Arrangements for Fall Fair Complete

At the meeting of the directors at the office of Secretary Walmsley on Friday night every arrangement was completed for the 1922 fall fair on Wednesday, October 4th, and from reports presented by those in charge of the various departments it now seems certain that the 1922 exhibition will present the biggest list of entries and the finest display in all lines ever seen in the main building.

Particularly attractive awards are offered in all the classes and with the added features in the way of special prizes certainly the fruit section should be bigger than ever, while special interest centres in the special offerings of Mrs. Downs for the basket or plate of fruit for table decoration. R. S. Bevan's special for the three largest apples, and Canyon Local United Farmers prize for the best four plates of apples grown in the Canyon City district. The $10 added prizes by Erickson Local of the United Farmers for the best collection of vegetables will assure a big entry in that section, rivalry being particularly keen this year to take the cup and the prize money back to Erickson again.

The ladies' sections at the fair, which have been light the past two years will assuredly be heavier for 1922, particularly in the line of cooking and canned goods, whilst reports reaching the secretary's office would indicate that a whole lot of needlework has been manufactured and will be on display this year.

The poultry class is another department that should show an encouraging increase. At Lister the soldier farmers have gone extensively into this line and Director Langston has devoted considerable effort to get out a representative display from both Lister and the Huscroft district.

An added feature this year is the sections for milch goats and kids, for both of which attractive prizes are offered and word has just come that the B.C. Goat Breeders' Association will also make awards to the prize winners. There are quite a number of goats owned in the Valley and these will help draw the crowds to inspect the livestock display.

If a sufficient number of boxes of apples are loaned the directors intend sending possibly thirty or more boxes to the fair which opens at Bonners Ferry the next day for competition in the district fruit display class at the big Idaho fair.

The big outdoor attraction will be the baseball match between the Creston and Bonners Ferry teams. Last July Creston trimmed the visitors very decisively and as Creston will field an exceptionally strong team on the fourth the best ball game ever seen here may be looked for.

Exhibitors will oblige by turning in their list of entries early, 10 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 30th, is the latest entries can be made, and all hall exhibits must be in place by noon on Tuesday, Oct. 3rd, so that judging can be started that afternoon. The department at Victoria are supplying all the judges again this year.

Shipping at Erickson is reaching record proportions at present, the daily export being about three straight cars. There are still some vegetables moving but the bulk is apples—mostly Wealthys.

Painters are busy now on the new E. W. Klingensmith residence this week, and when this bit of exterior finish is complete the home will certainly be the most attractive in the Erickson section.

Clarence Maxwell was a business visitor at Nelson a couple of days the latter part of the week. Mr. Beam got back a few days ago from a short stay with Nelson friends.

Mrs. and Miss McKinnon of Summerside, P.E.I., who are returning east after an extended visit with B.C. friends, are here for a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Smith.

Be A True Sportsman

The shooting season in Canada's Western Province is at hand and young and inexperienced sportsmen will vie with seasoned old huntrs in taking toll of wild duck, prairie chicken, geese and bigger game. In many respects the West constitutes the amateur hunter's paradise. In other Provinces, to a very great extent, it is necessary for sportsmen to travel far afield from home to enjoy the hunting season, but in the Prairie West wild duck are to be found on almost every pond, slough and lake, while prairie chicken feed about the stooks of grain and roost in the little wooded bluffs which dot the farm homesteads.

These game birds are one of the assets of our Canadian West, and an asset worth protecting. Apart altogether from the sport of hunting, these birds have a high food value and are a delicacy much enjoyed by all. During the close seasons their presence adds to the picturesqueness of Western life and call forth expressions of interest and delight from permanent residents, visitors and tourists.

It is in the interests of all, therefore, but perhaps more particularly in the interests of the sportsmen themselves, that restraint should be exercised by all hunters at the opening of, and throughout the shooting season. Laws have been enacted restricting the period of the "open season," limiting the size of the daily and seasonal "bags," and imposing penalties for infractions of these ordinances. Violations of these laws are, however, not always easy of detection, but it should be a part of every true sportsmen's code that he observe these laws which have been enacted for his own and the public good, and that he should actively interest himself in seeing that such laws are obeyed by others, and offenders brought to book.

Old-timers can recall when the buffalo ranged over these prairies in countless thousands; so numerous in fact that any thought of the possibility of their extermination never entered the mind of anyone. Yet a comparatively few years of wanton, wholesale slaughter and the buffalo disappeared and is only to be seen today in zoological gardens and in specially prepared Government reserves. In like manner the industrious little beaver, Canada's national animal, was in danger of extermination until the killing of beaver at any and all times was prohibited.

A report recently issued by the British Columbia Government states that the famous Fraser River, the greatest river in the world for years in its yield of sockeye salmon, whose waters only a decade ago were so crowded at spawning seasons of the year that a person could literally walk across a solid mass of fish, is now fished out of sockeye, and that the Skeena River, for decades second only to the Fraser in its salmon production, has practically reached the same condition. And the salmon industry was not so long ago one of British Columbia's greatest industries, and one which advertised that Province all over the world. The men who have been responsible for thus annihilating the salmon in a hurry-up get rich quick scheme have ruined not only their own business but have inflicted irreparable loss on their Province and Dominion.

There should be an object lesson in these things, the force of which should not be lost upon every man who takes out a hunter's license in the Western Provinces this year. Some men may think it smart and an evidence of great skill and marksmanship to bring down an unusually large number of birds, and to boast of their achievement, but it is something over which they should hang their heads in shame, rather than boast about aloud.

Shooting for the mere sake of shooting is not sport, and the man who indulges in such a practice is not a true sportsman. And most assuredly he is not the friend of sportsmen, because sooner or later the inevitable result will be to deprive everybody of a legitimate means of sport, and to rob this country of what has already been described as a very valuable asset.

Game guardians should be accorded every possible support by all true sportsmen and lovers of wild life. Instead of assisting offenders against our game laws to escape detection and the just penalty for their infractions of the law, people generally should co-operate to expose these lawless ones and bring them to justice.

The West can ill afford to have our game birds go the way of the buffalo, the beaver and the sockeye salman. Strict observance of existing game laws by sportsmen, and the exposure of the few who consider their momentary pleasure to the rights and interests of others and who by their acts jeopardize the future, will assure to the Western Provinces an ever-continuing pleasure and guarantee a retention of one of the picturesque features of the country—its wild bird life.

New Plan to Exterminate Rodents

Use Poison Gas to Clear French Fields of Mice

The valley of Ajole, on the Swiss-French frontier, has been invaded by thousands of mice, and the rodents are doing much damage. They are believed to have come from the trenches in Alsace. The village authorities have arranged drives by the people, offering half a cent for each dead animal. Poison gas is being used and the method is to inject this into the subterranean galleries built by the mice. It has proved most effective, 27,000 dead being the record for one day.

A CORDIAL INVITATION TO DISEASE

This is an apt description of Constipation. It's an unnatural condition to begin with—but it's dangerous because it leads to indigestion, fills the system with poisons, brings on anaemia. You don't need a purgative, you don't want to weaken the system by a harsh griping medicine—what you need is mild natural stimulant to the bowels. You get just what you need in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which tone up the liver, restore the bowels to perfect action and postively end constipation. Restore War Devastated Regions

Reported Hugo Stinnes Will Enter Pact With French Interests

Industrial leaders of Berlin, who are credited with being well-informed as regards the plans of Hugo Stinnes, Germany's leading industrialist, predict the early conclusion of a pact between Herr Stinnes and a group of French interests, represented by the Marquis de Lubersac, which will have for its object the scientific working out of a plan for the restoration of the war-devastated areas.

The negotiations, which have been going on virtually over the heads of the German and French Governments, will make it possible for local co-operationists and larger units in the former French zone to contract direct with the Franco-German syndicate for building and other materials, which will be delivered chiefly by Germany.

Meaning of Conservation

How to Make the Best Use of Our Natural Resources

Curious how many people entirely misunderstand the meaning of conservation. We overheard someone, not long ago, talking glibly of the need of conserving our forests, and it became evident that his idea was that someone should prevent the lumbermen from cutting down the trees. Conservation means use; intelligent use as distinguished from wasteful use. Canada has been endowed by nature with incalculable natural resources, but it is mere folly to brag of those resources, to pat ourselves on the back as thought their possession were in some way a merit of our own, unless we are prepared to get to work and put them to the best possible use. Our waterpowers might as well be in Greenland unless we are determined to develop them, and to develop them intelligently. Our timber resources are inexhaustible if we practice conservation in their use, and that does not mean letting them alone, but cutting scientifically and adopting a policy of reforestation. Our enormous coal resources are capable of adding immensely to the national wealth, and making us independent of outside sources of supply, if we put our experts to the problem of how to make them economically accessible to the country as a whole.—Ottawa Journal

Praise for the Sparrow

Much Maligned Bird Is Prominent Amongst Insect Destroyers

When the harbinger of spring, the robin, incurs the wrath of the farmer for its incursions into the orchard or the strawberry patch, the despised English sparrow will have difficulty in edging into his good graces. This maligned bird, however, has a friend at court, and its virtues are recited in an official report of the biological survey of the department of agriculture. The report explains that studies of birds as insect destroyers and of vermin and parasite pests, extending through a century of observation, show that many so-called bird pests are active aids to the farmer as insect destroyers.

The survey proves that the sparrow is one of the prominent birds which feed upon the seventeen-year locust, asparagus beetle, locust lead miner, caterpillar, canker, army and drop worms, and that the quail, usually a seed eater, also feeds on the locust the olive scale. W. L. McAtee, of the United States biological survey, cites cases where flocks of birds have destroyed insect plagues and their eggs and larvae so completely that such species never have returned to the localities where they were causing much damage. Ordinarily, of course, the birds are not sufficiently numerous to cope with widespread insect invasions.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A Duck's Speed

The speed at which a duck can fly is much greater than the average person would suppose. For instance, it has been estimated by a competent authority that the speed of the canvasback is ninety-eight miles per hour; that of the blue-winged teal duck, eighty-nine miles; and that of the Canada goose, seventy-six miles. These speeds are probably in excess of their average flights, however.

Predicts Revolution In Greece As Result Of Turkish Army Successes

Rome.—A dispatch to the Giornale d'Italia from Smyrna says the gates of the city have been closed to exclude the hordes of refugees in flight before the Turkish Nationalist army. British subjects are leaving aboard a British ship, and the families of Greek officials and officers are departing. French and Italian flags have been hoisted over many houses to indicate that they are under the protection of those countries.

The dispatch adds that reports from Athens predict a revolution in Greece and the return of former Premier Venizelos to power.

The advices say that Mustapha Kemal Pasha is personally directing the advance of the Turks against the Greeks and has shown extraordinary gifts of strategy and military tactics.

Considerable feeling was caused here by the report that two Italian soldiers, returning from Constantinople, had been attacked by Greeks at Piraeus, one being killed and the other wounded. Following the attack, the Greek premier visited the Italian legation and expressed regret. He assured the minister the men who attacked the Italians would be punished and the families of the victims compensated.

London.—The Times learns that King Constantine has left Athens. No suggestion is made as to where he has gone, or why.

Constantinople.—While the Turks are hastening to press their advantage over the Greeks in their advance towards Smyrna, the latter are rushing reinforcements to the scene and if General Tricoupis can restore the morale of his men, the Kemalists may yet be brought to a standstill, it is believed here.

Farmers May Shoot Ducks Out of Season

Saskatchewan Government Issues Order for Protection of Crops

Regina, Sask.—An order-in-council has been issued by the Provincial Government making it legal for farmers to shoot, out of season, wild ducks which are damaging grain crops.

Many reports have been received from districts where the birds are causing much havoc in the grain fields and at Duval, Sask., they are said to be so plentiful that the efforts of two boys employed for the sole purpose of driving them off proved unavailing.

British Coal for Boston

Boston.—British coal is pouring into Boston in such quantities that 14 laden vessels are riding in the lower harbor awaiting opportunity to discharge their cargoes, while two others are in the upper harbor. Their loads total 90,000 tons. Nearly one-quarter of a million tons have arrived in this port since the first shipment following the American miners' strike. Thirty-six steamers are en route from British ports for Boston, carrying upwards of 200,000 tons.

Fatal Mining Accident

Fernie, B.C.—Dan Bodak is dead and George McAndrews slightly injured, following a cave-in at No. One Coal Mine at Coal Creek. Bodak, an unmarried Russian, was hit by a boom when the slide occurred. He was rescued within a few minutes, but died later of injuries. McAndrews also was buried by the cave-in, but his injuries are negligible.

Amundsen's Air Pilot Returns

Vancouver.—Lieut. E. G. Fullerton, Edmonton, formerly of the Canadian air staff here, who was to have piloted Captain Amundsen's monoplane from Alaska to Spitsbergen, has arrived back from Alaska. Captain Amundsen will make the flight with one pilot only.

Wood Alcohol Poisoning

New York.—The deaths of three men and two women and a case of blindness have occurred in the Red Hood section of Brooklyn, which police attribute to wood alcohol poisoning.

NEED AGGRESSIVE IMMIGRATION POLICY

CAPITAL FOR DEVELOPMENT OF WEST IS FORTHCOMING

Ottawa.—"Immigration and development of our natural resources are essential to the progress of Canada and to the solution of many national problems," declared Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in discussing his recent western tour. That a national and aggressive immigration policy has been developed and will shortly be announced, is now definitely known.

"Capital is required for development, especially in Western Canada, where the great natural resources furnish a great field for intelligent investment," Mr. Stewart added. "The Government is prepared to encourage investment for development, but not for exploitation or stock mongering. Every year Canada sends out of the country $40,000,000 for petroleum and petroleum products. Alberta may, in the near future, furnish a home product that may check in some degree this drain on our capital. The steady development of the United States oil field north has brought producing wells to the international boundary, and it is confidently anticipated that discoveries will be made this side of the line that will bring activity and prosperity to our western territory. The same is true of other natural resources in the west.

"The Government is prepared to protect and encourage legitimate efforts in development and to discourage stock jobbing brokers. Lease conditions will be carried out to the letter by the Government and investors need not fear retroactive legislation imposing unexpected conditions or exactions. Successful development will repay the Government under present conditions and in the prosperity that follows in its wake."

Mr. Stewart stated that there was a feverish activity in the Southern Alberta country by powerful and legitimate companies in development, caused in a great measure by the success immediately across the line. Across the international boundary 40 outfits are at work and on the Canadian side drilling is already in full blast. Dr. Dowling, in charge of this branch of the Mines Department, is on the ground watching developments.

Moratorium of Five Years Asked by London Bankers

London.—A group of London bankers have agreed to offer Austria a loan of between 200,000,000 and 300,000,000 krone according to the Daily Express.

The loan, which would require the approval of the Reparations Commission would be secured by Austria's import revenues, and would be granted only on condition that Austria be given a moratorium of five years on her war indemnity payments.

Sentenced to Death For Counter-Revolts

Russian Newspaper Announces Conviction of Fifty-Five Persons

Moscow.—Fifty-five persons have been sentenced to death in South Russia upon conviction of counter-revolutionary activities, the newspaper Pravda announces. The Ukrainian Court at Kiev sentenced 48 members of Petlura's Cossack bands which, in connection with General Tutunuk's forces, arose against the Ukrainian Soviet. All the convicted persons appealed.

At Simferopol, Nicolai Bozenko, a young officer who, under an assumed name, proclaimed himself the Czar of Russia several months ago, was sentenced to death, together with six followers, while Mme. Bozenko and seven others were sentenced to prison.

German Payroll Shows Increase

Civil Service Employees Get Thirty Per Cent. Raise

Berlin—Germany's civil service payroll for September will show an increase of one hundred billion marks over August in consequence of negotiations between officials and employees held at the Ministry of Finance. A 30 per cent. raise in wages was decided upon, due to the increased cost of living.

The index figure on the cost of living throughout Germany rose 40.9 per cent. in August as compared with 32 per cent. in July.

Soliciting Funds For Irish Republican Cause

Widow of Mayor McSwiney In States to Raise Money

New York.—Mrs. Muriel McSwiney, widow of former Mayor Torrance McSwiney of Cork, who died of starvation in Brixton Prison, London, in 1920, arrived on the President Arthur. She was accompanied by Linda Mary Kearns, Irish republican, and said the purpose of her visit was to raise funds for the dependents and orphans of the Irish republican cause and for hospitals of the wounded Irish republican army.

Railway Employees May Fight Award In Recent Wage Dispute

RUSSIA CONFIDENT OF PEACE IN FAR EAST

OUTCOME OF CONFERENCE WITH JAPAN IS CONSIDERED HOPEFUL

Moscow.—Russian Soviet officials appear extremely confident that the conference with the Japanese at Chang Chung will bring peace to the Far East and re-extension of Russia's sphere of influence to Vladivostok.

The railway administration is understood to be preparing to restore service on the European-Asia route with direct through trains from Moscow to Vladivostok while the newspapers announced the formation of a limited company to operate airplanes from Petrograd to the eastern city.

Already Russian trains de luxe are operating again as far as Chita and Moscow now for the first time since 1918, foresees the Russian or a Russian allied flag waving again on the Pacific.

Return Of MacMillan Expedition From Arctic

Says Map of North Country Will Have to be Revised

Sydney, N.S.—After penetrating into the frozen Arctic along the western coast of Baffin's Land to a point, he claims, never before reached by a white man, Donald C. MacMillan, Arctic explorer, reached Sydney on the schooner Bowdern, on his return to civilization after 14 months in the north.

"I have learned that the salient points in and about the western coast of Baffin's Land are astronomically incorrect," said Captain MacMillan to the Canadian Press on his arrival here.

"The geography of that country has been wrong for years back owing to the fact that the first explorer who went there, known to the world as "Northwest" Fox, did not give science correct data. I was the first white man in that country since Fox made his trip, and I went further along the coast than he did. Our party spent 300 days on the ice, making observations from points never before reached by a white man."

The entire map of that country would have to be revised, Captain MacMillan declared.

Bennett Balloon Race

Geneva.—Lieut. Ernst de Muyter, of Belgium, was officially declared the winner of the recent international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett cup. Captain H. E. Honeywell, one of the American entrants, was ranked second, and Maurice Blenaime, French entry, was ranked third.

Extend Governor's Term

London.—The Colonial Office, says a Reuter dispatch from Sydney, Australia, has agreed to a year's extension of Sir Walter Davidson's term as Governor of New South Wales. All the parties in the state express satisfaction.

Ottawa.—Before the matter could be discussed and decided upon by his Executive Committee, Charles Dickie, Secretary of Division No. 4, Railway Employees' Union, Montreal, sent a telegram to Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, protesting against the Government accepting the majority award of the Board of Conciliation adjudicating the dispute between the 35,000 railway shopmen and the members of the Railway Association of Canada. The telegram pointed out that the award was not a settlement of the trouble, and demanded that the case be re-opened.

Toronto.—James Simpson, a member of the Board of Conciliation, whose other two members, Alex Smith, Chairman, and Isaac Pitblado, K.C., representing the railroads, recommended tentative wage reductions to shop workers of seven and nine cents an hour, believes the 30,000 affected employees will fight the majority award.

Mr. Simpson submitted a minority award, which pointed out that the board did not properly inquire into the wage-reduction. "On the ground that the principal issue was not dealt with by the board, I feel I can express the opinion that the affected workers will fight the ruling," said Mr. Simpson, although he was not prepared to say the feeling of the men would lead to a strike.

Expect Italian Immigrants

Huge Colonization Scheme is Now Under Way

Montreal.—A huge colonization scheme to settle Italian emigrants in Canada is projected by the Government of Italy, which has sent Joseph De Michelis, General Commissioner of Emigration, to make a minute survey of industrial and agricultural conditions in the Dominion, with a view to ascertaining the quota and the type of immigrant most needed here.

Mr. De Michelis passed through Montreal en route to Ottawa, where he will meet members of the Cabinet and confer with the heads of all departments of labor and immigration.

Following these meetings he will cover each of the provinces from Ontario westward, accompanied by Jules Bolognesi, Italian Consul to Canada. When Mr. De Michelis completes this survey in Canada he will make a similar one of the United States.

In explaining his mission, Mr. De Michelis declared it had three chief reasons: First, to ascertain the class of immigration most needed by the Dominion which Italy could supply; second, to secure Canadian capital, which would be joined to Italian capital with the view of establishing Italian farmers on Canadian land; and, thirdly, to collect first-hand data on actual conditions in the Dominion, and to determine whether it is in the best interest of the Italian Government to embark upon the contemplated colonization scheme.

France May Utilize German Materials

Plan to be Considered by Special Government Committee

Paris.—An agreement for the restoration of France's war-devastated regions utilizing chiefly German materials came up for consideration before the Special Governmental Committee charged with consideration of deliveries of merchandise by Germany.

The plan has been under negotiation at a series of conferences between Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate, and Senator De Lubersac, President of the Federation of Co-operative Societies of the French Liberated Regions representing 130,000 persons with war losses aggregating more than 13,000,000,000 francs.

Explorers Return to Halifax

Halifax.—A dispatch from Sydney states that the exploration schooner Bowdoin, carrying Donald B. McMillan and party, arrived in the harbor Sept. 6 from Baffin Bay.

The expedition set out from Boston a year ago and has been in the Arctic regions since that time.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, SEPT. 22

Indian Trading

Via the Cranbrook papers Indian agent Helmsing gives notice that the hitherto somewhat free and easy, catch-as-catch-can method of trading with the Indians must cease, and in this connection advises that legal complications will be encountered if Siwash cattle or horses are trafficked in without first consulting himself to establish ownership. Merchants, too, are cautioned not to supply the reds with flavoring extracts, perfumes, etc.

Mr. Helsmsing does not state just what the penalty is for acquiring an Indian cayuse or bovine without the official permission having been first obtained, but this selling of extracts and perfumes would seem to be a worse offence than bootlegging as the Indian agent informs that the penalty on such a charge is a $300 fine and six months imprisonment.

Even the hire of an indian to take part in a show of any kind, whether the performance actually takes place or not, without official permission is liable to mulct the promoter in a sum of $25.

While it is illuminating to learn that the indian is so amply safeguarded as against the whites, it would be equally interesting to know what pains and penalties are provided the indian who sells short cord wood and short weight hay.

Entertainment Essential

It is a true saying, and worthy of all adults to be so received, that we should learn to relax as well as to work; that the old saying about all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy applies alike to grownups as well as those of less mature years.

This is a doctrine we have preached in connection with the early-summer Chautauqua in particular, and the argument applies just as effectively in good old fall and winter time, and the Grand Theatre is the place you'll forget your troubles.

Manager Rodgers has just adopted the policy of presenting fortnightly some of the best in pictures at the half dollar price, and if all his bookings are of the wholesome, entertaining sort as those presented the past six weeks the standing room only sign should be in evidence on all future occasions.

In addition to the splendid pictures, Mrs Foreman is now presiding at the piano, and the musical accompaniment provided rounds out an evening that none will begrudge the four bits admission, which, by the way, is the charge at the movie houses in similar-sized towns throughout B.C. that are not paying so much attention to playing such first class attractions.

Variety is the spice of life; season yours with a little film fun and education and you'll be the happier and healthier for as copious partakings of the admixture as your revenues will admit of.

Entries Make the Fair

In less than two week's Creston Valley's 1922 fall fair will be a matter of history. Everything that a hustling and intelligent board of directors could do to assure the success of the exhibition has been done, and all that now remains to crown their efforts with success is a big list of entries in evrey one of the 249 sections in the prize list.

Little apprehension is felt for the fruit section, and in spite of the dry year there is certain to be a gord exhibit of vegetables, while in the livestock classes at least an average showing may be looked for.

The weak spot in the last two fairs has been in the needlework and cooking classes, and in the latter, at any rate, there is still ample time for the ladies to see to it that the culinary display is in every way equal to the other classes in the main building.

Too, with the needlework open to articles made at anytime—provided they have not previously taken prizes thereon—there is no good reason why the show of needle products should not, also, be very large, and the fair management urge the ladies particularly to see to it that their departments in the exhibition in ample measure reflect both in quantity and quality their well known ability in this respect.

Next to the local newspaper the fall fair is the very best medium for strengthening and confirming the faith of all and sundry that the Valley is worth while, and this year, possibly a little more than any other, this outward display is very desirable in order to reassure that we have a goodly heritage and that our lot has been cast in pleasant places.

God's Country and the Woman

James Oliver Curwood, the famous author, has written many stories of the North Woods and of the big-hearted men and women who live there. He has written none, however, more vigorous, compelling and characteristic of the frozen outdoors than "God's Country and the Woman," which has been visualized by Vitagraph and will be shown at the Grand theater on Saturday, Sept. 30th.

Romance and adventure may occur in the big city and the small town, but it is away from the softening influence of civilization that the real nature of people asserts itself and passions become simple and elemental. The endless timber lands of 'God's country' give just exactly the right setting to a story such as Curwood has written.

The loneliness, the dangers from nature, man and beast, the vast spaces—all these fit in and become a vital part of the atmosphere of the stirring drama. Where in another sitting the actions would appear to border on melodrama here it is startlingly realistic and true to life. It is a canvas on which the deeds of people may be painted in bold strokes, and Curwood does it with a power and reserve which are tremendously effective.

"God's Country and the Woman" has been done in a big way and features William Duncan, who is supported by an all star cast.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Plea for the Milch Goat

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—I want to write you seriously on what is generally considered a subject for humorous treatment only; I refer to the humble goat, and more particularly to the milch goat.

Just why the goat has been selected by alleged humorists as the type of everything that is mean, destructive, obstinate and all-devouring it would be interesting to learn.

But that need not concern us at the moment, though there is little to doubt that the prejudice that many people have against goats has been fostered by the comic artists' efforts to be funny at the goat's expense. Sufficient to say that if properly handled a goat will do no more damage and be no more difficult to look after than a horse or cow.

It is true that a goat will go through or over a poor fence, but so will a horse. It is equally true that a goat will take a fancy to chew a piece of laundry wear, but many a good clothes line full has been ruined by a cow. While as regards the consumption of broken bottles and tin cans, well a horse will eat quite as many of these delicacies as the most voracious goat.

In reality the milch goat is a very clean and particular feeder, though she will probably eat more varieties of weeds and brush than either horse or cow. Milch goats are now extensively kept at the coast, and it would seem that more might with advantage be kept in this district, where so many ranches are too small to carry a cow. A goat will thrive where a cow will starve and a fair specimen will give enough milk for an average family at an extremely low cost. It is estimated that if all foods consumed has to be purchased the cost will not exceed ten cents per day. Where one has a weedy fence line or a small acreage in brush the goat's keep will be practically nil.

The quality of milk given is of the highest and contrary to the preconceived opinions of many people it has no objectionable taste or smell (if any interested readers desire to be satisfied on this point I will be glad to have them call and taste the milk). It only differs from cow's milk in that it is generally richer, and yet is more readily digested; the latter quality makes it particularly valuable for weak or sickly children. Many children's lives have been saved by its use, and in the cities it is being largely prescribed by medical men.

A medium quality goat will give from one and a half to three quarts of milk per day, and can be bought at from $40 to $60. The best specimens are giving up to five, six and even eight quarts, but such goats, naturally, are much higher in price, being kept mostly for raising high class stock.

The three principal milk-giving breeds, and the only ones that can be registered in this country are the Toggenburg, the Saamen, and the Angle-Nubian, the former being more readily obtainable in this province. An interesting booklet on Milch Goats in B.C., Bulletin No. 64, is issued by the Livestock Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Victoria, and will be sent free on request.

I am glad to note that for the first time in the history of our fall fair prizes are being offered for milch goats and kids. It is to be hoped that every goat owner in the Valley will send in one or more exhibits. Good prizes are offered and the B.C. Goat Breeders' Association will add its awards. I will conclude by quoting the slogan of the said association, "Get your own goat."

MY CANADA

— BY —

ELINOR MARSDEN ELIOT

Published by Special Arrangement with the Author

Bar B Ranch,
August 14th, 19.—

I am so angry with Mr. Livingstone that I could revert to the days of my unregenerate childhood and kick and scream. Not for years have I been filled with a rage so helpless, so hopeless, and so unreasoning. I flatter myself that I can stand teasing with the next one—but Don Livingstone is the most exasperating person I have ever met! He seems to consider it his mission in life to plague me to the limit of my endurance, and when I have reached that point he adds insult to injury by laughing at me. Perhaps he is merely trying to pay me back for the blunder I made at Elba. And that reminds me that Mary did not know who he was at that time; she had never met Mr. Bingham's partner, and, not being particularly interested in him, did not connect him with the Don Livingstone of Elba until after Mrs. Bingham went to Winnipeg last month. Then, when it occurred to her that I might come here, she could not resist the temptation to keep the secret from me, in the hope that it might be productive of amusement for her and embarrassment for me.

When I try to put the cause of my anger into words, it seems a very small thing indeed, and I am ashamed that I allowed my annoyance to be seen. I do not know what Mrs. Bingham will think of me.

Last night, Saturday, Mr. Paget called. He is rather an extraordinary being, I must admit; still, even if he is painfully lacking in a sense of humour, he is a gentleman and English. He plays beautifully and sings not too badly, and with Mr. and Mrs. Bingham as an appreciative audience, we sang several duets, and were having a truly enjoyable time untangling "Oh that we two were maying," when the serpent appeared.

Not that Mr. Livingstone, with all his faults, has anything of the serpent about him! Forgive my scriptural metaphors. He came in through the kitchen, dressed—spurs and all—just as he had come off his horse after a day in the saddle, a big mug of milk in one hand, and a wedge of Lee's delectable raisin pie in the other. And as he came he sang, in a sympathetic tenor voice that should be put to better uses, quite the silliest and most sentimental of the popular songs of the day. Really, the contrast between him in riding-clothes and Mr. Paget in evening-dress was very striking.

Our duet stopped suddenly and Mr. Paget slipped into an improvised accompaniment to the interruption. He evidently knows that when Mr. Livingstone begins anything he does not stop until he has finished it.

"Don, I do wish you would not sing that insufferably silly stuff," said Mrs. Bingham when the song was ended. "Miss Eliot has never heard you sing anything worth while."

"Did you get track of the horses?" asked Mr. Bingham.

"Evening, Livingstone," put in Mr. Paget—'jolly good song', that. In its own class, of course, Mrs. Bingham."

The three greetings were characteristic, as was the compound reply.

"Gee, I wish you people would go on with the dance, and let me eat! My apologies, Mrs. Bingham; I'll sing Tosti's 'Good-bye' for you just as soon as I finish this pie—but you must cry into your handkerchief, I don't want my spurs rusted. The horses were at the Agency, Jack. Glad to see you, Paget; do the orchestra stunt while I feed the brute, there's a good soul."

All this was said in one breath. Then Mr. Livingstone returned to his light refreshments and did not speak again until they had gone the way of all flesh.

But we did not have Tosti's "Good-bye" (I was not sorry—I hate water-soaked sentiment), for Mr. Livingstone was in a teasing mood, and as soon as he was ready for action he began to guy Mr. Paget, telling him the most awful "whoppers" about pioneer days in the West. And the worst of it is that he is sufficiently clever to add just enough truth to his stories to make them seem probable to one who is inclined to be credulous. For a while I rather enjoyed the novel experience of seeing someone else get my usual fare; but at last my patriotism overcame me and I entered the lists in the interests of Old England. Mrs. Bingham occasionally exclaimed, "Oh, Don!" after a more than usually direct shot, but Mr. Bingham paid very little attention to us. Finally, Mr. Paget began to realize that he was being butchered to make a Roman holiday, and I was indeed glad to see him rise to go home, for I feared a scene. Mrs. Bingham assured me afterwards that my fears were groundless, and that last night's performance was a common occurrence, in spite of which the principals were the best of friends.

"Well, what do you think of dear Lawrence, Miss Eliot?" asked Mr. Livingstone when our guest had gone.

"He is very nice and gentlemanly," I replied sweetly; "he made me feel quite as if I were at home again. And he sings and plays so well—when he has a chance."

"One for you, Don," laughed Mrs. Bingham.

"Rotten bad taste, I call it, for him to come here in his war-paint when he knows that we never dress for dinner," remarked Mr. Bingham, to my great surprise.

"Oh, I don't think so," replied Mrs. Bingham. "I consider it a compliment to us—don't you, Miss Eliot?"

"I certainly do," I agreed.

"You know, Jack," Mrs. Bingham went on, "we Canadians are careless about such things. And you have caught the habit from your Canadian wife, I suppose. I always put on a fresh dress for dinner and so does Miss Eliot, and I have never heard you complain that we are overdressed."

"Of course I like to see my womenfolk decently dressed," said Mr. Bingham grudgingly, "but a man . . . " here he paused and looked to Mr. Livingstone for assistance.

"Paget's not half bad," began Mr. Livingstone, "but he does lay it on rather thick at times. Reminds me of the man who wouldn't shoot a rabbit because he was dressed for grouse. But if our clothes make Miss Eliot homesick, we'll have to see what we can do about it. You have a dress-suit, haven't you, Jack?"

"Yes," said Mr. Bingham; "but I haven't had it on since the summer I was married—praise be!"

"I'll see that you get it out to-morrow, and I'll disinter my own, too. And what about Lee? We may as well do this thing properly while we are at it."

I said good-night and went to bed!

Nervous Breakdown

The extreme depression and discouragement which comes over one at times is the most alarming symptom of nervous exhaustion.

This letter is a message of hope to all who find themselves in this unfortunate condition.

Mrs. Geo. T. Tingley, Albert, N.B., writes:—

"For years I was in a very nervous, run-down condition, was much depressed in spirits and suffered a great deal at times. The least noise would irritate me and at times I felt as though I certainly would go crazy. I consulted different doctors to no effect.

"A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I can truly testify today to the great benefits received. There was a marked change before I had finished the second box and when I had used a dozen boxes my nerves were thoroughly restored and I was entirely relieved of those terrible feelings I used to have. I shall ever be ready to testify to the benefits of this wonderful medicine, feeling sure that it will give to others the quick and permanent relief it has given me."

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

"I had pleasure in Quebec on my way to Japan," said Mme. Anna Pavlowa, Russia's dancing sprite, as she landed from the Empress of Scotland, and it took the strange form of a ride in the queer old caleche, a two-wheeled vehicle which has been climbing Quebec's famous Mountain Hill for a century or two. Charles Hodgson was the proud chauffeur who initiated the drive into the mysteries of calecheing. Then she started her 3,000 mile trip across Canada via the Canadian Pacific on her way to Japan.

Middle Ages Period

Extended From the Year 476 to the Year 1453 A.D.

The Middle Ages was a period of about a thousand years in the history of Europe, beginning with the fall of the Western Roman Empire in 476 A.D., and ending with the fall of the Eastern Roman Empire in 1453 A.D. The Middle Ages include years between the close of Classic Times and the dawn of the Modern Era, and constitute the epoch of feudalism, chivalry and the crusades. During this time the German barbarian tribes overran Western Europe. Upon the ruins of Roman civilization they imposed their own culture and institutions and founded the states of modern Europe as they exist today.

Quite a Slow Train

A fussy old fellow was making a journey on a branch line. The train had slowed down again after stopping several times. The old man's patience became exhausted, and, taking out his watch, he said to a fellow passenger: "How much is this train overdue?"

"Well, sir,"—was the reply, "a watch ain't no good; you need a calendar."

Using Volcano As Steam Engine

Boring Into the Earth's Crust on Island of Hawaii

An observatory, under the direction of Professor Joggen, has been established for some time at the crater of Kilauea, on the Island of Hawaii.

This volcano is remarkable because, while at all times manifesting a tremendous activity, it is not an explosive, but keeps its fires hidden underground.

It is believed that Kilauea's fires come from a great subterranean "pool," so to call it, of molten stone and metal that has pushed its way up through the earth's crust from the inconceivably hot interior of the globe.

Experiments, long contemplated, are now being undertaken by boring holes down through the rocks in the neighborhod of the crater. It is hoped by this means to tap sources of volcanic steam, which could be used to great advantage for industrial purposes in Hawaii. There are no deposits of coal on the island.

The Hawaiian Islands are wholly of volcanic formation, having been thrown up in an ancient epoch from the floor of the sea. There is plenty of evidence to show that in former times Kilauea was much more violently eruptive than it is today. It emitted vast lava flows, and threw out enormous quantities of ashes, deep beds of which remain to tell the tale.

In these ash-beds are found millions of "volcanic marbles," many of them perfectly spherical, which are most curious because nobody can tell why or how they were formed.

Investigate Coal Deposits

A party of explorers, including Professor W. G. Worcester, Provincial Ceramic Engineer, and Professor C. J. MacKenzie, of the Saskatchewan University, and W. G. Hastings, of the Bureau of Labor, left for Red Deer Lake to investigate sources of origin of coal deposits found on the banks of the Red River.

DIARRHOEA IS DANGEROUS To Teething Babies DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for the babies when cutting their teeth, and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentry, cholera infantum or any other bowel trouble.

There is no remedy so safe and effectual for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have used it speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18th, 1921, as follows:—"A week ago my baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two stomach teeth, and was so sick he couldn't eat or sleep, and had the diarrhoea most terribly bad; his rectum was raw and bleeding, but after giving him Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry regularly for three days he was as well as any boy could be. I wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold gold."

"Dr. Fowler's" is for sale at all dealers; price, 60c a bottle; put up by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Prince Not Wealthy

Financial Demands Absorb Greater Part of Yearly Income

Although probably nobody will maintain that the Prince of Wales should be classed as a poor man, yet he is by no means so affluently situated as many may imagine. It is true that his apparent income runs into about 200,000 a year, but the financial demands upon him are so heavy that this sum is very considerably shrunk before he can really call any part of it his own. Incidentally, it may be of interest to know that, although parliament granted certain sums for the Prince's eastern tour, he was considerably out of pocket as a result of his somewhat extensive trip.—Christian Science Monitor.

RUN DOWN PEOPLE WEAK AND NERVOUS

Thousands in This Condition Can Easily Help Themselves

There are thousands of people who bear the pain and discomfort of minor ills in the hope that the indisposition is only temporary and will be outgrown in time. Often such illnesses are not serious enough to require the attention of a doctor, but will respond to intelligent home treatment if a reliable remedy is used. Women, busy with a multitude of household cares, or girls studying hard in school, easily fall a prey to that condition of bloodlessness known as anaemia. The trouble need not be serious if prompt measures are taken to check it in its early stages. Dr. Williams Pink Pills will restore the elements needed to bring the blood back to strength, and once the blood regains its healthy quality the entire body will soon show the benefit. Among the many who have found benefit through the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is Mrs. Albert W. Smith, Miscouche, P.E.I., who says:—"I was very much broken down in health, had pains in the region of my heart, and was so short of breath that if I went upstairs I would have to lie down as soon as I reached the top. Then a strange nervous twitching of the muscles took possesion of me, and every muscle in my body would apparently be twitching. I became very emaciated, and my family were much alarmed as to my condition. At this time I read an article in our home paper concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. The result was that in a short time I felt much improved, and under further use of the pills I felt like a new woman, had gained in weight and was in every way better. I would urge anyone afflicted as I was to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The U.S. and Europe's Plight

The Reluctance of America to Hold Out a Helping Hand

We sit yawning on the bench and criticize the stroke of drowning nations. If our observers are accurate they must at each recurring conference report that continental Europe is drifting from bad to worse, with no relief in sight; the statesman of our lately associated nations almost at the end of their resources; civil war with anarchy and ruin to follow, audibly muttering around the corner. And we go on observing. As for holding out a helping hand, before it is too late, to our friends, our neighbors, our customers in trade, and our fellow-trustees of the garnered fruits of centuries of culture, that would be forming "entangling alliances," and is not to be thought of.—From the New York World.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, T. V. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

France a Scapegoat

France finds itself in the position of a man who has suffered simultaneously from a fire, a highway robbery and a defalcation; whose debtors refuse to pay what they owe, and whose creditors not only insist on collecting their claims but throw obstacles in the way of his getting from his debtors the money with which to pay them. It may be that there is nothing for such a man except ruin and bankruptcy, but he can hardly be blamed for standing out against that conclusion as long as he can.—Youth's Companion.

Internally and Externally it is Good.—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

Handel's Appetite

Said to be Able to Eat a Meal That Would Satisfy Five Ordinary Appetites

Many great musical composers had exceptionally large appetites. When Handel dined alone at a restaurant he generally took the precaution of ordering a meal for three. Once, on asking, "Iss de tinner retty?" at a tavern where he was little known, he was told, "as soon as the company comes," and he astonished the waiter by seating himself with the remark, "Den pring up he tinner—I'm de company!"

Handel, always voracious, delighted in dining alone, and was known to consume a meal that would have satisfied five ordinary appetites.

Miller's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent disturbances in the stomach, any pain or griping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, so that the destruction of the worms is imperceptible. Yet they are thorough, and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and a cessation of manifestations of internal trouble.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

The Fruits of the Earth

New and Old Fruits New Being Cultivated

Out of 100,000 known species of plants, man has brought into cultivation only about 300 species. During the past two thousand years we have not discovered and cultivated a single plant which can rival maize, rice, the sweet potato, the date, small grains and the banana, which was discovered three or four thousand years ago. Among new fruits that have been found recently is the fiejoa, a South American fruit which is being grown in California. It possesses the refreshing taste of the pineapple and the sweetness of the strawberry. The jujue is a new fruit which has been cultivated in Northern China. It was first know some years ago and is now being grown in California and Texas. It is usually eaten in candied form, and is preferred by many people to the date, which is resembles. The sapote, a Central American fruit about the size of an orange, is being grown in Florida; while the roselle, a new acid fruit grown in Southern California, is used for jellies and in the making of refreshing beverages.

Safety Ships

New Device Overcomes Difficulty of Launching Lifeboats

Lifeboats arranged on deck on rails, so that they can be run to that part of the ship from which launching is possible, are features of the new steamship Mecklenburg, claimed to be the last word in safety ships, which has just made her maiden trip between Folkestone and Flushing.

In many cases of disaster at sea it has been found impossible to launch all of the boats on a ship because of the list. By this new device this difficulty is said to be overcome.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

Keep Younger Longer

So far as we can size the situation up, the man of sixty or seventy years of age today is much younger than the man of the same years was a quarter of a century ago. When you look around it is remarkable how much of the work of the world, and much of it very important work, you will find being done by men who are rubbing up to, or have passed, the three-quarters of a century mark. And who will say that this change isn't to the good. What is the use coming to the carpet slipper age until you have to!—Christian Guardian.

Coaching Through London

Enthusiasts Pay for Privilege of Handling Ribbons

One of the most entrancing sights of London to many visitors is the fine coach-and-four which every morning makes its way along Piccadilly and so out on to the high road, with a load of happy passengers for Hampton Court—a three hours' run. But few people who see the coach and listen entranced to the guard's cheery blast on his posthorn—few Londoners even—know that the vehicle is driven each day by a different man of means, a coaching enthusiast, who pays so much towards the maintenance of the service for the privilege of being allowed to handle the ribbons. It is quaint things like this—and there are many of them—that make London so fascinating, alike to the visitor and the man who "belongs."—Overseas Daily Mail.

The Indian population has furnished a little business for the police court the past week. Indian agent Helmsing had Louie Luke before the court on a charge of failing to send his boy to the mission school at Cranbrook, and the delinquent parent was fined $1 and costs and ordered to send the boy to be educated. Andrew Paul had the same injunction issued on him, but there was no fine attached.
