Council Business Largely Routine

Make Grant of $35 Tennis Club —Fyle Flag Letter of L.O.L. —Pay April Accouts of $240— Defer New Sidewalk Building.

All members of the village council were on hand for the May meeting on Monday night, with the chairman, F. H. Jackson, presiding, when a considerable grist of routine business was disposed of.

In the correspondence was a letter from the Women's Institute asking for official permission to hold a raffle some time next month. The ladies will be advised this is o k with the council provided the provincial authorities are agreeable.

The Tennis Club submitted a bill showing that $77 had been expended in building the courts on the fair grounds and the commissianers decided to make a donation of $35 to the club.

The letter from the L.O.L. re national anthem, displaying the Union Jack on every possible occasion and not countenancing "O Canada" was ordered fyled. Paulson & Johnson wrote that they were delaying their land sub-division work on the east boundary of the village pendidg a definite decision from the council as to making Canyon Road, from the Premier Garage to the east boundary of the corporation, a 60-foot street. The council will write them advising that the matter will have immediate consideration.

Correspondence in connection with the purchase of a new siren fire alarm indicated that one of these devices suitable for Creston would cost $450. Dr. Henderson will interview C. O. Rodgers with a view to arranging to having fire alarms sounded by the steam whistle at his sawmill and box factory plant, with the council installing a telephone for alarm purposes.

In connection with poll tax collection the C.P.R. submitted a list of local employees showing 14 names, five of whom are liable for the tax. The fire brigade also submitted a list of brigade members totalling 15, and requested the purchase of some new reducers and repairs to couplings, which will have immediate attention.

Accounts passed for payment for last month totalled $240 of which about $62 was for street lighting. Additional shelving is to be put in for the library, and the council is to give serious attention to complaints received as to water shortage. Until village revenues are more buoyant the matter of providing new sidewalks at the north end of town will stand in abeyance

The first carload of galvanized pipe has arrived for the Co-Op., and is being distributed this week to ranchers in the East Creston Irrigation District.

Variety Business Before Board

Want Road Improvements to Facilitate Bayonne Mine Operations—Broder's Reminded of Canning Factory Promise.

There was a fair turnout of menbers at the May meeting of Creston Board of Trade on Tuesday night, at which matters to come before the Aasociated Boards convention at Cranbrook this week were discussed and a motion adopted authorizing the local delegates, President Mallandaine, C O. Rodgers and S. A. Speers, to extend an invitation to the Associated Boards to have their 1931 convention at Creston. A number of resolutions that will be considered were discussed but no instructions in this connection were given the local representarives.

One new member was added to the roll, H. W. Fortin, Shell Oil Company representative. The letter from the L.O.L., re non recognition of "O Canada," flag display on all public holidays, and adherence to God Save the King as the national anthem, was fyled without comment. The secretary also reported answering a number of letters enquiring about employment and business opportunities, the latter including one from a beauty specialist at Calgary, Alberta.

About two years ago a representative of the Broder Canning Company, New Westminster, assured that when the flats were dyked and irrigption installed his company would seriously consider establishing a canning facrory at Creston. The secretary was instructed to write the Broder people that both these things had beeen accomplished and asking them to again give the Valley an inspection visit.

A well written letter from B. N. Sharp of the Bayonne Mining Company was read, asking the board to use its endeavors to have the minister of mines co-operate with the Spokane and Bayonne Mining Companies in opening up the Cultus Creek road to serve both these properties. Mr. Sharp's letter indicated that about twelve miles of road needed attention to serve the former mine, and that an additional five miles would have to be provided to give the Bayonne road connection. In connection with the project Mr. Sharp advised that the Bayonne company were prepared to spend $7500 of ther own money on the desired road. The secretary will write the minister of mines urging him to give this matter his best and earliest possible attention.

The schedule of fall fairs in Alberta was submitted, but as only three of these exhibitions come in September and most of the others in July or early in August, the publicity committee announced the abandonment of the ide of making a display of Creston fruit at a select lot of these exhibitions in southern Alberta.

Creston Loses League Opener

Bonners Ferry Scores Seeond Win—Locals Better Batsmen —Infield Defence is Weak— Sandpoint Plays Here Sunday.

So far as the crowd and weather were concerned Creston opened the international baseball league most auspiciously, on Sunday afternoon, but things were not nearly so good in the all essential feature of the sport, Bonners winning by a margin of 13 to 8.

In the hitting department Creston had a iittle the best of it with 12 safe blows as compared with 8 collected by their rivals, but on the defence the local nine had not quite the safe proficiency, and it was entirely due to poor work in the infield particularly that the game was lost.

Up to the end of the seventh Fortin held the invaders in ch ck and Creston was out in front 8 to 5, but in the two final frames improved batting by the visitors and poor infield work yielded 8 runs and victory.

Everyone was taken with the improvements that have been made in the grounds. Both the infield and outer garden have been much improved and the moving and re-building of the grandstand give splendid accommodation for spectators.

The club management have profited by two defeats Creston has already suffered and for the game on Sunday some new faces will be se n on the inner defence that will make things much more interesting for all comers, and should be productive of victory.

For the game on Sunday afternoon, 18th, Sandpoint will be here and the game promises to be a history maker. In addition to many spectators from Sandpoint the team is also bringing along a 20-piece brass band, who will enliven proceedings throughout the afternoon, and this match should bring out 100 per cent. attendance of local fans

NEW APPOINTMENT

R. G. McNEILLIE

Prominent among the spring promotions of Canadian Pacific Railway officials was the appointment of R. G. McNeillie, as assistant passenger traffic manager of eastern lines, with headquarters at Montreal. Mr. McNeillie, who was general passenger agent, at Winnipeg, for eight years, left at the end of April for the east, his new appointment becoming effective May 1.

Mr. McNeillie entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1901, as a stenographer in the general passenger department, at Winnipeg, becoming chief clerk in 1905. In that year he became acting district passenger agent at Nelson, B.C., and district passenger agent at Calgary, in 1910. He was promoted in 1913 to the position of assistant general passenger agent, western lines, with headquarters at Winnipeg, becoming general passenger agent in 1922.

Before his departure for Montreal, Mr. McNeillie was remembered by the members of the passenger department from the head of the lakes to Field, B.C., and at Minneapolis with a handsome liqueur set, with cut glass decanters and glasses, and a wardrobe suit case, the presentation made by C. E. McPherson, who is now acting in an advisory capacity to the passenger department.

Waging War On Accidents

Only 15 per cent. of safety can be assured by perfection of mechanical detail and the remaining 85 per cent. is a matter of education, declared W. E. Darling, of Cincinnati, before the Ontario Safety Convention. Mr. Darling, a blind man, told an attentive audience of his own personal experience, of an accident which brought disfigurement and loss of sight, and he urged with eloquence that the work of preventing industrial accidents should be prosecuted with unremitting energy.

Can "Good" Be Accomplished By "Force"?

Through the ages as man has struggled upward from his caveman state to his present condition of semi-civilization,—for it requires only a hurried glance through the columns of any daily paper any day to prove that man is not yet fully civilized,—he has carried with him the brute instinct to try and accomplish things by force rather than by persuasion; instead of trying to win support to his views and convictions, he has tried to force it. The more civilized, the better educated man becomes, the more does he rely upon appeals to reason instead of having resort to force. None the less the state of the nations today, and our tendency to resort to the power of legislation and law to enforce opinions upon others, reveals how largely we still depend on force to govern our everyday affairs.

The question, therefore, naturally arises: Has any definite lasting good ever come to humanity through the coercive action of force? Could one find a single, unquestionable instance in the whole range of human history where compulsion has been the direct and sole agency in changing the mental attitude, the belief, the convictions or the conscience-sense of any one normal intelligence? Without reserve one may venture to say "No" to both questions.

There is profound truth in Butler's couplet: "He that complies aganist his will is of his own opinion still." One may be persuaded to change one's mind, to take a different viewpoint, to espouse another belief, to modify or discard a long-held conviction, to give conscience a new direction, and through it all to act differently,—the action being either good or bad according to the prevailing general opinion; but it is sincerely to be doubted that force, no matter what its form or its avowed purpose, ever has or ever will bring about the only thing—a change of mind and heart—that is necessary to produce a new line of action. Without the voluntary conversion of the individual mind and heart, that is, of thought and conscience, there can be no reasonable expectancy of bringing about, definitely, permanently and dominantly, a new condition—social, economic, political, ethical, or moral. All our social reformers, our political leaders, our legislators, would do well to ponder this thought and pay closer heed to the lessons of experience and history.

If we would study impartially the action of unleased force directed with the ostensible purpose of producing eventual good, we may turn our eyes toward Russia today. True, the conflicting reports coming out of the country advise us to draw conclusions with a certain reserve; yet there is enough of what appears to be authentic to warrant the present view that the Soviet Government of Russia is using compulsion in the fullest meaning of the term, to impose its minority, compactly organized will upon the unorganized great majority of that vast country.

The Communists may tell us, as well as some three-fourths of the people of Russia, that persuasion, through "propaganda," is their chief agency for the building of a "New Russia"; but it is propaganda backed by armed force, by secret police, by studied cruelty, and by unrelenting terrorism. Putting the most charitable construction upon the Soviet's methods for the complete communization of Russia, they are trying to do what they consider to be good practically altogether by the exercise of force. A marvelously organized minority seeks to compel a helplessly disorganized majority to accept without question its views as to what is best for the political, social, economic and moral well-being of the whole.

And all history tells us that this cannot be done. Reform by force lasts just so long as the force which brought it about is strong enough to maintain it. Force not only invites opposition, but generates it. And soon or late, the opposing force becomes the more powerful, and we have another clash of forces, more disturbance and confusion, reaction, or, perhaps, some more compulsory "reformation." But we cannot say confidently that out of it all has come a single, definite step of progress. Force is the antithesis of co-operation, and without the voluntary co-operation of all the interests involved there can be no genuine progress.

What is true of Russia just now, would be equally true of any other country, or state, or community. No matter how desirable the proposed or initiated reform may be, force, if applied to it, eventually will defeat it. Without the voluntary and earnest co-operation of a pronounced majority of all concerned even unquestioned good is not likely to be achieved. And surely no intelligent person would be content with "forced good."

WAS RUN DOWN AND VERY WEAK

Too Little Blood the Trouble

Mrs. Jas. A. Haughn, Bridgewater, N.S., writes:—"I was badly run down and very weak. So much so I could scarcely do my housework. My nerves were affected; my indigestion poor; I had continued headaches and could not get a restful night's sleep. Different remedies failed to be of benefit and I was growing discouraged. One day, however, I saw an advertisement of a case similar to mine which had been relieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so I decided to try them. A few weeks' use of the Pills fully restored my health and now my household duties are a pleasure instead of a torture."

Mrs. Houghn's whole trouble was that she had too little blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were of aid to her because they renewed and purified her blood and that good blood promoted good health, for where good blood abounds disease cannot exist.

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BRITAIN WOULD CONSIDER LAND SETTLEMENT AID

The Pas, Man.—The British Government is ready to consider any feasible project to promote land settlement in the Carrot River Valley, according to a letter received by town officials from the secretary of state for dominion affairs.

The Carrot River Valley lies to the southwest of The Pas, and includes land in both Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The letter from the overseas department points out, however, that settlement aid from England would necessarily be subject to certain conditions, such as the Empire Settlement act of 1922, and financial support from either the Federal or Provincial Governments or both. The letter also points out that the British Government does not contemplate purchase or ownership of land in Canada for settlement purposes.

The communication from the British Government says in part that "consideration by His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom of any such scheme of settlement and development must necessarily be governed by the provisions of the Empire Settlement act of 1922, which empowers the secretary of state, in association with the government of any part of His Majesty's dominions or with the public authorities or public or private organizations either in the United Kingdom or in any part of such dominions, to formulate and co-operate in carrying out agreed schemes for affording joint assistance to suitable persons in the United Kingdom, who intend to settle in His Majesty's overseas dominions, provided that the contribution of the secretary of state shall not in any case exceed half of the expenses of the scheme.

"Subject to the above conditions His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom would be prepared to give careful consideration to any concrete proposals for promoting land settlement in Canada by migrants from the United Kingdom, provided such proposals were approved and recommended by, and preferably received a financial contribution from, His Majesty's government in Canada or from the provincial government."

The secretary was instructed by council to forward a copy of the letter to the Minister of Natural Resources in Winnipeg, and also to the Premier of Saskatcheyan.

Preference Is Re-Established

Australian Government Will Continue Preference To Returned Soldiers

Canberra, Australia.—The Labor Government of Australia has, in the face of strong public opinion, moderated one of its ordinances passed in favor of the trades union movement.

Prime Minister James Scullin announced the government was reverting to the former regulation which gave first preference to returned soldiers on government work contracts, and second preference to trades unionists.

The recently-announced decision of the government to abolish the preference to ex-soldiers unless they were also trades unionists, roused a storm of indignation, and veterans' organizations all over Australia were commencing to organize a campaign to fight the government's action.

Expect Premier King Will Be Candidate

Prince Albert Liberal Association Working On That Assumption

Prince Albert.—From Dr. G. A. Robertson, president of the Prince Albert Federal Liberal Association, it was learned that the organization is working on the assumption that Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will again run in this riding.

"The premier," Dr. Robertson stated, "had assured us that as long as we want him, he will be the Liberal candidate for this constituency. Practically all the polls have already forwarded resolutions of confidence in Mr. King to us. A convention will be held only as a matter of form but the date has not yet been decided upon."

Conservatives in the riding are holding a nominating convention here, June 6, and among the names mentioned as probable candidates is that of George Braden, well-known Rosthern Conservative; D. L. Burgess, MacDowall, who opposed Premier King at a previous election is also mentioned.

Harry Davis, unofficial leader of the Labor element in Prince Albert, when asked recently if his forces contemplated taking an active part in the coming election, declared that such was not the present intention but that they were gathering their strength for the next provincial tilt.

Many Are Seeking Broadcasting Licenses

Majority Not Likely To Be Considered Until Election Is Over

Ottawa, Ont.—More than 200 applications for broadcasting licenses have been submitted to the Department of Marine, which department has charge of radio services. The great majority of these will likely be held in abeyance until after the general elections, it was intimated by departmental officials. Some of the more extensive projects may be authorized but the others will have to wait.

One of the applications which may be granted very soon is one from the Canadian Pacific Railway for permission to erect three high powered broadcasting stations, one in Montreal, one in Toronto and one in western Canada, at a point to be selected later.

The general impression on Parliament Hill is that the committee selected by the House of Commons to consider the recommendations of the royal commission that investigated broadcasting, will not proceed in view of the impending dissolution. Students of the problem think the elections will give an opportunity to crystallize public opinion either for ora gainst public ownership and in the meantime the report will be allowed to stand over.

Weir, director of radio of the Canadian National Railways, stated that details of an agreement to broadcast the story of the flight were underway and that the broadcast would be carried over the Canadian National network throughout the Dominion, direct from the airship.

Heavy Liquor Shipments

Vancouver, B.C.—With the cancellation of licenses for export liquor warehouses effective June 11, as provided for in Federal Legislation, heavy shipments of liquor from Vancouver to Europe have been made during the past two weeks. Recently the steamship "Pacific Pioneer" took 21,150 cases of bonded liquor back to the United Kingdom and the motorship "Drechtydyck" carried 700 cases.

Canonization Assured

Vatican City.—Final session of the congregation of rites assured canonization, June 29, for eight Canadian martyrs—six priests and two laymen—who died for the faith in the first half of the 17th century.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Katherine Pless, student at Ontario College of Education, Bloor St., Toronto, who has been awarded an Ontario government scholarship of Sorbonne University, Paris.

Elimination Of Weed Seeds Is Discussed

Proposition Made To House Of Commons By G. G. Cotte

Ottawa, Ont.—Elimination of weed seeds from feed oats and barley was proposed before the agriculture committee of the House of Commons by G. G. Cotte (U.F.A., MacLeod). He wanted the establishment of feed grades of these grains free from weeds and believed weed seeds could be cleaned out of oats and barley.

The difference between the grades of feed oats and of seed oats in the present schedules of the Act, it was explained, is that feed oats might be frozen. Other members of the committee considered the suggestion impracticable. The matter was left over for further consideration.

Exhibiting At British Fairs

Canada Taking Part In Eighteen During Present Year

Ottawa.—Canada is participating in 18 exhibitions and trade fairs in Great Britain during the present year, in addition to the British Industries Fair which was recently held at the Olympia Building, London, England. Most of these exhibitions are being held under the auspices of the Empire marketing board and will enable Canadian produce to be exhibited in most of the industrial centres of England, Scotland and Ireland. In addition, Canada is actively participating in the six months' International Exhibition at Antwerp, which opens on April 26.

Bill Given Third Reading

Ottawa.—After a tempestuous hour in which there were four roll call divisions, the House of Commons gave third reading to the bill to establish divorce courts in Ontario. The vote on the third reading stood, yeas 100, nays 85.

"Wop" May Visits Ottawa

But Distinguished Aviator Slips Away Without Seeing Officials

Ottawa, Ont. — Slipping through the city so quietly that officials of the Department of National Defence, who had been waiting for him, did not know that he had actually been here, Captain W. R. "Wop" May, Edmonton, recently awarded the McKee trophy as the Canadian having contributed most to the cause of aviation in 1929, paid a brief visit to the capital on May 6.

Since the award of the trophy was announced, air officials have been anxious to get in touch with the noted flier, to inform him of his success. Had Col. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, been aware the winner of the trophy was in the city, his departure would undoubtedly have been delayed in order that formal presentation might be made to him of the great honor he takes back west.

May came down onto the Ottawa River, opposite Rockcliffe aerodrome, in one of the new Bellanca monoplanes just purchased by the Airways Company of which he is chief pilot. After refuelling and having a brief chat with mechanics—during which he spoke rather bashfully of his success in being awarded the prized trophy—May took to the air again, bound for Sudbury, Ont., and eventually Edmonton.

Canada Is Confident

President Of C.P.R. Sees Good Future For Business

Montreal, Que.—General confidence throughout Canada is unshaken by the combination of unusual conditions which has developed the present situation; the country's strength has been effectively proven and the future is not to be viewed with any degree of apprehension, in the opinion of E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as declared to the shareholders of the company at the annual meeting held here.

While a number of factors, particularly the failure to market Canadian grain, have slowed up freight traffic, it is felt there is nothing of a fundamental character to prevent the return of normal business conditions within the next few months.

Request Will Be Considered

C.N.R. May Make The Pas Divisional Headquarters

The Pas, Man.—The request of town officials that The Pas be made the headquarters for the Canadian National Railways lines in northern Manitoba, will receive active consideration, according to advices received from the department of railways and from Sir Henry Thornton, C.N.R. president.

A letter received by the town clerk states that the minister of railways will make enquiries in the matter, and will keep local officers advised of developments.

TRAIN TELEPHONE NOW A FACT

The Canadian National Railways, which first made possible the reception of radio concerts on board a moving train, an invention which many first class railroads have since copied, have achieved another mechanical triumph by perfecting the first two-way system of telephone communication in the world with moving trains. The system has been put into public service by the company on "The International Limited," which covers the 334 miles separating Montreal and Toronto in 360 minutes, the fastest train in the world traversing a like distance.

The photograph shows Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, inaugurating the telephone service from "The International Limited" while the train is travelling at 60 miles an hour. At the train switchboard is J. C. Burkholder, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Telegraphs, who developed and perfected the train telephone system.

CIVIL RIOTS IN INDIA REPORTED TO BE SUBSIDING

London, England.—As suddenly as they had flared up India's civil disobedience disorders subsided. From a widely flung storm of violent encounters Mahatma Gandhi's campaign of resistance to the government simmered down to a few widely separated clashes.

The worst of these, costing nine lives, occurred at Chittagong, which was also the scene on April 18, of a battle in which two Europeans and several natives were killed.

Again at Calcutta armed police were compelled to act. A mob raided the police station, smashed in its iron gates and there was checked. Several police officers suffered injuries and 25 arrests occurred.

Simla reported officially that four deaths had occurred in recent riots. In the civilian hospital 96 persons were treated. To this number were added 18 police injury cases.

Advices from Delhi stated that patrols of cavalry, infantry and armored cars were being maintained there.

The arrival of V. J. Patel at Bombay, and his pronouncement for a widespread boycott against British goods was the outstanding development in that district. Despatches did not indicate how Mahatma Gandhi's followers would accept this attitude.

The comparative quiet in Bombay was broken only by an early onslaught of a mob upon textile workers who sought to prevent reopening of cotton mills.

The government continues to avoid any utterance which might tend to inflame the native mind. Moderate Indian opinion, it was stated, continues to support the government.

There was a hopeful forward looking attitude for the proposed round-table discussion.

Thus far the government forces have emerged with only one fatality, the killing of a British citizen in Peshawar. This was pointed to as a matter for congratulation as well as an indication of the prompt action taken by the authorities.

Plan Important Survey Work

Far North Area To Be Mapped From Air

Edmonton, Alberta. — Aerial surveys of the far north, inspection work by three field parties under direction of the Department of the Interior, opening of a branch office at Fort Smith, and the transfer to that point of staff from Winnipeg and The Pas, have been announced here.

An aeroplane base is to be established at Fort Resolution, arrangements having been made by the Department of the Interior with The Royal Canadian Air Force. This will be utilized to facilitate important survey work which will be carried out by the Federal Government.

These steps to increase staff and services in the far north are being undertaken by the Department of the Interior in view of the enlarged operations of exploration companies and prospectors.

Will Make Tour Of Dominion

New York.—Hon. J. E. Fenton, Australian Minister of Trade and Customs, who arrived here recently, after attending the London Naval Conference as Australian delegate, will travel through Canada on his return trip to the commonwealth. He will visit Eastern Canadian cities and then journey westward, reaching Vancouver, May 24, sailing from Victoria, on the liner "Aroangi," May 28.

Election Likely In July

Ottawa.—A July election seems now assured. Premier King announced that as soon as the legislation on the order paper with some minor additions could by agreement with Opposition parties be adopted he would dissolve or prorogue parliament and permit the people to choose their representative to the Empire Economic Conference in London, England, in September.

Great Britain's wealth is estimated at $112,500,000,000, and that of Germany at $97,500,000,000.

Radio Link in B.C. telephone service

You can telephone by radio now.

A radiotelephone link, connecting with land lines on Vancouver Island, now gives Powell River its first telephone connection with the outside world. The service is available to any point that can be reached by the B. C. Telephone Company's long-distance system.

The existance of the radio link in the new service makes no difference to the user. He talks in the same way as on an ordinary long-distance call, and the transmission is just as good.

DO WE NEED A SABBATH?

Contributed

The above question is put for the sake of answering it. The answer is emphatically in the affirmative. Yes, we need a Sabbath. Our gracious Creator, who loves us, has considered our needs. And has made provision that all our needs may be fully met. Did we not need a Sabbath, none would have provided for us. "The Sabbath was made for man." It was made for man's good.

But why do we need a Sabbath? First of all, because, physically, we need rest. How welcome is night to the toiler: Its rest revives and invigorates him. Each day of toil seems (save perhaps to the exceptionally strong) to increase the longing for more rest.

"It is found, scientifically, that when a laborer is examined at the end of each of his six days of work, he has lost one ounce of the necessary oxygen. He has in the six nights rest recovered only five-sixth of the ounce. So that each day finds him one-sixth of an ounce to the bad, and at the end of the week he is "run down" to the extent of one ounce necessary oxygen."

So saith science. But be that as it may, who has not proved by experience that a day of rest at the end of six finds us fine and fit generally speaking, for our work as it comes our way? There is no teacher like experience, none better.

But we have a spirit within us. This too needs attention. We have not already attained neither are already perfect. The Sabbath gives us an opportunity of giving the requisite attention to our spiritual needs. We may not perhaps go about it in the way our forefathers did. But the same spiritual culture is necessary, If we are to be strong we must have time to rise above material things to things that will create and foster within us those spiritual elements that are worth possessing. We must learn to be humble. We did not create ourselves, niether do we keep ourselves. We are very dependent creatures. We must recognize and acknowledge that there is one upon whom we are dependent for all things that accompany our welfare- We must develop an unselfish spirit. We must give some consideration to the higher needs of others. The Sabbath is admirably suited to this end. Our Lord said, "It is well to do good on the Sabbath Day." This will naturally flow out of the very natnre of the Christian Sabbath. We on that day especially remember our Blessed Lord. How He loved us. And how He gave himself for us. Hearty consideration of his sacrifice and service for us will naturally lead us to give ourselves in service for others.

It may not be considered a poor argument for a a Sabbath to say that the faithful animals which we have enslaved and that render us such invaluable service are entitled to a day of rest. They respond to kind consideration. Their usefullness will not be impared by a rest. Indeed experience proves the reverse.

It is universally acknowledged that "A Sabbath well spent brings a week of content, and strength for the toils of the morrow."

The reverse is equally true. "But A Sabbath profaned, whatever is gained, is a sure forerunner of sorrow."

The Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath. His yoke (which includes the Sabbath) is easy. His burden is light. In loving obedience let us yield ourselves to His laws and enjoy the blessed benefis.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lister Domestic Water

Editor Review:

Now that this expensive scheme has matured one is surprised to see the whole system leaking like a sieve to the detriment of our roads, or opologies. A permanent flume walker will almost be a necessity.

Had this work been done by the settlers it would have meant prosperity all round. Instead, the contractor, with his foreign machinery, is the only one benefitted, which leaves Lister very poor indeed.

For this sum we should have had an irrigated settlement, and we should have had something which would make this valley second to none. But through the usual maladministration posperity is supplanted by poverty.

A. STUART EVANS.

Fly the Flag

Editor Review:

Sir,—The national flag is an emblem of loyalty and as such should be flown and revered by all true British people.

A couple of years ago a committee of citizens purchased two flags for the community; one to be flown at the Memorial and the other in front of the Bank of Commerce, besides which they secured flag poles, erected them and provided them with weather proof hoistng lines.

Last November 11, Armistice Day, the Veterans were unable to hoist either of these flags on account of the hoisting lines having been stolen; and worse than that, one of the flags had been stolen.

Is it not time that such rampant vandalism of this profane sort is stopped and the conscience of the guilty ones punished by energetic and forceful teaching of respect to the flag and the national anthem.

This can be done in our schools and I wonder if the teachers ever devote a little time to impressing the children with their duty in this respect. It is at least a litttle heartbreaking to note the apparent indifference to a little ceremony in hoisting and lowering the flag reverently each day at the schools.

On Saturday, 17th of May, the American Legion of war veterans from the States of Idaho and Washington will visit Creston and it is presumed that it will be necessary for the Legion Veterans of Creston to replace the Flag and hoisting lines in order to do honor to their visiting comrades of the Great War. Institute Flower Show Coming Health Exhibit to be Feature—Institute to Compete in Fancy Work Class Vancouver Exhition—Hear Talk on Ireland.

May meeting, on Friday afternoon, of Creston and District Women's Institute was the busiest of the year. The president, Mrs. J. E. Hayden, was in the chair and there was a good turnout of members and visitors.

Features of the meeting were a practical talk on Irish affairs by Mrs. (Major) Henderson of Kootenay Landing, a native of Erin, who, in a fifteen-minute address related many interesting incidents in the life and customs of the residents of the Emerald Isle. At the conclusion of her address she was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks. The annual flower show will be held this year on a bigger scale than ever, with the date to be set by the executive. An added feature this year will be a health exhibit in charge of Mrs. Cherrington to be given during the afternoon of the show.

The Institute had a letter from the Orange Lodge asking the institute to stand by God Save the King as the national anthem, to display the Union Jack on every possible occasion and to not accord the rendition of "O Canada" the usual courtesy of everyone standing. The letter will be suitably acknowledged but the L.O.L will be advised that the Institute cannot see its way clear to remain seated when "O Canada" is being sung.

It was decided to comply with the request of the Vancouver exhibition and the Institute will this year make an entry in the collection of fancy work section of the coast fair, with Mrs. Stevens named to look after this work.

The cemetery commitee reported that the cemetery company plans to make quite extensive improvements in the local burying ground this year and this work will be left to the company. The village council will be asked for a permit to hold a raffle of a pair of blankets or some similiar article, the funds to go to the community work of the Institute.

For the June meeting Mrs. Mallandaine has agreed to give a talk on pensions legislation, provincial and federal, and all interested are reminded that Mrs. A. E. French is leaving for the coast on the 18th and will be visiting at the Solarium, so that any who wish to send candy or other gifts to the patients in that institution can do so by leaving parcels at the Exchange barber shop and Mrs. French will undertake to deliver the gifts. For the school committee Mrs. Stevens reported that the first aid kits had been all replenished.

The new cook book is due to be issued immediately and those who have recipes to submit for the volume are asked to have them in Mrs. Stevens' hands by May 15th. Two new members were enrolled and the membership now stands at 36.

Mrs. W. G. Hendy, Mrs. W. H. Morrow and Mrs. D. O'Neil were hostesses at the social hour and the freewill offering of $2 goes to the crippled children's work.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Mourned by scores of old sourdoughs of the Yukon gold rush and later stampedes, John P. Minook, 85, famous guide, is dead.

William D. Moreland has been appointed vice-consul at Vancouver, B.C., announcement was made by the U.S. state department at Washington.

Lady Mary Heath, famous British aviatrix, has been granted a divorce at Reno, Nevada, from Sir James Heath, wealthy British iron master, on grounds of extreme cruelty.

The British garrison will be withdrawn and the territory of Wei-Hai-Wei restored to China, October 1, Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson announced in Commons recently.

The old town of Corbach, Germany, amid the hills west of Cassel, has become excited over the prospect of unexpected riches. Torrential rains have uncovered a gold deposit nearby.

Pains Around Heart
Weak Spells
Would Fall Over

Mrs. James Vanalstine, Pibroch, Man., writes:—"I had pains around my heart, and suffered with weak, smothering spells. Sometimes I would fall over and would have to be picked up and put to bed.

"I used several boxes of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

and it is now over three years since I have had a spell.

"I hope anyone who is in the same condition I was will give H. & N. Pills a fair trial."

Protecting Wild Geese

Manitoba Airman Fined Ten Dollars For Chasing Them

For disturbing the peace of Manitoba wild geese by chasing them in an airplane, Philip Osler was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate R. M. Noble in provincial police court.

Game Warden Durant told the court that Osler had worried thousands of the birds, during the close season, when, in his 'plane, he pursued them between Rosser and Meadows.

He was told to advise his aviator friends to cut out the sport.

In Free Russia

Land, Livestock, and Implements Belong To the Community

Frequently one wonders why communists who enjoy all the privileges of liberty, stability, protection and progress in Canada do not go to Soviet Russia, which they claim to admire so much. An explanation of the collective farming policy, printed in Pravda, official soviet publication, explains that the land, live stock and implements belong to the community, which means that so far as the individual is concerned they belong to nobody. The farm workers get from 45 kopecks (22½ cents) to 1 ruble 20 kopecks (60 cents) per day of ten hours. Out of this they must buy their food and clothing and pay their trade union dues.

GIVE CONFIDENCE TO YOUNG MOTHERS

A simple and safe remedy for the common ills of babyhood and childhood should be kept in every home where there is either a baby or a young child. Often it is necessary to give the little ones something to break up a cold, allay fever, correct sour stomach, and banish the irritability that accompanies the cutting of teeth.

Experienced mothers always keep Baby's Own Tablets in the home as a safeguard against the troubles that seize their little ones so suddenly and the young mother can feel reasonably safe with a box of these Tablets at hand and ready for emergencies.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thoroughly laxative that act without gripping and they are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or other harmful drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

First Aerial Traffic Cop

Low Stunt Flying In California Made Appointment Necessary

California boasts of having the first aerial traffic cop. His appointment became necessary, because of a plague of low stunt flying, which is not only dangerous to the aviators but to houses and property, as well as causing untold loss to film companies. In the midst of his "stunting" the aviator will suddenly hear the blast of a siren, and see approaching a fast black-and-orange 'plane bearing the police badge. The new "cop" will not only look after stunters; he will do all he can to avoid aerial congestion, which is becoming a serious matter in California. Other well-known public services have already "taken the air," especially the fire brigade. Forest fires are located by 'plane, and at the aerodromes in England fire and first-aid 'planes are always ready for an emergency.

Worms are encouraged by morbid conditions of the stomach and bowels, and so subsist. Miller's Worm Powders will alter these conditions almost immediately and will sweep the worms away. No destructive parasite can live in contact with this medicine, which is not only a worm destroyer, but a health-giving medicine most beneficial to the young constitution.

The worn-out paper money returned to the Treasury Deparment at Washington, D.C., each year, is turned into paper pulp from which is manufactured fine writing paper, cardboard and shoe counters.

Asthma Doesn't Wear Off Alone. Do not make the mistake of waiting for asthma to wear away by itself. While you are waiting the disease is surely gathering a stronger foothold and you live in danger of stronger and yet stronger attacks. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy taken early will prevent incipient condition from becoming chronic and saves hours of awful suffering.

Honor Given To Canadian Author

Royal Empire Society Awards Gold Medal To Dr. C. W. New

It is announced that the Royal Empire Society, formerly known as the Royal Colonial Institute, has for the first time awarded its gold medal for the best book of the year of outstanding imperial interest to a Canadian. The recipient of the honor is Dr. Chester W. New, professor of history of McMaster University, and the work thus honored is his volume entitled "Lord Durham, a biography."

Dr. New's biography is the first authoritative historical survey of the life of the first Earl of Durham, who was governor-general of Canada in the period immediately following the Rebellion of 1837, and who was a prominent figure in the fight for the development of democracy in Great Britain and self-government in Canada.

DEAFNESS
Buzzing Head Noises
CAUSED BY CATARRH

Nine case in ten are due to Catarrhal inflammation. Based on the experience of others who have been relieved of troublesome buzzing in the ears you can count on the effective action of Catarrhozone. No medicine to take — you breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhozone through a small pocket inhaler and derive results quickly. Catarrh of the middle ear is routed out. Hearing improves. Head noises cease. Catarrh in the nose, throat, ears — wherever located, yields to Catarrhozone. You can purchase a two-months' treatment for $1.00, or a smaller size for 50 cents, at any druggist.

JESUS TEACHING IN THE TEMPLE

Golden Text: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second like unto it is this, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."—Matthew 22. 37-39.

Lesson: Matthew 22.1 to 23.39.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 15.

Explanations and Comments

The Pharisees' Question About Tribute, chapter 22.15-22.—Then — after listening to Christ's parables which were plainly a warning to them (Matthew 21.45), the Pharisees took counsel how they might ensnare Him in His talk, hoping to lead Him on to say something which they could report as treason and thus secure from the Roman Governor a death sentence for Him. They took counsel with the Herodians, whom they hated, but their common hatred of Jesus was stronger than their mutual hatred. The Herodians were the court party, a political party that came into existence with the rise to power of Herod the Great. Their desire was to have a Jewish kingdom established under the Herodian dynasty. The Pharisees were the strictest religious sect among the Jews, and were bitterly opposed to Roman rule. They were looking for a Messiah who should be their earthly king and free them from Roman domination.

Pharisees and Herodians together came to Jesus and began their attack with a preamble which meant that the question they were about to propose was a dangerous one to answer, but they knew He was not afraid of consequences. The words were intended to conciliate Him and put Him off His guard, but it was nevertheless a fine tribute to Jesus from His enemies when they said that He was true, that He taught the truth, and was fearless in His preaching of the truth.

Since He was such an one as they said, they wanted His judgment on a matter of controversy: Did He deem it lawful to give tribute to Caesar? If Jesus answered that it was lawful to give tribute, the people would turn against Him; and if He said it was not lawful, He could be charged with treason. Jesus saw through their purpose and exclaimed, "Why make ye trial of Me, ye hypocrites?" Jesus could always see the insincerity of the would-be flatterer.

Then Jesus asked for a coin, the tribute money. They brought Him a denarius, a coin worth about eight pence half-peny, as the Bible margin tells us.

"Whose is this image and superscription?" Jesus asked. They must perforce answer, "Caesar's." "Render, therefore, unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," returned Jesus. "And unto God the things that are God's," Jesus solemnly added.

When Florence Nightingale was asked the secret of her life, her reply was, "I have worked hard, xery hard, that is all; and I have never refused anything to God."

"Well, I was bursting to tell you—seemed as if I couldn't get here quick enough. I knew Charmian was out, too, and thought maybe you'd like company. Besides, I wanted to borrow a lump o' butter for my dinner. I almost forgot it, same as I forgot to order when the boy come round. Don't you get up, Grandma, I know your ice box most as well as I know my own."

"And good reason, too!" murmured Grandma to herself as Miss Lizzie waddled off. "Seems as if in the last thirty years there's nothing Lizzie Baker hasn't borrowed of me — unless it's my tooth brush."

She turned to the window, stared for a moment, and then exclaimed: "Why, here comes Lawyer Garfield! What on earth does he want of me?"

CHAPTER XII.

Charmian was finding her old schoolmate a rather unsociable companion this morning. Once Grandma's cheery presence was left behind, he relapsed into silence, and was to all appearances giving his entire attention to the car. He didn't speak until they drew up before the Bascomb house with its expanse of glaring window glass.

"I'll run in," said Charmian. "I can get away from Emmy quicker than you can; and we mustn't loiter."

"I'm not liable to loiter with Emmy Bascomb," replied Jim, stepping out before Charmian could move. "Of all the bores . . . ."

He left the sentence unfinished, and strode up the path, while Charmian, who agreed with him about Emmy, smiled to herself as she watched him enter the side door without waiting to knock. She was regarding the new windows disapprovingly when he came out, tossed Grandma's catalogue onto the back seat, and said, as he started the engine: "Quick work that—considering. Emmy's ordering a hat — by mail!"

The suspicion of a smile curved his lips, and Charmian laughed outright.

"Did she ask your advice, Jim? I suppose she considered you an authority!"

He threw her a reproachful glance, but answered: "She showed me the picture, and asked whether to get blue, like her new waist, or black that'll go with everything. Ezra's in favor of the blue, Emmy thought it might be extravagant. I voted with Ezra, not because I cared a darn which she got, but because I saw it was what she wanted."

"Tactful Jim! I didn't know you were a diplomat."

"There's a lot you don't know about me," he responded cryptically, and once more retired into silence.

Charmian, who feared to say the wrong thing, said nothing at all for a half mile; but as they climbed the hill that divided the two villages, she suggested: "Lets waste five minutes and stop under that oak tree. I love this view, Jim, and I haven't been here all summer. How small and peaceful the village looks from here. Somehow it always makes me think of 'O little town of Bethlehem.' Doesn't it ever make you feel that way, Jimmy, especially on a winter evening when the lights shine out from the houses?"

The young man, who had obeyed and stopped the car, was leaning forward on the steering wheel, his eyes searching the valley so far below.

"You're a queer kid, Charmian," he said quietly. "I guess you see things I don't see at all, and never will. It's mighty pretty up here, but I'd never think of comparing South Wickfield with Bethlehem. What put such an idea into your head?"

He was so genuinely puzzled that the girl laughed.

"Oh, you can laugh!" he burst out unexpectedly, "but it's no laughing matter to me. It makes me feel a thousand miles away from you. Grandma says you don't like the Bascombs' windows, or at least, she doesn't like 'em herself, which is the same thing."

"This is a lightning change of subject," commented Charmian.

"It's no change of subject at all," corrected Jim. "And if we're going to get back before dinner—"

He started the car so suddenly that the girl lost her balance, and for a moment her "woman's crowning glory" brushed his shoulder.

"Sorry," Jim apologized. "I didn't see that rock."

He released the arm which he had instinctively thrust out to help her, and Charmian said: "Didnt you? For a minute I thought it might be your manner of inviting me to a petting party."

"I don't pet that way," said Jim, and actually smiled.

"That's better," approved Charmian.

"What?"

"The smile. It makes you look more human. You've a terribly grim face, Jim, when you're upset mentally. Sometimes it scares me."

"Who said I was mentally upset?" he demanded, scowling.

"No one had to say it. It's been written all over you for the last hour. I suspect that I'm responsible for it in a measure, and that makes me sad. Won't you smile and be friends."

Jim smiled.

"You didn't quote correctly did you?' he inquired.

Charmian only laughed, and asked, as the car slowed down before a small, brown, shabby cottage: "Is this where you collect your interest? It doesn't look as if the interest would—well, come easy."

Jim nodded, and reached for a brief case containing papers.

"Oh, Jim!" Charmian spoke softly so as not be overheard by any one within, "how can the poor soul meet things like interest? She has three children, hasn't she?"

"Five," he corrected, and stepped out onto the grass-grown sidewalk.

"But—but where does she get the money to pay you? She can't possibly—"

"You don't have to worry about that," broke in Jim lightly, and turned away.

A queer, sick feeling crept slowly into the girl's heart. This didn't seem like the Jimmy Bennett she had always known. Did all men change when it came to business matters? she asked herself. Did none of them feel compassion for a woman who had to struggle as this poor woman must be struggling to keep the wolf from that shabby, sagging door? Was it just part of the day's work to them—collecting what must be the pitiful savings of weeks and months? And was Jim, who seemed so kind, like all the rest? Didn't he care . . .

Charmian pulled herself together suddenly, realizing that Jim had been gone some time, and that unless he hurried Doctor Carter would undoubtedly dine on the contents of a cold bean pot. Then the door opened, and though the woman smiled and shook hands with Jim, Charmian saw the unmistakable traces of recent tears in her red-rimmed eyes, and the girl's heart hardened a bit toward her old playmate and the hard, harsh world of business that was a part of him.

"Did she pay it?"

The question came almost against her will as they started back.

"She did," said Jim. "That's why I went there, wasn't it?"

"And you don't feel like—like Shylock?" burst from Charmian in sudden, overwhelming indignation.

Jim looked at her in amazement.

"Why in thunder should I feel like Shylock?"

His voice was cheerful, more more cheerful than it had been since they started out.

"If you don't know," Charmian replied coldly, "it would be useless for me to try to tell you." And it was she who was silent on the ride home.

CHAPTER XIII.

Sorry the ride wasn't more of a success," said Jim, as he left Charmian at the side door.

He smiled rather wistfully; but it was the words, not the smile that lingered with her as she turned on the stove drafts. Something in Jim's voice had brought back the uncomfortable feeling she had experienced earlier that day, when she thought she had hurt him. And he was right. The ride hadn't been much of a success. Charmian was, she told herself, ridiculously disturbed about it. Only the persistent pounding of Great-grandfather Davis's gold-headed cane, roused her to the fact that she hadn't run in to speak to Grandma, as was her almost invariable habit on reaching home.

"Well," exclaimed the old lady, as her granddaughter appeared in the doorway, "so its you! I didn't know but what it was a tramp, so I made all the noise I could. Where's Jimmy? Gone? Dear me, I had something to tell him. You needn't rush 'round so, childy, because the doctor won't be here to dinner. They're taking some one to the hospital at Eastboro. He telephoned an hour ago. Sit down, Charmian, and let the dinner wait. There's news a-plenty."

"News? Who brought it?"

"Lizzie Baker; and like to die of apoplexy she was, from running. And after she'd gone home (by the back door after borrowing some butter), Gam Garfield brought the rest of it. He wanted to know the value of those beads we sold the deacon!"

Charmian sank limply into a chair.

"Dont tell me we've got a law suit on our hands!"

"And no sooner was Lizzie gone than I looked out and saw Gam Garfield crossing the street. It gave me a start! He walked in kind of solemn, too. He likes to look that way when he has a case—sort of important. But I wasn't going to have little Gam Garfield put on airs with me; so I said, 'Morning, Gam. I was just thinking of the time I caught you hanging by the seat of your trousers from our Porter apple tree. You were seven years old, and you'd eaten yourself sick, so I didn't have the heart to give you the spanking you deserved for stealing fruit.' That sort of—well, took the wind out of his sails, as you might say."

Daughter Is Stronger Now

"My daughter Catherine is fifteen years old. She was very irregular, often sick at her stomach and had to stay in bed two or three days at a time. One of your booklets was sent to us by mail so I got her a bottle of Vegetable Compound. Catherine has been taking it regularly and she is gaining in weight and every way. I told the neighbors and four other girls are taking it with good results."—Mrs. Clarence Jenkinson, Box 14, Thorloe, Ontario.

When Food Sours

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been overstimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient, and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Local and Personal

Miss Edith Cook was a visitor with relatives in Spokane a few days last week, returning on Saturday.

An important real estate deal was closed on Thursday last when Geo. Hendren purchased the lot at the corner of Vancouver Street and Victoria Avenue from the United Church. The property has about 60 feet frontage on the avenue and adjoins the parsonage property.

Unusual value is offered at S. A. Speers' store with the well known Speers' Special Bulk Tea now at 50 cents a pound. Previously this tea has sold at 70 cents, but the remarkable cut is due to the recent tariff reductions, along with the large turnover in this particular blend.

J. P. MacDonald returned on Thursday last from Cranbrook, where he was in attendance at a two-day conference of forestry men of East Kootenay. For the benefit of local autoists who sometimes step on the gas, Mac advises that there is now a speed cop on duty in the Cranbrook area.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Strong, formerly in charge of the Commercial Hotel, who left here about two years ago for Lethbridge, Alberta, have returned and have just purchased a couple of lots at the upper end of Barton Aveenue, on which they propose to erect a home and again reside in Creston.

Miss Marguerite Ferguson with a guess of 1675 was the winner of the Congoleum rug given away at S. A. Speers' store in the Congoleum firm's guessing coutest which closed on Saturday night. The correct number was 1684. Of the large number of guessers the winner was the only one who selected something in the 1600 class.

A surplus of $42.60 is reported in connection with the recent athletic display by Creston juniors. Receipts were $60.10, made up of $55.10 taken in at the hall and a donation of $5 from S. A. Speers. Expenses were $17.50, made up of hall rent of $7 50: cartage of extra seats, $1.50; printing and advertising, $6; ribbon for badges, $2.50.

At the annual conference of the Presbyterian W.M.S. of Kootenay-Boundary at Cranbrook last week, Mrs. H. H. Taylor was named press secretary; Mrs. M. J. Boyd chosen secretary to Young Women's department, and Mrs. Leslie McInnes is second vice-president. Reports submitted showed all allocations met and one new auxiliary formed.

Rev. R. E. Cribb and Mrs. Cribb and children left by auto at the first of the week for Vancouver, where they are attending the presbytery meeting of the United Church in British Columbia, Mrs. Cribb being delegate from the local congregation. They will be absent for a couple of weeks and in his absence O. M. Samuelson will take charge of the service at Trinity United Church Sunday next.

M. R. Joyce, C. F. Hayes, W. Kernaghan, W. H. Watcher, Sam Steenstrup, R. J. Forbes, C. F. Armstrong, and A. L. Palmer were part of the local Masonic contingent to visit Kimberley on Saturday night when a special communication of Selkirk Lodge was held at which the officers of Creston Lodge conferred third degree in impressive fashion. Following the lodge work there was a splendid banquet spread and a throughl enjoyable time was very much in evidence.

The biggest bass ever taken in loca waters has just been entered by Melt Beam in the contest conducted by Vic. Mawson. It weighs 5 pounds 8½ ounces, is 21 inches long, and a girth of 15¼ inches. This jumbo is almost a pound heavier than anything that has been previously taken, and was caught in the backwaters of the Kootenay River. Douglas Speirs had previously turned in one weighing 4 pounds 5 ounces. In the trout class Ben Leadbetter is leading with a rainbow of 2 pounds 12½ ounces, which he got in Goat River on May 4th. It is 20¾ inches long and girth of 11¾ inches.

The Farm For The Farm Boy?

Every once in a while some pullman car philosopher comes along with a few suggestions on how to remedy the evils with which agriculture is supposed to be afflicted, and frequently winds up with a peroration containing some gratuitous advice to "keep the boy on the farm."

All of which might be all right if the itinerant solon were fully acquainted with the conditions of the country which he calmly surveys from the window, the conditions of the industry about which he descants so easily and freely, and the trend of the times, about which he may, or may not know anything. If, however, he were so well posted he would probably tell the newspaper reporters that he has "nothing to say on the subject today."

Now this question of "keeping the boy on the farm" is not a new one, and it has a good many angles to it, some of which are well worthy of a little reflection by the individual before he decides whether the boy should be kept on the farm, and if so, how to go about it.

The first question that naturally arises is: "Should the boy be kept on the farm?"

This query opens a great realm of speculative thought and examination long before the sequent answer: "How is it to be done?" can be satisfactorily dealt with.

It can be said at the outset, without fear of contradiction, that not all boys are fitted for life on the farm, physically or temperamentally, despite the fact that the farm affords an outlet for the expenditure of a wide range of talents. To try and bind such youths down to a life with the soil is akin to shipping a consignment of flannel vests and fur coats to the niggers of Equatorial Africa, and about as useful.

And what about agriculture itself? Does agriculture need, and can it offer suitable rewards and satisfaction to, all the boys who are born on the farms of Western Canada?

Here again is a question which has an important bearing on the problem of taking care of the future of the rural youth. Fifty years ago a single farmer could only raise enough produce to feed a handful of people. Today, with the use of highly mechanized and highly powered implements, one farmer can feed a host, and the trend in the direction of increasing the productive power of the individual in the realm of agriculture is neither recording a halt nor a swing in the other direction.

If science, combined with improved business management, is going to continue to widen the scope of the individual engaged in agricultural production, the time may come when a very considerable proportion of the lads reared on the land will have to look elsewhere for a vocation.

Then, even more than today, the question of determining the fitness, or otherwise, of the rural boy for bringing forth the fruits of the earth, will assume a greater importance. As has happened in other industries in the flux of time and change, those best adapted by nature and preparation to agriculture will be those who will stay with the industry, and they only. The others will find other fields more suited to their talents and inclinations.

If the foregoing diagnosis of the trend of the times is correct, it is very fortunate that the Western Canadian provinces have within their borders an infinite variety of resources awaiting the application of the initiative and courage bred in our youths, for their recovery and conversion to the services of mankind.

It is also fortunate that coincident with this tendency to reduce the man power on the farm, a marked development is taking place in industrial life in the west which, along with the development of the resources already referred to, will afford an ever widening outlet for the energies of young manhood.

Progress has always been marked by evolutionary changes of this kind. Usually they bring discomfort to some, but this is inevitable. It is useless to try to stem the forward march. The wise attitude is to try and discern what present day trends may bring in the future and take advantage of the opportunities they may afford.

These are questions which, no doubt, are receiving serious consideration by those responsible for the conduct of education in rural districts. The wise educationist is not content with taking things as they are for granted, but is looking to the future and making adjustments which the necessity of tomorrow may dictate.

Stunts Planned For This Year

One Man Plans To Walk Across English Channel

It looks as if 1930 is going to distinguish itself as a year of amazing stunts.

Herewith are just a few of the things that carefree men and women are planning to do during the summer.

Fly an engineless glider across the Irish Sea from Holyhead to Dublin.

Walk across the English Channel on water boots.

Cross Niagara in a minature submarine.

Walk blindfold around the top of one of the tallest buildings in Britain.

A young airman, Mr. Alec B. Trafford, of Birmingham, is to attempt the dangerous feat of flying a glider across the Irish Sea. He has already had considerable experience in glider-flying in Germany, and is now at work on the machine with which he intends to make his big attempt.

The man who is hoping to cross the channel on water boots is Mr. J. Hazzard, who has invented an ingenious device consisting of a pair of ordinary shoes attached to the tops of twa airtight bags, which he inflates with a bicycle pump. To help him in his 21-mile stroll across the waves he will use a pole attached to another inflated bag. He will obtain refreshment from a floating quick-lunch counter, to be established somewhere near mid-channel.—From Pearson's weekly.

CRYING BABIES ARE SICKLY BABIES

For Scalds Or Burns.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a standard remedy for the prompt treatment of scalds and burns. Its healing power quickly soothes the pain and aids a speedy recovery from the injury. It is also an excellent remedy for all manner of cuts, bruises and sprains, as well as for relieving the pains arising from inflammation of various kinds. A bottle in the house and stable saves many a doctor's and veterinary's fee.

In early Saxon marriages, the father of the bride delivered one of her shoes to the bridegroom who touched her head with it is a symbol of his authority.

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the stomach, liver and bowels, they correct such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness and other internal disorders that the worms create. Children thrive upon them and no matter what condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in, they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.

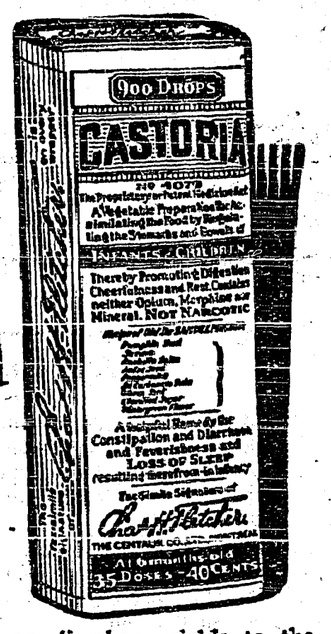
The upsets of Children



All children are subject to little upsets. They come at unexpected times. They seem twice as serious in the dead of night. But there's one form of comfort on which a mother can always rely; good old Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation can't harm the tiniest infant. Yet mild as it is, it soothes a restless, fretful baby like nothing else. Its quick relief soon sees the youngster comfortable once more, back to sleep. Even an attack of colic, or diarrhea, yields to the soothing influence of Castoria.

Keep Castoria in mind, and keep a bottle in the house—always. Give a few drops to any child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is bad. Continue with Castoria until the child is grown! Every drugstore has Castoria; the genuine has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

A New Motor Disease

"Driver's heel" is the latest disease. Rough roads, requiring constant working of pedals and controls, are responsible for this trouble, which can be very painful. Doctors with patients suffering from the new ailment are recommending that heel mats of some soft material should be provided by motor manufacturers, particularly for racing cars.

SENATE AGREES ON RESOURCES BILLS FOR WEST

Ottawa, Ont.—It is not the intention of the government to proceed with the financial reconstruction of the Canadian National Railways this year, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways, told the parliamentary committee which examined the estimates of the National system here. The government had proposed to introduce a bill dealing with the amalgamation of the various constituent companies, but no progress having been made previous to the Easter recess, it was doubtful if that bill would now be dealt with in view of the approaching dissolution of parliament.

"I frankly confess," said Mr. Crerar, "that, assuming my duties as Minister of Railways in February, I haven't been able to get a clear idea of what is involved beyond the fact that it is a tremendous task.

"I doubt if the amalgamation will now be proceeded with, but it should be done next session."

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., informed the committee that as far as the railway was concerned all the investigations had been made in connection with the financial reconstruction and the company's recommendations were ready. Mr. Crerar, however, had had no opportunity to enquire into what was an exceedingly complicated problem. The situation now was one of simply determining what the government wanted to do. The executives of the C.N.R. had submitted their recommendations this year.

The problem of financial reconstruction had been under intensive study for the past six years and he did not suppose that any more complicated task had ever been undertaken on account of the large number of records, mortgages, securities of different terms and rates of interest. These had all been finally catalogued and straightened out. It was now at the pleasure of the government and the will of parliament. The company itself was prepared to go ahead with the matter.

The re-financing scheme did not involve the disturbance of existing issues.

Indian Flier Reaches England

Croydon, England.—The Parsee Indian flier, R. D. Chinese Stage Battle

Winnipeg Is Scene Of Riot Between Oriental Factors

Winnipeg, Man.—Axes and baseball bats were wielded in Winnipeg's Chinatown as two Oriental factions clashed in riotous street warfare. Three Chinese were so seriously injured that they were taken to hospital, while numerous others were being attended at their homes. Seven Orientals are under arrest.

Rioting broke out shortly after midnight with two-score members of opposing political factions milling in the fray which began when two Orientals engaged in combat. From stores and residences in the surrounding area, within a block or two of the city hall, poured Chinese armed with axes, sticks and baseball bats. Several were knocked unconscious in the mob-clash.

Police arrived while the riot was in full swing and the battlers dispersed within a few moments, leaving injured men on the road and in the gutter. Fleeing combatants were arrested and the more gravely hurt were hurried to hospital. Condition of the three wounded men was reported as showing improvement.

London, England.—In connection with the probe into the leakage of news from government sources connected with the arrest of Gandhi in India, the Newspaper Owners' Association has raised its powerful voice against certain sections of the Officials Secrets Act of 1920, under which the detectives secured their warrants to invade the home and question the newspapermen. The association has adopted a resolution regretting the government action and calling it unjustified interrogation of a journalist who collected his news by a legitimate and open method. The resolution expresses concern for the freedom of the press and demands amendment of the act in the public interest. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

Aviation Valuable To Canada

More Development Is Urged By Dr. W. R. Boyle

Saskatoon. — That Canada will gain more by the development of the aeroplane and radio than any other country in the world, was the statement issued by Dr. R. W. Boyle, principal of the physical science division of the new national research laboratories at Ottawa.

He emphasized the value of the aeroplane and radio in bringing together certain parts of our country, which with its wide stretches of unoccupied territory would remain isolated and inaccessible without the aid of these two developments of science. Dr. Boyle said that particular attention was being paid to aeronautics at the research department at Ottawa.

Workers' Bill For Debate

Measure Has Been Refused To House House Of Commons

Ottawa, Ont.—A measure respecting employment of Canadian workmen on Dominion Government contracts was referred in the House of Commons to the committee on industrial and international relations.

The sponsor of the bill, Dr. J. J. E. Guerin, (Liberal, St. Ann), informed the House that the measure was of serious interest to labor, especially in the City of Montreal. In brief the purpose of the bill, he proceeded, was to provide that there should be no age limit in respect to Canadian workmen seeking employment on government contracts.

Would Not Use Old Law

Paris, France.—With a view to making France unhealthy for loafers and petty criminals, a bill has been introduced in the chamber which invokes a law of 1885 to the extent of imposing the choice between expulsion and permanent confinement at hard labor for any person who, having already spent at least six months in prison, shall have been convicted a second time.

Survey Of Natural Resources In B.C.

Information Is Being Sought On Peace River Block

Victoria, B.C.—Under an agreement between the British Columbia government and the Canadian government, the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway, announced by Premier S. F. Tolmie, a systematic natural resources survey of the Peace River Block will be launched almost immediately and carried on all summer.

The survey organization under Major C. R. Crysdale, which conducted the Pacific Great Eastern Railway survey of last summer, will handle the Peace River block investigation also.

The government and the two railways will share the cost of the work jointly as before.

"We need this information on the Peace River block before we can intelligently deal with the future of this great area of about 3,000,000 acres," the premier announced.

Britain Has Refused Demands Of Arabs

Delegates From Palestine Told Proposals Were Unacceptable

London, England. — The British colonial office issued a statement declaring that the demands of the Palestine Arab delegation, which has been in London discussing the future of their fellow-countrymen, for constitutional changes were "wholly unacceptable."

At the same time the Arab delegation, which recently declared it had reached a deadlock in the negotiations, announced it would leave for Palestine on May 23.

The colonial office statement said the government had taken note of the Arab demands but had told the delegation its proposals could not be accepted "since they render it impossible for His Majesty's government to carry out their obligations under the mandate."

RECONSTRUCTION OF C.N.R. WILL BE POSTPONED

Ottawa, Ont.—Without a division and with very little debate the Senate gave three readings each to the bills restoring the natural resources of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta to those provinces. They previously had been passed through the House of Commons as government measures.

Hon. N. A. Belcourt, acting government leader, in supporting the bills, said the provinces had been dealt with generously and fairly. It had been the government's desire to grant the provinces as wide power as possible and he was impressed with the spirit that animated the proceedings leading to the agreements.

Hon. W. B. Willoughby, Conservative leader, said the natural resources had been an acute question in the west for years, but he believed it had been settled satisfactorily. He referred to the fact that Alberta and Saskatchewan had been given the right to appeal to the courts on constitutional issues. The Manitoba Act, he pointed out, had been passed on by the Privy Council, but neither of the others had been interpreted judicially.

Hon. A. B. Gillis reviewed the past history of the natural resources question in the west. Withholding of the resources under the 1905 incorporations had been disastrous to the provinces, and the present settlement was a complete justification of the stand taken by Sir Frederick Haultain when premier of the Northwest Territories. The provinces, he said, had been forced into direct taxation, and Saskatchewan alone now has a debt of $70,000,000. If the resources had been given to the province in 1905, the sale of land would have offset the present debt.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 23

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Village Highways

Editor Review:

Sir,—What is the matter with the municipality of the village of Creston? Is it absolutely broke? In that case a loan from the bank would be a good investment on some decent and safe roads. East of town is a bone shaker, not to mention the stretch below the railway track.

Money spent on good roads will boost the district. Money paid out for damages sustained while travelling upon these so-called roads is a poor way to advertise. Why wait until a bad accident happens before doing necessary repairs.

Traffic regulations say drive on your right. In Creston we drive around the holes and over the bumps. RANCHER.

Apple Market Promises Well

Committee of Direction Chairman Sees Light Eastern Crop 1930—Strongly Advises Cold Storage—Likes Local Pool.

The best attended meeting of orchardists Creston has ever had was that of Friday night when F. M. Black, chairman of the committee of direction, along with W. J. McDowall, another member of the committee, held a public meeting in the United Church hall, with Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., speaking very briefly in introducing Mr. Black, the chief speaker.

In opening Mr. Black very briefly sketched the quantities of apples and other fruits the committee had handled during the past three years, stating that for 1929 British Columbia had produced more apples than all the other Canadian provinces combined and that of this heavy production hardly more than 800,000 boxes had been shipped to export.

For 1930 Mr. Black was sanely optimistic. Figures already to hand indicated that Nova Scotia and Ontario would have a light crop and that with but a little better than a medium yield in prospect for B.C. prices should be quite satisfactory.

In addition to apples he was even more hopeful in connection with cherries. Last year the committee had the biggest tonnage ever—106,138 crates—and with the extensive use of cold storage it had been possible to market cherries as far east as Montreal and get repeat orders for them. This year it was planned to utilize the eastern centres for the early crop at top prices and put the balance onto the prairie at satisfactory prices to both grower and buyer.

In connection with the advantage in freight rates held by Creston, Mr. Black observed that this district was not as far ahead as it imagined in connection with this lower transportation charge. The speaker was of the opinion that at Okanagan points where buyers could obtain what he termed "tailormade" cars—that is cars with any desired assortment of apples, vegetables, peaches and other soft fruits—these Okanagan points were obtaining very much business that would come to Creston assuredly if these assortments were to be had.

In the matter of cold storage Mr. Black told of development in this connection at other points and ventured the opinion that now irrigation was assured Creston would have to get into storage and it was not a bit too soon to be making preliminary plans. In answer to storage plant costs Mr. McDowall asserted that figures indicated that in the case of apples a suitable building would cost at the rate of about 90 or 95 cents a box where a building of 100,000 box capacity was erected, and for a 50,000 box plant cost would be not less than 45 cents a box for construction and equipment.

Mr. Black related the experiences of past season in connection with storage and to d the audience th t it was found that with McIntosh Reds, particularly, put into cold storage just as soon as taken from the trees, kept longer than fruit that was allowed to sit out for a few days in boxes.

The operation of the provincial pool was fully outlined. It had come into being at the request of the independents and had the full support of the Associated Growers. Mr. Black believed it was the greatest step forward the industry had ever taken At this point W. G. Littlejohn had opportunity to explain why Creston had asked to be left out of the pool and in further discussion of this subject the matter of having a Creston pool seemed to meet with considerable support, and Mr. Black believed it would be a good move and assured that if a local pool was created the board of direction would handle its affairs along with the big pool without extra charge. He recommended the appointment of a committee, who would call a growers meeting and if a vote taken on the matter was in favor of a Creston pool then the pool should become effective.

At the close of Mr. Black's timely and most interesting talk there were considerable questions one of which elicited the information that the added cost of the provincial pool would be less than $2000, and that for last year it cost $67,000 to opporate the committee, of which $10,000 had been spent on legal advice and prosecuting or defending actions in court. The usual vote of thanks was carried with very hearty applause.

B. G. Hamilton of Invermere, who was here for the Masonic gathering on Saturday, was a guest of Col. and Mrs. Mallandaine during his stay in town.

Rev. R. E. Cribb, who is at Vancouver for the annual presbytery meeting of the United Church in B.C., will be back in time to take the usual services on Sunday.

R. G. Newton and A. Ashworth, other Invermere, visitors for the Masonic gathering on Saturday evening, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes during their stay in Creston.

The attendance at the Sandpoint-Creston baseball game on Sunday afternoon was the biggest ever seen here. There were at least 150 autos parked around the playing field.

Rev. H. Varley, a former rector of Christ Church, who left here about four years ago for Cloverdale, has just been called to take charge of a church in South Vancouver.

Mrs A. Comfort and Mrs. E. Pridham are visitors at Rossland this week, guescs of the former's daughter, Mrs. John Cooper. A son and heir has just arrived in the Cooper family.

Cooler and showery weather has been in evidence since Saturday with the best rain so far this year on Monday night and Tuesday when a rainfall of about half an inch was recorded.

At the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade in Eastern B.C. at Cranbrook last week, C. O. Rodgers was the unanimous choice for the office of vice-president of the organization

Mr. and Mrs. Lougheed of Moosejaw, Sask., spent a couple of days here at the end of the week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Joyce. They were returning from spending the winter in Victoria.

The crop bulletin covering this section, issued at May 12th, forecasts a straw berry crop about 75 per cent. of last season. If the season is not too dry the raspberry crop will be about the same as 1929.

The cut flower shipping came to an end at the first of the week. The outgo of tulips has been pretty much on a par with 1929 but due to heavy winter kill the outgo of daffodils was very much lighter.

Mrs. Robison of Kingsgate was a visitor here a couple of days at the end of the week, a guest of Mrs. C. F. Armstrong. Mr. Robison, who had been here relieving C.P.R agent W. B. Martin, returned with her on Sunday.

All miners' licenses expire at the end of the month. 40 of these were issued the past year by the deputy recorder, H. W. McLaren, covering the territory from Boswell to Kitchener, and accounted for a revenue of about $250.

With Creston, Princeton, Grand Forks and Fernie to choose from delegates to the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern B.C. convention at Cranbrook last week selected Creston as the place for the 1931 conference.

Creston's capacity to feed and sleep people was certainly taxed to capacity to take care of the influx of Idaho visitors for the Legion get together on Saturday, many of the visitors staying over for the baseball match on Sunday.

Fred Ryckman of Cranbrook, who is in charge of East Kootenay indian work was here at the weekend, and states that indian agent, E. H. Small, who has been a hospital patient for several weeks, is making a slow but sure recovery.

For last Sunday's baseball game the official records indicate that 63 auto vehicles from points in Idaho crossed at Porthill, headed for Creston. One of these was the Sandpoint-Bonners Ferry auto bus that alone carried fifty pasengers.

The biggest turnout seen at a gathering of orchardists in Creston in years was on hand Friday night at the public meeting addressed by F. M Black, chairman of the committee of direction. He strongly urged the erection of cold storage facilities at Creston.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church had a fair turnout at their May sale at the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon, with the cash intake running to about $ 5. During the afternoon a rug was raffled with Mrs. Stanley Watson holding the lucky ticket.

Idaho and Local Legion Fraternize

Ceremonial at Monument Following Parade Headed by the Coeur d'Alene Bugle Band—Address of Welcome—Dance

The get-together at Creston on Saturday afternoon and evening of the veterans attending the Idaho state Legion conference at Bonners Ferry and the state Woman's Auxiliary to the Legion who also met in annual session at Bonners on Friday and Saturday, numbering about 125, and with whom came the lady and gentlemen friends of the delegates as well as Bonners Ferry citizens to the number of almost 300, was a highly successful affair.

The visitors arrived in good time to have the procession along Main street get under way at 6.15 for the parade to the monument. The U.S. veterans were joined by a company of about 40 local ex-service men, and the bugle band of Kootenay Post of the Legion at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, furnished excellent music for the march, with the war heroes from across the line parading in military caps, and the band also in uniform. The Stars and Stripes and Union Jack had a prominent place at the head of the parade.

Arriving at the monument O. C. Wilson, Commander of the Bonners Ferry post, supported by Adjutant Zimmerman, briefly explained the reason for the fraternal visit, and then came the address of welcome, delivered by Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P.

The words of welcome were replied to by Commander Nicholas Ifft of Pocatello, Idaho, who was supported by Adjutant Lester Albert of Boise, Idaho. After the usual complimentary international reference Commander Ifft remarked, "We are proud to call the Canadians our brothers, when we think of the four years of hell you went through." He hoped the younger generation would grow up to understand and appreciate the sacrifice that had been made by the comrades of the Great War.

After the exercises at the monument the visitors and some Canadion guests adjourned to the tourist camp grounds where a luncheon was served, and at 8.30 a company of the visitors that taxed to capacity the spacious Grand theatre ballroom danced until just after midnight.

Although arrangements had been made with the customs to facilitate the return of the visitors the same evening many of them remained over until Sunday to witness the Creston-Sandpoint league baseball game and to make an inspection of the district.

The business section of Creston was quite well decorated with flags and for the occasion an additional flag pole was placed in front of the Bank of Commerce, which permited the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes to float side by side.

Five Powers Sign Reparations Plan

Commission Disappears and World Bank Will Soon Be In Action

The Young plan for payment of reparations, reducing Germany's obligations for damages caused during the world war from something like $25,000,000,000 to about $9,000,000,000, has gone into effect.

A protocol registering the decision of The Hague conference, which adopted the plan January 2, was signed by the ambassadors of Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy and the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, after a tea served by the French Foreign Minister, Aristide Briand.

The first consequence of this act, which modifies for a second time the reparations machinery provided by the Versailles treaty, will be the disappearance of the reparations commission which, in co-operation with other bodies, has taken charge of payments under the Dawes plan.

The second will be the beginning of functioning by the bank for international settlement at Basel, Switzerland.

The third will be the issuance of $300,000,000 in reparations bonds, two-thirds of that going to creditor nations and the other third to Germany for internal requirements.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 25

JESUS DESCRIBES THE FUTURE OF THE KINGDOM

Golden Text: "Take ye heed, watch and pray; for ye know not when the time is."—Mark 13.33.

Lesson: Matthew 24.1 to 25.13.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55.1-3, 6-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Parable Of the Wise and Foolish Virgins, 25.7-13.—The Kingdom of Heaven Jesus likened to ten virgins who went forth with their lamps to meet the bridegroom. Five of them were wise (prudent), and carried oil in their oil vessels, but five were foolish (imprudent), and took no extra supply of oil.

While the bridegroom tarried they all slept. There is no hint of reproach in this statement: the bridegroom might tarry a long time. Midnight came, and the approach of the bridegroom was announced. All the virgins arose and trimmed their lamps preparatory to going forth to meet him. The foolish ones then found their lamps were going out, and begged the wise ones to share with them their oil. But the wise virgins refused lest there might not be enough for them all, and counseled them to go out and buy oil.

While the foolish virgins went forth to buy their oil the bridegroom came; those that were ready went in with him to the marriage feast, and the door was shut.

A little later the foolish virgins arrived and begged to have the door opened. "Verily I say unto you, I know you not," was the only answer they received.

Watch, therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour. Be not found unprepared. "It is not enough to have a lively zeal for a while; we must have, in addition, a perseverance that never tires."—Calvin.

Two Tested Recipes For Salad Dressings

Now that salads are the order of the day, really good recipes for salad dressings will be welcomed. A salad is often made or marred by the piquancy of the dressing used, so that tested recipes are very desirable. Since some prefer an uncooked dressing and others a cooked dressing, we give two recipes, both of which we know will please.

SALAD DRESSING (Uncooked)

Two eggs beaten until light; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ teaspoon mustard; ½ can Eagle Brand Condensed Milk; ½ cup vinegar. Beat the first four ingredients vigorously for a few minutes add the vinegar, stir well and set aside for a few hours to thicken. Excellent for fruit or vegetable salad. Will keep for weeks. For Russian dressing add Chili sauce to taste.

SALAD DRESSING (Cooked)

Half a tablespoon salt; 1 teaspoon mustard; 1 tablespoon flour; 1 tablespoon butter; ¼ cup Eagle Brand Condensed Milk; ½ cup water; ¼ cup vinegar; 1 egg. Mix dry ingredients, add slightly beaten egg, butter, milk, water and vinegar. Cook until thickened. Strain and cool. Whipped Borden's St. Charles Evaporated Milk, or cream, may be added before serving if desired. Yield, 1 cupful.

A Growing Industry

Production From Inland Fisheries In Manitoba Shows Great Gain

While agriculture, the basic industry of Manitoba, together with manufacturing, mining, and other industries has advanced substantially in the province in recent years, the production from the inland fisheries has probably shown the greatest gain. In the past five years the fisheries production has increased more than 100 per cent. In 1924 the market value of the fish caught in Lake Winnipeg, Manitoba, Winnipegosis and other lakes was $1,232,000, while last year it was $2,634,000. In 1929 the commercial fishermen of the province caught 33,000,000 pounds of fish, a record for Manitoba, with a marketed value of $2,634,000.

PEOPLE "ALL NERVES"

What To Do If You Find Yourself In This Condition

The sort of thing that specialists call nervous debility is the run-down condition caused by over-work and household worries. The sufferers find themselves tired, low-spirited and unable to keep their mind on anything. Any sudden noise startles and sets the heart palpitating violently. They cannot sleep well at night; their hands tremble and legs seem unable to support them. Such a condition is indeed pitiable.

Doctoring the nerves with sedatives is a terrible mistake. The only real nerve tonic is a supply of good red blood. Therefore the treatment for nervousness and run-down health is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which promptly build up and enrich the blood. The revived appetite, the strengthened nerves, improved spirits and new strength which come after a course of these pills will delight every sufferer.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sentry Receives $20,000 For Saving Life Of Prince At Belgrade

One of King's Alexander's gigantic guardsmen recently was given an indefinite leave of absence after receiving a reward of 100,000 dinars (nearly $20,000), for having quite inadvertently saved the life of the 2-year-old Prince Tomislav, the second son of the King.

The Prince was playing in the apartments of his mother, Queen Marie, on the second floor of the palace, at Belgrade, when suddenly he fell from a window. The sentry, who was passing at the moment, received the full weight of the child on his shoulders. The Prince clutched the sentry around the neck and slid to the ground unhurt, but the burly guardsman was knocked unconscious and crumpled to the ground.

"Oh, Grandma! You might have made him angry."

"Not Gam Garfield. He likes to make believe he's stern, but he's real good-natured underneath. He laughed. I guess he forgot he was a lawyer with an important case. And then he sat right down where you are, child, and said: 'It's you who ought to be spanked, Grandma Davis. You charged my client ten dollars for a string o' beads that's worth about ten cents.'"

"Ten dollars!" gasped Charmian. "What an idea! But you did charge too much, Grandma, and—"

"I never heard there was a law to keep a body from getting as much as he could in a trade," interrupted the old lady. "I said as much to Gam, and he had to admit that the law was on my side—considering. And I told him, too, that if Edgar Purdie said he paid ten dollars for these beads, why he was a liar on top of all his other sins. I was real indignant."

Troubled though she was, Charmian couldn't suppress a laugh at the picture Grandma's words brought up.

"I guess he saw I was kind of riled," went on the old lady, "because he said, 'Don't you worry, Grandma. I won't let you get into any trouble if I have to commit perjury myself to prevent it; but what did the deacon pay for those darn beads?'"

"Did you tell him?" asked Charmian breathlessly.

"I did; but not till I'd asked if he was making a social call or one in the interest of his client. He grinned and said, 'You ought to have been a lawyer yourself, Grandma Davis; but I'm just dropping in to pass the time o' day with an old friend.' So I told him the whole story, Charmian. Honestly, child, I thought he'd have hysterics. There wasn't a shred of dignified lawyer left in him when I got through."

"But what's he going to do?"

"It don't make a mite o' difference to me what he does, so long as we're not dragged in; and we won't be, or I don't know Gam. He said, confidentially, that he thought when the deacon cooled off a little, and he pointed out the big expense of a law suit, that it would all be settled out of court. Just now Edgar's mad clean through. He says Luella's the only women he ever proposed to that refused him, and claims that she led him on something scandalous.

"Well, dearie, maybe you'd better get us some dinner. It's been an exciting morning and I feel all gone. On top of everything else there was a fearful cat fight in Lizzie Baker's yard. I could hear the yowls as loud as if they were in this room. They'd be at it now if George K. Knowles hadn't come along and turned Lizzie's hose on 'em. And there are folks who say that nothing happens in Wickfield!"

Charmian laughed as she went toward the kitchen, glad there was enough excitement on hand to keep Grandma from asking too many questions about her ride with Jim; but as they were finishing their meal the old lady queried suddenly: "Did you enjoy your ride? And did you get my catalogue from Emmy?"

"Oh, dear!" cried Charmian, "I left it in the car."

"It's no great matter," responded Grandma comfortably. "If Jimmy finds it he'll bring it 'round to-night. Like as not he'll be glad of an excuse to come. Did Emmy say what she was ordering?"

"A hat," smiled Charmian. She's not going to be outdone by Clara Darling."

"Do tell!" ejaculated Grandma. "Did she show you the picture, dearie? There were some awful pretty hats on page fifteen. What color will it be? Green doesn't go well with most of Emmy's things."

Chairmian laughed.

"It's possible, you know, to buy some other color, even by mail. I didn't see the picture, Grandma. It was Jim who went in, and Emmy asked his advice about it."

"Then he can show me which one it is when he brings the catalogue. Emmy's not liable to be extravagant, but it does seem risky getting a hat clear from Chicago. It might get mashed in the mail, and then where'd she be? Maybe that's Jimmy now. There's an auto stopping. If 'tis, you call him in, dearie, so he can show me—"

"That you, Jim?" called Charmian, half rising as the front door opened. "Come in a moment. Grandma wants you."

Jim, who had eaten hastily and was on his way back to the bank, obeyed willingly enough. He had the bulky catalogue under his arm, and though he smiled at Grandma, his eyes shifted to Charmian, as if to discover if she loked more cheerful than when he left her.

"You sit down," commanded Grandma. "I guess George K. can run the bank without you for ten minutes. Draw up a chair. I want you should show me the hat that Emmy Bascomb's been fool enough to order without first seeing the quality."

"Good thunder!" objected Jim, "this book is three hundred and fifty pages thick! How'm I to find—"

"The hats begin on page fifteen," broke in Grandma. "They look real pretty in the pictures; but I've never seen but one mail order hat; and except for making a good deal of commotion around town—"

"Grandma," Charmian interrupted sternly, "I've got a notion that Jim is sick and tired of hearing about that hat. Let him alone. He's got a right to admire a green hat if he wants to. The truth is, I liked it myself!"

"You did!" gasped Grandma, astonished; while Jimmy laughed, the first real laugh of the day—for him. For a moment his eyes met Charmian's with their old twinkle, then returned to the book, and he said dubiously:

"It must be this one. I remember it kind of hung down one side, and had a red rose on the other."

"Read what it says, sonny. I haven't got my glases."

Jim obeyed, reading with mock solemnity: "'A dressy model with soft, girlish lines that you will simply adore. The brim is of two colors of dainty lace-patterned straw. Colors: black with a red rose; meadow pink with sand; gobelin blue with crab apple. Price only one-fifty-nine. Shipping weight two pounds.' That sounds pretty swell, Grandma, doesn't it? Emmy was hovering between the black with the red rose, and the blue with the crab apples or carrots. I gave her a shove toward the blue, and ran, or she'd still be asking my assistance. Now I must skip, or George K. wil think I've absconded with his interest money."

Again his eyes sought Charmian's, but at the mention of interest, her face hardened, and she turned away. A moment later the whir of an engine told her that Jim had gone, and Grandma said, lifting her eyes from the gayly colored page: "Seems as if that hat would be a litle wide in the brim for Emmy; but you never can tell about a hat until you try it on. I think she's running a terrible risk, though they do say, 'money refunded if not satisfactory.' Still, they might make a fuss if she sent it back. Busines men are hard-hearted to deal with—that is, some of 'em are, though Father always said there were exceptions."

"I'd like to find one, then," said Charmian; but Grandma, still absorbed in Emmy's purchase, didn't notice the sudden bitternes in the girl's voice.

CHAPTER XIV.

It was with a very genuine glow of happines that Charmian learned that the school board had given her "District Four." Some years had passed since she graduated from the State Normal School—years when it seemed best for her to stay with Grandma; but as it became increasingly difficult to meet expenses and keep the old house in repair, the girl realized that something must be done, and to get the school only a mile from her own door was a vast relief.

WHY SUFFER FROM YOUR LIVER?

Why be handicapped with unsightly blotches on the face, eyes with yellow tinge and that tired and languid feeling? This indicates a torpid liver

Headache, Dizziness and Biliousness surely follow. You must stimulate your lazy liver, start the bile flowing with Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They also act as a mild laxative, purely vegetable, free from calomel and poisonous drugs, small, easy to swallow, and not habit forming. They are not a purgative that cramps or pains, unpleasant after effect following, on the contrary a good tonic. All Druggists 25c and 75c red pkgs.

A Brave Little Traveller

Little Jean Baxter recently appeared on the White Star liner "Albertic," bound for Halifax, with the following label attached to her coat: "My age is 3 years. My mother is dead, and I am going out to my daddy in Saskatoon. I am travelling alone, so please be good to me."

"So Skinny Shamed In Bathing Suit. Gained 15 Lbs."

"Gained 15 lbs. taking Ironized Yeast. Was always ashamed to wear bathing suit but now I can and not feel too skinny." — Eulah Lanningham.

Thousands write of 5 to 15 lbs. gained in 3 weeks with Ironized Yeast. Bony limbs round out. Ugly hollows fill in. Blemished skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation disappear overnight. Sound sleep. New health and pep from very first day.

Two great tonics in one — special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in ½ time.

So quit being ashamed of "skinniness," sallow skin. Get Ironized Yeast from druggist today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with quick results.

A composer has written a song for pedestrians. But it will be a long time before composers nowadays can hope to excel Chopin's famous funeral piece.

READ OF A CASE LIKE HER OWN

Decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Moncton, New Brunswick—"Before my last baby was born I was very weak, nervous and discouraged. I saw an advertisement in the paper about a woman who had been like me so I bought a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took three bottles and it carried me safely through that critical time. I have three children to care for and I feel well and strong. I have told two other women about your medicine."—Mrs. Gus Arsenault, 82 Albert Street, Moncton, New Brunswick.

Clover Leaf Rolls

made with

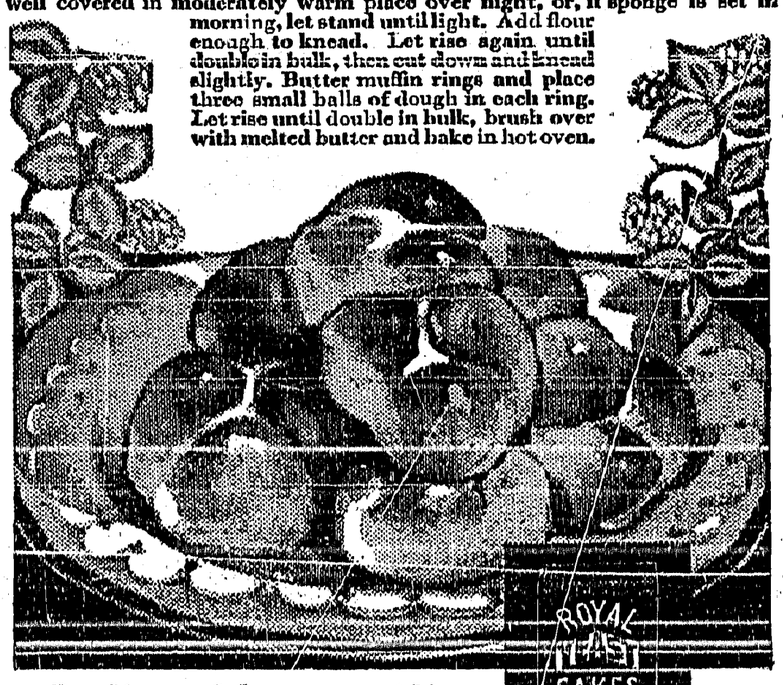
ROYAL YEAST CAKES

are a Delightful Change

Try this recipe:

1 Royal Yeast Cake dissolved in one-half cup lukewarm water.
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ cups flour
1½ cups scalded milk
½ cup butter

Pour the scalded milk over the sugar, salt and butter. When cooled to lukewarm add the dissolved yeast and one and one-half cups flour. Allow to stand well covered in moderately warm place over night, or, if sponge is set in morning, let stand until light. Add flour enough to knead. Let rise again until double in bulk, then cut down and knead slightly. Butter muffin rings and place three small balls of dough in each ring. Let rise until double in bulk, brush over with melted butter and bake in hot oven.



Bread is one of the most nourishing of foods. It can be made more interesting, however, by occasionally varying the form of serving it.

If you bake at home, the Royal Yeast Bake Book will provide you with many practical tested recipes for all kinds of home-made breads. It will be mailed—free—on request.

Local and Personal

Rev. P. McNab left on Tuesday for Trail, where on Wednesday evening he took part in the services of inducting Rev. F. St.Denis as pastor of Trail Presbyterian Church. The local pastor was in charge of Presbyterian Church work at Trail in 1912 and 1913.

With the hills clear of snow before the middle of May the general opinion now appears to be that the winter's snowfall was not as excessive as first anticipated and with normal conditions from now on flood conditions on the Kootenay may not be any worse than in 1929.

Creston baseball team plays at Sandpoint on Sunday afternoon, and it is expected there will be quite a number accompany the team to return the compliment paid by Sandpoint last Sunday when a large number from that town were here to see the Eagles trim Creston 7 to 1.

B. W. Willis, the Cranbrook florist, was a business visitor here on Sunday, and pretty well cleaned up the local weekend supply of tulips and other blooms, which were wanted for the Sweeney-Sang wedding of Wednesday, which was the society function of the season at the divisional city.

A very pleasing feature to the big Masonic night on Saturday was the presentation of a handsome mantle clock to W. Fraser, a past master of Creston lodge, who has recently become a benedict. The presentation was made by R. W. Bro. Col. Mallandaine, and was suitably acknowledged by the recipient.

The Auditorium (the former Peekin theatre) has just been completely remodelled and a part of the west half of the building has been fitted up and is now occupied by E. G Timmons as the Electric Shop, in which he is displaying a nice line of electric fixtures. The balance of the building is used as a pool hall.

Estimates of the government vendor's trade on Saturday with the rush of Idaho tourists that afternoon and evening, run all the way from $1000 to $2800. Two assistants were required to cope with the bigger business. Somewhere in between the two figures would look to be correct as the visitors seemed to have a decided preference for beer.

H. S. Purchase, who has been cashier at the Bank of Commerce for the past two years, has received notice of his transfer to Williams Lake, where he will relieve for a time. He is succeeded by G. Cornwall, of Golden. Mr. Purchase has been very active in tennis, curling and dramatic circles during his stay and will certainly be missed. He has the very best wishes of all for future success.

Red Cross Lodge Knights of Pythias, No. 34, at Spokane is putting on a Canadian night on Saturday, May 24th, when K.P. members from Creston, Cranbrook, Kimberley, Nelson, Trail, Rossland and Grand Forks will be in attendance. On the return on Sunday it is expected the Cranbrook and Kimberley delegates along with Creston will remain at Sandpoint for the Creston-Sandpoint game, and should provide a likely brigade of rooters for the local nine.

Reports are coming in from the district east of Creston of damage due to the dry summer and fall and severe winter weather conditions. The worst to suffer seem to be McIntosh Reds of five and six years growth, but older apples, pears and cherries have also suffered from this root injury. Full extent of the damage will not be known for some time yet. The damage is spotty and it would appear that the frost made great headway in locations where the wind had taken away what snow covering there was.

Visiting brethren from Sandpoint and Bonners Ferry, Idaho; Windermere, Kimberley, Cranbrook and Fort Steele, with a big turnout of local members were in attendance at the emergent meeting of Creston Masonic Lodge on Saturday night for the official visit of R.W. Bro. C. F. Hayes, D.D.G.M. for District No. 8. A second degree was conferred and W.M. Bro. M. R. Joyce, and his officers were complimented on the proficiency shown in the work. At the close there was a splendid banquet spread and in the speechmaking the visitors had a prominent part.
