THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XVII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1925 No. 13

Fine Chautauqua Programs Assured

If someone thoroughly conversant with Creston's preferences in the matter of entertainment had been assigned the task of drafting a six day programme, he or she could hardly have made a better job of it than the designers of the eleven programmes that will be submitted at Creston's 1925 Chautauqua, which opens on Wednesday evening, May 27th.

The variety of this year's offerings is very much in line with the popular local demand. Starting off with the McDonald Kiddies, then the comic opera "The Mikado"; the drama "Daddy Long Legs," funny and pathetic and leaving a lasting effect on all who witness it; a Scotch concert company; lectures by leading platform workers on the timilest of topics, and still more music and lighter entertainment, are surely just what Creston likes and needs at this particular time—and all for the popular season ticket prices of $3 and $1.

Canadians will be particularly interested in the lectures of Dr. J. H. Rivers, on "The Second Chance, or Lessons from Life," and Dr. Kerby, whose topic is "Canada's Contribution to World Life." In addition to their Canadiansm, both these gentlemen are western Canadians both having long resided at Lethbridge and Calgary respectively, and what they have to say will come from two men who are thoroughly conversant with their subjects from first hand experience.

The Rainbow Novelty Company will present novelty galore particularly in the instrumental music line with violin, 'cello, flute, saxaphone, cornet, etc., the company being due to round out the biggest and best Chautauqua ever presented in Creston.

The Howard Russell Company, a trio of Toronto artists, present a costumed programme of the best in vocal and instrumental music, Harry Lauder creations, coster songs, monologues, etc. Senor and Senorita Tzigano's repertoire includes tenor and soprano solos, violin and piano combinations, readings in costume, humor and a humorous community sing song.

Jas. Adlard heads the local committee handling Chautauqua this year, and there will be at least one added feature for the children of the Valley which will be a costume parade on the afternoon of Saturday, May 30th. Cash prizes will be paid for the best dressed boy and girl and best boy and girl comics from the Valley schools—four prizes in each school—in addition to which there will be the grand prizes for the best boy and girl comics and the best dressed boy and girl, and for these latter prizes Wynndel, Creston, Erickson and Canyon are already planning to capture the premier honors.

For Sunday morning, May 31st, it is hoped to have the usual community church service in the big tent, when some of the Chautauqua talent will likely assist, and next week we are hoping to be able to name a speaker and music for the community Sunday night exercises that will be the best ever seen in Creston.

Season tickets will be available in a few days at $3 for adults, and $1 for children, and with such an outstandingly meritorious eleven programmes offered the sale of the season pasteboards is expected to break the records of any previous year. A generous purchase of these will assure Chautauqua's return another year—something that is very much to be desired, because in the amusement line it is the only thing of the sort that Creston is getting these times and is certainly something that community really needs.

Judge Bale, who will appear on the Chautauqua. He is a dynamic character with a worth-while message.

Sirdar

Mrs. Whiteside and Mrs. Martin left on Sunday for a few days' visit with friends in Spokane.

Mrs. Jones of Kuskanook is a visitor at Nelson the past week, but is expected back at the middle of the week.

Mrs. Roy Proctor, who has been on a visit for a week with her parents at Cranbrook, arrived back at the end of the week.

Mrs. G. S. Moore and children of Cranbrook, who have been visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Loasby the past ten days, left for home on Tuesday. Mr. Moore is now handling the west wayfreight.

Tourist autoists are coming east and west steadily these times, five cars being loaded on the Nasookin for the west trip on Thursday last.

Rev. H. Varley is due here on Sunday evening for Church of England service at the schoolhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil at Kuskanook are going in for chickens on quite a large scale this year. They have at least 200 baby chicks on hand now, and more to come.

A number of the Sirdar young people were at Wynndel on Saturday night for the dance with Creston orchestra music at that town that evening.

Afternoon at homes have been the feature of Sirdar's social life the past week. The first of these was given by Mrs. Heap in the form of a porch party at which cards were the feature, with refreshments to close a most enjoyable afternoon. Amongst those present were Mrs. Proctor, Miss Pascuzzo, Mrs. Brawn, Mrs. Wilson, and Misses Chadwick, Heap and Wilson. The second of these jolly affairs was at the residence of Mrs. James Wilson, Atbara, whose guests included Mrs. Neil, Mrs. Brawn, Mrs. Pascuzzo, Mrs. Bysouth, Mrs. Mannerino, Mrs. Heap, and Misses Chadwick and Camela Pascuzzo. The feature of the afternoon was the fortune telling by Mrs. Bysouth, who is an accomplished palmist, and Mrs. Wilson, who interprets the cards. Refrefhments were served, and it was indeed a happy party that dispersed east and west about 5.30.

L.O.B.A. Organized

Creston's first ever ladies' fraternal society was organized at an enthusiastic meeting on Tuesday night when the Creston Lodge Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association was instituted by Mrs. McKenzie of Revelstoke, grand lodge organizer, who with the assistance of local members conferred the initiatory degree on quite a large number of candidates, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Worthy Mistress—Mrs. M. York.
Deputy Mistress—Mrs. W. H. Crawford.
Chaplin—Mrs. John Sherwood.
Rec. Secy.—Mrs. Jas. Johnston.
Fin. Secy.—Mrs. J. Hayden.
Treasurer—Mrs. T. Ross.
D. of C.—Mrs. Diana Ross.
1st Lecturer—Mrs. H. Taylor.
2nd Lecturer—Miss Edith Crawford.
Inner Guard—Miss Alice Embree.
Outer Guard—W. H. Crawford.
Guardian—D. Learmonth.
Committee—Mrs. D. Learmonth, Miss Marion Learmonth, Miss Marguerite Crawford, M. York.

At the close of the lodge session refreshments were served and a most enjoyable social hour spent. The lodge starts off with a membership of almost 30, and will meet the first and third Thursday of each month.

Make Baskets at Institute Meeting

There was a fine turnout of members at the May session of Creston and District Women's Institute held in the Parish Hall on Friday afternoon, which was in charge of the president, Mrs. Boyd, and the outstanding feature of which was a demonstration on making baskets from pine needles, was given by Mrs. Geo. Young. In addition to demonstrating the work, Mrs. Young also had samples of the made up baskets turned out by herself, which were exceptionally fine specimens of basketry.

Mrs. H. Lyne reported briefly on the convention of the federated institutes of Canada, which will be held in Vancouver next month, following a provincial convention, to which the secretary, Mrs. Cherrington, was named delegate from the local institute.

A donation of $10 was made for prizes in the children's fancy dress parade that will be a feature of this year's Chautauqua, and will be staged on May 30th, with every school in the Valley taking part, and prizes given in each school. The institute adopted a resolution approving of the crippled children's work at Vancouver taking on the name of the Women's Institute Hospital for Crippled Chrildren, on the understanding that such endorsation does not imply any stated financial assistance yearly.

Saturday, July 4th, was the tentative date fixed for the annual flower show, but if the season comes along faster than now anticipated an earlier date will be given. In connection with the show will be a sale of cooking and serving of refreshments.

The entertainment features were unusually appreciated. Miss Holmes presided at the piano for a song and chorus by four pupils of Division IV., Molly Moore, Phyllis Payne, Clifford York and Raymond Bevan, who were forced to respond with an equally enjoyed encore, while a piano solo by Miss Edith Crawford was equally appreciated.

The tea hostesses were Mrs. Hopwood, Mrs. H. Lyne and Mrs. J. P. Johnston, and the tea collection of about $3 goes to the crippled children's work.

Alice Siding

Birth—On May 6th, to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barraclough, a son.

An extra gang of the C.P.R. is working in this section this week doing considerable new fencing of the right of way here.

O. C. Thompson of Kimberley, who has recently bonded the Alice mine, was here at the end of the week inspecting operations. Mrs. Thompson accompanied him.

Mr. Bates was here for the weekend on a visit with the family at the Bartholomew ranch, and is having considerable repair work done around the place.

J. Kelly is at Canyon City at present where he is in charge of spring work on C. A. Robinson ranch.

Alice Siding will have an unusually heavy spud crop this year, as more acreage than ever before is being planted to potatoes this month.

Commencing this month Principal Lallamand and the pupils are at work making a collection of beetles for the department at Victoria. Last year the school's collection of butterflies was about the best sent in from any quarter.

Mr. Barber and family of Lethbridge, Alta., have taken up residence on the place on Lakeview Heights which A. E. Cross of that city recently purchased from Mr. Frach. After about two weeks at clearing operations planting is now under way. Mr. Barber is going in extensively for chickens and bees, and is so well taken with the honey industry that he has had 25 hives of bees shipped to him from Lethbridge.

Erickson

Mrs. Whimster, who has been a visitor here for a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, returned to her home at Nelson the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Palmer and Mrs. Telford were motor visitors to Cranbrook and Kimberley last week, returning on Thursday.

Mrs. A. E. Penson was a visitor with Glenlilly friends over the week-end.

Friends of Miss Mary Dew, a former resident of Erickson, will be pleased to hear that she has just been appointed chief operator of the Interstate telephone central at Priest River, Idaho, where her mother and family have resided since leaving here about seven years ago.

W. W. Hall left a few days ago for Kimberley where he has secured a position with the C. M. & S. Company, and will be remaining for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Cameron have moved out from Creston and are nicely settled in the Harrison ranch, which they purchased early this year.

Tomato planting is in full swing in this section this week, Frank Staples being home from the mill to supervise the putting out of about 45,000 plants he will cultivate this season.

More than a few people have been making an inspection of the home property of the late Malcolm McDougall, here, the past few days. Bids for the purchase of the premises are being received by Sheriff Doyle at Nelson up till Monday, 18th.

(Priest River, Idaho, Times.)

Miss Ethel May Bartges of Coolin and Elmer Roy Dew of Priest River were united in marriage at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Anna Dew, one half mile west of town, at 3:00 p.m. Saturday, April 25, 1925. The bridesmaid and best man were Miss Mary Dew and Arthur Dew, sister and brother of the groom. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Wm. J. Osborne and the witnesses were Mrs. Dew and Mrs. Osborne and Mrs. Ida Handy of Coolin. Miss Bartges was born at Ritzville, Washington, but has made her home with Mrs. Handy at Coolin for the past five years where she has made many friends. The groom was born in Iowa, where he spent his first years, later moving to Alberta and British Columbia, Canada, coming to Priest River with his parents about seven years ago. He is a young man of exemplary character and has been employed in various capacities in the lumber industry and as a truck driver in this section. The young couple will operate the ranch owned by the groom's mother. Mrs. Dew, and son, Arthur will move to town and live in the house belonging to Mrs. Melissa McDaniels. The Times joins the many friends of the happy pair in wishing for them a large measure of the good things of this life.

Fire Brigade of Twenty Members

Another substantial benefit directly due to the incorporation of Creston as a village, eventuated on Wednesday night at a meeting of the ratepayers, when the Creston volunteer fire brigade was formed. There was a fine turnout of citizens, with President C. W. Allan of the board of trade presiding, and C. B. Garland officiating as secretary.

In connection with fire protection village commissioners McCreath and Gibbs explained the local situation. The council has purchased the co-operative association building on the lot near the Bank of Commerce and will move it to a site alongside the R.C.M.P. barracks, and it can be used as a temporary home for the chemical engine, that is now here, as well as for hose storage and brigade meetings.

The village has on hand now appoximately 300 feet of two-inch hose, and C. O. Rodgers has loaned them another 150 feet which is at the Grand theatre. The commissioners assured that fire protection was one thing they were prepared to give the village so far as funds would permit, and all the needed equipment will be purchased once the brigade is fully organized.

The meeting concurred in a resolution that a brigade of twenty men is desirable, and an effort will be made to enroll these from the different sections of the village so that in case of a blaze some man conversant with the layout of lanes and premises in the neighborhood of the fire will be a member of the brigade.

Fourteen of the men present signed on, and the names of six other carefully selected men were added and they will be asked to become members of the force, with H. S. McCreath, M. York and S. A. Speers named a committee to draft the brigade regulations and by laws. A meeting of the twenty men is called for Wednesday night at the firehall to complete organization.

Dr. Hulbert, recently from the Far East, will present an informative message at the Chautauqua.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is deported as a slave to the Barbadoes by King James. He is bought by Colonel Bishop and falls in love with Arabella, the niece of the colonel. Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez captures Bridgetown. Blood saves Mary Traill and Arabella. He captures the Spanish galleon, the Cinco Llagas. After escaping from another Spanish ship at Hispaniola, Captain Blood sails to Tortuga, rendezvous of the buccaneers of the Spanish Main. There, feeling that Arabella is lost to him for ever, he takes command of a private fleet and changes the name of the Cinco Llagas to the Arabella. Levasseur, a Frenchman who is in love with Madelon, the romantic daughter of d'Ogeron, joins Blood. They are to sail together when Levasseur gets word from Madelon to rescue her from a Dutch brig. Levasseur takes the Dutchman, makes a prisoner of Madelon's brother, and earns her contempt by his brutality.

Thereafter, what time the Captain languished in his lady's smile within the cabin, Cahusac was dealing with the spoils of war. The Dutch crew was ordered into the longboat, and bidden go to the devil. Fortunately, as they numbered fewer than thirty, the longboat, though perilously overcrowded, could yet contain them. Next, Cahusac having inspected the cargo, put the quartermaster and a score of men aboard the Jongvrouw, and left her to follow La Foudre, which he now headed south for the Leeward Islands.

The lady's brother was presently conducted to the cabin. The Captain rose to receive him, bending his stalwart height to avoid striking the cabin roof with his head. Mademoiselle rose, too.

"Why this?" she asked Levasseur, pointing to her brother's pinioned wrists.

"I deplore it," said he. "I desire it to end. Let M. d'Ogeron give me his parole . . ."

"I give you nothing."

"Henri, this is foolish! You are not behaving as my brother. You . . ."

"Little fool. Don't you perceive your wicked folly in the harm it has brought already? Lives have been lost—men have died—that this monster might overtake you. And don't you yet realize where you stand—in the power of this beast, of this cur born in a kennel and bred in thieving and murder?"

He might have said more but that Levasseur struck him across the mouth. Mademoiselle suppressed a scream, as the youth staggered back under the blow.

"You see," he said simply. "He strikes a man whose hands are bound."

The simple words, and more than the words, their tone of ineffable disdain aroused the passion that never slumbered deeply in Levasseur. He opened the door, and flung her brother through it.

"Put that rubbish under hatches until I call for it again," he roared, and shut the door.

Composing himself, he turned to the girl again with a deprecatory smile. But no smile answered him from her set face. She had seen her beloved hero's nature in curl papers. Fear growing to panic was written on her face, as she stood there leaning for support against the table. He caught her, seized her in his long arms and pulled her to him.

He caught her—seized her in his long arms and pulled her to him

"No, no!" she panted.

"Yes, yes," he mocked her, and his mockery was the most terrible thing of all. He crushed her to him brutally, deliberately hurtful because she resisted, and kissed her whilst she writhed in his embrace.

Someone knocked. Cursing the interruption, Levasseur strode off to open. Cahusac stood before him. The Breton's face was grave. He came to report that they had sprung a leak between wind and water, the consequence of damage sustained from one of the Dutchman's shots. In alarm Levasseur went off with him. Ahead of them a low cloud showed on the horizon, which Cahusac pronounced one of the northermost of the Virgin Islands.

"We must run for shelter there, and careen her," said Levasseur. "I do not trust this oppressive heat. A storm may catch us before we make land."

"A storm or something else," said Cahusac grimly. "Have you noticed that?" He pointed away to starboard.

Levasseur looked and caught his breath. Two ships that at the distance seemed of considerable burden were heading towards them some five miles away.

For the remainder of that day Levasseur's thoughts were of anything but love. He remained on deck, his eyes now upon the land, now upon those two slowly gaining ships. To run for the open could avail them nothing, and in his leaky condition would provide an additional danger. He must stand at bay and fight. And then, towards evening, when within three miles of shore and when he was about to give the order to strip for battle, he almost fainted from relief to hear a voice from the crow's-nest above announce that the larger of the two ships was the Arabella. Her companion was presumably a prize.

Levasseur put off in a boat accompanied by Cahusac and two officers, and went to visit Captain Blood aboard the Arabella.

"Our brief separation has been mighty profitable," was Captain [illegible] greeting. "It's a lucky morning we've both had."

The tall ship that accompanied the Arabella was a Spanish vessel of twenty-six guns, the Santiago from Puerto Rico, with a hundred and twenty thousand weight of cacao, forty thousand pieces of eight, and the value of ten thousand more in jewels. A rich capture of which two-fifths under the articles went to Levasseur and his crew. Of the money and jewels a division was made on the spot. The cacao it was agreed should be taken to Tortuga to be sold.

Then it was the turn of Levasseur, and black grew the brow of Captain Blood as the Frenchman's tale was unfolded. At the end he roundly expressed his disapproval.

But Levasseur answered him, as he had answered Cahusac, that a ship was a ship, and it was ships they needed against their projected enterprise. Perhaps because things had gone well with him that day, Blood ended by shrugging the matter aside. Thereupon, Levasseur proposed that the Arabella and her prize should return to Tortuga, there to unload the cacao and enlist the further adventurers that could now be shipped. Levasseur meanwhile would effect certain necessary repairs, and then proceed south, await his admiral at Saltatudos for their enterprise against Maracaybo.

To Levasseur's relief, Captain Blood not only agreed, but pronounced himself ready to set sail at once.

No sooner had the Arabella departed than Levasseur brought his ships into the lagoon, and set his crew to work upon the erection of temporary quarters ashore for himself, his men, and his enforced guests during the careening and repairing of La Foudre.

At sunset that evening the wind freshened; it grew to a gale, and from that to such a hurricane that Levasseur was thankful to find himself ashore and his ships in safe shelter.

CHAPTER XV.

The Ransom

In the glory of the following morning, sparkling and clear after the storm, with an invigorating, briny tang in the air from the salt ponds on the south of the island, a curious scene was played on the beach of the Virgen Magra, at the foot of a ridge of bleached dunes, beside the spread of sail from which Levasseur had improvised a tent.

Enthroned upon an empty cask sat the French filibuster to transact important business; the business of making himself safe with the Governor of Tortuga. Before him, guarded by two half-naked negroes, stood young d'Ogeron. Near at hand, and under guard, mademoiselle his sister sat hunched upon a hillock of sand. Levasseur addressed himself to M. d'Ogeron.

"I trust, monsieur," said he, with mock suavity, "that I have made myself quite clear. Your ransom is fixed at twenty thousand pieces of eight, and you shall have liberty on parole to go to Tortuga to collect it. Meanwhile, your sister remains with me as a hostage."

"I refuse—utterly and absolutely, do you understand? So do your worst, and be damned for a filthy pirate," cried d'Ogeron.

"Remember your sister's honour is in pawn to me." "Should you forget to return with the money, you will not consider it unreasonable that I forget to marry her." M. d'Ogeron observed the grey despair that had almost stamped the beauty from her face.

"No, you dog. A thousand times, no!"

"I beg that you will spare yourself and your sister," said the Captain, "by being reasonable. I have been too modest. But since I have said twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces it shall be."

"And for what, if you please, have you said twenty thousand pieces of eight?"

Startled, Levasseur and his officers looked up and around. On the crest of the dunes behind them, in sharp silhouette against the deep cobalt of the sky, they beheld a tall, lean figure scrupulously dressed in black with silver lace, a crimson ostrich plume curled about the broad brim of his hat affording the only touch of colour. Under that hat was the tawny face of Captain Blood.

"Good morning, my Captain," said he, "it was last night's hurricane compelled our return. But who are these?"

Levasseur gnawed his lip, and changed colour. But he controlled himself to answer civilly:

"As you see two prisoners."

"Ah! Washed ashore in last night's gale, eh?"

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba.—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I saw so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the East. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back ached so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter and I hope some one will be helped by it."—Mrs. Jos. H. Kind, Box 56, Crandall, Manitoba.

Prize Winning Recipe For Mornay Sauce

Montreal Lady Wins First Prize In Borden Recipe Club Contest

Miss Anita Davis, Montreal, has just been advised of her success in winning first prize in the 1924 Borden Recipe Club contest. This club, which is international in membership, has such a contest each year, open to all members, of whom there are approximately two hundred thousand. Miss Davis essayed a sauce recipe, the plan of the contest being for each contestant to compete in the classification in which she feels she excels. Her recipe follows:

Mornay Sauce—International Prize Winner

½ cup butter, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoonful minced onion, ⅛ teaspoonful thyme, ½ bay leaf, ½ teaspoonful salt, ⅛ teaspoonful white pepper, dash cayenne, 3 egg yolks, 1 cup white stock, 1 cup Borden's Evaporated Milk, ¼ cup grated Canadian cheese, ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese.

In the top of a double boiler melt one-fourth cup butter; add onion and cook until yellow. Add the flour and stir until smooth. Combine milk and stock; pour gradually into the mixture, beating well with wire whip. Add seasonings and cook slowly for one hour. Strain, reheat, add cheese and let cook until cheese is melted. Cream remaining fourth cup butter. Beat in the egg yolks, gradually, one at a time; add slowly to sauce, mixing well, using care that water in lower part of boiler is not boiling.

This sauce is excellent for all au gratin dishes—crab meat, lobster, also fish, substituting fish stock for the white stock.

For Sore Feet—Minard's Liniment

Finds Holland Dull

The ex-Kaiser and his new wife have recently been to inspect the German crown jewels, which remain intact and were sent to Holland to repose in the vaults of a great bank during the war. William's second wife is very anxious to wear these fine jewels as Empress. She is fed up by the dullness of the little flat country of canals, and the expedition to admire the jewels was undertaken to mollify her.

H. Grindell Matthews, inventor of the "death ray," asserted on his arrival in England from the United States, that he had disposed of his invention in that country, but he would not divulge the buyer's price.

Mr. Matthews, who was a passenger on the Aquitania, said: "England now has definitely lost the chance of obtaining my invention known as the 'death ray.' America snapped it up. I had been there only a week when I concluded negotiations for its sale."

MOST OLD FOLKS REQUIRE A HEART AND NERVE TONIC

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

I am 80 years of age and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years yet. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."

The stamping ground for Cupid in England should be Sussex county.

In Sussex there are more women proportionately than in any county in England, the women numbering 1,274 to every 1,000 men. This is 108 more than the average for the rest of England, and about 188 more than in 1913 before the men went to war and the women to work in the fields.

French Puzzled By Gifts

Several Thousand Francs Distributed In Envelopes Marked "Restitution"

Inhabitants of the famous Spa, Vittel Wells, and of surrounding villages for some days have been intrigued and mystified at the reception of envelopes addressed to them by mail, marked "Restitution," and containg bank notes varying from twenty to one hundred francs. Several thousand francs have already been distributed in this manner by the unknown sender, whose motives cannot be conceived, and which are sufficiently mysterious to decide the authorities to open an inquiry in an attempt to solve the riddle.

French War Ace Killed

Wing of Plane Torn Off While Looping the Loop

Roger Ronserail, known as "the avenger of Pegoud," and a famous war ace himself, was killed during an exhibition flight at Mont de Marsan, near Bayonne, France. Since the armistice he had been employed by a travelling circus to make flights over towns and cities. In spite of a violent storm he insisted on taking off as usual. When he was 1,500 feet from the ground one wing of the plane was torn off while he was looping the loop. He crashed and was instantly killed.

Examining Steel By X-Rays

Apparatus Wanted to Detect Flaws Through Eight-Inch Thickness

At present X-rays can penetrate pieces of steel three inches thick. Professor Pullin, director of the radiological research department, Woolwich, Eng., told the Royal Society.

What was wanted, in order to detect flaws in castings which were a danger to men's lives, was apparatus to enable them to examine into castings of eight, ten or twelve inches thickness.

A transformer had been constructed rated at 400,000 volts, and what was now required was a tube capable of taking that voltage.

When that was found they would be able to penetrate eight inches of steel.

Canadian Motor Exports

Importance of This Growing Industry to the Dominion

Canada leads the world in automotive exports in proportion to production, domestic sales or ownership of motor vehicles or to that of population. Not relatively but absolutely the automotive exports of the Dominion are only exceeded by those of the United States. Since 1920 the motor vehicle exports of Canada have nearly doubled, the increase being from 9.8 per cent. to 17 per cent. of the automotive export trade of the world.

Minard's Liniment for Colds

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Vicks is just "rubbed on" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action: internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

Dr. Henderson had a hurried call to Ginol's Landing on Monday morning due to Mr. W. Mack, who resides there, having been found dead in his cabin. Death was due to natural causes and no inquest was necessary.

At the Women's Institute meeting on Friday Mrs. Cherrington was named delegate to the provincial institutes' conference in Vancouver next month. The flower show will probably be held on Saturday, July 5th

Contractor Hendren has a small crew at work this week putting in a couple of new spans at the bridge over Goat River on the flats, and wheel transportation across the Kootenay will be out of the question for the time being.

The ladies' are reminded of the country fair at the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. There will be a sale of sewing, cooking and produce, and afternoon tea and ice cream will be served. The admission is free.

We have 7000 transplanted Tomato Plants for sale. They are the earliest tomato known, being five days ahead of the Earlianna. They are perfectly smooth, symmetrical, and the greatest market toppers in the world. T. M. Edmondson, Creston.

With the May full moon period safely past tomato planting is in full swing this week, and if everything raised under glass gets into the fields at least 125,000 plants will be cropped this year, and should provide a yield of at least 20,000 crates.

Rev. G. Knox left on Friday last for Victoria, where he is attending the 1925 session of the B.C. Methodist conference, of which he is a member of stationing committee. He has just completed a five-year pastorate here and does not expect to be assigned the Creston circuit again.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. B Embree will be sorry to hear of the death of their only son, Billy, aged almost eight years, who died at the Embree home at Bellflower, Calif., on April 29th. Work

Men are sometimes heard to grumble because they have to work hard to make a living for themselves and families, but the man who makes the most bitter complaint is the one who is out of worrk, is anxious to work, and cannot obtain employment. Not "hard work," but "out of work" is the real tragedy of life.

The greatest problem confronting the Government and people of Great Britain today is lack of employment, resulting in a million or more men living in idleness. The most serious side of this unfortunate situation, however, is not the loss of productive wealth which this army of potential workers might be creating; it is not the financial drain imposed on the Government and charitable organizations in providing a bare living for these men and their families; it is not even the amount of hardship and suffering which may be entailed. The really serious thing is the effect on the characters and morale of these men forced to live in idleness, and on young children who lack sufficient nourishment to develop strong bodies.

Because many cannot obtain work, and the Government was forced to provide a system of doles in order that these people might live, there has been a decided lowering in the morale of many, with the result that as time has passed thousands have become discouraged, indifferent and shiftless, and have reached that frame of mind where they no longer want work and are quite content to drift along indefinitely subsisting on Government doles and charity.

Prevailing conditions give added testimony to the truth of the old saying that Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do. Communism and Bolshevistic doctrines are openly preached in England and the gospel of a workless world taught. Many of those who are at work are ready to strike on the slightest provocation, notwithstanding the fact of thousands already out of employment. Others are slackers on their jobs and deliberately refrain from performing a fair day's work. The result is that Great Britain is having difficulty in regaining its old pre-war eminence in world manufacturing and commerce, and, as a result, industry cannot provide the volume of employment that would otherwise be the case.

European travellers comment on the entirely different picture presented by France and Germany. In both of these countries the gospel of hard work is both taught and practised. Germany is rapidly regaining its old trade and even increasing it over the pre-war figures. A writer, Comyns Beaumont by name, states that Germany's exports to British India, the Dutch East Indies, Java and China were thirty per cent. greater in 1924 than in the pre-war year of 1913; that Germany today manufactures more pig-iron than Great Britain; that in Brazil and Argentina, imports from Germany far exceed those from Great Britain; that in China, East Africa, South Africa and India, Germany's trade is advancing by leaps and bounds, while in the case of India especially Britain's trade is falling off.

Hard work is not a curse, but a blessing. The man who works hard and throws his whole energy into his task is, as a rule, a contented and happy man. It is the idler who is the malcontent, the fault finder, the mischief maker. The theory of a workless world being a paradise is the most insane of all fallacies, and that section of the British people who appear to have accepted a state of unemployment as a permanent, inevitable and not wholly undesirable condition, had better awaken to this fact before it is too late.

Nor is it in Britain alone that people require to bestir themselves and come to a full realization of the great truth that in work, hard work, is to be found their own salvation and the salvation of their country. There are men who say, and seem to think, that their country owes them a living. This is not so. No country owes any man a living unless he is prepared to work for it. Nothing of permanent value can be gained in this world except through work, and the man who refuses to work has nobody but himself to thank if he gets little or nothing out of life.

Agriculturists and Farmers

Hon. John Martin, minister of agriculture for Ontario, explained to members of the Canadian Club at Toronto the difference between agriculturists and farmers. A farmer, he says, makes money in the country and spends it in the city, while an agriculturist makes his money in the city and spends it in the country.

Canned salmon exports from Vancouver for the year 1924 were 1,525,542 cases, sold in the following countries: United Kingdom, France, Australasia, Germany, West Indies, Sweden, Belgium, British India, Central and South America, Ceylon, China, Denmark, Egypt, Holland, Italy and Malta.

B.C. Lumber Industry

For the fiscal year ending September 30, 1924, the Pacific lumber inspection shows that British Columbia shipped a total of 639,156,324 feet of lumber from all ports. Shipments were made to the following principal markets: Japan, United Kingdom and the continent; Australia, China, New Zealand, India, South America, etc.

GOOD NEWS FOR RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Now Known That This Trouble Must Be Treated Through the Blood

The most a rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing something on the tender, aching joint is a little relief. No lotion or linament ever did or ever can do more than this. The rheumatism poison is rooted in the blood. To get rid of it you must treat it through the blood. Any doctor will tell you that this is true. If you want something that will go right to the root of the trouble in the blood, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to purify and enrich the blood, and when they do this all blood troubles, including rheumatism, disappear. Among those who have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Annie Wright, Woolchester, Alta., who says: "I was a sufferer from rheumatism for six years, and during most of that time my life was one of misery. I tried several doctors, and many remedies recommended, but never got more than temporary relief. The trouble seemed to affect my whole system and I was badly rundown and suffered from headaches as well. Finally, I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and through these I found complete relief and to-day I feel like a new person. I can therefore strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone suffering as I did from this trouble."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prefers Federal Subsidy

Manitoba's Position on Resources Different to Alberta Says Premier Bracken

Under present conditions and circumstances Manitoba would rather have its federal subsidy than its natural resources.

This was, in effect, the opinion of Premier John Bracken, commenting on Premier Greenfield's announcement that Alberta's fight for its resources had been settled amicably.

The premier stated that Manitoba's position was in many respects different from that of Alberta. So much of Manitoba's resources had been alienated or disposed of by the Federal Government that in this province for the present at least, it was better to leave the matter as it stands; accepting the federal subsidy in lieu of the remaining resources.

Canada and the Empire

Destiny of Canada is in Association With British Empire

In Canada there is a deep-seated belief that this country can work out her destiny to better advantage in political association with the Mother Country than in any other way. Political conceptions have changed since the 13 colonies quarreled with George III. There is no occasion, no possibility of such quarrels now. Canada has everything those colonies revolted to secure, and she has a great deal more. If we cannot make Canada a great and prosperous nations within the commonwealth of British peoples the fault will be our own.—Toronto Star.

Man Has Wonderful Brain

Is Able to Memorize Figures and Words at Sight

Naum Lipowsky is giving evidence of his wonderful memorizing powers before Dr. Spearman, professor of mind and logic, at the University of London.

Psychologists have been baffled by this young man's amazing brain. Imagine a list of figures long enough to encircle an ordinary room. Lipowsky, after once reading them, can repeat them backwards or forwards.

Should anyone ask him, for example, the cube of 63, he will answer without hesitation 250,047. We tested it and found his answer accurate. It is just as easy for him to find the root of a number. As an illustration, if anyone mentioned 456,533, he would reply that it represents three "77's" multiplied.

But the most remarkable fact is his knowledge of days. He has every day of the Christian era carefully docketed in his mind. When asked on what day of the week May 1 fell in 1901, he replied accurately, "Wednesday." "Next year it will be on a Friday," he added.

A Power of its Own.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has a subtle power of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its uses are innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

Speedier Than Swiftest Bird

French Army Officer Flies 280 Miles An Hour

A French army officer, Adjutant Bonnet, has just streaked through the air for a distance of three kilometers at a speed of 280 miles an hour, establishing a new world's record. That speed is nearly five miles a minute. It is a rate of human travel which dwarfs any ever reached by any vehicle on land. The fastest recorded speed of the swiftest bird—about 136 miles an hour—is less than half as fast. If Bonnet's speed could be sustained, the ocean could be crossed in ten hours. One could breakfast in New York at 6 in the morning and dine in London at 8 in the evening. One could circle the globe in three days and seventeen hours.

Great Britain Can Provide An Excellent Market For Our Export Bacon Trade

Every farmer in Canada is interested in our twenty million dollar bacon trade. Under maximum conditions of production and preparation for export we could expand our trade to a value of fifty million dollars every year.

It is agreed that a satisfactory market outlet is essential to the profitable production of any commodity. Whenever a market opens up there is some one willing to supply it and sometimes if that market is a profitable one, the competition becomes so keen that certain sources of supply are bound to be eliminated.

The farmers of Canada engage in the production of hogs in various quantities in different sections of the country. The type of farming, feeds available and market conditions determine to what extent hogs are produced. This production is primarily for the purpose of supplyinig pork and pork products to our own people; in other words the domestic market. And a great many factors help to determine what this domestic market will pay for hogs. High-priced feed, a scarcity of hogs and good industrial conditions are usually associated with high markets. On the other hand, an over-supply of hogs and unemployment tend to lower market priees. Our hog production as viewed from the standpoint of consumption is always greater than we can possibly use. Therefore, we must have some outlet for the surplus and it is the opinion of a great many of the hog producers and packers in Canada that the sort of hog produced should meet the requirements of our export trade.

Our export market for pork products is Great Britain. She is our best customer and, because this is so, we must pay due attention to her requirements if we want to remain in the business. Briefly, the requirements are these: A bacon in the form of a Wiltshire side. This side is preferred between the weights of 55 to 65 lbs. which is the equivalent of a 185-215 lbs. hog, although hogs of the proper type and finish weighing from 180-230 lbs. at country points provide Wiltshire sides which are acceptable as to weight. The Wiltshire side must not only be within certain weight limits but, as well, distinctive in make and shape. It must not carry too much back fat, 1¼ in. to 1¾ in. and no more. However, we do not want thin, unfinished Wiltshires. In other words, from the standpoint of type, conformation, weight and fleshing, the requirements are met by what we have come to term a "select bacon hog." England wants a regular weekly supply and insists that it have a very mild cure. As regards this last requirement, the responsibility for its fulfilment rests at that present time with the packer.

Will Help Settlers Unfitted For Farming

Empire Community Settlement Has Been Organized In England

To facilitate co-operation in emigration among retired professional classes with small fixed incomes, the Empire community settlement has been organized in England to care for retired military officers, civil servants, engineers and other professional men unfitted to go to the dominions as agricultural settlers in the ordinary way.

It is proposed to establish them overseas on model farms, something like garden cities, with two to five acres, dwelling, stable and outhouse sites, and club houses where meals may be obtained at a low rate. After five years of this life the settlers would be expected to find a permanent place in the dominion.

Supremacy of Marquis Wheat

No Other Variety Has Replaced It In West

Since Marquis wheat was first introduced, a good many growers and breeders have been making selections from it, with a view to producing, if posible, an improved strain. From results obtained so far it seems quite clear that differences of greater or lesser importance actually exist. Before it will be possible to recommend one strain of Marquis over another, several years' testing will be necesasry, however.

While certain new varieties bid fair to replace Marquis in the west, yet until these varieties have been tested further, the supremacy of Marquis wheat as a general variety for most parts of Western Canada will remain unchallenged. At the present time it is estimated that approximately 90 per cent. of all the spring wheat grown in Western Canada consists of the above variety, while in the United States, statisticians claim that approximately 70 per cent. of the spring wheat growing areas of that country is devoted to the production of this variety.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Canadian Fresh Fish Successfully Marketed in Old Country

That Canadian fresh fish can be successfully marketed in England, and that a great development in this trade can be expected in the very near future, was a statement made by W. T. Marlow, general foreign freight agent, Atlantic services, Canadian Pacific Steamships, who has received word that the first shipment of fresh fish to be taken to England, under the scheme recently discussed with the Dominion Government by Major Hugh Green, head of a Canadian syndicate interested in the fishing industry, had been readily disposed of at Billingsgate.

Should this trade develop, it is proposed to have a regular line of vessels pick up the fish from the trawlers.

Manitoba Dairy Farms to Operate Near Winnipeg

Development of a distinctly dairy community within 50 miles of Winnipeg, and the settlement of from 300 to 400 families, involving an expenditure approaching $2,000,000, within the next few years is assured, according to an announcement by Robert Jacob, M.L.A., legal representative of the Manitoba Dairy Farms, Limited.

Financed by St. Paul capital, some 70,000 acres of land southwest of Winnipeg on the Canadian National Railway, near Marchand, have been acquired and plans have been developed to such a stage that at least 25 families will be installed on ready-made farms within the next two months.—Free Press

Returned To Canada

Farming Opportunities Are Much Greater in This New Country

The Canadian Government immigration agents come directly into contact with farm settlers returning to Canada from the United States and consequently receive much inside knowledge of conditions of the two countries as they relate to agriculture. While some returning settlers naturally prefer to keep their own council others are quite frank in discussing their experiences and the causes which have led them to return to Canada. One example out of several occurring recently is quoted hereunder:

Twenty-one years ago Tony Hulskamp, of New Ulm, Minn., came to Canada, and after working for Foley Brothers, railway and general contractors in Western Canada, bought some farm land near Moose Jaw, Sask., on which he made a good living, but not a great deal of money. Hearing of the glowing accounts of the prosperity in the United States he decided to leave Canada and sold his farm at a sacrifice in July, 1924. He went to Montana, but he did not find much prosperity there among the farmers and could obtain no work. He then went to Minnesota and visited relatives in Brown and Redwood counties. He found no evidence of great prosperity; the farms were heavily mortgaged; work also difficult to obtain; there was a general feeling of discontent. He and his wife, therefore, decided, before what little money they had left was gone, to return to Canada and stay for the rest of their lives.

Mrs. Hulskamp declares that in their poorest days in Canada they always had enough to eat, sufficient clothes to wear, plenty of good friends and good schools for the children, etc.

Horses In the West

Stock Raisers Now Breeding Better Class of Horses

A delegate to one of the annual meetings of the livestock associations, recently held at Toronto, stated that there were now so many horses in the northwest that there was no longer any market there for the east. How much has been done officially to stock that section of the country with the right animals is illustrated by the report of the superintendent at the Indian Head, Sask., experimental farm. Here it is noted that with the help of the livestock branch at Ottawa, which paid one-third of the service fees, farmers have been enabled to raise Clydesdales that have taken prizes at local and provincial shows, while one bred at the farm itself won first in the yearling class and junior championship at an international exhibition in Chicago.

Forestry Expert Gives Some Valuable Advice On Methods Of Tree Planting In the West

(By Archibald Mitchell, Western Lecturer, Canadian Forestry Association)

Puddling the roots is an ancient and all-important practice in tree planting that is often more honored in the breach than in the observance, and it is well to remember that just as soon as the bale of trees arrives from the nursery it should be opened out and the roots dipped in a thick puddle of mud and water. This keeps them moist and in good condition till they are planted in their permanent situation. The puddle can be made in a hole in the ground or in a pail. If it is not convenient to plant the trees right away, i.e., for a day or two, they should be puddled and heeled in the ground till they can be planted. Heeling in is a simple matter. A trench is opened large enought to hold the roots comfortably. It should also be deep enough—too often it is far too shallow. The roots of the puddled plants are laid in this singly, but close together and covered well with soil, which should be tramped firmly about the roots, a most important matter in a dry country. Many plants get their death sentences from faulty heeling in.

Treated in this way they will keep for a week or two. At planting time they should be puddled again as soon as they are taken from the trench. The hole should be larger than the spread of the roots, and deep enough for the tree to be about two inches deeper than it was before lifting. Spread the roots out comfortably, if necessary, making a special mound for them in the bottom of the hole. As the earth is thrown in, the tree should be shaken up and down in the hole to allow the fine soil particles to settle closely round the fine rootlets. When it is about two-thirds full, tramp it down, then fill in the balance of the hole level with the ground, and tramp firmly again, leaving a shallow basin about two inches deep around the tree. Fill this full of water and allow it to soak away, after which fill again with water. After the second soaking, throw in the rest of the soil and leave it loose on the surface. If the ground is very dry, a third watering may be given, but it should be observed there must be no watering followed by tramping of the ground. Fill the hole full first, then water.

A little common sense goes a long way in the planting of trees. Treat them like living things unable to look after themselves. Study their requirements a little before you plant, and there should be no difficulties about the growing if they are alive.

Canadian Bacon Awarded Prize

Medals Given by British Dairy Farmers' Show to Toronto Firm

The prime minister, in the presence of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, presented Brig.-Gen. John A. Gunn, of Gunn's Ltd., Toronto, with medals awarded Gunns, Ltd., for bacon at the British Dairy Farmers' show, recently held in London, Eng. The medals were forwarded direct to the prime minister by the Canadian high commissioner.

Canada is the first country since the inception of the dairy show in 1876 to secure first prize with a perfect score. This victory has been the means of creating a growing interest for Canadian bacon on the British market, which is being reflected in the present prices being paid for select hogs.

Premier King, in presenting the medals to Gen. Gunn, congratulated him upon the success of the Canadian exhibit, but remarked that the country was more to be congratulated, as success of this nature greatly increased the standard and market for Canadian products in theh English market in competition with the whole world.

Butter and Cheese Exports

Heavier Exports From Canada of Both Butter and Cheese

By the News Letter of the dairy and cold storage branch at Ottawa it is ascertained that during 1924, 22,343,939 lbs. of butter valued at $8,000,512, were exported from Canada compared with 13,173,711 lbs. valued at $4,905,608 in 1923; also that 121,456,600 lbs. of cheese valued at $22,575,787 were exported in 1924 compared with 116,201,900 lbs. valued at $23,445,401 in 1923. It will be seen that exportations of butter last year exceeded those of the year before by 9,170,228 lbs. and of cheese by 5,263,700 lbs. About thirty per cent. of the butter in 1924 and 80 per cent. of the cheese went to the United Kingdom. Nearly twenty per cent. of the butter went to the United States, or 482,613 lbs., over 18 per cent., 459,648 to Germany, and 265,019 lbs. to Panama.

Secure Country Elevators

Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Makes Arrangements to Control Elevators At Certain Points

Recommending that the surplus handling charge funds available from this year's pool wheat be utilized in securing country elevators at the heaviest contract shipping points, the district delegates of the Saskatchewan wheat pool in Regina, endorsed the elevator policy proposed by the board of directors.

The delegates further urged the directors to establish the "closest possible measure of co-operation with the farmer-owned elevators with a view to bringing about complete unanimity at the earliest possible moment."

The directorate was also authorized to proceed at once with the organization of a coarse grain pool and arrangements in connection with the local sales were left in the hands of the local committees.
