THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XXI. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JANUARY 31, 1930 No. 48

Alice Siding

Guy Constable was a business visitor at Bonners Ferry on Saturday.

Dick Smith, who is operating a trap line on the flats, had the good luck to capture a lynx one day last week.

Victor Carr is taking advantage of the good sleighting this week to haul the wood supply to Alice Siding school.

J. R. Miller has one of his work horses on the hospital list at present. While snaking out some logs down grade on Thursday last the log got out of control and rolled onto the horse, knocking it down and inflicting serious injuries.

The Whist Club had six tables of players at Friday night's meeting at Mrs. Brubacher's at which the prize scorss were made by Mrs. Frank Simister and H. Tooze. The club will be entertained by Mrs. Pease this evening.

A wedding of great interest to Alice Siding people was solemnized at the Anglican church at Trail on Sunday morning, when Gladys, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart, was united in marriage with C. Hamilton, manager of the Creston skating rink. The young couple returned to Creston on Tuesday and are occupying apartments in the postoffice block. Everyone extends best wishes for a long and happy life.

Wynndel

George Winch of Spokane was a visitor here last week, with his sister, Mrs. Huscroft. He was on his way to Prince Rupert.

Mrs. M. Young of Crestonwas a visitor with her sister, Mrs. Nathorst.

Mrs. Pat Downey and son of Creston were weekend visitors withe her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wood.

The cold snap which held the valley in its grip for almost three weeks broke on Sunday evenining with a snowfall.

Road work at Washout is expected to be in full swing this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Dolbom entertained at a jolly whist drive at their home on Friday evening. The high score prizes went to Mrs. H. A. Bathie and Gilbert Payette. Consolation prizes were awarded Mrs. Hackett and Murray Hackett. A very dainty lunch followed the presenting of the prizes, the ladies' first being an embroidered apron; gentleman's first, arm bands; booby prizes—nuf sed.

Lister

Col. Fred Lister left at the end of of the week for Victoria, where he will be for the next couple of months attending the session of the legialature.

Mrs. VanEtten of Moyie Falls, Idaho, is a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Demchuk.

Anglican Church service at the schoolhouse on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Carl Basse was here last Sunday for Lutheran worship.

The crew and equipment that have been at work the past six weeks putting through the new road to the Idaho boundary, transferred at the first of the week for operations at Washout Creek and to Kuskanook.

Mrs. George Mansell of Saskatoon, Sask., is here on a visit with her sister, Mrs. Bill Demchuk.

E. J. Malthouse has just completed the haul of 30 ricks of wood to the school, the winter supply of fuel

All the mains of the Lister Waterworks Company system are now carrying a full supply of the wet goods, and all the farms that have connected up with the main pipe have a splendid water supply.

Due to the severity of the weather on Saturday last it was found expedient to cancel the Community Society whist drive arranged for hat evening.

Much sympathy is felt for Harry and Cedric Helme, who at the end of the week were notified of the death of their father, Richard Helme, who passed away in Franco, where he had gone in the quest of health. He had been none too robust for thh past three years, and two years ago spent about two months with his sons on the farm at Lister. Deceased is a brother of Mrs. Habden.

F. B. McConnell, representing the Canadian Colonization Company, was here at the end of the week, and as a result seven of the German residents have now signed their agreements to purchase farms and the documents have gone to Victoria to be signed, sealed and then delivered by the Land Settlement Board. This assures that half the newcomers now residing here are likely to remain permanently, and the other half are likely to sign up very shortly. There are another four who have not yet arrived here to reside and who have not executed land purchase agreements.

Kitchener

Miss Sarah McNeil, who has had charge of Kitchener school, has resigned. The trustees are looking for another teacher.

Mrs. B. Johnson spent the weekend in Cranbrook.

Mrs. E. Driffil and Melva Arrowsmith spent the weekend in Creston.

Miss Olga Nelson has arrived home from Cranbrook.

Mrs. Nowlin spent a few days at Creston.

Miss Beatrice Thompson of Creston was a Sunday visitor with Miss Clara Hunt

Chester Paulson of Spokane is spending a few days at the ranch.

The news has just rhached Kitchener of the death of C. H. Neligh, which occurred at Butte, Montana, on January 24th. His passing was sudden and wholly unexpected, as Mrs. Neligh, who was at Lewiston, Idaho, was only warned early Friday morning and before the train left received another wire informing that her husband had passed away. Deceased was vice-president of the Leadville Mining Company, Ltd., and was arranging to bring machinery in to work the mine. Mrs. Neligh has the sympathy of many Kitchener friends in her great bereavement, especially as she is still mourning the demise of her mother who died at Los Angles, Calif., on January 8th.

Seven Candidates

Village electiors have seven candidates to choose from in filling the three vacancies in the board of commissioners—the biggest ballot that has ever been presented for consideration of the taxpayers. Nomination day was Monday when Miss E. F. Arrowsmith, returning officer, placed official o k on the papers of the following:

COMFORT, A., farmer. Proposed by W. G. Hendy and W. Morrow.

EDMONDSON, T. M., farmer. Proposed by A. Brady and J. F. Stevenson.

HENDERSON, G. B., physician. Proposed by A. E. French and Geo. Johnson.

JACKSON, F. H., farmer. Proposed by C. Murrell and T. Mawson.

KELLY, G. H., druggist. Proposed by J. P. Johnston and M. J. Boyd.

NICHOLS, G., section foreman. Proposed by J. F. Stevenson and E. J. Downes.

PALMER, A. L., garageman. Proposed by S. A. Speers and W. Fraser.

There was a large turnout at the ratepayers meeting on Tuesday evening, which was presided over by Rev. P. McNabb, and the voting yesterday was heavy, all the candidates seeing to it that all their supporters were got to the poll, despite the snowy weather that prevailed nearly all day.

LOST—On Wednesday, January 29th, between skating rink and drugstore, white gold wrist watch. Finder please leave at Review Office and receive reward.

Death of Tom Harris

Creston has lost a real oldtime citizen in the death of Thomas Harris, who passed away on Tuesday afternoon, after a brief illness. Deceased was 75 years of age, and had been a resident of the village and district for about a quarter century, working in the ills and prospecting extensively up till 1917, when he became the local road foreman, and which position he held up till a few years ago, since when he has been living more or less retired. Deceased was a keen follower of sports, particularly baseball, and was a strong supporter of the Liberal party. He was a member of the local lodge of the Knights of Pythias almost from its inception, and the funeral will be in charge of Wild Rose Lodge on Friday from the Presbyterian Church, with interment in Creston cemetery. A son and daughter, Ollie and Mrs. A. T. Garland are here from Kaslo for the funeral, as well as a brother and neice from Vancouver.

Ratepayers Meet Well Attended

Commissioner Jackson Reviews 1929 Business—Grilled on Several Features of Administration—Candidates are Heard.

There was large turnout of citizens at Trinity United Church hall on Tuesday evening for the meeting of village ratepayers, arranged by the retiring council, and in a free and easy discussion of the bolance sheet and various other matters real live interest was manifest in the doings of the council, for 1929 particularly.

Rev. P. McNabb was prevailed upon to take the chair and Jas. Cherrington was unanimous choice for secretary. Commissioner F. H. Jackson, chairman of the 1929 commissioners, was first called upon and reviewed at considerable length "Ratepayer's" letter dealing with the gravelling situation on the lower side of town; the refusal of the commissioners to allow W. M. Archibald to use the Rodgers' light; and also discussed the Amon 20-year franchise, and from his guarded statements it would appear the commissioners have now discovered the village cannot give any such franchise, but hopes are held out that the Village Act will be amended so that some such guarantee can be given.

Following this review, the candidates for commissioner. A. Comfort, T. M. Edmondson, Dr. Henderson, G.H. Kelly, Geo. Nichols, A. L. Palmer and F. H. Jackson, spoke briefly on their respective platforms, and then the meeting was given over to discussing the past two years' work of the council.

In this particular C. F. Hayes threshed out the 1929 gravelling below the track and secured Commissioner Jackson's version of the mixup, which was rather different than the situation disclosed by "Ratepayer."

In the discussion of the item of $187 of travelling expense Mr. Hayes got a point blank contradiction of a statement made by Commissioner Jackson when reporting to the council re a visit to Victoria during the summer by Mr. Jackson in connection with his effort to get preference for the village on the surplus water of East Creston Irrigation District (since given Goat Mountain Waterworks Company) Mr. Hayes definitely stated that on the visit Mr. Jackson never even saw the minister of lands while in Victoria and that the money spent on the trip was pure waste. This was stoutly denied by Mr. Jackson. Undoubtedly more will be heard of this.

Mr. Hayes was also curious to know why the commissioners did not insist on having some part of the $185,000 which Mr. Amon assured them he was selling the 20-year franchise for, and also wanted to know why Mr. Amon was not asked to post some security that would become the property of the town in case light was not delivered, as originally agreed, at September 1st, 1929. It was claimed Commissioner Comfort had asked for this security, and Mr. Comfort assured the audience that he had made the demand. However Commissioners Jackson and Cherrington both stoutly denied any such sum as $185,000 had been mentioned, and that Mr. Comfort had not asked for any security whatever Most likely some fairly convincing proof of the correctness of the arguments of Messrs. Hayes and Comfort will also be forthcoming.

Mrs. Mallandaine discussed briefly the water situation and openly charged Commissioner Jackson with blocking the efforts of the South Kootenay Water Power Company to develop the Goat River canyon about a year ago, by writing the minister of lands stating the village was opposed to the company having the power. This, of course, was denied by Commissioner Jackson, but who finally did admit that he had written a personal letter in the matter to the minister.

J. F. Stevenson entertained the audience with a boost for his two candidates Messrs. Edmondson and Nichols, remarking that he always backed winners. W. J. Truscott asked those present to vote in favor of the village taking over the library. C. Murrell had a motion asking that the incoming council be pledged to purchase some sort of carryall so that all the fire brigade equipment could be got to a fire at on and the same time. The matter was finally disposed of by an amendment asking the new council to consult with fire chief Matt. York to find the most practical way of meeting a situation that required attention.

Local and Personal

Due to a shortage of space a report of the annual meeting of Trinity United Church has to be held over till next issue.

The primary room of the public school has been closed all week. The teacher, Miss Brown, is in Nelson taking treatment for a temporary eye trouble. She is expected back to resume school duties on Monday.

Miss Richards of the Full Gospel Mission left on Monday for Kimberley, where she will assist in the services at the Full Gospel Tabernacle. Miss McLean and Miss Price will be in charge of the work at Creston during her absence.

Capt. Tudhope and Lieut. Leitch of High River, Alberta, who are making an airplane survey of southern B C. with a view to establishing an air mail service across Canada via Crows Nest Pass, were visitors here on Friday, being escorted in from Cranbrook by Pilots Jewitt and McPhee, who are in charge of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company aviation school at Creston. They made the landing at the Consolidated airport on the flats opposite town, about 11 a.m., and early in the afternoon left for Grand Forks.

Quite a number of Creston householders are now on the water wagon. Due to no snow blanket and four weeks of zero and below zero temperatures the frost has penetratrd to an unusual depth this year, and in consequence many water services are frozen somewhere between the main and the house, while in other cases the main is frozen. As the cost of thawing would be prohibitive the waterworks company is meeting the situation by inaugurating a motor truck tank delivery of water to all patrons requiring a supply.

Sirdar

Miss Lily Wilson was a visitor with Creston friends a few days last week.

Mrs. Martin was a visitor with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simister at Creston, last week.

Mrs. G. Cam is a visitor with her daughter, Dorothy, in Nelson.

Mrs. Dixon was a Creston caller on Thursday.

Mrs. Neil leaves today for a four months' visit with her mother in Ottawa, and a brother at Port Arthur, Ontario.

Canyon City

Mrs. W. G. Wearmouth is a visitor at Fernie this week, with her daughter, Mrs. Walde.

The social dance of the Farmers' Institute on Friday night at the hall was largely attesded and much enjoyed by all. The music was by L. Moberg and Alf. Bond, jr., with an night lunch. It is expected these dances will be held fortnightly for the balance of the winter.

The Young People's Society had a good turnout at this week's meeting on Wednesday night at which a carefully prepared talk on "Lawrence of Arabia" was given by Principal Stephens of Canyon school. Next Wednesday, 5th, there will be an evening of sociability, and on the 12th Rev. R. E. Cribb will deliver an address on Evolution.

The water supply in the main pipe lines of the Canyon Water Users' system is well maintained, but in a number of cases ranchers are not getting water due to a freezeup between the main and the owners' house.

Erickson

Miss Edith Crawford of Creston is again charge of the junior room of the Erickson school, Miss Walker having been called to the coast to attend the funeral of a friend.

W. G. Littlejohn and W. R. Long left on Monday for Vancouver, where they are attending the annnal convention of the B.C. Fruit Growers Association.

Frank Staples got back at the end of the week from a short stay at Beaverdell.

With the freezeup in the irrigation system water supply a number of residents have re-opened the wells that were in use before the Sullivian Creek supply was available.

Bob McMaster, who has been a visitor at Yahk the yast ten days, arrived home on Wednesday.

Richard Thurston, jr., who has been home on a three weeks' vacation, left a few days days ago to re-join his boat at Vancouver.

Mrs. Lee Heric, who has been at Cranbrook winh her two daughters, Anita and Marion, who are patients at the hospital, arrived home on Monday. Both girls are doing well, and will be home within a couple of weeks.

Miss Muriel Thurston was a weekend visitor at Alice Siding, a guest of Joan Hilton.

Alf. Speaker has joined the mechanical staff of Creston Motors, at Cres on.

Mrs. Kemp and Mrs. Haskins have reopened the Sunday school which was discontinued some time ago, and hope for a big attendance at the schoolhouse at 11 a.m.

Cranbrook Courier: Deepest sympathy is being expressed for the family of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Heric of Erickson, whose 13-year old daughter, Marion, suffered amputation of one of her legs below the knee in hospital here, Tuesday, and whose younger daughter, Anita, six years of age, is confined to her home with a fractured leg. The elder girl contracted pneumonia shortly before Christmas and had partially recovered when attacked by gangrene. She stood the operation bravely and is now said to be doing nicely. Mr. Heric, who is well known here, is employed as lumber shipper by the C.P.R. at Yahk.

Forward, Canada!

Lying latent in the nature of almost every individual there is one human characteristic which comes to full bloom in times of excitement, emergency, or undue stress. It is the tendency to indulge in exaggeration. A crowd assembles for some particular reason and the average person estimates the number at two or three times its actual size, or an accident occurs and the report is immediately circulated that the toll of the dead and injured is many times greater than the reality.

So, too, when times are good the impression becomes general that they are better than is really the case, and a "boom" is created, speculation is indulged in far beyond what the circumstances warrant, and the end is ultimate loss, and in some cases disaster. Here in the West indications in any year may point to a fairly large and satisfactory crop yield, and the inevitable tendency is to make estimates of the yield far in excess of what the harvest reveals.

Turning to the other side of the picture, and the same thing will be found to be true. A slump occurs in business, the returns of the crop season are below the average, a degree of unemployment exists, and almost immediately the human tendency to exaggerate comes into play, and everything is painted in much more somber colors than there is any justification for so doing.

This tendency to undue exaggeration is in evidence in Western Canada today to the detriment of the whole country, and to every person resident therein. Recognizing the fact that the crop of 1929 was disappointing and below the average of many years, coupled with the further fact that the burden of the loss has to be borne by certain sections of the country which harvested little or no grain, the impression is created of a practically total crop failure, and that the country is no good. Such exaggeration ignores the splendid returns of former years, and takes no cognizance of the fact that, taken on the whole, and year after wear, Western Canada has been forging steadily ahead. One swallow does not make a summer, nor does one crop shortage, or even failure, condemn a country or provide substantial ground for discouragement and depression, any more than one bumper crop establishes the fertility of any section or justifies a "boom" and extravagant expenditure.

At this time the people of Western Canada, in city and country alike, may well give consideration to, and base their actions upon, the average of conditions. If the grain crop was smaller than usual in 1929, in 1928 it was so big that it shattered all records; if the 1929 grain crop fell below the average, dairy production, in Saskatchewan, for example, increased by three and one half million pounds, a 30 per cent. increase over 1928. The figures of building construction in the West, last year, established new high records; employment was maintained at a high ratio throughout the first nine or ten months of the year, and the present slump is only seasonal and temporary, with prospects for 1930 just as bright as they were in 1929.

Let us remember that if the export of agricultural products by Canada fell off in the last half of 1929, the grain is still in Canada to be transported by our railways and sold by our people, and the results will be reflected in the business activity of 1930. Let us be encouraged by the fact that the greatest of our great Western enterprises, the Wheat Pool, has successfully contended with a set of the most difficult circumstances. It has been put to the test, but with the united support of all Canada's banking institutions and business and commercial interests generally, it is now quite evident that it is winning out in its great fight to protect the nterests of Canada's great army of producers.

It is impossible in this world for any person, country, or corporation, to forever move forward, onward and upward. It is inevitable that periods of recession must interrupt such steady progress. The stock market cannot forever go on climbing higher and higher; it must take a drop some time. If the pendulum swings too far one way, it must swing back again because an equilibrium must be maintained. We cannot always live on the rarified heights; it becomes necessary at times to descend into the quiet and repose of the valleys.

The position of Canada, and of all Canadian industry, agricutlural, manufacturing, commercial, is essentially sound and strong; stronger than that of almost any other country in the world. There is no justification for any depression, because no cause exists for it. To the extent that it is prevalent with some people it is largely a mental condition. Reverses have been suffered by some people in Canada as in other lands, and occasions arise in the life of every one when they meet with a reverse. But a reverse is not defeat. Courageously faced it can be turned to victory.

Reduce the Acid

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Air Must Be Charted

Pilots Should Know Exact Location Of High Mountain Peaks

Tragic was the fate of the two British airmen who crashed into the side of a mountain in Northern Africa, and were killed, while attempting to make a non-stop flight from England to Capetown. It is a reminder that mountains are a greater danger to airmen than rocks are to seamen.

The seas have been so travelled that almost every rock in existence is known, charted, and in some way marked by signs at night. Except for what earthquakes may do by changing the configuration of the bed of the ocean, there is probably no voyage that any ship can make without being fully prepared to avoid submerged rocks.

The air routes will have to be marked out in the same way. This is not the first time that aviators have come to grief through hitting a mountain.

The route to South Africa is across varied terrain. These airmen may have been flying thousands of feet high and felt they were quite safe, forgetful of the peaks which rear their heads far into the clouds.

Long distance passenger 'planes are to increase rapidly, and the pilots will have to be provided with charts which will show them how high they must fly along the routes in order to avoid hitting a mountain.

Smothering Spells

Record Of Flying Clubs

Canada's Airmen Had 15,400 Flying Hours Last Year

Members of Canada's 23 light aeroplane clubs flew 15,400 hours during 1929, figures released by the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence show. This flying time is equivalent to 1 232,000 miles, and is nearly twice that flown in 1922. Total membership of the clubs is 5,092. At the end of the year there were 396 solo fliers, while 165 private pilots and 58 commercial pilots had graduated from the student ranks of the clubs.

In all infantile complaints that are the result of the depredations of worms in the stomach and intestines Miller's Worm Powders will be found an effective remedy. They attack the cause of these troubles, and by expelling the worms from the organs insure an orderly working of the system, without which the child cannot maintain its strength or thrive. These powders mean health and improvement.

The Soviet radio station in Franz Joseph Land, compared weather with Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd's south polar party.

The Soviets described an Arctic dawn, and the Americans replied with a description of an Antarctic nightfall.

Byrd asked the Russians concerning progress of the search for Capt. Carl Ben Eielson, American aviator-explorer, lost in the Alaskan Arctic since Nov. 9.

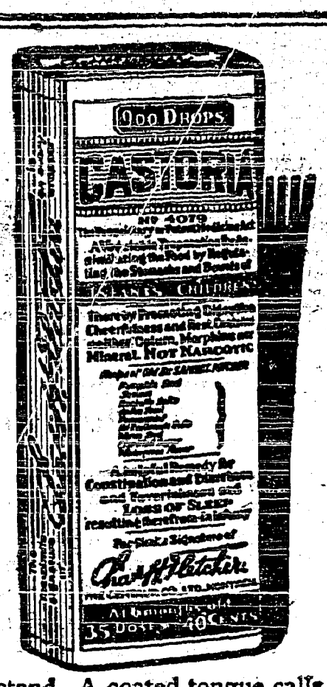
Restless Children



Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Heavy Charge On Industry

Fires Are Costing Canada Almost One Hundred Million Annually

Fires cost Canada approximately $100,000,000 yearly, according to a statement issued by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in an effort to introduce to chambers and boards throughout the country a composition designed to lower this heavy charge on industry.

Business bodies have been classified into four sections determined by population, and a shield will be awarded by the chamber in each section for the organization showing the greatest reduction in fire loss, the most educational activity along fire prevention lines, and the most permanent structural and protective improvements.

Award For B.C. Astronomer

Gold Medal Won By Director Of Dominion Observatory, At Victoria

The gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society has been awarded to Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astro-Physical Observatory, at Victoria, B.C., it has been announced. Dr. Plaskett earned this high award for valuable observations of stellar radial velocities and important conclusions derived from these observations. The Victoria scientist has accepted the Society's invitation to hold the post of George Darwin, Lecturer for 1930, in England.

Help For Asthma. Neglect gives asthma a great advantage. The trouble, once it has secured a foothold, fastens its grip on the bronchial passage tenaciously. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is daily benefiting cases of asthma of long standing. Years of suffering, however, might have been prevented had the remedy been used when the trouble was in its first stages. Do not neglect asthma, but use this preparation at once.

FEDERAL AID IN DEALING WITH UNEMPLOYMENT

Ottawa.—If the provinces of Canada join together in admitting that they cannot cope with the unemployment situation, the Dominion Government is prepared to discuss remedial measures with them, Premier Mackenzie King told a large delegation from the Trades and Labor Congress.

The Prime Minister added that the financial position of some of the provinces did not indicate that they were unable to cope with the situation, especially as it appeared to be largely seasonal. Unemployment, in the first instance, said Mr. King, appeared to be a municipal responsibility.

If it became too serious for the municipalities to handle, their appeal lay to the provincial government. If the province found that it could not cope with it, the problem became a national one, and the Dominion Government would expect to be asked to assist in solving it. But, in the absence of an admission by all the provinces that they were faced with a problem which they could not meet, the Dominion Government did not feel called upon to take action.

Both the Prime Minister and Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, dealt with the unemployment situation. Mr. King informed the delegation the government has been pursuing a policy of keeping men employed on government contracts at work.

Both Mr. Heenan and Mr. King referred to the demand for a national unemployment conference.

Mr. Heenan insisted that he had not given the impression in his statements that he was unaware of unemployment. He knew there was unemployment, but he felt the calling of a national conference would exaggerate its importance in the public mind and perhaps accentuate the situation.

This was the view expressed by the Prime Minister. Mr. King made it clear that Mr. Heenan had voiced not merely his personal view of the matter, but the opinion of the government on the unemployment question.

Reporting Naval Conference

World Will Receive News Through Four Hundred Correspondents

London, England.—The world will receive news of the five-power naval negotiations through nearly 400 newspaper correspondents accredited to the conference, who will have offices in St. James's Palace throughout the proceedings.

An historic room of the palace, the guard room, where tradition has it King Charles 1. slept the night before he was beheaded, is the local point of a network of cable and telephone communications extending to the four corners of the globe.

Press wires run direct into St. James's Palace for the use of a special corps of staff correspondents representing the Canadian Press, the Associated Press, and other press services, while direct telephones also are available for everything from local calls in London to trans-Atlantic calls.

Left Small Estate

Liverpool, England.—The estate of the late "Tay Pay" O'Connor, dean of the House of Commons, eminent writer and journalist, proves of a value of only $1,500. This was forecast by the Canadian Press at the time of his death. The gold snuff box, presented by members of the House of Commons, is left to the House of Commons. His portrait by Beacon is left to the Walker Art Gallery, here. No provision is made for his wife, but she is otherwise well provided for.

Missing Plane Found

Dieppe, France.—Five persons were killed when a taxi-aeroplane crashed against a cliff near Dieppe. Four of the dead were passengers and the fifth was the pilot. The plane had been missing for two days, and it was assumed the smashup came in the recent storm.

Habeas Corpus Writ

Application Of Harry Bronfman Granted By Supreme Court

Ottawa.—A writ of habeas corpus was issued by the Supreme Court of Canada on application of Harry Bronfman, wealthy liquor dealer of Montreal, who is under indictment before Saskatchewan courts on charges growing out of alleged liquor transactions. The writ is returnable on February 1, on which date Bronfman will be brought before the Supreme Court.

Saskatchewan authorities will then be required to show cause for his detention.

This is stated by court officials to be the first time in 25 years that a writ of habeas corpus has been granted in the Supreme Court.

The motion was made in Chambers to Mr. Justice Duff. Counsel included Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and Gregory Barclay, K.C., both of Montreal, and A. G. MacGillivray, K.C., of Calgary. As the application was ex parte no one appeared on behalf of Saskatchewan authorities.

The prosecution is defective, Bronfman's counsel contended, because the charge is laid under the Criminal Code, when it should have been laid under the Customs Act. Furthermore, if laid under the Customs Act, the prosecution could not succeed because the charge would be outlawed. The Customs Act requires that charges must be laid within three years of the time the alleged offence was committed.

Eleven Killed In Crash

Ohio Has Fourth Bus Tragedy In Three Weeks

Cleveland, Ohio.—Ten children and a bus driver were killed at Berea, Ohio, near here, when the bus was hit by a New York Central mail train bound for Chicago, at the Sheldon Road crossing, near Berea. Three other children, seriously hurt, were taken to the Boca hospital.

Cause of the tragedy was not explained. Weather conditions were clear, and officials were unable to account for the driver's failure to see the train.

Most of the victims were small children who attended from the first to the sixth grades.

The bus was said to have been carrying betwen 15 and 20 children.

The crash was the fourth bus tragedy in Ohio in the last three months.

Kept Link Unbroken

Radio Engineer Used His Body As Current Splice

New York.—His arms twitching with shocks from electric current, Harold Vivian, a young radio engineer, literally spliced with his body a broken link in the vast hook up and made it possible for listeners-in of 59 North American radio stations to hear the King's speech at the naval conference.

Just before the King began somebody in the control room of the broadcasting company tripped over the wires of the generator. Vivian grasped the wires together in his hands to restore the circuit. Leakage of current through his body to the floor shook his arms without a break, for 20 minutes until new wires could be connected.

Mountie Wins Promotion

Inspector W. W. Watson Will Be Stationed At Lethbridge

Ottawa, Ont. — The promotion of Sergeant-Major W. W. Watson to rank of inspector has been announced here at headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

During his 20 years of service with the force Inspector Watson has been stationed at various points in Western Canada and in the Capital. He served here in the Bureau of Criminal Investigation. Inspector Watson will now be stationed at Lethbridge, headquarters for the southern Alberta District.

Quebec's Minimum Wage

Quebec, Que. — A minimum wage for women workers in the province of Quebec, outside the city of Montreal, has been adopted by the minimum wage commission, stipulating that workers with two years' experience should be paid at least $10 per week. Apprentices will receive $6 per week, with the rate increased by one dollar each six months.

Letter Carriers Ask For Higher Salary

Civil Service Commissioners Promise Delegates To Consider Request

Ottawa.—Serious consideration was promised by the civil service commissioners to requests for higher salary schedules for all letter carriers presented by a delegation.

The delegation presented data showing salaries paid in comparable employment, and discussed various sides of the question with the commissioners. The matter of increases in mail carriers' salaries occasioned a considerable amount of discussion in the last session of parliament. Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general at that time expressed himself in sympathy with the carriers' position, but pointed out the matter was purely one for decision by the civil service commission.

Sealed Letter Destroyed

Lawyers Burn Envelope Containing Name Of General Booth's Nominee

London, England.—The Daily News says that the sealed envelope containing the name of the late General Bramwell Booth's nominee to succeed him as head of the Salvation Army, was burned unopened by the solicitor of the Army, in the presence of several commissioners.

The envelope had figured prominently in the discussions of Army affairs leading up to the removal of General Booth a year ago. Many guesses had been made as to the identity of the man whom the general believed best fitted to succeed himself.

Lloyd George Missed Speech

London, England.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George was left out in the fog while the King delivered his address at the opening of the naval conference. The Liberal leader, and wartime premier, needed an hour and three-quarters to make the short journey and missed the plenary spectacle altogether.

Will Sell Power Plant

Moose Jaw Burgesses Decide To Sell Franchise To American Concern

Moose Jaw.—After a quarter of a century of municipal ownership, the city of Moose Jaw consented to the sale of its electric light and power plant to the Iowa Southern Utilities of Delaware, Davenport, Ia., by a sweeping vote of over three to one. The number of burgesses voting for was 2,250, and the number against, 744, a two-thirds majority being required for the by-law to carry.

By the passing of this by-law, subject to ratification by the Saskatchewan legislature, the largest power transaction in the history of the province will have been completed. Involved in the offer which has been accepted by the city is a sum in the neighborhood of $3,500,000, the largest single sum of money to be offered for any public utility in the province.

The voting brings to a close one of the bitterest fought battles in the city's history, the power situation having been a bone of contention and discussion for over 12 months. The Board of Trade supported the sale; the local press opposed it.

Canadian Boat Rammed

United States Coastguard Vessel Said To Have Pursued Vancouver Motor Boat

Vancouver.—The new Vancouver deep sea motor boat "Taiheiyo Maru" was rammed by the United States coastguard vessel "Bonham" on January 17, and has been beached on one of the Guadaloupe Islands, off the Mexican coast, according to advices received by the vessels owners here. A protest has been sent to Ottawa concerning the incident.

Captain J. Butler, master of the "Taiheiyo" states that his vessel was in ballast, bound for home when she was pursued and run down by the "Bonham." She had no liquor on board nor had carried any on the trip, he states.

Sheep Breeders Of Saskatchewan

Officers Are Elected At Annual Meeting Held In Moose Jaw

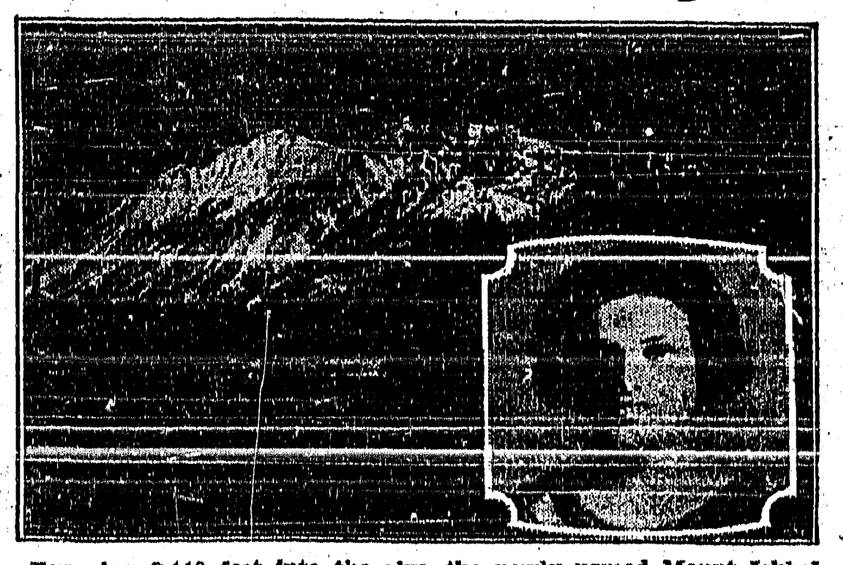
Moose Jaw.—W. C. Heron, Huntoon, was elected president of the Saskatchewan Sheep Breeders' Association, at the annual meeting held in Grant Hall Hotel.

Other officers of the association are: Charles Buffman, Bechard, vice-president; directors: I. J. Rushton, Rocanville; W. D. Lyon, Deveron; W. L. Morrish, Oxbow; James Whitehead, Nutana; A. Richardson, Semans; William Darnborough, Laura.

Of Advantage To Customers

London, England.—We have established during the year a bank in Canada, in the city of Montreal. We have every reason to be satisfied that this direct line will be of advantage to any of our customers carrying on business between Great Britain and growing markets of Canada, stated F. C. Goodenough, chairman of Barclay's Bank, Limited, in his address at the annual meeting of shareholders held here.

Named After Premier's Daughter



Towering 9,440 feet into the sky, the newly named Mount Ishbel, so called after Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the Labor Premier of Great Britain, is located about twelve miles west of Banff, in the Canadian Rockies, overlooking beautiful Mystic Lake. The Canadian Government have paid Miss MacDonald this graceful compliment in commemoration of her own and her father's visit to Canada last Fall. The peak is visible from Massive, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and also from the roadway between Banff and Lake Louise. Inset Miss Ishbel MacDonald.

TO WIDEN SCOPE OF ALBERTA HEALTH CLINICS

Calgary.—State medicine is certain to be established in Alberta "and everywhere else," according to Hon. George Hoadley, provincial minister of health, speaking to the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta. He addmitted he had no apology to make for the accusation that his approval of public health clinics in Alberta is the thin edge of the wedge of state medicine.

Comment from the Alberta cabinet minister followed approval by the convention of a resolution widening the scope of the travelling health clinic in order to give free annual medical examination to every rural school child. Among a score of resolutions carried, was one favoring hurried completion of a Peace River rail outlet to the Pacific Coast.

The Peace River resolution urged the importance of fulfilment in the near future of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King's promise in 1924 that the line would be completed "as soon as humanly possible." Intention of the farm body will be communicated to the Dominion Government, the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian National and the Northern Alberta railways. It was stated that the route was now not financially difficult; that production of Peace River area has increased since 1924, and that 10,000 new homestead entries have been made in the district in the last two years.

A trio of resolutions directed to the Dominion Government favored decision by parliament, rather than by the Canadian prime minister in setting the date of Dominion elections; suggested legislation to require food products in containers to carry the name of their country of origin; and requested appointment of a committee to inquire into the feasibility of grading all products offered for sale in Canada.

Mr. Hoadley's forecast on the future of state medicine involved a statement that larger units than the municipality, as organized at present, would be necessary in development. He believed that the units would have to be large enough to be able to support equipment adequate for cure and prevention of disease. Previously, the convention had instructed the central U.F.A. executive to make a full investigation of state medicine in all its branches.

If the Alberta legislature provides the necessary finances, Mr. Hoadley mentioned, the Department of Health intends to employ a specialist in connection with examination of the eyes of children. He stated that since 1924, 24,000 school children have been treated by the public health clinics of the province, the only system in existence on the continent. Not a single death, he said, had resulted in this time, though 4,054 tonsil and adenoid operations had been effected.

Saskatchewan Resources

Provincial Government Will Not Agree To Commission Suggested By Premier King

Regina, Sask.—Saskatchewan will not agree to the commission suggested by Premier King in his proposals for the return of the natural resources. The Provincial Government suggests a commission of three; one chosen by the Federal Government, one by the Provincial Government, and a third commissioner chosen by either the Imperial Government or both the Povincial and Federal Governments. This commission would hear the claims of Saskatchewan for all alienations subsequent to 1905.

The Provincial Government is prepared to refer its claims to the Supreme Court of Canada, subject to an appeal to the Privy Council, should the contentions of the Provincial Government be upheld by the courts. The question of the accounting between 1870 and 1905 would then be referred to the chosen commission. On agreement being arrived at, the question of compensation and the amendment to the constitution would then be submitted to the Provincial Legislature at an early date that it might be given effect to by the Imperial Government.

One tree put twenty-six circuits out of order

Twenty-six long distance telephone circuits were put out of order when a tree was blown down on wires in the Green Timbers, south of New Westminster, at 1.35 p.m., Thursday, January 16. The wires were torn down for a stretch of about 200 feet.

As the result of speedy work by telephone men all of the lines affected were restored to service the same afternoon.

Circuits out of otder were: Vancouver to Seattle, eight; Vaucouver to Portland, one; Vancouver to Langley, three; Vancouver to Abbotsford, three; Vancouver to Cloverdale, six; New Westminster to Langley, three; New Westminster to Cloverdale, two.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Demand Democratic Control

Editor Review:

Belief that the basic problem facing the growers today is to be found in the disastrous competition caused by so many shippers was freely expressed at the annual meeting of the Creston Farmers' Institute. It was also pointed out that until this problem is solved there could be no independence in the collection of accounts, and growers would continue to suffer heavy deductions on their returns, That the shippers, through their Federation, would exercise anything like effective control over distribution of their own competition was also considered extremely doubtful.

The meeting, which was a representative one, finally sanctioned direct action along the lines of a report submitted by the fruit committee. This took the form of a letter to the premier explaining the views of the members of the Institute, and a decision to ask affiliated institutes to support the cause of democratic control. The text of the letter follows.

PREMIER S. F. TOLMIE,
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sir,—The members of the Institute, aiming to keep pace with the developments being forced upon them by the Produce Marketing Act, with which each has to reckon equally, and in view of the forthcoming report of the royal commisson, desire the liberty of addressing you personally concerning the constitution of the British Columbia Growers &Shippers Federation, and a proposal of the members designed to enable the industry to progress on the fairer basis of democratic control.

In regard to the constitution of the Federation an examination of the by-laws reveals the fact that it is an amalgamation of shippers. It is not, therefore, an alliance or union between the growers on the one hand and the shippers on the other, as the name implies. The power to elect the representatives to the Committee of Direction rests between two joint stock companies, incorporated by registration under the Companies Act, trading with a liability limited by shares, and organized for the purpose of gain. As little states within the state, they are already very powerful, and are actually exercising, under the act, a governmental control over the industry of the farmers of the province, who are consumers of their services. In the absence of proper responsiblity to all concerened, we consider this state of affairs hardly correct, and feel justified in challenging their right to hold such a valuable position.

It was stated recently that $2,500,000 had been received on apple accounts. Comparing the returns already received by growers with the f.o.b. prices at which the different varieties were ordered to be invoiced, we find deductions have been made by the shippers apparently amounting to 20% of the invoiced value.

Are we to believe that an amount in excess of half a million dollars is a proper accounting of the selling costs in this sum? Taking into consideration the Committee's orders preventing the shipping of the smaller-sized apples and rigorous grading of the fruit, our losses are very serious.

We agree that the Produce Marketing Act, as a measure of socialized control can be of great benefit to the industry, and that this legislation could progres to a point at which all our problems could be adequately dealt with: but we do not consider our interests will be properly taken care of until the farmers have con- of the distribution and all that is involved therein.

At the annual meeting of the Institute the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, The B.C. Growers' & Shippers' Federation in appointing representatives to the Committee of Direction is exercising a governmental control over our industry; and

Whereas, This Federation has failed to form an alliance or union between growers and shippers, and is an amalgamation of shippers; and

Whereas, The success of the Produce Marketing Act depends upon the goodwill of the growers, and their consent to the orders of the Committee; Therefore,

Resolved, (1. That the Creston Farmers' Institute requests that the minister approve a successor to the aforesaid Federation. (2). That the society so approved be named "The Federated Growers of British Columbia." (3). That all farmers, the marketing of whose products is controlled by the Produce Marketing Act, shall be the members of the society, and in properly defined districts shall elect their representatives by ballot, with authority to appoint the two members to the Interior Committee of Direction.

We propose that a charter society be formed in which every farmer may have representation on democratic lines as outlined in paragraph 3 of the resolution. And in addition to the powers of the present Federation, we desire that authority be embodied in the charter whereby the society may, if unified control would result in more economical management, evolve gradually into a status similar to that of the holding company of the manufacturers under the joint stock system We consider that 'control' should be accepted as of capital importance as between the farmer and the society; and the latter, by virtue of its responsibilities should subscribe to a proper code of regulations imposed by the Province.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

An Outside View

From Crestwood's pleasant heights we see
Fair Creston shine electrically;
Each light a gem, each gem a sprite,
Which dance and glitter through the night.

Fair Creston, has it dawned on you
How wealth and happiness accrue?
There, hush your clatter—clear the way,
There is for you a brighter day.

Come, get you up, and view your town
Go in and out, and up and down.
And see if there could ever be
A place more blest 'twixt sea and sea.

You have the fruit. You have the wheat;
Your climate, it is hard to beat;
Yet others you let take the lead—
No doubt they think you're gone to seed.

There Nelson sits with jealout eye,
To snatch the trout from off your fly.
And Okanagan took her cue
And gained precedence over you.

For twenty years you've been asleep—
Don't tell the gods, 'twould make them weep.
But if time's thief is procrastination,
From this there has been no cessation.

And if a man to you should come
With plans to make the wheels to hum,
Don't always try to get his goat,
But help him keep his schemes afloat.

Fair Creston, you're destined to be
A city of prosperity—
If others had what's yours to own
They'd be as queens upon a throne.

Now Crestwood's not your only daughter—
And don't spank her unless you or'ter.
But as your lights now shine afar,
Note where your sons and daughters are.

There's Wynndel, it has forged ahead,
By growing berries large and red.
And Eric (son), as can be seen,
Grows apples fit for king or queen.

There's Alice, with her cherries red
And sweetest honey for your bread;
And Crestwood with her golden grain,
To help you on the road to fame.

And, Lister, where the lambs do play,
Has turned its forest land to hay.
And Canyon, with its waterfall
Could furnish power enough for all.

Then have an eye, and have an ear,
For things that men account most dear,
And try and walk in fortune's wake
For all your sons and daughters' sake.

Fair Creston with your lights aglow,
That shine and glitter o'er the snow;
Each light a sprite, each sprite a gem,
Which makes for you a diadem.

ABOUT THE STOCK EXCHANGE

A STOCK Exchange is essentially a Public Service doing its best to make trading secure and efficient.

While this work has far-reaching results, the first principles of operation are simple. Somebody gives a broker an order. By cable or phone the broker's "floor"-man gets the order for execution. The price paid for the stock is the official quotation on the "floor" at exactly that time. The seller writes a triplicate record of the transaction, timed mechanically to with a tenth-second. Buyer, seller and Exchange each retain one copy. So every sale is permanently recorded and made known on the ticker.

Stock prices on the floor of the Exchange are controlled by orders received from the Public to buy and sell. The Exchange exercises no control over fluctuations. Like a loud-speaker it simply broadcasts the trading minute by minute. Regulations governing trading were accepted by the Provincial Parliament in session in 1907. No trading can take place between members off the "floor." The Stock Exchange itself has nothing to do with arrangements between brokers and clients. Being members of the Exchange, brokers are directly servants of the investing

Public and must follow the instructions of their clients. Every broker depends on his business to keep the confidence of his clients. Obviously, it is against his own best interests in any way to do anything but to supply clients with the facts concerning a company or a market situation.

The principles governing the Vancouver Stock Exchange are similar to those of London and New York. And as London's and New York's exchanges have performed great services to business in Great Britain and the United States, so must one agree that the Exchange in Vancouver has influenced investors to pay attention to industries in Western Canada.

The securities of these dustries have been affected by recent unsettled conditions. Whether prices have been high or low, their real value consists in what properties can earn from year to year. Recent market movements have been largely illusory. Western Canada's resources and productive capacities have not been affected. On the contrary the FACTS indicate even greater development. The Stock Exchange and its members stand pledged to play their part in making this progress sound and wholesome.

These four services are important to business . . . their truthful performance a matter of honor and integrity to all houses desiring continued good relations with the Public and the Stock Exchange.

This advertisement is published by Members of the Vancouver Stock Exchange in order to disseminate information concerning the functions of a Stock Exchange and the Business of Buying and Selling Securities.

What Year Is This?

May Be Even Later Than We Are Dating It

Although the past year is recorded as 1929, it may really be, says an article in Tit-Bits, 1933, or even later. This fact is indicated by a record of an eclipse of the moon. Bible history says that Christ was born dur'ng the reign of Herod the Great. But Herod died in the spring of 4 B.C., the next date being fixed by a lunar eclipse which took place the night before his death. Obviously, therefore, Jesus must have been born not later than 4 B.C., and possibly earlier. The Church had no definite knowledge of the date of Christ's b'rth. It fixed the year, month, and day of the month arbitrarily. Astronomers are able to calculate the dates of past eclipses as accurately as those of the future, and so have determined the very day and hour of the eclipse that ushered Herod the Great out of this life.

THIN-BLOODED PEOPLE ALWAYS FEEL COLD

To Withstand the Rigors Of Winter the Blood Must Be Rich and Pure

Thin-blooded people easily become discouraged. They lose strength; grip, influenza and ordinary winter colds seize them and they find it exceedingly hard to shake off any of these troubles. They feel chilly all the time; their nervous system becomes a wreck; they cannot sleep and life becomes a burden.

To overcome this deplorable state of health good blood is essent'al. This good blood gives warmth to the body; strength to the nerves and does much to either prevent colds and grip or to banish their dreaded after-affects. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the perfect blood builder—they never fail to make new, rich, red blood. They are the ideal ton'c for winter use. Concerning their use Miss Kate L. Grant, Merlin, Ont., writes:—"I was very much run down but found health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after other medicines had failed to help me. Two years ago I felt tired all the time; had no appetite; was nervous and cold all the time. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good till I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a short treatment with them the draggy feeling left me; my appetite improved; my blood became warmer and my strength gradually increased. This encouraged me to continue the use of the Pills and now I am feel'ng better than I have done for years."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing but they do it well — they build up and renew rich, red health-giving blood thus making weak, run-down men and women strong, active and happy. These Pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont..

Sunlight and Health

Ultra-Violet Rays Are Necessary To Life and Health

Have you ever noticed your lawn where a board or flower-pot has lain for a few days. The grass will be yellow and will eventually turn white or die. It is the lack of sunlight and the ultra-violet rays which are necessary to the health and life of plants as well as human beings, animals and birds.

Poultrymen have discovered that the ultra-violet rays of the sun prevent leg weakness and other diseases, and promote growth in a marvellous way. Unfortunately ordinary glass does not allow these vital rays to pass through it with the red and other rays which we know as sunlight. However there is a glass substitute called "Windolite" which is flexible and yet unbreakable and that allows full penetration of these important ultra-violet rays. Up until a few years ago, turkeys were difficult to raise in confinement, but with the brooder houses fitted with "Windolite" they thrive as well as in natural sunlight and get a splend d start in life before they are allowed outside, especially when the weather is cold and wet.

"Windolite" is now being used extensively all over Canada for poultry houses and dairy barns as well as sun rooms, and in hospitals, and sanitariums where sun baths are a regular part of the treatment of certain diseases.

PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

Golden Text: "Seek ye first His kingdom, and His righteousness; and all these th'ngs shall be added unto you."—Matthew 6.33.

Lesson: Matthew 6.1-34.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 145.1, 2, 7-13.

Explanations and Comments

Genuine Charity, verses 1-4.—"Ye therefore must be perfect, even as your heavenly Father is perfect" are the closing words of Chapter V. of Matthew, our leson of last week. The citizens of the new kingdom must excel the Scribes and Pharisees in righteousness. Matthew next records Jesus' words about almsgiv'ng, prayer, and fasting—three forms of good works of which the Pharisees boasted. Jesus emphasized the fact that righteousness is a transaction between man and his Heavenly Father, and into it no thought of what others may say or think should enter. Almsgiving, charity, that is genuine will not be given in order to receive the praise of men.

Genuine Prayer, verses 5-8.—The Jews had cetain times for prayer, and wherever a man was when the prayer hour arrived, there he stood and prayed. Some there were, hypocrites, Jesus called them, who deliberately planned to be found at prayer t'me in conspicuous places in synagogues, or at street corners. It was the appearance of righteousness that they coveted, not the righteousness itself; they sought to gain a reputation for piety just as Ananias and Sapphira tried to gain a reputation for generosity and self-sacr'fice when they were far from possessing either quality.

Verily I say unto you, They have received their reward. The Greek word means "received in full," and is the one used in drawing up receipts. They have received the full reward which they sought, they have been seen of men, they have no claim whatsoever to any further reward.

You can best talk to your Father in Heaven when you are by yourself. When you pray, counseled Jesus, shut out the world and shut yourself in with God—enter into thine inner chamber, your secret place where you can be alone with God, and having shut the door, pray to your Father who is in secret. For Nathaniel the place for prayer was under the fig tree; for Peter it was on the housetop. Jesus, Himself, made the mountainside and the garden His closet, the places where He could have privacy to commune with God. Jesus is not disparaging public prayer, which He elsewhere commends; He is emphasizing the test of sincerity wh'ch private prayer affords.

And thy Father who seeth in secret shall recompense thee.

Royal Bank Annual Meeting; Assets Exceed Billion Dollars

The annual meeting of shareholders of The Royal Bank of Canada not only marked the close of the most successful year on record, but was rendered specially interesting by constructive addresses delivered by Sir Herbert Holt, president; C. E. Neill, vice-president and managing director, and Morris W. Wilson, general manager.

Sir Herbert, in addressing the shareholders, pointed out that in spite of the losses incurred by thousands of investors throughout Canada and the United States, the strength of the business structure is such that there is no reason to look forward to more than a moderate recession in business during 1930.

Dealing with cond'tions in Canada, Sir Herbert stressed the fact that neither the prospects in foreign trade nor the situation in Canadian industry, trade and agriculture, warrant pessimism concerning the outlook for the coming year.

Industrial Advisory Council

After dwelling on the success obtained by President Hoover in securing the active co-operation of industrial leadership throughout the country in the recent cris's, Sir Herbert urged that it would be to the advantage of Canada to establish a non-partisan Advisory Council, composed of men of outstanding ability, representative of industry, agriculture and labor. This council would br'ng about a closer approachment between government, industry, agriculture and labor that would assist the formulation and execution of effective measures for the maintenance of that equilibrium which would ensure stable prosperity.

Vice-President's Address.

C. E. Neill, vice-president and managing director, submitted to the meeting a very interesting proposal by which Canada might benefit to a far greater extent from the tremendous tourist traffic that is com'ng annual'y into the country from the United States.

"Canada," said Mr. Neill, "is attracting approximately fifteen million visitors a year. This great annual m'gration presents an unparalleled opportunity for increas'ng our trade. As yet there has been no concerted effort to build the tradition that there are purchases which can be made in Canada more advantageously than in the United States. If we could make purchasing in Canada sufficiently attractive, it would make a difference of more than one billion dollars a year in our trade."

General Manager's Address.

Morris W. Wilson, general manager, reviewed the 60th annual report and balance sheet, for the year ending November 30. The figures, both of assets and profits, constitute a new record for Canadian banking. Total assets of $1,001,442,741 are shown, being an increase of $92,046,856 for the year. Deposits have gained $64,620,923 and now stand at $772,067,768.

About Two Hundred and Fifty Millions Paid To Stock Holders In Canadian Corporations

Approximately $250,000,000 was paid in dividends to stock holders in Canadian corporations in 1929, according to an estimate based on actual disbursements of more than 500 securities listed on the Canad'an stock exchanges and others widely held by the general public.

During the year a number of bonuses or extra cash dividends were also paid. In the final three months of last year about $10,000,000 was added to regular quarterly dividends.

Missed a Fortune

Ignorance Of Geology Was Costly For Prospector

How a fortune was missed as the result of a Gold Coast prospector's ignorance of geology was revealed by Sir Albert Kitson at the recent meeting of the British Association. The prospector in search of gold dug a hole and unearthed manganese ore. Thinking it was iron ore, he took no notice of it. A geologist found the old hole and realized the value of the ore. The spot has sice proved to be one of the largest and richest deposits of manganese ore in the world.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrel, a little cigarette girl. After Al wins fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Perry, taking her baby, Junior. Al, broken by his loss, becomes a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrel. Molly obtains a divorce. One night, while Al is appearing in a Broadway revue, he is called to a hospital by Molly because Junior is dying. After his boy's death Al breaks down on the stage while trying to sing. Months later he recovers from this blow. Then he and Grace are married at the Little Church Around the Corner.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Grace came out of the church door proudly, leaning on Al's arm, to face the news photographers who had, somehow, learned of the event. The cameramen did not have to tell Grace and Al to smile. Their faces were radiant. When this ceremony was over they stepped into a limousine and went whirling up the Avenue among the fantastic skyscrapers that seemed to Grace all rosy and pink against the deep blue afternoon sky.

. . . . And later?

Spring days came and the mellow approach of summer. Up and down Broadway and in all the cities, towns and hamlets stretching across the continent they were singing the songs Al had written—new songs that reflected the happiness of his new life with Grace.

Grace and Al lived in a tower apartment in one of the new Fifth Avenue buildings, forty floors above the roar of the city streets, with a little balcony that was like a hanging garden of Babylon. In the long early summer twilight Al and Grace could stand on that balcony and look down on the most fabulous city of any age. The rivers twined their silvery way on both sides of the island of Manhattan, the great liners came in from the sea, and Broadway at night cut, like a yellow streak, diagonally across the island.

"How strange to find me here," whispered Grace softly one evening, as she snuggled against Al's encircling and protecting arm. "I who worked at Blackie Joe's so long, and lived in the canyons, and saw the sky only in small patches. Now I'm on top of the world."

"On top of the world," Al repeated, tightening his arm about her waist. "Yes, that's where we both are, and that's where we're going to stay. But not in New York."

"Why not, darling?" Grace turned to him quickly.

Al's smiling eyes grew serious. "Because—well, I've been thinking Gracie, I don't want us to stay around Broadway too long. Broadway's all right, and we've conquered it — thanks to you — but there are other parts of the world."

"That's true, Al. Do you want to go some other place to live?"

"Yes, why not. Yesterday, when the revue closed, I told Marcus I was through with the stage. No more burnt cork make-up, no more singing — that is, not professionally. I want to devote all my time to song writing, and I can do that anywhere. So—why not California?"

"To live?"

"Yes, to live. Do you think you'd like it?"

"I'd love it!"

"Then that's agreed." And Al leaned over and kissed Grace. "We'll live in California and whenever we want to come back to Broadway we can. It will be new to us and we'll have a swell time seeing the sights. And if we want to go visiting to the Alps, or to India, or China, or the South Seas—we can. In fact, we'll go anywhere your little heart desires."

Spring days, summer days and two figures, small in the distance, standing on that high balcony, talking in whispers of their love and their life in the future, which seemed to stretch before them like a silver highway melting into the mist. And then

Night on Broadway once more, with the expensively garbed after-theatre crowds drifting into the Club Bombo. The name was the same, but there were new owners, and a new master of ceremonies.

The jazz band played, the dancers swayed, and the master of ceremonies exhorted everybody to be friendly and have a good time. When the music ended and the couples left the floor the master of ceremonies looked about for a celebrity to introduce. Finally he found one and caught the attention of the crowd.

Ladies and gentlemen, he called through his tiny megaphone, "we are especially honored tonight by the presence of that famous star and songster — Broadway's 'Singing Fool!'"

Al and Grace occupied a table against the far wall. As the spotlight shot across the room and found them, Al rose slowly in response to Grace's urging. There was the old roar of applause that had greeted him so many times in this place, and calls for a speech and a song. He raised his hand and the room became silent.

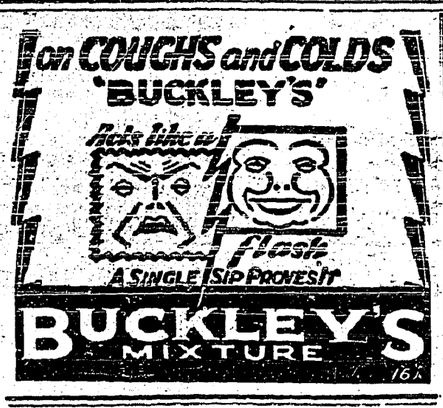
"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "as most of you know, this is where I had my first taste of success as master of ceremonies. So it's only right I should come here to say good-by. As I bowed in, so shall I bow out. To my pals and the place that treated me so kindly I have only the best in my heart.

"Somebody once said, 'Go west, young man,' and I'm taking that advice. Broadway's been both my menace and my playmate. Tonight we are parting—friends. I'm going west accompanied by the little girl who has stood by me so loyally, Grace Farrel Stone—my wife!"

Once more the thunderous applause and once more Al's raised hand, requesting silence.

"I don't want you to think I'm giving up song-writing. I shall continue to write songs and someone else will sing them. And folks—if any of you come to California I want you to visit Grace and me. You'll find us not in a little gray cottage, but in a forty-two room chateau by the blue Pacific, with a Jap valet and a polo pony or two. If we're not in, the butler, or the second man will tell you where to find us. . . . . May you sleep well and laugh in your dreams. Goodby."

The crowd liked Al's humorous speech, but still the voices rose, demanding a song. "Sing to us, Al," they called. "Just once, for old time's sake."



Al turned to Grace: "What shall I give them?"

Grace blushed slightly. She had been thinking of a song she wanted him to sing, but she didn't know whether she could muster up courage to ask him. But finally she said:

"Al, do you remember the first ballad you ever sang—down at Blackie Joe's?"

"Of course I do. But I shall sing it to you as well as to them."

He walked across the room and stood beside the piano, just as he had done that night four years ago at Blackie Joe's. Grace saw him confer with the pianist, then turn to face the audience. Then the familiar music came toward her, with Al singing the words—the poignantly appealing words of "Always."

They seemed to come winging straight to Grace in the stillness of the big room—words she knew by heart, words that had once meant pain to her. She knew she would never forget how Al had once sung them to another woman—Molly—while she, Grace, had stood against the wall at Blackie's club, her tray of cigarettes before her and her eyes fixed on the handsome young singer, in complete adoration. How she had suffered that night, knowing the man she loved was pouring out his heart to the other woman!

Again the song ended in a moment of breathless suspense, to be followed by ringing applause. And Al, slowly wending his way among the gay drinkers and diners, who reached out to shake his hand and pat him on the shoulder, finally reached Grace.

"How was it?" he asked, his eyes aglow with love for Grace.

"Marvellous!"

"Grace," he said softly, "it's your song. All yours!"

When the audience had turned its attention to the floor show Grace and Al slipped out of the club. They strolled arm-in-arm down Broadway. Above their heads was the the razzle-dazzle of many-colored lights and still higher the soft and friendly twinkle of the stars.

Little Helps For This Week

"All things work together for good to them that love God."—Romans viii. 28.

O what a load of struggle and distress
Falls off before the Cross! The feverish care;
The wish that we were other than we are;
The sick regrets; the yearnings numberless;
The thought, "this might have been," so apt to press
On the reluctant soul; even past despair,
Past sin itself,—all, all is turned to fair,
Aye! to a scheme of ordered happiness,
So soon as we love God.
—Chauncy Hare Townshend.

Those who love God will find all things working together for their good. Everything helps them, as sunshine or storm, summer or winter, helps the tree. When the sun shines warmly, the tree opens all its buds and leaves and drinks in the warm air, and grows. When the cold storms of winter beat upon it, it withdraws into itself, and shuts its pores, and tightens its hold by the roots, and hardens. So when all things are pleasant in life we enjoy them gratefully, and expand in God's sunshine with thankful hearts. When disappointment and trial come we learn to be patient, trusting, submissive, hopeful, firm, and true, and that is good for us also.—James Freeman Clarke.

Advises Against Skyscraper

American Architect Tells London Builders To Avoid Them

An American architect, who builds skyscrapers, has advised British architects not to erect any in London.

William A. Delano, president of the New York branch of the American Institute of Architects, speaking before the Architecture Club in London, England, said he felt that Americans "are gradually being crushed by these monsters which have made life about as sterile as it can possibly be for the ordinary man."

"I hope you will not be captivated by this particular phase of our experiment," he said. "Unless you are ready to swallow our civilization whole it would seem a mistake to copy any part of it."

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF A FOND MOTHER

Her child is a never-ending source of joy and a never-failing responsibility to the fond mother. It not infrequently happens that minor ailments of the child distress and puzzle her; she does not know just what to do, yet feels them not serious enough to call a doctor. At just such times as these it is that Baby's Own Tablets are found to be mother's greatest help and friend.

Most childhood ailments arise from a derangement of the stomach or bowels. Baby's Own Tablets will immediately banish them by cleansing the bowels and sweetening the stomach. Thus they relieve colic, correct the digestion, banish constipation and make teething pains disappear.

Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs such as opiates and narcotics and may be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety and beneficial results. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Fashions and Freedom

Men More Concerned Than Women About Correct Clothes

That all women are, as a matter of course, terribly excited over matters of style in dress and "the latest thing," and all men are sublimely indifferent is nonsense. If there is any part of the esteemed human race that has a more mortal terror of being seen in habiliments that are not what "they" are wearing it is certainly the masculine half. Because the style of men's clothes is based on the idea of lack of change is no valid argument that there is a "fundamental psychic difference." The code is different, that's all. That men have achieved the time-saving idea of an unchanging mode is, anyway, largely a matter of luck, more than careful planning.

Appointed To Supreme Court

Mr. Justice Cannon, Of Quebec Court Of Appeals, Is Selected

Mr. Justice L. A. Cannon, of the Quebec Court of Appeals, has been appointed a justice of the Supreme Court of Canada. The appointment of Mr. Justice Cannon fills the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Justice Mignault. No successor has yet been selected for Justice Cannon on the Quebec Court of Appeals.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, following a meeting of the cabinet at Ottawa.

Killed By Sharks

Unfortunate Victims Were Shipwrecked In Squall In Southern Seas

A message from Port Louis, in the Island of Mauritius, reported that five persons had been killed by sharks in the Bay of Tamorino, after their motorboat capsized in a squall.

The five were members of a party of six engaged in shark fishing. They all attempted to swim to shore, which was two miles away, but the sharks caught all but one.

All interested should note that the assessment roll court of revision will be held at the town hall on Saturday, February 8th, and appleals against assessments should be filed at once.

Fred Ryckman, indian constable of Cranbrook, was here on an official visit at the end of the week. The very severe weather that has prevailed has brought considerable distre s to the reds.

Compared with 1928 last year's intake at Creston office of the provincial police shows a gain of $1500 for the year. This increase is due to increased sales of motor licenses and hunting. trapping and fishing licenses.

B. H. Bentley and Les. Mawson, former Creston residents, have just been elected to the board of management of Kimberley United Church. Mrs. Keith Kettlewell (nee Selma Anderson) is vice president of the United Churc ladies' aid at the same place.

W. M Archibald of Creston, mines manager of The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., is to leave soon for Johnannesburg, South Africa, where he will represent The Consolidated Company and C.P.R. at the mining congress to assemble there.

The first of the season's dances is tonight at the Parish Hall, when the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church are having a masquerade dance, commencing at 9 o'clock. Splendid prizes and music by Mrs. Lister's orchestra. Admission 75 cents, which includes supper.

The pupils of Division 3 of the public school have had holidays since Tuesday. While on her way to school on Wednesday morning Miss Wade slipped on the icy sidewalk, and in the fall sustained a broken right wrist, which will keep her off duty for some few days yet.

Assessment notices from the village of of Creston came to hand at the end of the week. Previous assessments have not been altered except where properties have been improved. Between improvements and additions to the roll the 1930 tax collections will be about $200 in excess of the 1929 intake.

Members of the board of trade are reminded of the annual meeting tonight, which will commence with a dinner at 7 o'clock at Mrs. Bell's King George Hotel dining room. Following the dinner there will be the usual presidential address with report of shipments of fruit, vegetables, etc., during last year, and election of officers. Col. Mallandaine is the retiring president.

The members of the Burns' Club had the usual graun nicht wi Burns on Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McLaren, when about two dozen local Scots sat down to a regulation Scotch dinner including haggis which was paraded in in regulation highland styl by H. S McCreath headed by Piper Ross and the pipes. After dinner there was no end of Scotch stories and cards were played.

C. W. Allan, who has been manager of Creston branch of the Imperial Bank since its opening in 1919, has resigned that position and is succeeded by Mr. Clewes of Nelson, who took charge on Thursday of last week. Rather than accept transfer as manager of a branch of the bank in Eastern Canada Mr. Allan has quit the service, and for the present, at least, will continue to reside in Creston.

Walter Nickel had the bad luck to have his left leg broken just above the ancle at Yahk on Sunday afternoon. While sitting on the rear of a truck carrying the players out to the hockey game the truck skidded while making a turn throwing Nickel off into the ley road and in the fall the leg was broken. Dr. Thompson of Yahk set the injured member and Walter was able to return home later in the evening.

A meeting of some of the baseball fans was held on Sunday at which a committee was named to canvass the whole local situation to ascertain if it would be possible to finance a Creston team that could hold its own in an international league along with Bonners Ferry, Sandpoint, Idaho, and Libby, Montanna. Last year Creston had a nine fast enough for the best of company and confidence is expressed that a league team can be handled this year.

The last games in the opening competition of the local curling season were played on Friday night. This was the final clash in the President vs. Vice-President series, in which the four rinks representing the president won by a margin of about 20 shots. The quartette of winning rinks were skipped by President Boyd, T. W. Bundy, M. R. Joyce and Art. Reid. The losers are to provide a bean feed for all club members.

Creston hockey team had their first workout in fast company on Sunday afternoon when they made the trip to Yahk, and suffered defeat by a scone of 8 to 1. Creston team lined up: Goal, Milne; defence, Canute Anderson and Tom Lacey; forwards, C. Shade, Pat Downey, with J. Crane and Earl Christie as substitutes. Creston will again visit Yahk this Sunday. Due to Creston skating rink being too small for hockey matches no local games can be arranged, and it is due to cramped playing quarters here that the ueam does not show as well as expected when they get out on a regulation size sheet of hockey ice
