VOL. XIV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1922 No. 26

Erickson

Henry Cartwright of Regina, Sask., has been a visitor here for a few days with his brother, E. E. Cartwright, en route home from a trip to coast points.

Sunday was the heaviest shipping day in the express line this year. 227 packages went east that day, the exports of raspberries being particularly heavy.

Two of three candidates from this school who wrote on the recent High School Entrance examinations were successful, the results announced on Saturday showing the names of Kathleen Littlejohn and Edith Palfreyman, both of whom took creditable marks.

Billy Long got back on Saturday from Calgary, Alta., bringing with him a McLaughlin Six, he having traded in his Chevrolet for the bigger car.

No word is yet available as to the arrival of the steam roller for good roads finishing work, and pending its arrival it is expected that the ditch road now being used will receive the necessary attention to make it travellable for fruit being hauled to the depot.

Mrs. Kemp was hostess at quite a large house party at the W. H. Kemp home on Thursday night. Dancing was the feature of the evening, and the affair was much enjoyed by all present.

The High School examination results announced on Saturday show that Miss Marguerite Clark has passed her first year tests at the Cranbrook high school which she attended last term.

Miss Connie McCarthy arrived home on Wednesday from a two weeks' holiday visit with friends at Edgewood.

Sirdar

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cameron are away on a motor trip to visit with friends in Penticton, and will probably return via Spokane and Yahk.

Dan Murray, who for some time was on the McCabe bridge crew, was a passenger east on Tuesday, en route to Wycliffe to visit with friends.

There was quite an invasion of Creston by Sirdar ladies by Sirdar ladies on Tuesday, amongst those visiting the metropolis being Mesdames Dennes, Tuohey, Cam, Loasby, and Mrs. Jones and her guest, Mrs. Wright, of Calgary.

The Church Guild had their fortnightly work meeting at the schoolhouse on Saturday afternoon, with quite a good attendance, Mrs. Loasby being hostess.

Rev. H. Varley has returned from his July vacation and announces that there will be Church of England service at the schoolhouse at 10.30 Sunday morning.

A number of outside parties have been camping at Kuskanook this year amongst them being Prof. Rutter, who is on the staff of the Oregon University, and Mr. Brown and family of Calgary.

A valuable dog belonging to Mr. Cherbo was run over and killed by a Nelson autoist en route to Kuskanook on day last week. In the same mixup Mr. Cherbo also had the shafts of the rig he was driving smashed by coming in contact with the car on the narrow road.

Mayor Daly has made so many bad guesses at weather forecasting already this summer that he has found it necessary to adopt the safety first policy, and now daily assures that if there is no change the weather will undoubtedly be the same.

Canyon City

Miss Alice Wood returned to duty at the Cranbrook hospital at the end of the week, after a fortnight's holiday at her home here.

Grover Kifer is just back after a three weeks' vacation with friends in Montana, and states that climatic conditions are just as dry in that state as they are in B.C.

Clifford and Ernest Vance were home for the week-end from Porthill. They have a fuel supply contract at the Continental mine, near that town.

Congratulations are extended Miss Frances Knott, who succeeded in graduating in her third year course at the Kaslo high school, which she attended last year.

Miss Jessie Hickey is in charge of the McLeod store and postoffice work at Erickson, during the absence of Postmaster Telford on vacation.

"Shorty" Adams is taking an enforced vacation this month due to the fact that on Friday he was jolted off a load of lumber he was hauling and sustained a broken shoulder blade.

Alfred Nelson has just disposed of his (Petroschuk) ranch to Mr. Burgess of Lister, who gets possession shortly. Mr. Nelson and family will probably reside in Creston, for the winter at least.

Signe Nelson and Jeffrey Knott of the Canyon school were successful in obtaining a pass in this year's Entrance examinations, the results of which were announced on Saturday.

C. Cleave is still sticking close around home. The knee he had injured while fire fighting a couple of weeks ago, is making a rather slow recovery.

Quite a number from here were at Lister on Saturday night for the Merville benefit dance, and report it a most successful and enjoyable affair.

Canyon City Ladies' Aid are having a social at the home of Mrs. Knott on Thursday evening, August 10th, the proceeds of which will go to the funds of the society to help with the work being carried on in this community.

Affiliate with O.U.G.

A meeting of the Union growers was held on Tuesday night for the purpose of finally ratifying the agreement to connect up the Union with the O.U.G. as a local of that organization. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Barnes and Mr. Wilson, president of the Summerland Union and director of the O.U.G. and Growers Sales Agency, and the meeting formally instructed the directors to proceed with finally completing the affiliation.

H.S. and Entrance Pass Candidates

The departmental examinations—both High School and Entrance—were announced in the coast papers at the end of the week, with the feature to the latter being the excellent showing made by rural schools this year, Kitchener, Lister and Huscroft schools had a perfect showing, while at Erickson Miss Vaughan graduates two out of three. Yahk and Wynndel, with three and one each respectively, are the only absolute disappointments, while Creston is considerably below the high standard set by Principal Smith a year ago. The successful candidates are:

Creston—Ralph A Swanson 302, Edith Davies 300, Anna G. Webster 300.

Canyon City—Signe Nelson 356, Edward W. J. Knott 311.

Erickson—Edith Palfreyman 381, Kathleen Littlejohn 331.

Huscroft—Irene O. Huscroft 356, Fred A. Huscroft 300.

Kitchener—Edith G. Geroux 302.

This year's showing in the Creston high school is about the best in its history, and is gratifying to principal, pupils and parents alike in that the papers for all the classes were set and examined by the departmental staff at Victoria. The graduates are:

Preliminary course, junior grade, maximum marks 900—Sydney W. Bell 657, Freda M. Lewis 620, Robert W. Crawford 584, Robert W. A. Hetherington 576, Eva M. Webster 554, Albert Davies 541, Edwin Palmer Staples 530, Margaret R. Swanson 513.

Junior matriculation, maximum marks 1000—Rose K. Cherrington 642. Granted supplemental examinations 1. Completed junior matriculation—Marion L. Swanson.

The appearance of Miss Marion Swanson's name in this year's high school list is due to the fact that a year ago she completed junior matriculation, except in geometry, and was granted a supplemental in that subject. This she has successfully negotiated this year. Due to her having to take this test at this midsummer no announcement could be made of her success at the University of B.C. the past term (the University pass list having been issued in June). Now that she has secured high school pass standing in geometry the University authorities have notified her that she has successfully completed her first year in arts, passing with an average of 65 per cent on all subjects.

In view of prospective lumbering activity there is a great demand at present for houses.

The forest fires are still quite a serious menace in this district, and quite a small army of men are employed endeavoring to keep the flames in check.

Miss Edith Geroux, Kitchener's first and only candidate writing on this year's Entrance examination, was successful in passing. Congratulations to both pupil and teacher, Miss Schmidt.

Mr. Crowe, who sustained serious injury through a tree falling on him while fire fighting up Russel Creek last week, and who is confined to Cranbrook Hospital, is very low.

Reed & Mather are busy on the construction of about another mile of flume of extension to their irrigation system.

Cucumbers are now on the shipping list from the Smith Crossing, J. Veness opening the season with three crates on Wednesday last.

The heaviest shipping of the season at Smith's Crossing was on Sunday when 109 crates of various commodities were put aboard the eastbound express.

The home of Mrs. Collis was thronged with guests on Friday night last on which occasion Mrs. Collis and Mrs. Garland were joint hostesses at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Phyllis Lyne, one of Creston's younger set, whose marriage takes place about the middle of the month.

Lister

Mrs. W. Hurl and two children are holiday visitors at Vancouver.

G. H. Phillips is away to Cranbrook for a couple of weeks, where he is taking a hand in the provincial bye-election now raging in that constituency.

Word has just reached here that Speery Phillips is this season attached to the Dominion fruit inspection staff in B.C., with headquarters at Chilliwack.

The adjourned annual school meeting is called for Saturday night at the schoolhouse, when an entire new board of three trustees will have to be elected.

Rev. Mr. Lobb and wife of Retlaw, Alta., have been visiting here for several days with Mr. and Mrs. Langston, leaving on Wednesday by auto on a trip to Nelson and points west.

The Valley record for early egg production is claimed by the E. L. Langston ranch, where some White Wyandotte pullets hatched on March 14th started in to lay eggs on July 17th.

The results of the high school examinations which came out on Saturday show that at the Cranbrook high school in a class of twenty graduating in the Advanced Course, Junior Grade, Annie Chalmers ranks second.

On his last visit here bee inspector Sheppard of Nelson selected the Bell apiary as the demonstration beekeeping station for this area, and from time to time he will give talks and demonstrations with the Bell hives and bees.

The pass list in the Entrance examinations shows that the Lister school sustained its previous excellent reputation by graduating both candidates, Murielle Millington and Ernest Stevens. At the Huscroft school Miss Arrowsmith had a similar good showing passing both pupils, Irene and Fred Huscroft.

There was a large crowd out for the picnic on Sunday afternoon and the success of the outing of a week previous was repeated. Practically all of the Lister people were on hand, as well as many from Porthill, and all enjoyed the sports and games, as well as the dinner, which included a liberal supply of ice cream.

The benefit dance for the Merville settlers on Saturday night was a splendid success, and after all expense are met there will be at least $75 to forward the Merville relief fund. Excellent music was provided by a five-piece orchestra composed of Mesdames Foreman and Lister, and Messrs. Lidgate, Finlay and Todd, and with Mr. Bernard in charge of the floor there is no need to say that things were kept moving from start to finish. The supper was in keeping with the music and with Mesdames Powers and Millington looking after its dispensation the best of service was given. Messrs. Bell, Bernard, Bird, Finlay and Powers, who had charge of the affair did themselves proud as hosts and appreciate the fine turnout of visitors from Creston, Canyon and other points in the Valley, and of all who helped in any way to make the affair a success, Mr. Norris' donation of cakes for the supper being most timely.

"You may be sure we were very quiet, and when Mrs. Black spoke to her husband after a few minutes we all jumped.

"'Sandy,' she said, 'ean ye no tak' heed to what the bairns are doing?'

"Sandy was a good-natured man whose easy ways were a sore trial to his energetic wife. 'Whisht, woman,' he replied soothingly, 'let the bairns have their play. They'll be auld soon enough, eh, Donald boy?"

Here Mrs. Livingstone paused, and Gypsy, who had heard the story before and so knew what was expected of the audience, said eagerly:

"So Sandy and Donald were the names, were they?"

"That they were, my girl. And in course of time I married Donald Livingstone and Janet married Sandy Morrison!"

"But what about Margaret?" I asked.

"Ah! my dear, that is the strange part of the story," and Mrs. Livingstone lowered her voice to a whisper. "Mrs. Black went into the bedroom, and while we could not hear her rightly she called some question to her good man. 'No,' replied he, 'I drew a blank.'

"How we girls did laugh at Margaret, for we read the oracle to mean that she would never marry. And, would you believe it? she never did! The man she was promised to was lost when he was out hunting, and Margaret lived and died a single woman.

"Well, well those were the good old days!" sighed Mrs. Livingstone. "Not that I'd be advising any young folks to try their fortunes as we did, though. The Book says, in Matthew six and thirty-four, 'Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof,' and the Book is always right—in spite of yon higher critics. 'Higher than what?' I'd like to ask them."

I wish that I were able to describe as it should be described the afternoon and its activities—to come back to the twentieth century.

Quoting again from the Argus: "Prominent citizens had, as per usual, prepared a lengthy programme of sporting events. The time-honoured and classical tug-of-war between the Bachelors and the Benedicts was rivalled in interest only by the Married Ladies' race and the Baseball throwing contest for Unmarried Ladies. The last-mentioned event was won by a newcomer to our town and country, and we congratulate Miss Elinor Eliot (late of Wilmington, England) upon her prowess. During the afternoon our local band, under the able leadership of the Reverend Bernard Hartford, of St. George's, discoursed sweet music to the delight and edification of all assembled." There is a whole column more, but this is enough to show what the Argus can do when it is backed up into a corner. That last phrase is Mr. Fiske's.

Even the Argus cannot do justice to the Baby Show. Our Cockney friends won first prize with their ten-months-old "Hellen 'Arriet," the prize being a bankbook in which ten dollars was shown to the credit of Ellen Harriet. After a succession of mild hints and direct questions I learned that half the prize had been donated by the stationmaster and half by the Massey-Harris agent—crusty old bachelors both, if one were to judge by appearances.

And the band! It consisted of one cornet (slightly off key), a fife, two violins, a piccolo, and an accordion. And the picture of Mr. Hartford conducting this motley crew through the intricacies of "Rule, Britannia", will cheer my last hour. When they came to "Arose, arose, arose," the fife, after one superhuman crescendo, gave out.

"Faith, that lad must be a Home Ruler," remarked Mr. O'Hara.

The baseball match, between the Town of Elba and the Early Settlers, is also beyond my powers of description. The excitement caused by it was marvellous, as was the noise made by the onlookers. Mr. O'Hara and Mr. Milne, one on each side of me, were yelling bloodthirsty directions to their favourite players, and Reginald and Percival watched the game as if the fate of empires depended on it.

"Wouldn't you enjoy it all just as much if you did not wear your throats out?" I asked Mr. Milne.

"Oh, I don't know that we should," he replied. "We Canadians are rather primitive in the expression of our emotions, you see."

I thought for a minute that he was offended, but I changed my mind when, at the next brilliant strike, he clapped his hands gently, and said, "conversational like," "Jolly well played, old chap!"

The Town of Elba won. Don't ask me what the score was.

By eight o'clock that night I could have gone to sleep in an iron foundry—but I would not have missed the experiences of the day for worlds.

I return to Winnipeg to-morrow, and I shall leave Elba with sincere regret. It is probably unnecessary for me to say that I know very little more about dairying and poultry raising than I did two weeks ago. But then just think of all the other things that I have seen and learned! There are more things in heaven and earth than dairies and hens, and I am not ashamed to admit that the innocuous dairies and hens do not play so prominent a part in my scheme of life as they once did.

Perhaps the air in Canada is unsettling. Perhaps with hens, as in other matters, familiarity breeds contempt. Perhaps—but why search for a reason? I have, at any rate, come to the conclusion that Canada is to be preferred to even a model dairy, Canadians to the most fascinating of hens, and human interest to bank interest.

Some day I shall have my farm, but for a few months at least I shall indulge my wanderlust and take with thankfulness all the adventures the Fates are pleased to send. It is still my intention to obtain a position as working companion. I consider that in this way I can best get to the heart of Canadian life. And I want to feel that I am more than a mere visitor in the land. Teaching is out of the question, for governesses are not in demand and my theories on education are not such as would recommend me to any well-regulated School Board. Office work I am not fitted for, nor should I like it. So, on the whole, my original plan seems the most satisfactory, even under changed conditions.

The Fiskes have asked me to stay with them for a couple of weeks longer, but Mary Arnold also is begging for the honour of my distinguished company, so I must leave. Then, too, Mrs. Fiske has succeeded in getting a real "hired girl," a Scotch lassie whose accent is so broad that she has to go sideways through the doors. I do not think that she will last long. I do not mean to say that she shows any signs of departing this life in a hurry—far from it! But she is pretty, in a sensible, everyday fashion; and if the hungry young bachelors of Elba ever get a smell, much less a taste, of her cooking, Mrs. Fiske will have to advertise again. Long and sad experience has taught the Fiskes one lesson, however—Jeannie signed a contract to remain with them for one year.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

Government Land Settlement Policy

Available Dominion lands in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the Peace River Block in the province of British Columbia, are in future to be dealt with by areas, as designated on the accompanying map.

Area A.—This area comprises the lands lying south of Township 16 in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

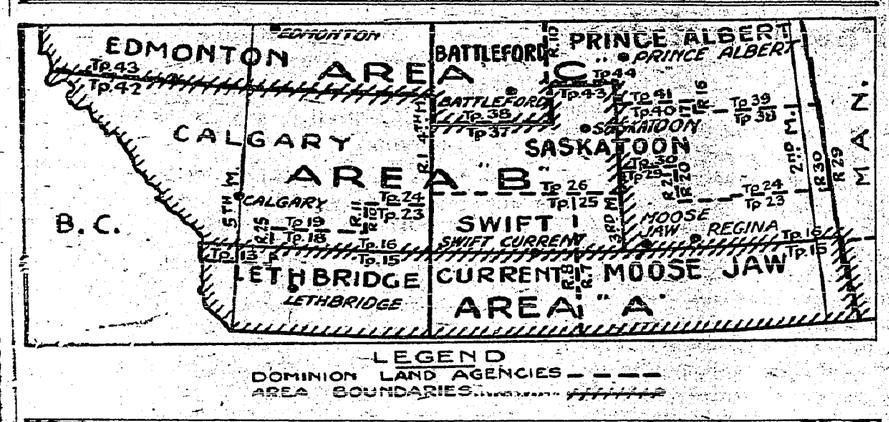
The right of entry is withdrawn in this area. Vacant and available Dominion lands therein, however, are open for applications for leasing for grazing purposes.

Area B.—This area comprises lands within the Lethbridge, Calgary, Swift Current, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon Land Agencies, in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, lying north of Township 15 and west of the Third Meridian.

Vacant and available Dominion lands in this area are being inspected, and such as are found suitable for settlement will be available for entry on the usual terms. The residue of such lands will be available for applications for leasing for grazing purposes.

Area C.—This area comprises all the territory lying to the north and east of areas A and B, in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and includes the Peace River Block in British Columbia.

Disposition of the available Dominion lands in this territory will be continued as in the past.



Bees Know Time of Day

Knew at Least When It Was Time to Look for Sweets

The question as to whether or not bees are able to tell the time, has been solved, to his own satisfaction, by a French expert. He began by breakfasting in the open air at 7 a.m., partaking of light preserves. At the noonday meal no sweets were served, but at 4 p.m. there was a light touch of sweets. Within a week all the bees in the neighborhood got wind of what was going on, and the table was swarmed with them regularly as clockwork daily at 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., but there were none at noon; Subsequently a jar of jam was placed in a window for the first five minutes of every hour during the day. The bees made hourly visits with such regularity that the time of day could be judged without reference to a clock.

There is very little ice manufactured in England, the greater bulk of it being imported from Norway in special fast wooden ships.

A Queer Animal

Long-Necked Sea Lizard Could Bite Tree In Two

A good many hundred thousand years ago there were various queer animals on this earth, and one of the queerest was a creature that is known today as the long-necked sea lizard.

These far from pretty animals had a body shaped somewhat like a cigar with a snake-like neck and a head that resembeld a duck's, while it was thrust through the water by four flappers and a short tail.

An idea of their size can be gathered when it is known that a single tooth was a foot or more in length, and its head, the smallest part of its anatomy, was six feet long.

A total length of 60 feet would not be a giant by any means, and there is reason to believe its strength was so great that a single snap of the jaws would be powerful enough to cut through a tree with a 36-inch circumference.

It lived almost all of the time in the sea, and diner off fish and other marine food. Its battles must have been terrific, as skeletons have been found where great pieces of vertebrae have been torn out, evidently from the living creature.

Colonization of Irrigation Lands

Alberta Government authorities announce that plans are about to be drawn up for the colonization of irrigation lands and a comprehensive settlement scheme put into operation. Listing of lands in the Lethbridge northern district has been completed and a total acreage of 30,000 acres of improved farm land is available for settlement at prices ranging from $12.50 to $35.00 per acre.

Amateur Mountaineer Climbs Mount Victoria

Accompanied by Swiss Guide Succeeds in Reaching Summit

Val A. Flynn, of St. Louis, amateur mountain climber, and Rudolph Aemer, Swiss guide at Chateau Lake Louise, succeeded in climbing the face of Mount Victoria, 11,600 feet. This is the first time this feat has been performed. All the morning spectators in front of the Chateau crowded around the big telescope watching the climber's perilous ascent. They left the Chateau a few minutes after midnight and reached the top of the glacier in the mountain's face at 4 a.m. Then from the altitude of 9,000 feet they struck straight upward toward the summit reaching a point 600 feet from the top. Aemer was seen to cut steps up the sheer wall of ice for 250 feet. Evidently he could go no further and retracing his steps, the climbers made a traverse to the right and reached the summit at 1.15 p.m. This is their fourth and only successful attempt.

Southern Alberta Wheat Shipments

From September 1st, 1921, to May 20th, 1922, a total of 6,400,000 bushels of wheat had been shipped out of the Lethbridge division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which includes the territory from Okotoks south to the boundary and east to Dunmore junction near Medicine Hat.

GROWING BOYS AND GIRLS

Need Rich, Red Blood to Keep Up Health and Strength

It is a mistake to think that anaemia is only a girl's complaint. Girls probably show the effect of weak, watery blood more plainly than boys. But many boys in their teens grow thin and weedy, showing that they have not enough blood, or that it is thin and watery. Let the boy in this condition catch cold and he will lose his strength and his health becomes precarious. To overcome this trouble give both your weak boys and girls Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon good appetite returns and the weak boy or languid girl becomes full of activity and high spirits. Mrs. P. Garvey, R.R. No. 5, Mono Mills, Ont., tells what this medicine did for her young son. She says:—"Three years ago, my little boy, who was then 11 years old, was very pale and weak, he would take fainting spells and complained of a pain about his heart. One day a lady friend who noticed his run-down condition told me her daughter had been in a similar state and found new health through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I therefore got a supply for my boy, and by the time the first box was used his appetite seemed better, and by the time he had taken half a dozen boxes everyone was surprised at the change in his condition, he was such a fine, healthy looking boy. He had grown tall and stout, with no signs of his former run-down condition. I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unexcelled for anyone weak and run-down."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dangerous Cargoes

Sailors Dislike to Sail With a Cargo of Sugar or Coffee

At first thought it would seem that dynamite was a cargo to be carefully avoided, but from a sailor's point of view there are far more dangerous cargoes. He dreads, for instance, a cargo of sugar!! Put hundreds of tons of cane sugar in casks in the hold of a vessel and let the ship steam through a spell of hot weather. The odor is sickening. The sailors cannot get the sweet taste out of their mouths and crave vinegar or lime juice—anything sour. They lose their appetites and are always glad when a voyage on which the cargo was sugar is over. Coffee is as disagreeable as sugar, in addition being very dangerous.

Cotton is a really dangerous cargo. If a little oil happens to touch raw cotton the result is spontaneous combustion. A single bale of cotton saturated with such an oil as boiled linseed and lying at the bottom of a hold can be compared only to a slow match attached to a bomb.

Acids and other chemicals form dangerous cargoes. Carbide of calcium, for example. Acetylene gas is made from this chemical and the gas is constantly given off if the product is exposed to air.

Shipmasters dislike to carry drums of acid where they can be reached easily. A Chilean ship recently put in at the Falkland Islands leaking badly. Her cargo was made up of drums of acid and chalk. The acid had leaked from the drums and mixed with the chalk, forming carbonic acid gas in the hold. This gas is deadly and the crew could not make repairs. Meantime, the acid had gathered in the bottom of the ship and had eaten away the iron frames there.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest save many a fee.

SENDS TANLAC TO RELATIVES IN HOLLAND

North Vancouver Woman Says She Wishes Everybody In The World Could Have The Medicine—Restored Her To Splendid Health.

"I think so much of Tanlac I am sending it to my relatives in Holland for I want them to know what a wonderful medicine we have over here," said Mrs. C. Spruitenburg, 15th St., E., North Vancouver, B.C.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and other ailments so long I was almost a nervous and physical wreck. After meals my food soured and I often bloated until I could scarcely breathe. My nerves got in such an awful condition I couldn't sleep nights, and I had dizzy, fainting spells so often I was afraid to risk myself alone.

"My first bottle of Tanlac helped me so much I kept on taking it until now I feel like a different person. My stomach never gives me the least trouble, my nerves are normal and I sleep like a child every night. I wish everybody in the world could have Tanlac. I cannot praise it too highly."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

An Engaging Chinese Figure

General Wu Is Clever Politician Without Conceit

General Wu is the most engaging figure that has appeared in Chinese politics for a long time. He has none of the conceit and cunning that mar Sun Yat-Sen's character, and seems to be free from the chicanery and unscrupulousness of that bandit risen in the world, Chang Tso-Lin. He expresses himself well and patriotically. He does not, he says, desire office, but the opportunity to unify China, abolish militarism, revive industry and gain the respect of the world. Of course men who were not so modest as they would like to seem have used such language before, but Wu adds to the impression that he is an honest, likable fellow with more than his share of brains.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, AUG. 4

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

McKay Protests

Camp Lister, July 25.

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—Please discontinue the advertisement in the Creston Review regarding the sale of cows; also scratch my name off your list of subscribers to your paper from this date.

I am surprised at a man, whom I always thought was one of my best Creston friends, to take a stand like you have done in this case of mine, which happened recently, especially when the case was settled out of court. I think, at least, you might have heard both sides of the question first before taking the stand you have done. Why didn't you advertise the the Rowbury-Bernhard case, also a case of drunkeness and which happened on the streets of Creston the other day. Had I known that the case was going to be published, after all was said and done I would willingly have let it gone through the courts and coughed up everything I had to say regarding this settlement. Also the treatment I have received at the hands of the Land Settlement Board.

Now as president of the board of trade, and evidently a man who has the success and future welfare of the Valley at heart, why don't you come out and bring any of your friends —Liberal or Conservative—and I will show you over what I call my just grievances, and I will also make a sporting offer to you that if the majority think I have no kick, and that the price, etc., is reasonable, and that you would be quite willing to take on this proposition yourself at this figure, also under these conditions, I will sign the agreement. If you cannot see your way clear to take on this challenge Mr. Editor, and show British fair play by publishing this on the same page of your paper as you published your own letter, then I would respectfully request you in the future to keep your hands off the cart, if you won't buy any apples.

PETER McKAY.

[When the Reviewy finds that a useful community purpose can be served by publishing police court proceedings or other items our policy will be to give them full publicity. The McKay case comes in this category in that it served to awake Review readers to the fact that a situation exists at Lister that is not at all desirable. The editor has no intention of making an appraisal of Mr. McKays's holdings nor the terms of the proposed agreement of sale. If Mr. McKay finds the price asked too high our advice to him is not to buy. And having proferred him our counsel in this regard might we suggest that he practice some of the fair play he bespeaks on behalf of himself (in his letter) by keeping his hands off the cart if he won't buy any apples such as some of the other Lister settlers are prepared to buy in the shape of signing the L.S.B. agreement and getting down to farming. As an officer and gentleman, Peter, try and observe the fine old British principle of respecting the other fellow's views even if you can't accept them.—ED.]

Municipal Organization

Last spring there was some discussion of the question whether the Creston district was having returned to it by the provincial government in public expenditures an amount equal to that obtained in revenue from this district. And of the further question whether some relief could not be obtained from the ever growing burden of taxation by organizing a Municipality. It is impossible to give an accurate statement of the receipts and exp nditures of the Government in this district unless someone should spend some weeks in sorting out all the various items in the provincial offices at Nelson and Kaslo. And if all these figures were compiled it would not give much assistance in forming an idea as to whether taxation could be lowered under a municipality, for the reason that a municipality has few sources of revenue as compared with the provincial government. The main source of revenue of a municipality is the tax on land and improvements.

To show the proportion that land taxes form of the total provincial revenue the following statement is given showing the total net receipts of the province and also the total receipts from the real property tax and wild land tax for the financial years 1911-1912 to 1920 1921 inclusive.

STATEMENT

Year	Total Revenue	Real Prop. Tax	Wild Ld. Tax
1911-1912. . .	$10,677,672	$ 298,078	$ 428,274
1912-1913. . .	12,436,027	459,570	546,087
1913-1914. . .	10,398,381	501,051	659,424
1914-1915. . .	7,871,375	515,143	646,441
1915-1916. . .	6,193,560	492,813	534,459
1916-1917. . .	6,799,958	532,106	521,325
1917-1918. . .	8,755,885	1,013,983	690,536
1918-1919. . .	10,931,279	991,203	792,416
1919-1920. . .	13,861,602	1,148,212	1,132,440
1920-1921. . .	15,219,264	1,046,343	861,811

A statement is also given of the provincial expenditures charged to income during the same financial years for the purpose of enabling one to deduce the general tendency of thosr expenditures.

STATFMENT OF EXPENDITURE

Year.	Amount.	Year.	Amount.
4911-1912—	$11,189,024	1916-1917—	$ 9,079,317
1912-1913—	15,412,322	1917-1918—	8,073,565
1913-1914—	15,762,912	1918-1919—	12,112,285
1914-1915—	11,942,667	1919-1920—	13,510,271
1915-1916—	9,880,662	1920-1921—	19,626,690

It should be noted that the statement of revenue does not include the amount of school tax collected in unorganized districts and the statement of expenditures does not include capital expenditures. The wild land tax includes the revenue derived from the Timber and Coal Land Taxes.

An examination of the above statements will show that the expenses of the provincial government have steadily increased year by year except for a time after the outbreak of the war and also a similar general tendency is shown in the amount of revenue derived from the real property and wild land taxes. Judging the future from the past there is little hope of any reduction in the amount of the provincial taxes unless a provincial Geddes should arise to wield the axe on our expenditures.

The opinion that it would be possible to lower our taxes considerably by organizing a municipality is one that requires very careful examination. To vote intelligently on the subject every ratepayer should have fairly accurate information on the following questions: The probable cost of organizing a Municipality; What are its sources of revenue and an estimate of its amount on our present assessment; The ordinary running expenses, including the cost of the council and any paid officials; The estimated amount annually for necessary public works, such as roads and bridges; The powers of the Council to raise and expend moneys; The limitations on the powers of borrowing money either on the credit of the whole municipality for objects of benefit to the whole, or within prescribed areas for local improvements.

The Municpal Act is filled with a great mass of detail regarding some of these subjects which it is impossible to present within the limits of a letter. One can however state in a general way what appear to be the underlying principles in determing what can and what cannot be expended by the Council without obtaining the consent of the electors.

The cost of incorporation and the ordinary expenditures of a municipality for all purposes from its annual revenue would depend to a considerable extent on the size of the area within its boundaries. The executive of the Ratepayers Association has given some attention to this matter and the suggestion has been made to them that for various reasons it would probably be better to see if it is now possible to incorporate a limited area for a beginning. If this can be done and the affairs of the corporation are conducted successfully, its boundaries could be extended from time to time as and when the necessary majority of the electors under the Act in adjoining areas desire to come in.

The suggested area of the proposed Municipalily includes the following Lots, District Lots Nos. 524, 525, 526, 891, 892, 3864, 5617 and Blocks 1-24 inclusive of Lot 812, Map 730A. The assessed value of this area for the present year may be put in round figures at $900,000.00. That is not the exact amount, but it is not incorrect by more than a few thousand dollars one way or the other. From this area the provincial government will collect this year approximately $9000 on the real property tax alone.

Next week an attempt will be made to answer as far as possible the questions mentioned in a preceding paragraph, and on which the prudent ratepayer will require fairly exact information before deciding for or against Municipality.

Why and Wherefor of Prohibitory Laws

Unquestionably there is a considerable degree of restiveness among people over the enactment and subsequent enforcement of prohibitory laws of one kind and another. While this feeling of resentment finds expression most vigorously in connection with prohibitory liquor laws, there is an undercurrent of feeling in relation to other matters as well. But do the people who so vigorously object to these repressive laws ever stop to ask themselves to what extent they are themselves responsible for their enactment?

Prohibitory laws are always the result of excessive over-indulgence, a lack of self-control, or self-denial. This statement holds true not only in regard to liquor legislation, but in regard to practically all laws of a sumptuous character. For example, the laws passed prohibiting the killing of beaver in Canada were rendered necessary because some hunters and trappers would not deny themselves the pleasure or profit to be derived from killing these industrious little workers. Close seasons for duck, prairie chickens, and all kinds of game had to be established and are enforced for the same reason.

Every year the newspapers of this country are filled with reports of the destruction of millions of dollars worth of valuable forests, and in the vast majority of cases these destructive fires are the result of the carelessness arising out of the lack of a little self-denial on the part of someone who would not take the time or go to the trouble of properly protecting a campfire, or who started a fire for fun under conditions of wind or in such close proximity to bush as to invite a conflagration. Some people, too, have a mania for stripping the bark off of birch trees, or otherwise defacing public property which necessitates the enforcement of prohibitory regulations applicable to everybody.

One or two farmers in a given community will not exercise the self-denial, or take the precautions necessary, to keep their land free from noxious weeds, with the result that the whole district is threatened and suffers loss. The inevitable result is the passage of laws to compel everybody to destroy weeds.

"Keep off the grass" signs in city parks always cause a feeling of indignation because it is felt that these grassy spaces should be for the special use of children on hot summer days. Why, then, are such signs displayed? Because people will be selfish. The temperate use of city park spaces would give them and everybody else real pleasure, but there are those who will persist in making beaten tracks across these lawns with the result that everybody is prohibited from walking on the grass.

Some people go fishing and haul in everything they can, big and little, and keep it up regardless of their requirements for seasonable food, with the result that lakes and streams are fished out. If such people alone were the sufferers from such wholesale destruction they might well be allowed to suffer the penalty of their folly and lack of self-control. But everybody suffers, and so it becomes necessary every now and then to prohibit fishing altogether in such lakes and streams for a few years in order that the stock of fish may be replenished.

Sunday observance laws are passed so strict in character as to make that day one which thousands of people loathe, instead of hailing its coming as a day of joy and gladness. In some respects our Canadian Sunday observance laws are like the blue laws of Puritan New England. Yet these laws have been enacted in order to prevent Sunday becoming even less restful and sacred than the other six days of the week.

It was not the moderate drinker, the man who really enjoyed a glass of beer as a beverage, who brought about Prohibition. Such a man was not a menace to the whole community. It was the man who drank to excess and in his drunken state was worse than a beast, or an insane man, ill-treating his family, and disturbing the peace of all, who caused such a revulsion of public opinion as to lead to the demand that the sale of intoxicants of all kinds be rigidly prohibited.

It is a law of nature that the innocent must suffer with the guilty. It is a maxim that we must make provision in law and in law enforcement which will result in the greatest good to the greatest number. Hence, the passage of prohibitory laws for the advancement of the public good, and to prohibit the majority from the selfishness and viciousness of the few.

Hand in hand with the passage of such laws—and even more important and lasting in the results to be achieved—is the need for proper training of children in the duties, the obligations, the restrictions involved in Canadian citizenship. There is need for a revival of teaching the young to respect the rights and property of others, and the property of the state which is the property of all. There is a crying need for the inculcation of the principles of self-control, self-denial, and a true conception of the gain to be derived from the practice of conservation in the true sense and meaning of the word.

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. Chas. Baker, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

Alberta Coal

Compares Very Favorably With Imported Coal for Smithy Purposes

After extensive experiments with the use of an Alberta coal for smithy purposes, the Industrial Research Department of the University of Alberta states that it compares very favorably with imported Pennsylvania coal for this purpose. Comparative tests were made under ordinary blacksmithy conditions, and included heating, welding and tool-making. In all these tests the results obtained with the Alberta coal were equally as good, if not better than, those obtained with Pennsylvania coal.

Strange Alpine Phenomenon

Pollen of Fruit Tinges Whole Country Yellow Hue

A curious Alpine phenomenon is reported in different parts of the Canton of Vaud. When a strong wind ceased the whole country assumed a yellow hue. The Dent Vaulion, 4,880 feet high, looked like a golden dome, and the forests seemed on fire, while Lake Joux resembled a sea of champagne. The yellow was caused by large masses of pollen from fruit trees, which was blown across the mountains and deposited when the wind dropped. The peasants call it "golden rain."

Minard's Liniment for Dandruff

TO THE LITTLE MISS THIS FROCK IS SURE TO BRING BLISS.

Mothers sometimes find it difficult to please the little miss when selecting clothing for their wardrobe. They feel quite grown-up at that age and their tastes usually run to modes that add materially to their years. Mother, of course, insists on something useful. Here is a suggestion for an afternoon frock which is bound to be classed as adorable by the most particular little miss. It is of brown crepe de chine, with pleated flutings of rose crepe, which afford an attractive note of contrast. Very novel is the feather girdle, which serves as a distinctive finshing touch.

Minister Of Labor Refers To Benefits Of Conciliation Board Plan

Ottawa.—A deputation representing Division No. 4 Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor, waited upon Premier King and Minister of Labor Murdock, and placed before them, in words of a member of the delegation, "first-hand information as to the general railway situation and the serious state of affairs that was developing owing to the application of the wage decreases."

The deputation consisted of R. J. Tallon, Frank McKenna and Fred Harrison, of Division No. 4, and James Somerville and J. A. McClelland, Vice-Presidents of the International Machinists' Union.

The representations of the delegation were promised consideration by the Premier, but no further statement in regard to the interview was made public.

A statement was, however, issued by the Minister of Labor, "expressing some satisfaction at the good fortune which has so far attended Canada in the railway labor controversies prevailing in the United States and Canada, with the difference that, whereas in the United States some hundreds of thousands of workmen are on strike and many other thousands are threatening to cease work, there is not in the Dominion a strike growing out of the controversies in question.

"The advantage in the Canadian situation," said the statement, "is without doubt due to the wholesome and beneficial effect of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, the virtues of which, in connection with industrial disputes, have never been more strikingly illustrated than at the present time, when there are eight or nine conciliation boards actually sitting or in course of constitution.

"An aspect of the situation particularly pleasing to the Minister of Labor is the disposition shown by both railway companies and railroad workmen to conform with the requirements of the statute. This has been specially indicated in the case of the three United States lines operating in Canada, namely, the Michigan Central Railroad, the Pere Marquette and the New York Central Railroad. Each of these railways has shops in Canada, and the roads, between them, employ many hundreds of workmen. The workmen are members of the same unions which are on strike in the United States."

Russians Make New Proposals

Hague Delegates Suggest Arrangement for Payment of Debt

The Hague.—The new proposal in connection with compensation for confiscated property and payment of the Russian debt were advanced by the Russian delegates at a meeting with the entire non-Russian commission of the conference on Russian affairs here.

The Russians suggested an arrangement by which Russia would undertake to negotiate directly with foreigners for the payment of compensation for confiscated property and with bond holders for settlement of the Russian debt.

The Russians proposed that all the delegates, including the Russian, submit this project to their respective governments and await an answer for one week at The Hague. The Russians for the time being dropped the question of credits, as they said the non-Russians had declined credits. It was announced that the non-Russian representatives would meet later to discuss the proposal.

Russia, her representatievs said, would engage to make arrangements with foreign claimants within two years.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Mrs. Roy Keith, Charlton, Ont., writes:—"I am writing to tell you what Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry did for me. Last summer my children had diarrhoea, terribly bad, and they would vomit and pass a great deal of blood. I tried every remedy we could think of, but finally bought a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and about one-half of it stopped the diarrhoea altogether. I have told several others about it, and I would not be without it in the house, as I can truthfully say it saved the lives of my two children."

Brandon.—Wheat stem saw fly is damaging the crops in the Douglas district, according to reports from there. The extent of the damage cannot yet be ascertained.

Indications Point To Early Adjustment Of All International Debts

London.—Statements in the House of Commons that the British debt to the United States would certainly be paid—and a committee is proceeding to Washington to arrange the details of time and manner of payments—are believed here to indicate an early adjustment of the whole matter of international indebtedness.

British officials declined to discuss reports that the German indemnity is to be reduced to fifty billion gold marks, in return for which France is to receive the cancellation of her debts to Britain. The placing of Anglo-American accounts on a definite footing is now intimated. This has long been held to be the keystone of the whole financial arch, so that speedy adjustments of other obligations may be expected. Treasury officials say that numerous solutions of the Anglo-French debts have been considered. One of them contemplates a reduction of the German obligations to £2,500,000,000, compared with £6,600,000,000, which is the present figure. They declare that nothing will be done pending the report of the reparations commission. There has been no suggestion that the bankers' commission should be reconvened, they said.

Berlin.—As was foreshadowed in its note to the reparations commission of July 11, applying for a moratorium, the German Government, it is announced, has now sent a note to the Allied Governments asking that the monthly reparations payment, which hitherto has amounted to £2,000,000, should be reduced to £500,000 for the period ending December 31, 1924.

The Government further requests that during the same period all cash payments of compensation respecting damage inflicted upon property rights or interests of subjects of allied or associated powers in Germany, be suspended.

Greece Again Meets Payments

Change of Government Caused Lapse In Loan Interest

Ottawa.—Greece, it is understood, is again meeting interest payments on the loan of seven and a half millions advanced by Canada, in the forms of credits in 1919. When the credits were first granted, interest payments were met regularly but, following governmental changes in Greece, there was a lapse.

Roumania is still in default in interest payments on the loan of twenty millions, but there is hope that they will be met eventually. On March 31, 1922, Roumania owed to Canada in interest alone, the sum of $2,606,652.

China's Department of Finance Closed

Peking.—Minister of Finance Tung Kang closed the doors of the Department of Finance with the announcement that they would remain closed until funds could be found for the empty treasury. He predicts that President Li Yuan-Hung's administration will be unable to weather the present crisis.
