to give protection from the sun to berries loaded for shipping.

Mrs. T. Dixon and young son of Coronation, Alta., are visitors here at present, with Mr. and Mrs. E. Cartwright.

C.P.R. Agent and Mrs. Bundy are expecting to get away at the end of the week for a half month's holiday, which they will spend at Summerland and coast points.

The Co Operative store's carload of water pipe arrived last week, and was mostly purchased by members of the Erickson community water system, Frank Putnam taking about a quarter of it for his overhead irrigation at Canyon.

Frank Palmer is spending a few days this week with friends in Spokane.

H. M. Telford is a visitor with Alberta friends at present, leaving the latter part of the week for Medicine Hat.

F. J. Klingensmith was a week end visitor at his home here from Wynndel, where he is again this season employed as filer at the Winlaw mill.

Frank Staples and Bill and Walter Long were among the Ericksonites who motored to Cranbrook for the celebration on May 24th. Except in the Kitchener section they report the roads in good shape for motor travel.

Members of the United Farmers are reminded of the June meeting, which takes place at the schoolhouse on Tuesday, 13th.

The R. Dodds home is having the undesirable summer experience of coping with an outbreak of measles which, fortunately, are of a mild type.

The area to potatoes in the Erickson section this year will hardly be as large as last. At the Long ranch planting is under way on a ten-acre lot of them.

The sale of season ticket for Creston's big six-day Chautauqua will open on Saturday. During the week Messrs. Season tickets are $3 for adults and $1 for children, if purchased prior to the start of the first performance on Thursday afternoon, June 15th. After 3 p.m. of that day the price is $3.50. Anyone paying single admissions will spend $8.25 if the whole eleven programmes are heard.

Chautauqua opened the season at Victoria on May 27th and the news paper reports on this year's Chautauqua are all to the effect that it is considerably better than the popular eleven programmes presented in 1921.

Canyon City

Miss Alice Wood of the nursing staff of St. Eugene hospital, Cranbrook, spent a few days at her home here last week, attending the memorial unveiling on Victoria Day evening.

Ted Kemp, who is working at Lumberton at present, was here for a couple of days last week, inspecting his ranch.

Both the grownups and youngsters are reminded of the community picnic at the Whimster grove on Saturday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock. There will be the usual lot of sports and games and supper.

The car of pipe has arrived at Erickson and Frank Putnam has a small crew of men at work putting in the overhead irrigation system on the four acres of strawberries he has just set out at his land at the Browell corner.

The United Farmers will have their fortnightly meeting on Saturday at the schoolhouse, following the picnic.

The show of bloom would indicate that Canyon City will have an apple crop fully equal to last year, with the McIntosh Red showing up particularly well.

The school children had a half holiday on Monday so that teachers and pupils could inspect the forestry association school on wheels at Creston, and also see the forestry film shown free at the Grand Theatre. Many of the parents also went along for a look at the car and its display.

Canyon City Lumber Company, Ltd., are busy at lumber shipping just now, this week seeing five teams on the haul. As compared with last year the demand for lumber is much heavier.

Residents who bid on the job of stumping what is commonly known as the Swanson road extension were all a little high in their estimates, the work having been let to L. Leamy of Creston, whose tender was the lowest of the lot. He expects to complete the job in thirty days.

Jim Gasken met with a decidedly nasty accident on Monday afternoon. While driving to Duck Creek with horse and rig an auto owner driving at rather a rapid clip ran into his horse, about half a mile west of here. The horse took fright and in its excitement backed over the bank, which at this point is so steep that rig and animal both overturned and rolled down grade, smashing through the fence and landing almost on the C.P.R. track. Jim sustained a couple of broken ribs as well as being badly shaken up. The horse, also, was rather the worse for the mishap.

ALL THAT IS GOOD IN BEEF

A MOST STRENGTHENING BEVERAGE

The Canadian Constitution

Necessity, it has been said, is the mother of invention, and certainly the absolute necessity of Governments during and since the war period to find large revenues wherewith to meet heavy national expenditures and unprecedented interest charges led to the inauguration, if not invention, of new schemes and methods of taxation. During the war it was practically impossible to control expenditures, hence it was necessary to raise money by borrowings and through excessive taxation to cover such expenditures. This practice, then enforced upon Governments, has for too long a period been continued—Governments basing their revenue requirements upon their expenditures, instead of endeavoring to bring expenditures within the limits of their revenues.

More recently, however, attempts have been made to reduce expenditures. The Washington conference on armaments was a noteworthy attempt in that direction. In Great Britain remarkable economies have been recommended by the Geddes Commission, and steps are now being taken to put many of these into effect. In Canada, too, an earnest effort is being made to bring about reduction in national expenditures, instead of merely striving to devise new means of taxation and enlarged revenues. These are signs of a return to national sanity, because the road we were travelling was bound ere long to end in disaster. Municipal governments are likewise beginning to learn from past bitter experiences, and reductions in civic budgets are the order of the day.

There is, however, one field in Canada which would appear to offer an opportunity for harvesting a valuable crop of national economies and savings in expenditures, both Federally and Provincially, that is being neglected. Undoubtedly, politicians are somewhat loth to tackle it as once the question is opened to close investigation and expert study there is no telling what acute differences of opinion may develop throughout the country, or what really troublesome questions may call for answer and a solution. It is a case of leaving well enough alone no matter how bad that "well enough" may be.

We refer to the very large question of the increasingly apparent need for a revision of Canada's constitution as it is laid down in black and white in the British North America Act. During more than half a century of unparalled change and progress throughout the world, there has been practically no amendment of any importance to the Canadian constitution. It still stands as it was written to meet the needs of 1867 and the future as it could be read by statesmen at that time.

The B.N.A. Act was the product of almost innumerable compromises, and unless these compromises had been effected at that time the Dominion would never have been brought into existence. But surely Canada has advanced sufficiently, and national sentiment developed to an extent, to warrant the hope that we have outgrown the need for many of the compromises effected to meet the local fears and jealousies of Provincial units and minorities in 1867.

With one of the heaviest per capita national debts in the world it is essential that Canada should enforce economies in administration and expenditure wherever it can be done without impairing the efficiency of the public services. And where it is possible to effect changes which will not only prove economical but add to efficiency in service and administration, surely it is the height of folly to neglect them merely because the path to reform may be strewn with difficulty.

After all no very great controversial questions need be involved in a consideration of quite a few subjects wherein there will be found to lie big opportunities for increased efficiency in public services at a very materially reduced cost to the country at large and relief to the over-burdened taxpayer. All that is required is courage, straight business sense, and some of that same grim determination and untiring patience which characterized Lloyd George in connection with the Irish negotiations and is again the outstanding feature of the International conference at Genoa.

There are anomalies, inconsistencies, and duplications in the British North America Act costing this country millions of dollars annually, which, if they existed in connection with any big industrial concern, would occupy the minds of the directors until they are removed and the problems which they present definitely solved.

Space available in this column will not admit of a discussion of all of these, but in next week's article attention will be devoted to a few of them as illustrative of what might be accomplished if the Leaders in Government at Ottawa and in each of the Provincial capitals would get together in a round table conference in a sincere effort to achieve much needed reforms.

Faith and Optimism

World Needs Men Who Are Able to Overcome Obstacles

One marvels at the wizardry of the little Welshman of Downing Street. For versatility, wise diplomacy, genuine leadership the world has never seen his equal. From victory to victory he leads the armies of peace and good will. By the strength of his personality he has overcome, within the last few years, insuperable obstacles, and battered down the strongholds of prejudice. For him peace has its honors and triumphs no less glorious than war. Once more is he saving the nations from possible disruption through his masterful handling of the Genoa conference.

What the world needs in every avenue of life, in the humbler walks in business, in industry, is the spirit of faith and optimism.—From the Vancouver World.

How Colonel Saved Seemingly Hopeless Situation at Valcartier

"Someone has tampered with the pumps. We'll have no water supply, and four thousand men are arriving tomorrow!"

This was the message brought to headquarters at five o'clock in the afternoon of one of those strenuous days that marked the building of Valcartier Camp in August, 1914.

The situation seemed hopeless. There was no opportunity to get the stolen portion of the pumps under a delay of three days. Headquarters went to bed that night face to face with a water famine, and thousands of troops due to arrive in the next few hours.

When the camp awoke water was flowing freely from all the taps and outlets. Chug-chugging away, in the river, was a fine fire engine, the property of the city of Quebec.

Col. William McBain, one of the staff, had rushed to Quebec city, secured civic authority for the removal of the big fire-fighter, and on a special train delivered it to Valcartier and connected it up to the water system while the camp slept.

Just another little reason why Canada was able to send overseas in record time a division of real fighters.

GLAD TO BE ABLE TO WORK

Toronto Woman Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario,—"I suffered with irregular periods, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging-down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy, and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman, use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. Peasey, 387 King St., West, Toronto, Ontario.

Pure-Bred Goats

Registration of goats in Canada has increased 50 per cent. during the past year and keen interest in goat raising is being evinced by suburban dwellers. British Columbia has maintained its lead and now exports large numbers of these animals to other provinces of the Dominion. In order to encourage breeding the Dominion Livestock Commissioner has agreed to have pedigree placed on registration certificates that distinction can be made between pure-bred and scrub stock.

Population Possibilities

Only 2½ People Per Square Mile in Canada

The United Kingdom has 394 people to the square mile. Canada has two and a half. The average for the Empire is a little less than six per square mile.

Outside of the United Kingdom, New Zealand shows the most dense population with 11.7 to the square mile. If Canada had even half the density of population which New Zealand has, it would give her 19,000,000, while Australia would have 16,000,000. The possibilities of increased population tend to show that eventually the centres of population and influence will shift from outside Great Britain to some of her overseas dominions.—From the Farmers' Sun.

Select The Hague As Meeting Place To Discuss Russian Question

Genoa.—The Hague has been definitely selected as the meeting place for the experts who will further examine the Russia problem. Arrangements for The Hague conference in June were practically completed with the acceptance by the Russians of the proposals submitted to them, which have been amended so as to provide that a truce between the various powers will continue for a maximum of eight months.

The process verbal relating to the Lloyd George plan for dual commissions to meet at The Hague, which was presented to the Russians was adopted with an annex. With the amendments carried by the sub-commission, it will be sent to the Washington Government probably with a letter from the secretary of the Genoa conference.

Clause 6 of the annex to the process verbal, which refers to the truce or preliminary pact of non-aggression, was amended in such a manner as to make it clear that the truce, as well as applying to the Russian Government proper, will apply also to the eight republics allied with Russia. This would bring in the Far Eastern Republic, with which Japan has been vainly trying to conclude a general treaty.

The Japanese delegation accepted this amendment with the understanding that it must be ratified by the Japanese Government.

A second important amendment to the document provides that the truce will continue to operate for a period of four months after adjournment of The Hague meeting. As it had been previously understood that The Hague conference would last about four months, this change is interpreted as indicating a probable European and Asiatic truce of about eight months. This extension is also considered a victory for Mr. Lloyd George because it provides more time for the consummation of the permanent non-aggression pact into which he hopes the truce will be merged.

League Will Consider Mandate for Palestine

Meeting to be Held Not Later than July 15

Geneva.—The Council of the League of Nations decided to hold a special meeting not later than July 15 to consider the question of approving the British mandate for Palestine. Lord Balfour in a speech before the council, said Great Britain was greatly disappointed that the present session had failed to register the League's consent to the terms of the mandate, which the allied powers had long ago agreed uopn. Lord Balfour pointed out to the council members that their refusal to consider the mandate did not mean that the allied policy regarding mandates was endangered. The council could not change the decision of the allies on the mandate he reminded the members.

Expect Reduced Total Acreage in Wheat

Saskatchewan Will Suffer Most According to Weekly Crop Report

Winnipeg.—"From present indications we anticipate a somewhat reduced total acreage in wheat this year," stated the weekly crop report of the Grain Trade News issued here.

"While Saskatchewan will perhaps suffer from an acreage reduction of from 8 to 12 per cent., Alberta and Manitoba may both be expected to have made a gain of from five to 10 per cent.," the report continues. If last year's figures of wheat acreage estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics are taken then the acreage for the two years might compare somewhat as follows in round figures:

Manitoba—1921, 3,500,000; probable 1922, 3,750,000.

Saskatchewan — 1921, 13,500,000; probable 1922, 12,000,000.

Alberta—1921, 5,120,000; probable 1922, 5,500,000.

Total—1921, 22,120,000; probable 1922, total, 25,000,000.

COULDN'T DO HOUSEWORK, HEART WAS SO BAD

Many women get weak and run down and unable to look after their household duties owing to the heart action becoming impaired or the nervous system unstrung.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and wretched. But how can a woman be strong and healthy when day in and day out she has to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, washing, etc. Is it any wonder that the heart becomes affected and she gets irritable and nervous, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells and can't sleep at night.

To all women whose heart is weak and whose nerves are unstrung we would recommend as the best remedy to tone up the system and strengthen the weakened organs.

Mrs. Daniel Bezanson, Loganville, N.S., writes:—"As I was troubled with a weak heart for nearly two years I am writing to tell you what your great remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, has done for me.

My heart was so bad at night I could not sleep, I would take smothering spells, and was so weak I could not do my housework. I tried two doctors, but got no results. A friend advised me to try your pills. I used six boxes and am completely relieved. I think they are the best remedy for heart trouble there is."

A Monster Memorial

To Inscribe Names of Missing Canadians on Vimy Ridge Monument

Toronto.—Major-Gen. S. C. Mewburn, Hamilton, former Minister of Militia, addressed delegates to the joint conference of the Canadian and Ontario Dental Associations here at luncheon. He reviewed the work of the Canadian Army Dental Corps from 1914 throughout the war and praised the care and treatment they gave the Canadian soldiers. Speaking as chairman of the War Graves Commission, General Mewburn said that the names of 19,000 missing Canadian soldiers would be inscribed in bronze on the memorial to be erected at Vimy Ridge, the base of which monument would cover an acre of ground.

The monster memorial, General Mewburn said, would probably be visible for a distance of 15 to 20 miles. It was designed by W. S. Alward, the Toronto sculptor. The site had not been fixed up yet the General said.

Hon. T. A. Crerar Favors Placing Settlers Along National Railways

Ottawa.—Discussion of railway estimates in the House brought from Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, an important declaration of his policy on the national roads. He advocated the closing down of part of the trans-continental lines running across the wilderness between Eastern and Western Canada. He urged a revaluation of the entire system on a replacement basis and its unification. He favored and suggested regional districts. He took the ground that, in encouraging immigration, the Government should take steps to see that the new settlers were placed along the naational lines.

It was too, Mr. Crerar argued, a sound principle that the fiscal policy of the country should be so drafted as to stimulate production from the farm, the forest and the mine and railway traffic would thereby be encouraged.

"If the National railways are turned over to private ownership at any price which private ownership would pay, the country would forever lose their potential value, but would not escape the liabilities involved," Mr. Crerar declared.

Mr. Crerar's speech came at the close of an afternoon's discussion on the railway estimates, a discussion which would be continued.

Earlier, Hon. Walter Mitchell, Liberal member for St. Antoine and formerly one of Sir Lomer Gouin's lieutenants in the Provincial Government of Quebec, had defended private ownership of railways. Mr. Mitchell went further; he expressed opposition to the principle of public ownership and operation of all public utilities.

"I have come to the conclusion on general principle," Mr. Mitchell asserted, "that the public pay more under public ownership than they benefit from lower charges."

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, charged in reply that Mr. Mitchell had no case. As the national lines had not been constructed as commercial propositions, no private company could make them pay.

Casgrain Says Canal Would Increase Rates

Ocean Vessels Would Not Compete With Low Charges

Ottawa.—Resuming his speech on the St. Lawrence ship canal in the Senate, Senator Casgrain declared that its construction instead of cheapening rates would increase them. On May 5 the rate on wheat from Port Arthur to Montreal including all charges, was less than 7 cents per bushel, while the average rate per bushel from 1910 to 1915 from Port Arthur to Liverpool, including all charges was 10.73 cents. No ocean vessel would ever enter the great lakes and compete with that port.

A ten-thousand-ton tramp steamer costs $800 per day to operate, and it would take fifty days for a return voyage from Liverpool to Duluth, or a total cost of $40,000. Such a ship would carry only two hundred thousand bushels of grain at 11 cents per bushel, which would mean a net loss of $18,000 dollars. Lake carriers could handle five hundred thousand bushels of grain on an average. They could come down with ore and grain to the lower lakes and get a complete cargo of coal back. They could make the return voyage in ten days with a revenue of $11,000.

Lose Show Horses In Fire
