THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XVI. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1924 No. 33

Canyon City

Miss Rita Strong is a visitor this week at Kitchener with her brother, Ted.

The senior scholars at the school are busy gathering material for the fall fair prize compositions on the history of Canyon, and for which the local school board offers $5 in prizes.

BIRTH—On September 18th, to Principal and Mrs. Kolthammer, a son.

Jack McRobb, who has finished his pole contract at Kitchener, has gone to Kimberley, where he has a job in a blacksmith shop at the mine works in that town.

The first straight car of apples ever loaded at Canyon by one grower rolled east to Calgary the latter part of the week. It was a solid car of Wealthys, 640 boxes, and was all from the A. D. Pochin orchard.

Canyon is hoping that in the 1925 estimates compiled by road superintendent Moore, that a liberal request has been made for road improvements in this section. About a mile of hard surfacing on the main road would satisfy for this year.

A. Bond is busy with the erection of a new two storey residence on the Soldier Settlement Board land near the Filmer place, which he recently purchased. The new home is about 32 x 36 feet and will compare with the best of them in this district when completed.

A. D. Pochin has just made a very practical rebuild of his Ford touring into a truck, which is in use on the fruit haul to Erickson. By putting on a new axle with a chain drive he has a carryall that will handle almost a ton, his average load never being less than 15 boxes of apples.

The Canyon symphony orchestra will be making its debut in the concert world before the new year, if the present rate of progress is maintained at the twice-a-week practices that are being held at present. The organization numbers eight pieces. Mrs Davie, piano; Miss Muriel Knott and Messrs. Mawson and Jory, violins; Gerald Craigie, cornet; Jim Turner, trombone, and Geo. Davie, drums. Mr. Jory is conductor, and is very highly pleased at the way the musicians are coming along.

Wynndel

Mrs. J. J. Grady was a visitor with friends in Nelson a few days the fore part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bathie, jr., and family arrived here on Sunday from Calgary, Alta., and are at present the guest of his father, John Bathie.

The sympathy of the whole community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Mason, who have just learned of the death of their eldest daughter at McGregor, Manitoba.

There will be a dance at the old school on Saturday. Gents 50c. Ladies without refreshments 25c.

Considerably more interest than usual is being taken in this year's Creston fall fair, and the number of exhibitors from Wynndel at the exhibition next week should be the largest ever.

Alf. Nelson of the Creston Valley Produce Company, Creston, is down here this week to lead out at least one car of apples, he having purchased the crop of some of the local growers.

J. Butterfield, who is on the editorial staff of the Daily Province, Vancouver, is a visitor here this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Butterfield. Jim and his father are at Proctor for a few days' fishing this week.

J. Woods, manager of the former Wynndel Mercantile store, was a Nelson visitor for the fair last week. He was also a caller on the optician to replace his spectacles which went up in smoke with most all his wearing apparel in the recent fire.

J. J. Grady returned from Cranbrook last week, where he has been a patient in St. Eugene hospital for some time past.

Joe Wigen has joined up with the car owners association, having last week taken delivery of a 1924 model Superior Chevrolet from the Lidgate garage at Creston.

Sam Moon reports quite an extensive second crop of strawberries this year. These are of the Van San variety, and if the weather turns warm again he is going to have at least half a crate to show at the Creston fall fair.

Ashley Cooper & Sons, who sent a collection of plates of fruit to a friend in Trail to be put in the fair at that town last week as an advertising display, was agreeably surprised to be notified this week that he is a winner of first prize on Yellow Egg plums and seconds on Italian prunes and Pond Seedlings, as well as seconds on plates of Wagener and any other varieties of fall and winter apples.

No Show of Films This Saturday

BUT DON'T MISS

Jackie Coogan in 'Long Live the King'

THURSDAY, OCT. 2
8.30 p.m.

FRIDAY, OCT. 3
3.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Local and Personal

For fair week Managers Rodgers has the always popular Jackie Coogan in his greatest film success "Long Live the King," which will be shown on Thursday night at 8.30, and on Friday afternoon at 3.30 and at 7.30 Friday night. There is no raise in prices, but for Friday night the crowd is asked to be on hand promptly at 7.30.

Valley growers who have the two-fifths raspberry cups and crates on hand are asked to inform the Dominion Fruit Commissioner, Ottawa, as to the exact quantities they have in stock. Commencing next season the full pint cup will be used for all berries, and the commissioner is endeavoring to find a sale this year of all the small-size containers.

There is quite marked absence of pupils of Grades 8, 9, 10 and 11 at Creston high and public school, and as the term has now been under way at least four weeks to ensure the necessary instruction to make passes possible at next midsummer examinations it is hoped the missing scholars will be back at their studies before the first of October.

F. R. DeHart of Kelowna, who was in here about a year ago, assembling apples for display at the British Empire Exposition, at Wembley, England, is due for a return visit this month, and according to press despatches he has orders for at least a million boxes of apples for export half of which will go to Germany. Mr. DeHart has been in charge of the B.C. fruit display at Wembley since the Exhibition opened.

Wm. Ramsay, district engineer, of Nelson, was here on an official visit on Tuesday, in company with J. D Moore. With the exception of putting in a bridge at Meadow Creek, east of Kitchener, and the completion of the new Lizard Creek road, public works expenditures in the Valley are at an end for 1924. Generous appropriations are being asked for 1925 and if all the funds requisitioned are forthcoming the highway from Goatfell to Kuskanook should be equal to the best in the province before the year is out.

Bigger and Better Fall Fair Assured

At a final meeting of the directors on Tuesday night final arrangements were completed for Creston's sixth annual fall fair, which will be staged at Exhibition Park on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next, October 1st, 2nd and 3rd, with the opening ceremonies scheduled to take place on Thursday at 1.30 p.m.

Up till noon yesterday the number and variety of entries received is considerably in excess of any previous year at a date almost five days in advance of entries closing and a splendid display in all lines shown in the main building may be expected. In the way of outdoor attractions the sports committee are working on a programme that should make this year's exhibition the most attractive yet, and all who attend Thursday and Friday are assured a most satisfactory half days off.

The directors have just been officially informed that there will be a competent staff of outside judges for all the classes, as follows: Fruit and Vegetables, H. H. Evans, Vernon; E. C. Hunt, Nelson; J. Travis, Penticton. Livestock, Angus L. Hay, Cranbrook. Poultry, Chas. Good, Nelson. Ladies' classes, Mrs. Geo. Hennessey, Cranbrook; Mrs. W. Rutherford, Nelson.

Those who will have charge of looking after exhibits on opening day have been chosen as follows: Fruit and vegetables, S. Moon, L. Littlejohn, W. Truscott, W. W. Jackson, W. J. Holder. Livestock, Geo. Johnson, Geo. Hood, Victor Carr. Poultry, Jas. Adland, W. S. Matthews. Needlework, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Mallandaine. Plants and Flowers, Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Garland. Cooking, Mrs. Cherrington, Mrs. Cook. Canned Goods, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Boyd.

Wednesday, of course, will be given over to the placing of the exhibits all of which, with the exception of poultry and livestock, must be at the hall by 12 noon. Judging will start after dinner and will be completed by noon on Thursday when the hall will be thrown open at 1.30, at which time there will be the usual opening exercises at which addresses will be made by Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., and C. B. Garland, president of Creston Board of Trade, whose duty it will be to formally open the exhibition.

Thursday afternoon's outdoor feature will be a big list of school sports and athletic events which will be got under way at 3 o'clock, and the wind-up of the day will be a bucking contest for which the Indians have been fitting their horses for the past two weeks. Friday afternoon will open with a trap shooting tournament at 1.30 in which the riflemen of Nelson, Kaslo, Cranbrook and Creston will compete, and at 3 p.m. there will be a championship baseball match between the crack Wycliffe team, and an all-star nine that is being recruited from the pick of the local talent and an outside battery and a couple of infielders, which will assure the crowd the fastest baseball clash seen here in at least two years.

For Thursday evening Manager Rodgers is showing Jackie Coogan in "Long Live the King," at the Grand at 8.30, and the same picture will be shown at a matinee on Friday at 3.30 and again Friday evening at 7.30. A dance, to start immediately after the pictures on Friday night will round out the closing day's programme.

Exhibitors' attention is called to the addition of another section in the fruit class, R. S. Bevan offering two flashlights as prizes for plate of five largest apples, any variety. Entries to be made for Class 1, Section 23B.

With good weather ordered for all three days Secretary Walmsley advises that the correct way to enjoy the fair is to see the exhibits on Thursday and devote Friday afternoon to see your friends, all of whom are sure to be on hand the last day. Stores in town will be closed from 2 to 5 o'clock both Thursday and Friday afternoons, re-opening after that hour until 6

Sirdar

Saturday was the first day since early June that the boat has not had to make a call at Kuskanook eastbound to put off at least one autoist. Westbound, however, there is still need for the daily boat call.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cameron, who have been on a motor visit with friends at Penticton and coast points, returned via Spokane at the end of the week, and were Cranbrook callers early this week.

Rev. H. Varley was here from Creston for Church of England service on Sunday evening

Mrs. Touhey and Mrs. Rogers were between-trains visitors at Creston on Friday last.

Fruit shipping is expedited this year due to the company putting in a standard road gate and widening out the road to a generous width, permitting growers to drive right across the yard to the unloading shed.

Quite a number of hunters are operating in the woods between Kuskanook and here and are having some luck with grouse, but so far the duck bags have been light.

No frost reported in this section as yet, and word from Kuskanook is to the effect that Mrs. Jones and a party of friends dined on green peas at Sunday's dinner—the fifth 1924 crop harvested in her justly famous garden.

Yardmaster Lousby, who has been a hospital patient at Cranbrook, returned on Thursday last with Mrs. Lousby, and were until Monday guests of Mrs. Jones at Kuskanook. He left again on Monday for another visit to Dr. Green, but will be back again about the middle of the week.

Alf. Nelson of Creston Valley Produce Company, Creston, has his son here packing the apple crop at the Mannerino ranch, which he has purchased. Mr. Neil is picking all varieties at the Jones ranch, and will ship through the Exchange at Creston.

Lineman Weir has a crew of four men at work removing the telephone poles from the old route onto the government road, and will have the job completed between here and Kuskanook by the end of the week.

Fair Nights' Film

The long heralded "Long Live the King," starring Jackie Coogan, will come to the Grand Theatre Thursday and Friday nights, and a Friday matinee at 3.30.

"Long Live the King" was only recently completed at Hollywood. From various sources the information was current that a huge sum of money was being spent in the making of this film and recent reports definitely fix the sum as $600,000. Of this huge amount nearly two-thirds was spent on the construction of the magnificent sets which furnish the atmosphere of "Long Live the King" and which surround Jackie with regal splendor.

As is known to millions of readers, "Long Live the King" was adapted for Jackie from Mary Roberts Rinehart's novel of the same name. The plot is set in the mythical Balkan kingdom of Lavonia and hinges around the escapades of the little Crown Prince (played by Jackie), who is beset by a band of terrorists who threaten to seize the government. The book is fascinatingly told, filled with romance and excitement a-plenty. The producers of the film version of "Long Live the King" have retained these essentials of a good romance and Jackie is said to have the greatest role of his career as the adventurous Prince Otto.

Kitchener

H. Spence of the Sash & Door Company was a weekend visitor at his home in Cranbrook.

Geo. Aunger, who has returned from Bow Island, Alta., to spend the winter at Kitchener, was at Creston a couple of days last week.

Z. Geroux has a crew of about three men at work getting out the piles and piling for the new bridge at Meadow Creek, which will be under construction next month.

Paulson-Mason Company are shipping considerable of the two inch matchwood cut at the sawmill earlier in the season. It is going to Spokane.

Miss McGregor, teacher of Kitchener school, was a visitor with Creston friends on Saturday, going down with Clara Hunt on the weekend music trip.

Frank Belanger of Bull River, was a visitor with Kitchener friends a few days last week. Bill also went through in his Ford on a visit to Creston on Friday.

The hunting season is in full swing and some of nimrods have been out in quest of grouse and deer, but with very poor luck so far.

Mr. Miloux, the French vegetable merchant of Creston who caters to the Kitchener trade every Saturday, is not complaining about the road between the towns, as he negotiates the eleven miles on the return with his hayburner delivery in a little better than two hours.

All the autos in Kitchener are booked for Friday next when, from appearances, Kitchener will be very largely represented at the fall fair at Creston.

Kitchener had two distinguished visitors from Cranbrook on Friday last in Geo. Powell and John Martin. Mr. Powell has just recently rejoined the army of benedicts and he certainly looks as if the home cooking agreed with him.

Cranbrook school is getting this year's supply of wood at $3.25 a rick.

Although New Denver public school has an attendance of less than 70 three teachers are employed.

For the size of the town the Miner is quite sure Rossland has the prettiest flower gardens in all B.C.

WARNING!

It seems it would have been bad enough to have to chase children out of the Mission orchards many times, but now two men from the same family were seen there, and both with loaded sacks. C. A. PAZCALL.

The film of mystery brought into the O'Malley murder by his own knowledge of Eskimo strangling had been intensified into a shroud by his study of the exhibits he had secreted. Yet, speculate as he would, there was no other apparent line of suspicion than that of the native's guilt. He was at loss how to proceed until he had questioned the man for whom the warrant had been issued.

Each time he looked at the pelts, one outstanding fact came to mind:

No Eskimo ever held a pelt, after his woman had cured it, longer than it took to get to the handiest trader. It was against all rhyme and reason that two fox pelts, worth many times their weight in gold, would remain in the hands of a ne'er-do-well like Avic so long after they were marketable. How, then. had the native come by them?

Under ordinary circumstances—rather, under the amity of suffer-isolation-together which had existed prior to the tragedy, he might have gone to Harry Karmack with his problem. At least, the factor could have given him an expert's opinion as to when the skins had become pelts by virtue of trapping and tanning.

But a breach yawned between the two—one unwittingly caused by the fair addition to the limited population of Armistice. It wasn't an open one, so far, but both knew that it existed and bridging it was the last thought of either. They were unadmitted rivals for the favor of Moira O'Malley. Anyone who knew the man, could have read the sergeant's interest in his countenance. Contrary to winter practice of toilers of the trails, his face had been clean shaved from the morning after La Marr's departure. The trader, on his part, showed intensity of his heart-hurt by countless little attentions to the young woman.

The unfortunate brother had been laid away upon the highest knoll near the camp after a simple service conducted by Rev. Morrow. The girl had held up under her bereavement with a courage that commanded all their admiration. No hint of the real cause of Oliver's death had reached her, so guarded had been the four hresident whites who knew. From the Eskimo. of course, she learned nothing. She had accepted the report of an "accident of the Arctic" and had asked no embarrassing questions as to details. The finality of death seemed to suffice; nothing else matteerd.

A week after the funeral, a stranger would not have known from her manner that suddenly she had been deprived of one of her dearest relatives. She never spoke of having a philosophy of life, but something of the sort seemed to sustain her. Her whole behavior indicated that she was determined not to make others unhappy with her personal grief. They all had their lives to live in a location that made life difficult. Moira O'Malley would do her utmost to make the winter as happy as might be. She did not even ask if it were not possible to send her "Outside," now that the reason for her presence had been removed by Fate.

Harry Karmack, bearing a book to Mission House in the hope that gloomy thought might be diverted thereby had been the first of the rivals to discover her mental attitude. He had been prompt to act on his important discovery. Besides the volume, he left an invitation to dinner for the girl and her hosts. Sergeant Russell Seymour, official head of the tiny community, was not among those present, having received no invitation.

Now, this was a breach of camp etiquette which could not be overlooked. Far worse than the cut direct. it was nearly as much an insult as a blow in the face. When a handful of whites are segregated in a bronze man's country, they naturally cling to each other as they do to the "alders." Everyone possible within the pale is invited to everything that approaches a function. Even squaw-men are asked to attend if they retain a semblance of presentability.

There was no possible question that Factor Harry Karmack's dinner was a function. Although it had never been mentioned by Moira or the Morrows, the sergeant had all the details. These had been relayed by his native hostler who had them direct from the Arctic's interpreter, the latter having acted as butler for the all-important occasion. The meal had been served in courses, mind you, for the first time in the history of the camp. The factor's store of delicacies, even to the tinned plum pudding, intended for the Christmas feast, had been freely broached.

Seymour could not hope to equal such a spread from police rations, but he was not to be outdone in hospitality. Miss O'Malley and the Morrows had accepted his invitation to a sourdough luncheon. The factor had not accepted for an excellent reason that you probably can imagine.

The three from Mission House were coming this very noon and the sergeant had been occupied part of the morning correcting the haphazard housekeeping of quarters. In fact, they had come, as was attested by the knocking upon the front door.

More lovely than ever Moira seemed to him as she returned a smile to his enthusiastic greetings. She was dressed to-day entirely in white, the first time he had ever seen her in anything but black.

"What a snow bird you are, Moira!" he exclaimed, almost forgetting to greet the missionaries.

"In that case, I'm relieved you're not packing a gun, Sergeant Scarlet."

"Not even side arms." he said, releasing his whimsical smile. "I'm the one that's wounded—fluttering. Put your wraps in the tent, all of you, and I'll put you to work."

For the first time they noticed the stage-setting he had created for his social bow. Every stick of furniture had been removed and the floor covered with reindeer moss, gray, soft and fragrant. Two reserve sleds, padded with outspread sleeping bags, were evidently intended to serve as seats. The "tent" to which he had referred them was a drape of canvas over the door leading into his own room. About the hearth were scattered pots, pans and dishes of tin. The fireplace glowed like a camp fire permitted to grow dim for culinary service.

"So this is what you meant by a sour-dough party," observed Mrs. Morrow, her voice betraying her enthusiasm over the idea.

"Wonder if I'm hard-bitten enough by now to get the idea?" Moira asked them.

"We're hitting the trail," explained the missionary. "We've just pitched camp and are about to make muck-muck. As Northwesterners never pack grub for idle hands to eat, we'd better strip off our coats and get into action."

Where the fire glowed the hottest, Seymour rigged an iron spit from which he suspended a shank of caribou on a wire as supple as a piece of string. Beneath, he placed a pan to catch the drippings. To Moira he entrusted a second wire so attached that an occasional pull kept the meat turning.

"There's nothing more delicious than roast caribou," he advised her, "and this is the very best way to roast it."

Luke Morrow was to attend the broiling of a dozen fool-hens—a variety of grouse—which the sergeant had shot that morning. To Mrs. Emma was assigned the task of picking over a mess of fiddle-head ferns which, by some magic, he had kept fresh since fall. He was certain that, when properly boiled, they would produce a dish of greens more delicate than spinach.

"And you, Russell?" queried the girl, for they soon had taken to first names, except that she sometimes called him "Sergeant Scarlet." "Because of your rank, I suppose you'll merely boss the job and eat twice as much as anyone else."

He did not answer, but fell to his knees beside the open mouth of a flour sack. With the aid of water and an occasional pinch of baking powder, he quickly mixed a wad of dough. Greasing a gold-pan with a length of bacon rind, he filled it with the dough and stood it up facing the fire.

"I'm baking bannock," he answered Moira's quizzical look. "When the outside is browned, I'll toss it like a pancake, and soon we'll have a better bread than mother ever made."

The primitive feast at last was ready and they fell upon it seated tailor-fashion upon the moss. The caribou was so tender, remarked Rev. Morrow in complimenting the fair spit attendant, that you could put your finger through it.

"Don't waste time putting anything through it but your teeth," remarked their host.

Later, when they had turned to moss berries and condensed "cow," provided as a typical desert, Moira expressed regret that Seymour's attractive young constable was not present to share the feast.

"Have you heard anything from La Marr, Seymour?" asked the missionary.

"Not a word."

Something in his tone startled the girl. "Has he gone on a dangerous mission?" she asked. "Are you worried about him?"

The sergeant shook his head. "He's one of the trail-boys and will find others to stand by if he's in trouble." And after a moment's silence, he quoted:

"The cord that ties the trail-boys has lashed
Them heart to heart;
No stage preesnts their joys, no actors
Play their parts;
Their struggles are seldom known. because
Through wilds untrod
These daring spirits roam where there is Naught but God."

The spell of silence that followed his pronouncement of the Deity was rudely broken by a hammering on the outer door. So peremptory was the summons that Seymour sprang to his feet, crossed the room and flung the door open, only to start back in amazement.

"Avic of the foxes, by all that's holy!" he exclaimed.

Framed in the doorway, his small eyes peering from a strained face out of the wolverine hood of his parkee, the fugitive Eskimo stood alone. Instead of handcuffs on his wrists, he held a rifle across his breast.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Hero Fugitive

As the sergeant moved forward intent upon seizing the rifle, the huge, raw-boned Kogmollyc came into the room with a bound that carried him well over the threshold. The move had every appearance of an attack of one demented; but before Seymour could grapple with him the lack of hostile intent was made manifest.

The rifle Avic carried was thrown regardlessly to the floor. With a snarl inhuman, the Eskimo threw himself down beside the platter of caribou roast. The odors of cooked food had proved too much for racial restraint. Hunger had brought on the precipitate action.

For several minutes, Seymour and his guests stood and watched the fugitive with amazement. He went at the deer shank after the fashion of a starving malamute. Sinking his teeth into the succulent meat, he tore out great mouthfuls which he swallowed without chewing. At first growls were interspersed between the bites, but gradually these were succeeded by grunts of satisfaction. Once he dropped the shank to fill his mouth with bannock, but he returned to the meat, sucking at it while yet his mouth was crowded.

Seymour stooped for the gun, recognized it as a service weapon and grew suddenly grave.

"La Marr's rifle," he muttered.

Crossing to the native, he gripped the back-thrown hood of the parkee and dragged him, sputtering protestingly, to his feet. Avic was considerable to lift, but Seymour was strong and deeply aroused. The caribou shank came with the savage, held in teeth that demanded a last bite.

"Here, you dog, drop that!" came gruff command. "Want to founder yourself?"

Morrow, too, recognized the danger of overloading a stomach long deprived of food, took hold of the meat and tore it away from the Eskimo.

"But surely they'll let him eat more later?" asked Moira of Mrs. Morrow in a hushed tone.

DO ALL MY HOUSE WORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly get about.

Cobourg, Ont.—"For many years I have had trouble with my nerves and have been in a general run down condition for some time. I could not do my work half of the time because of the trouble with my monthly sickness. I was told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and advised to try it. It has done me good, and I strongly recommend it. Since I have taken it I have been able to do all my own work, and I also know friends who have found it good. You can use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. ELLEN FLATTERS, Box 761, Cobourg, Ont.

Why will women continue to suffer so long is more than we can understand, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

Horn-Rimmed Spectacles

British Specialist Says Wearing Them Is An Atrocity

Clement Jeffery, an eminent eye diagnostician, does not like the vogue which is fast gaining ground in London of wearing horn-rimmed spectacles. Lecturing on "The Nation's Eyes" in London recently, he said that the wearing of horn-rimmed spectacles by adults was an atrocity.

Mr. Jeffery added that the chief cause of myopia was not near work as is generally supposed, but mental strain. If all lessons could be made interesting and teachers and parents were paragons of love and patience, then myopia would be wiped out of the nation's defects.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera Infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says:—"I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Strange Bank Note Custom

Bank of England Never Re-issues One Of its Notes

British banks have owed much to the influence of Italy ever since the Lombards came over to England, seven centuries ago, and set up a banking house in Lombard Street, which is still the centre of the banking world of London.

A remarkable feature about Bank of England five-pound notes is that the whole of the printing is not in English. The phrase referring to the Governor and the Company of the Bank contains the word "Compa," which is the abbreviation for the Italian word "compagnia," meaning "company."

The word "bank" itself has an Italian origin. In the old days the money-changers in Italy counted their money on a table known as a "banco." If one of these men was unable to pay up his table was smashed and he was spoken of as "banco rotto," from which comes the English word "bankrupt."

One strange custom of the Bank of England is never to re-issue one of its notes. If a note is withdrawn by a customer from one counter in the Bank of England itself and paid in at another, its life work is finished.

A record is kept at the Bank of the history of each note.

Had Overlooked That

Irate Customer.—"I've worn these calfskin shoes only two months and now look at 'em."

Salesman.—"My dear sir, you must remember the calf had already worn that skin five months, making seven months' wear, which is very good, I think."

Preserving Historic Building

Jesuit Residence Was Standing In Quebec 120 Years Before Wolfe Came

The generosity of sons of the late Hon. R. Dobell, in handing over to the Quebec Government the ancient residence of the Jesuits at Sillery ensures the preservation of this building as a historic monument.

The structure, which is situated not far from the scene of Wolfe's historic embarkation, had been standing for 120 years before that famous English soldier arrived here to change the history of the country. Indeed, it is believed to be the second oldest existing building on the continent, being ante-dated only by ancient buildings at St. Augustine, Florida.

The first stone house in Canada is said to have been built by a fur trader, named Chauvin at Tadousac in 1599. The Jesuits located at Sillery in 1638, and the building at that place was undertaken in the following year.—Montreal Herald.

New Discovery Routs Chicken Lice

Mineralized Water Gets Rid of Dusting or Greasing—Birds Delouse Themselves. Fine for Baby Chicks and All Poultry

This wonderful product keeps the poultry always lice-free without the poultry raiser doing any work. It is the simplest, easiest, surest and best method ever discovered.

Lice-Go, which is the name of this remarkable lice remedy, is dropped in the chickens drinking water. Taken into the system of the bird, it comes out through the oil glands of the skin and every louse or mite leaves the body. It is guaranteed to help the hatchability of the eggs and cannot injure the flavor of the eggs or meat; it is harmless to chicks and does not affect the plumage. A few days treatment at the start and then a little added to the drinking water each month is all that is necessary.

H. T. Thorne, Fleming, Sask., says: "I have tried Lice-Go and do not want to be without it."

H. N. Olson, Box 28, Edgerton, Alta., says: "The Lice-Go tablets worked wonders on our chickens, my neighbors all want it, too."

Send No Money.—Just your name and address. A card will do. We are so confident that Lice-Go will get rid of every louse or mite, that we will send you one large double strength $1.00 package, enough for 100 gallons of water. When it arrives pay postman only $1.00 and few cents postage; if you are not absolutely satisfied after 30 days' trial, your money will be refunded without question or argument.

(3 $1.00 pkgs., $2.00.—Sell two, have your's free). Cash orders postpaid. THE A. B. WARDER CO., Sole Distributors, Box 11-K, WIARTON, ONT.

Wasting Public Money

Governing Bodies Should Have Same Regard For Economy As Individuals

There are at all times many things that cities would like to have or do that they really cannot afford. It is foolish to talk about, and much more foolish to demand, economy unless cities, states and the nation are prepared to follow the rule followed by sensible individuals and do without things that are beyond their means. He who does not govern his life thus is looked on either as a foolish man or a vulgarian. There will or cannot be economy, or anything resembling it, till public officials are as industrious and ingenious in finding ways not to spend money as they are in finding ways to spend it.—Indianapolis News.

Some Things Passengers Forget

Remarkable Collection of Articles In Lost Property Sale

The forgetfulness of railway travellers is shown by the remarkable collection of lost property left on the Southwestern Railway and sold by auction at Waterloo Station, London.

The items included one ice cream barrow with rubber tires, a small twill bathing tent, two bottles of whisky, 35 bottles of port, 45 bottles of cider, and a bottle of invalid wine.

Other lots out of the ordinary were an illusionist's stage case, 2 lifebuoys and a lifesaving waistcoat, 7 naval officers' tunics, jazz-band outfits, 60 parts of false teeth, "3 artificial legs, 1 stump, and 1 iron," and 6 pairs of crutches.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Almost Always Due to Weak and Impoverished Blood

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two reasons. The mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root, namely poor blood. Either bloodlessness or some other trouble of the nerves will be found to be the reason for almost every ailment. If you are pale, suffering from headaches, or breathlessness, with palpitation of the heart, poor appetite and weak digestion, the cause is almost always poor blood. If you have nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is exhausted nerves. But run-down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same.

If your health is poor; if you are pale, nervous or dyspeptic, you should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These pills act directly on the blood, and by enriching it give new strength to worn-out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit through the use of this medicine. If you are weak or ailing, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and you will be pleased with the beneficial results that will speedily follow.

If your dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chinese In Canada

Number Registered Under Act Of 1923 Was 40,331

When the period allowed for registration of Chinese in Canada expired on June 30 last, 40,331 had registered under the act of 1923. This information was given in the House of Commons in answer to a question of A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni. "Some Chinese undoubtedly will fail to register," was the answer given to a question as to whether these figures were complete.

At the last census, 39,587 Chinese were registered in Canada. Since then, 2,817 have registered into Canada as settlers, 1,124 registered out. Since the census, 593 Chinese died in Canada and 641 were born, up till December 31, 1922. Figures for 1923 are not available yet, says the return.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism

The most effective beauty treatment known

—is this simple method. Millions now employ it to keep youthful loveliness

You will be amazed, reading this, to discover the perfect simplicity of a beauty secret millions of women use.

Yet it is the most effective known. It will help you, too, in keeping the radiant loveliness of youthful skin.

Regularly, do this

Cleanse the skin regularly, authorities say, to keep your complexion lovely, radiant, youthful. But beware of harsh cleansing methods. They injure skin.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—each night before retiring. Rub the creamy, foamy lather well into the tiny pores. Rinse — and repeat the washing. Then rinse again.

Then—if skin is dry—apply a little cold cream. That is all. Skin so cared for is not injured by cosmetics, by wind and sun, or by dirt.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare palm and olive oils—famous for mild but thorough cleansing qualities since the days of Cleopatra. And it is inexpensive.

Just be sure it is Palmolive that you get. Note name and wrapper—for Palmolive is never sold unwrapped. All dealers have it. In one week you will see most encouraging results!

New U.S. Submarine

Is Twice As Large As Any Undersea Fighter Ever Built

The submarine V-1, twice as large as any undersea fighter ever previously built for the United States, was launched at the navy yards at Portsmouth, N.H., recently.

The new submarine, designed to accompany a battle fleet at sea in any weather, and at any speed at which the fleet is capable of making, is the first of a flotilla of nine authorized in congress in 1916. The vessel's armament consists of six 21-inch torpedo tubes, one five-inch 51 calibre rifle, and two Lewis machine guns. It is 341 feet long, has a displacement of 2,164 tons, a surface speed of 21 knots an hour, and speed of nine knots while under water.

Fresh Supplies in Demand.—Wherever Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has been introduced increased supplies have been ordered, showing that wherever it goes this excellent Oil impresses its power on the people. No matter in what latitude it may be found its potency is never impaired. It is put up in most portable shape in bottles and can be carried without fear of breakage.

Can Forget Responsibility

When Prince Visits Alberta Ranch He Is Care-free

The Prince of Wales, whose comings and goings are popularly followed in America, says he will visit his Alberta ranch in the fall. He finds there a chance to forget brides and thrones; he can plant potatoes and pitch hay beneath the pleasing fiction of his incognito like any hired man on the payroll. And evidently he intends to continue commuting overseas till his roving commission expires and he is compelled reluctantly to don the regalia of monarchy. In that day one can imagine how he will hear the call of the wild and long to shed the pomp and circumstances wherewith royal rank has invested him for the green wheat sprouting from black loam and the trail of the sturdy cattle roaming the hill ranges.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Autos By the Pound

Unique Method of Advertising Proves Successful For Dealer

Automobiles are being sold at Winston-Salem, N.C., by the pound. An enterprising dealer who handles a low-priced car, now advertises his wares at 33 1-3 cents a pound. His advertisements set forth the weight of the cars, together with the total price at so much a pound, and compares the price with that per pound of everyday necessities of life.

It is said the unique method of advertising has proved unusually successful.

Mystery Of Condor May Be Solved

Wreck Found Off Vancouver Coast May Be British Ship

Light on the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the British sloop of war Condor, which left Esquimalt, December 2, 1901, with 104 British tars aboard, and of which no trace has since been found, is believed to have been discovered by W. P. Devan, Federal District Engineer for Alberni, off the sands of Long Beach, on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Traces of a British ship which Devan believes may be the lost Condor, have been discovered inland, washed up in the heavy gales of 30 years, but it is impossible for him at this time to give detailed particulars.

Empire Fittingly Represented

Wembley Exhibition Greatest Show Of Its Kind In History

The Wembley Fair is described, without contradiction from the outside, as the greatest show of its kind in history. Its cost is estimated at $200,000,000. It covers an area of 220 acres, or more than one-fourth the area of Central Park. Thirty million visitors are expected. But the exposition is not out of scale with the interests it represents. Behind it is an Empire of thirteen and a quarter million square miles with a population of nearly four hundred and fifty millions. And it is obviously a growing concern. The area of the Empire is larger than it was at the outbreak of the war. The increase in population has been less than twenty millions, but a very large part of the new territories, now virtually vacant of white inhabitants, is adapted to European colonization.—New York Times.

Cash in on Raspberry Cups

Starting next season growers will have to market their raspberries in the full pint cup, instead of the two-fifths hallock that has been used for several years past. As the raspberry crop the past season has been lighter than expected it is just possible some of the Valley growers have a stock of the old style cups and crates on hand and according to the September 19th bulletin ofthe Dominion Fruit Commissioner, his department is making an effort to provide an outlet for these old style packages without serious loss to the owners. and asks that he be notified at once as to any and all stocks of these on hand that the owners wish to dispose of, but this service can only be extended to those who notify him that they have cups and crates to sell. This information should be sent G. E. McIntosh. Fruit Commissioner, Ottawa, who asks that he be notified not later than October 1st. The bulletin also notifies that after September 30th all potatoes offered for sale must be graded either Canada A. B or C, according to requirements laid down in Section 3 of the Root Vegetable Act.

Send in Your Receipt

The village commissioners are hoping that all residents who paid this year's taxes at Nelson prior to the end of June, and who have just been asked to return their tax receipt to Collector Townsend, will promptly comply with the request.

Judging by the taxes that have been collected by the village clerk it would look as if almost two-thirds of the 1924 rates were sent to Nelson, and until this is returned to the village treasury the commissioners are none to flush with funds to get on with improvements—and they have very wisely decided not to do any borrowing on the strength of anticipated tax payments.

Send your tax receipt back at once as it is more than likely that the Nelson collector will await the receipt of a considerable number of such receipts before making any move to have Victoria make any payment whatever in this connection.

Entries Make the Fair

At the directors meeting on Tuesday night every detail was arranged for Creston's 1924 fall fair, which comes next week. Everything that a board of management could possibly do to assure a successful exhibition has been done, and with Foster assuring something good in the weather line all that is now required to make the sixth annaul fair the biggest and best ever is a thoroughly representative display in each of the fifteen classes in which prizes are offered.

Never before has such care been taken to compile a prize list that so strikingly combines utility in the different items on which premiums will be paid, with generosity in the matter of prize money.

Without exception this year's list of prizes to be awarded is by long odds the most liberal ever submitted, whilst the special effort the directors are making to provide attractions to entertain the Thursday and Friday crowds is equally ambitious, and the combination should bring out record attendances on both the second and third days.

But the real success of the fair hinges on both the quantity and quality of the exhibits and a last and urgent appeal is made to orchardists, particularly, to see that the fruit department is filled to overflowing.

The ladies can be relied upon to have a very fine showing of baking, canned goods, needlework, etc., and if the growers will do their part in the same generous fashion a display of Valley products that will strengthen and confirm the faith of residents as to the possibilities of the district will be forthcoming.

Plenty of time remains to lend a hand with the good work as entries do not close until Monday night.

Cranbrook Fed Up on Fairs

Times have changed, alright. In the former days Cranbrook was wont to boast that at fair time all roads led to the divisional city, and so sure were the exhibition directors of the loyalty of the citizens that they held the show on Labor Day to still further facilitate attendance. But look what happened—according to the Courier:

"East Kootenay's twelfth Fall Fair fell by the wayside. It has ended with a large deficit. Cranbrook people did not support it. That is the main reason for its failure. A glance around at the crowd on the opening day was very discouraging to the directors of the Agricultural Association, who will call an early meeting of the association and lay the matter before them. Despite the fact that the fair was well advertised in advance of the dates set and that Dr. Rutledge, president of the association, made personal appeals, at least one half the population of Cranbrook bundled up in cars and left for outside places, Wasa, Fairmont and Banff receiving its quota, while many private picnics were conducted at nearby places. Loyalty is the first requisite in community welfare and unless there is a change of heart of both farmers and citizens, the fall fair will have to go by the board."

Then Comes the Royalty Rate

HEAVY EXPENSES OF ACQUIRING AND HOLDING STANDING TIMBER

Trees Purchased in the 'Eighties' Only Just Being Cut for the Market

It may interest those who imagine that timber is bought today and cut tomorrow, to know that some of the areas that are being logged today have been in the possession of the holders since the "eighties."

For 40 years these stands have been paying increased taxation exposed to the risk of destruction by fire, storm and decay.

Before the axe touches timber of British Columbia, thousands of dollars are spent in sizing up its "logging chances." Initial reconnaissances have to be made of the area and then one or more cruises to ascertain the quantity and quality of the timber. Then the services of experienced engineers are called in and the ground gone over in detail to find out the possibilities of getting the timber out by railroad. Grade problems presenting seemingly overwhelming difficulties and entailing heavy expenditure have to be overcome or the investment must be abandoned. Finally a suitable booming ground must be located where the logs are to be dumped for rafting to the market.

When all this preliminary investigation is concluded the timber is purchased and the long period anticipatory to logging commences. During this wait the owner has to hold his own against the elements and the ever busy tax collector.

Finally, perhaps, after a period of long years the timber is cut and the public asserts its further demands in addition to the carrying charges by claiming thousands of dollars cash or royalty fees.

Last year the Government collected one and a half millions of dollars in royalties alone before the material that paid that amount was placed on the market.

LAND ACT

FORM OF NOTICE

Kootenay Land District—District of West Kootenay:

TAKE NOTICE that I, Burpee Harding Bentley, of Creston, B.C., occupation, lumberman, intend to apply for permission to purchase the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted at the south-east angle of Sublot 6 of Lot 4592, Group 1, thence southerly along the westerly boundary of the British Columbia Southern Railway right of way for a distance of 60 chains more or less, thence due west to the east bank of the Goat River, thence northerly along said east bank of the Goat River to the intersection with the south boundary of Sublot 6, thence due east along the said south boundary of Sublot 6 for o distance of 2.5 chains more or less to the point of commencement, and containing 16.5 acres more or less.

BURPEE HARDING BENTLEY,
Dated July 10, 1924. Applicant.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock owners may form associations for range management. Free or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

NEWS OF KOOTENAYS

New Denver school attendance is 95, of whom 28 are in the high school.

Penticton hospital was operated at a loss of $480 for the month of August.

A community fair at Nakusp last week netted $275 for the building fund of the hospital in that town.

$1680 worth of liquor was stolen from the government liquor store at Greenwood one night last week.

Rossland hears that there is prospect of an auto stage line being operated between that town and Spokane.

Things are looking up at Greenwood. The town had a visit from two piano tuners on the same day last week.

Kaslo business men have contributed more in cash to help finance this year's fall fair than they did for the 1923 exhibition.

Penticton growers are looking to the Associated to this year for 80 cents a box net as an average of all grades of apples.

Athough Rossland only indulged in a thre day Chautauqua each of the guarantors had to go down for $10.75 to make up the deficit.

Greenwood is still short of water and some of the residents at the extreme ends of the system only get the wet goods at intervals.

A fourth year course is now being taught at the high school in Penticton. This is the same as the first year course in the B.C. University.

Mrs. Saunders of Bonners Ferry is the town's champion angler, with a a catch of a four pound rainbow trout entitling her to the honors.

Free Press: Owing to present financial conditions the unmarried residents of Fernie give little attention to matrimonal affairs these days.

At Trail the increase in school attendance is so great that the basement has been partitioned off to house a couple of rooms of overflow pupils.

Greenwood council has advised citizens to boil the drinking water.

According to the Kootenaian Mayor Kane of Kaslo has just installed one of the largest and most up-to-date radio machines manufactured in America.

After hovering for two years between life and death Penticton board of trade was reorganized at a business men's get together dinner on Tuesday night last.

115 players took part in the golf tournament at Fernie early this month, of whom 44 were ladies. It was the biggest affair of the sort in the B.C. interior.

Kaslo council advertises that if the party who stole the dishpan from the park house does not return the tin ware at once there will be police court proceedings taken.

Revelstoke is protesting to the C.P.R. that the charge of $34 for carrying an auto from that town to Golden is too high, and is hurting tourist trade in the two towns.

The Ledge claims that the expense incurred in supplying Greenwood citizens with Eaton's fall catalogue is greater than the sum spent by all the merchants in that town in a year in advertising.

A 31 x 59 foot two story and basement addition is being put to the hospital at Cranbrook. The basement will house a modern steam heating plant. For the present the other two stories will not be fitted up.

Division 1 of the Fernie Public School has achieved a very notable success by winning the provincial high Honor Diploma awarded to the Class in the Eighth Grade attaining the highest penmanship standard in the Province.

Vernon News: A few weeks ago we reported lilacs in bloom in the city, and similar occurrences are now reported from other points. M. P. Williams, of Wood Lake, states that not only has he lilacs in bloom, but some of his fruit trees are in blossom He is much concerned as to what effect this may have on next year's crop, and whether the blossoms now being produced are those which ordinarily would appear next season. Possibly the fruit department officials may have some information on this point. These peculiar conditions are due to the fact that the first lot of foliage was eaten off by grasshoppers, and after they had done their worst there was a fair amount of rain, and fine weather, which caused many of the trees and shrubs which had been entirely denuded, to throw out a second lot of foliage.

The Canadian Senate

The much debated question of reform of the Senate of Canada is at long last to be removed from the realm of academic discussion into the arena of practical politics. If it could only be removed at the same time from partizan disputation this country would be the gainer.

Prior to the recent prorogation of Parliament, Premier King announced that at the next session the Government would introduce legislation having for its object an appeal to the British Parliament to so amend the British North America Act as to confer on the House of Commons of Canada the same measure of authority and control over legislation initiated by that body as is now enjoyed by the British House of Commons.

Like the Canadian Senate, the House of Lords had a habit of "killing" measures passed by the Commons and sent to the Lords for their approval. Year after year the Lords had nullified the efforts of the Government of which Lloyd George was a member, and finally the consent of the Crown was obtained to a measure which provides that if a Bill passes the Commons three times within a period of not less than two years, it becomes law whether the Lords pass it or not. Since the passage of this Act, the House of Lords has not wielded the axe as formerly.

Premier King proposes that the British Parliament shall confer on the Canadian House of Commons the same authority as is now enjoyed by the British House of Commons. In other words, if a Bill passes the Canadian Commons at three consecutive sessions the Senate shall be powerless to prevent it becoming the law of the Dominion.

It will be seen, therefore, that the proposal is not so much one of reform of the Senate as a curtailment of the veto powers of that body.

The Government has been forced to action by the rising tide of public opinion against the autocratic action of the Senate in "killing" legislation desired by a large majority of the people. This year, for a second time, the Senate destroyed the branch lines programme of the Canadian National Railways and deprived thousands of Western settlers of urgently needed means of transportation. In lik manner the Senate vetoed the legislation providing for the distribution of the canteen funds belonging, not to Canada, but to Canada's ex-service men. The Senate also over-rode the recommendations of the Ralston Commission, a Parliamentary Committee and the unanimous decision of the House of Commons to make the soldiers' bonus permanent, and in other ways mutilated legislation designed to assist Canada's returned soldiers.

Inasmuch as the Canadian Senate is wholly and absolutely beyond the control of the people, and is probably the most undemocratic legislative body in the world today, showing an almost complete disregard for the wishes of the people, it has become an imperative necessity that, if it is to continue to exist, its arbitrary use of the veto power shall be restricted.

While it is a Liberal Government in Canada, as it was a Liberal Government in Great Britain, which is moving to curtail the veto power of the Upper Chamber, such action should not be made a party question nor a partizan issue. The Senate has mutilated and killed legislation passed by the Commons on the initiative of both Liberal and Conservative Governments, and the party in opposition today may be the victim of the irresponsibility of the Senate tomorrow.

In a democratic country like Canada, the elected representatives of the people must govern, and, unless some reasonable guarantee is provided that the people's will shall prevail, the people will eventually wipe the Second Chamber out of existence.

The Senate was designed to provide a check, a safeguard, against hasty legislation by the Commons on a wave of popular but passing enthusaism, and to protect minorities against any aggression or injustice by the majority. But it was never intended that the Senate should usurp the right of nullifying the whole policy of the Commons and the Government of the country.

The proposal that legislation shall become effective if it passes the House of Commons three times is safe and sane. It provides adequate opportunity for the feeling of the country to be tested. If public opinion does not support the Commons, that fact will be made manifest, and the legislation will be dropped or satisfactorily amended. But if in three sessions the elected representatives of the people record their approval of any Bill, it is fairly safe to assume that it represents the will of the people and should become effective. And no non-elected, life-appointed body should be allowed to prevent it.

Many New Elevators

Fifty-Four Grain Elevators To Be Built In Saskatchewan

Sixty applications have been received from elevator companies for sites on the new Canadian National Railway branch lines, 54 of which are for points in Saskatchewan. Requests for sites have been made for six elevators on the Ste. Rose-Rorketon line, the proposed location being Ste. Rose and Methley.

Construction of these levators, with a total storage capacity of 2,000,000 bushels, would involve an expenditure, it is estimated, of approximately $1,000,000.

Work on the construction of ten new elevators is proceeding already at points in Saskatchewan, while material, such as rock, sand and cement, is on the ground for the erection of four or five other buildings.—Free Press.

Work Among Indians

Appropriations Amounting to Three Million Dollars Passed at Ottawa

Appropriations amounting to approximately $3,000,000 for work among Indians, confined mostly to the western provinces, were passed by the House of Commons. Of this amount $1,854,000 was for educational purposes, and $79,029 to assist young Indian students to set up for themselves and also to make loans to Indians for the construction of homes.

Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, explained that this latter sum was the amount of the profits so far received by the Department of Indian Affairs from the Greater Production campaign.

Distance Needed To Stop Motor Cars

Table of Figures That Should Be Memorized By Drivers

Every motor-driver should know exactly the minimum distance within which a car can be stopped when it is travelling at different rates of speed. And he should never forget that the ratio between the distance within which it can be stopped and the rate of speed at which it is going increases with the rate of speed. Thus, when the car is going at the rate of 30 miles an hour, the distance it must go before it can be stopped is much greater than double the distance when it is going at the rate of 15 miles.

If this fact were known and always remembered, there would be fewer cases of motor cars crashing through closed gates and into moving trains at level crossings.

In a bulletin isrued by the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission there is a table showing the distance required to stop an average two-brake motor car travelling at various rates of speed on a good level road. This table of distances, which follows, should be memorized by every driver of a motor car or truck:

Miles per hour.	Feet.	Miles per hour	Feet
5	2	35	111
10	9	40	145
15	20	45	184
20	36	50	227
25	57	55	275
30	82	60	327

London Surgeon Has Extraordinary Case

Hay Seed Lodged In Man's Eye Had Sprouted

An amazing case was recently treated at Gloucestershire Royal Infirmary. A farm laborer got something into his eye which he was unable to remove, and because of the pain he visited the hospital.

The opthalmic surgeon, on making an incision above the eye, discovered a green blade of grass over an inch and a half long lying between the tissues, which had sprung from a hay seed, which was also removed from the eye.

Apparently the hayseed had become lodged in the corner of the eye socket, and the discharge from the tear duct had watered it, and the blade of grass growing from it had received sufficient light through the eyeball to make it green.

The operation was quite successful, and the man's eye is now as good as ever.

Eyes Are Getting Weaker

Modern Demand On Eye Has Increased Defective Vision

Many of us know that eyesight is not what it used to be. It is certain our own is not. Now the American eyesight conservation council bears us out in a statement that it is the modern demand on the eye that has overstrained it. Too much glare in some places and too much dimness in other places, electric lights here and darkness there, cause excessive contrasts which eyes cannot stand without injurious effects. As a result nine out of ten adults have defective vision, and four out of every ten school children add to the trouble by contracting serious defects.

The United States national committee for the prevention of blindness has issued a statement wherein eight causes are given for the increase of defective vision, as follows: Sore eyes in babies—too often regarded as caused by colds; inflammation of the eyes' membranes, called conjunctivitis; granulated lids, a contagious disease; injuries caused by "something in the eye"; the so-called "sty," caused by the breaking of tiny veins as a result of measles and scarlet fever; cross-eyes, which can be corrected if treated in time, and progressive near-sightedness, which glasses correct. The best preventive is to avoid eye-strain.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Growth Of Population

Population Of U.S. On July 1 Was 112,078,611

The population of the United States of America, as at July 1, 1924, was 112,078,611, according to a Government census.

Seventy-nine cities now have a population of more than 100,000. New York has reached the six million mark. Chicago now boasts of 3,000,000; Philadelphia the 2,000,000 mark; while Detroit and Cleveland are around the 1,000,000 mark.

New Citizens Received

Eight Hundred Persons Given Naturalization Papers During May

Canadian naturalization papers have been granted to 893 aliens during the month of May, according to figures in the latest issue of The Canada Gazette, and of this number 106 are residents in Alberta. Thirty-eight minor children also gain Canadian citizenship.

America leads the nations granted naturalization papers, in Alberta with a total of twenty-five, Austria is next with sixteen, while Russia is third with thirteen. Germany ran Russia close with a total of twelve, while Poland and Italy each have nine, Roumania six, Greece four and Denmark and Norway three each. Two Hungarians have been granted papers, and Holland, Belgium, Sweden and Czecho-Slovakia, one each.

Fifty-two of the naturalization papers have been granted to farmers, twenty-four to miners, restaurateurs granted papers number six, and laborers are next in order with five. Other occupations represented in the list are shoemakers, glass workers, bank clerks, salesmen, boilermakers, students, etc.

Reduced Production Is Forecast

Reduction of 286,000,000 Bushels Indicated For Northern Hemisphere

A reduction of 286,000,000 bushels in the wheat production of eleven of the leading producing countries of the northern hemisphere, as compared with last year's crop is indicated in reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. These eleven countries, producing 64 per cent. of the world crop will have 1,913,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, as compared with 2,199,000,000 last year. A large part of the reduction is due to the smaller crop in Canada.

Argentina is producing the largest corn crop since 1914-15, with a total of 276,756,035 bushels as compared with 176,102,739 bushels last year. It is calculated Argentina will have an exportable surplus of about 190,000,000 bushels of corn this year.

Region Of Hudson Bay Declared To Be Most Favorable For Settlement

The country to and around the Hudson Bay is supposed to be barren, but this is an ordinary fallacy of those who cannot estimate the resources of a new country. Mr. E. Mosher, of Halifax, was at Churchill from September 2 to January 7, superintending the building of the barracks for the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. "So far as the weather is concerned, I would as soon have spent the months in Churchill as in Halifax. He "did not find the cold any more severe than in the east." According to his observations, "the lowest temperature registered was 39 below zero."

The Rev. Dr. John McDougall, pioneer missionary, describes the country south of Split Lake as favorable for settlement, the growth of vegetation almost tropical, and "the climate is far more moderate than in Southern Manitoba, the home of No. 1 hard wheat." Summer frosts are practically unknown.

James Robson, who superintended the building of Fort Prince of Wales at the mouth of Churchill Harbor, after five years of residence, writes in '752: "The marshes and low ground are full of good grass, and there is a patch of ground near Eskimaux Point which though exposed to the north and northeast, produces good radishes, colewort, turnips, small carrots and lettuces and other salading; blackberries also grow upon the heath.

. . . The cattle here would live and do well if the same care was taken of them as is generally taken of them in England. The horses . . . had been kept fc: several years and were constantly employed in drawing stone and other material for the fort."

Dr. Bell, nearly a century and a half later, saw some very good potatoes and turnips growing at Churchill. He observed an abundance of hay in the neighborhood, and near the bay open grassy land of unlimited extent affording extensive pasturage. He found the small herd of cattle were in 1879-80 being recruited by animals calved at the fort, whereas it was formerly not considered possible to breed stock there. Good butter was made at the fort.

The fisheries have been slightingly referred to by Mr. MacLachlan, but we have the evidence of a number of responsible authorities that the lakes from Le Pas to Churchill are swarming with whitefish and other food fish like trout, pike and even suckers. Salmon, sea trout and whitefish are, Mr. O'Sullivan says, "both plentiful and of excellent quality, the porpoise or white whale is very common in the mouth of the Churchill." "The barren ground caribou herd in hundreds over the country, and wild geese, duck and ptarmigan there breed and abound." Ungava's shore streams on the east side of the bay abound in the finest salmon, in trout and speckled trout unlimited.

Mr. McKenna, in reviewing the evidence of a century and a half, adds: "It would appear that Canada has at that point on Hudson's Bay a safe port, open for several months in each year, and a site for a city, with immense fisheries at its doors, and large possibilities as to the development of the mineral wealth deposited in its neighborhood."

The great "barren ground herd of caribou pass yearly within 30 miles of Churchill, and under Government regulation and supervision, a toll of from 5,000 to 50,000 could yearly be taken without decimating the main herd, provided the wolves which prey on them, taking tens of thousands of young animals, were destroyed, which can be done.

Waterpower is everywhere on a splendid scale along the Churchill, the Nelson and tributaries, far more than necessary to electrify the whole line.

Most of the route seems to be fairly well forested with "spruce, poplar, tamarac, balsam, excellent white spruce and Banksian pine, etc." The pulpwood supply running from Le Pas to Split Lake, ten miles each side of the railway, is estimated at nearly six million cords," a very low but safe estimate. In the absence of a very large amount of fuel timber, each of these explorers emphasizes the presence of large and deep beds of good peat, which eventually will be found an excellent substitute for many purposes.—Moose Jaw Times.

The Livestock Market

Select Bacon Hogs Are Now Bringing Better Prices

There is a noteworthy feature in the Dominion Livestock Branch market report for the week ending July 3, inasmuch as the top price for select bacon hogs at Toronto is quoted at $9.75 as against $6.35 for the same date last year, thick smooth hogs at $8.80 against $8.50, and heavies at $8.25 against $7.50. For other kinds the prices average unchanged. Lambs and light sheep also show an increase, the former of the good kind being quoted at $17 compared with $16.35, and common at $15.75 compared with $14, top prices. Heavy and common sheep were a bit down, but light sheep are quoted at the top as $6.50 compared with $6.25 last year.

From January 1 to July 3 this year the cattle shipped to England numbered 35,820 compared with 31,694 during the same period last year, an increase of 4,126. The sales of cattle at the principal stockyards of the country this year total 348,762 compared with 317,068 last year, 146,422 calves against 119,998, 638,026 hogs against 520,708, and 75,237 sheep against 92,089.

Record Of Performance Applications

Dominion Livestock Branch In Position to Give Benefit of Service

A few weeks ago reference was made in the Agricultural Press to the fact that owing to lack of a sufficient number of inspectors to keep pace with the expansion of the work, the Dominion Livestock Branch had been forced to discontinue the acceptance of Record of Performance applications from farms not already on its lists. Largely as a result of representations made by various Breed Associations, council has since authorized an increase in inspection staff with the result that the branch is again in a position to give the benefit of this service to all breeders who comply with the rules. Applications received during May and June, which would otherwise have been refused, have been included in the lists.

Favorable Trade Balance

Canada has a favorable trade balance of nearly $200,000,000 for the twelve months ended May 31. During that period Canadian products exported were worth $1,069,715,880. Imports totalled $873,367,752. Exports increased by $110,000,000 over 1923 and imports increased by $32,000,000. The chief increase in exports was in agricultural products and wood and paper.

Rapidity With Which Industry Is Crowding Back The Northern Frontier Of Canada

The rapidity with which industry is crowding back what was at one time considered the northern boundary of possible settlement in Canada gives cause for serious thought as to whether this country has such a limit, says the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior. Both east and west and in the central provinces new developments are taking place within what was at one time considered the undisputed habitat of wild life and the fur trader.

In British Columbia, on the Portland Canal, great developments are taking place in mining and waterpower. The Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company's Higgins mine, at Anyox, is the largest copper producing mine in Canada. In 1922 its output was 30,334,180 pounds, or nearly two-thirds of the total copper production of Canada for that year.

The Premier mine, which in 1922 produced 123,527 ounces of gold and 4,261,268 ounces of silver, is also located on the Portland Canal, approximately 140 miles north of Prince Rupert. Each of these mines has developed hydro-electric power for its operation.

In the Yukon development of the silver-lead mines of the Mayo district is proceeding satisfactorily. In 1923 the district showed increased production, while still greater results are looked for. The Mayo district is in approximately the same latitude as Dawson.

In the northwest territories radio broadcasting stations are being established at Fort Simpson, on the Mackenzie River, and at Herschel Island, in the Arctic Ocean off the mouth of the Mackenzie.

In Northern Alberta arrangements are being made for shipping out bitumen sands from the enormous deposits in the vicinity of McMurray, which point is now almost reached by railway. A company has been formed recently to develop the known salt deposits in the same area, a bed of commercial rock salt 14 feet in thickness having been proved by drilling.

At Faust, on Lesser Slave Lake, and on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, a modern fish freezing plant is beinf constructed with a capacity of 150,000 pounds of fish. During the fishing season pike and pickerel, which reach the maximum of excellence in the cold northern waters, will be filleted and pan-frozen. In the autumn these will be shipped to the markets of Eastern Canada and the United States, where exceptionally high prices are secured.

In Northern Manitoba, 350 miles north of Winnipeg, a hydro-electric plant is being constructed on the Grass River to supply power to the Bingo gold mine, at the head of Herb Lake. This mine is being developed by British capital.

In Northern Ontario the railway has reached out to Tin Can Portage on the Abitibi River, and new mining areas are being opened up. The Kirkland Lake and Porcupine areas of Northern Ontario have made some wonderful production records.

One of Canada's largest waterpower developments is in course of construction at the grand discharge of Lake St. John in Quebec, about 75 miles north of the city of Quebec. Here the Quebec Development Company is constructing dams and powerhouse to use the waters of the Saguenay River. The ultimate capacity of the plant is expected to be 420,000 horsepower. The dam being erected will be 100 feet high and 7,700 feet long.

In the northwestern portion of the province, in the Rouyn district, active prospecting and exploratory work is being carried on, with the expectation that development of the mineral resources of that district will be commercially feasible. Railway extension to the areas is proposed. In the Abitibi and Temiskaming districts colonization is being actively promoted by the Provincial Government.

On the northwestern coast of Nova Scotia the coal fields are reported as about to be developed on an intensive scale. A company has recently been incorporated for that purpose.

The northern limits of Canada are rapidly moving back, and agriculture and industry are following closely the new developments. What was once looked upon as but a blank on the map may be expected, within a reasonable length of time, to yield its tribute, not only in furs but in many and varied mineral, forest and power developments, to the sum total of the value of the natural resources of Canada.

China Needs Our Wheat

Growing Importance of Orient As a Market For Canadian Wheat

The growing importance of China as a market for wheat from the United States and Canada is describel by W. Melville, a former Minneapolis miller, who for 20 years has been an adviser to one of the large native milling companies of China. There are now 23 modern flour milling companies in Shanghai alone, Mr. Melville said, and they prefer to use wheat from the States and from Canada to their own native product for the reason that the latter is so poorly handled enroute to the mills that it is not satisfactory. Much Canadian hard wheat is used by the Shanghai mills.

Flour consumption in China is growing steadily, said Mr. Melville. Although Chinese wheat production is on the increase he doubted if it would catch up with the demand for wheat flours. Therefore, he said, China is likely to continue a good buyer of American wheat. During the war the Shanghai mills developed a good export business in flour, but at the present time exports are prohibited, so that the mills must find a home market for their entire output.

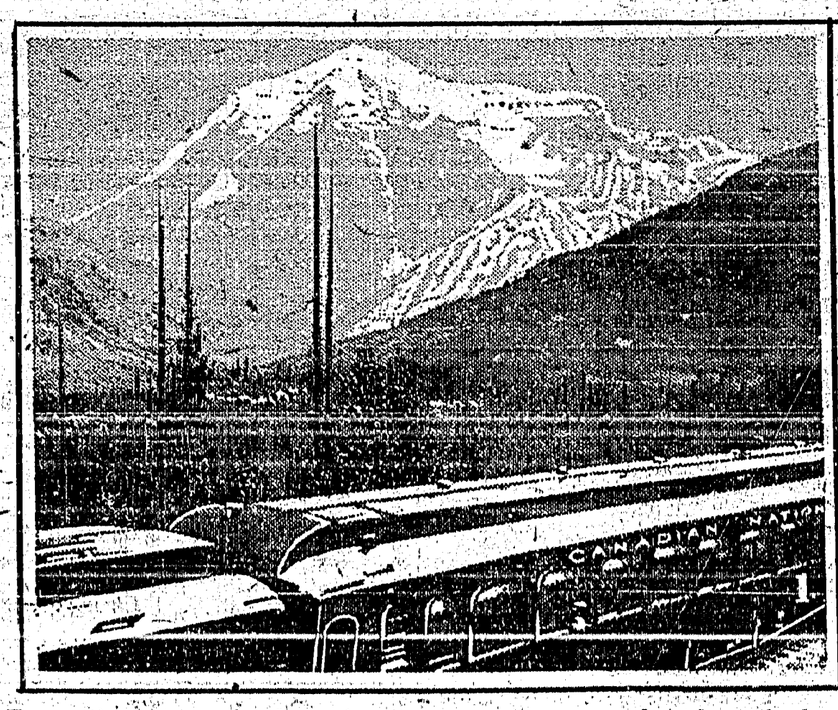
Theory Worked Too Well

To test the theory that "any bright criminal could prove himself insane and thus escape punishment for his crimes," a Des Moines, Iowa, newspaper reporter played the part of the insane man, was officially adjudged insane by the sanity commission, which remanded him to the state hospital at Clarind, all in such fine order that the young reporter had difficulty in extricating himself.

Trade With United States

Canada's trade with the United States is increasing. During the twelve months ended May, Canadian exports to the United States were $428,094,421, an increase of forty millions over the previous year; imports from the United States were $583,764,800, an increase of nearly fourteen millions over the previous year.

WHERE MIGHTY RIVERS ARE BORN



From the snow-capped peak of Mount Robson and other great mountains along the main line of the Canadian National Railways in Alberta and British Columbia, there is a constant trickle of water which, commencing as a small mountain torrent, grows until it reaches the dimensions of a mighty river on its way either to the ocean, to Hudson's Bay or to interior lakes. Fields of ice, stretching as far as the eye can see, provide the source of many streams which later become large enough to bear the burdens of commerce from the interior to the ocean outlets to the world.

Mount Robson, which is seen from the trains of the Canadian National Railway, is 13,068 feet high, and the highest peak of the Canadian Rockies. This year the Alpine Club of Canada, numbering among its members the most eminent authorities on mountain lore, will hold its annual camp at the foot of this monarch of the Rockies, and numerous peaks surrounding the district will be climbed by the hardy lovers of outdoor life.

Canadian National trains stop at the foot of Mount Robson in order that travellers may see this massive peak, towering until it seems to pierce the very sky-line, and scarcely a tourist passes through who does not attempt to get one or more photographic memoirs of his or her trip.

Photograph No. 1 shows Mount Robson as it appears from the Canadian National Railways train; No. 2, the massive ice seracs which lie behind Mount Robson; No. 3, one of the mighty glaciers which feed the ever-growing mountain streams.
