Lister Loses Aged Lady Resident

Although her passing was not entirely unexpected Lister none the less mourns the passing of the settlement's oldest lady resident in the demise on Monday morning of Mrs. John Finlay, at the age of 73 years and six months, following an illness that had confined her to bed for about five weeks.

Deceased, who was of Irish parentage, was married at Cleetor Moor, Cumberland, England, in 1870, and a few years later the family came to America, making their first home in Michigan where, after a brief stay, removal was taken to Minnesota, where Mr. Finlay remained until 1897, when he removed to the Slocan, locating at what is now known as Silverton, and Mrs. Finlay joining him at that point in 1902. Here they resided until 1905 when residence was transferred to Greenwood until the fall of 1920, when they came on to Lister to be with their son, John, who had taken up a farm here that year.

The funeral was held until Thursday to permit of the attendance on a son, James, of St. Paul, Minn., and was in charge of Rev. G. Knox, pastor of the Lister United Church, with Messrs. H. Langston, F. Powers, W. Millington, J. M. Craigie, R. Milner and A. R. F. Bernhard officiating as pallbearers, a large turnout of residents paying their last respects, and many floral remembrances indicating the high esteem in which deceased was held.

In addition to the son, James, two daughters, Mrs. Jory of Lister, and Mrs. Belljacka of St. Paul, Minn., and another son, John of Lister, along with the husband, are left to mourn the passing of one who all through life exemplified the best traits of wife and mother, and in their heavy bereavement the family have the very true sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

Kitchener

Miss Laura Andeen of Cranbrook, spent the Easter holidays in Kitchener, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Johnson.

Mrs. Bird and young son got back on Wednesday after a very enjoyable visit with Nelson friends for about ten days.

Mrs. Frank Baker and her mother, Mrs. Ross, left a few days ago on a holiday visit with friends at prairie points.

School re-opened on Monday after the Easter week's holiday. We hear Dr. Henderson will be out next week in connection with vaccination proceedings.

The Lister area deeply mourns the death of its oldest lady resident, Mrs. John Finlay, who passed away early Monday morning after about five weeks illness. She was a great favorite with all who knew her, and the husband and family are deeply sympathized with in their heavy bereavement.

W. J. Jory was hurriedly recalled from Cranbrook on Monday, due to the death of Mrs. Jory's mother, Mrs. Finlay. Jim was at Cranbrook out fitting for the season's work as assistant forester in the Kingsgate-Kuskanook district, which he has been in charge of for the past three years.

Sirdar

Miss Chadwick got away on Tuesday on a two weeks' visit with friends in Nelson, Cranbrook and Michel.

Miss Dorothy Cam left on Thursday last for Cranbrook where she will visit friends for awhile.

Will Goodman, night operator, who left on Wednesday last for Cranbrook for a week's holiday with his parents, got back on Tuesday.

G. Cox of Pincher Creek, Alta., was at Sirdar on duty as night operator, in the absence of W. Goodman.

The C.P.R. painters are here again, giving the company's buildings a fresh coat of paint.

Easter services in the schoolhouse, with Rev. H. Varley of Creston officiating, were well attended.

Dr. Henderson of Creston was here on Tuesday on a vaccinating trip, when all the school children and any adults desiring attention of this sort were taken care of.

Principal Hines of the Sirdar school, got back on Friday from a holiday trip to Nelson, and school re-opened on Monday with a full attendance.

The picnic on the beach on Wednesday afternoon last, which was in charge of Misses Chadwick, Heap and Pascuzzo, was very much enjoyed by all present. Every one of the 40 children present received prizes for foot racing, and there were games, music and refreshments.

Institute Defers Building of Hall

There was a fair turnout of members at the April meeting of Creston Valley Women's Institute, on Friday afternoon with the president, Mrs. M. J. Boyd, in the chair.

The feature of the session was the final decision on the matter of erecting a hall for Institute meetings, housing the library, and other gatherings, on the Institute lot on Barton Avenue. The special committee had reported at the March meeting that the hall alone, without any furniture or piano, would cost in the neighborhood of $1200, and as the gathering in of this amount of money appeared too large an order the ladies decided to drop the project for at least the year.

Mrs. R. Stephens for the committee on better schools reported that Mrs. McCreath had been added to the committee and that at the May session they would have a report on conditions at the local school. Mrs. Hamilton, librarian, reported that the public library was accepting permanent quarters in the S. A. Speers' store, and the Institute voted $15 to defray the cost of putting in the new shelving.

The directors submitted a copy of a resolution they had sent into R. Davidson, the provincial liquor commissioner, protesting against the granting of a beer license at Creston, and the meeting endorsed their action by a practically unanimous vote. The action of the directors in selling the lumber in the blown-down library building was also endorsed.

The Institute will have the annual bulb show in the Parish Hall on Saturday, April 25th, along with which will be the usual tea and sale of cooking. At the May meeting members and all others interested are asked to bring in any surplus wearing apparel they may have as the Institute proposes to send a bundle to the refugee Armenians. The meeting concurred in a letter from headquarters suggesting that the crippled children work now carried on at Vancouver be taken over by the B.C. Institutes, which are at present the chief financial contributors to the work.

Misses Violet Morrow and Eileen Hendy contributed a piano duett, and the former an instrumental number, while the tea hostesses were Mesdames, W. Hendy, J. E. Hayden and J. W. Hamilton. The tea offering was about $3 which goes to the crippled children work.

Last year the smelter at Trail produced an outlet valued at over $14,000,000.00.

Although Vernon voted unanimously to enter the United Church the real Scotch ladies are still a bit clanny and have just organized the Scotch Daughters of Vernon, and are to have a Scotch dance as an opener to the season's activities.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physican, is wrongly condemned as a rebel against King James and is deported to Bridgetown in Barbadoes. There he is purchased as a slave by Colonel Bishop, military commander, at the behest of Arabella, the Colonel's niece. A Spanish galleon, the Cinco Llagas, under command of Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez, captures the city. While the Spaniards sack the city, Blood sends Mary and Arabella back to the city to safety. He leads his fellow rebels-convict on board the ship and captures it. Colonel Bishop goes on board and Blood holds the military commander as hostage while the ship puts out of port and sends Bishop over the gangplank. Don Diego, taken prisoner, is told by Blood to sail the ship to Curacao, a Dutch settlement, in return for his liberty. Jeremy Pitt, who had studied navigation, suspects Don Diego is betraying them.

He rose, relinquishing the Spaniard to his men. "Make him fast," he bade them. "Truss him, wrist and heel, but don't hurt him—not so much as a hair of his precious head."

Captain Blood regarded him steadily out of a face which, if impassive, had paled under its deep tan. About the prisoner, clamant, infuriated, ferocious, the rebels-convict surged, almost literally athirst for his blood.

"Wait," Captain Blood imperiously commanded and turning on his heel, he went aside to the rail. As he stood there deep in thought, he was joined by Hagthorpe, Wolverstone, and Ogle the gunner. In silence they stared with him across the water at that other ship.

"In less than half-an-hour," said Blood presently, "we shall have her athwart our hawse, sweeping our decks with her guns."

"We can fight," said the one-eyed giant with an oath.

"Fight!" sneered Blood. "Undermanned as we are, mustering a bare twenty men, in what case are we to fight? No, there would be only one way. To persuade her that all is well aboard, that we are Spaniards, so that she may leave us to continue on our course."

Ogle, with a bent for sarcasm, interposed a suggestion bitterly.

"We might send Don Diego de Espinosa in a boat manned by his Spaniards to assure his brother, the Admiral, that we are all loyal subjects of his Catholic Majesty."

"Bedad! ye've said it. He doesn't fear death, this damned pirate; but his son may take a different view. Filial piety's mighty strong in Spain!" He swung on his heel abruptly, and strode back to the knot of men about his prisoner. "Here!" he shouted to them. "Bring him below."

In the ward-room the three stern chasers were in position, loaded, their muzzles thrusting through the open ports, precisely as the Spanish gunners had left them.

"Here, Ogle, is work for you," said Blood, and as the burly gunner came thrusting forward through the throng of gaping men, Blood pointed to the middle chaser: "Have the gun hauled back," he ordered.

When this was done, Blood beckoned those who held Don Diego.

"Lash him across the mouth of it," he bade them, and whilst, assisted by another two, they made haste to obey, he turned to the others. "To the roundhouse, some of you, and fetch the Spanish prisoners. And you, Dyke, go up and bid them set the flag of Spain aloft."

Don Diego, with his body stretched in an arc across the cannon's mouth, legs and arms lashed to the carriage on either side of it, eyeballs rolling in his head, glared maniacally at Captain Blood. A man may not fear to die, and yet be appalled by the form in which death comes to him.

Captain Blood vouchsafed him a malignant smile, before he turned to meet the fifteen manacled Spanish prisoners. From amongst them a comely, olive-skinned stripling, distinguished in bearing an apparel from his companions, started forward with an anguished cry of "Father!"

Writhing in the arms that made haste to seize and hold him, he called upon heaven and hell to avert this horror, and lastly, addressed to Captain Blood an appeal for mercy that was at once fierce and piteous.

Recovering the cynicism in which he had approached his task, the cynicism essential to its proper performance, Blood commanded Ogle to kindle a match and remove the leaden apron from the touch-hole of the gun that bore Don Diego. Then, as the younger Espinosa broke into intercessions mingled with imprecations, he wheeled upon him sharply.

"Peace!" he snapped. "It is your father's treachery that has brought us into this plight and deliberately into risk of capture and death aboard that ship of Spain. Just as your father recognized his brother's flagship, so will his brother have recognized the Cinco Llagas. So far, then, all is well. But presently the Encarnacion will be sufficiently close to perceive that here all is not as it should be. Sooner or later, she must guess or discover what is wrong, and then she will open fire or lay us board and board. Understand this clearly; to the first shot from the Encarnacion this gun will fire the answer. I make myself clear, I hope?"

"But, name of God, how should it be clear," young Espinosa cried. "Can you avert the fight? If you know a way, and if I, or these, can help you to it in Heaven's name let me hear it."

"A fight would be averted if Don Diego de Espinosa were to go aboard his brother's ship, and by his presence and assurances inform the Admiral that all is well with the Cinco Llagas. But Don Diego cannot go in person, because he has a slight touch of fever—shall we say? But you, his son, may convey all this and some other matters together with his homage to your uncle. You shall go in a boat manned by six of these Spanish prisoners, and I—a distinguished Spaniard delivered from captivity in Barbadoes by your recent raid—will accompany you to keep you in countenance. If I return alive, and without accident of any kind to hinder our free sailing hence, Don Diego shall have his life, as shall every one of you. But if there is the least misadventure, be it from treachery or ill-fortune—I care not which—the battle as I have had the honor to explain, will be opened on our side by this gun, and your father will be the first victim of the conflict."

Don Esteban gazed wildly a moment upon the shoulders of his father. But his father remained silent. Something like a sob escaped the boy.

"I . . . I accept," he answered at last, and swung to the Spaniards. "And you—you will accept too," he insisted passionately.

CHAPTER XII.

Don Pedro Sangre

The Cinco Llagas and the Encarnacion, after a proper exchange of signals, lay hove to within a quarter of a mile of each other, and across the intervening space of gently heaving, sunlit waters sped a boat from the former, manned by six Spanish seamen and bearing in her stern sheets Don Esteban de Espinosa and Captain Peter Blood.

She also bore two treasure-chests containing fifty thousand pieces of eight. Gold has at all times been considered the best of testimonies of good faith. Blood carried further a bulky package addressed to a grande of Spain, heavily sealed with the arms of Espinosa—another piece of evidence hastily manufactured in the cabin of the Cinco Llagas. Up the ladder went Don Esteban closely followed by Captain Blood. In the waist stood the Admiral himself to receive them, a handsome, self-sufficient man, very tall and stiff, a little older and greyer than Don Diego, whom he closely resembled. He was supported by four officers and a friar in the black and white habit of St. Dominic.

Don Miguel opened his arms to his nephew, whose lingering panic he mistook for pleasurable excitement.

"But where is my brother? Why has he not come, himself, to greet me?"

"My father is afflicted and denying himself that honor and pleasure. It is a little fever, the result of a slight wound taken in the recent raid upon Barbadoes, which resulted in this gentleman's happy deliverance."

"Nay, nephew, nay," Don Miguel protested with ironic repudiation. "I can have no knowledge of these things. I have the honor to represent upon the seas His Catholic Majesty, who is at peace with the King of England. Already you have told me more than it is good for me to know." But he winked into the twinkling eyes of Captain Blood. "But since Diego cannot come to me, why, I will go across to him."

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Letter from Mrs. Ayars Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights, my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. I never had such an easy confinement and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote you for one of your books. We have no druggist in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. I am a farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, who weighed nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. (She is as good as she can be.) Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it." Mrs. ARTHUR E. AYARS, Spring Valley, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system so that it may work in every respect as nature intends. All druggists sell this dependable medicine. Give it a trial. C

RHEUMATISM AND LUMBAGO ARE BANISHED BY

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

They Give New Vitality and more.

Some diseases give immunity from another attack; but rheumatism and lumbago (which is really muscular rheumatism) work just the other way. Every attack invites another.

There is scarcely any disease which physicians find more difficult to treat successfully than rheumatism. Long study, however, has shown that the seat of the disease is in the blood. By maintaining the quality of the blood, you are doing the best possible thing to prevent and combat rheumatism.

That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has proved successful in thousands of cases of rheumatism and lumbago. These pills enrich the blood and enable it to throw off the poisons of the disease. And so long as the blood is kept pure and rich, there need be no fear of a return of the trouble.

Mrs. Annie Wright, Woolchester, Alta., says:—"I was a sufferer from rheumatism for six years and most of that time my life was one of misery. I tried several doctors but never got more than temporary relief. The trouble seemed to affect my whole system. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and through these I found complete relief. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone suffering from this trouble."

Britain Generous To France

Will Take Annual Payments Irrespective of Dawes' Proceeds

John Bull is proclaimed a very generous fellow for the manner in which he has offered to treat France with reference to her debt.

The British note in brief declines to agree that France's payments should be dependent upon Germany's full payment of the Dawes' plan annuities; declares Great Britain is willing to accept fixed annual payments, irrespective of the Dawes proceeds with a further annual charge on the French share in those proceeds, and makes known that Great Britain will devote any surplus beyond the requirements of meeting her United States indebtedness to diminish the burdens upon her allies. The London Times, while approving the British offer, describes it as extraordinarily liberal; a splendid and onerous sacrifice by a people suffering from an immense decrease in their accumulated wealth, from unparalleled taxation and grevious unemployment.

Remarkable Story From Kenya

Native Chief Killed Leopard With His Bare Hands

From Kenya, where the Duke of York is hunting big game, comes a remarkable story of a native chief named Murigo, who fought and killed a leopard with his bare fists. He fired a shot which caused the leopard to drop and two of his followers rushed forward, but the bullet had only slightly grazed the head of the animal, which sprang upon the natives. Murigo was afraid to fire again lest he should wound his men. He seized the leopard by the throat, and, dragging it from the two prostrate natives, he killed it with his hands after a fierce struggle, in which he was severely mauled.

HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117½ Welland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and bruising myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

South Africa Looking Forward to Visit of Prince

The Prince of Wales' visit to South Africa at the end of April is being looked forward to with great eagerness. Every part of the Union wishes to give him a big welcome and is clamoring for inclusion in the itinerary; the Dutch being as eager as the English to know the arrangements in course of preparation. Engagements, however, are being made with the greatest care so as to ensure that the Prince is not subjected to the ceaseless round of social and sporting functions which somewhat detracted from the enjoyment of his visits elsewhere.

The Many-Purpose Oil.—Both in the house and stable there are scores of uses for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Use it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, the pains of rheumatism and sciatica, sore throat and chest. Horses are liable very largely to similar ailments and mishaps as afflict mankind, and are equally amenable to the healing influence of this fine old remedy which has made thousands of firm friends during the past fifty years.

In twenty-five years, according to estimates, the population of the United States will be 150,000,000.

Once More From Nova Scotia

Comes a Tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Joshua Smith, well-known ex-Postmaster, tells how Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved him.

Port Hood Islands, N.S.—(Special).—"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills two years ago. I had poor circulation in my legs and feet. I used to have hot water tanks at night to keep my feet warm. I was able to do without them after using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

I also had urinary trouble, but now I am quite well. My age is 80 years."

This statement is made by Mr. J. Smith of this place.

Dodd's Kidney Pills simply heal sick kidneys. They relieved Mr. Smith because his ailments were symptoms of kidney disease. When the kidneys get out of order they fail to strain the impurities out of the blood and general lassitude and weakness ensues. This condition is not only disagreeable but dangerous as well. The impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease. If they are not removed Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gravel, Dropsy, Diabetes, or Bright's Disease may result.

Success With Corn

By Jas. D. McGregor, Glencarnock Stock Farms, Brandon, Manitoba

Part II.

There are a number of different methods used in the harvesting of corn. If mature or nearly so it may be pastured with any class of livestock, but more commonly with pigs and this method is generally called hogging off. This type of mature corn may also be husked from the standing stalk and then allow the livestock in to clean up what is left. A simpler way to gather the grain is to cut with a mower and rake up, or with a binder and then thresh through an ordinary grain separator. This gives you the grain and the stalks are shredded and blown into a pile, which makes good rough feed. We have never tried this latter method of harvesting corn, but excellent results are reported from the Dakotas and Montana. The later maturing and larger stalked corns are generally cut with a binder and then either stooked in the field or put directly into a silo.

For the purpose of hogging off we always use an early maturing flint corn such as Gehu Yellow and North Dakota White. Early maturity is very important for the good value and dry matter increases with the maturity. The earlier corn also has the advantage of giving a longer feeding period.

The question as to the number of hogs an acre of corn will carry cannot be answered definitely. This will depend upon the length of time the crop is available, the weight of the hogs and the condition of the crop. We generally figure on getting the hogs on the corn the latter part of August or the first of September and have them stay until the snow comes. If it happens that an early snow comes and covers up the corn before the hogs have it cleaned up, whatever hogs are kept over will be right back at it as soon as the snow disappears in the spring. Ordinarily we figure on a feeding period of about 60 days.

Hogs of any weight may be used in hogging off corn, but best results are secured with hogs weighing from 70 to 125 pounds. With good mature corn a daily gain of from 1¼ to 1½ pounds can be expected.

With an average crop we figure that an acre of corn will supply sufficient feed for about five pigs of the above weights for a 60-day period, providing that good pasture is available while on corn. Hogs should have access to a pasture which is rich in protein and minerals which the corn lacks. Alfalfa, sweet clover and rape are good for this purpose.

Hogs clean up a corn field very thoroughly. They eat practically all of the ripe corn and a large part of the stalks. Whatever is left can be cleaned up by allowing the other stock into the field after the pigs are finished.

It is not at all necessary to confine the hogs on the corn by means of hog tight fences. Just give them a taste of corn and you will have no trouble with them breaking into the other grain fields.

A Remedy for Earache.—To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will do much in relieving pain.

Slave Trade Rife In Indian State

Figures Just Published Show Thirteen Thousand Slave Owners in Nepal

There are 514,419 slaves and 13,719 slave owners in Nepal. Publication of these figures came as a startling surprise to the majority of the British public who have been, generally, unaware of the existence of slavery in this Indian state which, although independent, is under the ægis of the British Empire.

The Maharajah, Sir Chandra Shumbere Jung, prime minister and de facto ruler of Nepal, who also holds the rank of general in the British army, has undertaken to suppress the evil. In a speech at the capital, Katmandu, in December, and only now reported in London, he appealed for assistance in this task from the people in general.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time Vicks acts as a counter-irritant, stimulating the skin, and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the inflammation.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

Lower Yield But Considerably Higher In Value

Canada's wheat crop for the year 1924 is finally estimated by the Dominion bureau of statistics at 262,097,000 bushels, valued at $320,362,000, as against a crop of 474,199,000 bushels in 1923, valued at $316,934,700. The three prairie provinces accounted for 235,694,000 bushels of the total production.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, APR. 24

Save the Forest Week

By royal proclamation this has been proclaimed "Save the Forest Week," and by most every conceivable publicity method all citizens on the North American continent are adjured to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest an immense amount of information dealing with the importance of forest protection from fire.

Amongst the many suggestions handed out one that needs special emphasis is couched in the following terms: "That at this time of year, when thousands are looking forward to spending their summer vacations in the woods, all should take cognizance of the fact that the camp-fire, which is one of the most pleasant and valuable adjuncts of camp life, may, if neglected, easily result in disaster; and that to prevent repetition of such losses as have been annually sustained from this cause, all persons should familiarize themselves with the proper methods of building, using and extinguishing such fires."

Doing Good Work

Not in at least ten years has there been such a unanimous expression of opinion from Kuskanook to Kitchener of the excellent service given by the road superintendent in providing so early and so well the splendid travelling that has obtained on Valley highways this spring.

Full credit for this belongs to A. E. Davies, the new general foreman, who has eliminated the invariable complaints of slowness in getting at the work, as well as growls as to sectional favoritism, by having the work done at all points almost simultaneously.

Mr. Davies has shown commendable enterprise in his spring operations, and it is confidently predicted that the good work will be repeated throughout the season whenever the travelling can be improved by grader work, or other prompt attention.

Gratifying, too, are the comments heard following last week's announcement as to the Crawford Hill diversion, more than one resident at Canyon and Erickson asserting that they would cheerfully stand for some lack of attention in those sections in order to have the Crawford hill eliminated.

Just what the new work means to the farmer hauling loads to and from town is best expressed by one interested grower who states that with the diversion he will be able to haul 100 boxes of apples each trip, whereas in the past 50 boxes was about all his team could handle.

Splendid Entertainment

In the way of entertainment 1925 promises to be a banner year at Creston. Advance notices indicate that this year's Chautauqua, which opens for the usual six day run on May 27th, is going to be away ahead of any of its predecessors, the quality of the entertainment being foreshadowed in the preliminary announcement that we are to again have the Calgary Kiddies for opening night, and that a talented company will present the tuneful and really humorous musical comedy, "The Mikado."

As usual the season tickets will be at the same popular prices and a generous buying of these is asked so that those underwriting Chautauqua's appearance here will be in the humor to book it on again for 1926.

In the way of motion pictures Manager Rodgers has advance bookings of an unusually fine lot of films, amongst them being a return visit on May 9th of Mary Pickford in one of her masterpieces, "Tess of the Storm Country," whilst on the 15th and 16th of May Creston will have opportunity to witness the "Birth of a Nation," which well deserves the reputation of being the biggest picture ever filmed.

Still another big screen favorite is to be here on June 12th and 13th, when the lovers of romance will witness a two day run of "Robin Hood," with Douglas Fairbanks starring. And on July 3rd and 4th there will be a presentation of the big comedy hit, "Charlie's Aunt."

In the well balanced life entertainment has always been conceded a place, and Creston is certainly fortunate in the quality in evidence on the 1925 amusement menu.

Canyon City

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson of Nelson were Canyon visitors for Easter week, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Knott.

The Ladies' Community Club are entertaining tonight at the schoolhouse at a whist and dance, with an admission fee of 50 cents.

After spending a couple of weeks at his home here Mr. Wetherhead left at the end of the week for Yahk, to look after the getting out of the the winter cut of logs and ties.

Mrs. Wearmouth spent Easter week with her daughter, Mrs. Waldie, at Fernie, returning on Tuesday.

Mr. Blair is back from the Reclamation farm this week, looking after spring work on the ranch at Canyon.

Jas. Cherrington of Creston was a Sunday visitor here, making the trip to Lister and Canyon with Rev. G. Knox. He had not seen Canyon in fifteen years, and certainly was startled at the development in all directions in that time.

Miss Frances Knott and her guest Miss Hogan, left on Sunday to resume school teaching work at Skookumchuk and Wasa respectively.

A. D. Pochin got back on Tuesday from a trip to England, on which he left Canyon about two months ago. He certainly looks as if the holiday agreed with him, and also reports a most enjoyable visit at the old home.

Local and Personal

S. A. Speers has kindly given the library permanent quarters in the hardware side of his store, and members will be able to change their books in future on Tuesday afternoons as well as Saturday from 3 to 5. As the Women's Institute donated a sufficient amount to pay for the necessary new shelving, the librarian will be enabled to send to Victoria for a change of books immediately, there being sufficient funds now on hand to pay the freight and cartage, and yet leave a small balance for insurance, etc.

At a special meeting of the village commissioners on Tuesday night it was decided to at once purchase a fire engine of the chemical type and an order has been placed with the National Chemical Company, of Edmonton, Alberta, for a machine of 40 gallons capacity. This apparatus is speedy and efficient. As soon as the shafts of the carriage are dropped to the ground and a couple of levers pulled the chemical substance is going through the nozzle onto the flames. What is now required is a volunteer fire brigade and the commissioners are to call a meeting in a few days to organize a squad of fire fighters.

Everything passed off harmoniously at the annual meeting of Creston Co-Operative Fruit Exchange, which was held in Speers' Hall on Friday night, with the president, R. J. Long, occupying the chair. A very satisfactory balance sheet was presented by J. W. Hamilton, which was adopted after a brief discussion. The election of officers sees three new men on the directorate, Jas. Adlard, Jas. Compton and E. W. Klingensmith replacing Messrs. Harrison, L. Leveque and P. Mann, with J. M. Craigie, R. J. Long, W. W. Hall and G. E. Van Ackeran completing the board, and the three latter chosen, president, vice president and secretary respectively. Mr. Barrat of Kelowna, a director of the Associated Growers, discussed the 1924 marketing situation, and Manager Vance of the Creston Exchange, also discussed the local marketing problems of the past year

NEWS OF KOOTENAYS

150 motor licenses were taken out at Fernie up till the end of March.

Penticton Co-Operative Association paid its shareholders $1400 in dividends on 1924 operations.

800 autos and motor trucks are now running in the Cranbrook district, representing thirteen different makes. 200 license plates were issued on April 1st.

For 1924 the lead production at Trail smelter increased 60 per cent., and the zinc output 50 per cent. The capacity of the silver and gold refinery was doubled.

From all sources Revelstoke expects to gather in about $150,222.10 this year, and of this amount about $48,000 will be required to finance the schools of the town.

The Kaslo public library is now open and Cranbrook will have its libra y going very shortly.

Tomato growers in the Okanagan will receive as high as $19 a ton for canning tomatoes this year with the minimum size of 1¾ inches at this price.

Rev. D. F. Cowie, one of the Kaslo clergy, was given a kitchen shower by some of the ladies of his congregation one day last week. He is to be married this month.

At the annual shareholders meeting of the Trail smelter the balance sheet shower that the nett profits on 1924 operations were double the earnings of the year previous.

Although Penticton voted into union by a very respectable majority those opposed to the United Church are going to carry on the continuing Presbyterian Church if at all possible.

This spring Cranbrook is burning more light and less gas. For March the electric light department has a gain in consuption of 20,000 k.w.h. as compared with the same month in 1924.

The silver fox farm at Cranbrook is to double its capacity this year.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Let Us Think Nationally

Can the people of Canada be taught to think nationally, and act as a national unit, instead of regarding themselves as citizens of nine separate and distinct Provinces concerned chiefly with the solution of their own problems and urging their own policies and more or less indifferent to the effect on the rest of the Dominion?

The people of Great Britain have long thought in terms of the Empire, even of the world, rather than of their own tight little isle, and in the several States of the United States, despite their insistence that State rights be respected, the people think and act as citizens of the Union rather than of the individual States. Perhaps because we are yet very young as a confederation, and also because as a people we are so few in number scattered over a narrow strip thousands of miles long across a continent, Canadians have not so generally adopted the attitude of thinking and acting nationally.

What, for example, does the average resident on these Western prairies know or care about the vital problems confronting the people of the Maritime Provinces? Would the West be willing to forego the adoption of a policy which would mean a large measure of development and prosperity for it, if at the same time it meant adversity and loss to the Maritime Provinces? And would not the manufacturers and workmen of Ontario and Quebec hail with joy the adoption of any policy which meant millions to them even though it might spell disaster for these Western Provinces?

Canadian farmers are generally supposed to favor lower Customs tariffs and to regard the policy of protection as inimicable to the best interests of the Dominion as a whole. Nevertheless, a few days ago a representative convention of Quebec farmers demanded the placing of duties on certain products in order to protect themselves regardless of the effect on the great body of Canadian consumers. At the same time they declared in favor of an export duty on pulpwood in order to force manufacture in Quebec and thus create a larger home market for themselves, and flatly rejected an appeal made to them that the adoption of such a policy would mean hardship and ruin for countless farmers in other Provinces who were dependent on the export market for their pulpwood.

In like manner the British Columbia fruit growers demand tariff protection in order to keep United States fruits out of the Prairie markets. Niagara fruit and vegetable growers take the same attitude, and seemingly do not care one jot if, as a result of benefit to themselves, all Canadian buyers of fruit and early vegetables must suffer.

And the Western wheat grower, would he modify his demand for free agricultural implements if it was proven conclusively that such a policy would mean ruin for the Canadian implement industry?

These questions are asked wholly with the object of leading Canadians to think for a moment on their own attitude to their common country. Admittedly all sections have made sacrifices in the past in order that the whole might benefit, but has it not been done almost under compulsion and most unwillingly and grudgingly, and through no really patriotic desire to advance Canada and build up and develop a really strong and great country?

Canadians of all classes and in all parts of the Dominion were willing to sacrifice for Canada in time of war. Is it not possible to so imbue our people with love for Canada that they will voluntarily display the same spirit for Canada in time of peace?

Unquestionably there is great need for unity of thought and action, national unity, in this Dominion today. Never was the need more manifest or quite so pressing, but, unfortunately, instead of the lines of cleavage and division gradually disappearing, they are becoming wider and more accentuated. At a time when the old racial and religious feelings and bitterness is being dispelled, here in Canada we seem to be replacing it with geographical and economic differences which are apt, unless quickly checked, to retard future development just as effectively as did those old and foolish quarrels.

Canada is a big country in every way. It is big in territory, big in the wealth of its natural resources, big in its possibilities, yea, big in its manhood and womanhood. But in its national conception it is small. Its people lack vision and broadmindedness in some of those things which are essential to national greatness.

Individually, the citizens of Canada should strive to cultivate the habit of thinking nationally. Once they establish that habit, constructive policies and actions on national lines will automatically and quickly follow.

Earl of Oxford and Asquith

Herbert Asquith Has Decided On His New Title

Herbert Asquith, recently raised to the peerage, has decided to assume the title of Earl of Oxford and Asquith. Letters patent under the Great Seal will be issued shortly, conferring on the Liberal leader that title, which is a compound, or dual one, not rare in nomenclature of British nobility.

The title is an entirely new one and in no way an extension of the old title, Earl of Oxford. He will use both titles in his signature.

Manitoba Government to Aid Farmers

Encouragement of co-operative marketing organizations, survey of the natural resources of the province, and scientific study of the wheat rust problem, were forecast by the Lieut.-Governor in his speech from the throne at the opening of the Manitoba Legislature recently.

Miller's Worm Powders will purge the stomach and intestines of worms so effectively and so easily and painlessly that the most delicate stomach will not feel any inconvenience from their action. They recommend themselves to mothers as a preparation that will restore strength and vigor to their children and protect them from the debilitating effects which result from the depredations of worms.

Elimination Of Rust Menace Very Important

Dr. J. H. Grisdale Places Loss Last Year At $50,000,000

Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, states that the most important work being undertaken in Canada is rust research. Last year the farmers of the west had lost $50,000,000 from the rust menace, and he said a systematic research into the whole question was now planned with the hope of ultimately discovering a wheat immune to rust, and which at the same time contains the desired milling proportion, in addition to being able to be harvested efficiently.

Expects France To Pay

U.S. President Replies to Statement of French Ambassador

Responding to a statement by the new French ambassador to the United States, Emile Daeschner, that the "material debts" of nations as well as their debts of gratitude must be paid, President Coolidge declared that the United States already had discharged the debt of gratitude she owed France as a result of French aid in the American revolution. Referring to the United States participation in the great war, the president added that thus had the debt of gratitude been paid and "both governments should experience deep satisfaction in their solicitude that material debts shall also be discharged."

A HAPPY CHILDHOOD IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

Little children quickly get out of sorts but by prompt treatment they can just as quickly be set right again. Most of their troubles arise in the first place from the stomach and bowels; that is why a good clearing out is the first thing the doctor prescribes. Mothers, why not let Baby's Own Tablets keep your children well. Unlike that ill-smelling, rank-tasting castor oil so dreaded by most children, the Tablets are pleasant to take and their action, though thorough, is gentle and causes no discomfort to either the baby or the growing child. Baby's Own Tablets are a never failing remedy for relieving constipation and indigestion; thus they break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms and make the teething period painless. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Camera And Radio Are Of Great Assistance To Work Of Making Surveys In Canada

The radio, the camera and the aeroplane have revolutionized surveying in Canada, according to Fred. V. Seibert, of the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior, before the Camera Club of Chicago recently. For a number of years the camera has been used extensively on Dominion land surveys in mapping out the rugged and in some cases inaccessible portions of the Rocky Mountains, securing a mass of detail correct in every respect that could be secured in no other way. Since the war the aeroplane has been instrumental in extending the camera's use for mapping purposes into the unexplored regions of the north. Within the last two years many lakes upon whose shores the foot of white man has never trod have been accurately mapped from the air with the aid of the camera.

The radio is being used extensively at the outposts of civilization and in the unexplored regions as far north as the Arctic in securing time signals for the purpose of determining longitude. Longitude determinations under the old system were very difficult and lacking in accuracy in regions not served by the wire telegraph system. They are now a simple operation, due entirely to the development of the radio.

The Dominion land surveyor has been a pioneer in putting the radio to practical use. Years ago, before the city resident was receiving his evening concerts and stock reports from the air, surveyors were receiving time signals on the shores of the Mackenzie River and the Arctic coast from high-powered stations to the south.

Occasionally he took time to decipher the news dispatches, getting news of the last prize fight, ball games or what someone had to say about the League of Nations before the man on the street in civilization even read it in the newspaper or saw it on the bulletin boards.

Last summer, Mr. Blanchet, D.L.S., of the Canadian topographical surveys, when working on Great Slave Lake, and finding it impossible to land, erected an aerial between two paddles held up at the ends of his sixteen-foot canoe. From this he received the midday time signal from Annapolis, Maryland, and so checked the error of his chronometer.

Although the time of transmission of electric signals on telegraph lines is of the order of 10,000 miles per second, the speed of wireless signals is very materially greater, so that for ordinary distances the time is a negligible quantity, 186,000 miles per second.

Stations from which signals have been received on exploratory surveys in the north are Annapolis, Balboa (Panama), San Diego, San Francisco, Honolulu, Corito (Philippine Islands), while the head office at Ottawa recorded daily Bordeaux (France), Annapolis, San Diego and San Francisco. By intercomparison of the same signals in the north and at Ottawa, with their respective clock corrections, the longitude of the different points in the north are obtained, which, it may be stated, are materially different from those shown on the maps before the observation.

Neutralizing Cream For Buttermaking

Churning Pasteurized Cream Causes Loss of Butterfat

Dairy scientists have demonstrated the fact that the churning of pasteurized cream causes loss of butterfat and gives a poor quality of butter unless the cream has been neutralized in the process of curing. When butter is made from unpasteurized cream, neutralization is unnecessary. Mr. W. F. Jones, chief of the division of dairy manufactures, dairy and cold storage branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, has prepared a pamphlet on this subject, designated Pamphlet No. 52, New Series.

The process of neutralization is not one that can be carelessly carried out, as it requires an intelligent observance of the details of testing cream for acidity, preparation of neutralizing solution and its application, determination of the required amount, and the temperature of the cream when adding the neutralizer.

Four neutralizing agents are recognized and their preparation and application described. These are quick lime, hydrated lime, sodium bicarbonate (baking soda), and a commercial product known as wyandotte.

This pamphlet, which is available at at publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, will be found particularly useful to creamery butter-makers.

Vegetable Cultivation in the West

Information Regarding Cultivation Of Thirty Different Varieties

Mr. W. C. McKillican, superintendent of the Brandon, Man., experimental farm, who recently gave us through the department of agriculture at Ottawa, a bulletin on "Experiments with Wheat," covering a period of over thirty years, has now, in conjunction with Mr. J. H. Cooper, head gardener at Brandon, produced a bulletin, No. 43, on "The Prairie Farmer's Vegetable Garden." This publication is equally as comprehensive as the other and contains a vast deal of information regarding the cultivation of some thirty different vegetables, including all the commoner kinds that supply every man and woman's table. These are divided into five classes, vegetables grown from root or tuber, such as potatoes, beets, carrots, and so on, vegetables grown for the steam, asparagus, rhubarb, etc., vegetables grown for leaf or blossom, cabbage, cauliflower, etc., vegetables grown for seed or pod, pea, bean, etc., and vegetables grown for fleshy fruit, cucumber, tomato, etc. Information as to soil, location and general cultivation is given relative to each of the thirty.

Extend Farmers' Organization

Suggestion Made That Agriculturists Throughout Dominion Should Merge Into One Solid Body

At the concluding session of the United Farmers' of Quebec convention at Montreal, J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, suggested it is high time agriculturists throughout the Dominion take advantage of their provincial organizations to merge into one solid body representative of Canada from coast to coast.

Farmers, he said, were habitual back benchers, but there was no reason why they should be. They alone held the wealth of their industry, yet they employed middlemen for marketing purposes. Co-operative selling should be instituted, and the lack of that phase of organization had harmed the industry as a whole.

J. W. Ward, of Winnipeg, secretary of the Canadian council of agriculture, also emphasized the necessity for pushing co-operative effort to the limit. He announced that, at the next meeting of the council, to be held in Toronto on March 2, the matter would be debated by delegates from Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Corn In Saskatchewan

Says That Corn Acreage in Province Will Soon Be Doubled

Predicting the corn acreage in Saskatchewan would soon be doubled, P. P. Hoffman, president of the Saskatchewan Corn Growers' Association, at the Saskatchewan Dairy Association convention at Prince Albert, urged all dairy farmers to grow corn. The acreage of 80,000 last year was the largest planted in the history of the province.

Mr. Hoffman said there was a scarcity of northern grown seed this year. Maple Creek could not begin to fill the demand for 1925. He stated that without corn fodder he would have had to move out of the Maple Creek district. He had produced more dry fodder from ten acres of corn than from 100 acres of oats.

The ship provides first-class comforts and conveniences for the third-class price. She has 250 cabins, accommodating two, four and six persons each, with saloon, smoking room, library, reading room, two large dining rooms, barber shop and baths. She is a motor-propelled ship with a speed of 15 knots.

Butter Exports

United Kingdom Is Canada's Best Customer According to Figures

In the calendar year 1924 Canada exported 22,343,939 pounds of butter, worth $8,000,512, as compared with 13,173,711 pounds, worth $4,905,608 in 1923 an increase of 9,170,228 pounds in volume and $3,094,904 in value. The heaviest purchaser of Canadian butter was the United Kingdom, which took 649,844 pounds, valued at $234,332, followed by the United States, which imported 482,613 pounds, worth $211,711. The third heaviest purchaser was Germany, which took 459,648 pounds, valued at $166,675.

Attention Is Directed To The Appalling Waste In The Manufacture Of Lumber

At the recent meeting of the Canadian Society of Forest Engineers a matter of supreme importance to Canadian industry was discussed, that of waste in lumber manufacture. Mr. W. Kynoch, superintendent of the forest products laboratories of the department of the interior, brought up the subject, and made the statement that the waste involved in the use and manufacture of forest products is tremendous. Waste in production of lumber, in cutting or making various wood goods, and waste through decay were some of the chief items of wood waste emphasized.

In a report by R. D. Craig, on the forests of British Columbia, the writer deals with the waste of forest products as follows:

"The waste in the manufacture of lumber in this province is appalling to one accustomed to more conservative methods. Huge slabs of absolutely clear wood, 3 to 6 inches thick, are sent to the fuel pile, and ends of boards and timbers which could well be used for some purpose are sent to the refuse burner. The burner is the most conspicuous thing about a British Columbia sawmill. The fire never goes out, and it furnishes a pillar of fire by night and a cloud of smoke by day. Heavy saws are necessary to "break down" the large logs, but it is not unusual to see one-inch lumber being cut with a saw that takes out a ⅜ inch to ½ inch kerf (cut). It is estimated that at least 25 per cent. of the tree is left in the woods, and another 30 to 35 per cent. is wasted in the mill."

Calling attention to wood waste in manufacture, where the consumption of wood is under control is of first importance. Losses by forest fires, by insect and fungus destruction, by wind-throwing, and other causes are already heavy, and more or less beyond control, but when the lumbermen and millmen undertake to convert the tree into lumber it should be done with the minimum of waste.

Canadian Empire Builder Gone

Forty Years Actively Engaged In Colonization Work

Few men in Canada have been more actively associated with immigration and colonization in the Dominion in the past 40 years than W. D. Scott, formerly federal assistant deputy minister of immigration and colonization, who died in Ottawa on January 27. He was in his 64th year.

Mr. Scott, who was born in Dundas, Ontario, joined the Canadian Pacific Railway as a land agent in Winnipeg in 1881, and sold the first section of C.P.R. land in that year, when the railway ran only as far as Portage la Prairie. Later he was engaged in colonization work with the Canadian Federal Government department of interior and the Manitoba Government. From 1899 to 1903 he was Canadian exhibition commissioner in Paris, Glasgow, London, Wolverhampton and Cork. On his return to Canada in 1903 he was appointed federal superintendent of immigration. In 1919 he was made assistant edeputy minister. He retired on June 30, 1924, owing to poor health.

During the 43 years he was connected with immigration work over 5,100,000 new settlers came to Canada from various countries.

Citrus Fruits and Milk

Lemon or Orange Juice Renders Milk More Digestible

There is a popular misconception in many minds about the acid quality of the citrus fruits, especially when they are given to children taking a large quantity of milk in the diet. An article published in the May 17 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association under the title, "The Value of Milk Acidified with Lemon Juice," states "Lemon juice or orange juice can be added directly to cow's milk without bringing about curdling. In this way cow's milk is rendered more digestible.

Corn Silage

Corn and Sunflower Silage Very Similar in Value for Growing Stock

A test conducted on the Indian Head, Sask., experimental farm of sunflower versus corn silage for heifers showed a trifle in favor of corn, but the superintendent remarks that although the corn silage lot were more thrifty and sleek in appearance, the indications are that the two silages are very similar in value for growing heifers. Both were readily eaten and excellent in quality, the corn being in the late dough stage when cut and the sunflowers about one-half in bloom, the latter being also wilted for two days before being placed in the silo, so that there would be no excess of moisture present.

Australia is slightly larger than the United States in size and has a population of five and one-half millions.

Too Much Sectionalism

The East Trying to Enforce Their Ideas on the West

The press of Montreal deplores sectionalism in Canada, and we have been trying to explain to them that it is their own sectionalism they are trying to enforce on the dominion, although they call it a national policy.

When they say that the west should be reasonable, their idea is, according to the Manitoba Free Press, that the west should recant its views, withdraw its demands, and admit that preponderant eastern opinion upon all points in dispute is right. It adds: "Just let Montreal 'run' Canada without question and 'sectionalism' will cease. We shall then be a 'united' country."

That pretty well sizes up the Montreal view as put firward by the Gazette and Star of that city.—Toronto Star.

Due to the early date set for the 1925 B.C. conference the local Methodist Ladies' Aid are having their annual meeting a week ahead of time this year, the annual session being called for Thursday next. Mrs. Fralick is the retiring president.

H. Robinson of Vernon, an official of the federal Soldier Settlement Board, was here a few days at the end of the week, making an inspection for winter injury of the dozen ranches in the Valley that have been acquired through loans from the S.S.B.

Posters are up for a meeting of all fruit growers in Creston Valley which will be held at 8 p.m. in Speers' Hall on Monday, April 27th, to which all ranchers are invited. Some outside speakers will be here to discuss the 1925 fruit marketing situation.

Creston will open the baseball season on Sunday afternoon, April 26th, when the local nine will play an exhibition game with Yahk, the contest to start at 2.30 prompt. Both teams have been doing considerable practising and a very close contest may be looked for.

The baseball talent is showing remarkably fine form for so early in the season, two picked nines going seven innings on Sunday afternoon to a 5-8 victory to the aggregation comprising the senior infield. The opening game of the season is on Sunday, at 2.30, with Yahk.

There was a very large turnout of young people at the whist and dance under Christ Church auspices at the Parish Hall on Friday night, with the prize scores at cards being made by Edith Wilson and John Murrell. After a sumptuous lunch the crowd enjoyed itself at dancing for a couple of hours with Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Garland and Miss Jeanne Hall presiding at the piano. The cash intake at the affair was just over $35.

Quite an important property sale was completed this week when Mrs G. M. Benney disposed of five acres of the ranch, including the house, to Gus Villeneuve of Coleman, Alberta, is to get possession almost immediately. Mrs. Benney, who has been residing at Nelson for the past few months, contemplates again making Creston her home, and will probably build a small residence in town this summer.

The meeting to discuss organizing a recreation club to take on lawn bowling and tennis called for last Saturday afternoon was rather slimly attended, but those who wish to encourage this line can do so by putting their names to lists that are at the drugstore, Speers', Fraser's bakery, both banks and the Review. If a sufficient list of signatures is obtained organization will be proceeded with.

As will be seen by official announcement elsewhere in this issue Wednesday next, 29th April, has been declared clean up day for the village of Creston. All residents are to give their yards and premises a thorough clean up, burn everthing that will burn, and all other rubbish, cans, etc., if put in boxes, barrels or other containers and placed conveniently for hauling away will be removed to the dump free of charge by the village teamster.

D. D. Townsend, manager of the Nelson branch of the Curlew creamery paid his return visit to Creston Valley at the end of the we k and made quite a thorough canvass of the dairy cow owners with a view to signing up a cream tonnage that would warrant putting in a cream receiving station at Creston. He will confer with Mr. Carter, the general superintendent of Curlew operations, and an announcement in this connection will be made shortly.

Rev. Mr. Douglas of Vancouver spoke in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday night, his address having to do with the prospective work of the church after union is consummated on June 10th. A big Presbyterian rally is to be held in Toronto at the middle of June at which plans will be laid for continuing the church, to which gathering each congregation that proposes to operate outside of the United Church will send two representatives.

A. E. Lindley of the B.C. Fruit Company, Lethbridge, Alta., was here on a business visit at the end of the week, and states that his firm is making arrangements to handle an increased vegetable tonnage from Valley points. He is hoping for an increased output of tomatoes, claiming that the trade can handle ten of these for every crate of cucumbers sold, with the exception of picklers, which are in strong demand after the first of September.
