MARY PICKFORD in "THE HEAD OF THE STORM COUNTRY"

Sirdar

Motor tourists are going through most every day now—either east or westbound.

The C.P.R. is again giving an all-boat trip through to Nelson, the Nasooking going back on the Nelson Landing run on Sunday. Her last trip in to Nelson was at the end of December.

Rev. H. Varley was here from Creston for two Church of England services on Sunday morning, both of which were well attended.

The December blizzard has done very little damage in this section judging by the big show of bloom in all the Sirdar oachards.

Yardmaster Loasby left on Monday on a trip to Calgary, and will be away for most of the week. He made his first auto trip to Creston that day, going that far in the Chevrolet.

Miss Eileen Heap was a weekend visitor with Cranbrook friends, returning on Monday.

Mrs. Roy Proctor went to Cranbrook on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goodman.

Mrs. G. S. Moore and children of Cranbrook are visitors here this week with Mrs. Loasby, arriving on Monday.

Mrs. Geo. Cam was a between trains visitor at Creston on Thursday.

Jack Cameron of Cranbrook was a visitor here on Monday, coming up by train and leaving next day for home in his Chevrolet, which he had left here on moving to the divisional city.

With the destruction of the tug Hosmer by fire at Procter on Saturday night the movement of freight barges is going to be slow for a time. The only craft to replace her is the Ymir and it can only handle one barge at a time.

All the early vegetables are now available at the Jones Jansen ranch from the outdoor garden. Fresh radishes have been in use since the 21st of April. The orchards in that section never looked better than they do this spring.

Miss Chadwick, who has been on a two weeks' holiday with friends, at Nelson, Cranbrook, and Michel, returned on Thursday last accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Andrews of Nelson, who spent several days with friends, leaving for home on Monday.

Sirdarites who have occasion to use the roads compliment the superintendent, Mr. Davies, on the great shape he has the travelling in this spring. If given the same careful attention all year, a few more turnouts built and "Go Slow" signs put up at the dangerous curves complaints about the highways will be a thing of the past.

Robt. Moore Loses Hand

Clark Moore and Lorne Botterill made a record motor drive from Dover, Idaho, on Thursday afternoon and evening in order to take Mrs. Hugh Taylor to Dover to be with her son, Robert Moore, who had the misfortune to lose his right hand whilst operating a planer at the sawmill in that town. So great was the loss of blood that his life was despaired of for a time but latest reports are to the effect that he is now doing as well as could be expected. The mishap will be regretted by many friends here, "Bob" being very popular with all who knew him.

'Birth of a Nation' Film May 15-16

The new theatric art invented by David W. Griffith in producing "The Birth of a Nation," coming to the Grand Theatre for two nights, Friday and Saturday, May 15th and 16th, has enabled him to surpass by far any stage spectacle. "Ben Hur" and "The Blue Bird" were supposed to be the high water mark of such production. They sink into insignificance beside this epic of American history with its 5000 scenes, 18,000 characters, 3000 riders and 200,000 details, the result of eight months of tireless labor and the expenditure of half a million dollars.

The war plays of the stage, such as "Shenandoah," "Held by the Enemy" and "Barbara Fritchie" seem tame after seeing the splendors of "The Birth of a Nation." In the Griffith spectacle the scenes of sheer beauty and strength are of Homeric grandeur, the night riding of the Ku Klux Klan looks like a company of avenging spectres sweeping along the moonlit roads. There is a pictorial punch in every scene.

This realistic picture of history in the making is of untold value to both old and young. Besides the historical worth of this great spectacle, the constant emotional throb of the romantic story thrills the hearts of all. It is the supreme achievement of modern histrionism in its new guise untrammelled by the limitations of the theatre.

Alice Siding

A small party of Alice Sidingites made up the first picnic party to visit Kuskanook this year, making the trip on Sunday

A. A. J. Collis was at Cranbrook on a professional visit over the week end, presiding at the organ in the Presbyterian Church in that town on Sunday.

Steve Vaness, who has been a visitor here for almost the past two months, returned to his home in Vancouver on Wednesday.

The Sunday school scholars and some of the mothers were entertained in hospital fashion on Saturday afternoon last at the Todd home by the superintendent, Mrs. Martin.

Will Vaness left at the first of the week for Butte, Montana, where he expects to strike a steady job.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne and family are this week moving from the Midford ranch to occupy the house on the Quist place just vacated by thd Woolverton's.

Alice Siding was invad d on Thursday afternoon last by a couple of dozen members of the Methodist Ladies' Aid, which hae its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. T. Dickson that day. On Tuesday afternoon the Church of England Ladies' Guild were guests of Mrs. R. Stewart for their regular May meeting.

Canyon City

Guy Browell left at the end of the week for Nelson, where he has taken a position in a garage, and will remain for at least the next six months.

Public school inspector Manning was here on an official visit last week, and found everything running satisfactorily at the local seat of learning.

Alf. Speaker has disposed of his Ford car, Bush brothers at Creston making the purchase last week.

Manfred Samuelson is at Cranbrook this week, attending the quarterly meeting of the East Kootenay district of the Methodist Church, and will also be the delegate to conference at the coast.

Three auto loads from Creston and Mesdames Stephens, Millington and Niblow of Lister were here on Friday night for the annual meeting of the churches comprising the Methodist circuit, the Canyon ladies serving refreshments at the close.

A Mr. Staples of Red Deer, Alberta, is a visitor at the Vance home this week, and we hear he is leasing the Wetherhead ranch.

The Jim Johnston sawmill finished the season's cut on Saturday afternoon, and the plant will be moved to another point for future operations. The winter's cut included about 17,000 ties and at least a quarter million feet of lumber.

Local and Personal

BIRTHS—At Creston, on May 6th, to Mr. and Mrs. John Ryckman, a daughter. On May 7hh, to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Watson, a son.

The men are reminded of the meeting on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Speers' Hall, at which it is hoped to organize a fire brigade for the village.

Pastor Knox will be absent on Sunday and the managers announce that night they will have what is termed a pleasant Sunday evening, music being a very prominent feature of the service

The Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church are having a cafeteria tea and sale of home cooking at the home of Mrs. Henderson on the afternoon of Saturday, May 23rd, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

G. M. Argue was a motor visitor to Cranbrook at the middle of the week, getting back on Friday. For so early in the year the roads between Creston and Goatfell are in the best shape ever.

Misses Selma and Anna Anderson left on Monday for Vancouver, where they are expecting to take positions. The former has been in charge of the books at the Mercantile for the past two years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Woolverton and family left on Friday for Winnipeg, Man., where they will reside in future. For the past three years Mr. Woolverton has been the Watkins dealer in this district.

Rev. Mr. Gibson of Saskatchewan failed to reach Creston on Saturday and as a consequence there were no services in the Presbyterian Church, Rev. J. A. James being at Cranbrook for sacrament service that day.

Albert Jefferson is claiming what looks to be a Kootenay record in cattle production. On Friday a Red Poll cow belonging to him, eighteen years of age, gave birth to her sixteenth calf, all of which have been heifers.

Mrs. J. W. Dow left on Monday for Vancouver, where she is attending the provincial session of the Women's Missionary Society as delegate from the Creston branch. She will visit at Nanaimo and Summerland before returning.

Very many Creston residents read with deep regret of the death on Tuesday at Spokane of R. E. Beattie, harbour board member at Vancouver, and a former well known resident of Cranbrook, and also identified with local business affairs due to his connection with the former Creston Drug & Book Company which later became Beattie Oatway, Ltd., and which it was only last week he disposed of to G. H. Kelly. The funeral takes place at Cranbrook today and it is likely a delegation from here will attend.

Grand Programs 1925 Chautauqua

Undoubtedly the greatest value in entertainment that Creston has ever experienced is offered in the 1925 six-day Chautauqua which opens in the big brown tent on the evening of Wednesday, May 27th

In addition to quality this year there is also unusual variety, music having a prominent place on each of the six days, including the old time favorite comic opera "The Mikado," which will be presented by a company of talented artists on the second night.

Chautauqua has a play and for this year we are to be favored with the big stage success, "Daddy Long Legs," on the fifth night, whilst on the afternoon of the second day there will be a one-act episode, "The Silent System."

Mrs. McDonald is to be here with her Calgary youngsters for the opening programme, and for good measure there will be the Howard Russell Revue, a splendid variety company in comedy, Scotch and coster songs on the third day.

Those who have been demanding Canadian artists will be taken care of this year in at least two of the lecturers, Dr. Rivers, who speaks on the "Second Chance, or Lessons from Life" and Dr. Kerby, whose subject is "Canada's Contribution to World Life."

Other musical features are the Rainbow Novelty Company, with Eileen Hoff, dramatic soprano, who give the closing programme; Boyd Concert Company, in songs, instrumentals and sketches; the Tziganos, in songs, monologues and grand opera airs.

For the special benefit of the children it is likely a fancy dress parade will be arranged for Saturday afternoon, May 30th, at which prizes for the best dressed and comics from the Wynndel, Alice Siding, Creston, Erickson, Canyon and Lister schools will be given along with a grand prize for the best fancy dress and comic in the whole company of children.

A meeting is called for tonight to make arrangements for handling the big six days, and tickets will shortly be on sale at the popular season prices of $3 for adults, and $1 for children.

Erickson

Mrs. J. Rutherford and children, who have been stopping with Mr. Bentley, Sr., at the mill for sometime past, left this week for their home in Vancouver.

J. Handley was a business visitor at Nelson a few days this week leaving on Sunday.

Quite a number of Erickson ladies were at Creston on Thursday last for an afternoon reception at the home of Mrs. R. B. Staples, and on Tuesday Mrs. Putnam was hostess at tea and afternoon of old time sociability, which quite a large list of callers much enjoyed.

Lorne Botterill was a Friday visitor at his home here, having motored up the evening previous.

Rhubarb shipping is fairly heavy at the Erickson depot at present, at least half a ton of it going out on Monday.

L. T. Leveque, who has been at Vancouver for several weeks past, arrived home at the first of the month improved in health but is likely to be returning there again shortly.

Misses Bentley of Trail and Edmonton, Alta., arrived a few days ago, on a visit to their father here.

About a dozen men with one team as well as a tractor and grader are at work on the Crawford hill diversion, and at the rate they are going the job will be finished early in June.

Miss Audrey Craigie left on Tuesday for Portland, Oregon, where she is making a short visit with friends in that city.

Order from your grocer his best tea and he'll usually send "Red Rose."

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

The same good tea for 30 years. Try it!

Encourage the New Settlers

The immigration season of 1925 is about to open. Already the vanguard of what is expected to be the largest influx of new settlers since 1913 is preparing to leave the British Isles, and from then onward for some months every trans-Atlantic steamer will bring its quota. Canada will welcome these new settlers provided they are of the right type and come with a full determination to work for themselves and their adopted country and not to lean on others and look to the Government to pamper and support them.

Canada will welcome them because it is now generally recognized that this Dominion needs population and needs it badly. No other country in the world with anything like the same population is attempting to carry the same burdens and provide the extensive national services for its people that Canada is. Nor is there any other country of small population where the extent of the national territory is so vast, and, as a result, settlement so sparse and scattered.

During the last half century this Dominion has poured out money like water in order to build railways, improve waterways and harbors, erect public buildings, provide public services of all kinds, open up the country for settlement, and develop its natural resources. Without most of these services the land would not be available for settlement, but, unless that settlement follows, the financial burden to be borne by the people who are now here, and who with courage and foresight provided these services, will crush them, especially as on top of the debt created for these national undertakings there has been piled the still greater burden of a huge war debt.

The future of the Dominion is inextricably bound up with the securing of a larger population, and a population composed of men and women and youths who, instead of being afraid of hard work, will welcome it, and who are prepared for some years to forego the luxuries and pleasures and some of the conveniences of life in order to firmly establish themselves and provide a solid foundation for future prosperity and a competence for their children.

Under existing regulations, which must be adhered to and enforced, there is little dagner of Canada becoming a dumping ground for the halt, maimed, blind, disease afflicted, mentally unsound and moral degenerates of other lands. Only the physically fit and morally and mentally sound should be admitted. Others than these would not be an asset but a continuing liability to the Dominion.

More important, however, than the coming of substantial numbers of the right type of immigrants is the providing of some reasonable assurance that when they come, they come to stay. It is permanence in settlement Canada needs; not drifters using Canada merely as a jumping-off place or half-way house to some other permanent location. There has been too much of this in the past, Canada bearing the costs of such immigration without reaping any permanent benefits from it.

It is the business and duty, therefore, not of the Federal Government alone, but of each Provincial Government and each and every local community, and all national and community organizations, to do their utmost to encourage and assist the newcomers to make a success of their venture into this new land. These newcomers must, as already stated, depend largely on their own initiative and efforts, and unless they do they cannot succeed, either in Canada or elsewhere, no matter what may be done for them. But those other things which the individual cannot do or provide, but which are absolutely essential to success and permanency in settlement, must be attended to by the community and the state.

If a settler is not contented with his lot, he will not stay. If year after year passes without any visible progress being made he naturally becomes discouraged, and the next step is to pull up stakes. Nor is it the "big lacks" which are most disheartening; rather it is a combination of little things which, by community thought and enterprise, can be overcome.

For example, even if a man is making progress in a material sense, is he and his family going to "stick" if in times of sickness or accident the family cannot get proper attention because of their isolation and lack of medical and nursing facilities? Is he going to be content if his children are growing up lacking church services, or education, because the nearest school is too far away? Bachelors and people without children must realize that it is to their interest to provide these things, and tax themselves to do so, in order that those who must have them do not lack. Only so can permanent settlement be effected, and by providing for permanent settlement everyone will benefit.

Taber Irrigation District

The annual report of the Taber irrigation district shows a surplus of $26,000 for the year's operations. The previous year the surplus available permitted the rates to be cut from $2.00 to $1.50.

May Admit Continental Settlers

It is rumored in immigration circles that the Canadian Government, in the near future, will let down the bars on continental newcomers and 4,000 would be allowed to enter beginning some time in March.

Scattering Fogs and Making Rain

Chemist Will Find Way Says Professor of Cornell

"After considering the amazing advance of the wireless and radio in the past few years, I do not think you need worry about the ability of the chemist eventually to find a method of dissipating fogs, while the future of making clouds disgorge their rain should be assured," said Dr. Wilder B. Bancroft, professor of chemistry at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., addressing the local Rotary Club on "Chemistry and Service."

Continued Demand For Copper

Manager of B.C. Mine Sees Prosperity For Industry

Copper, basic metal upon which the prosperity of the mining industry in British Columbia to a great extent depends, has every prospect of remaining in good demand for an indefinitely long period, said C. P. Browning, manager of the Britannia Mine, British Columbia, speaking at the convention of the British Columbia division, Canadian Institute of Mining and Metalurgy, Vancouver.

Discovery of new uses for copper in the advancement of electricity is causing a demand for the metal which copper mining companies of the world will be taxed to fill, Mr. Browning said.

Swiss Alpinists Were Fed From Airplanes

Fliers Unable to Land Flung Food to Marooned Men

Food from the skies in the shape of corned beef and hard tack, dropped from airplanes in daily flights over the Alps, saved the lives of three Swiss Alpinists, who were marooned for eight days by terrific storms in a hut on top of the Barnia Mountains. The fliers, unable to land owing to the deep snow, flung the food to the Alpinists as they swooped down over the hut. They did this daily until the storms abated and the men were rescued.

Fewer Recruits For Army

British Enlistments Fall Off Due to Emigration to Dominions

The annual report of the British army, for the year ending September 30 last, gives the total enlistments and re-enlistments during the year as 30,000, the annual intake being 878 less than the figures for the previous year. Northern Ireland continues to be a fruitful recruiting field, and the report points out that the unemployment benefits have tended to counteract the economic incentive to enlistment in the regular army, to which the civil population, especially in industrial centres, appear to be apathetic.

Emigration to the dominions is said to have proved a serious counter-attraction to army life, and many recruits have been lost as a result. The total strength of the regular army of all ranks is given at 215,343, while the territorial reserve forces total 44,809.

A Prime Dressing for Wounds.—In some factories and workshops carbolic acid is kept for use in cauterizing wounds and cuts sustained by the workmen. Far better to keep on hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is just as quick in action and does not scar the skin or burn the flesh.

Will Be Promoted Soon

In the ordinary course of events Prince George, who will be leaving for China shortly, as his ship is to be stationed with the Eastern Squadron, would remain there for about two years, but he is due for promotion before that, and this will probably entail an earlier return, so that he may be back in a little over a year.

Dirigible To Make Trip

The United States naval dirigible will undertake a round trip cruise to England this summer, carrying mail, according to navy department officials.

Says She Suffered for Seven Years

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Relieved Her of Her Troubles

Mrs. Nellie Bagan found no relief in her Hospital treatment, but Dodd's Kidney Pills brought speedy relief.

Gilbert Plains, Man.—(Special).—"I have been using Dodd's Kidney Pills at different times and must say that they are the best for those who suffer from kidney trouble. I had a lot of trouble for 7 years and I was in hospital for quite a while, but it did not do me much good. I feel quite different now since I have been taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would advise every man and woman who has a trouble from head to knee to try them." This statement comes from Mrs. N. Bagan, a well known resident here.

Dodd's Kidney Pills as a tonic and family medicine are without an equal. When you feel tired and run down the chances are ten to one that your kidneys are at fault.

When the kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, the impurities are not strained out of the blood and the result is weariness and lack of energy all over the body. Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial and see for yourself.

Value Of Improved Roads To The Agriculturist And Economic Life of the Country

Time is money, is an old axiom, and one that is only too true, says the natural resources intelligence service. Especially do we appreciate this condition when we find it necessary to call in the plumber, the carpenter, or any mechanic of other trades whose charges are based upon the length of time he occupies in completing the work required of him. The farmer's time also is valuable, and must be paid for by the consumer of his products. If he requires two hours to perform a certain piece of work he is entitled to be paid for the time consumed, and no one will begrudge him his charge.

This applies to his time in reaching markets or in his other trips to dispose of his produce. Under old highway conditions, when mud roads were mainly the only kind available, many valuable hours were consumed in reaching the destination, and loads were limited in many instances to the capacity of the team to haul the wagon over the poor roads. When any considerable distance had to be covered, a start had to be made in the small hours of the morning to reach the market on time, and the return journey had to be started early, sometimes entailing the acceptance of sacrifice prices in order to dispose of the load. Times have changed, however, with the coming of good roads. Today he can get over the same distance in one-half or less of the time he previously took, and he can do it with much more comfort. He need not start as early in the morning and he has a longer time to sell his produce, while the early evening sees him back home. His day is consequently shortened and life is made more enjoyable. An illustration of what good roads mean in actual cash is furnished by a large dairy company that collects its milk within a wide radius. The company pays a higher price to the farmers living on good roads than to those situated on highways that are unimproved. The reason is quite evident. It costs the company more in time to collect the milk on the poor roads.

Canada has invested nearly $100,000,000 in improved highways, and has nearly 200,000 miles of good roads. Millions of dollars are being spent yearly to add to this mileage and to improve existing roads. It would be interesting to farmers located on good road sif they would keep a record of the time saved by them, and of the greater loads they were able to haul over the good roads. It would lead to a greater appreciation of what this enormous expenditure means to them.

Discover Valuable Minerals

Lepidolite Deposit Found Not Far From Lake Winnipeg

Lepidolite, or lithia-mica, a mineral of the mica group, has been discovered east of Lake Winnipeg by two prospectors named Hoyt and Johnston. Investigations are being made to ascertain the extent of the deposit, and if the mineral is found in paying quantities it is probable that plans for development will be made and a new industry in Manitoba launched. Extracts of the mineral are used for medicinal purposes in the form of lithium salts, and they are also used in the manufacture of coal tar dyes. Specimens of the lepidolite discovered have been analysed by the Milton Hersey Company, Limited, analytical chemists.—Free Press.

Tourists Leave Much Money Here

Revenue Derived From Touris Traffic Is Not to be Despised

Many estimates are made as to the amount of revenue derived from the tourist traffic. It is somewhat unusual, however, to receive a direct statement of expenditure by those who come to Canada for holiday purposes. The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior is receiving a large number of enquiries for information on canoe routes, motor trips and holiday resorts, from many residents of the United States. Among these is one in which the writer wants information concerning a canoe trip in Northwestern Ontario he contemplates making this summer. He states that "one year, when we figured out we found we had left $3,700 in your good province of Ontario, and I assure you it afforded us all great pleasure to do so." This season promises to be an exceptionally active one for tourist business, especially among the areas where transportation is almost exclusively by canoe and portage.

Studying Western Canada

American Scholars Ask Regina Board of Trade for Booklets

"It at least indicates that the American schools are commencing to pay close attention to Canada, and particularly to the west," said Secretary Manager C. A. Cooke, of the Regina board of trade, in commenting upon a further flood of letters arriving in the board of trade offices asking for booklets giving details of this province's area, resources and other features.

These letters have been coming in a steady stream for the past six months, and arrive from states all the way across the country. As a rule, a number will come from one locality at a time, and the school children are evidently told by the school authorities to write to Regina for what facts and figures they require.

Encourage Use Of Best-Seed Grain

Saskatchewan Government Will Assist In Improving Field Crops

The Saskatchewan Government will assist agricultural societies in purchasing registered seed grain, it is announced by Hon. C. M. Hamilton. The object, said Hon. Mr. Hamilton, is to bring about the use of a larger proportion of high-class seed and to improve the yield and quality of our field crops.

A loan of $100.00 will be made to each of the first twenty-five societies which make application. It is expected that the societies will use their own funds to the same extent to purchase registered seed, and that this will be used to produce a supply of seed for the whole district.

Live Poultry For Europe

Trial Shipment For Breeding Stock May Be Sent to Great Britain

With the object of building up a market in Europe for Canadian poultry, the Canadian Poultry Record Association at its annual meeting at Ottawa decided to ask the government assistance in the shipment of trial consignments of live poultry breeding stock from Canada to Great Britain and Europe during the coming year. It was the feeling of the meeting that the advertising secured through the success of Canadian poultry at Barcelona and Wembley last year should be taken advantage of.

An Irish politician was delivering a passionate speech to a mixed crowd. He had suffered badly at the hands of one particular heckler, but at last his chance came.

"You think you're smart, don't you?" sneered the heckler. "Well, just tell us how many toes a pig has got?"

"Take your boots off and count!" was the lightning reply.

Circulating Libraries in Saskatchewan

During the year 1924 more than 1,000 circulating libraries were in operation in Saskatchewan, as compared with about 800 in the previous year. The average number of families reading each book was 17. More than half a million volumes were circulated by these libraries during the year.

Suggested Export Tax On Wheat

President of United Farmers of Alberta Does Not Favor This Idea

"I cannot imagine any western farmer, or anyone who has the interests of the farmers at heart, being in favor of an export tax on wheat going into the United States as advocated by the royal grain inquiry commission," stated H. W. Wood, of Calgary, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, during an interview at Winnipeg.

"In fact," added Mr. Wood, "I can only hope that no attempt will be made to bring in legislation along these lines for, if such a tax materializes it will do considerable harm to the farming community."

Grazing Lands

To Use Saskatchewan Lands For Stock Grazing Purposes

Authority to issue 21-year grazing leases on vacant Dominion lands unfit for agricultural purposes in the province of Saskatchewan is given to the minister of the interior by the governor-general-in-council, according to The Canada Gazette.

Authority is also given to renew 21-year leases now held on condition that the lands affected are found to be unfit for agricultural purposes, and that they will be used to the fullest extent for stock grazing purposes.

Shipments Refused

Much Merchandise Is Returned Due To Improper Packing

Neglect of packing regulations, enforced by the Canadian Government to prevent bringing in of foot and mouth disease, caused the return to country of origin of large quantities of merchandise during the past few months. It is announced now that the refusal of shipments packed in hay or straw, unless certified free from infection, will continue to be rejected and shipping companies will continue to suffer besides the consignees, as the necessity is urgent of protecting Canadian livestock and agricultural interests.

Alberta Secures Natural Resources

Province Now to Take Over Remaining Resources From Federal Government

The negotiations between the Dominion and Provincial Governments for transfer of the natural resources to Alberta have been finally completed, according to an announcement made in the legislature by Premier Greenfield. The offer by the federal authorities has been definitely accepted on the part of the province by the premier.

The province is to take over the remaining resources, and will receive a payment of the amount of the present subsidy, in lieu of lands, for three years. The terms of this agreement will become final as soon as they have been ratified by the Parliament of Canada and the Provincial Legislature.

There are still a number of minor details to be settled, but it is not anticipated that any difficulty will be encountered in this respect.

Will Discuss Better Border Game Control

Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Minnesota to Co-operate in Effort

A conference of game law authorities of Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Minnesota to discuss the question of better border game control, will take place in the spring, it was learned at Winnipeg.

J. S. Gould, Minnesota game commissioner, enthusiastically endorses the proposed conference and its aims, and has promised co-operation of his department in every possible way.

The idea is to prevent violators of provincial or state game laws taking refuge in adjoining provinces or across the international boundary.

How Milkmen Deliver Product In Alaska

Milk Is Frozen Into Bricks and Wrapped In Oiled Paper

The milkman in Nome, Alaska, doesn't worry about spilling his milk. He calls from house to house and delivers a block of frozen reindeer milk or cream equal to a pint or a quart. A white cord frozen into the block of milk serves as a handle to facilitate delivering.

The blocks of milk and cream are tastily wrapped in oiled paper looking for all the world like ice cream. One feature about the milk business here is that so long as it remains frozen there is no deterioration in the quantity or quality.

Wheat and Population

Production of Wheat Not Keeping Pace With Increase in Population

Official estimates made in Rome, London and Washington place the wheat shortage for 1924 at 400,000,000 to 440,000,000 bushels. The figures show the bread-grain crop last year to have been about one-tenth below the yield of 1923. It is estimated also that the population of the world increases at the rate of 12,000,000 yearly, and that the total increase since 1913 has been 124,000,000. The average world wheat crop from 1909 to 1913 (including 1913) was 3,743,306,000 bushels, compared with 3,300,000,000 bushels in 1924.—Toronto Globe.

In Safe Keeping

"Come, Willie," said his mother, "don't be selfish. Let your little brother play with your marbles a while."

Canada's Gold Supply

Though only a small portion of the Yukon has been developed, $200,000,000 worth of gold has been mined up to date, amounting to half the gold production of Canada, according to George Black, member for Yukon to the Dominion Parliament.

Touring is one of the inducements to buy the car and is one of the principal uses to which it is put by a great many owners. Distance is so easily covered that every opportunity is taken to see new places and enjoy the benefits of the good roads wherever they may lead. This is well illustrated by the remarkable expansion of the American motor tourist traffic within the past few years particularly across the border into Canada. Canada has the natural attractions, agreeable climate, big game hunting, unexcelled fishing, waterways and scenery of supreme interest and other features that make her without a rival in the competition for the tourist traffic. Canada's highways are now comparable with the main highways of the United States and are being rapidly extended and improved.

A study of the distribution of the enormous registration of automobiles in the United States emphasizes Canada's position in regard to American tourist traffic. More than 6,680,000, or 43 per cent., of the total cars registered, are owned in states that border on the great lakes, and 7,370,000, or 7.5 per cent., are registered in the states that touch Canada or the international waterways. New York state, which lies within a day's run of Muskoka and the Rideau Lakes districts and the Ottawa Valley, has 1,169,145 cars. Pennsylvania, which touches Lake Erie, has 1,088,337. Ohio, which also lies just across Lake Erie from Ontario, has 1,160,000 registered automobiles.

Over 3,000,000 cars are owned by persons who live within two days' run of Montreal, while over 4,000,000 car owners live within one day's run of Niagara Falls. Minnesota and North Dakota, immediately south of Manitoba, have 462,777 and 102,824 cars respectively, and immediately south of these bordering states are Wisconsin with 474,063 cars; Iowa with 569,358; South Dakota with 127,400; and Nebraska with 276,592 cars.

Getting away from the normal is the ambition of every tourist and in this Canada offers inducements that will interest the most satiated traveller.

There is hardly a point on the Canadian border that is more than one day's run from virgin and in some cases almost unexplored country. It is true that much of the hinterland of Canada cannot be traversed by motor car, but the opportunities for a cahnge of transport to that of the canoe, pack horse, steamboat, etc., are as varied as the country is extensive. On the other hand, to the tourist who prefers to stick exclusively to his car, each province affords extensive roadways through areas of rare scenic attractions and abounding in large and small game and fish.

World Wheat Shortage

Eastern Miller Sees Wheat At $1.25 Next Year

Prediction of $1.25 wheat in 1926, if this year's crop is up to expectations, was made in an address by J. A. Osborne, milling authority of Ottawa.

The cause of the present high wheat prices was laid at the door of world shortage by the speaker. The surplus from this year's crop to carry over to next year would be very small. Mr. Osborne said there was no real shortage of oats in the world at present.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 8

Methodist Circuit Annual Meeting

"The most successful and happiest twelve months I have spent in the ministry," is the way Rev. G. Knox described the year's work of the local Methodist circuit at the annual meeting at Canyon City on Friday night, at which he presided, and which had a thoroughly representative attendance from the three congregations ministered to—Creston, Canyon City and Lister.

Reports submitted from all departments of the church effort were exceptionally encouraging. Not counting Lister—which is a United Church with 16 members—the membership at Creston and Canyon is now 104, as compared with 81 at the annual in 1924. The Canyon membership is 20, and there are two members at Porthill. In 1920 the membership was 39.

185 familes figure in the congregation and during the pastoral year 240 calls were made; there were nine baptisms (three of them adults), four weddings, and six funerals.

With church union becoming effective on June 10th it has been necessary to have the church property appraised, and the value has been placed at $5,975.00. Of this $2125 is reckoned for the parsonage and ground, $3000 for the Creston church property, and $850 for the church holdings at Canyon City.

The work of the stewards the past year has been so satisfactory that at Creston most of the old board are to serve another term, as follows: H Gobbett, A. Comfort, J. W. Robinson, E. Martin and D. H. Linn, the latter being re-elected recording steward. The Canyon steward is A. J. Anderson and at Lister Mrs. Niblow will serve in like capacity. Manford Samuelson was chosen as this year's delegate to district meeting at Cranbrook, as well as the B.C. conference which opens at Vancouver early next week. In addition Mr. Samuelson was also named circuit exhorter.

As Methodism disappears, and the United Church comes into being next month there was an informal discussion as to the operations locally of the new denomination. A census has been taken of Wynndel and Kitchener, as these points will be taken care of along with Creston, Canyon and Lister, the opinion being that one man would be responsible for Creston and Wynndel, which would be a self-supporting circuit, and the second man would be responsible for Canyon, Lister and Kitchener.

The report of the Sunday school at Lister was submitted by Mrs. Millington, and shows a staff of three teachers, with 32 scholars enrolled, and ar. average attendance of 20. Collections for the year amounted to $25.

Reporting for Canyon Sunday school the superintendent, M. Samuelson, expressed a deep appreciation of the fine work done for three years by his predecessor, W. E. Searle, who is now at Bellvue, Alta., the scholars showing their appreciation at Christmas by sending him a leather writing case and books. In the winter months the school had shown an enrollment as high as 83, but the usual membership is 70, with an average attendance of 44. Collections had totalled $113, and $68 of this had been spent on papers.

For the Creston Sunday school Jas. Adlard reported a year of splendid progress. Since the Barton campaign in January the enrollment had risen to 93 but prior to that it had been 60, with an

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church are having their usual country fair at the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon, May 16th, with a sale of produce, cooking, aprons, plain sewing etc. Afternoon tea will also be served, along with ice cream.

More baby chicks are coming into Creston this year than at any previous time in its history, and at the Barred Feather Poultry Farm W. S. McAlpine has enough orders booked ahead for Barred Rock chicks to take care of production until almost the middle of June.

The C.P.R. were the last to observe clean up day, giving the yard the necessary attention at the first of the week. That, the village residents made a good job of it is indicated in the fact that a total of 26 loads of rubbish was hauled to the dump on the flats.

Creston Indians are having their usual May pow wow at the Mission on Sunday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. Reds from Bonners Ferry and Tobbacco Plains are coming and the affair promises to most pretentious. The whites are invited to witness the spectacle.

COW FOR SALE—Big red cow without horns, freshened April 26th, gave 16 quarts of milk a day at her best last season on pasture feed only. Inspected last June and found free of tuberculosis. $80 with calf; $75 without calf, f.o.b. Wynndel. O. J. WIGEN, Wynndel, B.C.

C.P.R. Supt. Flett was here on an inspection trip on Friday last, looking over some improvements that have been made to the residential quarters at the depot. He is well pleased with the operation of the work trains this year, which are averaging almost a trip a day in excess of last year's effort. A fill of 1200 feet is to be completed this season.

Creston's chemical engine has arrived and the commissioners had the machine set up on Wednesday, and certainly it has every appearance of being a quick action fire extinguisher. Now the engine is ready a meeting is called for Wednesday night, May 13th, at 8 o'clock, in Speers' Hall for the purpose of organizing a fire brigade. All men are asked to be present.

Miss Denton, advance lady for the 1925 Chautauqua, was here on Friday and outlined the programme that will be presented at Creston this year, the guarantors all agreeing that it is by far the most attractive of the five seen here to date, music being especially prominent. The local guarantors are to meet on Friday night to organize for the putting on of Chautauqua which opens on May 27th.

Tuesday's dailies carries a despatch from Moosejaw, Sask., telling of the finding of the body of Louis Koenig and a companion on the C.P.R. tracks at Aneroid the day previous. Koenig had papers on him indicating he had lately been at Creston and enquiry elicited the fact that he was a cousin of Mrs. Kleist, and had worked in the Valley most of the winter, and had only left for the prairie ten days ago.

For the six months ending May 1st the McAlpine pen of Barred Rocks in the egg-laying contest at the experimental farm at Agassiz is leading all the fanciers' pens in that breed, with a total egg production of 983. Last week the local ten birds had a showing of 63 eggs, five of them laying every day, three with a showing of six eggs, and the other two five eggs apiece.

At the annual meeting of the Methodist church, including Canyon and Lister, on Friday night, reports submitted showed the 12 months just closed to be the most satisfactory in the history of the congregation, both as to attendance and gain in membership, as well as financially. D. H. Linn was re elected recording steward, and the board of management for this year is E. Martin, H. Gobbett, J. W. Robinson and A. Comfort.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid members were so well pleased with the effort of last year's officers that at the annual meeting at Mrs. Dickson's on Thursday afternoon last the old staff, with the exception of the vice-president was re elected as follows: President, Mrs. Frallick; vice-president, Mrs. A. Comfort; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Crawford; treasurer, Mrs. T. Goodwin. The aid last year had a membership of 27, and the cash revenue for the year was the biggest in the aid's history, totalling $529.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

average attendance of 44. The Bible class had a membership of 37 and an average attendance of 16 and during the year had contributed $82, whilst collections from the other classes had totalled $85. A feature of the attendance is that the boys almost equal the girls in numbers.

Mrs. Searle reported for Canyon Ladies' Aid, stating the membership was 23, and the monthly meetings had averaged an attendance of 15. During the year $173 had been raised.

For the Creston Ladies' Aid Mrs Goodwin reported a membership of 29, with an average turnout at the monthly sessions of 20, and for the year $529 had been raised.

Mrs. Knott reported for the young people's work at Canyon, giving the Epworth League membership as 20, of which 14 were girls. The meetings had been well attended and so far had been largely social in their nature. For the Creston League Miss Edna Holmes gave the enrollment as 46, and the average attendance as 30, but she was not quite sure whether the League effort was more successful than the line of work the young people handled so well before the League was tried out.

For the Mission Band Mary Goodwin reported that under the leadership of Miss Alice Comfort the membership was now 19 and that for the year the girls had raised $87. The boys work—Trail Rangers—is in charge of H. Gobett, and has an enrollment of 16 members.

The financial statement for Canyon was read by A. J. Anderson, who showed receipts from collections and guarantees of $235 for the year, in addition to which $80 had been contributed to the Barton campaign expenses. At Lister only loose collections are taken and these had totalled $27 for the year.

For Creston F. K. Smith reported that including the amount paid Evangelist Barton the givings were almost $1200 for the year, and this did not include a little over $300 which was in hand for the church enlargement, nor another $70 spent on the shed and putting on another chimney after the December gale.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is sent to the Barbadoes as a slave under orders of King James. There at the behest of Arabella Bishop, niece of the military commander, Colonel Bishop buys him. A Spanish galleon, under Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez, captures the city. Blood saves Mary Traill and Arabella. He leads his fellow rebels-convict on board the Cinco Llagas and captures the ship and Don Diego. Don Diego betrays him and navigates the ship to Hispaniola, where his brother's ship is in port. Captain Blood binds Don Diego to the mouth of a cannon and offers the Don's son, Esteban, the alternative of seeing his father die, or to tell his uncle that all is well on board the Cinco Llagas. The boy accepts and they visit the galleon, where the youth makes peace with his uncle. They return to the Cinco Llagas and young Esteban learns that Blood had tricked him; his father was dead when the body was bound to the cannon. Blood sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of buccanneers on the Spanish Main.

That night Levasseur slept on board his ship, which, with characteristic flamboyance, he had named La Foudre, and there on the following day he received a visit from Captain Blood, whom he greeted half mockingly as his admiral. Levasseur entertained his admiral to dinner, and jointly they drank success to the expedition, so copiously on the part of Levasseur that when the time came to separate he was as nearly drunk as it seemed possible for him to be and yet retain his understanding. Captain Blood was a little heavy-hearted. I have said that he was a judge of men, and his judgment of Levasseur filled him with misgivings, which were growing heavier, in a measure, as the hour of departure approached.

CHAPTER XIV.

Levasseur's Heroics

It would be somewhere about ten o'clock on the following morning, a full hour before the time appointed for sailing, when a canoe brought up alongside La Foudre and a half-caste Indian stepped out of her and went up the ladder. He was the bearer of a folded scrap of paper for Captain Levasseur. Its contents may be roughly translated thus:

"My well-beloved: I am in the Dutch brig Jongvrouw, which is about to sail. Resolved to separate us forever, my cruel father is sending me to Europe in my brother's charge. I implore you, come to my rescue. Deliver me, my well-beloved hero! Your desolated Madelon, who loves you."

The well-beloved hero was moved to the soul of him by that passionate appeal. His scowling glance swept the bay for the Dutch brig, which he knew had been due to sail for Amsterdam with a cargo of hides and tobacco. He roared out the question in his mind.

In answer, the half-caste pointed out beyond the frothing surf that marked the position of the reef constituting one of the stronghold's main defences. Away beyond it, a mile or so distant, a sail was standing out to sea.

"There she go," he said.

The Frenchman gazed and stared. The half-caste shrank terrified before his fury. "Then up anchor, and let us after the Dutchman," he cried.

"Steady, captain. What's that?" There was a restraining hand upon his shoulder, and the broad face of his lieutenant, Cahusac, a burly, callous Breton scoundrel, was stolidly confronting him. "A Dutch brig!" said he. "Impossible! We should never be allowed."

"And who the devil will deny us?" Levasseur was between amazebent and fury.

"For one thing, there's your own crew will be none too willing. For another, there's Captain Blood."

"I care nothing for Captain Blood."

"But it is necessary that you should. He has the power, the weight of metal and of men, and, if I know him at all, fegence with the Dutch. He had his own views of privateering, this Captain Blood, as I warned you."

he'll sink us before he'll suffer Inter-

Cursing in his soul, and even before the anchor was weighed, the association into which he had entered, he was already studying ways of evasion. What Cahusac implied was true: Blood would never suffer violence to be done in his presence to a Dutchman. But it might be done in his absence, and, being done, Blood must perforce condone it, since it would then be too late to protest.

Within the hour the Arabella and La Foudre were beating out to sea together. Without understanding the change of plan involved, Captain Blood, nevertheless, accepted it, and weighed anchor before the appointed time upon perceiving his associate to do so.

All day the Dutch brig was in sight, though by evening she had dwindled to the merest speck on the northern horizon. The course prescribed for Blood and Levasseur lay eastward along the northern shores of Hispaniola. To that course the Arabella continued to hold steadily throughout the night. When day broke again she was alone. La Foudre, under cover of the darkness had struck away to the northeast with every rag of canvas on her yards.

Cahusac had attempted yet again to protest against this.

"The devil take you!" Levasseur had answered him. "A ship's a ship, be she Dutch or Spanish, and ships are our present need. That will suffice for the men."

Dawn found La Foudre close on the Dutchman's heels, not a mile astern, and the sight of her very evidently flustered the Jongvrouw. They sent a warning shot across her bow. The Jongvrouw veered, showed them her rudder, and opened fire with her stern chasers. The small shot went whistling through La Foudre's shrouds with some slight damage to her canvas.

Five minutes after that they were board and board, the Jongvrouw held tight in the clutches of La Foudre's grapnels, and the buccaneers pouring noisily into her waist.

The Dutchman's master, purple in the face, stood forward to beard the pirate, followed closely by an elegant, pale-faced young gentleman in whom Levasseur recognized his brother-in-law elect.

"Captain Levasseur, this is an outrage for which you shall be made to answer. What do you seek aboard my ship?"

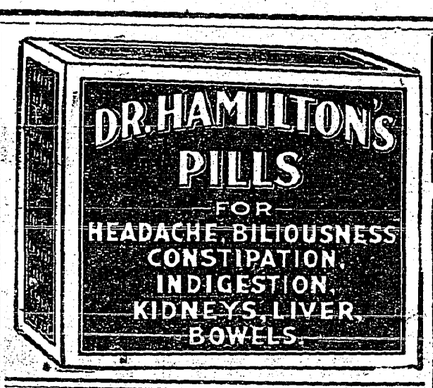
"At first I sought only that which belongs to me, something of which I am being robbed. But since you chose war and opened fire on me with some damage to my ship and loss of life to five of my men, war it is, and your ship a prize of war."

From the quarter rail Mademoiselle d'Oregon looked down with glowing eyes in breathless wonder upon her well-beloved hero. Gloriously heroic he seemed as he stood towering there, masterful, audacious, beautiful. He saw her, and with a glad shout sprang towards her. The Dutch master got in his way with hands upheld to arrest his progress. Levasseur did not stay to argue with him; he was too impatient to reach his mistress. He swung the poleaxe that he carried, and the Dutchman went down in blood with a cloven skull. The eager lover stepped across the body and came on, his countenance joyously alight. But mademoiselle was shrinking now, in horror. In a bound her well-beloved was beside her. But she still shrank even within his embrace, which would not be denied; a look of dread had come to temper the normal arrogance of her almost perfect face.

"Why, why did you kill him?"

He laughed as a hero should; and answered her heroically, with the forbearance of a god for the mortal to whom he condescends: "He stood between us. Let his death be a symbol, a warning. Let all who would stand between us mark it and beware."

It was so splendidly terrific, the gesture of it was so broad and fine and his magnetism so compelling, that she cast her silly tremors and yielded herself freely, intoxicated, to his fond embrace. Thereafter he swung her to his shoulder, and stepping with ease beneath that burden, bore her in a sort of triumph, justly cheered by his men, to the deck of his own ship.



Her inconsiderate brother might have ruined that romantic scene but for the watchful Cahusac, who quietly trippec him up, and then trussed him like a fowl.

Turks Taxing Bread

Taxing loaves of bread is the latest method of raising funds adopted by the Constantinople Prefecture. All bakeries are bound under heavy penalties to stick five para (about half a cent) stamps on loaves to indicate that they have been controlled as to weight and quality. The prefecture's object is to protect the consumer against low-grade bread.

LITTLE HELPS FOR THIS WEEK

He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down and without walls.—Prov. xxv., 28.

Real glory
Springs from the quiet conquest of ourselves;
And without that the conqueror is nought
But the first slave.
—Thomson

Rest not in an ovation, but in a triumph over thy passions. Let anger walk hanging down the head; let malice go manacled and envy fettered after thee. Behold within thee the whole train of thy troubles, not without thee. Chain up the unruly legion of thy breast, lead thine own captivity captive, and be Caesar within thyself.

WORKING GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

Read How She Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Arnprior, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with my periods. I would sometimes pass three months, and when it came it would last around two weeks, and I would have such pains at times in my right side that I could hardly walk. I am only 19 years of age and weigh 113 pounds now, and before taking the Vegetable Compound I was only 108 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."—Miss HAZEL BRANDT, Box 700, Arnprior, Ontario.

A day out each week shows in the pay envelope. If you are troubled with some weakness, indicated by a run-down condition, tired feelings, pains and irregularity, let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound help you. C

"RUN DOWN" MEN AND WOMEN NEED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

They Give New Vitality and more.

The expression "run down" comes from the feeble action of an unwound clock, and the comparison is a good one. Applied to health it means a condition in which the bodily functions are enfeebled. Appetite fails, digestion is impaired, the nerves impoverished, the complexion becomes pale and fatigue is a constant symptom.

No particular organ being affected, you must look for relief through the blood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best blood builder known to medical science. As your blood becomes rich and red, the various organs regain their tone and the body recovers its full vigor. If you are weak, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to-day and see how soon improvement will show in increased appetite and renewed vitality.

Mrs. Chas. Bourdage, Five Fingers, N.B., says:—"Before taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was completely run down. I did not sleep well, my digestion was poor and I would take dizzy spells. The use of the pills changed all this and I am now a strong healthy woman."

Fortunate Delusions

Claims World's Record For Political Service

Ex-Premier of Italy Has Had Fifty Years Of It

The octogenarian ex-premier of Italy, Giovanni Giolitti, has entered the field as a claimant of the world's record for length of active participation in political life, at present generally credited to Clemenceau. Signor Giolitti has had fifty years of it. It became known that although 83 years old, he is still planning his life far ahead, as recently he signed a twenty-five year lease on the apartment he occupies in Rome. Giolitti, being one of the chief leaders of the opposition against Mussolini, and perhaps the man who will step into his shoes when eventually he falls, the news has caused much sagacious comment. Signor Giolitti first entered parliament forty-three years ago and has been a dominant figure in Italian politics since he first became minister of the treasury in the Crispi cabinet thirty-six years ago. Born in Droneroh in 1842, he has been premier five times.

Proposal to Make Drinking Bars More Attractive is Frowned On

Proposals to make London's drinking bars more attractive by decoration and improved lighting effects have met with protests from many people, among them Lady Lawson, who contends that brighter "pubs" would tend to increase drunkenness, especially among the women.

The United Kingdom Alliance condemns the brighter bars movement as "designed to catch the young people."

Super-System Of Radio

May Be Able To Talk To Some 12,500,000 Listeners

An eventual linking into a permanent hook-up by means of telephone wires of stations in eighteen cities for simultaneous broadcasting of programmes furnished by station WEAF, New York, is contained in a plan for a super-system of radio broadcasting announced by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The new project provides that the connection be available every night from 8 to 11 o'clock.

It was estimated that a speaker's voice, carried over the broadcast system, would become audible to 12,500,000 people.

Pfungst is conducting an experiment in raising the ape, a Malayan specimen, which acts mentally like a human being. Berlin scientists have been told by Pfungst that the jungle infant so far has manifested an inclination to do as the Romans and has started sucking his thumb.

Anti-Narcotic Convention

Will Control the Export of Opium Through Law

The anti-narcotic and opium convention was adopted in its final reading by the international opium conference without including in the convention any mention of the principle that the production of opium should be limited to medical and scientific needs. The French amendment, however, was adopted declaring that the contracting parties undertake to enact laws to insure an effective control of the production, distribution and export of raw opium.

Cold on the Chest Best Treated This Way

When the throat is sore, and the chest is tight and full of congestion, something strong enough to penetrate through the tissues must be applied quickly. To get the quickest results, apply good old Nerviline. Rub it in deeply; it won't burn or blister, but it will bring the blood to the surface, will draw out the inflammation and subdue your cold and make you well in a short time. No other liniment so potent, so strong, so quick to bring soothing and relief as reliable old "Nerviline." Nearly fifty years in use, and sold in most countries throughout the world in large 35c bottles.

Coming events that are calculated to separate people from their coin are always heralded by an advance agent.

Success With Corn

By Jas. D. McGregor, Glencarnock Stock Farms, Brandon, Manitoba

(Part 4)

More value can be received from the corn crop when put into the silo than in any other way. The silo need not necessarily be an expensive one. We find that the trench and pit silos produce as good, or better, silage than the more expensive upright silos. The pit silo costs but very little and there is no danger of it blowing down or freezing. The trench silo costs nothing but the labor involved in digging the trench. More of these trench silos are being built every year and from all reports are a great success.

In filling our silos we aim to cut the corn in short lengths, inch or less, and are careful to see that the light and heavy portions of the corn are well distributed and packed. It is false economy to try to save on the labor when it comes to tramping the silage. Especial care should be taken to keep the outer edges well tramped. This excludes the air and thus prevents mould and also makes it possible to get more in a silo. If the silo is filled in a short time it will always settle considerably and it will pay to refill it in order to take advantage of the full capacity of the silo.

When the silage stands for any length of time before it is fed, some of the corn on the top will spoil if allowed to come in contact with the air. This waste may be eliminated to a certain extent if care is given in finishing off the top. The top surface should be levelled off, tramped well and then covered with a load of cut straw and chaff. This should be well wetted down and tramped. If oats are planted on top of this it will help still more to exclude the air and save the silage. A few loads of sunflowers blown on the top of the silage, make an excellent covering, because they are heavier and pack better than the corn.

If you have never grown corn, plan to grow some this season. You will find that the most enthusiastic corn grower is the one who has been at it the longest. He knows that corn land will yield as good or better than summerfallow and has found out that it does not pay to have black summerfallow producing nothing, when corn can be grown on this same land at a profit.

Corn, alfalfa and sweet clover mean more and better livestock and this means that your operations will be on a much more profitable and permanent basis.

Criticises Conduct of France

Contrary to British Idea of Honor Says London Paper

France is the richest nation on the continent; she has been, and is, passing through a period of prodigious industrial and commercial prosperity; and while she has shirked paying a penny of debt to Great Britain, she has been pouring out money on inflated armaments, including submarines, aeroplanes and aerodromes, of which Great Britain is the most obvious, if not the only, target. By no possibility can her conduct be squared with the honorable standards which the English-speaking world upholds, and a common friendly effort should be made to induce her to rectify it.—London Daily Chronicle.
