Each Mural Lounge named for the decorative treatment used, for the first time by any railway, in the new Canadian Pacific streamliner "The Canadian", displays for you the talent of an outstanding Canadian artist — and the delights of a noted Provincial or National Park.

Eighteen of these 20-foot, individual paintings were required to equip the scenic-dome Lounge Observation Sleepers that grace the famous transcontinental trains: "The Canadian" and "The Dominion". They depict 18 glittering facets of a scenic gem — Canada.

An animated map of the park for which each car is named, painted by the same artist, depicts its attractions . . . brief facts about it are recorded on an engraved plaque of stainless steel.
